Murderer, sentenced to life, up for parole after 10 years

By Doris Cherry

Ten years have passed since the tragic murder of Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Bedford on Oct. 8, 1979, in Nogal Canyon.

And now, 10 years after receiving a life sentence for the first-degree murder of the young deputy, Bedford's murderer, Robert Elton Cox, is scheduled to come before the state parole board for a hearing on Oct. 18 at the Central New Mexico Correctional Facility in Los Lunas.

On Nov. 1, 1979, Cox was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary in Santa Fe for his natural life by District Court Judge Robert Doughty in Alamogordo after he pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering Bedford. Forty-years-old at that time, original reports stated Cox would have been eligible for parole after 30 years.

Cox and his 16-year-old accomplice, Louis Anthony Salandre, were involved in numerous burglaries in Lincoln County and an auto theft from Albuquerque just before the murder. Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane, who was deputy at that time, and a friend of Bedford's, said the department suspected the burglars were staying in Nogal Canyon.

Discovery of the stolen car the day before and a desire to look at property led Bedford up the canyon, McSwane said.

According to reports in the Oct. 11, 1979, issue of the LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS Bedford called the dispatcher and said he was checking on two hitchhikers, one with a weapon. Minutes later he called for a backup, the last time anyone heard his voice.

Deputies Bob Barnes and John Cupp arrived at Indian

Springs, about six miles up Nogal Canyon, and discovered Bedford's body and his patrol car still running. He was shot five times at close range and his service revolver was still snapped in its holster.

Roadblocks were immediately set up in Tularosa and throughout Lincoln County. Over the next three days, a massive manhunt involved more than 250 law enforcement personnel from state and several county agencies.

A warrant for Cox was issued after Salandre gave himself up the day after the murder. He said Cox killed Bedford and that he was afraid Cox would kill him.

Cox was spotted in Corona and apprehended four days after the murder. When he was returned to the Lincoln County Jail in Carrizozo by deputy Don Dose and Carrizozo policeman Guy Brown, a bizarre incident occurred. A cap which contained a .22 caliber pistol and hunting knife taken from Cox was on the car seat beside Dose. When he began to get out of the car, the cap caught on Dose's belt and was dragged out of the car, allowing it to land on the ground and fire, hitting Dose in the leg. Dose, not knowing what happened, assumed the shot came from Cox and he quickly fired three shots into the back of the patrol car where Cox sat.

Injured in the hip, Cox was taken to Alamogordo, as was Dose.

Cox's criminal record is long. He began his life of crime in his home town of Biddford, Maine in 1956. Since that first conviction, Cox's criminal record is long. He began his life of crime in his home town of Biddford, Maine in 1956. Since that first conviction, Cox was imprisoned 22 times on different charges. During those 22 times, Cox was paroled three times—twice in New Mexico and once in Louisiana. And one of those paroles in New Mexico was only six months before he murdered Bedford.

In 1959 Cox was investigated in connection with a murder, but was released.

Cox was arrested in 1975 for fraudulent use of a credit card and was sentenced to one to five years in the state pen in Santa Fe. In 1976 he was transferred to Camp Sierra Blanca (CSB) where he remained for several months. However, he was transferred to Santa Fe after conduct violations. In 1978, he again came to CSB and worked in Captain on work release. Conduct violations sent him back to Santa Fe, from where he was paroled only six months before Bedford's murder.

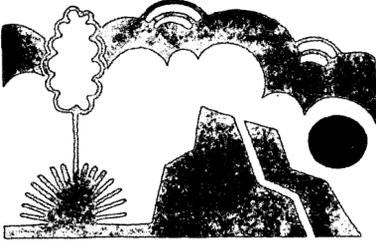

Cox's accomplice, Salandre, was tried and sentenced in juvenile court and was sent to the boy's correctional facility in Springer. He later was paroled, McSwane said. "Cox was a model prisoner," McSwane said. He was a staff member of the New Mexico correctional facility in Santa Fe about five years after Cox's murder conviction.

Now after serving 10 years of his "life sentence," Cox will again go before a parole board. It is the responsibility of the district attorney to notify any persons who may have been a victim of the crime committed by Cox.

But many in Lincoln County have not forgotten.

EPA testing Cimarron site for pollutants

The closed Cimarron Mining and Milling Company east of Carrizozo is the scene of much activity since Aug. 21.

On that date, environmental engineers from the firm Camp Dresser and McKee Inc. (CDM) with main offices in Boston, MA and sub-offices in Austin, TX and Albuquerque, moved onto the long-closed mill site.

The mill once operated by Southwest Minerals Company and now leased by Zia Steel Corporation, was used to recover metals with a solution of cyanide salt and metal stripper from 1979 to 1982. Before 1979, gold was extracted with cyanide.

According to information from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the site was added to the National Priorities List in 1988, mainly due to a 1984 study by New Mexico Environmental Improvement Division (NMEID) representatives which showed cyanide in shallow ground water, soil and mill tailings on the site.

An inspection by NMEID at that time also revealed two cyanide solution tanks, a unlined discharge pit, tailings impoundment, uncovered tailings pile and a drum storage area. Mercury, selenium, arsenic, lead and copper also were detected in potentially hazardous concentrations.

EPA studies in September 1988 concluded solid and fluid discharge contaminated ground water, surface and subsurface soils at the site.

Because of the findings, the site was proposed for addition to the National Priorities List in 1988 and the area was fenced and restricted to the public.

One of 10 EPA Superfund Sites in New Mexico, the Cimarron site is now in the Remedial Investigation phase. Superfund was established by congress in 1980 to authorize EPA to respond to potentially hazardous substances which might endanger public health or environment.

According to Roger Schenk, CDM environmen-

THE OLD Prehm store appears much today as it did shortly after it burned in June. Unstable walls and burned debris have yet to be taken away, and the walls could become a hazard, despite no trespassing signs.

TALL WEEDS threaten to overtake the town's old ice plant building, which also is in bad repair. A local weed ordinance appears to be ignored as the weeds grow taller around town. (See OPINION, page 4.)

Carrizozo Board of Education

Students scramble to raise funds for annual senior trip

The student body of Carrizozo High School agreed a student must participate in 80 percent of all school activities to be eligible for the senior trip, the Carrizozo Board of Education learned at its regular meeting Tuesday.

Student and parent representatives from each class told the board they agreed to the 80 percent rule as a means to get students to do their fair share toward raising money for the senior trip. To achieve the 80 percent students may work in such activities as the concession stand during games, selling raffle tickets or gifts and by contributing money if they lack credits. Parents also can donate time or money to help accumulate the 80 percent, the board learned.

Senior class sponsor Bob Hemphill said no student will not be aware of how many credits they lack before it is time for the senior trip, as the accounting will be kept on computer.

The board agreed accurate record keeping is necessary to prevent any student from being ineligible due to a lack of credits. However, no student who is ineligible to graduate will be allowed to go on the senior trip.

Board member Nat Palomarez requested the board receive a list of all student credits.

Students of low income families will not be penalized because they cannot afford to purchase tickets or provide cash, said board president

Wally Ferguson in response to a question.

Board member Hoot Gibson said he thought there are enough activities not involving money to help the low income student accumulate the needed credits, but the student should consult the class sponsor if any problem arises.

Capitan Schools

Four employed; senior trips are abolished

The Capitan Board of Education employed four individuals at its Sept. 14 meeting and accepted the resignation of another.

New special education aides are Debbie Bird and Sherri Klinger. Dinah Roybal will be a custodian. Nina Mowell will be a transportation aide. Her work involves Ft. Stanton special education students who attend Capitan Schools.

The resignation of Inge Sedillo was accepted by the board. Sedillo was cited for having done an exceptional job for the past five years.

Norman Cline was approved as junior high girls track coach. Pam Allen will be junior high girls basketball coach. Allen will also assist Coach Cline with the varsity team. A two-year contract was approved for high school principal Bill Stowe. It was noted that Stowe is doing an outstanding job.

The 7th and 8th grades (only) will now observe a closed campus policy.

A decision was made to issue car stickers for student vehicles. Students must have the proper insurance and a valid drivers license. Their vehicles must have up-to-date state license plates.

Skate boards will no longer be allowed on the school campus.

The board of education approved section I, 1.12 of the board policy. This deals with the duties of the board. Section II of the board policy was also approved. This covers duties of the superintendent and the principal.

A revision was made on the school calendar. Oct. 2 will be a school holiday instead of Oct. 20.

The board approved elimination of future senior trips. Reasons given for this decision were the amount of money needed to be raised, the fact that there were no senior trips in the past two years, and according to state standards, students must attend school 180 days each school year.

Reports were made by Lora McKay, Lesley LaRue and Jennifer Eldridge concerning their participation at the state student council convention in July. These students said it was a positive experience. They learned valuable leadership skills. McKay was named a law clerk in Washington, D.C.

see the outside world. Hemphill said the senior class is working toward a trip to Hawaii or a cruise.

The board unanimously approved the 80 percent rule as board policy. Each year the freshman class will present their percentage requirements.

The board revised an existing section of the school board policy concerning leave of absence, to include a statement that the returning employee be given a position only if there is a position open to which the employee qualifies.

In other business the board:

—Approved Section 200 and 300 of the Carrizozo School Board Policy.

—Received Sections 400 and 600 of the policy for review and approval next month.

—Heard that Carrizozo students have substantially improved their test scores on the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) according to New Mexico student achievement profiles.

Carrizozo Supt. Danny Burnett said Carrizozo students are above the statewide levels for districts of like size. He said the tests scores are important indicators of areas where extra work is needed.

Carrizozo drop out rates also are below the national tal scientist at the site, the investigation now is mainly centered around taking water samples from the site's existing wells and the drilling of an additional test well between the existing wells. The new well, being drilled by the Bureau of Land Management, will be used to test ground water for contamination.

As a precautionary measure, the engineers, including four from Los Alamos Technical Associates, wear protective clothing, respirators during windy weather and personal monitors which read the amount of cyanide or other hazardous gas which might be present in the air at the site.

All samples are carefully bottled, labeled and sealed to prevent any tampering in shipment to EPA-certified laboratories, Schenk said. The results of the samples will help determine the extent of contamination at the site and which steps will be taken by the EPA; from no action to a list of alternatives to action, Schenk added.

On-site coordinator at Cimarron is Darren Brown. The Remedial Investigation phase is estimated to last another month.

average of 25 percent, with the highest number of drop outs nationally among Hispanics, at 28 percent. Carrizozo schools report no drop outs among its Hispanic students and only 7 percent of all other students drop out.

—Announced Crystal Adler of the elementary school, Rene Roper of the mid-school and Donnie Mathews of the high school are students of the month.

—Approved hiring Everett Banister as mid-school science and elementary P.E. teacher.

—Approved the regular and substitute school bus drivers for 1989-90.

—Oked financial reports and check register and a special budget increase for Title II.

—Accepted the low bid of $1.06 per gallon of unleaded gas from LaMay Distributing Co. and the milk bid from Prices.

—Heard a report that a new septic system complying with EID requirements was installed at the VoAg farm, new carpeting and shelving were installed in the band room, providing for safety and storage, and the old gym was repainted.

Couple observes 70th anniversary

Gilbert and Chloe Peters will be celebrating their 70th wedding anniversary on Sept. 28.

They were born and married in Lincoln County, and have resided in Lincoln County all their lives.

Gilbert was employed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and took up ranching for a hobby. After retiring from the railroad in 1957, he became more active in raising pure bred Hereford cattle. He still works daily on the ranch located on Highway 48 between Capitan and Ruidoso.

The Peters are members of the Angus Church of the Nazarene where they attend services regularly. Chloe joined the Capitan Church of the Nazarene on July 29, 1917, and has faithfully served as church secretary, steward and Sunday School teacher. Gilbert has also been an active church member and served as trustees on the Church Board.

Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Camp Meeting has been a very important part of their lives since 1940, and presently serve on local committees.

The Angus Cemetery Association is another area where Gilbert, ground chairman, and Chloe, secretary, spend much time and energy serving their friends and neighbors.

A reception will be given in their honor at the New Mexico District Church of the Nazarene Campgrounds, Angus, on Sept. 30, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The reception will be hosted by their children, LaMoyné and Opal Peters, Capitan; Glenda, Leslie, Lynden, and Tanya Armstrong, Ft. Sumner; and Renee and Kevin Grant, Muleshoe, TX.

The couple's children invite close friends and relatives to help celebrate the occasion. No gifts, please.

No bear hunts this season

Bear hunters fond of tromping the Capitan Mountains can forget it this year.

The state Game and Fish Commission voted last Thursday to cancel this year's bear season in the Capitan and Sandia Mountains, because of the number of bears already killed or removed from those areas.

According to a published report, the commission voted 2-0 to suspend the bear hunts this year in the two areas. However, chairman Gerald Maestas did not vote and two commission members were not present at the emergency session called because the big game season was to open yesterday.

The commission approved the closures because the public present at the meeting favored cancellation of the season. Most commenting were wildlife and environmental supporters who oppose hunting.

Although one person supported the hunt in the Sandias, Dan Sutcliffe, chief of game management for the state Department of Game and Fish, said only three bears have been killed in the Sandias in the last four years.

Most attention was given to the bear situation in the Capitan Mountains. At least 21 bears, believed to have killed sheep, have been killed by ranchers and government trackers.

At the meeting, a registered lobbyist for wildlife and environmental issues estimated the worth of the 60 sheep killed by the bears was about $2,160. The worth of the bears—in terms of money lost for hunting guides, bear parts and the cost of the government to track them down—was $60,000.

Continued reports from the sheep raising areas of the Capitan Mountains indicate that bears are still being killed.

Revised by-laws for Carrizozo CC members

Revised by-laws were presented at the Sept. 12 Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce meeting. Reorganization of the officers is one of the major changes.

The new by-laws provide for a president, president-elect, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, treasurer, and board of directors. The board will consist of four elected from the general membership, the president, immediate past-president and president-elect.

Copies of the by-laws will be distributed to members for their review. A vote to accept or not accept the new by-laws will be held at the Oct. 9 chamber meeting.

In other business, members agreed to place an ad in the vacation guide of New Mexico Magazine in January 1990. The ad will cost $735, an increase of 40 percent from the last ad placed in the vacation guide.

Election of officers for the next year will be held at the October meeting. Nominating committee members are Scott Shafer, Danny Burnett, and Ruth Hammond. The nominating committee will present a slate of officers, and nominations may be made from the floor.

Mountain Springs Ranch south of Carrizozo on Highway 54 will host the Sept. 29 chess and wine social sponsored by the chamber.

Janice Christopherson presented a program on the Carrizozo Lodger's Tax Committee. She is the chairman of the organization.

State tax on military, federal/civil service employees, triggers lawsuit

A class-action suit has been filed against New Mexico by military and federal/civil service retirees.

There are about 32,000 such retirees in the state and the Revenue and Tax Department requires that they pay taxes on their retirement pay. The lawsuit seeks return of approximately $29 million paid in what the retirees charge was an illegal act.

The lawsuit cites a court case, Davis v. State of Michigan, where the court ruled that the state acted illegally in that they taxed military and federal civil service retirees' income while exempting state employment retirees from the same policy.

Military and federal civil service retirees in Lincoln County are invited to attend a meeting Saturday, Oct. 21, 10 a.m. at the Elks Lodge in Alamogordo to ask questions regarding the lawsuit.

For further information call the retirees' attorneys, James Hart or Robert Brack in Clovis, on a toll-free number 1-800-525-4705.

Unique club holds banquet

The Capitan "C" Academic Club held its fall banquet Sept. 12 with its 12 members, their parents and invited guests attending.

Sponsor Bill Stowe said a student must maintain a 3.67 grade point average to be eligible for membership and be enrolled in the sophomore, junior, or senior classes.

New member Melanie Whitaker joins Tammy Longbotham, LaShauna Tiltonson, Kelli Rogers, Kim Eckland and Lora McKay from the senior class. Karie Cox welcomed Jolene Edwards, Cindy Castillo and Angela Schryer from the junior class. The two new sophomores are Erin Keller and Lori Longbotham.

Six of the 12 members have a 4.0 grade point average or better. It is possible to maintain better than a 4.0 average by being enrolled in the honors program.

Principal Bill Stowe, sponsor for the last three years, said all members are taking college preparatory classes.

Supt. Dr. Scott Childress said "it takes excellent students to attract and retain excellent teachers." Childress also said "there isn't any better high school than we have right here."

There will be a meeting Sept. 26 with seniors and their parents to discuss college admission and related areas. The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the school library.

Homecoming Queen.

The Capitan Tigers played the Hagerman Bobcats on even terms throughout the 1st half, but lost in the second half 21-0.

Capitan coach Blane Miller told the News "the score stood 0-0 with six minutes left in the 3rd quarter. Hagerman, on their own four yard line, broke a 95 yard TD run. We had them where we wanted them and relaxed one play which drastically changed the composure of the game."

Capitan began the game with Sean Seay getting 15 yards and a 1st down. Heath Huey hurt his shoulder and Warren Russell took over at quarterback for three plays. The Tigers had to punt.

Capitan stopped the Bobcats with numerous gang tackles. Dan Seay broke up a pass. Delgado got 7 yards on offense. The 1st quarter ended with Capitan near its own goal line.

Sean Seay made an important tackle in the 2nd quarter preventing a Bobcat score. Huey, Sean Seay and Roybal worked numerous plays for short yardage. McEuen, Payne and Bobby Griego got big hits. Ronald Reynolds seemed to be in on every defensive play.

Late in the second quarter the Tigers tried a long field goal barely missing it. The half ended in a scoreless tie.

The Tiger Guard, led by major Jennifer Newsom, put on the halftime show.

With 6:25 left in the 3rd quarter, the Bobcats found themselves next to their own goal line.

It was here that Olivas broke down the east side of the field for 96 yards and the 1st score of the game. The extra point try was blocked.

Hagerman began a drive late in the 3rd quarter punctuated by an 18 yard gainer and a big pass completion to the Tiger two yard line. The Tiger line held for three big plays.

The Bobcats scored on 4th down and passed for the 2 extra points. It was Hagerman 14, Capitan 0, 10 minutes left in the game.

Moments later Hagerman began a drive from the Tiger 47 yard line. The big play was a pass completion to the Capitan 11 yard line. Olivas got the final 11 yards on the next play. The PAT was true and Hagerman had its 21 points on the scoreboard.

Warren Russell intercepted a pass, Huey got big yardage along with Sean Seay, but the Tigers were unable to score. Final score, Hagerman 21, Capitan 0.

There is a town ordinance, according to a national publication, whereby male residents cannot appear on the streets of Carrizozo unshaven. If such an ordinance be enforced at least half the male population would be in municipal court, fined and/or jailed. This is but one example of local ordinances that go unenforced. If a local law is not to be enforced, why is it on the books instead of being repealed?

What we have in Carrizozo is "selective enforcement" of local ordinances. In short, enforcement is applied in special cases to special people. Other residents may violate the law at their pleasure, so long as they don't incur the wrath of the town's Establishment.

The town council is to be commended for recently ordering the owner of the old Girard Hotel to be torn down and the debris removed from the lot. That is a beginning. The big flaw is that the hotel owner was "selectively" cited for maintenance of a hazardous and unsightly building. No other property owner was cited even though dozens of structures are equally unsightly and dangerous, and have been for many years. Yet the town council failed to invoke the law in those cases.

At last week's meeting of the council the mayor explained the reason for singling out the hotel owner for citation. He said the reason the council proceeded against her is that "four or five complaints" had been filed. What he was saying was that any hazardous structure "may" be removed only upon complaints of citizens being filed with the council. That isn't what the local ordinance says, and that isn't what the state law says either. What both laws state is that the municipality's council takes the action. So what difference does a complaint make when the council has inherent powers to proceed without them?

The pertinent state law reads: "Whenever any building or structure is ruined, damaged and dilapidated, or any premise is covered with ruins, rubbish, wreckage or debris, the governing body of a municipality may by resolution find that the ruined, damaged and dilapidated building, structure or premise is a menace to the public comfort, health, peace, or safety and require the removal from the municipality of the structure, ruins, rubbish, wreckage or debris." No complaint has to be filed; the council acts or fails to act on its own.

The town's weed ordinance, is specific—no "may" involved. Ordinance 6-6-1G relates to the old hotels well. It reads: "Hazardous premises. It shall be unlawful for any person to permit in or about their premises weeds, briar, brush or any other solid waste to become in any way hazardous or injurious to public health or to obstruct pedestrian vehicular traffic." No complaint are required to apply this law. Under terms of this ordinance the chief of police is mandated to file the complaint in the name of the town. Citizens are not required to submit the complaint. The penalty for not complying with any sections of this ordinance, including hazardous and dangerous material, is a $300 fine, or not more than 90 days in jail, or both.

It doesn't take a psychic to see that the town of Carrizozo resembles a dump heap. In many places it looks like Juarez, Mexico's poverty row. Weeds are head-high. Trash and garbage are everywhere. Rubble and debris abound. Vacant, crumbling structures are found on nearly every street. Some of these buildings are hazards because they may fall and collapse at any moment, endangering life and limb. All are unsightly and a menace to public health. So why doesn't the town council enforce its own ordinance and get this town cleaned up so that it will attract visitors, new residents, businesses, and give residents a feeling of pride and comfort?

This is a formal complaint addressed to the mayor and town council. There is a building on the north end of Twelfth Avenue that is ruined, dilapidated, covered with debris and waist-high weeds. It is clearly a menace to "the public comfort, health, peace, or safety" of this community. It is a total disgrace. It is the old frozen locker or ice plant building. It belongs to the Town of Carrizozo. This dangerous eyesore should have been removed by the town as an example of law compliance before unloading its punitive powers upon a citizen for a similar offense. Why does Carrizozo enforce its laws on selected citizens, at the same time neglecting to apply town laws to its own property? Should the town council, after ordering abatement of the Girard Hotel, fail to take similar action to bring its own property into compliance, then it appears the hotel owner has a valid case of discrimination against the town.

I hope the mayor and members of the town council will understand the concern many residents

Is refusing right of people to vote the best solution?

By J. A. "Al" JUNGE

The referendum election in Ruidoso is over. Some say "Forget it—let's go on with our lives."

Others look up from the trenches, bruised and battered, to say "No way—we lost the battle—not the war."

Unfortunately, the referendum did not have to be a problem. The crisis arose, as previously mentioned, at the June 19 meeting in the council chambers when the council refused to listen to any suggestions made by attending citizens. To compound this mistake, an ordinance was passed by a 3-1 vote which approved the terms of leases for a proposed hotel and golf course which were presented at the same meeting, and which appeared not to be in the best interest of Ruidoso.

The mayor's appointment of a new five-man committee (the 4th during the past year) was completed. However, if this new group is to improve terms of the proposed leases it will face the provisions of the ordinance covering these lease which says "Don't mess with me."

If the final leases follow the provisions of the ordinance and temporary leases the present council will long be remembered—and not too kindly.

About the petition.

Ripley's Believe It or Not should be interested in our petition and the efforts made which killed it.

While needing only 357 signatures for a valid petition, 511 signatures were readily obtained. This figure represented 154 signatures more than the required 357 signatures. Since about two percent of signatures are purged for various reasons (10 to 15 cases) the petitioners felt that the required number would be ratified. However, 46 cases were purged, pointing up the closely done job by those who checked the validity of the petition signatures.

After purging the 46 names there remained a sufficient number of signatures to have a valid petition, and then the roof fell in.

A campaign started and signers were contacted and asked to remove their names from the petition. This action was not taken by housewives, doctors, truck drivers, mechanics, or by a representative of the lottery. Who floating around. Rumors are just that, rumors. But when they reach a certain peak there is a tendency that some may be true.

I find that some of the rumors are very interesting. Read on the following:

1. A local bank executive said he had been responsible for removing 40 names (local NEWS) from the petition. It is wondered how many of these signers owed money to this bank?

2. City employees refrained from signing the petition.

3. A doctor signed the petition then moved out of the city—his name was purged.

4. School teachers were asked to remove names of those in charge.

5. Individuals were contacted as many as 5-6 times, by telephone, or in person, and asked to remove a name.

6. Officers of local businesses personally led the removal fight.

7. A threat, later withdrawn, to publish a list of all of the petition signers which would ask the public to refrain from trading with the people who signed the petition.

8. Local business men were contacted to the extent that many removed their names in order to stop the pressure so they could conduct their every day business.

And on and on.

Since these, in most cases, are just rumors the events depicted here probably never happened—believe it or not.

What did happen is that the basic right of people to vote was destroyed in Ruidoso, and it was accomplished by well-meaning citizens who now, as in the past, are reluctant to get involved in determining how well their council is looking after their affairs. Had the referendum been successful a little time would have been lost but a much better leases program on both the hotel and golf course would have been the result. I think this would please the majority of those on both sides of the aisle.

Diversifying the old airport land to be occupied by many types of business would be great for the economy of Ruidoso, but the many years it would take to accomplish this is more than Ruidoso is willing to give.

A bird in hand, so the saying goes. The golf course and hotel, with properly drawn leases, will be a tremendous boon to this city.

It is a shame the petition and the problems it caused was not prevented.

Forcing a petition was a serious mistake—not accepting a vote of the people was far worse.

News heads for Germany

EDITOR—My husband and I and our children live in West Germany. Lloyd is a civilian employee of the federal government (Air Force) and Sergeant Williams worked for him for two years. Knowing our love for New Mexico (we lived in Las Cruces and Albuquerque), Sgt. Williams promised to see that arrangements were made for us to receive copies of the Lincoln County News.

Your particular part of New Mexico is quite familiar to me since it is close to the ranch where my parents have retired.

It has been a delight receiving the newspaper, and I would like to extend my thanks to the person responsible for getting it to us. I would like to subscribe to the paper for the year October 1989 to October 1990. Please let us know what the cost of a subscription plus mailing charges will be.

We look forward to future copies of the LCN. Thanks again.

Sincerely,
Patricia P. Vick.

Zoned to death

EDITOR—Your "Ole Boys" reporter struck again!

At the last county commissioner meeting Commissioner Petty's recommendation that included removal of Commissioner Simpson and herself from the Extraterritorial Zoning Authority and to hold another workshop is commendable.

The appeal process as it now stands requires a hearing by the EZA members — James, Petty, Simpson.

If the appeal is lost then the next step is to the Lincoln County Commissioners—three members, Hemphill, Petty, Simpson—what redundancy!

Why do we need: 1. Planning and Zoning Commission (9 members); 2. Extraterritorial Commission (7 members all but one has a Ruidoso address); 3. Extraterritorial Zoning Authority (3 members) most of whom are political appointments with sharp axes, some serving on both P & Z and EC.

An example of what we can expect was Patsy Sanchez (chairman of P & Z) disapproval of an old, large family's life style of dividing their land among the family and living in manufactured housing, and a proposed wrecking yard that she thinks should have a 6-ft. fence. Her business is real estate, by the way.

Commissioner Simpson's idea of a "small change" in the zoning ordinance was a blanket exemption for "his people" on the Honda!

Then comes former commission chairman Bill Elliott (current EC member) advising commissioners to "have the guts to force the zoning ordinance on the people."

Isn't that what the former (defeated) commissioners thought?

Just who in hell is E.J. Fouratt? (Aside from being a P & Z member.)

I commented that the P & Z Ordinance requiring 5 acre's minimum to be considered agricultural was ignorant. Where upon Mr. Fouratt stated that "you are ignorant."

Yes, sir, that being a human condition. But I submit that such arbitrary designation of agri-business by area is both ignorant of modern technology and stupid in that it discourages the small operators from trying new ventures! And I don't give a damn that the author of such was former county attorney Gary "the Mouth" Mitchell.

Ambiguity—consider Bill Elliott's previous advice, then 15 minutes later requesting the commissioners, "Please don't let Ruidoso extend their zoning authority over me and my friends, we don't want it!" Who does? It's the same for all, right?

Such hypocrisy. The suggestion was made, I believe by Petty, that the people directly concerned by this zoning ordinance

SANTA FE—It looks like the statewide lottery issue will be back with us in the 1990 legislature.

Legislative interim tax committee chairman Eddie Lopez of Santa Fe says he doesn't see his committee coming up with any new tax increase proposals this year. But he adds Sen. Jim Caudell of Albuquerque is expected to introduce his lottery bill again.

Many lawmakers have introduced lottery measures over the years since they become popular with other states as a "revenue enhancer" that avoids taxes. But Caudell has been a powerful sponsor of lottery bills. He has tried them in the legislature in every year since 1981.

Sen. Caudell bills lottery proceeds for the state general fund. He has also sponsored the bill for a lottery fund for worthy causes.

states that, like New Mexico, can't generate the jackpots necessary to attract national attention and out-of-state buyers.

Caudell, a Republican, has always come up empty handed. Frequently, his GOP colleagues have put the ax to his proposals and sometimes it has been his Republican Governor Gary Carruthers. But Caudell always has come back for more while other lottery advocates, such as Senate President Pro Tem Manny Aragon, have asked, "What's the use of banging our heads against a stone wall any longer?" Caudell remains convinced it is a good revenue source.

Carruthers has always been considerably less enthusiastic about the lottery. He has often argued to show the state a solid revenue source. "I don't want to see the state go broke," he says. "I want to see the state go broke."

ruthers has felt the lottery difficult to police and likely to bring a criminal element into the state. And he has had religious reservations.

But last year after talking with other governors, Carruthers backed off his hard line a little way. The governor of Kansas told him the lottery was working out fine in his state but to never agree to horse racing.

With pari-mutuel wagering on horses and mules already on the books Carruthers decided maybe he could take a chance on the lottery if it met certain conditions. He so informed the officials of his church and then set out to draw up his conditions.

Carruthers' main problem was to compensate for the unstable nature of lottery revenues. He announced that the revenues would not go into the general fund of the state but be earmarked for pay control, on-going programs that would be subject to budget cuts. He also announced that he would like to see a lottery fund for worthy causes.

But, always the optimist, he'll try again next year.

Santa Fe political consultant Jack Weber thinks he has found the answer to the predicted low popularity of the New Mexico lottery. Weber reasons that the state should go ahead and run its lottery, collect the $12 million it would produce, and then invest it in the really big state lotteries with the giant jackpots that attract the big bettors. With all the tickets New Mexico could purchase with our $12 million, Weber argues we're bound to win a pot full of money.

It sounds as though Weber is about as convinced of the worth of the lottery as is this columnist.

Webber, by the way is helping run his old buddy Bob Child's lotto. He says the governor's office, but he has let it be known that if state House Speaker Raymond Sanchez decides to make a gubernatorial bid he'll probably be named to the post. Weber has done well for Sanchez by several years. In the last gubernatorial campaign Sanchez lost to Bob Child. Sanchez is expected to be in the state legislature next year.

have about the weeds, run-down shacks, debris, and rubbish we seem to take for granted. Carrizozo deserves better. It deserves to present a neat, tidy, clean, uncluttered face to its residents so they can have some personal and civic pride in their own community. Residents deserve a beautiful community. We have laws to bring this condition to reality, if only we will enforce those laws.

• There is widespread rumor that Mayor Robert Hemphill has political ambitions to run for the state legislature sometime in the future. Herewith some unsolicited political advice. It doesn't matter how many elective offices he holds prior to making his bid for state office. What does matter is what he accomplished during his tenure as mayor, county commissioner, and any other office to be used as a stepping stone to power. If he, as mayor, can clean and beautify his town, that will be a significant step upward. His efforts will be rewarded by media all over the state, as witness TV Channel 7's presence at last week's decision on the Girard Hotel. Other media will take up the cause as his clean-up plans continue. It will provide him with a healthy, worthwhile image of a person who leads a community out of unsightly doldrums into a neat and beautiful one. Of course, there will be some local resistance. But the people in other areas will applaud the mayor's efforts and give him credit for having the guts to enforce his own laws and contribute to the health and happiness of his constituents. The ball is now in his court. He can go out as a "go along with the flow" leader or he can carve a deserving niche for himself in area history.

• Readers can assist in cleaning up the town by writing letters to the town council complaining of dangerous and unsightly areas. Give the exact location of the building or lot, and address the complaint to Mayor Robert Hemphill, City Hall, Carrizozo.

ROAMING NEWSPAPER

Out West, subtitled "The Newspaper That Roams," is a quarterly produced in Sacramento, CA by Chuck Woodbury. In his "Roadside Journal" Woodbury muses: "The word 'homemade' is abused in many restaurants. 'Homemade' pies are advertised, but they are really 'restaurant made.' The restaurant should advertise them, as 'Pies made on the premises.'"

Out West aims to provide readers with "stuff to make you smile, stuff to make you cry and stuff to make you go 'Gee Whiz.'"

PUBLIC STUFF

"I'm running on specific issues that are very important to Socorro," says City Councilor Ravi Bhasker in the Defensor Chiefstain. Bhasker will run for mayor in the March, 1990 municipal election at Socorro.

Bhasker, former Carrizozo physician, whose term doesn't expire until 1992, said he doesn't want to wait four years to do something.

Making the administrative arm of the city more accessible to the people is among Bhasker's promises.

"I also want to make sure public stuff doesn't turn public," says the head of Socorro's Bhasker Medical Clinic. He was referring to a plan to privatize the city garbage department, which he voted against.

Keeping taxes down and services up while maintaining a balanced budget is on Bhasker's priorities.

CONSISTENT AND COMPLETE

Estancia's newspaper, The Citizen, has made an arrangement with an advertiser who feels that a weekly sheriff's report is needed. The Citizen will begin to report weekly activities of that department.

The number, types and locations of all police calls and the number and types of all arrests will be shown. The names of person arrested for certain charges, including "driving under the influence" and other major offenses will be published. No name of adults charged will be withheld for any reason.

The Citizen says that this is a difficult type of reporting and that they will approach it with the conviction that it "Must be regular, consistent and complete."

The party is over, citizens.

IGUANA BURGERS?

Could "Eat Lizards, Not Beef" be the next trendy slogan in environmentalist circles?

That is a question asked in the newsletter by the New Mexico Cattle Growers. A study conducted by the Green Iguana Foundation and partially funded with $35,000 by the US Fish and Wildlife Service says that 100, 6 1/2 pound iguanas raised on 2 1/2 acres of rain forest will yield 480 pounds of meat.

Foundation officials are urging beef producers in Costa Rica to save rain forest by substituting iguanas for cattle. That was not a conclusion the Fish and Wildlife office intended to support. It was noted that many poor natives in Central America subsist on iguanas and are depleting the wild population.

The study was intended to encourage development of a domestic source of a common meat.

FATTEST LIES

Dexter Faulkner, executive editor of The Plain Truth, writes in his column "Just One More Thing," that Ann Landers was asked to print the world's three biggest lies. She came up with two: "I'm from the government and I'm here to help you" and "The check is in the mail."

Faulkner says that lying is not an evil that occurs only in the United States. Politics and business around the world thrive on lies.

"If people told the truth, we wouldn't need investigative agencies and watchdog committees whose sole purpose is to find out if others are lying."

Grizzlies win on the road, beat Ft. Sumner Foxes 22-6

Carrizozo Grizzlies traveled to Ft. Sumner September 8 and gained its second win of the young season by beating the host Foxes by the score of 22-6. The win upped their season record to 2-1.

The Carrizozo team managed to light up the scoreboard in each of the four quarters for its final total of 22. Ft. Sumner managed to get its only score of the game late in the fourth quarter. The Grizzlies dominated the game from start to finish and rolled up over 400 yards total offense for the night.

Quarterback Chris Schlarb and tight-end Guy Archuleta opened the scoring for Carrizozo in the first period when they hooked up on a 35-yard pass play to put the Grizzlies up 6-0 after the first period of play, PAT was no good. Running back Dennis Vega upped the score to 12-0 when he ripped off a 25-yard scoring run in the second period, PAT again was unsuccessful, and half ended with the Grizzlies up 12-0.

Both teams played good defense in third period, but Ron Serna managed to put the Grizzlies on the scoreboard when he kicked a field goal from 25 yards out. Grizzlies led 15-0 after three periods. Dennis Vega finished up the scoring for Carrizozo when he hit paydirt in the fourth quarter on a nice 20-yard run. This time the PAT by Ron Serna was good and the Grizzlies led 22-0. Ft. Sumner managed their only score late in the fourth period and the PAT was no good. Final 22-6 Grizzlies.

Linebackers Kevin Sheehan and Dennis Vega had outstanding games on defense for the Grizzlies, and coach Mel Holland was pleased with the way his offensive line played against Ft. Sumner, and said his team was working hard to keep improving from week to week.

Capitan hosts volleyball tournament, Sept. 22-23

The Capitan Classic Volleyball Tournament is Sept. 22-23. Both gyms will be used. Elida won the tournament two years ago, and Capitan was champion last year.

First round action begins Friday at 8 p.m. when Carrizozo faces Cloudercroft and Ft. Sumner meets Hope High. Action continues at 8 p.m. Capitan takes on Lordsburg, and Elida faces the junior varsity from Roswell High.

Action picks up again on Saturday with two games at 10 a.m. Games are also scheduled for noon and 2:30 p.m.

The championship game of the consolation bracket is set for 5 p.m., and the championship game of the tournament will be played at 7:15 p.m.

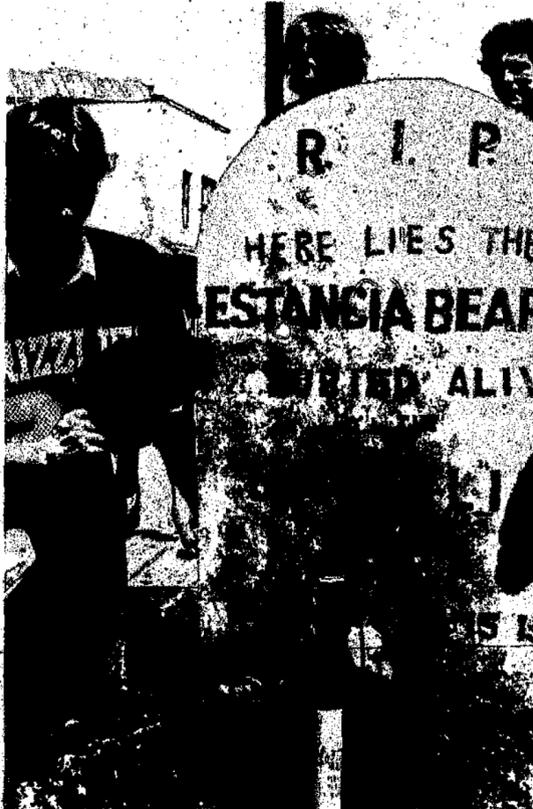

Coach Pam Allen said she has a good field of teams, and the competition should be exciting. Hope High is traditionally strong. Elida will be stronger than last year. The Roswell High JV will be tough, having posted a 16-1 record last year. Ft. Sumner has a new coach.

Cloudercroft brings a well rounded group to the tournament while Carrizozo brings its traditional fighting spirit.

Lordsburg may add strength to the tournament. The Capitan Lady Tigers are the class A defending state champions.

The Tiger Booster Club will have its concession stand open throughout the tournament.

Capitan won all three sections of the junior high tournament played last weekend in Capitan. The 7th grade defeated teams from Tularosa and Ruidoso. The 8th grade also defeated teams from these two towns. The Tiger junior varsity won over both Ruidoso JV teams.

FIRST PLACE honors in Friday's Carrizozo homecoming parade went to the sophomore class. Grizzly Coby Sims is shown bowing his head in respect. To learn more about the Estancia Bears' epitaph (34-0) read the sports item in this issue.

CARRIZOZO'S 1989 Homecoming Queen Cindy Silva, a senior, was among six queen candidates. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Silva. Her escort for the parade and at half-time crowning ceremonies was Michael Chavez, a senior and a member of the football team.

Carrizozo celebrates homecoming with 34-0 win over Estancia

"We're improving and are playing better football due to an overall effort that is being given by the entire team," commented coach Mel Holland after his team demolished Class "AA" Estancia by the score of 34-0 last Friday night.

The win by the Grizzlies ran their season record to 3-1. Senior tailback Dennis Vega rambled for an impressive 291 yards rushing and scored four touchdowns on 24 carries on the night. Holland credited his offensive line with a "great effort" in the team's homecoming victory.

Vega opened the Grizzly scoring on their second possession of the game on a 2-yard run in the first period—Ron Serna's PAT Kick made it 7-0 Carrizozo. Vega's second TD of the night in the second period and Serna's second PAT made it 14-0

Carrizozo at halftime.

Carrizozo broke the game open when Vega added his third score of the night on a 45-yard run in the third quarter—Serna's kick made it 21-0. The lead was increased when fullback Kevin Sheehan bulled over from the 2-yard line—PAT was no good and the Grizzlies had things well in hand after three periods 27-0.

Vega completed his scoring barrage when he latched on to a 30-yd. swing pass from quarterback Chris Schlarb—his fourth score of the game and Serna's fourth PAT kick made it 34-0 Grizzlies.

The Carrizozo defense again turned in a good effort in shutting out their opponent. Middle-linebacker D. Vega was the leading tackler on the night, with Rod Serna and Mark Guevara having solid games in the interior line. Nathan Portillo was credited with fumble recovery on special teams.

The win by the Grizzlies sets up this Friday's match-up with district foe and #1 rated Loving. "We need to continue to improve," said coach Holland. "Loving is the most talented team that I've seen in Class 'A' in years. They have the best overall talent in the state."

Game is scheduled to kick-off at 7:30 p.m. at Laubs Field.

Grizzly homecoming was a 'fun' event

Homecoming 1989 for the Grizzlies was Friday.

The day started off with a pep rally. After the homecoming coronation, cheerleaders gave carnations to their mothers. Afterwards, a couple of people from each class were chosen to squirt shaving cream off of their partners noses with a squirt gun. It was a fun day for everyone.

The winning floats were as follows: sophomores won 1st, freshman 2nd, juniors won 3rd, and seniors 4th.

The pep assembly was followed by a parade about 1 p.m. Along with all the floats, all six candidates, princesses, and their escorts were lined up on their cars.

Princesses were: freshmen, Amy Funk escorted by Michael Barela; sophomore, Cheryl Hightower escorted by James Silva; junior, Laurie Zamora escorted by Nikki Chavez;

Senior candidates: Denise Hill escorted by Mark Guevara; Cindy Silva escorted by Michael Chavez; Lucy Vega escorted by Dennis Vega; Connie Najjar escorted by Michael Vega; Rachael Montreal escorted by Abe Padilla; Lisa Hightower escorted by Ron Serna.

Attendants: Bianca Bacs escorted by Brandon Langley.

Later that evening the Grizzlies won over Estancia 34-0. During halftime, Cindy Silva was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1989.

Corona plans homecoming

Dining and dance await Corona High School fans and alumni on Homecoming Night, Friday, Sept. 29.

A spaghetti dinner will be served from 4 to 6:30 p.m. in the Corona cafeteria, with proceeds going to the junior class.

After the game, dance to the music of the Night Party will be held at 8 p.m. in the Corona cafeteria. Proceeds go to the junior class.

AROUND CORONA

Crown CowBelles met Sept. 7 for a salad lunch at school and then went to the recreation room for the regular meeting.

Guests were Gayle and Matthew May and Meghan Romans. Sus Maness was coffee hostess.

President Maness announced that the Buyer's Luncheon at the County Fair was a success. Crown furnished bread, paper goods and condiments for the meal. Vernelle Hightower won the Crown quilt and Loretta Proctor won the second quilt by receiving $294 in contributions.

A thank you was read from Casey Cunningham, Fiecho, who had the reserve champion heifer and received the Crown belt buckle.

In the Adopt-a-School program Mrs. Maness will personally present educational packets on beef nutrition to Corona, Cuba, Jemez Mountain, Jemez Springs and Vaughn schools. This material is for use in social studies classes through the 8th grade. Crown will buy the accompanying film for the Corona school film library. The secretary reported a vacancy in the first VP chair since Karen Sickler has moved to Watrous. Karen Lightfoot is the latest to join Crown.

The Lariat local will host the five-state meeting at Clayton. Animal Rights will be a part of the program. An interesting day is planned for Sept. 28 at Clayton.

Loretta Proctor and Thomaena Romans will man the State Fair CowBelle booth, tentative date Sept. 20.

The Man of the Year Committee announced that a contribution to the cemetery fund has been made in the name of Lee Roy Owen, Crown's Man of the Year. A plaque and original poem by Clara Porter are ready for presentation. Mrs. Owen was gracious in expressing gratitude for this honor. Mrs. Maness named JoAnn Proctor, Helen Porter and Juanita Owen to the CowBelle of the Year Committee and Elaine Steele to the nominating committee.

Jeanene Gibbs is poster chairman. The theme is "When is a cow not a cow?"

Crown will aid the school lunch program here by receiving 200 contributions at $5 each for a half beef. The other half will go to the lunch program plus any profit after paying for the beef and tickets. The drawing will be Nov. 23 at the annual CowBelle dance.

The next date is Oct. 5 with lunch at school and the meeting in the board room.

The Rev. Jay Bishop is leading a group on a tour of South America. Dr. Sheldon Price will take Dr. Bishop's place in the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church for the next four Sundays.

Guests of the Steeles recently were long time ranching friends from Houston, Doris and Paul Jiffin. Anne Marie Higgins spent a week with the Steeles. She is a native of England and now lives in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lloyd Maness drove with her daughter to Kerrville, TX where Andora has entered Shriners College as a freshman.

Friends here have been told of the death of a former resident, Nora Kimmons Cranford. Mrs. Cranford died Aug. 12 in a California nursing home. Her son lives in California and her daughter in Virginia.

The American Legion

auxiliary of Beaver Bond Post No. 35 served mid-morning coffee and cake during the district Legion meeting here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Harris, Los Alamos, Harrell Fuller, Santa Fe, and Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Gibbs hosted a family birthday dinner Saturday honoring Kennan Fuller who was 75 Saturday and his sister, Mrs. Jessie Harris of Albuquerque, who was 80 Monday. There were vegetables and dips, fried chicken, freezers of ice cream and a cake bearing the names of Kennan and Jessie and 155, sum of their ages.

Mrs. K. Fuller, Amanda Fuller, Jason Gibbs, and Betty and Penner Jones attended the party. Mrs. H. Fuller was enroute from Canada by car. Absent was the newest members of the clan, Max Antone Adair Brewer, son of Kelly and Steve, who was born July 14.

Mrs. Robin Pfeiffer is at home recuperating from surgery for a total hip replacement. It was her first-ever hospital experience and she is grateful to all those who remembered her with cards and letters, call, flowers and other gifts during her stay in El Paso and for the roses and foods since her return home. Still still hopes someone will volunteer to write this column.

First atomic bomb site Trinity Site open to public on Oct. 7

Trinity Site, where the world's first atomic bomb was exploded in 1945, will be open to the public on Saturday, Oct. 7.

The national Historic Landmark is open twice a year, on the first Sunday in April and October.

Trinity is located on the northern end of the 3,200-square mile White Sands Missile Range, NM, between the towns of Carrizozo and Socorro. For the upcoming Trinity Site tour there will be two ways of entering the restricted missile range.

Visitors can enter through the range's Stallion Range Center which is five miles south of Highway 380. The turnoff is 12 miles east of San Antonio, and 53 miles west of Carrizozo. The Stallion gate will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Visitors arriving at the gate between those hours will receive handouts and will be allowed to drive escorted the 17 miles to Trinity Site. The road is paved and marked.

The second way of entering the missile range is by traveling with a caravan sponsored by the Alamogordo Chamber of Commerce. The caravan forms at the K-Mart parking lot in Alamogordo and leaves at 8 a.m. Visitors entering this way will travel as an escorted group with military police to and from Trinity Site. The drive is 170 miles roundtrip and there are no service station facilities on the missile range. The caravan is scheduled to leave Trinity Site at 12:30 p.m. for the return to Alamogordo.

Cameras are allowed at Trinity Site but their use is strictly prohibited anywhere else on White Sands Missile Range.

Trinity Site consists of ground zero where the atomic bomb was placed on a 100-foot steel tower and exploded on July 16, 1945 and the McDonald ranch house where the world's first plutonium core for a bomb was assembled. The crater resulting from the explosion has been filled in and a small monument now marks the spot. The missile range provides historical photos and a Fat Man bomb casing for display at ground zero. A number of artifacts and photos are also on display in the ranch house. There are no ceremonies or speakers.

For information contact the missile range Public Affairs Office at (505) 678-1134/1700.
