Ernie Gonzales is new physician's assistant

The Carrizozo Health Center has a full time physician's assistant.

Ernie Gonzales, PA-C/SA began his duties Monday. He is a physician's assistant-certified (PA-C) and a Fellow in the American Association of Surgeon's Assistants (SA).

A native of Las Cruces, he grew up in Alamogordo and graduated from Alamogordo High School before he began his medical career as a hospital corpsman in the Navy. He was with the Navy special forces team and served in Vietnam.

After a four-year hitch with the Navy, he went to work for Coronado Hospital in California as an orderly and rapidly advanced to emergency room technician because of his Navy training.

He was accepted to the Medical Specialist Assistant (MSA) program in Atlanta, GA in October 1970. MSA was the forerunner of the physician's assistant program. He continued with the PA program at Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta and completed his studies there in December 1973.

He worked with a surgeon for six months as a surgical extern in a rural area and during this time he did limited surgeries and assisted during other surgical procedures. His next job was at the VA Hospital in Atlanta where he was with the hemodialysis unit for a year.

During the next five years Gonzales was PA/Transplant Coordinator at the Medical College of Georgia in Augusta where he performed pre-op workups and post-op care for kidney transplant patients. He was first assistant in surgery-his duties included opening, closing and helping with the actual transplant.

He was also senior research assistant and did research on perfusion machines (special machines used on kidneys and other organs.) He worked with Dr. Arthur L. Humphries, well-known kidney transplant surgeon, and assisted Humphries with publishing several papers on the kidney transplant process. The last publication was the book, Perfusion II.

Gonzales then became director of adolescent health care and general practitioner at the Urban Health Center in Savannah, GA. He treated adults as well as children.

The past ten years he was at the West County Medical and Surgical Clinic in Garden City, GA. His field there was industrial medicine and surgery. He treated job-related injuries and illnesses and conducted pre-employment physicals.

He, his wife Tina and their son Christopher, 11, moved to Carrizozo Oct. 15. Christopher is in 6th grade. Ernie's parents, Ernest B. and Juliet C. Gonzales, live in Alamogordo.

When asked why he was willing to leave the hustle and bustle of the big city to move to Carrizozo, he answered, "To get back to my home area and back into rural medicine." He said he had enjoyed working in rural medicine in Georgia, "And I want to give something back to the state where I was raised and grew up. I may be able to encourage some youngsters to go into medicine."

He said that being a PA can be a stepping stone into other fields of medicine. It takes two to three years to become a PA and all but one state recognize PAs.

Dr. Chris Robinson of Ruidoso will be Gonzales' supervising physician but Gonzales will work closely with all doctors in the county. He will make referrals to all doctors in the county and will conduct follow-up examinations and checkups as required by doctors in Lincoln County. This will allow patients to be seen in Carrizozo and not have to make the drive to Ruidoso for routine medical visits.

"I look forward to working with the community and doing the best job I can," he said. "We have felt at home since we got here. The people are very friendly and Carrizozo is a nice place to live."

Office hours at the Health Center are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Ernie plans to begin working in the Corona Clinic within the next two weeks with the schedule to be determined at that time.

After regular hours, people are to contact the Lincoln County EMS which is on duty 24-hours a day. Ambulances are located in Carrizozo as well as other parts of the county.

Gonzales had been director of ambulance services in Garden City, GA for eight years and he was pleased with the Lincoln County ambulance service.

"The Lincoln County EMS service is one of the best," he said. "The supervision provided by Nancy Guck is extremely beneficial to the county. The people need to open their eyes and see what they have here."

Barela found guilty on seven sex charges

District Judge Richard Parsons handed down a sentence to Marcos B. Barela Sr. of Carrizozo this week.

Barela, 68, was charged with seven counts of criminal sexual contact of a minor, third degree felonies.

Barela was found guilty of all seven counts and is to be incarcerated for a term of three years on Count I and three years on Count II with the incarceration on Count II to run consecutive to the incarceration in Count I. He was also sentenced to three years on Counts III, IV, V, VI and VII, with the incarceration to run concurrent to each other and concurrent with Counts I and II for a total term of six years. One-third of the incarceration was suspended so that Barela will serve a total of four years with a two-year mandatory parole.

Imposition of the sentence was stayed subject to special terms and conditions, including: Barela is to enroll in and successfully complete the Las Vegas sex offender treatment program, during such time he is to be committed to the Forensic Unit Las Vegas Medical Center; Barela is not to be released by the forensic unit until an evidentiary hearing has been held in district court wherein an opportunity to be heard will be afforded Barela and expert testimony presented that he is no longer a danger to society.

If all conditions of the stay of imposition of sentence are met, Barela will be placed on probation for five years.

It is the further order of the court that the judgement is not the final judgement and the court retained jurisdiction until such time as it can determine that Barela has successfully completed the sex offender program or has failed to complete the program.

Barela was originally charged with 16 counts on July 13, 1988. An amended criminal complaint Nov. 21 contained the seven counts.

Agreement seen in water controversy

By Bartley McDonough

The water line between Bonita Lake and Capitan has been re-connected.

Capitan is using its well water while the filter plant is being repaired. The well, which went into operation in August, 1987, is working at 50 percent capacity.

The City of Alamogordo cut off this water line on Nov. 11 or Nov. 12 claiming that the Village of Capitan owed Alamogordo $6,004.57. Mike Runnels, attorney for the Village of Capitan, told the News that Capitan officials had met with Alamogordo officials in July and were promised a new agreement. This was not received until after the water had been shut off.

Capitan owns 50 percent of the water rights to Eagle Creek. The old 1957 agreement called for Capitan to pay back water taken from Bonita Lake with water from Eagle Creek.

Runnels said that "Capitan and Eagle Creek have put in almost two times as much water as we've taken out. Alamogordo and Holloman AFB have both benefited from that extra water."

Runnels went on to say "we're under a 60-day temporary arrangement while we negotiate a new agreement which is where we could have been in August. I hope that the city council in Alamogordo can come to an agreement with the board of trustees in Capitan that would lead to a long-term solution that will work to everybody's benefit."

Runnels was working Wednesday morning on the paper work and a schedule of meetings to facilitate the process.

IRS erred in disallowing refund claims by farmers

The Internal Revenue Service has mistakenly disallowed refund claims filed by farmers who paid at least $1,000 in excise taxes on diesel fuel for non-highway use during the quarters ending June 30 and Sept. 30, 1988.

The error occurred when instructions issued to employees at the 10 IRS Service Centers that process claims failed to include such farmers in the list of taxpayers eligible to file excise tax refund claims.

The IRS, apologizing for any inconvenience, said farmers whose claims for $1,000 or more were rejected may refile the claims by returning the disallowance letter and explaining that IRS disallowed the claim in error.

The Internal Revenue Service has set up special post office boxes so these claims can be identified and processed as soon as possible. Farmers in New Mexico should send their resubmitted claims to P.O. Box 934, Stop 1005 AUSC, Austin, TX 78767.

Little League football uniforms discussed

By Ruth Hammond

Little League football uniforms being sold by the school was discussed at the Nov. 22 meeting of the Carrizozo Board of Trustees.

Trustees had received a request from Carrizozo School Principal Mel Holland on Sept. 13 to buy used uniforms and safety equipment for the youth league for boys aged 10 to 12. Trustees agreed to use money from the outdoor recreation fund to buy needed equipment.

Apparently, the money was used to buy equipment and/or uniforms for the younger football players in addition to the youth league and uniforms were bought for Capitan players. At the end of the season, the school offered to sell the jerseys to the players for $10 each.

Trustee Albert Baca said it was his understanding that at the end of the season the equipment was to be stored by the town for use again next year.

"People have been contacting me and saying that I gave permission to the school to sell the uniforms," Baca said, "and I would like it on record that I didn't."

Baca added, "If there is something, especially town property that is sold, first of all I would like to know about it and second of all, I don't want to be responsible for letting them sell something I didn't give them the OK or whatever."

Baca said he did not appreciate the school selling town property without letting the town know about it first. The matter will be pursued.

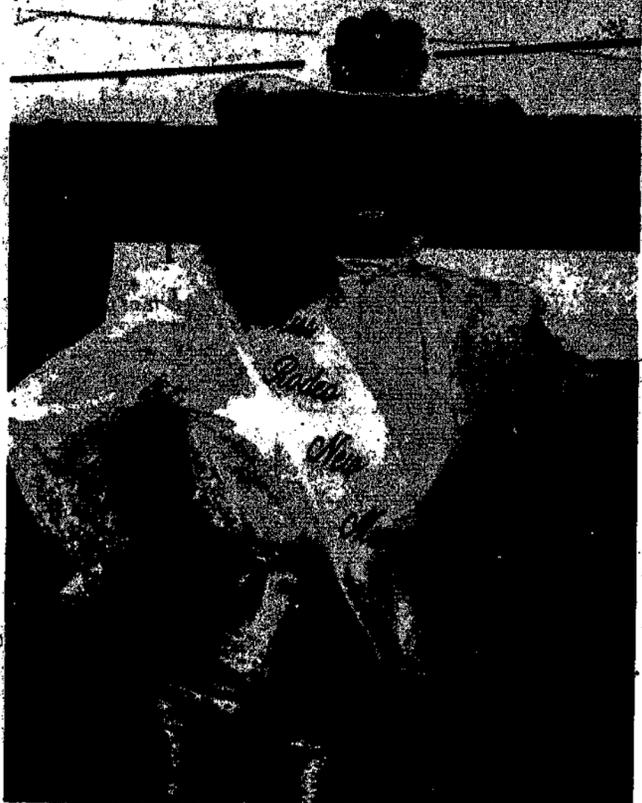

In other business, Mayor Bob Hemphill reported the water storage tank project is going well. Engineers from Wilson and Co., engineers for the water improvement project, will make the final inspection of the tank and report to the council at the Dec. 13 meeting.

—The foam roof is to be installed on the Rec Center by Nov. 23.

—Nothing was reported after an executive session for personnel matters.

MEMBERS OF THE audience study the Lincoln County Zoning Ordinance during the final public hearing by county commissioners Nov. 22. The ordinance was approved and will become effective Dec. 23. Next step for the ordinance will be for the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission to hold public hearings for zoning different portions of the county. There will be several public hearings during the zoning process and areas to be zoned will be kept small enough for public comment to be recorded. Notices will be sent to property owners in each area as it is zoned.

Build Your Own Place In The Sun

Do you think you could build your own sunroom in one day? Don't scoff. It can be done.

Sunrooms are among this decade's hottest home improvement features. And their popularity continues growing in established neighborhoods, as well as in new developments.

The reason for that popularity is their many uses. A glass-enclosed sunroom creates new, year-round living space that can be enjoyed as a recreation room, a sun-drenched breakfast room, or a studio. Some homeowners add flowers and plants for an all-season garden room. Many use it as a spa/whirlpool enclosure.

Although do-it-yourself sunrooms have been available for some time, most homeowners have opted for dealer- or builder-installed units. Knowing most DIY sunrooms consisted of thousands of nuts, bolts, extrusions, gaskets, and countless pieces of glass was enough to make homeowners reluctant or downright fearful. And construction typically took weeks or even months. But things have changed.

A new development in do-it-yourself sunrooms may encourage more homeowners to build their own sunrooms. The Sunspot™ room, specifically created for consumer installation, sheds new light on sunroom construction.

Utilizing a modular concept, it is designed with interlocking panels that two people can assemble in one day, using only a few simple hand tools. All components are designed to make assembly quick and easy, even for the inexperienced homeowner. Construction is further simplified with an instructional manual and videotape. In only 12 hours, homeowners can enjoy a new source of comfort and pride, while enhancing the value of their homes.

To assure years of comfort, a vitally important choice is correct glazing. Tempered safety glass (like sliding patio doors) is a must because it's shatter resistant. Double-insulated glass conserves heat, but in warm climates, single-pane glazing is usually adequate.

As with glazing, climate factors will dictate choice of clear, bronze tint, or Low E (emissivity) glass. With clear glass, the sunroom will warm up quickly during the day, but lose heat at night.

Low-E is a special coating that protects against heat loss. For warmer regions, bronze glass is highly recommended because it reflects much of the sunlight, thereby reducing daytime heat gain.

Location is another important consideration. When facing south, a sunroom receives maximum sun exposure. For the morning sun, an east or southeast exposure is best. A west or southwest exposure will capture the afternoon sun.

Before construction begins, however, a sunroom must have a proper foundation.

This usually requires a concrete slab with footings extending below the frost line. This can be done by the homeowner or a licensed builder or concrete contractor. Also be sure to obtain a building permit so that all local building code requirements are met.

Most sunrooms have options such as vented windows, slider or screen door, operable roof panel, ventilating fan, or internal electrical wiring, which must be ordered with the sunroom.

Sunrooms can also be "dressed up" with mini-blinds or quilted window shades in a variety of colors. Besides color, such window treatments also add insulation and shade. However, if a sunroom is built near a leaf-bearing tree, nature will provide the shade.

A sunroom offers many choices for the homeowner who wants to increase his living space in an economical, yet gracious style.

To learn how to build your own place in the sun, write for your free brochure, "More Than A Room," from ODL Incorporated, 215 E. Roosevelt Avenue, Zeeland, MI 49464.

YOUR AMAZING SKIN

There's no skintight explanation for why some people have dry skin all the time while others are affected only periodically. Here's information on what causes dry skin and tips on how to prevent it. The result could be a more youthful, beautiful complexion.

Drink to your skin's health with plenty of water and then slather on your favorite moisturizer.

Most people try to protect themselves against cold, dry outdoor air and hot, dry indoor air during the winter. Not many people know, however, that spring, fall and summer may produce conditions harmful to skin. Other causes of dry skin include chemical pollution, smoking, alcohol consumption and low humidity levels in air conditioned buildings.

Dry skin occurs when too much moisture escapes from the top layer of the skin (epidermis) and not enough is replaced in the dermis (the second layer). The best way to prevent and treat dry skin is to increase its moisture content. When moisture in thirsty skin is replenished, redness and chapping disappear, and the skin looks smoother and more attractive.

Alleviate dryness and restore normal moisture balance to your skin by giving it a drink—inside and out. Drink five to six glasses of water each day to nourish your skin internally and apply moisturizer to nourish it externally.

Most moisturizers on the market coat the skin's surface with a thin film of oil to help seal in moisture that's already there. But, they don't draw additional moisture into the skin. The good news is that there's a moisturizer developed by dermatologists—Aqua Care®—that penetrates the epidermis to attract and actually hold in moisture.

According to the manufacturer, the ability of Aqua Care® to help keep skin moist is made possible by the ingredient urea, a component of the epidermis that aids in the retention of moisture. Urea has been used as a skin care moisturizer ingredient safely and effectively for 50 years. It's widely accepted as non-toxic, generally non-irritating and non-allergenic.

Other ingredients in Aqua Care® cream and lotion—petrolatum and mineral oil—help seal in water attracted and retained by the urea. You may want to use a cream for maximum protection against the worst ravages of dry skin and a lotion to maintain sufficient moisture retention when indoor and outdoor air is less dry. This moisturizer makes a good choice for restoring a healthy, youthful glow to dry skin. That's one good reason to let a new skin care regimen get under your skin.

OPINION

For the past two weeks I have endured almost constant media eulogy of John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated 25 years ago. We just won't put John Kennedy behind us, along with his mystical Camelot. Dan Rather of CBS News has been the worst offender in rehashing even the finest details of the tragedy in Dallas, unto my utter boredom with the whole business. Liberals like Rather are determined to elevate John F. Kennedy to sainthood status. During the hype I couldn't help but think that Jesus Christ has endured for almost 2,000 years, but there is not a single "eternal flame" to commemorate His deeds and His tragic end. But John F. Kennedy has one.

By whatever standard one chooses, John F. Kennedy was not a great president. What he was, was young, handsome, charismatic, energetic, articulate. On the other hand, he was a disaster in foreign affairs—remember the Bay of Pigs, Cuba, Berlin Wall, the missile crisis, Khrushchev, and the Soviet Union? He got passing marks on domestic issues and national defense. His private life was a mess, always protected by the media, as it is to this day. Gary Hart and Joe Biden didn't get such protection from the media. Why just Kennedy? The Kennedy family is the closest thing to royalty this country has ever had. Americans love royalty. And Americans love fairy tales, which is why Camelot is alive and well in the American psyche. Every member of the Kennedy family basks in royal admiration. Were it not so, Ted Kennedy would have been in prison following Chappaquiddick instead of being one of the most powerful members of the US Senate. Any Kennedy can run for public office and be assured of election, thanks to myth, money and Americans' willingness to be duped by both.

A news story in the Lincoln County News for Nov. 17 noted that it costs $4,167.47 per student per annum to educate a student in Carrizozo Schools, $3,394.97 in Capitan and $5,102.15 in Corona. According to the US News and World Report for Nov. 28, it costs more per student per annum in New York City than any other city in the nation—$2,491. The report listed about 30 US cities and their cost of educating children in public schools. Many had costs as low as $800 a year. The average of cities listed is about $1200. So why is it costing almost three times that much to provide school facilities in Lincoln County as it does in the average American city? Admittedly, transportation of students in Lincoln County adds to the expense. But it would be hard to explain why local transportation costs so much in relation to all the educational processes combined. There may be a plausible answer to the high cost of education in this county. I'll feel much easier when I find what that answer is.

After agreeing that Lincoln County has no further obligation to finance the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport construction, the Ruidoso Village Council refused to sign a termination agreement when it was presented. Councilors hope that by not signing the agreement the incoming county commissioners can be persuaded to approve a countywide mill tax levy on property owners to help pay for capital improvements at the airport. Ruidoso wants its own $150-$175 million airport, but wants the rest of county property owners to pay for it. Nice thinking, done by a village council that has earned a reputation for free-wheeling, irresponsible expenditure of village funds. How a town of 5,000 permanent residents hopes to pay for a "regional airport" boggles the mind. That "regional" tag was applied for the sole purpose of soaking county taxpayers for the bill. What it is, is the Ruidoso Airport, and that's what its residents are calling it right now. Who, outside of Ruidoso, hopes to profit from such an extravagant airport? How many county residents, outside Ruidoso, would use such a facility when we have a regional airport at Roswell and international airports at Albuquerque and El Paso? This has all the ear-marks of another sleazy attempt to saddle property owners outside Ruidoso with the cost of a purely local project. We hope the new Lincoln County Board of Commissioners kills the proposal. If they do not, we predict, there will be a storm of protest throughout the county. The present board of commissioners fell for that "regional" tag a year ago, and passed a mill levy on all property owners to help bail out the airport project. It should not happen again.

Because they look like deer, and because of their name, many people think that reindeer belong to the deer species. But they really belong to the caribou family.

SANTA FE—Have you ever been to court?

If so, the chances are it took you a whole lot longer than you thought it should. As New Mexico Supreme Court Chief Justice Tony Scarborough puts it, "Everyone is entitled to his or her day in court. But a litigant's day in court has turned into weeks, months and, all too often, years of expense and delay."

As anyone who knows the chief justice might suspect he has a plan to solve the problem. As you might also guess, he is not bashful about sharing it and does so at every opportunity.

Scarborough's solution is better court management practices. His two greatest interests since becoming a judge have been to preserve the elected judiciary and to make courts more efficient and cost effective.

With the passage of the constitutional amendment providing for "judicial reform," we lost the right to elect our judges any longer. The "reform" measure does something else Scarborough doesn't like. It gives district judges the right to select their own presiding officer.

Scarborough had engineered a rule change to give the high court some say in the selection of a presiding judge in each district because he wanted to see judges in that position who are truly interested in efficient court administration. The chief justice feels presiding judges are chosen too often for other reasons.

But district court judges are accustomed to a great amount of autonomy and they didn't appreciate the supreme court messing around in their business. The fight over constitutional amendment 6 was essentially between the state supreme court justices and the approximately 55 district judges around the state.

The district judges were supported by a good portion of the legal fraternity, who welcomed the prospect of "reform" because it turned the judicial selection process over to them. New Mexico lawyers put more time and money into passage of that amendment than were put into any others. That isn't much compared to the millions of dollars spent on amendment and initiative campaigns in many other states. Hopefully it will not come to that in New Mexico although a bit more exposure of the amendments would be good to assure the public is sufficiently familiar with all amendments.

Last month Scarborough was asked to speak to the New Mexico Bar Association. He used the occasion to warn New Mexico's lawyers about what will happen if the problem of court delays is allowed to continue. He challenged "the bench and the bar" to develop a delay reduction program as 26 other states have already done. Otherwise, Scarborough says, "others will do it for us."

He reminded the assembled lawyers and judges that in 1986 the legislature removed all workers' compensation cases from the court system. An executive agency was created to assume $47 million worth of court business. That agency removed lawyers from 40 percent of its cases in the first year and imposed a cap of $12,000 on fees attorneys can charge in workers' compensation cases. Now that is hitting lawyers where it hurts—right in the pocketbook.

Scarborough went on to spell out other types of cases that have been taken from the courts, including child support cases in which judges have been replaced by hearing officers and time limits have been imposed on disposition of cases.

He warned that privatization of the judiciary's role is becoming very popular. Two national private court systems are taking a bite of the judicial apple now. One judge-for-hire system is already in operation in New

Letters to the Editor

Oswald and the ACLU

EDITOR—Each Nov. 22 we are reminded of the terrible assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Most people know that President Kennedy's assassin was a communist named Lee Harvey Oswald. We are occasionally reminded that Oswald belonged to a communist front organization called "The Fair Play For Cuba Committee."

What you almost never hear is that Lee Harvey Oswald was a "card-carrying member" of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Writing for American Opinion Magazine, September issue, 1969, David Emerson Gumsier reported that Lee Harvey Oswald "joined the ACLU shortly before his major role in the assassination of the President of the United States." Probably Oswald felt that he might soon need a good lawyer.

Gumsier cites for documentation the Warren Report, that Blue Ribbon panel appointed by President Lyndon Johnson to investigate the assassination.

It seems remarkable that so little has been said of Oswald's membership in the ACLU. It's almost as though there were a conspiracy of silence.

Being a spoilsport could save your child's life

When your children want to listen to the radio in the bathtub, be a spoilsport and say no. You won't win a popularity contest, but you could save their lives. Water and electricity are a dangerous combination.

If your children want to climb a tree or fly a kite near power lines, don't worry about spoiling their fun by saying no.

Power lines are dangerous if anything comes into contact with them — including a tree branch or kite string.

Saying no to dangerous activities helps you say yes to electrical safety.

Last week it was very windy, zero and below, then a light wet snow Friday night and Saturday with high cold winds through Sunday. We know it is time for winter.

The Smokey Bear Museum had 632 registered visitors Nov. 21-27. There were lots of hunters this week, many of whom have finished the season. Bruce Mark was a lucky hunter and killed a deer. Darlene Bobb also killed a young one.

He is a 1985 graduate of Capitan, and is currently serving in the US Navy, where he is stationed in Norfolk, VA. Micki is also a graduate of Capitan High School in 1982. She is the daughter of Jo Townlet of Capitan. Micki is currently employed with Treat Investment Corporation in Ruidoso. This couple will make their home in Norfolk, VA. I wish you many years of happiness.

I thank Sam Conn and the Lincoln County News for honoring me, Margaret Rench, on the 6 p.m. News on KOAT-TV Thanksgiving for the years of service I have given. Again I thank you and I do appreciate that. I have enjoyed those and still do. It's part of my daily life that is a must and that gives me a purpose to keep active. Through the years encouragement from near and far came to me in letters. Many of them I did not know but they liked my items. In these later years a person needs to keep the mind and body active. This is my pleasure. Everyone needs God's love, kindness and encouragement. That's better than money.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS OF LINCOLN COUNTY PROPERTY TAXES DUE

Notice is hereby given that 1988 property taxes became due November 10, 1988 and will become delinquent December 11, 1988. Taxes may be paid in full by December 10, 1988, or in two equal installments, with the second half becoming due April 10, 1989 and delinquent if not paid by May 10, 1989. Pursuant to Section 7-31-50 of the New Mexico Property Tax Code, a minimum penalty of five dollars ($5.00) of one percent per month must be charged on all delinquent taxes, and pursuant to Section 7-31-49, one percent per month must be collected on all delinquent accounts.

Owners of personal property such as mobile homes or office equipment, who have allowed taxes to become delinquent more than two years will be served with a demand warrant for collection of those delinquent taxes, pursuant to Section 7-35-53 of New Mexico Statutes Annotated 1978, if delinquent taxes are not paid in full.

Pursuant to Section 7-38-53, property taxes are the personal obligation of the owner of the property and the sale or transfer of property within that tax year does not relieve the former owner of personal liability for property taxes in that year. Failure to receive a bill is not sufficient cause to ask to have penalty and interest waived.

Should you have questions concerning your property taxes, please contact the Lincoln County Treasurer's Office at 505/648-2397 or 505/648-2525.

Shirley A. Goodloe, Lincoln County Treasurer.
