

Extraterritorial zoning argued by commissioners

By Doris Cherry

"Not any of us are concerned what happens 50 miles out," said Robert Donaldson to the Lincoln County Commissioners about a proposed three-mile extraterritorial zone around Ruidoso at the regular county meeting Monday.

Commissioners tabled the agreement at their Sept. 11 meeting, but Donaldson, a member of Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission and the Ruidoso-Lincoln County Extraterritorial Zoning Commission (ETZ), urged the commissioners to negotiate the agreement.

The agreement will extend the zone from the present one mile to three miles, a one-mile corridor along the Sierra Blanca Airport Access Road (Scenic Airport Road) and a three-mile zone around the airport itself.

Donaldson said the village is in the process of annexing the airport.

ETZ wants to update its 10-year-old ordinance to current state laws, but they do not want to go to the public without a new ordinance and map. Donaldson also explained the need for the zone extension is based on increased population in the area just outside of the village limits and the need to protect the village's border.

"Ruidoso goes from Fox Cave to Angus Hill," Donaldson continued. "Anything that impacts our setting we want to control," he said. Impacts that ultimately affects the county.

Commissioners Karen Petty, Bob Hemphill and Rick Simpson discussed enforcement of current zoning regulations. Ruidoso planning administrator Cleatus Richards said the village presently sends an inspector beyond the one-mile zone into an area about three miles around Ruidoso. Petty questioned the authority Ruidoso has to collect building permit fees for the three-mile area now, as she knew of no joint power agreement with the county concerning this. Richards said there is a specific state statute allowing this and Donaldson added the village does this service because the county does not have an inspector.

Commissioners agreed they could not vote for the agreement without first having a map showing the zone and a new ordinance containing the three-mile language. Ruidoso ETZ will be the negotiating agent with Ruidoso, Petty said.

Also Monday, commissioners tabled a proposed joint powers agreement between the county and the villages of Capitan, Carrizo and Corona concerning the Zia Senior Citizens Center, Inc. after deliberating with Zia director Barbara Ward in closed session.

The agreement would establish a board of directors for the center with representatives from each village and the county. The villages involved will be asked to continue providing space for the centers and to provide any financial assistance.

Commissioners also approved a $516 grant for in-home improvements for the elderly. Ward said the category was totally new and she was up for suggestions on how to spend the money. Suggestions included purchasing smoke detectors, bath tub rails and paying for services performed in the elderly homes by teenagers.

In other business commissioners:

—Approved a cooperative agreement with the US Forest Service for improvements on Road D-006, also known as Forest Road 72, the White Oaks-Ancho Road. The Forest Service will provide funds and materials and the county road department will perform the labor on replacing culverts and catwalks.

—Oked the final pay estimate No. 13 and change order 5 for Scenic Airport Road, also known as the Sierra Blanca Airport Access Road. Road supervisor Tommy Hall said the road has drainage problems which are not guaranteed by the contractor. Approval of the change order did not close the project.

County manager Nick Pappas said the county has about $30,000 left from the project, which legally can be used for any problems with the road. He urged any work be done before the funds revert back to the state.

—Heard a presentation from representatives of the leasing company JDR West about the county leasing heavy equipment as opposed to purchasing the costly machinery. Representatives discussed the advantages of leasing and the legal processes involved with leasing by government entities.

—Accepted and opposed the 1989 Certificate of Tax Rates for Lincoln County properties. Property taxes will be based upon these rates provided by the state.

—Appointed Alice Van-Tussenbroek as alternate for District 3 position on the county personnel board, Martha Proctor as elected official alternate and Mignon Sims as county employee alternate.

—Agreed Hemphill and Simpson serve as vice-chairman in chairman Petty's absence.

—Cancelled the Oct. 9 meeting because of Columbus Day, a county holiday.

—Agreed to set a date for a legislative day to allow state legislators to meet with county and village governments and general public before the legislature convenes in January.

—Heard Pappas report he contacted the state to begin a proposal to obtain the old Carrizozo municipal building for additional clerk and district court space.

Town council to join in clean-up effort

Carrizozo residents will receive a survey concerning improving the appearance of the town in their water bills this week, thanks to the Carrizozo Town Council. The council approved the survey being attached to the bills after Carrizozo concerned citizen Dorothy Forsythe requested help in distributing it at the town meeting Tuesday.

Forsythe said she considered such a movement to improve the town's appearance for some time. Two weeks ago, she joined other concerned citizens to form the Carrizozo Improvement Committee.

"We're going to do something," she said. "We just want to get people out working."

To distribute the survey the committee considered bulk mailing but found it too expensive. However, the postmaster suggested Forsythe approach the council about adding the survey to the water bills.

Mayor Bob Hemphill said he had reservations about the attachment because it would set a precedent for possible future mailing.

"I'd like to see our stamp used for things like this," said councilor Harold Garcia. After no disagreement from the council, Hemphill told Forsythe he was volunteering his computer class to help tabulate the results.

"If we start from the very bottom, it's bound to work," Garcia summarized.

Council also heard from Bill Mason of the Simmons Cable TV, who presented brochures listing new additions and the availability of channel converters for those with older model televisions.

New channels are ECO with Spanish programming,

KGSW or Channel 14 from Albuquerque, USA Network, Headline News, the Family Channel, Discovery Channel and CMT Country Music Television. Basic cable rates are $16.95 without taxes, with additional outlets for $2.50 and additional converters for rent at $3 a month. Most cable ready sets do not require the converters which expand the range of older sets to cover the new cable channels.

Converters are available at Zia Senior Citizens Centers from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. today (Thursday) and Friday.

Mason said the company is planning to rebuild the cable system next year, which will improve signal quality.

"We've made an honest effort to improve the system," Mason added.

In other business the council:

—Voted to close the roll-off container for solid waste on Sundays. The container, which was kept open for residents' convenience was little used and did not warrant keeping a village employee at the site on Sundays. The container will continue to be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays.

—Appointed Nat Palomarez to the Capitan Carrizozo Natural Gas Company board.

—Signed the attorney's contract approved at the last regular meeting.

—Heard the mayor proclaim Oct. 1-7 as Mental Health Awareness Week.

—Cancelled the Oct. 10 meeting and agreed to meet only once, on Oct. 17.

—Discussed a needed agreement between the village and the gas company for using equipment, the engineer's $100,000 estimate for a new fire station, which was above the $86,000 available for such a project and the possibility of working with the Woman's Club for tree trimming at Gov. William C. MacDonald Memorial Park. Also discussed was the need to create a systematic snow removal policy.

—Met in executive session to discuss personnel.

The next regular meeting of the council is scheduled at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Dump-heap of the Week

WEEDS, WEEDS, everywhere weeds! Summer rains and neglect combine to make many Carrizozo vacant buildings hide behind weeds. Vacant buildings also deteriorate in the wind and weather, giving the town a ghostly quality. Concerned residents are planning a clean-up campaign to give Carrizozo a new look—one which will persuade visitors to stay a while.

Citizens committee formed to help clean up the town

In the near future Carrizozo residents will receive a survey designed to help improve the appearance of the town.

A group of concerned Carrizozo business people recently began a grassroots campaign to improve the looks of the town by encouraging homeowners and residents to upgrade the appearance of their homes. The project will not be funded by any government agency but rather will depend on self-improvement to succeed, said coordinator Dorothy Forsythe.

The on-going project will aim toward creating a more desirable town in which travelers will want to stop and spend their dollars, thus putting more funds into village services with gross receipts taxes, said Forsythe.

Occupants are asked to spend a little time completing the survey, printed on yellow paper, compliments of Ernest Joiner, publisher of the Lincoln County NEWS.

The survey requests the occupant's name, address and ownership. Areas needing improvement are listed, such as painting, fence repair, tree trimming, removal of unwanted items or structures and so on, with space for occupant's comments.

Occupants are asked to sign the survey and return it to City Hall, the names listed at the top of the survey or mail to P.O. Box 877, Carrizozo, NM 88301.

Carrizozo Improvement Committee members are Forsythe at 648-2116, Joe Hooten at 648-2212, Harold Garcia at 648-9994, Cecilia Kuhnel at 648-9985 and Warren Christopherson at 648-2989.

The committee hopes to have survey results by next month.

E. Silva apprehended

The search for a Ruidoso Downs man who is accused of an Aug. 27 rape ended Wednesday in Albuquerque.

According to Ruidoso Police, 28-year-old Elmo Silva was apprehended without incident by the Southeast Impact Team of the Albuquerque Police Department about 2 p.m. Wednesday, as a result of a Crimestopper tip.

Police said Silva was booked by APD and was expected to be brought to Lincoln County by Lincoln County Sheriff's Department by today (Thursday).

Silva is accused of the brutal beating and rape of a young woman about 2:30 a.m. Sunday Aug. 27, in the Pinecliff area of Ruidoso. The woman identified Silva as her attacker.

Originally Silva was charged with rape, but due to additional reports filed by Ruidoso Police Detective Mile Lovelace to assistant District Attorney Scot Key, additional charges of robbery, kidnapping and an open charge of attempted murder were filed.

Sheriff's report

Lincoln County Sheriff Department is assisting the FBI and Ruidoso Police investigate the robbery of Ruidoso State Bank north branch Monday, Sept. 25.

The robber, described as a clean-shaven Anglo man, 25 to 35 years old, 5-foot-8 and 165 pounds with short dark hair, wearing a green or blue baseball cap, green satin jacket and blue jeans, reportedly entered the bank shortly after noon and presented the teller with a threatening note that demanded cash. He stuffed an undetermined amount of cash in a brown grocery bag and fled on foot.

Sheriff James McSwane said investigators are waiting for pictures taken by the bank's camera for identification of a possible suspect. The possible suspect has left the area, McSwane said.

Other sheriff's activities include the arrest of Johnny Culley, 18, of Carrizozo. Culley was charged with resisting arrest, evading or obstructing an officer, no

Why murderer Cox is up for parole

When Robert Elton Cox, who pleaded guilty to murdering Lincoln County Deputy Tom Bedford in 1979, was sentenced to life by Judge Robert Doughty, the law read that prisoners sentenced to life must serve a minimum of 10 years before becoming eligible for parole.

However, in 1980 the New Mexico State Legislature passed the current law of a mandatory 30 years to be served on a life sentence and they made the law retroactive to July 1, 1979.

According to information provided by District Court

Judge Richard Parsons, prisoners by the names of Devine and Quintana challenged this retroactive aspect. The New Mexico Supreme Court and Federal District Court for New Mexico held that the retroactive aspect did not violate the ex post facto prohibition of the constitution. The prohibition forbids any law which imposes a punishment for an act that was not punishable when committed or imposes additional punishment to a sentence then prescribed.

Court awards O-bar-O Ranch to United New Mexico Bank

United New Mexico Bank of Vaughn was granted ownership of the 10,000 acre O-Bar-O Ranch after a 1 1/2 day non-jury civil suit in federal court in Albuquerque last week.

Reportedly, US District Judge E.L. Mechem granted a $437,787 judgment in favor of the bank, which held the note on the ranch and was party to the lawsuit.

However, the Internal Revenue Service also seeks a part of the ranch that once was the vacation resort of Clark Gable and Mae West.

Mechem retained jurisdiction over the remaining issues of the case, mainly the IRS $4 million lien filed against the property.

IRS claimed ranch owner Robert Lietzman failed to pay income taxes and began investigating the man who owned business in Thailand and elsewhere.

Lietzman died in a helicopter accident on Carrizo Peak in 1985, and his widow, Carolyn, is contesting the IRS lien in court.

Carolyn recently battled the US Forest Service over land the agency sought for a new road into the forest. She made a citizen's arrest of two Forest Service workers on the ranch property in August 1987. Six months later she married Harry Wilcox, then assistant county prosecutor who was fired when he refused to drop the case against the Forest Service employees.

Wilcox reportedly said a vision from God persuaded him to defy District Attorney James Weldon's order to drop the case because it was wastin office time.

Rominger finds new home for real estate firm

Chuck Rominger has moved his real estate and appraisal office from Ruidoso to Carrizozo, where he has purchased an office building located at 1100 Second Ave., about a block northeast of the courthouse.

The office specializes in the acquisition of real estate used for right-of-way purposes, in addition to providing other types of real estate appraisals for numerous lending companies, governmental agencies and individuals.

Being a real estate broker for 14 years Rominger will also have a full service real estate company.

He established his permanent residence in Lincoln County in 1971 after moving here from Roswell. He owned and operated the Sitzmark Chalet Motel, Montgomery Wards Catalog Store and a furniture store in Ruidoso, before moving to Carrizozo in 1975.

He has worked as a real estate appraiser for the New Mexico Bureau of Revenue, Lincoln County Assessors Office, Department of Interior and Right-of-Way director for the New Mexico State Highway & Transportation Department.

Although majoring in business administration with a minor in history, Rominger was a commercial pilot prior to moving to Ruidoso, worked in various flight test locations for General Dynamics Corp., McDonald Douglas Corp., and LTV Aerospace. In 1964 he purchased part interest in Aero Enterprises, Inc., training student pilots from other countries, hauling freight in Southeast Asia and South America.

Now 52 years old, he said he had lived and visited a lot of places, but none compare with Lincoln County where he makes his home with his wife Rachel, who works for the County Extension Office.

Meal cost for daycare children reimbursed

Persons who care for children now can be reimbursed for meals served to those in their care.

According to Jake Meyer of Children in Need of Services (CHINS) program in Alamogordo, the nationwide program has expanded to include Lincoln County residents. Funds for the program are from the US Department of Agriculture and are not considered reportable income for tax purposes, Meyer said.

The program was initiated to upgrade the nutrition of children who are being cared for and reimburse the care giver for the cost of the meals.

CHINS is administering the program, which requires the care giver to have at least one non-resident child, but not more than four, at least 10 days a month. Children must be under 13 years old.

Training in menu preparation is available from CHINS, which also must go into the applying home four times a year for a safety check and to help the care giver fill out a menu form, detailing what the children were fed.

There is an initial $15 fee, which the care giver must pay, to cover the cost of paperwork.

Care givers will be reimbursed for meals regardless if they are paid for babysitting services. Reimbursement rates, per child, are 73¢ for breakfast, $1.31 for both lunch and supper and 39¢ for snacks.

Anyone in Lincoln County interested in the program should contact CHINS in Alamogordo at 434-3011.

Sally Croasmun is EMT of the month

Lincoln County Medical Center pharmacy coordinator Sally Croasmun is Lincoln County Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) of September.

With the Alto Ambulance, Croasmun is in charge of covering the ambulance calls every night from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. and all weekends. She recently completed the EMT Intermediate Course with three other Lincoln County EMTs.

"It is a very rewarding experience," Croasmun said about her years with Lincoln County EMTs. "We desperately need drivers to volunteer," she added.

Drivers will be trained as first responders but do not have to be EMTs.

Anyone interested in volunteering or becoming an EMT can contact David Saun, coordinator for Alto Ambulance at 336-4026.

She proposed sending Pappas to the state land office to investigate the possibility of obtaining state lands on which to place a privately-operated landfill. She delegated attendance to county municipal meetings between herself, Hemphill and Simpson.

Simpson will attend the annual water conference and Petty will travel to Philadelphia, PA to attend a historical preservation conference.

WW II vet carried it on his back

Long journey for a Virgin Mary statue

Pete Marquez was 18 years old when he was drafted into the US Army in 1940. He made a promise that if he returned home safely from World War II he would buy a statue of the Virgin Mary and bring it home.

Five years later, Marquez kept his promise. While stationed in Salerno, Italy, Pete's two cousins from Carrizozo were killed in the war. It was on Feb. 15, 1945 that Pete bought the 36-inch tall alabaster statue.

When Pete was discharged, he brought the statue, making the long journey from San Antonio, NM on foot carrying his precious statue on his back. Several motorists stopped and offered Pete a ride; he refused.

Pete's parents, Cosme and Eufracia Gallegos, of Carrizozo, did not know Pete was on his way home and were surprised when he arrived. Cosme said Eufracia was outside hanging laundry on the line when Pete walked up and said, "Mama, I'm home."

The statue held a place of honor in Pete's home through the years and has been placed in Santa Rita Catholic Church and the church at Three Rivers for the public to enjoy.

Six months before Pete died in 1984 he gave the statue to his daughter, Rosemary Gallegos of Carrizozo. She said the statue was in Santa Rita Catholic Church in Carrizozo during May 1989. It was on the left side of the altar.

These kids are great. After all, it's not if you win or lose. It's how you play. In Springer last week, score was 41 to 0 in favor of Springer. Our boys played a good game for their size and we are proud of them. If our own home town won't cheer for them, who will, the opponents. Thanks to three young girls who accompanied their parents to Springer, for cheering throughout the whole game. A job well done, girls.

Obituary

Former Carrizozo physician James Paul Turner, 87, died Saturday, Sept. 9 at LBJ Tropical Center in Pago Pago, American Samoa, after a brief illness.

Dr. Turner was born Nov. 24, 1902, in Harrisburgh, IL. He earned his MD from the University of Arkansas Medical School in 1927.

He came to Carrizozo in the early 1930s and established a private practice. He was the only MD in Lincoln County with a population of 7,000. With a staff of two registered nurses and two nurse aides, he operated a private hospital providing general medical and surgical services for people who would have had to travel 90 to 150 miles for medical care.

While in Lincoln County he delivered more than 3,000 babies, many of them during house calls.

Due to Dr. Turner's and other citizens' efforts, a modern 30-bed hospital was built and the services of another MD obtained.

In 1967, Dr. Turner was persuaded to go to American Samoa on a two-year contract. His wife had died and his children were grown, so he decided to try the work in Samoa for two years and retire. However, he fell in love with the islands and its people and took on a new challenge of developing a medical program.

After moving to Samoa Dr. Turner received a declaration from the New Mexico State Legislature commending him for his "outstanding achievement and exceptional accomplishment" for his long and successful practice in Carrizozo. His name also was placed in the Congressional Record for his work in Samoa.

Dr. Turner married Rose Fano Sima-saki Clemens, a native American Samoan.

His funeral was according to Samoan custom for high chiefs and other greatly esteemed and honored persons. He was buried adjacent to his hillside home overlooking the sea.

OPINION

● Ah, September! The month when people are back at work resting up from their vacations. It was an eventful month. For the 81st time I missed a chance at fame and fortune. My doctor ordered that I undergo a 24-hour urine test, the analytical outcome of which was cause for rejoicing. Instead of returning the jugged specimen to me as requested, the laboratory trashed it. I had planned to put the specimen in a fruit jar, immerse in the fluid a picture of Jesse Jackson, and sell it to the National Endowment for the Arts. Not everybody can lose $45,000 in a few minutes time.

● September is the month when Barney Frank, who shows his contempt for AIDS by being the most blatant homosexual in congress, has admitted hiring a male prostitute at a cost of $80 an hour and later running a homosexual whorehouse out of his private dwelling. He has been lauded by the press, fellow congressmen and voters of Massachusetts, formerly known as the Bay State, now known as the Gay State. The Bush Administration piously rejects aid to democratic forces in Panama, Nicaragua and Colombia as interference in domestic troubles of sovereign states—but it is thrilled to continue interfering in the domestic affairs of South Africa. Utah teachers made a telling contribution to education by walking off their jobs in the state's 44 school districts, hawling for more money. The World Health Organization found that about a billion people suffer from disease and malnourishment, but didn't explain why, if this is so, human life expectancy worldwide has moved from 41 years to 59.7 years in developing countries over the past 40 years. Hurricane Hugo did $1.9 billion in damage on the east coast of the Carolinas, and left 75,000 people homeless. In Yazoo City, Mississippi James Dempsey Hughes used a shotgun to get the undivided attention of Debbie Chaney Montgomery, editor of the Yazoo City Herald. The shot wasn't fatal, but it did get her attention.

● Since World War II the US has spent half-a-trillion dollars on foreign aid, bolstering poorer countries. In spite of this, not one recipient country has gone in status from "underdeveloped" to "developed." According to the US Agency for International Development, those countries haven't learned anything except to depend on even more American dollars. Still, we refuse to stop such nonsense in spite of the fact we can't pay our own bills. For example, congress wrestles with the problem of where to get money to finance daycare centers for children, an extension of its policy to destroy the family and make everybody dependent on government largesse—in exchange for votes, of course. Whenever congress needs money to finance an unneeded domestic program it takes it from the military budget. Nobody I know has suggested that we take such funds from foreign aid budgets. Wonder why?

● September may go down in history as the time the US capitulated to the charm and persuasion of Mikhail Gorbachev. It could be the greatest international "con" trick of all history. In order to get needed funds to expand communism, maintain Soviet military power, and finance satellite countries like Nicaragua, Cuba and most South African countries, Gorbachev has delighted Americans with subtle turns toward democracy. Once he gets the billions needed, the war will be on again—cold or hot. Communism needs our money, and it is going to get it, beginning with throwing money at Poland, a country still under communist rule. That money will wind up in Moscow, I promise you.

● September marks the 50th anniversary of the beginning of World War II, from which we learned little. Sept. 14 was the 75th anniversary of Francis Scott Key's decision to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." This month, 39 years ago the first automated census count recorded 62,622,250 Americans. Veteran members of the Democratic Party have called on Ronald Brown, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, to end the affiliation of the Communist Party with the Democratic Party. Fat chance. Gus Hall, head of the Communist Party USA, said in 1972 that for 25 years the Democratic Party has been the bulwark for communist aspirations.

● The US House of Representatives voted last week to end spending $115.6 million for newsletter mailings to congressional constituents. Monday the Senate restored the perk of free congressional mass mailings. Congress exempts itself from many of the laws it passes—such as overtime pay for employees, safety regulations, minimum wages, etc. Then they spend $115.6 million to convince constituents they are acting only in the public interest. In Chicago, only 22 percent of all parents send their children to private schools, but 45 percent of public school teachers send their children to private schools. Does that tell us something about the quality of public education? In Washington, Dr. Elizabeth Morgan was released from jail where she had

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—A couple months ago I denounced the legal profession for the unconscionable fees charged the state by private law firms hired to defend it against law suits.

Next, came a column noting responses I received saying I shouldn't have gone after lawyers in general but should have revealed it is the big law firms that get the juicy state defense contracts. I was also told the state's Risk Management Department, with its deep pockets of taxpayer money, is the real culprit.

Now, it's time for the defense lawyers and the state to have their turn at the finger pointing.

They, too, have found the bagguys—the so-called "trial lawyers," who are the plaintiffs attorneys that represent people who think they have a complaint against the state.

It is alleged that various sections of state law aren't much more than a welfare act for plaintiffs' lawyers. Evidently our laws are loose enough they allow for some pretty frivolous lawsuits against the state.

The horror stories are numerous. They involve suits for a public official shaking someone's hand too tightly and drunks who sue the state for improper road maintenance when they pile up their cars. You've seen many others in the papers.

The ridiculous claims usually don't end up with much of a settlement or award but they do consume legal expenses and sometimes they find loopholes in the law that result in big bucks.

The state has a tort claim act that is designed to limit the amount a person can collect from public funds, while at the same time allowing citizens to sue the state. Judgments are limited to $300,000 an individual and $500,000 per occurrence.

That terminology seems reasonably clear to a layman but the lawyers and courts get it all botched up. Now, an occurrence isn't something like a car crash, it is every little thing that happens before and during the crash, which means the limits suddenly skyrocket because of the "multiple occurrences."

The same idiotic interpretations are being given to highway maintenance. You or I, being reasonably clear of head, would say that means the highway department should repair potholes so they don't rain eyes or cause accidents.

license to someone who causes an accident.

Obviously the answer is to go to the legislature and tighten up some of the definitions used in the tort claims act so they can't be given absurd interpretations. But that hasn't worked well either.

It seems that the trial lawyers organization is usually given credit for being the strongest lobby in Santa Fe. Their members are uniquely suited to being good lobbyists. They are accustomed to being strong advocates; they are articulate and they think well on their feet. In addition, they frequently run for the legislature themselves and they often win. They also sometimes advance to leadership positions.

Meanwhile the state's Risk Management Division has gotten increasingly more efficient at handling the suits, according to their officials. When comparing their defense costs to those of insurance companies with state business, our public servants say they run a much tighter operation.

State Rep. Richard Olsen, R-Chaves, is a lawyer, who works both plaintiff and defense cases. He outlined to me some of the cost containment measures instituted by the state. He says contract attorneys for the state must bill travel at one-half their normal rate. Advance approval is required for depositions, travel or any other significant expense.

Olsen also says specific approval must be given any lawyer who works on a case other than the lawyer assigned. The Roswell attorney says few insurance companies make any of these requirements.

The state has also hired two former New Mexico Supreme Court Chief Justices, Vernon Payne and Bill Riordan to ride herd on its contract attorneys.

But the fact remains that whether all lawyers' hands are clean or dirty, a lot more taxpayer money is spent on suits against the state than fairness to its citizens would seem to dictate.

District Court

Means sentenced; may escape any prison time

Carrizozo resident Burdette Means pleaded guilty to attempted criminal sexual penetration, a first-degree felony, before District Judge Richard Parsons Tuesday.

Parsons sentenced Means to six years with a two-year mandatory parole. His prison time could be suspended if the defendant is eligible to enter and successfully complete the sex offender treatment program at Las Vegas, said Assistant District Attorney Scot Key. Means remains in the Lincoln County Jail until a bed is available at the program facility.

Also in district court Tuesday, Alamogordo resident Rodney County, 21, pleaded no-contest to conspiracy to commit larceny in Lincoln County and larceny over $250 in Otero County. He was sentenced to 18 months on conspiracy, a fourth-degree felony and 18 months on the larceny, also a fourth-degree felony, with the times to run consecutively for 18 months total, Key said.

County, with one prior conviction, was given one year on the habitual offender charge to run consecutively for a total of 2 1/2 years. He was referred to the State and Classification Center in Mesquite for diagnosis and to the Western New Mexico Correctional Facility in Grants for a 60-day diagnosis which will provide a recommendation to the court for sentencing.

Nick Ronald Gonzales, a 15-year-old juvenile from Ruidoso, admitted to auto burglary and larceny under $100. He received two years probation with terms of 100 hours of community service to be performed on Saturdays and Sundays, a curfew of 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, a tour of the Lincoln County Jail and other probation terms.

Letters to the Editor

Stand up to porno

EDITOR—I would like to call attention to a growing problem in New Mexico. I am referring to the problem of obscene pornography. (Obscene pornography is that which involves violence or degradation, usually of women and children, and which has no other artistic or otherwise useful value.) Contrary to the claims of some, this type of obscenity is not protected by the First Amendment.

Much research, including the US Attorney General's recent report, shows that obscenity teaches a "rape myth" to its users; that it promotes the false idea that women enjoy being raped; and when they say "no," they really mean "yes, please." Hard core pornography or obscenity has also been linked with child molestation, which is escalating at a horrifying rate.

Your representatives in the New Mexico Legislature will have an opportunity to vote on an obscenity bill in January when the governor has promised to place it on the floor.

Communities do have the right to set standards for their own communities. So far, most of our state legislators have been reluctant to take a stand. Let them know where YOU stand!

ELLEN MICHNOVICZ, Las Cruces, N.M.

Carroll vs. Fouratt

EDITOR—I enjoyed reading Mr. Carroll's letter regarding the Lincoln County Commission meeting except that it was neither accurate nor truthful.

Whoever wrote the letter for Mr. Carroll did an excellent job considering they obviously did not attend the meeting in person.

Patsy Sanchez's remarks were taken out of context or altered, thus leaving out both the essence and specifics of what she actually said. Her real points were well made.

As to Bill Elliott, anyone familiar with county politics knows Mr. Carroll has been "hot after" Bill (and many others serving the county) for years.

The present commissioner's turn in the barrel is coming!

Now to the verbal duel with me—why, Jerry, those sitting near you in the meeting still say you just got upset because someone "called your hand" and embarrassed you in public. Otherwise, why did you follow me into the hallway, grab and shake my hand while profusely apologizing that your remark made directly to my face wasn't meant for me? You certainly backed off and became quite civil when it was just you and me (but you forgot the witness who saw it all.)

Anyone who has observed Mr. Carroll's behavior over the years at public meetings knows he is a semi-expert at innuendos and cheap shots. He never offers a positive, rationale, constructive idea or solution to anything. He is a NAY sayer, one of the "negatives" frequently found around courthouses and city halls.

Jerry, often when there is nothing or no one to attack, you just sit there mumbling to yourself!

I was warned "not to duel with an intellectually unarmed man," but in your case, Jerry, I've made an exception. I will not, however, continue a dialogue with your surrogate.

Jerry "Don't Tell Them the Whole Truth" Carroll, I will definitely see you at the Sept. 28 meeting. Then you'll find out "who the hell E.J. Fouratt is."

E. J. FOURATT, Captain.

Hold communists accountable

EDITOR—Communist leaders should be held accountable for their monstrous crimes against humanity. If they are not punished, at least by being ostracized, they will surely perform similar atrocities in the future.

The brutal nine-year war against Afghanistan is just one example of communism's many crimes.

The non-communist world is treating Mikhail Gorbachev as though he were some sort of enlightened democrat. But he has been the leader of the USSR since early 1985, and he has held membership in the ruling Soviet Politburo from 1980. He is as guilty as anyone for the murder of one million Afghans, the forced exile of another four million, and the incredibly cruel rape of their country.

I wonder why the American people are constantly reminded of the nearly 60-year-old crimes of Nazi Germany while ongoing atrocities committed by communists are repeatedly glossed over. Nazism threatens no one today, but communism continues to enslave more than a billion victims.

Following some of the crimes of communism that should not be forgotten. In recent years, communists killed close to half the population of Cambodia, crushed the legitimate aspirations for freedom of Latvians, Estonians and Ukrainians, used poison gas against freedom-loving people of Soviet Georgia, launched a mid-air attack against 200 civilians aboard KAL 007, massacred students in Beijing, and continue to maintain a network of gulags and psych-prisons.

For many years the leaders of the West, particularly the United States, have policies toward communism that "not only wink at communist tyranny but invite similar atrocities in the future."

Just imagine how our nation's leaders and much of the press would react, if any of these crimes had been committed by anti-communist South Africa, Chile, El Salvador or Taiwan.

PEOPLE FEEL BETTER?

"The Rio Grande Sun is absolutely right. I do like to exaggerate," Mayor Richard Lucero told the Espanola utilities committee this month.

"That way people feel better when the figures come down."

Lucero admitted he had inflated the figures a bit when he told the finance committee the city might have to start charging hook-up fees of $2,500 for new customers wanting to connect to the city water and sewer systems.

Lucero said, according to to SUN staff writer Pat Tsoodle, that he figured by shocking residents with the $2,500 figure he might make the $1,500 figure more palatable.

Hookup fees would still be considerably higher than the $200 fee the city charges now.

A DOG'S LIFE

A dog leaves Cuba, arrives in Miami, and meets another dog. The Miami dog is very surprised at how fat the Cuban dog is and asks him, "How are things in Cuba?"

The Cuban dog responds, "Actually, I didn't have it so bad, because I lived with a colonel and always ate food from the special market."

"So then why did you leave?" asks the Miami dog.

The Cuban dog says, "Barking, my friend, I was dying to be allowed to bark!"

The dog joke was borrowed from the Washington Inquirer, published weekly by the council for The Defense of Freedom.

CHARGES AGAINST SHERIFF

The Citizen, serving the Estancia Valley, reports that the AG's office has filed more charges against Torrance County Sheriff Gary Watts and three of his deputies.

A trial date of Oct. 23 has been set for Watts on Bernalillo County charges that followed his arrest on May 5. The Citizen editor feels that it is now time for Watts to resign from his position as sheriff. Since the new charges were filed in Torrance County, it isn't likely they will be combined with the previous charges filed in Bernalillo County. The people of Torrance County should not have to wait for months to find out if Watts is guilty or innocent.

If Watts resigns and the commission appoints a replacement, the sheriff's department can get out of the "frustrating paralysis that has plagued it since May."

The sheriff and his deputies were indicted May 31 on 13 counts of larceny and conspiracy.

FALSE REPORTING

The second information filed recently charges Sheriff Watts with conspiracy, fraud and tampering with public records, all fourth degree felonies. The charges stem from an automobile accident on May 22, 1988, when Watts was the county undersheriff. According to the information, Karl Lewis was driving east on US-60 between Belen and Mountainair, "after a night of drinking alcoholic beverages in and around Belen." Lewis is charged with losing control of his vehicle, colliding with a guard rail, damaging it and his vehicle.

This is where it gets interesting:

The next morning Lewis met with Watts in Mountainair, and Watts agreed to prepare a false accident report in which the accident was attributed to a blowout, the location of the event was placed in Torrance County, and the information said that the state of Lewis's sobriety was unknown.

As a result of the false report, the charge is made that Lewis's insurance company was deprived of the higher premium it would have charged if the report had been correct. That is the basis of the fraud count.

ADOPT-A-POTHOLE

The Kiwanis Club of Sierra County proposed the Adopt-A-Pothole Project to the city council for their cooperation and endorsement. It was accepted, unanimously.

An individual, business, or other organization may specify the pothole they wish to have filled with their donation; the Kiwanis Club relay the information to the city, which will provide the labor and equipment for repairs.

AROUND CORONA

Both Robin Pfeiffer and Geraldine Perkins were surprised at the way this column ended last week. Mrs. Pfeiffer stayed with her daughter in Albuquerque for a week following surgery on her left hand. It is Mrs. Perkins who had the hip surgery. It is Mrs. Perkins who tried to express gratitude for all the things done for Archie and her during her stay in El Paso and after her return home, and it is Mrs. Perkins who hopes some person, male or female, will volunteer to write news for Corona.

Corona has an additional ambulance. Byron Yancey went to Huntsville, AL to accept delivery. He said it took little more than two hours to go and two full days to return.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hodge spent Sunday afternoon with the Owen and Hodge families. The Hodges live in Tucson, WA and were in Albuquerque to settle the estate of his late mother, Mrs. Ethel Hodge. He said that his sister, Wanda Louise, is in a wheelchair but is recovering satisfactorily from a broken hip.

Many beautiful quilts, some with interesting histories, are on hand for the show Saturday in the school recreation room.

Dan Bell received a State Fair red ribbon for his lamb.

Jerry and Leta Sharp spent a week at the state fair. The Gartwright boys were showing lambs and pigs, and Brad had a pig in the sale.

Nora Ann and Al O'Dell, Chattanooga, TN were here for a few days with Mrs. O'Dell's mother, Mrs. Pauline McCloud, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tubbs spent a week in Bonham, TX with his grandmother, Mrs. Zephia Freeman, who came home with them for a visit.

Several former residents have stopped by recently:

Mrs. Vera Hardy, Van Horn, TX was on her way to Rifle, CO for a Colbaugh family reunion.

Mrs. Lula Collins Daudet, Albuquerque, was enroute to a meeting at the Angus Nazaren camp which her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Collins, helped to found 50 years ago. She was accompanied by a sister, Pauline and a friend.

Alva Winchester, Potosi, OK was planning a September auction of property there before spending the winter in Arizona for his mother's health. Mr. and Mrs. Winchester and Alva may take a year before deciding on a permanent home, probably in the Alamogordo area.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grosenbacher, Cabool, MO, and the Rev. Clifford Grosenbacher, pastor of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Three Rivers, TX, Clifford is looking forward to retirement in a couple of years and made this trip before deciding to locate in the Santa Fe, Roswell or Alamogordo area. Patsy Wills and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wills, El Paso. It is Patsy, a nurses' aide at Sierra Medical Center, who made things much more pleasant for Mrs. Perkins during her hospital stay.

Nancy and Richard Philbert, MD, Lafayette, CA and Mary Jo and Herb Stohler, Sebring, FL, who had been to a Taylor family reunion in Artesia and then camped for a couple of days at Bonita Lake, Richard and Mary Jo are the son and daughter of the late Drusilla and Whitey Philbert of Anderson, IN. Richard is anxious to find some person who will tell him where Sam Taylor lived in the Cedarvale area about 50 years ago. They went on to Mountainair where they lived as infants.

Tom Perkins, Vernon, TX was here for a few days over the weekend.

Marcia Deese and daughter, Leley, Edmond, OK came for a few days with her grandmother, Mrs. R.L. Sharp and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mays and children spent Saturday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davidson. They live in Alamogordo.

Mrs. Walter Steele spent several days last week in their Albuquerque home with daughter Amy, who was scheduled for foot surgery. Thursday, Friday evening on Channel 7 Howard Morgan was displaying a 15-pound, 32-inch zucchini raised by Mrs. Steele on the ranch here.

Mrs. Lee R. Owen drove to Denver last week with Wanda Markow to visit with Mrs. Marlow's three children and their families: Julia and Calvin Kendall and son Shawn Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Straley and two boys and Clint Straley.

Mrs. Floyd Proctor appeared on prime time TV Wednesday evening on the Unsolved Mysteries program. Well done, Loretta.

It took an act of Congress to get her release. The father demands visitation rights and the court agrees. Dr. Morgan still says no, and refuses to reveal the child's whereabouts.

Dr. Day, a woman surgeon at San Francisco's General Hospital, quit her job rather than operate on AIDS patients. She said on television Sunday that she would not put her own life at risk by operating on patients who can't be saved from certain death. Accused of violating her Hippocratic Oath and medical ethics, she points out that doctors often refuse to treat certain patients—among them those unable to pay. She said AIDS is the worst disease ever faced by mankind, including plagues, cancer, epidemics, leprosy—none of which were as disastrous to society as AIDS is today. Yet the homosexual community has enough political clout to prevent their quarantine, to force politicians to recognize their disgusting lifestyle, and to force society to give them civil rights status and to make it illegal to discriminate against them in any manner. Grizzly volleyball

Carrizozo varsity girls volleyball team traveled to Capitan on Friday and Saturday and came away with 1 win and 2 losses in the Tiger Classic.

The Grizzlies met the always tough Cloudcroft Bears in first round action Friday afternoon and lost the match 3 sets to 1 by the scores of 13-15, 13-15, 15-2 and 1-15. Tennie Trolinger and Diane Ortiz did a good job at the net and Yvette Hernandez passed and dug the ball well in this match.

Grizzly coach Ron Becker stated that his team played a conservative match which caused Cloudcroft some opportunities to make some mistakes, but that his team wasn't mentally tough enough to put Cloudcroft away in set 1 and 2—which could have gone either way.

On Saturday morning Carrizozo met the Roswell JV and came away with a 3 sets to 1 victory... scores were 15-9, 8-15, 15-9, and 15-10. Trolinger again had a good match hitting. Connie Najjar and Laurie Zamora were singled out by coach Becker for their setting. On defense Yvette Hernandez and Cheryl Hightower did some good digging. "We played a tough competitive game," said Becker. "In game 4 we were behind 1-9 and came back to win 15-10".

On Saturday afternoon Carrizozo took the Lordsburg girls to five sets before losing by the scores of 5-15, 15-5, 15-11, 17-19, and 6-15. Cheryl Hightower, Yvette Hernandez and Tennie Trolinger were consistent hitters with Trolinger putting some good spikes away. "We should have won this one," said Becker. "We need to be mentally tougher and communicate more. We also need more discipline on our defensive positioning."

Becker also stated that last year Carrizozo was 0-3 at this tournament and this year they were 1-2, and competitive in all three matches. The Grizzly record now stands at 5 wins and 3 losses on the season overall, and are 2-1 in district competition.

Next action for Carrizozo will be Thursday (today) hosting Capitan's varsity, JV and junior high teams. First game scheduled to start at 4:00 p.m. On Saturday Carrizozo's varsity, JV and junior high will travel to Magdalena—first game will start at 2:00 p.m. Next district game for the varsity will be against Ft. Sumner on Tuesday, Oct. 3, in Carrizozo. JV and junior high will also see action, with first game slated for 4:00 p.m.

Capitan Lady Tigers win their tournament

By Bartley McDonough

The Capitan Lady Tigers continue to improve their volleyball skills. The defending Class "A" state champions defeated the Cloudcroft Lady Bears Sept. 23 in the minimum three games to win their own tournament.

Capitan defeated Lordsburg 15-10, 15-2 and 15-8 in opening round action Friday night. Kim Eckland led the Tigers in the 1st game scoring 6 points. Lesley LaRue helped out with 5 points.

Lora McKay scored a total of 11 points in the 2nd and 3rd games. Vicky Sedillo scored 4 points in the 2nd game and Eckland 5 points in the 3rd game.

The Lady Tigers had no problem with Ft. Sumner in the semi-finals winning 15-4, 15-2 and 15-5.

Karie Cox led Tiger scorers with 5 points in the 1st game. Vicky Sedillo and Cindy Castillo contributed three points each.

Karie Cox was leading scorer in the 2nd game with 6 points. Lesley LaRue added 4 points.

Cox came back in the 3rd game to score 5 points followed by Castillo with 4.

Coach Pam Allen said her girls played excellent volleyball.

It was a game of total execution in all areas: setting, serving, hitting, passing, blocking.

Capitan defeated Cloudcroft 15-8, 15-11 and 15-12 to win the championship and 1st place trophy.

Kim Eckland led Tiger scorers in the 1st game with 6 points: Castillo and Sedillo scored 3 points each.

This same duo led scoring in the 2nd game. Sedillo scored off 5 points and Castillo 4. Lesley LaRue led scoring in the final game with 5, and Sedillo and Castillo contributed 4 each.

Lesley LaRue, Karie Cox, Lora McKay and Kim Eckland were named to the all-tournament team.

Capitan goes to Carrizozo Sept. 28 and Loving Sept. 30. The games are scheduled for 4:30 p.m. and 4 p.m. respectively.

Loving edges past Grizzlies in 12-6 game

Carrizozo varsity football team lost a hard fought game to district foe Loving by the score of 12-6 Friday night. The loss dropped the Grizzly season record to 3-2 and 0-1 in district play.

The host Grizzlies got the jump on Loving when full-back Kevin Sheehan closed out a second period drive by going in from 4-yards out—PAT was unsuccessful and Carrizozo held on to a slim 6-0 lead at halftime.

Third period was scoreless as both teams fumbled away scoring opportunities, and had trouble sustaining drives due to penalties.

Loving finally got the equalizer mid-way through the 4th period tying the game at 6-all when PAT failed. The visiting Falcons got the ball back with 38 showing on the clock after bringing down Grizzly punter at the 19-yard line. Two plays later the Falcons got the winning score from 2-yards out.

Carrizozo completed a couple of desperation passes but fell short as the clock ran out. The next game for Carrizozo will be this Saturday when they meet the Alamo JV in Alamogordo — Kickoff slated for 7:30 p.m.

Springer trounces Capitan

The Capitan varsity football team traveled to Springer Sept. 22 and lost to a bigger, faster team, 49-0.

Coach Blane Miller told the News "Springer has an excellent ball club both offensively and defensively. They hit us before we hit them. Our offense moved the ball well between the 20's, but could not score."

"We will utilize our open week to prepare for our district schedule," he said.

Reserve visits Capitan Oct. 6 for a 7:30 p.m. game. Capitan patrons are reminded that Oct. 2 is a school holiday.

Jerry King named president of Boeing in Seattle, WA

C.G. "Jerry" King, a former Lincoln County resident, has been named by the Boeing Company as president of Boeing Advanced Systems headquartered in Seattle, WA.

King, 54, has served as executive vice-president of Boeing Advanced Systems since its creation in late 1987 and has shared top management responsibilities during that time.

In his new assignment, King will have overall responsibility for the 12,000 employee division, whose advanced aircraft products include Boeing's support for the B-2 bomber and the YF-22 Advanced Tactical Fighter programs.

A native of Corona, King graduated from Carrizozo High School in 1953. He has a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from New Mexico State University and has completed advanced management programs sponsored by Boeing and the University of Michigan's executive development program.

King is the son of the late Luther King and Leah King, now of Tularosa. His brother Jack is a Lincoln County resident.

King's wife is the former Emily Ann Johnson of Carrizozo.

Information About "No Hunting" "No Fishing" Notices

New Mexico Statutes require that the owner, lessee or other person lawfully in possession of real estate (except property owned by the state or federal government), desiring to prevent trespass or entry upon the real property, whether for hunting, fishing, digging or any other trespass, shall post notices parallel to and along the exterior boundaries of the property to be posted at conspicuous places, at a distance apart of not more than half a mile, if the property is fenced, or otherwise obviously enclosed or 300 feet apart if the land is unfenced or unenclosed. Such posted notices must be printed legibly in English, be at least one foot high by two feet long, and contain the name and address of the person under whose authority the property is posted, or the name and address of the person who is authorized to grant permission to enter the property. The notices must be posted in at least six conspicuous places on the premises, and in the event a public road enters or crosses the enclosure or pasture, an additional notice must be posted conspicuously within 300 yards of the point where each public road enters the property.

Additionally, such owner or lessee of real estate shall publish written notices in English and Spanish warning all persons not to hunt or fish within the enclosure or pasture. Such published notice must be published for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where the premises are situated.

The rate of pay to newspaper is set by law and amounts to $24.85, plus $1.37 tax, totaling $26.22 for the average three-time publication.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

CHUCK ROMINGER

HOMEOWNER TAX REFORM WINNER

QUESTION: How did the homeowner make out under the latest Tax Reform Act?

ANSWER: In the midst of drastic cutbacks in investment preferences everywhere else in the tax code, owners of first and second homes are the big winners.

Deductibility of mortgage interest and property taxes for primary and second homes remains completely intact. This is often the largest tax deduction for most homeowners and will continue to be so. Also intact are the rules that allow you to defer tax on the profit when you sell if you roll it over into another home and the $125,000 tax exclusion from profit if you are over age 55.

HOMEOWNERS were the big winners under the Tax Reform Act. Your home remains a great tax shelter.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ROMINGER REAL ESTATE CO., 1100 Second Ave., in Carrizozo. Phone 648-2900. One block NE of Courthouse.
