SBAC terminated; Ruidoso now owns the airport

The Village of Ruidoso is the sole owner of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

The Sierra Blanca Airport Commission was created in 1978 with Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan, Lincoln County and the Mescalero Apache Tribe as members. The agreement was amended in 1987 leaving Ruidoso and Lincoln County as the only members.

Now, that agreement has been terminated and rights, powers, duties and liabilities existing in the SBAC have been transferred to Ruidoso. Lincoln County, as fiscal agent of the SBAC, has agreed to transfer all funds belonging to the SBAC to Ruidoso and to provide a full accounting of all funds in its possession.

All property and improvements in the name of the SBAC are to be transferred by way of quitclaim deed. All current and ongoing contracts, grants and other matters of ongoing concern will also be transferred to Ruidoso.

According to the termination agreement, the Village of Ruidoso agrees to hold the county harmless from any obligations and duties existing under the SBAC agreements other than liabilities for negligence or malfeasance of office which may have occurred during the period of the effective date of the SBAC agreement.

The termination agreement was prepared by Ruidoso attorney John Underwood at the direction of the Ruidoso Village Council. Lincoln County Commissioners signed the document Nov. 14.

Ruidoso was scheduled to sign the termination agreement Nov. 15 but postponed the matter. Apparently, Ruidoso Councilors thought the newly elected county commissioners would be in favor of imposing another mill levy to help pay for capital improvements for the airport.

During a meeting Nov. 29, Ruidoso agreed to sign the termination document and called for a special SBAC meeting Dec. 1 to finalize the termination of the SBAC.

Prior to signing the termination agreement, the SBAC accepted the low bid for security lighting and fencing submitted by Boone Electric of Albuquerque.

When asked about the $150,000 grant the SBAC had obtained from the state (the money was appropriated in the last legislative session), and whether the money would be used for matching money for federal grants, the News was told it would be used for matching funds. The money has not been released by the state and will only be released as it is requested. There were no stipulations by the state as to how the money was to be used.

When asked why the termination agreement was signed now and was not signed the 15th, the News was told that new information became available but such new information was not revealed.

Woman injured in car mishap

Betty Smith of Albuquerque was injured when her car hit a patch of black ice on Highway 380 about a mile east of Capitan at 8:40 a.m. Tuesday.

She was transported to Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso for treatment and was released. Her injuries included broken ribs and lacerations.

Smith was alone in the 1987 Nissan Sentra which rolled one time and was totaled.

Judge Parsons calls grand jury

District Judge Richard Parsons announced he has called for a grand jury to convene Jan. 6, 1989 at 10 a.m. Summons have been sent to 75 prospective jurors.

The grand jury of 12 regular members and up to 12 alternates will be empaneled for a term of three months.

Parsons will give the grand jury a general charge listing duties, authority and special responsibilities. It will be the duty of the grand jury to investigate all matters called to their attention relating to alleged violations of the criminal laws of the state occurring in Lincoln County.

In addition, the grand jury may inquire into (a) any public offense against the state committed and triable in the county which is not barred from prosecution by a statute of limitations and upon which no valid indictment or information has heretofore been filed; (b) the condition of every person imprisoned in the county not lawfully committed by a court and not indicted or informed against; (c) the condition and management of every public jail or prison within the county; and (d) it is the duty of the grand jury also to investigate all matters relating to alleged violations of all laws of the state which could be grounds for the removal or suspension of public officers and/or employees, and to return accusations or presentments against any public officers or employees upon a showing of probable cause of such violations against them.

The court will assign a court reporter to the grand jury as all proceedings in the grand jury room are to be reported verbatim. Jurors are to report to the district judge if any aide asks that they (jurors) go off the record or intentionally make any statement to jurors off the record.

The court shall also assign a bailiff, interpreter or other aides necessary to carry out duties of the grand jury. The district attorney, attorney general or his assistants shall attend the jurors, examine witnesses and prepare indictments. The grand jury is to see that they conduct themselves in a fair and impartial manner at all times and report any violation to the district judge.

Neither the district attorney, court reporter or any other person may be present during deliberation by the grand jury or upon the taking of a vote.

Members of the grand jury are not to disclose to any person outside the jury members the matters discussed, statements made by any other jury members, witness or aide, or how any member of the jury voted on any matters; excepting only upon the order of the district court.

The grand jury is a non-partisan, non-political and independent arm of the judicial process. The grand jury

Fort Stanton

People want answers about future of the hospital

By Ruth Hammond

A new facility for the Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School is a definite possibility, according to State Representative Ben Hall.

"Efforts have been made to come up with money for a new hospital," Hall said. "This can not be done overnight, it is a few years down the road."

He said everybody is working on the project to obtain the money—Governor Garrey Carruthers, US Senator Pete Domenici, US Senator Jeff Bingaman, Congressman Joe Skeen and the HED (Health and Environment Department.)

"I have been assured that if and when a new facility is built it will not be moved out of the county, it will not affect the county economy, schools and most importantly the patients (of the hospital)," Hall added.

Hall made the statement in response to questions asked by hospital employees and parents and guardians of hospital clients Tuesday night.

The future of Fort Stanton as a Hospital for the Developmentally Disabled has continued to be a major concern for employees, parents and guardians since the Masterplan for Preservation and Development of the fort was published.

The masterplan, prepared by the Williams Company, AIA, funded by the state, sponsored by Lincoln County and administered by the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District (SENMEDD), is a three-phase project scheduled to take 12 years to complete.

Included in the masterplan: restoration of all buildings at the fort, construction of RV sites and tent cottages for tourists, converting some buildings to be used as hotel accommodations to produce income, converting other buildings into conference halls, restoring a 1930s golf course and relocating the hospital residential campus.

The proposed location of the new hospital residential campus, according to the masterplan, is the area now occupied by eight mobile homes that are residences of hospital workers. The masterplan calls for the construction of eight buildings in an area approximately 160 feet by 350 feet.

Hall did not give a location for the proposed new facility but he did stress that the masterplan is merely "a study of what could be." He said nothing in the masterplan has been approved by the state legislature and, "It (the masterplan) is not written in concrete."

The sometimes-tense question and answer session was held in the Fort Stanton Recreation Hall where more than 100 people crowded in to pose their questions and hear answers provided by members of the Fort Stanton Restoration and Recreation Advisory Board (FSRRAB).

The FSRRAB held a board meeting prior to meeting with the employees, parents and guardians. Chairman Sid Goodloe distributed brochures describing the National Center for the Western Horse that is to be located on BLM land surrounding the state property that houses the hospital.

The center is to feature a museum containing memorabilia from cavalry and ranching days, western art and historical information tracing the evolution of the horse from its three-toed beginning to the multifaceted animal that it is today.

When the question-and-answer session began, Aldaz announced the number one priority is the clients. He read a letter he had received from HED Secretary Carla Muth stating, "This in response to the numerous questions regarding the future of Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School. Several citizens and legislators have already contacted both Governor Carruthers and my office expressing their concerns on this topic."

Muth's letter continued, "While a proposal was submitted to the governor's office for consideration, no plans or commitments have been made to close or change services offered to our developmentally disabled clients there. Much effort has been invested to enhance the quality of care at that facility which has made dramatic strides over the past three years. I am very supportive of the major role which Fort Stanton has played in the continuum of care for our developmentally disabled citizens. I want to assure you and your staff that any attempt to jeopardize the

Capitan water situation unresolved

An inspection of the water filter plant in Capitan was scheduled for Dec. 7 at 10 a.m. Village officials were to determine the amount of damage.

A meeting is currently in the works between the governing bodies of Capitan and Alamogordo regarding Capitan's usage of Bonito Lake water. A meeting date is to be announced soon.

A meeting of the Capitan Village Council is scheduled for Dec. 12 at the village hall, 7 p.m.

Santa Claus to visit in Carrizozo

The Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department has arranged for Santa Claus to visit Carrizozo Dec. 17.

Santa will ride on the fire truck through town and is scheduled to arrive at Spencer Park at 2 p.m. to distribute bags of candy and fruit to children. After that, Santa will visit the elderly and handicapped.

Fire Chief Albert Najjar said Santa will visit people at home who are sick and/or housebound and unable to come to the park. Please contact the fire department before the 17th to schedule a home visit.

The fire department sponsors Santa's pre-Christmas visit each year and volunteer firemen buy and bag the candy and fruit. Cost this year will be $600 to $700. The firemen donate the money they receive from the Forest Service during the year for fighting fires on Forest Service land. In addition, the fire department conducts raffles and other money-making projects during the year. Manuel Alonzo of Alamogordo won the raffle recently. Donations will also be accepted.

Non-profit organizations wanting to rent the Santa suit should contact Najjar at 648-2575 or John Jiron at the Senior Citizens Center in Carrizozo.

Masons set installation

Stearns; chaplain, Jack Forrester; senior deacon, W.A. Schlegel; junior deacon, Larry Dunaway; senior steward, Mike Shivers; junior steward, Billy Bob Shafer; tiler, Bob Shafer; and marshal, Scott Shafer.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

quality of services at Fort Stanton would not be supported." Aldaz said the letter was a "very important memo" and a direct compliment to the staff.

One concern expressed by the audience was that a filming crew had been at Fort Stanton to take pictures for the National Center for the Western Horse brochure and one person in the film crew had asked a staff member, "Where will the hospital go?" Goodloe told the audience, "I detect some hostility toward me." He went on to say that the Horse Center would be on BLM land and would not interfere with the hospital.

When asked where to send letters if someone didn't like the project, Goodloe asked, "What don't you like about it?" He was told that project would interfere with the lives of the clients.

"This project, in case you got wrong information or no information," Goodloe answered, "is for families to come ride. How will people riding on federal land interfere with the client's lives?" He stressed several times that the horse trails would be on BLM land and would not interfere with the clients at the hospital.

Tim Kreager, BLM assistant director in Roswell, showed a map of the entire Fort Stanton Reservation. He said the horse trails that are to be ready in May 1989 will be existing two-track trails. Future BLM land use in the area will be decided following a scoping plan with public input, probably sometime in 1991. Final decisions should be completed by 1993.

Another concern of the audience was whether buildings could be constructed on BLM land. Many believed the buildings would have to be on the state land that houses the hospital.

Kreager said that public land can be sold or exchanged and that arrangements could be made to amend the Fort Stanton Reservation withdrawal plan whereby the land could be used for building the horse center museum.

Several people agreed that as long as the horse center does not affect the clients they had no objections. Many also agreed that both groups needed to unite and, "work out our differences or none of us will win."

Another area of concern was $2.9 million for capital outlay that had been in the proposed state budget. Hall said, "I withdrew that. It was there by mistake." He said the only request for capital outlay at this time is for $200,000 to $300,000 to restore building 13 and maybe $115,000 if the money is available to restore the stables.

As to the masterplan, Hall said it had been put in the closet and was pulled out when the state wanted to demolish buildings 4 and 13. Hall started the project by asking for money to fix the roof.

"As a state representative," Hall said, "I do not want Fort Stanton closed or moved out of Lincoln County." He said the work on the buildings would be slow so as to not disrupt the clients.

Hall said he would also like to help HED get money to renovate buildings 6 as a therapy center for the hospital.

"I've always said you could do both if done right," Aldaz said. "It would be a crime if we didn't, just as much a crime as when the state would not give us money to maintain the buildings."

Gwen Jones asked further questions about a proposed new facility. She said the fire department, ambulance and search and rescue units being at Fort Stanton enhanced services for clients.

She was told all of this would be taken into account if it gets to a point of moving the clients to a new facility. Steve Massey of SENMEDD said these things would have to be addressed and Hall said a complete study of what would be needed by HED for a new hospital would be taken into consideration.

A positive note of the meeting was the agreement that other sectors should be included in the FSRRAB. It was suggested a person from the business sector in Capitan, Ruidoso and Carrizozo be included as well as a member of the Fort Stanton parent's association and possible hospital employee.

The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7 a.m. at United New Mexico Bank Dec. 13. A continental breakfast will be served.

This will be the second breakfast meeting and members will make a decision concerning future meeting times and dates. The public is invited to attend.

Lions and Lions sit down together at Monday potluck

A crowd attended the Monday night meeting of the Capitan Smokey Bear Lions Club when it entertained members of the Ruidoso Noon Lions Club with a potluck supper.

Guests included Bob Bohannon, past president of the Ruidoso Club. Bill and Verna Allen were present. Bill was a key member in the founding of the Capitan club last May. He is also sight conservation chairman. Verna is president of the Rio Ruidoso Lioness Club. Wayne Townsend, lions/lioness liaison chairman, was also present.

Part of the entertainment included a recitation of the poem "The Cremation of Sam McGee" by Capitan Lion George Beaudry. Lion president Ken Kingston presided over the meeting.

The motto for Lions International is "We Serve." Both clubs are busy setting up their schedule for the 1989 year.

The processional, "Faithful and True," and the recessional were sung by James Hobbs and Carl and Renee Parsons of Ruidoso, and the ceremony was performed by Paul Wetzel, minister of the Carrizozo Church of Christ.

A reception was held afterward at the Woman's Club and a 3-tiered wedding cake, made by Twylla Wetzel was served following the luncheon.

The grand jury has the right, duty and obligation to call upon the district judges for any reason when they (jury members) feel they need advice on the rights, duties, obligations and authority of the grand jury or for any procedural matter. The district judge is not in the courtroom during grand jury proceedings.

There are two ways to convene a grand jury: (1) the district judge may call a grand jury on his own volition; and (2) by a petition signed by 5 percent of the registered voters in the county.

BYGONE ERA

Most of us have only handed-down stories of an old-fashioned Christmas.

Dashing through the snow in a one-horse open sleigh was not just a song, it was a very real experience. Harness bells jingled away as fields were crossed blanketed with snow.

At home, the old wood stove would be hard at work. Mother would be hard at work making a batch of candy or baking some of her holiday cookies.

There was wood to be brought in for the stove and fireplace; that was brother's job, while sister helped in the kitchen.

There was the tree, a real fir, pine or spruce tree, decorated with strings of popcorn made from homegrown corn, apples from the orchard, and handmade paper cones.

Shopping was a special treat in those days; the wood stove in the local store would give out its warmth and spices in open bins would give off their aroma. On the counter, there were jars of colored candies to entice the youngsters.

On Christmas Eve, church bells would summon the faithful to special services, or perhaps there would be a Christmas play performed.

In the morning, there were gifts to open, gifts that had been made by hand. There might be a hand-carved whistle, hand-knit socks, or embroidered handkerchiefs. Whatever the gift, you knew it had been made with love and received it in that spirit.

Later that Christmas Day, the family would gather in the kitchen, the biggest room in the house, at a long table burdened with holiday foods. There would be turkey or ham, pies that had been baked the day before, as well as special holiday breads.

tamales in corn husks, menudo or posole with red chile, sopapillas, humucelos, empanadas and biscochitos.

MEXICO GIFT

Most people think Christmas poinsettias are an American as Christmas turkey and pumpkin pie. In reality, poinsettias are a gift from Mexico.

The poinsettia was introduced to the US in 1828 by Joel Robert Poinsett, the first US Ambassador in Mexico. He was a botanist and gave this native plant as gifts to friends in the US.

ORIGIN OF XMAS

Many people take offense at the term "Xmas," suggesting it is an attempt to take Christ out of Christmas, when actually it is merely an abbreviation of the word itself. In modern times the letter "X" is a way of crossing out unwanted information and so, the misconception.

The "X" in Xmas is the Greek letter Chi, the first letter of Christ's name when written in that language. It has always stood for Christ without any bad intentions.

PICASSO'S PRICE

Pablo Picasso's painting of two circus acrobats became the 20th century's most expensive work of art recently, "Acrobate et jeune Arlequine" (Acrobat and Young Harlequin) painted in 1905 sold for $38.46 million at Christie's in London.

The painting was among 69 Impressionist and modern works bringing in a total $101.2 million, a record for a London art auction and in keeping with the rise of art as an investment trend since last year stock market crash. Beating the Picasso's price: Van Gogh's "Irises" ($53.9 million) and Gogh's "Sunflowers" ($39.9).

Meanwhile, take a good hard look at your holiday decorations. In addition to Santa and snowmen, make sure you draw and paint plenty of bells, angels, wreaths and at least one Nativity scene.

Perhaps one day some anonymous Japanese art buyer won't question the prices if your work is auctioned eighty-three years from now.

GIFT IDEAS

The following gift ideas are not on my Christmas list:

MBF (Man's Best Friend) protects your home day and night without the hassle of daily feedings, weekly walks or expensive vet bills. MBF is a sound-activated electronic device that produces an imitation of a barking dog.

Rex Barkifone is a telephone that "barks" to announce incoming calls, lip-synchs to your caller's voice with his mouth, eyes, and ears as the caller speaks.

OPINION

Wednesday was Pearl Harbor Day. A proper and principled way to commemorate the occasion would be to stamp the hell out of the first Jap you run into (or over or under). Then tell him to pay his hospital bill out of that $20,000 Congress has just authorized to compensate him for "inconvenience" he suffered during World War II when he was removed from the West Coast War Zone. Anyone wishing to "make my day" is invited to write and call me a racist dog.

The United Nations General Assembly postponed its annual debate on the Palestinian problem so PLO leader Yasser Arafat, denied a visa to enter the US by the State Department, could address the world body at a special meeting in another country. The debate was to begin a week ago. Arab diplomats sought, and got permission, to move the UN session to Geneva on or about Dec. 12-16. At last, the UN is doing something constructive. How nice it would be if the whole abominable United Nations and its over-paid parasites would move permanently to Geneva.

Liberals have joined our Arab enemies in denouncing the denial of a visa to the world's symbol of terrorism. They argue that it is an insult to the Arab world, contributes to unrest in the Middle East, and is a violation of a US pledge to admit any person invited by the UN. The biggest insult to the Arab world is Arafat himself, who can always take consolation in the fact he's been thrown out of better places. And who cares if the denied visa contributes to unrest in a Middle East that is always in unrest and upheaval. As for violating a US pledge to admit any scum seeking retaliation against the host country, good for us!

The UN General Assembly is, with the exception of England and Israel, anti-American. The UN Secretary-General claims Arafat's denied visa will jeopardize chances for peace in the Middle East. Question: when Arafat's terrorists seized a cruise ship, the Achille Lauro, killed an American and threw his body overboard, what action did the UN take to restore peace in the Middle East? Nothing. Permitting Arafat to enter the US for any purpose, other than prosecution for murder, would be a travesty on justice.

As for our host-country pledge to admit any person into this country to stir up even more trouble in the world, certainly calls for repudiation of that pledge. The Soviet Union has violated every treaty, pledge and agreement it has ever made with this country unless it was to its benefit not to. The UN and its members have violated the rules systematically without incurring any penalty. We should be able to do the same. When one party breaks a pledge the other party should not be required to continue to honor it. For example, take a marriage contract. A man and a woman sign papers, swear to God they will love and cherish each other so long as both shall live. Then one breaks that contract. The other party is no longer bound by it, and a divorce follows. When one party breaks a contract, or a pledge, the agreement no longer exists. The Soviet Union has broken the ABM Treaty dozens of times, yet the United States feels obligated to abide by it. What nonsense. What will we do when the Soviets fail to pull out of Afghanistan on schedule? Nothing. The Soviets are not held to their treaties by the Soviet-dominated UN. Only the US is.

Vanishing piece of America

The old cabooses may find a new home in Carrizozo

There may be a train cabooses in McDonald Park in Carrizozo one of these days.

The cabooses began in October when Johnson and Margaret Stearns of Carrizozo saw a train without a caboose and Margaret said, "That looks like a sentence without a period." Johnson wrote a letter to the president of the Southern Pacific Lines and included Margaret's comment and suggested putting cabooses back on trains.

"There surely must be some way to restore this great American institution to its rightful place; so let's get started," Johnson wrote. "What about having each caboose emblazoned with the American flag on each side. You wouldn't have to stick to the old red caboose; maybe you could paint them white or pink or candy stripe and then we would know when the end of the train came by. This is very distressful, we feel like another great American tradition has been taken away without so much as a fare-you-well."

Johnson's letter continued: "Won't you please consider this? All you have to do is go get that old friend 'the caboose' and stick it on the end of each of your trains, be first—don't let the Soo or Northwestern or UP or some other two-bit railroad get ahead of the Southern Pacific with this marvelous suggestion—you do it. We'll save a special page in the history book for your credit." His letter closed with, "I grew up around the depot, my father was a general yardmaster for the El Paso & Southwestern, and then for the Southern Pacific. It was my extreme good fortune to have worked for your railroad in various capacities, something I will never forget and will always be grateful for."

Two weeks later Johnson received a letter from D. M. Mohan, president of Southern Pacific Transportation Company in San Francisco, stating, "Your sentiments about the vanishing cabooses are similar to the ones I have over dwindling numbers of tellers at my neighborhood bank. ATMs are replacing tellers and electronic devices are replacing the caboose. That's progress—and it represents an enormous savings to both our industries."

The letter continued: "A study by the Interstate Commerce Commission found that cabooses can generally be eliminated without impairing the productivity of train operations (either on the road or in a yard), without jeopardizing the safety of the public exposed to moving trains, and without impairing the health and safety of railroad employees. Cabooses have been eliminated on a fourth of our trains and will be almost totally eliminated when contractual agreements with labor unions permit.

"In this era of intense competition from trucks and other railroads, we can survive and flourish only by embracing and adopting technological advances. Cabooseless trains are a perfect example of how today's technology can be integrated into railroad operations to provide efficient, reliable and competitive freight transportation."

The letter cites several technologies that have made the caboose outmoded and ends with, "However, if you believe the city of Carrizozo would be interested in having a caboose as a remembrance of an earlier time, we will certainly consider the city's request."

Johnson wrote to Mohan, "Thank you for your letter relative to the vanishing cabooses and bank tellers—railroading will always have a special place in my heart and when I think of those years during World War II that our railroads handled the movement of troops and material, which no trucking industry will ever be able to duplicate, we cannot help but appreciate our nation's railroads.

"If you will hang on to that caboose for us, it is my intention to inform the mayor and city council, along with the Chamber of Commerce and historical society of this opportunity to place a railroad caboose in the park."

The matter of requesting a caboose was discussed at the Nov. 8 Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce meeting and at the Nov. 22 meeting of the Carrizozo board of trustees. Trustees were in favor of making the request. Mayor Bob Hemphill is to pursue the matter.

Fort Stanton

Preservation, recreation plans do not alter hospital services

By SID GOODLOE

All of us who live in Lincoln County are fiercely proud of Fort Stanton.

We're proud of the people who live and work there today and of the quality of care they provide to the mentally handicapped.

And we're proud of Fort Stanton's rich and colorful history as a frontier fort, and later as a facility for the treatment of tuberculosis and as part of our national defense during World War II. At various times in its history, the fort has been home to or been visited by Col. Kit Carson, Billy the Kid, Gen. "Black Jack" Pershing and cattle baron John Chisum. It played a central role in protecting settlers and ranchers from attacks, and it was occupied by both Union and Confederate forces during the Civil War and figured prominently in the Lincoln County War.

Today as we look to the future of the fort and the county, we have a unique opportunity to preserve that historic past while we insure the continuation of present hospital services. These are the goals of the Lincoln County Heritage Trust (LCHT) and the Fort Stanton Restoration & Recreation Advisory Board (FSRRAB).

What we have in mind—as demonstrated in the Fort Stanton, New Mexico Master Plan for Preservation and Development that was completed just a few months ago—is to preserve the fort and explore the possibilities for recreation on public lands near the fort while at the same time continuing existing hospital services and looking to the county's economic future.

Neither group nor any individual favors moving Fort Stanton Hospital from this county or altering its services. The hospital is the largest employer in Lincoln County and its continued operations are critical to our economic well-being. And officials of the state Health and Environment Department, which oversees the hospital, tell us the state has no plans to change the current operations of the hospital.

We believe the continuing operation of the hospital and the plans for restoration and recreation can complement each other—to the economic benefit of the entire county. That's why the LCHT and the FSRRAB are working closely with Ervin Aldaz, administrator of Fort Stanton Hospital, and with Gov. Garrey Carruthers and other local, state and federal officials on the Fort Stanton Heritage Recreation Project.

And that's why the LCHT and FSRRAB signed a memorandum of understanding two months ago with the federal Bureau of Land Management, which owns 23,000 acres of land around the fort.

We expect to have several miles of bridle trails completed on that BLM land by next May 6—the 134th anniversary of the founding of the fort. By that time, we

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Shortly after last month's elections I chided voters for not studying the constitutional amendment proposals before they got into the voting booth and letting themselves get fooled by the trick titles.

Laredo Adams of Roswell writes me that lack of advance preparation was not the only problems voters had with the amendments. The following is an excerpt from Adams' letter.

"I did not get to vote on any amendments as I couldn't read them. I had read each one before I went to vote but didn't memorize the numbers.

"When I got in the booth all of them were way above my head and since my eyes are weak I had no idea which was which, so I skipped all of them. I am 5-foot-6 and even by tip-toeing couldn't see them. So what would a 5-foot-2 person see?"

"I asked around and found four more people who had the same problem and skipped the amendments.

"Could you write about this in your column and see if we can get these put down low enough so an ordinary person can see them? Why are voting machines so tall anyway? Everybody can look down, but not everybody can see above their head with bifocals."

I contacted Hoyt Clifton, the state bureau of elections director. Clifton says there are options available to voters with a problem seeing the amendments. One is to ask for assistance. New Mexico law allows a voter to receive assistance from a person of his or her choice.

Another solution, says Clifton, is to vote absentee. Inability to see all the ballot is a legitimate reason to vote absentee. This year was the first general election for which all registered voters over age 65 and those who have a handicapped license plate were automatically sent an absentee ballot request. The mailing occurred as a result of legislation sought by the secretary of state to remedy situations such as Adams', according to Clifton.

Lever-type voting machines are the only ones on which there is a problem with the amendments being too high for some to see. Clifton says. Electronic voting machines have the amendments in a readable location. And, of course, there would be no problem with seeing the amendments on a paper ballot.

Unfortunately the majority of machines in the state are the mechanical variety. Clifton says that 12 to 14 counties have purchased electronic machines but only Cibola, Grant and Lea counties are 100 percent electronic. In other counties, voters would have no guarantee of which type of machine would be at their polling place.

By the way, Clifton says that if the constitutional amendment providing for a "yes/no" vote on judges is held to be valid by the state Supreme Court, the problem of the ballot being too long to read will become even worse. There is no way on a partisan ballot that "yes/no" votes can be included without adding another line. With as many as seven political parties normally appearing on our general election ballot, Clifton says the judges would have to be on paper ballots.

If you think you had a long wait this year, you'll love 1990.

Clifton says the problem of long lines will never be solved as long as we use machines that can be tied up by one voter for three and one-half minutes at a time. If each voter takes the maximum time allowed by law, and assuming no voter is allowed more than the maximum, only 205 voters could possibly use the machine in a 12-hour day.

There are machines on the market which will allow voters to hand-mark a ballot and then feed it into a counting machine. According to Clifton, that will have to be the final solution in all populated areas.

The secretary of state's office spent $106,000 trying to educate voters about the constitutional amendments this year. The complete text of the amendments was printed four times in English and Spanish in a newspaper in every county of the state.

Indian radio stations throughout the state also read the full text of the amendments over the air frequently during the four weeks prior to the election.

Descriptions of the amendments were also printed and distributed through the state.

Expect to see changes in our voting laws be the subject of numerous pieces of legislation in the session beginning next month.

$5,000 REWARD
My mare Coy Deck's Baby was shot on the McDonald Ranch—south of Carrizozo—sometime between Sunday evening November 27 and Tuesday morning November 29.
$5,000.00 will be paid for PROOF and CONVICTION of the person who shot my mare and the person who ordered my mare to be shot. This was no "Hunting Accident" — this was a deliberate shooting — I do not and will not blame the deer hunters for this atrocity.
If the person who shot my mare was employed to do so by another party — he will be granted immunity from prosecution in return for testifying against the one who ordered the shooting.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS OF LINCOLN COUNTY PROPERTY TAXES DUE

Notice is hereby given that 1988 property taxes became due November 10, 1988 and will become delinquent December 11, 1988. Taxes may be paid in full by December 10, 1988, or in two equal installments, with the second half becoming due April 10, 1989 and delinquent if not paid by May 10, 1989.

Pursuant to Section 7-31-50 of the New Mexico Property Tax Code, a minimum penalty of five dollars ($5.00) of one percent per month must be charged on all delinquent taxes, and pursuant to Section 7-31-49, one percent per month must be collected on all delinquent accounts.

Owners of personal property such as mobile homes or office equipment, who have allowed taxes to become delinquent more than two years will be served with a demand warrant for collection of these delinquent taxes, pursuant to Section 7-35-53 of New Mexico Statutes Annotated 1978, if delinquent taxes are not paid in full.

Pursuant to Section 7-38-53, property taxes are the personal obligation of the owner of the property and the sale or transfer of property within that tax year does not relieve the former owner of personal liability for property taxes in that year. Failure to receive a bill is not sufficient cause to seek to have penalty and interest waived.

Should you have questions concerning your property taxes, please contact the Lincoln County Treasurer's Office at 505/648-2397 or 505/648-2325.
