

Position terminated

Capitan residents protest loss of police officer

By Doris Cherry

It was standing room only as Capitan residents crowded village hall to protest the elimination of the junior law enforcement position at the village meeting Monday.

Residents, many of them teachers at Capitan High School, protested the loss of officer Tom Hammontre, whose position was eliminated as a budgetary step at the last regular meeting, because they thought they were not receiving protection at night.

Hammontre read a written statement to trustees Jack Pogue, Myrl Ray, Norm Renfro and David Rouleau which claimed the law enforcement personnel living in the village were not considered at the village's budget time, when the junior position was funded. The trustees eliminated the position because they wanted to utilize the law enforcement personnel—sheriff, deputies and state police—living in the village.

Hammontre said he wanted trustees or their attorney to define if he was terminated or still an employee.

"I did not resign," he said. He then asked trustees to reconsider and reinstate the position.

Capitan village attorney Don Dutton said the position was not terminated, rather eliminated, thus there is no need for an employee grievance hearing.

"You were laid off as a budgetary move," Dutton said.

Dutton also said a lawsuit will follow, as Hammontre's attorney had informed him of the possibility.

Mayor Benny Coker commented the trustees considered the move because taxpayers are paying lots of money for law enforcement personnel and not utilizing them.

"Its odd that taxpayers complain of taxes and given the opportunity to reduce them, then you hear the gripes," Coker said.

Coaches Pam Allen and Blane Miller both said there has been no officer present when school teams arrive from out of town late at night and the village is exper-ing more problems with teenagers on the streets having "a full-blown party" with no effort to stop them.

Miller said officers Randy Spear and Hammontre provided a team for proper control. "I would like to see continue."

The protesters questioned why the budget was cut. Coker replied the salary for Hammontre was budgeted, but "it doesn't mean the money was there in the bank."

Coker said the village partly pay for the sheriff's department and state police protection with taxes. "The ability to provide the protection is out there," he said. However, coordination with those personnel is needed.

Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane was present at the meeting and said he talked with Coker and agreed to take calls in Spear's off hours.

"I can't give the town the type of patrol a city officer could," he added. Also, sheriff's deputies are required to serve the entire county, including Aki, which is demanding a large percentage. McSwane said

"I honestly feel like the sheriff's office can't provide any more service to Capitan than to Aki, Corona, Honda or Glencoe," the sheriff said.

Allen asked the trustees if they were out late at night then said the reason why the village has had the problems in the past is because of the police supervisor's inability to offer Hammontre's services.

Residents don't know what they are getting for their taxes, she said. She said she would like to see the village have a police officer who can provide protection for the village and its residents.

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS

VOL. 84, NUMBER 48 THURS., DECEMBER 14, 1989 CARRIZOZO, N.M. 88301 ESTABLISHED 1905

New supervising agency looms for Carrizozo Health Clinic

CHC has been partially administered by Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso and its administrative organization, Southwest Community Health Services (SCHS), but is owned and financed by Lincoln County.

Recently, the county began negotiations to have SCHS oversee CHC entirely and to renew a contract between the county and SCHS for administration of the Carrizozo clinic, which expired in 1984, said County Manager Nick Pappas.

Last Wednesday, Dec. 6, County Commissioner Karon Petty and Pappas met with LCMC administrator Steve Keller and Mike Funk from SCHS and LCMC board of directors president Dub Williams to discuss the contract and other hospital topics.

"We felt it was in the best interest of CHC to have a professional health administrator handle both CHC and LCMC," Pappas said.

CHC is the only health care facility in northern Lincoln County and also serves Corona.

Since no one in county government has expertise in the health care services, the commissioners want the Carrizozo facility included in the LCMC administration.

Presently CHC employees are county employees, although a contract with SCHS provided staff recruitment, cooperative buying, and so on. However, the $1,000 a month contract expired in 1984, with no renewal since. Pappas said the county has not paid the fee since it discovered the contract has not been renewed. If the new contract is approved, CHC employees will become part of the LCMC staff and payroll.

"The major change is they will become LCMC employees," Pappas said.

LCMC will not realize any added financial burden because of a mill levy which voters approved for operations at CHC, Pappas added.

The CHC mill levy is different from the LCMC mill levy, which was passed in 1984. The $350,000 was to go the LCMC with $175,000 for operations and capital outlay each. At a recent county commission meeting, Keller, by phone, requested the funding be changed to $200,000 for operations and $150,000 for capital outlay. Pappas said LCMC budgeted the funds at those levels, even though the commissioners have not taken action on the change.

The county also was under the impression the mill levy funds were needed to make up the shortfalls involved with the H. Burton program. LCMC is not impacted by the H. Burton write-offs, they learned Wednesday.

Keller is scheduled to attend the Jan. 8 county commission meeting to request the mill levy funds as budgeted by LCMC and to finalize the contract for CHC. However, the contract agreement is subject to approval by SCHS board of directors, LCMC board of directors, and the county commissioners.

Medical center shows off its new facility

Board members, auxiliary members, doctors and guests crowded into the lobby of Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) Sunday for a ceremony to note 40 years of medical service and to dedicate the remodeled facility to the future.

LCMC board of directors chairman Dub Williams and Lou Horton cut the ribbon formally opening the newly remodeled and expanded county-owned hospital. Afterwards, LCMC administrator Steve Keller and Dr. Ron Anala introduced Horton, wife of late Dr. Willie Horton who was involved with the inception of the hospital, known as Ruidoso Honda Valley General Hospital when it opened in October, 1949.

The new lobby was dedicated to Dr. Horton, a long-time Ruidoso physician who died in 1981. His wife also was involved with the hospital and was one of the original members of the auxiliary when it formed in 1965. Horton also served on the Ruidoso Board of Education and was active in the Evening Lions Club.

Revs. Gregg Hoist of the American Missionary Fellowship, Harold Perry from the Capitan Four Square

Church, Dan Lank of the Ruidoso Presbyterian Church, Charles Hail of Angus Nazarene Church, Bob Bellows of Ruidoso Methodist, Father Dave Berg from St. Eleanor's Catholic Church and Jimmie Price from Pancho De Paz led an invocation dedication for the facility.

After the ceremonies, guests were taken on tours guided by the Pink People of LCMC auxiliary. The new labs, radiology section and other expanded and remodeled areas were included.

Guests also were treated to LCMC dietary department's famous brownies and other goodies baked by auxiliary members.

Board members present included Cal Cowden, Sally Avery, Ruth McGuire, Clem Weindorf, Amadere Jones, Sue Stearns and Bones Wright, who served on the board for more than 18 years.

Members and staff from the Carrizozo Health Clinic also were present.

W.T. Harris, architect of the remodel and expansion, was cited for his excellent work on the project.

County goes after Nosker, Jake Harris

Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane had a showdown at the Ken Nosker property in Glencoe Wednesday morning.

And village of Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris and Nosker may find themselves in court.

Based on evidence gathered by the Lincoln County Sheriff's department since Jan. 1, McSwane was ordered by Lincoln County to conduct a search at the Glencoe property which was used as an "illegal" dump by the village of Ruidoso Downs.

McSwane and three deputies entered the Nosker land at 10:30 a.m. after the sheriff served the search warrant to Nosker at his place of business. The sheriff found a location above the site which Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris and Nosker admitted to being used as a temporary landfill for the village.

In the ravine, they found considerable garbage layered with dirt. McSwane told the Lincoln County Commissioners at their meeting Wednesday evening the garbage could go into the Honda river if the area was to have a heavy rain.

Senior Citizens Center has a new manager

Capitan Senior Citizens Center has a new site manager.

Henry Silva recently began at the Capitan Center, a part of the Zia Senior Citizens Centers, which includes the centers in Carrizozo and Corona.

Silva, who resides in San Patricio, came to the center because he likes to work with the public.

His goal is to reach more senior citizens in the Capitan area, especially those who do not use the facility now. Silva said many think of the center as a type of charity, but the center is really a place for socialization and a good meal with friends.

Since transportation for seniors is one of the mandate of the centers, Silva said any senior who needs a ride can contact him at 354-2640. Silva also plans to work with Zia director Barbara Ward to get funding to begin a senior center in San Patricio. About 300 seniors from San Patricio to Tinnie could be served by a center in that area, Silva said.

A facility has been found, but now all that is needed is funding for a San Patricio center.

The Capitan Center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday. If anyone is planning to eat lunch, contact the center by 10 a.m., Silva added.

Silva also thanked the Capitan Lions Club for decorating the Capitan center for the holidays.

HENRY SILVA is the new Capitan Senior Citizens Center site manager.

The center will have its Christmas Pot Luck party on Wednesday, Dec. 20, then will be closed Friday, Dec. 22, and Monday, Dec. 25; Christmas Day.

Student artwork goes to national competition

Carrizozo students K-4 created artwork that expresses the joy of reading for the 5th annual Reading is Fundamental (RIF) National Poster Contest.

The poster by Cara Baker, 3rd grade, was selected to compete against entries from RIF projects nationwide. Underwritten by the Hallmark Corporate Foundation, the National Poster Contest highlights reading and encourages children to read for pleasure.

Baker and the runners-up will each receive a book given by Julia Hollis, Carrizozo school librarian. The runners-up were Bianca Baca, kindergarten; Crystal Adler, 1st grade; Renee Rael, 2nd grade; and Amanda Greer, 4th grade. There were several honorary mentions in each grade.

Every child who participated will receive artwork by children's author and artist Tomie de Paula with a certificate of merit. The local RIF project was conducted by Polly Chavez, Carrizozo art program coordinator. Judges were higher level students Becky Means, 8th grade; Cory Collins, 9th grade and Lucy Vega, 12th grade.

The winning entry by Baker was sent to Washington, DC for a final competition where the national winner and eight runners-up will be selected. The national winners will receive a number of prizes, including a $500 US Savings Bond and a trip to Washington with his or her parents and RIF librarian for a special celebration during Reading is Fun Week (April 22-28). A $250 cash prize will also be awarded to the national winner's local RIF project to purchase books for children. Last year, RIF's National Poster Contest attracted more than 450,000 participants.

SANTA CLAUS made a public appearance last Monday evening at Carrizozo Schools during the Christmas Music and Art program. Saint Nick is shown greeting elementary students who had just performed on stage. The high school band was playing "Santa Claus is Coming to Town" when Santa paid his surprise visit.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

CHUCK ROMINGER

FALLING FOR FRILLS

QUESTION: My wife fell in love with a built-in microwave oven and insists we buy a house that is overpriced and out of our financial range. Any advice?

ANSWER: This is one of the typical mistakes a house-hunter can make — buying the frill instead of the house. All too often a family will fall in love with any eye-catching feature and buy the wrong house. Yielding to superficial attractions like these can result in your family ending up with a thoroughly unsuitable house. Bear in mind that the same alluring feature can usually be added to another house at a relatively small cost considering the amount of the overall purchase.

MAKE SURE YOU BUY THE HOUSE and not the frill. You may end up with the right frill and wrong house.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ROMINGER REAL ESTATE CO., 1100 Second Ave., in Carrizozo. Phone 648-2900. One block NE of Courthouse.

Carrizozo Grizzlies win Floyd Tournament

The Carrizozo Grizzly basketball team returned home over the weekend with the Floyd Tournament championship trophy. Coach Ron Becker's team rolled over the host team Floyd by the score of 69-34 in the championship game to win their first tournament championship since 1984 when Carrizozo beat Corona in the Hondo Tournament five years ago.

Carrizozo's full court man to man press forced 23 Floyd turnovers and allowed Floyd only 15 first half points and 19 second half points. Carrizozo scored 30 and 39 points respectively. The entire team played great defense and took great shots without forcing them according to coach Becker. The Grizzlies shot 29 out of 49 from the field (2-point goals) and 1 for 2 from 3 point land. They also dominated the boards even though Floyd had a much taller team.

Chris Schlarb led the Grizzlies with 23 points, 7 rebounds and 4 steals. Dennis Vega guided the offense. Michael Chavez had 21 points in the championship game for the Grizzlies.

Chris Schlarb, Michael Chavez and Abe Padilla were named to the all-tournament team, with Schlarb being selected as the Most Valuable Player for the tournament.

"The championship game was the best played basketball game I have ever seen a Carrizozo team play," said coach Becker. "They worked hard, played together and kept their intensity for the entire 32 minutes, I am very proud of them," he added.

Carrizozo advanced to the championship game by defeating Capitan 57-34 on Thursday afternoon and beating Dora 72-51 on Friday night. Carrizozo played a full court man to man defense the entire Capitan game and the constant pressure forced the Tigers to work the entire court for 32 minutes. Carrizozo was able to dominate the boards (30 rebounds to 20) and got more shots on the offensive end.

Mike Chavez and Abe Padilla led the Grizzly scoring with 14 and 8 points. Chris Barela came off the bench and shot 4 for 4 from the field to help the Grizzlies on offense. Chris Schlarb and Guy Archuleta had 6 rebounds apiece for Carrizozo. Mark Guevara was a perfect 2 for 2 from the field and Dennis Vega guided the Grizzly offense. "Great defensive effort," stated coach Becker.

On Friday night Carrizozo faced a much bigger team in Dora and won 72-51. Dora had a lineup that included a 6'5" forward and a 6'4" center. Carrizozo played its 2-2-1 full court press the entire game and caused Dora a lot of problems, forcing 30 Dora turnovers and took its toll from a conditioning standpoint. Carrizozo outscored Dora 18-5 in the final quarter of play and won going away. Michael Chavez and Chris Schlarb led the Grizzly scoring with 16 points each—Chavez also had 8 assists in the game, and Schlarb chipped in with 8 rebounds and 5 steals. Dennis Vega had 12 points, 10 assists and 5 steals. Guy Archuleta had 13 points and 6 rebounds for the Grizzlies.

The three wins gives the Grizzlies a perfect 5-0 record going into the Cloudercroft Tournament starting today (Thursday). Carrizozo's opponent in the opening round will be the Tularosa Wildcats, game scheduled to tip-off at 2:30 p.m..

Wins, losses at the Floyd Tournament

The Carrizozo Grizzlies boys team won the championship at the Floyd Tournament last weekend.

Carrizozo began its winning spree by defeating Capitan 57-34 in the first round of play Thursday. Grizzly Mike Chavez led the Bruins with his 14 points, mostly field goals scored evenly throughout the game.

Capitan Tiger Heath Huey led the cats with his 17 points, 7 made at the free throw line. The Grizzlies came on strong in the first quarter when Chavez and Guy Archuleta helped their teammates put 16 points on the scoreboard. By the half, Capitan was left behind with Carrizozo-30 and Tigers 14.

The Tigers never caught up with the Grizzlies and ended the third quarter 40-22. Finally the game ended with Carrizozo advancing toward the championship and Capitan moving to an exciting but disappointing loss to Fort Sumner.

Despite a brilliant scoring effort by seven Tigers in the final quarter, Capitan could not defeat Fort Sumner Friday night and lost 59-57. The game started with scoring close, Tiger Warren Russell made three successful free throws and a field goal to set the pace, ending the first quarter with Capitan 10, Fort Sumner 8.

When the Tigers began scoring as a team, all players were successful at the basket to end the half Tigers 23, Fort Sumner 28.

Fort Sumner's scoring spree in the third quarter prompted the Tigers to try harder in the final quarter. But even the 21 points scored by the Tigers were not enough, and Fort Sumner left the court winners in the second round of the Floyd Tournament.

The Tigers shot 70 percent from the free throw line to Fort Sumner's 51 percent.

The Tigers defeated Corona 66-59 Saturday, the final day of the Floyd Tournament.

Tigers Huey and Warren Russell scored 22 and 21 points, but the star in the game was Corona's Randy Lesley who scored 28 points, most field goals.

Corona surprised the Tigers when they kept up in the first quarter, even with Tiger Aaron Russell's three-point basket. Afraid to let the Cardinals move ahead, Warren Russell stepped up his field goal scoring and accuracy at the free throw line, to make 11 points in the second quarter. By the half, Capitan had the game.

The Cardinals returned from the half-time break determined to catch up to the Tigers. A quarter and 15 points later, the Cardinals were only four points behind.

But Huey's success at the basket brought the Tigers away from the danger zone and gave them the game, 66-59.

Corona shot 68 percent from the free throw line to Capitan's 50 percent.

"The Floyd Tournament gave our athletes good experience with competitive ball clubs," Tiger coach Blais Miller said. "Playing three games in three days with improvement each day benefited all of us."

Miller and his wife also became the parents of Nathan Charles, born Thursday, Dec. 9 at Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso.

The Capitan Lady Tigers won the consolation berth at the tournament after their 54-49 loss to San Jon in the first round Friday. Lady Tigers coach Norm Cline described San Jon as a good ball club.

The teams scored evenly in the first quarter, including senior Lady Tiger Lora McKay's three-point basket and ended with both teams at 14. San Jon began to pull away, gaining 2 points over the Lady Tigers by the half 26-24. Another 12 points by San Jon in the third cinched their win even though McKay again scored a three-point basket and 2 field goals in the final quarter. But McKay's spark could not sustain the team and San Jon went for the championship which the Floyd girls finally won Saturday night.

In the second round of play, Capitan defeated Estancia 47-39. Senior Kim Eckland was the star with her 14 points, most field goals. McKay did not score in the first quarter, lending to Estancia's lead at the end of the first quarter. A second quarter success story at the free throw line for McKay brought the Lady Tigers out of their temporary slump to end the half 25-16.

Estancia made up for their second quarter slump with 17 points in the third quarter, including a 2 three-point baskets by M. Murray, which put Estancia on 2 points behind the Capitan girls. Personal fouls against Lady Tiger Leslie LaRue put Estancia in trouble in the final quarter and the Lady Tigers slipped on by to win the game 47-39. The win put Capitan in the bracket to play Carrizozo Saturday, the final night for the tournament in Floyd. The town is located half-way between Fort Sumner and Clovis.

Lady Tigers LaRue and McKay's field goal attack kept the ball in the Capitan basket and the games was an easy win over Carrizozo 50-30.

Grizzly Tinnie Trolinger was the top scorer for her team with 11 points.

The Tigers and Lady Tigers are scheduled to play Hatch Dec. 19 at that school.

Carrizozo will participate in the Cloudercroft Tournament beginning Dec. 14.

You can stop energy efficiency from going up in smoke

A fireplace can add to the beauty of your home, but it can also add to your heating cost. To prevent this heating energy from being wasted, remember to close the damper tightly to keep warm air from being pulled up the chimney when the fireplace is not in use.

A glass screen and a circulating system are other ways you can prevent energy waste.

Ernest V. Joiner's

● Those damned Japanese are bawling again. They cried so hard for so long congress finally caved in and gave each relocated Japanese-American in World War II $20,000. It isn't much, only a couple of billion of dollars we don't have. It was the third time these insufferables have been paid because of their relocation from the West Coast. Is the end in sight yet?

● A recent poll and study of 1,000 Japanese in the United States reveals no startling news. The majority of them believe American workmen are lazy, ignorant and incompetent. The majority decries our lack of technical know-how and lack of determination, a strange attitude considering how they got their butts kicked in World War II. The same group declared it doesn't like our country and it doesn't like the American people. I was relieved by these revelations. It would be a shame and an injustice for them to like me when I dislike them so much.

● A new book, written only for Japanese people, gives insight into how Japan feels about the US today. It is titled "The Japan That Can Say No." It is written by two authors, Akio Morita, founder of Sony Corp. and now owner of Columbia Pictures Entertainment Inc., and Shintaro Ishihara, a strong political leader in Japan. The book states in economic and military matters, Japan has been dominated by Americans, and should now be allowed to go its own way. The US has behaved, the authors write, more like "a mad dog than a watchdog." They say US concerns about trade with Japan come from "racial bias." (We all knew that would be charged, didn't we?) They say the US position in the world depends on Japan's goodwill. Listen to this: "No matter how much the Americans expand their military, they have come to the point that they could do nothing if Japan were one day to say, 'We will no longer sell you chips.'" In that quote is a veiled threat that Japan will one day be at war with the US again.

● A couple of years ago, a Japanese best-seller was a book titled "The War Between the US and Japan Is Not Over." The book caused concern in some circles in the US although it has never been translated into English. It declares war against the US, simply put. Steven B. Schlossstein, a Japan expert and business consultant, told Insight Magazine, "It's time the US woke up and smelled the coffee. The Japanese have been talking plainly about their feelings. We just haven't been listening." The Japanese know what they're going to do, so we had better start listening to them. What will it take to wake us up, another Pearl Harbor?

● Congress has the same problems as do Carrizozo's trustees. It doesn't know what laws it enacts or it enacts them with no intention of abiding by them. For example, there is already a law that mandates a balanced budget. It is Public Law 95-435 which was passed overwhelmingly by both houses of congress and signed by President Carter on Oct. 10, 1978. Amendment 7 reads: "Beginning with fiscal year 1981, the total budget and outlays of the Federal Government shall not exceed its receipts." It has never been repealed. Congressmen simply ignored it, as did the media. My own congressman didn't even know PL 95-434 existed. You don't believe congressmen would pass laws they don't know about, or, if knowing about them, simply ignore them? Write Cong. Joe Skeen and ask about it. Write Sen. Pete Domenici and ask him to enlighten you as to the law's existence and as to why it has never been enforced. I can tell you now that your representatives in Washington won't do anything about PL 95-435, but you can enjoy seeing them squirm because they hate to be reminded what hypocrites most of them are.

● Congress also spends some time each session trying to wiggle out of pressure to give the president the line-item veto, which would stop the unending flow of pork barrel appropriations to constituents in each congressman's district. The president already has the line-item veto. But like PL 95-435, both congress and the president ignores it. The media also keeps quiet about it. Why the media does this is another story, and a shameful one.

● Last week in this column I referred to a speech by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev to the effect that, regardless of reforms in his country, communism will be pursued with the plan to make it worldwide. A reader has asked for specifics of that speech, so here goes. On Nov. 2, 1987 Gorbachev told a group of his countrymen: "We are moving toward a new world, the world of communism. We shall never turn off that road." We hang on every word that man says so long as it is what we want to hear. But we brushed off those words because we don't like them. And again, the media failed to expand on that part of his speech.

"WE CAN LEND YOU $1,000, BUT YOU'LL BE RESPONSIBLE!"

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—The treasure hunt at Victorio Peak is ready to begin again.

The military appropriation act, passed before Congress adjourned its 1989 session, contained an amendment sponsored by the New Mexico delegation that will open another fascinating chapter to the search for hidden gold in the San Andreas Mountains east of Hatch, NM.

The federal legislation allows officials of the White Sands Missile Range to deal directly with representatives of the Ova Noss partnership that claims to know the location of a stash of precious metals and jewels worth billions of dollars.

Norman Scott, a professional treasure hunter, is in negotiations "at this time with WSMR brass concerning the infrastructure that will be necessary for the most sophisticated effort yet to recover the hidden treasure that a professional hustler named "Doc" Noss claims to have stumbled across in 1937.

The last hunt at Victorio Peak took place in 1977 when a group of claimants represented by famed attorney F. Lee Bailey obtained permission through the help of then Attorney General David Norvell for a 30-day search. The time limit turned out to be far too short to dig through the tons of earth that block the shaft due to a cave in Noss says occurred when he tried to widen the opening with a powder charge.

This time the treasure hunters will have a full year in which to reach the cavern that lies beneath Victorio Peak. The existence of the cavern described by Noss has been verified by a sensitive sonar device developed by Stanford University.

Much more powerful equipment will be used in the 1990 edition of the gold search. Scott expects to be ready to start moving the equipment onto the missile range in January. He expects to have everything ready to begin by April 1.

Residents of the area from Las Cruces to Truth or Consequences, who remember the tumultuous days of the 1940s when Noss was spreading his story and trying to raise the cash to reach the treasure he had accidentally sealed off, won't give very high odds that anything will be found.

But there remain just enough clues to keep professionals such as Scott interested in the operation.

The area was taken over by the military in 1942 for use as a bombing range. Since World War II it has been used for missile testing. Many rumors abound that military personnel have quietly located and removed the treasure trove. People involved with mineral claims in the area soon change that government officials have been far less than helpful to their efforts to work their claims.

Ed Teleucky, Alex Kascic and his wife P.J. are officers of the American Flourspar Group, a company with barite and flourite claims in the Victorio Peak area. They have been fighting the government for years trying to obtain compensation for claims that were sealed off. They say they are certain of a $375 million flourite deposit in one of their claims near the peak and that there may be much more than they were able to explore before the area was closed.

But the federal government has denied the existence of any mineralization in the Victorio Peak area.

While Scott and his group are searching for "it," it would be wise on the part of government officials to also look into the mining claims in the area. It wasn't just the ranchers who were deprived of their livelihoods when the grazing leases and mineral claims were confiscated in the name of our national defense.

Legislation introduced by US Rep. Joe Skeen will create a commission and a $17.5 million fund to compensate ranchers and miners but the total appropriation would not be adequate if Teleucky's claims are accurate.

Obviously the closing of an area such as the missile range can lead to tall stories about what is hidden behind locked gates. But it would be in the Army's best interest to put all the stories to rest once and for all.

And if some of the mineral claims prove out, a way must be found to provide access to the area for mining activity. Certainly our state's economy can use the boost.

PRIVATE BUSINESS

Washington Post reporters are discouraged from engaging in any political activities, including community affairs, regardless of what they cover.

An article in Time magazine says, "For many reporters and editors that is a necessary trade-off in order to enjoy the benefits of the profession."

Post's political reporter and columnist David Broder: "When you decide to become a journalist, you accept a lot of inhibitions that come with the responsibility of being part of a private business that performs a very important public service."

According to the article, an equally troubling and more elusive issue is whether journalists can cover stories in which they begin with strong personal convictions.

The Time article, "To March or Not to March," says that as state legislatures begin to tackle abortion questions, newsrooms across the country will be faced with the tension between personal opinions and public actions.

"A well-trained reporter with pride in his craft won't allow his beliefs to distort his stories more than a Republican surgeon will both an appendectomy on a Democrat." — A. Kent MacDougall, journalism professor at the University of California

CLOCK PUNCHING

"Local business means 151 jobs. Support it." — Stearns Insurance Agency outdoor sign. Those of us who have had al jobs understand Bob Stearns' message. Hopefully that figure (151) includes the staff at Lincoln County News.

Last week A & I Auto Supply announced new management and promoted the business with a full page ad in this newspaper. This informs NEWS readers all over town and the county that parts, supplies and services continue to be available.

Because A & I Auto utilized the services of a local business (the NEWS) several people there continue to punch a clock.

I took the pictures for the A & I ad. I then headed for my NEWS darkroom where I developed the film and printed the pictures. That's another job. I handed over the photographs to Peter who designed the ad.

To start the ball rolling, Jim Hawkins, NEWS ad and circulation man, brought in the ad. He turned the billing paperwork over to Kim Roper, bookkeeper and Girl Friday at the NEWS.

And there's more jobs. There is Anne Collins who typesets on the computers and keeps the subscription file in order. NEWS subscribers in town, county and state, nationwide and even overseas read the NEWS and learn about "this, that and the other" and also who sells what and for how much. Often the NEWS carries money-saving inserts (sales complete) that do the same sales pitch.

Coker read a letter from state policeman Kiper who also responded to the crash. In it, Kiper thanked Spear for assisting in locating the crash and with securing the site. State police are, by law, responsible for aircraft crashes.

Spear said he hurried to the site because it was unknown if it was an accident or a criminal situation.

Cox said it would do no one good if "you can't make it to the scene."

Dutton challenged the audience when he said a question was not being asked, "did Randy Spear do something to the car to cause the damage? No! It was mechanical. I checked with Sierra Blanca Motors and that was the information given to me."

Cox continued he was concerned about the low-profile vehicle being used on an off-road emergency.

"It was an unusual situation," Coker said.

Coker also said the village police cooperate with the sheriff's office and the state police when asked.

In other business the trustees:

—Approved the annexation request for the Sullivan and Taylor parcels, as recommended by Capitan Planning and Zoning, with stipulations the parcels not be subdivided, with only one water tap to each tract and only single family dwellings constructed. Sullivan's two tracts are defined as such.

—Formally terminated Manuel Mille's employment, for insurance purposes.

—Adopted the election resolution calling for a municipal election March 6. The office of mayor, two four-year trustees, one two-year trustee and a four-year municipal judge positions will be open. Filing date is 5 p.m. Tuesday Jan. 9 at village hall. Those filing must have a certified copy of voter registration.

—Heard P&Z chairman Frank Worth report on the lot numbering project. Worth said certain village streets, especially in subdivisions, had to be listed as east, west, and so on, for more specific addressing. A question if a road at the west end of the school is a village road, led trustees to agree they would seek an agreement with the school about such.

—Heard Dr. Bernhard Reimann report on the solid waste regional meeting. To be cost effective landfills must serve at least 35,000 people, requiring such entities as Lincoln County to "team up" with other counties to find a place to put trash. The new rules will be the biggest item in the state legislative session, Reimann predicted.

Dutton said politics will affect the upcoming bills in the legislature. He also said recycling will become mandatory to reduce tonnage in the landfills, but a market must be created for recycled materials.

—Invited the public to an open house for the new village hall at 2-4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 18.

—Heard that applications for workers in the 1990 Census are available at village hall.

—Expressed their appreciation for the volunteer work done by Dr. Reimann on landfills and a new project for sewage.

SIGN MAKER

After the boss pays his NEWS staff he's got to have some money left over to buy that stuff he puts in his pipe. So there you are. Because of advertising from other businesses like A & I Auto and even little rummage sale classified ads, 74 jobs are kept in Carrizozo. All because of anyone, anywhere who wants to say: "Here we are. We have something you can buy. Come and get it."

The Stearns Insurance Agency sign tells it like it is.

Zamora-Magnone vows exchanged

Denise Magnone of Capitan and Michael Zamora of Carrizozo exchanged wedding vows at the home of Wayne and Janice Magnone in Capitan, Dec. 9.

Judge Gerald Dean Jr. officiated. A reception with family and friends followed.

Denise's sister, Renee, who lives in California, was unable to attend the wedding so she listened to her sister say "I do" over the phone.

The couple make their home in Capitan.

Nosker, Harris

Also another ravine contained unburied garbage consisting of old batteries and possible toxic materials, McSwane said.

The county, according to Ordinance 85-3 which deals with solid waste, can now take steps to remedy the "illegal" dump—have the sheriff direct the garbage be removed, if it is not done, the county manager can decide to have it removed with county crews or a private contractor and charge the party involved, or criminal charges of $300 and 90 days in jail for each day the garbage was placed at the site.

County Attorney Bob Beauvais met with District Court Judge Richard Parsons Tuesday to seek approval of a warrant for the sheriff to search the Nosker property for illegally dumped trash. A criminal complaint against the village of Ruidoso Downs for violation of the county ordinance 85-3 also was prepared on behalf of the county if the sheriff finds probable cause.

According to the signed affidavit for the warrant, dump logs kept by the village and obtained by the sheriff's department, show approximately 525 cubic yards of garbage were dumped on the Nosker property during the time between May 22 to June 9, two days after the county succeeded in getting the Fort Stanton landfill reopened.

In the warrant, a receipt from Ken Nosker shows he billed the village $1,500 for the trash dumping. Previously, Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris said he paid no money to dump that village's trash.

The Oct. 2 bill was sent to the village from Nosker. The village then cut a warrant on Oct. 18 for payment of the bill.

Also in the affidavit, village sanitation supervisor Oscar Hofer said the village dumped trash in two locations on the Nosker property, instead of the one to which Nosker and Harris admitted.

When the deputies met with Nosker early last week, he identified the one site as the only dump used by Ruidoso Downs on his property.

The Environmental Improvement Division (EID)

ordered Harris to clean up that first site, which reportedly was done by Bill McCarty Construction Company. That company claimed all the trash (about 112 yards) was taken out of the first site, to the dirt, said Beauvais.

Subtracting the removed garbage, it is estimated at least 413 yards of trash remain in the site.

Beauvais also said Tuesday, the county received a letter from the EID office in Santa Fe which confirmed the county has authority to require permits for landfills.

The commissioners met in closed session to discuss personnel and contract negotiation following their regular business at the meeting Wednesday. At press time the News had no knowledge if the county will pursue the criminal complaint.

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

Name of the Proposed Action: EXCEDE III Project.

PROPOSED ACTION: EXCEDE III is a one-time rocket borne experiment which will use an Aris rocket to carry an accelerometer and sensor instruments payloads to an altitude of 100 kilometers. EXCEDE III will be launched from Sulf Site at White Sands Missile Range, which is an existing launch facility located at the Northwest corner of the Range. For program success, the trajectory is required to travel from North to South along a magnetic azimuth. The proposed landing will take place in the Western Range Extension with the modules recovered by helicopter. All ranches in the western range will be evacuated, under established procedures.

PURPOSE OF ACTION:

The purpose of the experiment is to measure optical emissions which are generated by exciting the upper atmosphere with a high powered electron beam. This experiment will simulate the effects of energy deposition in the upper atmosphere from exo-atmosphere nuclear explosions.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED:

The unique characteristics of this experiment restricts the location of the launch site. The trajectory must parallel the earth's magnetic flux, and therefore, will travel in a north-to-south direction. This required trajectory will also be lengthy which thereby establishes the location of the launch site to the northern most portion of the range.

Along with the above characteristics and with the purpose of obtaining certain data, selecting an existing site would be a prudent and effective use of existing resources and would serve to enhance this project. After an investigation of existing launch sites the optimum site proved to be Sulf Site. This site is an existing launch facility, in continuous use and has all essential utilities. Concurrence for construction at Sulf Site has been obtained. The site has required only minor remodeling and upgrading to be made useful. All site activities and construction have been within existing graded and traveled areas. The existing graded dirt road, leading to the site, is being used and therefore, no new desert area has been disturbed.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONSEQUENCES:

1. Water Quality and Supply. The existing water tank and septic tank will not be used. Water necessary for drinking and soil compaction will be trucked and obtained from potable sources as standard practice calls for construction water to be potable, and free of undesirable chemicals. Water needed for drinking will be provided in cooler type containers. Temporary portable toilets will also be brought to the site.

2. Geology and Soils. Sulf Site is located on desert loess typical for the north part of White Sands Missile Range. The soil composition is mainly sand, with small amounts of silt and clays, and little coarse gravelly material. As stated above, no excavation will take place outside existing graded areas.

3. Air Quality. The air quality at Sulf Site and surrounding area is good and the proposed launch will not present any threat to the ambient air quality. Activities during construction may create dust for brief moments but is expected to dissipate rapidly with no significant effects on air quality.

4. Ecological Resources. Sulf Site has been continuously used as a launch site, and in addition nearby, the north portion of the range is also used as a practice bombing range which generates more noise than rocket launchings. With these continuous activities there is the possibility that animals located in this area have become acclimated, and therefore, the chance of this launch having significant impact on animals is remote.

5. Cultural Resources. The launch site is located within WSMR, where no cultural sites exist. An archaeologist will be present during recovery efforts.

6. Socioeconomic Resources. This program will have no significant impact on the socioeconomic conditions of the surrounding areas.

CONCLUSION:

The proposed experiment will not significantly affect the environmental conditions that exist at WSMR. Any potential threat to the quality of human and animal environment will be circumvented by established control measures inherent in the ongoing testing activities here at White Sands.

Based on the considerations contained herein and the foregoing conclusions, an Environmental Impact Statement is not required.

POINT OF CONTACT: An Environmental assessment that discusses the impact of the proposed action in detail has been completed and is available for public reading in the Environmental Office located in Building 1740 on WSMR. All are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the Commander, WSMR, within 60 days of this notice. Address all correspondence in reference to this notice to:

Obituaries

ROBERT A. "Bud" CRENSHAW

Robert A. "Bud" Crenshaw died Dec. 9 at his home in White Oaks.

Crenshaw was born Sept. 3, 1915, in Melrose, NM, to Robert A. and Bertha Crenshaw. The family moved to the White Oaks area in 1917, where Bud ranched and resided until his death.

He had been a member of the Capitan American Legion Post, State Monument Patrol, Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse, and involved in the Nogal Ranchers' Camp Meeting activities. He served in the US Navy aboard the USS Franklin during World War II.

Also, he spent several years in Mexico with the AFTOSA program; and, retired after 20 years service with the fire department at Holloman Air Base, Alamogordo.

Funeral services were held in White Oaks, Dec. 11, with Floyd Goodloe officiating. Interment was in Cedarvale Cemetery, White Oaks.

Survivors include his wife, Orene K. Carrizozo, two sons, Bobby Dan, Sunland Park and Kenneth L. White Oaks; a grandson, Kenneth C., Las Cruces; granddaughter, Lisa Vega; and great-granddaughter, Kaitlan Mary Vega, White Oaks; three sisters, Lovella Counts, Tularosa, Robbie Crenshaw, Carrizozo, and Opal Mills, Ruidoso; several nieces and nephews.

Memorial contributions are suggested to the Cowboy Chapel being built in White Oaks.

NELLIE M. VICKERS

Nellie M. Vickers, Ruidoso, died Dec. 9 at her residence. She was 87.

Funeral services were held Dec. 12 at LaGrone Funeral Chapel with Rev. Fred Rider of the First Christian Church officiating. Burial was at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Ruidoso.

Mrs. Vickers was born May 4, 1902 at Nocona, TX.

She and her husband moved to Ruidoso from El Paso 17 years ago. She was a member of the Women's Club and Lincoln County Medical Center Auxiliary, and a retired court clerk from the 41st District Court in El Paso.

She is survived by her husband, Edwin D. Vickers of Ruidoso; two daughters, Mary Zolt of El Paso and Patricia Edwards, also of El Paso; a son, Dan Vickers, El Paso; a sister, Lucy Delaney, Houston; seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.
