Charges filed against state police officer

New Mexico State Police Officer Mike Sainz has been charged with three counts aggravated battery and one count assault. A complaint filed in magistrate court in Carrizozo June 19 states the charges stem from incidents that were alleged to have happened on May 8, May 18, May 25 and May 26.

District Attorney Bert Atkins said he approved filing the complaint after his office conducted an investigation in the matter. State Police had conducted an investigation and referred the matter to the district attorney office last week.

Sainz, assigned to the Carrizozo area, is alleged to have beat his wife and cut her hair in a domestic quarrel last month.

County EMTs cited for quick actions

Three Lincoln County EMTs received a letter of thanks from Lifeguard 1, the helicopter ambulance service with University of New Mexico Hospital. The letter cited Byron Yancey, Dorothy Lightfoot and Dwayne Joy for their decision-making and preparations in saving the life of Forrest Tracey, 11.

Tracey was run over by a tractor on the family farm near Corona June 11. The EMTs responded and were transporting Tracey to Albuquerque when they decided to call Lifeguard 1 for assistance.

The helicopter met the ambulance in Moriarty and had Tracey at UNM Hospital in 16 minutes where a trauma team was standing by.

Flight paramedic Rebecca Dickerson and flight nurse Walter Chance with Lifeguard 1 said in the letter, "Thanks to the decision-making and preparations by you and your team members, Forrest received rapid treatment and did not suffer undo delays in obtaining definitive care."

Tracey is in stable condition at UNM Hospital.

A scramble format for the tournament will be used. Teams will be selected by random drawing from four classes. A lunch will follow the competition.

Anyone interested in entering the tournament should contact Ted Turnbow at 648-2451.

Wetzel resigns; budget includes pay raises

By Ruth Hammond

The Carrizozo Board of Education accepted the resignation of kindergarten teacher LaRue Wetzel and approved the next year budget during the budget hearing June 15. Wetzel plans to retire after several years teaching.

The 1989-90 budget will include an average pay increase of 4.67 percent for all school employees. Superintendent Danny Burnett recommended to the board the position of elementary P.E. teacher and football coach not be filled. No action was taken by the board concerning the recommendation.

Burnett said the school had a good year and there were no instances of drugs on campus and one instance of alcohol on campus during 1988-89. Burnett presented accomplishments for the school for the 1988-89 school year.

Facility accomplishments included painting exteriors of buildings, painting interiors of some buildings, buy floor covering for the high school vestibule and constructing a building for the kill floor at the meat lab. The meat lab was upgraded to qualify for a New Mexico Livestock Board license.

New equipment was bought for the wood shop, home ec department, the Write to Read program, and computer software was bought as well as a desk top publishing system that will enable the school to publish the yearbook.

Athletic honors, cost saving measures, improvements in the administration office, student services, and activity accomplishments were listed. New student programs and scholarship information was compiled.

Test scores were discussed. First grade students received a total of 89 on the CTBS scores which is in the top 11 percent of the nation. Most of the CTBS scores were above grade level except for 6th grade. Burnett said of the 6th grade CTBS scores, "We have to do some work there."

In other business during the meeting, the board agreed to grant permission to close a section of road in White Oaks. The road is platted but there is no road there at this time. The request for road closure will continue through proper procedures.

Burnett said the school is in compliance with regulations regarding asbestos testing and compliance.

Ralph Baroz was hired as custodian for the 1989-90 school year.

Contract for Rae Jean Barre as custodian was not renewed.

School bus contracts for 1989-90 were approved for Everett Greer, Sharon Hecker, Lois Roper and Steve Gore.

Deleted from the agenda was action to approve the activity transportation contract for Steve Gore.

Burnett was designated as the authorized official to sign on draw down requests for the school to obtain the Senate Bill 9 matching funds for the two mill levy.

The tax compliance certificate for capital projects improvements bonds was approved as presented.

The Chapter I budget of $65,035 for 1989-90 was approved.

Eggleston to go to jail because of barking dogs

Leon Eggleston of Ruidoso was fined $300 and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail because of his barking dogs.

The sentence was imposed by District Judge Richard Parsons June 19 after Eggleston was found guilty of violating the animal control ordinance of the Village of Ruidoso.

Motel owner Tom Beatty testified that he was losing $100 each week because of the barking dogs. The motel is located near Eggleston's property and Beatty said people would check into the motel and leave immediately. According to testimony, the situation has continued for three years.

Violation of the Village animal control ordinance carries a fine of $300 and/or 90 days in jail or both. Judge Parsons said the jail time could be served on weekends.

A motion for reconsideration that Judge Parsons suspend the period of incarceration or in the alternative to allow Eggleston to serve his time in the Ruidoso jail was filed in district court June 21.

Capitan volunteer firemen kept busy fighting fires

By Bartley McDonough

The Capitan Volunteer Fire Department has been busy answering alarms.

The siren sounded at 9:15 p.m. on June 15. A small house on West 3rd Street owned by Delores McInnes was on fire. Three fire trucks and 14 firemen answered the alarm.

Capitan volunteer firemen were called out June 19 at 1:15 a.m. to a dwelling three miles south of Capitan. The occupant had reported his home was full of smoke. First arriving firemen found that the house had been ventilated and the smoke had cleared. A fireman told the News no fire was detected.

Later on June 19, a fire burned a juniper tree on the Flying W Diamond Ranch north of Capitan.

An 8:05 p.m. alarm June 20 sent two units and six firemen to a fire 55 miles north of Capitan. Spokesman Jimmy Don Wright said 1800 acres of range land was scorched. Wright also said units from the Sierra Volunteer Fire Department in Roswell and the Bureau of Land Management fought the blaze. Area ranchers helped contain the fire.

The News contacted Fire Management Officer Larry Bandy of the New Mexico State Forestry. Bandy said, "The fire danger is still extreme. The little showers that we've had do not have sufficient moisture to bring the fire danger down."

• "All of the area is under campfire and smoking restrictions. With the holiday weekend coming up, people should be especially cautious. The use of fireworks on national forest land is prohibited. The use of fire and firework on private land is discouraged."

Grand Jury indicts former Hondo teacher

Five people were indicted by the Lincoln County Grand Jury May 14.

Phillip Stewart, 31, of Pasadena, TX, a former Hondo School teacher, was indicted on one count of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a fourth degree felony. Information leading to the indictment was brought to the attention of the district attorney's office during the investigation of the Katina Chavez death in the Hondo Valley.

Antonio Flores Cortez, 41, Ruidoso, was indicted for unlawful carrying of a firearm in a licensed liquor establishment, a fourth degree felony.

Robert Barrozo, 54, Alamogordo, was indicted on one count unlawful carrying of a firearm in a licensed liquor establishment, a fourth degree felony, and one count negligent use of a firearm, a misdemeanor.

Phillip Wayne Turner, 20, Ruidoso, Count I: aggravated burglary, (great bodily harm), a 3rd degree felony; Count II: aggravated burglary, (misdemeanor); Count III: contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a 4th degree felony; Count IV: Contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a 4th degree felony.

Becky McDonough, 25, Ruidoso, Count I: residential burglary, a 3rd degree felony; Count II: larceny over $250, a 4th degree felony.

Two sentenced in Magistrate Court

Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean Jr. in Carrizozo handed down two sentences June 21.

Ronnie Hammett, 25, of Capitan, was charged with 23 attempts of criminal damage to property less than $1,000, a high court misdemeanor. The charges stemmed from damage to 19 stop signs, and other damage in Capitan on or about April 4, 1989.

Hammett was sentenced to 364 days in the county jail and a fine of $1,000. The $1,000 fine was suspended and Hammett is to begin serving his sentence today.

Judge Dean said the case would be reviewed in five months to determine if possible inpatient treatment for drug and alcohol abuse will be approved. If approved, Hammett will be required to serve 30 days in an alcohol and drug rehabilitation program followed by 30 to 60 days outpatient treatment. He will be on adult probation for one year, is to make full restitution for damages, and attend counseling for alcohol abuse for 364 days. Hammett will also be required to fulfill 200 hours of community service in the Capitan area after his jail term and treatment program.

Jessie Peralta, 40, of Capitan, was sentenced on charges of attempted child abuse. He was sentenced to 364 days in the county jail and $1,000 fine, both suspended. Peralta is to attend counseling for one year for parenting skills and alcohol

Valve problems delay swimming pool opening

The Carrizozo swimming pool is to be open within two weeks. The most recent delay in opening the pool is because of two non-working valves that had to be special ordered.

Lietzman removed as representative of estate

District Judge Richard Parsons ruled in favor of the federal government to remove Carolyn Lietzman and did remove her as personal representative of the estate of Robert W. Lietzman, deceased.

Judge Parsons decision was announced at the end of two days of testimony in Carrizozo June 21. The trial started Feb. 16, 1989 and was recessed at that time because the government had not provided Lietzman's attorney with a list of witnesses as required by local district court rules.

Subsequently, Lietzman's attorneys withdrew from the case which caused further delay. The case was set at Judge Parsons spring docket call April 3.

The federal government alleged Carolyn Lietzman mismanaged the estate. The federal government has a $6.5 million lien on the estate for taxes for prior years. Robert Lietzman died May 17, 1985 in a helicopter accident on Carrizo Mountain.

Judge Parsons ordered the attorneys to submit requested findings of fact and conclusions of law. The court will then make its own findings of fact and conclusions of law and enter judgment in accordance therewith.

Man turns himself in after escape

Lincoln County Sheriff department activities this week included the escape and recapture of a prisoner.

Kevin Puckett, 24, of Ruidoso Downs, was involved in a domestic dispute in Ruidoso Downs. He was arrested at 8:50 p.m. June 20 and charged with disorderly conduct and battery.

The arresting officer placed handcuffs on Puckett and took him to the sub office in Ruidoso. While the officer was unlocking a door, Puckett ran from the building.

An all-night search was conducted by the department and Puckett turned himself in at 8:40 a.m. June 21. He was still wearing the handcuffs.

Sheriff James McSwane said a charge of escape was added to the other charges. All charges against Puckett are misdemeanors.

FLY BY NIGHT

I enjoy sprinkling my conversation with common phrases such as "saved by the bell," "kick the bucket," "get up on the wrong side of the bed."

Sometimes I don't apply the right phrase to the subject at hand and it can get confusing to the listener, but the point comes across.

"Everyday Phrases: their origins and meanings by Neil Ewart, condensed in Readers' Digest supplied me with several new phrases to add to my vocabulary."

But it was the June 9, 1939 issue of the Lincoln County News that defines a "fly by night."

"Whenever Jeff Peters, the engaging hero in the book of O. Henry stories called 'The Gentle Grafter,' went into a new town and spread his samples of corn cure, ink remover, etc., out in front of him, he always took one precaution. He made note of how soon the next train left."

He had to. "Jeff never knew at what minute he'd have to fold up his kit and hot-foot it for the station, with policemen and angry customers in close pursuit."

"He was that kind of business man. We call them 'fly by nights.' They still infest our cities and towns, but you never saw one of them advertise or build a lasting success."

"Jeff Peters stands for the furry parasite, hanging around the fringe of respectable society, dashing in and taking whatever he can, giving nothing in return, ready to flee at any minute, always expecting to have to flee."

HOLD THE PRESSES

"New York, hold the presses! Have I got a story for you!"

That's what Boyd Barrett, acting as a newspaper reporter may have said after a visit to Lincoln, NM following the Lincoln County War.

Last Saturday afternoon at Lincoln, Barrett starred in a one-man show based on the history and legend of the famous battle and the best remembered of its fighters—Billy the Kid.

Barrett's drama which began as a New York reporter on assignment in Lincoln, was part of the many events scheduled for the 2-day second annual La Reunada, sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society. Through on-the-spot costume changes and accents, Barrett "lived history."

I was among the Reunada history buffs, many of whom were descendants of early county residents. One of the first settlers in Lincoln County was Mauricio Sanchez, father of Antonio, Francisco and Estolano, my Spanish ancestors. I have since learned that these Sanchez men may have been riflemen with an organized militia company ordered by Governor Lew Wallace. Juan Patron of Lincoln was named captain of this group following the conflict that caught the attention of international authorities.

History books record stories of greed galore regarding the Lincoln County War. Politics seems to be a main ingredient of early day history all over the nation.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

Questionable practices in politics is not a thing of the past according to today's media sources. So what else is new?

"Even when they do not hold high office, the relatives of China's elite enjoy lives of privilege. Known as the taizi pai, or the princes' faction, they attend the best schools, get the best jobs, live in luxury apartments and drive Mercedes-Benz to shop in special stores. Such advantages naturally galled the less favored." - Time magazine, June 5, 1989.

CLOSER TO HOME

"Congressmen can also take in cash directly by giving speeches for honorariums—a misnomer, since little honor is involved. Consider the $2,000 the Oshkosh Truck Corp. paid each of six members of the House Armed Services Committee on April 1, 1987, for coming to breakfast. The eggs had barely been digested when a few hours later, an Armed Service sub-committee voted to purchase 500 more trucks from Oshkosh than the Army wanted." - Time magazine, June 12, 1989.

Business improvement workshop June 27-28

A business improvement district (BID) workshop will be held in Albuquerque June 27 and 28. The workshop is sponsored by the economic development division of the New Mexico Economic Development and Tourism Department, Main Street New Mexico, and Lieutenant Governor Jack Stahl.

In 1988, the Business Improvement District Act became law in New Mexico, enabling the creation of business improvement districts to achieve economic vitality in districts within municipalities.

The workshop will assist potential organizers and advocates of BIDs to help them understand what a BID is, what the planning process involves and how to implement the BID project.

Property owners, business owners, elected officials, city managers, planners, developers and chamber of commerce officials are invited to attend. For more information contact Ursula Boatright at 1-800-432-4406.

Work on this project is being done by the Hamilton Construction Company of Silver City. The estimated completion date of this project is September. The length of the highway being widened is about 5.2 miles. We thank this company and its employees and families for giving Capitan a little boost in the local economy. Also for employing some of our local people who needed a job.

Cost-share money available for projects

Two cost-share projects are available for landowners in the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District (UHSWCD).

Landowners can apply for up to $3,500 per year for a stream bank protection program with UHSWCD matching the landowners funds. The landowners can re-apply each year for more funds for the program which helps correct severe erosion problems on stream banks.

The herbicide program to help with brush control on ranges is also a cost-share program. The district purchases the herbicide for $46 per gallon and ranchers may buy the herbicide from the district for $23.

The district has a power sprayer mounted on the back of a truck that ranchers can rent to use to apply the herbicide which is used to eliminate weeds and small trees such as pinon, juniper and mesquite. The elimination of these weeds will increase rangeland.

Landowners interested in participating in the cost-share programs should contact the district office in Capitan or one of the district supervisors. Upper Hondo SWCD supervisors are chairman Shirley Goodloe, Ernest McDaniel, Fred Phingsten, Clem Winedorf, Paul Jones, Sunny Sanchez and John Cooper.

In other court action, Judge Dean amended a sentence handed down to Johnny Morales, 24, of Carrizozo. Morales has been placed on work release and is allowed to leave the county jail at 8 a.m. each day to go to work and is to return each day at 5 p.m. Conditions of the work release are "very restrictive" according to Judge Dean. If Morales fails to comply with any of the conditions, he will be required to serve the full sentence as imposed.

There's nothing like living around folks who care. Through good times and bad times you've always been there. We'd just like to thank you for all that you've done. Thank you for the food, flowers, donations, your prayers and concern. We've lost our cowboy, who was a mighty good hand. But we must be faithful and know that God has a plan. We've always known that Heaven would be grand. But now it seems a much sweeter land. If you knew Grade Le, you know that he cared, and above all, he would want us to all join him there. God Bless you and keep you in the palm of his hand. OPINION

● Col. Oliver North is scheduled to be sentenced July 5. If the appellate court sustains his guilt verdict, he stands to lose his $23,100 pension he has earned for having served his country bravely and honorably in the US Marine Corps. Now, if it is legal and proper for a former government employee like North to lose his pension upon being convicted of a felony, why does not this same rule apply to former members of congress who have been convicted of felonies? At the present time we are paying millions of dollars in pension to former congressmen who have been tried, convicted, and jailed for their crimes. Let us examine just a few of these cases.

● Remember Sen. Harrison Williams (D-NJ) who was expelled from the Senate in 1981 for bribery? He retired in 1982 and since then has collected more than $300,000 in pension benefits. Frank Thompson (D-NJ) has collected more than $400,000 for the same type of conviction. John Murphy (D-NY) will have received more than $350,000 in pension funds by the end of 1989. Then there is John Dowdy (D-TX), $600,000; and Mario Biaggi (D-NY), a recently convicted felon who has already been paid $56,000 while enjoying life in a Hilton-type luxury prison in Texas. House Speaker Jim Wright, recently resigned rather than face criminal charges. His pension entitlement has not been computed, but is estimated to run into the millions.

● Congressmen are not going to strip themselves of their federal pensions through legislation. But through legislation they strip Oliver North of his pension fund. Perhaps someone would like to discuss the justice of this practice that stinks of greed and avarice. No wonder I despise congressmen, generally speaking. I have despised them for many years. The following two paragraphs were written in May 1979. Notice any improvement during the intervening 10 years?

● Last week members of the US Senate, world's greatest deliberative body and the greatest congregation of mild-mannered drunks to assemble under one dome, were able to rise to their feet long enough to approve a plan that would require printed health warnings on labels affixed to most alcoholic beverage containers. One would think they had better things to do even though they've turned over the nation's affairs to the president. If the Senators Snort have their way, all beverages more than 24 per cent alcohol by volume will carry this warning on the label: "Caution: Consumption of alcoholic beverages may be hazardous to your health." Considering that the senators thrive on the stuff, a mild reference to hypocrisy might be injected at this point. Of course, the senators don't believe a word of that or they would have sobered up Ted Kennedy years ago. Instead of inveighing so hypocritically against booze, they might have served their country better by inducing President Carter to hit the sauce in an effort to befuddle him long enough for him to make some kind of decision about something, like extending his human rights doctrine to ordinary citizens in a California gas pump line. The enforcer of this labeling edict is Ayatollah Joe Califano, a reformed tobacco addict who now heads the Department of Health, Education & Welfare as his reward, and who is delighted at a chance to spend another $208 million tax dollars on alcohol treatment and research programs in 1980. He believes the label will work. Look how it cut down on cigarette smoking. The only sober comment during intensive debate on the question came from an unarmed hero in the spectators' gallery who interrupted the historic occasion by shouting: "After 200 years they're still bitching about alcohol." As often happens when a sensible comment is offered to the cream of our political crop, he was thrown out of the gallery on his eyebrows. This One Wise Man was referring to the 1791 Congressional debates that droned on for days before a federal tax on liquor was imposed, thus triggering the Whiskey Rebellion. The 15,000 federal troops called out to clobber Pennsylvania farmers settled nothing. We still have the tax on liquor and we still have the rebellion.

● The next step to be taken following the Senatorial Happy Hour is to affix a similar warning to sugar packages, a substance that rots the teeth and disturbs the innards. Certainly, bacon should sport a warning label now that sodium nitrite has been deemed hazardous to one's health and ordered withheld as a preservative for bacon and other meat products. This effort increases chances to acquire botulism, a poison that kills more certainly and more quickly than cancer. Every automobile should have the same warning label, along with all angry bulls, hospitals, courthouses, white bread, all meat cuts which proclaim it is inspected for wholesomeness by the US Department of Agriculture—which it isn't. Just getting up in the morning is hazardous to one's health, and if this news ever gets around to the Senate Bar & Grill we just may find ourselves confined to bed as a safety measure. All of us citizens are precious to the senators. That's why suicide isn't just a sin—it's destruction of government property.

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—State Rep. George Buffett is at it again.

The Albuquerque Republican is an avid letter writer. He got started while heading the GOP's legislative campaign fundraising committee. In addition to being an arch-conservative, Buffett is also very clever. He started coming up with gimmicks for his party's fundraising letters after a while—gimmicks like asking for a bet on an election "horse race" instead of a campaign contribution to the party. The catch was that Buffett phrased the horse race so that he didn't have to pay off any bets.

After his toils in the GOP's vineyard were over, Buffett still had more letters in him. He started writing barages he calls "BUFFETT'S BULLETS" to his mailing list. Soon that wasn't enough to satisfy him so he wrote to chambers of commerce asking for lists of their board of directors. His mailing list grew from 500 to 1,000.

Buffett is happier about his circulation but now he's run out of money in the campaign fund he was using to pay postage. His latest BULLET contains an appeal for money to continue the letters coming. The appeal contains a return card on which the reader is asked to fill in the blanks. The choices are: "Keep your BULLETS coming... even if I've caught a couple. Take me off your list—I can't stand to be told I've been wrong for the last 20 years. Take me off your list—Manny says you're a P!(&! I want to continue reading your letters because they are the only thing giving me any hope. BUFFETT'S BULLETS are great. Let me help with the next round." Readers are then given a choice of purchasing lead, copper, silver or gold bullets for varying prices.

The "Manny" mentioned in the fundraising appeal is obviously Senate President Pro Tem Manny Aragon, who is on the receiving end of many Buffett's bullets. During the 1989 legislature Aragon took time on the Senate floor to read one of Buffett's letters and respond to it with great eloquence and emotion. Buffett said circulation increased dramatically.

Buffett's latest Bullet lists 16 actions by the 1989 legislature Buffett feels discouraged economic development in New Mexico. He says each of the actions has a long story behind it and offers to elaborate for anyone who asks.

Since Buffett has never made a headline in his life, he takes the opportunity in his latest letter to introduce himself. He says, "Many of you don't know me except in my letters. I came to New Mexico in 1980 when I was

11. In 1952, after graduating from UNM, I went into business on $250. Today, because I wasn't smart enough to quit and go to work for the government, I own three businesses which have about 30 employees, with warehouses in Albuquerque and El Paso and offices in Artesia, Farmington and Gallup. After three tries I finally made it to the legislature in 1979 as a conservative Republican. I don't give speeches and I rarely sponsor any bills because most new laws take away either your freedom or your money or help a special few. And, up in Santa Fe, if you need people to vote for your bills, you must vote for them, no matter how bad they are."

Buffett's business, by the way, is candy. He doesn't talk much because he is a former stutterer. Although his speech problem is not noticeable, he doesn't enjoy campaign oration or legislative debate.

So Buffett does his fighting through the mail. He urges readers to pass his letters around and talk about them in groups. He has named each of his four previous BULLETS and offers to send back copies to anyone who is interested.

Anyone desiring to receive BUFFETT'S BULLETS, or anyone wanting to add a little more to Buffett's mailing costs, can write him at 8212 Harwood NE, Albuquerque 87110. He also wouldn't turn down a contribution made out to the Buffett Campaign Fund.

Whether you agree with him or not, it isn't a bad idea to encourage this sort of idea exchange. In this TV age of 10-second sound bites, it is one of the few forms of intellectual stimulation we receive anymore.

Reading newspaper columns remains, of course, the best source of stimulation available.

Letters to the Editor

Manire name not fully corrected

EDITOR—In regards to Mr. Glen Ellison's letter concerning the correction of the spelling of Mr. Manire's name on the middle school, he seems to imply that this correction was already done before I wrote my letter. It was done near hurriedly before my letter was printed but it is not completely corrected yet.

By way of background as to the reason for my letter: my sister, Bertha Shrum Ribble, and I went to the school superintendent's office the middle of April to see what could be done about correcting it. When I returned to Carrizozo the middle of May, nothing had been done about it.

The first week of June I wrote similar letters to the school board and the Lincoln County News. Two days before the paper was printed, the name was changed.

The touch up painting has not been done and it is my personal opinion that it would look much better to have the words spaced the same since each of them have six letters instead of the way it has been done.

I am glad that the spelling of the name has been corrected, but I do hope that some consideration will be given to making the correction a first-class job. (Written 6-15-89, just in case everything is hurriedly completed before the paper is printed next week.)

MARY ALICE SHRUM MORGAN, Carrizozo.

'Sorry about that'

EDITOR—I would like to publicly apologize for the confusion I have caused by my interview with the Roswell Daily Record. I was close to Molly, the little girl mentioned in the article (Sunday, June 11, page 24.) In fact, my husband was one of the first people to realize what had happened. I'm sure that is why it seemed like it took 45 minutes for the ambulance to arrive when the logs show that the response time was actually only 17 minutes.

In fact, our Lincoln Volunteer Fire Department has discussed forming a rescue unit (not an ambulance unit) and most of our membership is interested in becoming First Responders (not EMTs). The training that begins this week (6/13 - 6/15) is for CPR certification, which is just the first of many training steps toward becoming a First Responder.

In fact, I was named to a "food committee" to look into the possibilities of some fundraisers in the future to attract funds for extraction equipment. No fundraiser has actually been approved by our department at this time.

I am excited about things we are trying to do as a volunteer fire department. I had my facts confused and was premature in getting publicity. I would like to thank the community and my fellow volunteers for being understanding of my mistake. I would also like to apologize to the Ft. Stanton and Capitan Ambulance systems and their EMTs for any hurt or confusion this may have caused them.

SARA GONZALES, Lincoln, NM.

Caring people

EDITOR—We wish to express our sincere thanks to Danny Kiper, Maggie Bohks and Gail Hopkins for their help on January 10, 1989 when our niece gave birth to a 1 lb. 10 oz. baby boy. Our long distance telephone service was out at the time, and these three people helped me contact my husband and Danny took him to the hospital in Roswell. At this time, our niece and the new born baby were very unstable.

These three caring people went out of their way to lend aid to us during a trying time and we want to publicly express our appreciation to them. People such as these make Lincoln County a much better place to live.

Our niece, the mother, though critical, recovered quickly. Kyle Jeffrey, the baby, was in Children's Hospital in Albuquerque for about three months and at the weight of 5 lbs. 11 ozs. came home to Roswell. He is now near 8 lbs.

God-bless you Maggie, Gail and Danny.

BILL AND BONNIE JONES, Tinnie.

Boots and Saddles Tour bill money requested

WASHINGTON— Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) is requesting $103,000 to fund the Boots and Saddles Tour bill — legislation he and Representative Joe Skeen (R-NM) introduced earlier this year authorizing a one-year study of eight historic Civil War and Indian forts in New Mexico.

In a letter to Senator Robert Byrd, chairman of the Subcommittee on Interior and Related Agencies, Bingaman said, "The forts are an important relic of our national history, but a relic that is deteriorating because of weathering, unsupervised visits, and the lack of maintenance." Bingaman said, "There is an urgent need to protect these significant cultural resources."

Eight forts are included in the measure: Ft. Craig, Ft.

Cummings, Ft. Stanton, Ft. Union, Ft. Sumner, Ft. Seldon, Ft. Bayard and Ft. McRae.

Bingaman said if approved, the funding could promote tourism in a number of areas in the state by establishing the feasibility of tour routes for vehicles and horse-mounted visitors.

"These forts played a key role in the settlement of the American frontier and the study will help advance public appreciation and understanding of their importance," Bingaman said.

Forests still cover a third of this nation's land.

MEXI-PEANUTS
1/4 cup olive oil
1 package (1 1/2 ounces) OLD EL PASO Taco Seasoning
1 garlic clove, minced
1/4 teaspoon cumin
6 drops hot pepper sauce

Preheat oven and cookie sheet to 350°F. In medium saucepan, melt butter. Add cocoa and stir until dissolved. Add hot water and stir again. With wire whisk, blend in sugar, flour, salt, evaporated milk and vanilla. Stir until batter is smooth. Mix in pecans and pour into pie crust shell.
