Hondo Basin water dispute

Judge denies Mescalero claim to water rights

By Ruth Hammond

Retired Supreme Court Justice LaFel Oman of Santa Fe handed down a decision in the Mescalero water suit Jan. 26. He ruled that the Mescalero Tribe is not entitled to 17.931.7 acre-feet of water a year as sought from the Hondo basin.

Oman's decision will provide the tribe with 1,372.4 acre-feet of water annually for existing uses and 950 acre-feet annually for growth. An acre-foot of water is 325,851 gallons, or the amount of water it takes to cover one acre to a depth of one foot.

The decision will not radically affect the existing stream flows or the use of water by non-Indian users along the three valleys or the municipal supplies of the communities in the Hondo Drain System.

The Water Defense Association is "extremely pleased with the decision," according to Hubert Quintana, executive director of the WDA. "Our position all along has been that there is enough

tion to reasonably share without creating a severe hardship on each other." Quintana went on to say. We put our faith in our judicial system, and even though we were not nearly as well financed as the United States and Tribe, we were able to prevail. It's nice to know that the little guy can still win."

The WDA was formed in 1986 to protect the interests of the stream system's non-Indian water rights holders. The association has spent $500,000 in the case to represent 400 water rights holders, valley irrigators, Lincoln County, Chaves County, and the municipalities of Capitan, Roswell, Ruidoso, and Ruidoso Downs.

The United States represented the Mescalero Tribe in the water suit.

WDA President Phelps Anderson said. "The decision is fair, because it provides adequate water to meet evéryone's needs. It allows the United States and the Tribe all of the water they are presently using for municipal, commercial, industrial. recreational, domestic and agricultural purposes plus 950 acre feet of water for future non-agricultural growth needs."

State Representative Ben Hall said he was pleased with the decision and added. "I would hope the Mescalero Tribe will abide by Judge Oman's decision, because from what I understand he put a lot of effort and brought a just decision for all parties involved." A statement has not been made as to whether an appeal of the case may be filed.

EPA discusses mill site cleanup plans

Ellen Greeney, Environ-The investigation and water in the stream systems mental Protection Agency feasibility study by EPA will (EPA) community relations. and Rosemary Glenn, geologist with Jacobs Engineering Group, were in Carrizozo this week to meet with citizens and answer questions about the Superfund study of the Cimarron Mill site near Carrizozo. The mill site was added to the Superfund National Priorities List (NPL) because of potentially hazardous waste materials that were found at the site in 1984. Greeney told about the Superfund Technical Assistance Grant that will be available. One grant of up to $50,000 may be obtained by a concerned citizen group with the funds to be used for payments to technical advisors and services such as reviewing site-related documents, meeting with the recipient group to explain technical information, providing assistance to the grant recipient in communicating the groups site-related concerns, and disseminating interpretations of technical information to the community. The funds may not be used to develop new information, take new samples or have new testing of the samples. Greeney said the grant action. would have to last for the lifetime of the project.

Corona girl earns chance at $25,000

Callie Gnatkowski, a 7th grade student at Corona, won the school's geography bee and a chance at a $25,000 college scholarship.

The school level bee. where students answered oral questions on geography, was the first round in the new National Geography Bee that is being sponsored by National Geographic World, the Society's magazine for children.

The bee was kicked off the week of Jan. 9 in thousands of schools around the United States and in four territories. The school winners, including Callie, will now take a written test; up to 100 of the top scores in each state will be eligible to compete in their state bee April 7.

The National Geographic Society will fly all first-place winners from the state bees, along with their teacher escorts, to Washington, DC, to participate in the National Geography Bee finals on May 18 and 19. The 1st-place national winner will receive a $25,000 college scholarship; the 2nd-place winner, a $15,000 scholarship; and the 3rd-place winner, a $10,000 scholarship.

The bee featured questions on the broad subject of geography-the study of the earth and its inhabitants. All The questions could be answered with a word or a simple phrase.

Child abuse charges under investigation

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Office has received complaints alleging child abuse in Carrizozo Elementary School.

The matter was investigated and all information submitted to the district attorney's office for further

No charges have been filed at this time.

Mrs. Linda King, a single parent and mother of J. King, 13, a 6th grader, told the NEWS yesterday that the Jan. 18 incident involves her son and two other teenagers who were playing a game called "Smear the Queer" on school grounds. She said the game was broken up and Mel Holland, principal of the elementary school, spanked all three, with a board that caused bruises and broken skin on all three children.

Choncho Morales, chief of police, examined the children and took pictures of the bruises. Mrs. King then took the children to Ruidoso and had them examined and photographed by the Department of Human Services.

"It was the opinion of Human Services nurses that these children had been abused," Mrs. King said.

The district attorney is scheduled to review this case Friday at 3:15 p.m.

"I will not have a 240-pound man slamming my boy around with a board, Mrs. King said. "Complaining about how children are sometimes abused in Carrizozo schools does no good." She said she had written several letters over the past few years complaining of what she sees as child abuse in the school. Yet, she said when Mrs. King said she noti- 'she visited with Supt. Danny fied city police, and that Burnett over the last incident, there were none of those letters in her son's file.

"I suggest," she said, "that parents who write letters to the school or the school board keep copies of them, and notarize them. Else they may not make it to the files."

"I think that treating children in such a manner is humiliating to them, crodes their self-respect, and contributes nothing to their wellbeing." School, she said, should be a "fun place" and not a horror chamber.

Mrs. King said she believes the rules and regulations in place at the schools are in need of update. "I believe them to be far behind other schools in the state."

She said her son is so distraught over what she says is a continuing problem of teachers hitting her son on'

Rabies clinics

are set Rabies vaccination clinics will be held in Lincoln County on Saturday, Feb. 4.

The clinics are sponsored by the Carrizozo Animal Clinic.

State law requires rabies vaccinations for all dogs and cats over three months of age with yearly booster vaccinations.

A rabies outbreak was declared in the Carrizozo area last August when a county resident was attacked and bitten by an unvaccinated cat. A fox exhibiting unusual behavior was captured in the same vicinity 24 hours later. Both animals tested positive for rabies.

All dogs and cats, especially those outside municipalities, are required to have the rabies vaccination. The clinic will be in Ancho from .11:15 to 11:30 a.m.; Corona from 12:30 to 1:15; at the El Paso Natural Gas Station from 1:30 to 1:45; in Carrizozo from 2:30 to 4 p.m.; and in Nogal from 4:15 to 4:30.

City dog tags will be available in Carrizozo at the clinic.

In case of bad weather, the clinic will be postponed one week.

Thomas Montoya of Roswell was arrested and charged with DWI, 2nd or subsequent offense, revoked license and reckless driving. The charges stemmed from an alleged hit and run incident on Highway 70 in the Hondo Valley. There were no injuries.

Montoya was released on $1,700 bond.

Free tax help The cost is $5 per animal. for elderly

"Write your congressmen and tell them if they're going to vote for a pay raise, then you want a roll call vote," advised Rhonda Johnston, speaking to the Januay meeting of Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County at the Inn-Credible Restaurant in Alto. Johnston, who is legislative chairman for FRWLC, recently attended a seminar in Washington, DC. There she heard US Cong. Joe Skeen, US Sen. Pete Domenici, assistant chief of staff for the Republican National Committee Tony Likens, and others.

It was Likens who advised Johnston's group that many members of Congress favored voting for the 50 percent pay raise in committee where individual opinions would be blurred. rather than roll call where it would be a matter of public record who voted for it.

Skeen was quoted on TV recently that he favored a roll call vote and that his constituency agreed. A telephone survey in USA TODAY found that 94 percent of the respondents also favored a roll call vote. "Write to your representatives," advised Johnston. "It's the only way they're going to know how we feel. I have addresses," she

MAKING IT

A sister-in-law in Califorhia who feeds my newspaper reading habit sent me the Jan. 20 issue of the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, An amusing item, 'Making it - a survival guide for today," caught my attention. Comic writer Keith Robinson's "How to survive four years of Bush and Quayle" follows:

If you're invited to the inauguration ball ... (1) Network, parlaying your contacts into a senior position in the Bush White House. (2) Swipe plenty of matches to impress your friends.

If you worked for Bush .... start thinking up letters to the editor for future use: (1) Defending Dan Quayle against editorial cartoonists. (2) Defending Bush when he does raise taxes. (3) Defending yourself to unborn generations.

If you voted for Bush .... switch to a career likely to thrive under President Bush: defense contractor, entrepreneur, pork rind manufacturer, stand-up comedian, Third World military strongman.

If you voted against Bush . take up a hobby that will distract you the next four years . . (1) scotch and water. (2) Dry martini. (3) vodka and Tang. (If you don't drink, find some other self-destructive course of action, such as starting a bid now for the 1992 Democratic presidential nomination.)

If you worked against Bush places you can move that will only be slightly influenced by Bush admi-nistration policy: Hussong's Cantina in California, Cook Islands, Arctic, Antarctic, Venus.

NORWEGIAN TORTILLA Grit columnist Dave Wood writes that Norwegians place food on lefse (pronounced lef-sa), roll it up and call it a lefse boose.

Mericans call it a tortilla. Lebanese call it pocket bread, the French call it a crepe and the Italians fill it with cheese and spinach, roll it up, pour tomato sauce over it and call it cannelloni.

Lefse is made of mashed potatoes, cream, flour, Rolled thin into what looks like a big pie crust, it is then slid onto a dry griddle where it bakes until done and freckled.

Wood's father likes a lefse boose slathered with about a quarter pound of butter, 200 calories per inch. His sister likes white sugar in her's. Wood's Dagwood boose is more to my liking: mashed rutabagas, cole slaw, then lined up with meatballs (hold the rutabagas and cole slaw) substitute green chile and sliced cheese. I have respect for my stomach.

A GOOD YEAR The year 1839 is now universally accepted as the birthdate of photography, for it was in January of that year that word of an experiment was first made public in Paris.

Acting on the early research of Joseph-Nicephore Niepe (called by some the Christopher Columbus of photography)

Louis-Jacques Mande Daguerre developed a means for fixing a camera-image from nature on the lightsensitive surface of a silvercoated copper paper that was treated with iodine vapor. Henry Fox Talbot was the first to make a photographic positive from a photographic negative.

Reading about the invention of picture-making, a pro-cess I take for granted every week here at Lincoln County News, it seems only like yes-terday that one day the edi-tor of that time needed someone to develop the film and print pictures. Would I do it? Of course. Put this chemical in this tank and this one in this tank. Just be careful that the baby on the back-carrier doesn't flip on the light switch.

That baby is almost a teenager now. Seems like" only yesterday.

Carrizozo school board candidates were invited to Jan. 26. Six of the eight can-didates 'attended and answered questions prepared by the Carrizozo staff.

Candidates attending were Peter Aguilar, Dale Goad. Paul Collins and Eugenia Vega, candidates for position 3, and Lucy Rick-man and Richard Hollis, candidates for position 4. Tommy Guevara, candidate for not attend.

School Supt. Danny Burnett read the list of 10 questions and asked each candidate to limit their answers to two minutes each.

Hollis has been a board member for six years and said he would like to continue to be a part of the system. He said it takes a little learning to be an effective school board member and cited his experience as a qualification.

Collins said he is a parent and a member of the community and the basic reason he is a candidate is because he cares about kids and cares about their moral direction.

Aguilar has lived in Carrizozo more than 30 years. Heattended Carrizozo school from 4th grade on and is a Carrizozo graduate. He said he has attended school functions regularly through the years and knows the people in the town. He said if elected he would devote the time and energy to do a good job.

Goad said he has a deep desire to have Carrizozo be the best school and a deep interest in his two children. He said he thinks the rural. setting provides quality education for the kids.

Rickman cited her six years teaching experience, five years banking experience and 20 years dealing with the public as her qualifications. She said she will be fair, honest and open-

Several of the candidates agreed that declining enrollment was one of the major position 3, and Nick Serna, problems facing the school candidate for position 4, did Aguilar said reduced enrollment would mean fewer students and less money from the state which may result in the elimination of some classes, Goad said the school had to attract and keep good teacher. and Rickman said, "We definitely don't want consolidation." Vega and Hollis also said declining enrollment and funding were major concerns. Collins suggested getting parents involved.

The candidates listed the major strengths and weaknesses of the school system and proposals for maintaining and enhancing the strengths and ideas regarding eliminating the weaknesses.

Goad listed the administration, personal attention, vo ag, science and sports programs as strengths and said a weakness could be eliminated by getting more parents involved.

Rickman said the school had a good physical plant and some of the state's best teachers. She suggested getting more parents involved. Vega agreed and said. We all have the same ideas. She said there needed to be more parent involvement.

Hollis also aggred and said a strong point is the outstanding staff. He said the town needed to make it a loving concerned community to get teachers to want to stay. Collins said it was a good Source Jackson, to nobody's surprise, wasn't pleased with the traditional inaugural excanonies that installed George Bush as the 41st President of the United States. He raved and ranted in his typical demander manner about the high cost of the inauguration, said to be between $25 and $28 million. He said it should have been spent on the hungry and the homeless. He deployed the number of high-cost limousines in the parade, gliding past the homeless huddled over warming grates along the route. He expressed outrage that le paid $1500 a plate for the inaugural dinner. He people paid $1500 a plate for the monthing worn by those didn't like the elegant, expensive clothing worn by those didn't like the elegant, expensive and important event present to witness a traditional and important event that become a sort of beacon for the exclusively American way of transferring power. His hypocrisy is manifest in the fact that Jesse Jackson is a millionaire, a fortune obtained by his many activities, some unethical, some devious, some downright criminal. Why has he not put his money where his big mouth is and use the million-dollar bank account of his to buy food and shelter for the hungry and homeless? If others with money are called upon to spend for the unfortunates, why isn't Jesse Jackson called upon to do the same? It is even more. incombent upon the reverend because he is a minister of the Gospel, espousing the tenets of Christianity. If there is a better example of hypocrisy than that exhibited by Jackson, tell me about it.

John Sloan is president of the National Federation of Independent Business which represents more than half a million small-business men and women. New Mexico is a state with more than its share of small business. Hence it is appropriate to quote him regarding our very own US Senator-For-Life Jeff Bingaman:

· Getting a toe in the door was apparently the reason behind several large campaign contributions from defense contractors to New Mexico Sen. Jeff Bingaman, who has a poor record of support for business but holds a seat on the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee. It did not seem to matter to those large corporate givers that Bingaman received low ratings on business-issue yotes from the National Federation of Independent Business, the nation's largest advocacy group for small business . . . Nor did it seem to matter to the corporate technocrats that Sen. Bingaman won high praise from the AFL-CIO. No idealogical purity here. General Dynamics, General Electric, General Motors, Chrysler, Grumann, Lockheed, McDonnell-Douglas and many others lined up to pour PAC money into his. campaign." Next time Bingaman cries out for contributions to help keep his seat in the Senate, just refer him to the shore comparations, whe have a wested interest in keeping him there. If Bingaman were not doing their bidding, these corporations wouldn't be funneling money into his campaigns for re-election.

I am not moved by the plight of the nation's homeless, but that shouldn't prevent me from effering a solution to the problem. My suggestion is that metching funds be provided by states and the federal government to buy up the nation's vacant, rundown merever they are found. In Carrizozo slone there are some 50 shacks, shantles and eyesores that could be made habitable for the homeless. There must be hundreds of thousands of them across the nation. My plan is to make these dump heaps available to homeless families on condition that they apair, renew, paint and clean up the houses and surrounding premises. Move the homeless into these structures and put them to work rebuilding them at minimum wages. When they have been restored, cleaned, and painted then they could be given title to their new homes; provided, however, that there would be a probationary period during which the house would be monitored to insure that maintenance is coolinned, that no junk cars and dump heaps grace the front yords, and its inhabitants refrain from drugs and brawling.

SANTA FE-What's in a ram for non-violent offenname?

Shakespeare says a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. But he was talking about the folly of Capulets and Montagues disnising each other. If he were around the New Mexico Legislature, he would think differently because the short, catchy names given to legislative issues can greatly affect their passage or defeat. Long ago we learned not to pass tax bills. Now we have revenue enhancements and user fees. George Bush.

talked about no new taxes but he didn't ever say what he might do with the old taxes. Gov. Garrey Carruthers is suggesting local options for school funding. He's really talking about raising property taxes 7 Then we have the reform movements. If you call your proposal a reform, it is much more likely to pass. Voters recently gave up their right to elect judges any longer in the name of reform. But one person's reform is another's backsliding. It all depends on ders. The program may include "marching drills, calisthenics, a rigid dress program. code, manual labor assignments, physical training with obstacle courses and together, Carruthers pretraining in decision making sented his legislative agenda. Most of the talk was about his "cap" that limits what the governor can recommend in terms of increased funds. Talk of the and personal development."

Democratic leaders in the Round House have renamed the proposal a kiddle concentration camp since the program will be available to men aged 18 to 26. A few detractors have even gone one step further and spelled it Kiddie Koncentration Kamp, to evoke the spector of the KKK.

Ata Women's Press Association legislative workshop last week, Albuquerque GOP Sen. Ken Kamerman objected to a Demo panelist's use of the kiddle concentration camp term, but he went on to admit that shock incarceration was an even worse name for Carrothers' folks to chose to call the program.

Kamerman suggested it can't wait to see what he comshould simply be called an es up with.

The Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) has declared the week of Jan. 29 through Feb. 4 as "HIB Awareness Week" to educate the public about the importance of immunizing children at 18-months of age against Haemophilus influenzae type b, or HIB infection.

HIB is bacterial organism that causes a variety of serious, often lifethreatening diseases that result in an estimated 20,000 to 30,000 cases of illness each year in the United States. Nearly half to three quarters of these cases result in bacterial meningitis, which can be fatal without treatment. Of those who survive. 25 to 35 percent suffer per-

Capitan School board candidates tell why they want job

board candidates agreed on many of the questions asked during a "Meet the Candidates" night Jan, 26 in the school cafeteria. The event was sponsored by the Capitan Association of Classroom Leachers.

Before the question andanswer session began, school Supt. Dr. Scott Childress spoke about the bond issue question that will be on the ballot. He encouraged everyone to vote for the bond issue. School board president James McDaniel was moderator for the candidate's portion of the meeting. He began by asking each candidate to tell why he would like to be a school board member.

Preston Stone, candidate for position 2, has been a school board member for six years. He said Capitan is one of the best school systems in the state and has an outstanding shaft and one of the best administrations in the state.

Each of the candidates agreed they ware in favor # salary increases for teachers.

MeDonough, Roybal, and Hall were not in favor of a four-day school week while Stone said he could see lots of possibilities and at the same time lots of problems with the four-day school week. All ware not in favor of longthaning the school day.

Aguilar said the school program should be updated each year and the school should seek national, regional and district scholarships for graduates as well as local scholarships. Goad said Carrizozo students have received national recognition in judging, arts and sciences. Rickman said the school quality is as good as if not better than other schools. Vega said Carrizozo excellent compared to other schools the same size. Hollis said Carrizozo offers a better quality of education and Collins said Carrizozo compares very well but as with any system it does not mean there is not room for improvement.
