

Agreement near on status of health care center

By Doris Cherry

After six months of deliberation, the Carrizozo Health Center appears to be very close to falling under the Southwest Community Health Services (SCHS) umbrella.

At the regular meeting Monday, the Lincoln County Commissioners spent another lengthy segment discussing the contract with SCHS for management of the Carrizozo and Corona Health Centers (CHC). Currently SCHS administers Lincoln County Medical Center.

Last year, the commissioners requested SCHS take over CHC. An informal contract between SCHS and Lincoln County had been in effect for several years but was found to be outdated and in need of revision. The prior contract charged Lincoln County $1000 a month for administrative services of CHC. The commissioners objected to the dollar amount, stopped payment, and began a contract process to have SCHS take over the management of CHC totally.

At the last commission meeting in February, the commissioners discussed several points of disagreement in the contract with Mike Funk from SCHS, mostly who would pay for major capital outlay expenses in case of a catastrophic or major building repair and if the commissioners could cancel the contract if they considered the health care provided at CHC inadequate. Unable to resolve the points of disagreement, the contract was tabled.

Also at the last February meeting, commission chairman Karon Petty was confused about which copy of the contract was to be considered. Representatives from Lincoln County Medical Center, administrator Steve Keller, interim administrator Valerie Miller, Funk, some CHC board members, and most of the employees of CHC were present. But they left that meeting with their questions unanswered.

Again, some of CHC employees, board members and Miller were present at the meeting Monday. Miller responded to questions about the contract from Petty, but said she could not speak for Funk, who was unable to attend the meeting.

One major point of controversy was if capital outlay expenditures would come from the mill levy funds passed by Lincoln County voters for the operation of CHC. SCHS argued spending the funds for repairs would detract from the health services provided by CHC.

County manager Nick Pappas at both meetings said any major building problems would most likely be covered by insurance provided by SCHS. The buildings and all inventory are county property and will remain so if SCHS takes over management.

Pappas also said the former issue of recruiting expenses taken from the mill levy funds or county general operation funds was deleted from the contract. Under the newest contract proposal SCHS will be responsible for recruitment of a qualified medical and dental provider at CHC.

After hashing over who owns the CHC properties and other points of funding, Petty agreed to amend the wording in the proposed contract which stated "major or significant outlay for scheduled replacement of physical systems within the Health Centers, or in the event of unscheduled emergency repairs or major structures... shall be considered as capital expenses and eligible for payment from the county general fund, reserve fund or the mill levy."

The contract to be taken for SCHS's consideration will not include the words "or the mill levy." This one phrase has been the major point of argument in the contract negotiations.

The commissioners and SCHS agreed to leave the sentence which reads, "Capital outlay requests will be submitted to the Commission for prior approval."

Other terms of the contract, which were not debated, include annual renewal with a 90-day option to terminate and agreement to operate CHC with LCMC establishing the charging structure of CHC.

All present employees of Lincoln County now working in CHC will be transferred to LCMC at comparable classifications held under the county personnel system, with salary, benefits and conditions of employment comparable to other employees of LCMC and SCHS having similar education and experience.

Before the contract is implemented, SCHS will conduct a determination of retirement eligibility of present county employees under PERA. The employees will be given the opportunity to enroll in the SCHC retirement program.

All existing personnel are guaranteed employment by

Grizzlies lose to Springer 50-48 in title game

Carrizozo and Springer put on a show for over 16,000 fans Saturday night in Albuquerque at University Arena.

The two Class A teams battled right down to the wire as Springer edged the Grizzlies 50-48 for the Class A state title.

Springer guard Anthony Romero hit the winning basket with seven seconds to play and Joey Martinez blocked a last second shot by Carrizozo as the buzzer went off to preserve the win for the Red Devils.

Carrizozo had battled back from a four-point deficit in the last minute of play and had tied the game at 48-48 on two free-throws by Abe Padilla.

Springer, who had beaten Hagerman and Melrose to get to the finals, was able to control the games tempo and jumped out to a 14-8 lead after one period of play. Carrizozo returned the favor in second period and both teams went into intermission tied at 22-22.

In the third period Carrizozo managed to outscore Springer early, only to see the Red Devils put on a late period surge and grab a one point lead 39-38 at periods end.

The final period was nip and tuck as both teams exchanged the lead before Romero and Martinez came through with their heroics for Springer.

Both teams shot less than 50 percent from the field and took an exceptionally low number of shots in the game. Springer was 17 of 43 from the field and Carrizozo was only 20 of 49. Springer had a big advantage at the charity stripe and made 16 out of 23—Carrizozo was 8 out of 12. Turnovers were even at 8 each.

Romero from Springer had a game high 19 points, while Michael Chavez led Carrizozo with 16. Abe Padilla 8, Chris Schlarb 7, Dennis Vega 6, Raphael Chavez 6, Guy Archuleta 4 and Mark Guevara with 1 rounded out the scoring for the Grizzlies.

Carrizozo had advanced to the title game by beating Coronado in opening round of action on Wednesday night, 80-67.

Senior Bob Harrison scored a season-high 37 points, including seven 3-pointers, but it wasn't enough for the No. 8 Leopards (9-15) to subdue the Grizzlies at Sandia.

Sporting the state's best record, Carrizozo pulled away from a tight ballgame midway through the first half when it scored 14 straight points to lead, 30-14.

Senior Mike Chavez had six of his team-high 25 points during that span, and the Grizzlies led by 18 at halftime, 45-27.

Carrizozo's lead never was less than 13 points in the second half. Carrizozo led by as many as 24 points early in the fourth quarter, but Harrison's 3-pointers helped trim the final margin.

Guy Archuleta came off the Carrizozo bench to score 22 points and grab a game-high 13 rebounds, a category Carrizozo led by a 44-25 margin.

On Thursday morning the Grizzlies earned a berth in the finals by nipping No. 2 rated Cliff, 62-58 in overtime.

Grizzlies hit seven of eight free-throw attempts for their only overtime points as they beat the Cowboys and advanced to the final.

Arnold Polanco's two free throws with 10 seconds left in regulation gave Cliff a 55-53 lead. But Carrizozo worked the ball up court and got it to Abe Padilla, who drove into the top of the lane, put a move on a defender and sank a 10-footer with three seconds left to tie the score at 55 and force OT.

In the extra period, Guy Archuleta, Chris Schlarb and Padilla all hit two free throws and Mike Chavez added the first end of a one-and-one. The Grizzlies were 22-of-27 from the line for the game.

Chavez led Carrizozo with 18 points while Chris Schlarb had 17. Guard Dennis Vega had seven rebounds for the Grizzlies.

Polanco shot 4-of-6 from 3-point range and had a game-high 27 points for Cliff. David Laney and Josh Tye had seven boards apiece for the Cowboys.

The first half of the early-morning game started slowly. Carrizozo was up 8-6 at the end of the first quarter but Cliff climbed back. The Cowboy's 9-2 run in the final 2½ minutes of the half gave them a 26-20 lead at halftime.

Carrizozo made a sizzling 22 out of 27 free throws while Cliff only managed 14 out of 23 for the game.

The all-tournament team was named on Monday and senior Michael Chavez and junior Chris Schlarb from Carrizozo were named to the Class A selections. Grizzly coach Ron Becker was named Coach of the Year in Class A. Player of the year was Joey Martinez from Springer, a junior.

Carrizozo finished their incredible season with 26-2 mark. Playing their last game for Carrizozo were seniors Michael Chavez, Dennis Vega, Michael Vega, Mark Guevara and Abe Padilla.

DENNIS VEGA, Carrizozo senior, goes up as Springer player tries to draw a charging foul in the championship game at the pit in Albuquerque Saturday night. Grizzlies Michael Chavez and Chris Schlarb (gray uniforms) try to get in position for rebound. The large crowd in the background include many Grizzly fans who traveled to Albuquerque for three games beginning Wednesday.

New Carrizozo town council off to a fast start Monday

History was made in the town of Carrizozo Monday when the first woman mayor took the oath of office.

Cecilia G. Kuhnel swore to uphold the terms of the office of mayor. She joined newly-elected trustees Patsy Vallejos and Gilbert Archuleta, who also were sworn by town clerk Carol Schlarb.

When the new mayor and trustees came to council Tuesday night and sat down with returning trustees Harold Garcia and Dale LaMay, they wasted no time in getting down to town business. In fact, the council conducted all the agenda items and a closed session within one hour.

Mayor Kuhnel first recommended reappointing

Carol Schlarb as clerk-treasurer, Choncho Morales as chief of police and J. Robert Beauvais as town attorney, which trustees approved. She also recommended a council pro-tem, which Garcia accepted.

Town employees Faustino Gallegos, Manuel Vigil, John C. Monreal, Carlos Gallegos, Paul Samora, Kathy Palomarez, Rosemary Gallegos, Rick Emmons and John Northrup were rehired.

After opening the two bids submitted for the erection of the metal building for the Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department, trustees awarded the contract to low bidder Taylor-Faust Construction of Roswell for $36,749. Paul Taylor, from Taylor-Faust, listed his company's 20 years of construction experience which includes large commercial buildings in Roswell, a library addition in Roswell, public buildings for Chaves county and a health center in Dexter, constructed with Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds.

Trustees Garcia asked Taylor if he was familiar with communities and how they get their funds for construction. His main concern was if the company was reputable and capable of handling the job.

Taylor said he was familiar with municipal government funding and realized

School bond issue goes to Corona voters Tuesday

Voters in the Corona Municipal School district will go to the polls Tuesday, March 20, to decide whether to pass a $300,000 obligation bond question.

The Corona Board of Education passed the resolution calling for a bond election Dec. 12. Qualified, registered voters will be asked to authorize the issue of general obligation bond of not more than $300,000 for the purpose of erecting, remodeling, making additions to and furnishing school buildings, or purchasing or improving school grounds, or any combination of these purposes.

According to Corona Schools Supt. Lucille King, the school buildings are in need of roof repairs and the board also plans to reseed the football field and school grounds and other necessary maintenance items mostly. No major building projects will be undertaken with the bond funds.

A repayment schedule is being considered that will require a property tax levy which will be an increase over 1989 taxes of approximately $3 per $1000 of net taxable value. For example, if property is valued at $9000 and assessed value at $3000, the tax will be about $9 annually.

Corona Board of Education members are Margaret Lightfoot, Pete Gnatkowski, Sherry Lueras, Milton Romans and Melvin Johnson.

SCHS for one year after the agreement is approved, except for employees who may be discharged for violations of rules and procedures of LCMC and SCHS. After the one-year period, SCHS will hire, discharge, supervise and manage all employees at CHC, including the determination of the numbers and qualifications of employees needed in the various departments and services of CHC.

LCMC and SCHS will pay all salaries, trade accounts, short term indebtedness, taxes and normal business obligations of CHC for the money generated by accounts receivable, third party payors (such as Medicaid) and other sources of funding including the mill levy provided annually by the county commission. The county commission will not be responsible for payment of any CHC obligations above the money appropriated from proceeds of the mill levy and revenues generated by CHC.

An annual budget prepared by LCMC and SCHS will be submitted to the county commission with approval a prerequisite of authorization to release the annual mill levy funds.

The agreement also reads the contract may be terminated by SCHS at any time should a qualified medical provider not be available to render health care in CHC. Lincoln County Commissioners can terminate the agreement any time they receive specific information the quality of care afforded to the residents of Lincoln County is below that required of similar health centers or the health services industry.

The contract details other aspects of the agreement for management of CHC.

After amending the points of argument, commissioners Bob Hemphill and Rick Simpson added their approval of the document with Petty.

The contract now will be taken to the LCMC board meeting tonight (Thursday) where it will be reviewed by Funk and other representatives of SCHS.

Rick Emmons to finish training

Rick W. Emmons, 38, is scheduled to complete law enforcement basic training in ceremonies to be held March 16, at the Capital High School Auditorium in Santa Fe.

Featured speaker will be Judge Stanley Frost of the Tenth Judicial District in Tucumcari. Emmons is employed by the Carrizozo Police Department.

The New Mexico Department of Public Safety, through its Training and Recruiting Division, provides basic police training for law enforcement agencies statewide, from sheriff to municipal police departments, from motor transportation officers to railroad police officers. A minimum of 400 hours of training is required for police certification in New Mexico.

Emmons formerly worked as a technician with the White Sands Missile Range. He is the son of Jerry and Carolene Emmons of Midland, MI.

Last minute pay raise attempt found not legal

Outgoing Carrizozo Town Trustees Albert Baca, Linda Haller and retained trustees Harold Garcia and Dale LaMay attempted a last-minute bit of action last week.

A notice was posted on the town bulletin which announced a special called meeting at 4 p.m. Friday, March 9.

Town Clerk Carol Schlarb, who had taken time off following the canvass of votes Wednesday after the election, found the notice early Friday when she returned and contacted the trustees. She discovered they wanted to increase the salary for Municipal Judge S.M. Ortiz, who was re-elected March 6. The increase was at Judge Ortiz's request.

Once she discovered the reason for the meeting she looked up the legalities of such a raise in the New Mexico state statutes and declared the increase impossible because of the processes involved.

By statute, to increase a judicial salary, trustees must propose an ordinance for such. To pass an ordinance, public hearings and publication of the hearings must be done before the actual raise is approved.

Also Schlarb said the judge would not have realized the raise during this four-year term, since the increase was requested after the recent election.

Ortiz's salary is now $200 a month for judicial duties. He also received an additional $200 a month for his other duties as personnel director for a total of $400 a month.

Ortiz said he sought the raise because of his increased judicial load and because of extra hours he must be at town hall as personnel director.

Once the processes were defined, the former council canceled the meeting. Former mayor Bob Hemphill was not involved, Ortiz said. Schlarb said regular town employees do not receive any standardized raises, such as cost of living. Any kind of raises usually are considered when the budget is being considered, some time in May and June.

Bill Elliott announces for county commissioner

Bill Elliott is seeking the office of Lincoln County Commissioner, District III, in the Democratic Primary election, June 5.

Elliott served as a county commissioner from 1983-86, and was vice-chairman his first term and chairman in 1985-86, elected to that office by the two Republican commissioners.

Elliott ran for his second term unopposed by both parties.

"I will stand on my past record and accomplishments for the good of Lincoln County," said Elliott, listing a few of those accomplishments.

Identifying and acquiring grants from various sources was a strength of that commission, said Elliott, recalling how during his term both Gavilan Canyon and Carrizo Creek Roads were paved under cooperative agreements among the county, state, and Village of Ruidoso.

On the badly needed Carrizo Creek Road improvement project, no county funds were needed.

During the four years Elliott served as county commissioner, Lincoln County received $2,790,136.68 in grants and in state and federal funds.

Among other things Elliott's administration put together the first paving district in the state for Alto Village.

He also is proud of the support his commission provided for county emergency medical services. Elliott said his commission established the new fire district in the Hondo area and also helped the county ambulance service to become the best in the state.

Elliott said his commission served as fiscal agent for the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission as the regional airport was being designed and built.

He also recalls how his commission acted quickly to avert a financial disaster for the county when Moncor the funds are often delayed.

Carrizozo fire chief Albert Najjar, present at the meeting, talked with Taylor and he considered the company reputable. The bid price in the "ball park area."

The metal building is just one of three phases in the fire hall construction project.

The building phase was bid before the concrete contractor the plans for the building, because the slab dimensions have to depend on the building plans, Najjar said.

Taylor said the building plans will be available in about 10 days. The metal building is from Royal Metal Buildings of Hobbs and overhead doors will be from Rainier Door Company of Roswell.

Taylor also said his company would like to bid on the concrete phase of the project. Agriculture Building Company of Albuquerque submitted the second bid of $38,350.

Also Tuesday, trustees agreed to begin services for refuse collection with Southwest Disposal Corporation April 1. The contract with Southwest Disposal Corp. (SDC) was approved at the last council meeting in February.

SCD representative Joe Lewandowski was asked when his company would like to begin the services. He said the containers are in town now and start up would just be a matter of agreement with the town. Upon clerk's Schlarb's suggestion of April 1 for easier billing, trustees okayed the date.

Commercial customers will have garbage collected on Tuesday and Friday and residential collection will continue on Wednesday.

Garcia decided a letter be written to Bill Terry and Randy Horn of Waste Control, which contracted with the town previously, and sent by certified mail. The men were at the meeting but left because town attorney Beauvais was in the hospital and unable to attend.

"There probably will be some litigation on past billing and such," Garcia said.

Trustees also learned about the one-year warranty review for the rehabilitation of the Carrizozo water tank, which was made Feb. 20. Faustino Gallegos, town foreman, Gavin Strathdee of the Rural Water Association, Ron Anslly of D&R Tank Co. and Alan O'Brien of Wilson & Co. attended the review.

The findings were submitted in a letter received at town hall Monday, March 12.

Mayor Kuhnle read the letter which included the items that will need to be repaired by D&R Tank as part of the warranty work: on the exterior—repair chips in the paint; blast and paint the inside of the top access hatch; repair areas around the corrosion protection system holes where the tape pulled the paint off and repair and repaint lug holes on access door.

On the interior of the tank: repair holidays in the tank wall and floor; grind and repaint steel patches in the floor; blast and repaint bubbled areas and lower end of the center support and replace all float cables with stainless steel cables.

The warranty work is tentatively scheduled for April, with a date to be finalized with between the town and D&R Tank. The town should allow for the tank to be down at least seven to 10 days for the paint to cure.

Ongoing maintenance suggested included a major inspection every five years, to reduce the costs.

In other business, the trustees:

—accepted a request from Dorothy Forsythe on behalf of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce to conduct a town clean-up. After discussion about donation of plastic bags and so on, Lewandowski suggested the town organize into groups of about 10 people and use the roll-around poly carts to pick up trash, rather than the plastic bags which are expensive and often tear, allowing garbage to spread. He said SDC will donate the services of their collection trucks.

A date will be set when the clean-up is coordinated with all concerned groups.

—adopted the open meetings act of 1990.

—agreed to pay mileage for former mayor Bob Hemphill to attend the CDBG meeting in Las Cruces and submit the grant application for the town streets and swimming pool. Kuhnle said there are $50,000 for five small communities and agreed to send Hemphill, who is knowledgeable about the grant process.

—agreed to name Kuhnle as representative from Carrizozo to the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District in Roswell.

—heard of a letter from the Environmental Protection Agency addressed to former trustee Albert Baca about allowing access to town property at the old Scott Tex Mill, to install four monitoring wells to determine if any groundwater contamination is present. No contamination was found in the Ellison and Deep wells adjacent to the property, which were sampled Feb. 8. Drilling is expected at the end of April.

—met in closed session for less than 10 minutes to discuss personnel. No action was taken.

Corriente will be preparing an evening meal for the Good Sam travelers of approximately 280 people on Memorial Day weekend in Capitan.

The group agreed it would be advantageous to all concerned in Dist. III if it was divided into two districts.

We agreed to support a Central Beef Council and hope beef certificates will be available at all banks to enable easier purchase of gift certificates.

Pres. Inez Marrs attended the Lincoln County Service Organizations meeting recently as a CowBelle representative.

Considerable discussion was held on the Jan. 9 "Today's Show" segment of Paul Ehrlich's "Assignment Earth" series which dealt with grazing in the west. This being a very irresponsible slander to the cattle industry, all were encouraged to write or call NBC requesting equal air time to show the public our side of the issue; also boycotting the sponsor's products and letting them know by mail or phone how their money is being spent by NBC.

Corriente will meet April 12 at Smokey Bear Restaurant for the regular meeting and a dutch treat meal.

CowBelle's Ranch Tour organized

The 1990 Lincoln County Ranch Tour, organized by the Crown CowBelles and co-sponsored by the American Heart Association, will be held in the Corona area on Saturday, June 8.

Registration will be from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. at the Corona Schools auditorium.

The cost of the tour includes a Lincoln County artist's show; bus transportation to and from working cattle and sheep ranches; sheep shearing, spinning and weaving of the wool; animals for the children to pet; the noon meal; and ice cream at the end of the tour.

Reservations for the tour must be purchased in advance no later than May 26. Address all inquiries about cost and for reservations to: Lincoln County Ranch Tour, Lee Sultemeier, secretary, Box 147, Corona.

For additional information, call (505) 849-1412 days or (505) 849-1192 evenings.

Persons who live within the boundaries of Corona Municipal School District 13 and are registered to vote in Lincoln, Torrance and Socorro Counties are eligible to go to the polls at Corona Village Hall. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Votes will be cast on paper ballots.

For additional information call King at 849-1911.

Capitan council still faced with second officer bruhaha

Once newly elected Capitan Mayor Frank Warth, trustees LeRoy Montes, Gilbert Montoya and Jimmy Wright and municipal Judge Jimmie Stewart were sworn in by village clerk Janet Keel, they set down to an agenda which included the reinstatement of former police officer Tom Hammontre.

A standing-room only crowd was on hand to encourage the reinstatement of the second police position, and after a call for those in favor of Hammontre, about half responded.

Warth had requested the reinstatement be on the agenda last week, before the election. Monday night, Warth told the group he believed the problems in the village have escalated since the police force was reduced to one officer. He said some of those problems were pointed out to him during his campaign.

Trustee Norm Renfro, the only remaining trustee from the former administration, said he meets the public every day in his business and has not heard about any escalated problems. Rather, some expressed the one-officer system was working well and saving the village money.

"You can have a cop on every corner and not stop crime," Renfro said. He added one more officer will not resolve all the problems.

Renfro stood behind the vote he and former mayor Benny Coker and the former trustees took to try the one-officer system, mainly for budgetary purposes. At the time of the vote, the group decided if the system did not work, they would consider reinstating the second officer position by taking application for the job.

Warth said the money is still in the budget for another officer.

Then Renfro asked Capitan Police Chief Randy Spears how many calls the village has received about problems.

Spears said most calls have come from the school, which he thought was not fully cooperating with the village by talking with students involved with the problems.

Spears acknowledged he has had good cooperation with the county sheriff's department in covering the village during his off-hours. When the trustees considered the move to dissolve the second position they stated they would use law enforcement officers living in the village to help during off-hours.

"It's time for the school and village to quit laying blame on the police department and start putting the blame on parents," Spears said.

Spears also said he plans to be on the board of education meeting agenda Thursday, March 15.

New trustees Montoya, Montes and Wright said they did not have enough information about the budget and the situation to make a determination. Wright moved to table the item, which all trustees approved.

The trustees also approved Resolution 90-5 authorizing the village apply for a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) of $400,000 for a sewer treatment plant. The village will work with the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District on the application.

Another resolution was approved to increase the village budget to accommodate $2500 from last year's CDBG.

Annexation of the Paul J. Finegan property without prejudice was also approved, based on the Planning and Zoning recommendation. The annexation now will go through a publication process, and a contract between the village and Finegan, with stipulations about who pays for the installation of water lines and how many taps, must be signed.

In other business, the trustees:

—Tabled discussion about the Capitan-Carrizozo

Natural Gas Association because the association attorney Robert Beauvais was ill and unable to attend the meeting.

—Tabled discussion about a youth center with Sid Goodloe because he did not have enough information to present a proposal. Capitan resident George Beaudry volunteered to serve on a committee for the youth center because he has had interest in such for some time.

The board of trustees will conduct an organizational meeting at 6 p.m. Monday, March 19 at village hall.

In the late 1500s, perfumed gloves were much prized and it was the fashion to give them away at weddings.

WHY A TITLE SEARCH?

QUESTION: Why is a title search necessary when you buy a home?

ANSWER: Skipping the title search is like buying a new car without a warranty — except the stakes are higher. Although you may be the only buyer, others may also claim rights to the property. There may be an easement to restrict the use of your land or unpaid taxes. An heir to a former owner may claim a share of the property. A title search will check for any such possible claims and determine if the title is clear. Your deed does not eliminate claims that others may have. It simply transfers the seller's right of ownership to you.

A TITLE SEARCH will check for clouds on the title.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ROMINGER REAL ESTATE CO., 1100 Second Ave., in Carrizozo. Phone 648-2900. One block NE of Courthouse.

● Several years ago I cited nine sure-fire ways for you to know if you're going to have a bad day. They need repeating: 1) You wake up face down on the pavement; 2) You call Suicide Prevention and they put you on hold; 3) You see "60 Minutes" news team waiting in your office; 4) Your birthday cake collapses from the weight of the candles; 5) Your only son tells you he wishes Anita Bryant would mind her own business; 6) You turn on the news and they're displaying emergency routes out of your city; 7) Your twin sister forgets your birthday; 8) You wake up to discover that your waterbed broke, and then you realize that you don't have a waterbed; and 9) Your horn goes off accidentally, and remains stuck, as you follow a group of Hell's Angels down the freeway. 'Ave a nice day, mates.

● Ted Kennedy finally has some ethical and moral support. Rep. Craig Washington (D-Tex.) was recently sworn in to succeed the late Rep. Mickey Leland (D-Tex.). At the House of Representatives ceremony, he was accompanied by three of his five children—two by his wife of 24 years, one by a former girlfriend and two by an Austin, TX woman whom he plans to marry when and if his divorce becomes final. Wonder what he has in mind for taxpayers?

● I was having lunch last Thursday with a man who teaches in one of Lincoln County's public schools. He told me that in his classes of 6th to 8th grade students only 25 percent of them could read class textbooks, and even fewer could understand what they could read. Then I pick up this news release from the National Education Association of New Mexico urging all New Mexicans to join their rallies and protests to persuade the legislature to increase their salaries. Ima Lee Wells, NEA president, says her union will continue to lobby the legislature for a 3/8-cent increase in the gross receipts tax to pay teachers more for not teaching their students to read. NEA is the reason the legislature is in special session today, demanding higher teachers' salaries.

● The United States spends about $250 billion a year on education. No nation on earth spends this much money on education, and no nation on earth gets so little in return as far as educating our youth is concerned. In Japan, where far less money is spent on education, the average IQ of Japanese children is 11 points higher than the average IQ of American children, if education researchers are correct. (Let's observe a moment of silence while NEA honchos search for a credible explanation of this phenomena.) While teachers salaries have increased over the past two decades, student proficiency, as reflected in Standard Aptitude Tests (SAT), has fallen dramatically. So, the higher teachers' salaries, the lower SAT scores. Why not tie teachers' pay to SAT scores? When SAT goes up, so do salaries. When SAT goes down, so do salaries.

● Money has little to do with education. It never did. It never will. We have just been nurtured on the notion that no matter how big the problem, it can be solved by throwing bales of money at it. NEA says higher teacher salaries will attract more competent teachers. Not true. Thanks to the NEA teachers are "grandfathered" into their jobs through the tenure system, and cannot be dismissed to make room for better teachers. They are there for life.

● The best teacher I ever had was paid $60 a month. She taught grades 1 through 8 in a one-room clapboard schoolhouse. I was taught English, history, mathematics (including algebra), classical literature, geography, spelling and penmanship before I ever hit high school. By today's education standards, I was deprived of all but a primitive education. I suffered from a lack of driver education, basket weaving, cheerleading, sports, shoelace-tying, toothbrush techniques, hot lunches at taxpayer expense, and political indoctrination by my teachers. I don't know how I ever grew up to be 6' 2", healthy, curious and literate.

● Education today is almost totally in the hands of the NEA. Many a sober person has called for abolishing public schools, including me. The next best thing for children and the nation would be to institute the school voucher system. This would allow students to attend schools with more competent teachers, penalizing schools that hire incompetent ones. The free market idea. This isn't likely to happen because NEA will kill the idea. It is that powerful a union, and has learned how to manipulate the minds of parents through their children. NEA is also one of the richest unions in the world, and it isn't about to surrender its power and control without a real fight. So, just keep the money coming.

● Gen. John K. Singlaub got into trouble for a remark he made during the Korean War. According to the general, "The Army is having to rewrite manuals to the 5th grade level, instead of the 8th grade. The volunteer army is serving better, but too many recruits are nearly illiterate."

● If the cost of education continues to rise according to the NEA agenda, it won't be long before a person can turn a handsome profit by just remaining ignorant and untaught.

Inside The Capitol

SANTA FE—A new record has been set this year in the quest for equality of the sexes. Six women have filed for statewide offices other than secretary of state in the 1990 elections.

In my book, women filing for secretary of state do not aid the effort for equality. That is the little niche our male-dominated society has allowed them to have so that they don't get in the way of men's responsibility to run our government.

This isn't meant as a slap in the face at the women who run for secretary of state. If they don't file for the position, we'll take that away from them too. Likewise, the two men who have filed for the seat shouldn't be faulted. Possibly their actions may wake us up to the tokenism that office has received over the last 68 years.

In our last statewide primary elections four years ago, only one woman filed for any of the "men's" offices. Republican Majorie Bell Chambers ran for lieutenant governor. That was in the days when ballot positions were not rotated. Despite a super effort, Chambers had the honor of being the only candidate in the number one position who did not win.

Women have run for congress that past two times against incumbent Bill Richardson. The likelihood of a rout in both contests was so good no one seemed to mind women "intruding" onto that part of the ballot.

Let anyone think this is a diatribe about a battle between the sexes, please note that men are less than half to blame for the unequal treatment. Women comprise over 50 percent of the voting population that keeps putting men into office.

Credit goes to Demos Carol Cloer and Edna Young and Republican Mary Thompson in the lieutenant governor's race; Patricia Madrid in the Demo attorney general race; Peggy Helgeson, a Demo running for the Corporation Commission and Francesca Lobato in the Supreme Court Demo primary.

Add to these, Rebecca Vigil-Giron, who is running for the Demo nomination in the 1st Congressional District. It isn't a statewide race, but it is certainly treading into a man's world.

None of these brave souls are odds-on favorites to win their primaries, much less to take the whole enchilada in November. But it is a first step into what might be a little better world in terms of sexual equality in the 21st Century.

The 20th Century, unfortunately, has seen a regression in women's political opportunity until lately. There were more women in the New Mexico Legislature in the '20s, '30s and '40s than there were in the '50s, '60s and '70s. And the differences were big. In the 1930s, 18 women served in the legislature. Only five women were elected in the entire decade of the 1960s.

The same pattern is evident, by the way, with public school superintendents. There were many of them in our first half century. After about 1950, their number faded to zero until the 1980s.

No woman has ever been elected to statewide office other than secretary of state since the elected state superintendent of schools was abolished in the 1950s. Four women held that position when it was elective. Forty years ago, the superintendent became appointive and the appointed state school board became an elective body. A few women have served on the elected board but, during that time, no women has ever been appointed to the state superintendent's position.

At this time, Catherine Smith, Virginia Trujillo and Millie Pogna hold three of the 10 elected positions on the State Board of Education.

Women have done slightly better in the judiciary than in the executive branch of government. The watershed year was 1978, when Patricia Madrid became the first of 72 district court judges, Leila Andrews was elected to the seven-member state Court of Appeals and Mary Walters became the first state Supreme Court justice on that five-member body. Since then, a few more district court judges have been elected. Pamela Minzner is on the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court is again a men's club.

A discussion of women in New Mexico politics would not be complete without mentioning Georgia Lusk, the only woman to represent our state in congress. It was just for two years. At that point, former Gov. Johnny Miles eliminated her in the 1948 primary election. Lusk returned to the state school superintendency, a post to which she was elected six times.

Senators explain legislative bills that affect the county

State Senators James L. Martin (R-39), Bill Davis (R-18) and former State Representative Bob Corn addressed area Republicans March 5 at K-Bob's in Ruidoso.

Martin's district includes Lincoln County and parts of Otero and Socorro counties.

He explained legislation of interest to Lincoln County which was passed by both chambers during the recent legislative session. These bills await the governor's signature.

They deal with workmen's compensation, public buildings, solid waste and ground water pollution. One bill allots funds to many county projects, including the Senior Citizen Center, Ruidoso Community Center, Ruidoso Mainstreet, state highways, renovation of the county fairgrounds and Ft. Stanton pipeline.

Martin also touched on the four joint resolutions that will appear on the November general election ballot as constitutional amendments to be voted on by the public.

These deal with public financing, the land commission, and legislators' salaries.

Sen. Davis then announced his candidacy for state attorney general. He has no opposition on the Republican primary ballot.

Corn is a candidate for state treasurer. He cites his experience in the legislature and his ownership of an aviation business in Roswell as qualifications.

"I know what it is make a payroll and how important it is to have money in the bank before writing a check," he said. These are responsibilities of the treasurer's office, he noted.

During the business meeting following the program, county party members voted to have a Meet the Candidates reception and fundraiser in early May. Details will be presented at the group's April meeting.

County Republicans meet socially each first Monday of every month. For further information, call 354-2473 or 257-2510.

4-H prepares for ranch tour

The Chaparral 4-H Club met March 8.

George Lightfoot asked if he could shorten the Corona 4-H area, and his request was approved.

The club will have a concession stand at the ranch tour, June 9. Rebecca Wells, John Gnatkowski, Shayla Marshall, Jackie Feldman, Barbara Bradley, and Colby Wells are going to the Skatathon in Capiton. Next meeting is April 12 at 4:15 p.m. at the Corona School.

Letters to the Editor

A kudo for Holland

EDITOR—My congratulations to Mr. Mel Holland on being hired for two more years as principal of Carrizozo Schools.

I have worked with Mr. Holland as a substitute teacher and have found him to be a fair and caring person.

Children must have love and be taught discipline at home and in school. Discipline helps a child to become a responsible and productive adult.

Discipline means training to develop self-control and character, accepting authority, and being submissive. Discipline: treatment that corrects or punishes.

I trust Mr. Holland will have a rewarding future in Carrizozo Schools.

ZILLAH R. WATSON,
Carrizozo.

Who is Jan Tracy?

EDITOR—Who is Jan Tracy? I see my name mentioned several times in her letters to the editor, on several occasions.

Is she a voter of Lincoln County? Is she a property owner of Lincoln County? Is she a resident of Ruidoso Downs? "No." Is she a resident of the Hondo Valley? "No."

Does she represent the retired fireman from California who was appointed to the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission? Neither Tracy nor this retired fireman has had residence here for more than a year.

Does she represent the personal liability attorney from Dallas, TX or the supposedly Water Rights Attorney from Glencoe or Coe Ranch Property, who has a dump across the highway from their valuable property?

Does she represent the valley resident who claims to have engineering credentials, but doesn't?

Does she represent the artists of the Hondo Valley? Does she represent Ruidoso? "No." Does she represent all the people of Lincoln County? I think not. Does she represent the defunct Bank of Ruidoso? Does she represent the Bankruptcy Court of New Mexico? "No."

Does she represent the people who want household waste shipped out of Lincoln County at a tremendous expense to taxpayers? I think so.

Not one of these protestants has been to the Ruidoso Downs Landfill Site in the valley. All they have is something negative to say, without foundation of facts or knowledge.

If their interest was to help the taxpayers of Lincoln County, their activities would be more appreciated, instead of half truths, innuendos and outright lies and distortions of the facts.

The power of the pen is mighty; the power of truth is the greater.

KENNETH NOSKER,
San Patricio.

Will someone answer the man?

EDITOR—To "educate" me, and quite a few others I suspect, about the continual demand for more and more money for education, I pose the following questions. I hope that they will stir some thought and perhaps elicit some answers from our elected officials and educators.

1. Years ago, our state legislature authorized the creation of local school districts and gave them the authority to ask the voters of their district for tax funds to pay for the education of their children. Nowadays the state legislature also appropriates taxes for the same purpose. Is that not dual taxation? At which level is it taxation without representation—state or local? What authority insures that local school boards budget realistically for items they actually need and not simply want, and spend their district school tax funds legally?

2. A couple of generations ago, we started following the advice of psychological and educational "authorities" in the rearing and education of our children. Within a few years, we started noting that our kids had serious societal problems and educational deficiencies. Who should we hold responsible? Why should the opinions of today's "educational authorities" be considered better than those who got us into this mess? Why must we in the United States spend two to three times the amount per student to achieve the same educational level obtained in other countries? Is it possible that their methods might even be better?

3. State law requires the state and all political entities within it who spend tax revenues to follow legislatively prescribed hiring, personnel and purchasing practices. The school districts use tax funds, but have different hiring, retention, vesting, promotion and expenditure guidelines. Why? Is it because teacher union rules are better than the state personnel laws? If so, should the state adopt teacher union personnel rules for all employees paid from taxes?

4. For the last several years, legislators have consistently voted down a state lottery bill, which most polls show to be overwhelmingly desired, most frequently citing the reasoning that "those least able to afford to will be the most likely to buy the lottery tickets." It is a fact that the same income group also has the most children in school and that a substantial percentage of them are not property owners; therefore, why can't the revenues generated by a state lottery be dedicated to education? Even in the unlikely event that the legislators' argument is valid, the children would still directly benefit from their parents' salaries, so any moral objections to a lottery should thus be overcome. As an aside, is it proper for our legislators to legislate according to their own moral values rather than those of the majority, or did we also elect them to be our conscience? Or, dare I even mention it, are their moral values "changeable" to be in accord with some special interest?

A special session of the legislature will almost certainly occur soon to "consider" teacher salary increase demands (the teachers have one hell of a lobby and have never shown any hesitation about using our children as hostages), so we voters have about the same control over how our money is taken and spent on education as we have on the national defense budget.

New Mexicans are already some of the most heavily taxed citizens in this country and that is one of the reasons new industries are hard to attract. The teachers' and school administrators' position in wanting bigger salaries and budgets are understandable—everybody, from all walks of life, knows he or she deserves more money for the most important job and responsibilities he has—but, our schools simply must meet us half way by instituting every budget reduction possibility before even considering asking for a gross receipts tax increase to increase salaries that are already 20-30 percent higher than the average salary that must pay the increase.

My own education is lacking by today's standards, but I know a couple of things: It is far easier to "get by" on a big budget than on a restricted one; and, if one has to find a better or cheaper way to get the job done, it can be done. We Americans pride ourselves on the resourcefulness of our forefathers—we teach it in school—we just don't practice it. We need to.

JIM ALSTON, Ruidoso.

EDITOR—Following is an abbreviated course in history not found in our government schools.

On May 1, 1776, Adam Weishaupt, a German professor, founded the "Illuminati" (the enlightened ones), whose plan was to destroy Christianity and establish a one-world government.

In 1795 the Bavarian government ran them out of Germany. They reappeared under a different name, "The League of Just Men." They later adopted such names and branches as The Jacobin Society, The League of Communists, League of Nations, Council on Foreign Relations, United Nations, Bilderbergers and the Trilateral Commission.

While under the name of "The League of Just Men" Karl Marx became a member and wrote the Communist Manifesto, updating the writings of Adam Weishaupt. That is why the Soviet Union celebrates the founding of the movement toward world government on May 1. Branches of this conspiracy were established in London, Brussels, Paris, Switzerland and New York.

President Lincoln thwarted the attempt to divide the United States and break our Constitution by printing greenbacks (debt-free currency) and won the Civil War. For that he was shot by John Wilkes Booth, a member of the Jacobin Society.

In 1913, after various political and financial machinations, control of our economy was gained by duping Congress into passing the Federal Reserve Act and the Internal Revenue Act. The 2nd plank in the Communist Manifesto is a "heavy progressive income tax."

Since then, the international banking elite have had their hands in your pocket. In 1917, the Communist takeover in Russia was financed by the Wall Street banking house of Kuhn Loeb and Company. The spread of Communism has been bankrolled by your tax money ever since under the guise of foreign aid.

You say you don't believe this? Look at a one dollar Federal Reserve note. On the back you will see the great seal of the Illuminati, the all-seeing eye on the pyramid with its slogan, "Novus Ordo Seclorum," which means "A New World Order." The Roman numerals are 1776, the date of the movement toward a new world order under Communism.

It's later than you think.

AILEEN BOYCE, Lodi, CA.

A word from the governor

EDITOR—The recent article in your newspaper regarding the withdrawal of the Carrizozo pharmacy from the Medicaid Program has been brought to my attention. Although I am aware that Human Services Secretary Alex Valdez has responded to the issues raised in the article, I wish to also express my concerns.

The decision to implement the federally required reduction in pharmacy reimbursements on April 1, 1989 was not an easy one. Because of the anticipated hardships this decision would have on some pharmacies, exhaustive time and attention was devoted to other available options. As painful as the process was, the correct decision was made. Those states which chose not to comply with the federal reduction have lost much needed federal funding, and as a result, reimbursements for pharmacy services have been reduced even further. We felt that we could not risk losing any portion of the 72 percent in federal Medicaid funds used to purchase approximately $20 million in prescriptions annually.

Recognizing difficulties being experienced by pharmacies, my administration initiated a bill during the recently concluded legislative session. House Bill 535 sought to increase the Medicaid pharmacy dispensing fee from $3.65 to $4.00 per prescription. The bill also sought authorization for the Human Services Department to solicit competitive bids in an effort to attain the best prices possible for prescriptions. Following this approach, discounts could be realized in high volume areas, and isolated pharmacies in rural areas would receive higher compensation levels. Unfortunately, the bill was not passed.

Since access to health care services is a critical concern, consideration is being given to the possibility of increasing pharmacy dispensing fees through administrative regulations. This would allow the Medicaid Program to pay a higher dispensing fee to encourage pharmacies to continue participation in the program.

While seeking to encourage access to needed health care services for Medicaid eligible persons, we must continue to do all possible to contain soaring program costs. Because of increasing expenditures, it is highly likely that the current $350 million budget will reach $1 billion within a ten-year period. New Mexico does not have adequate resources to afford a program of that size. Before the state's taxpayers are expected to bear the costs of a growing Medicaid Program, we must continue to do everything possible to get the best possible prices for services purchased on behalf of the low income population.

GARREY CARRUTHERS, Governor.

Gigging the taxpayer

EDITOR—After reading another article on the proposed landfill on Ken Nosker's land it is puzzling to me that the only people who seem to benefit from this undertaking are Jake Harris and Ken Nosker.

According to the landfill application, the primary interest of Ruidoso Downs is a long term land lease in which Mr. Nosker is retained as owner and landfill operator of the entire site (approximately 218 acres). The estimated life of the landfill is 40 years.

Mr. Nosker will lease to Ruidoso Downs an "active" landfill site of 20 acres at 12 percent interest per annum of the appraised land value, and concurrently lease to Ruidoso Downs the "inactive" landfill site of the other approximately 198 acres at 6 percent per annum of the appraised land value. When a 20-acre active parcel is closed a subsequent 20-acre tract will become active and subject to the 12 percent rate. The closed 20 acre site would become inactive and be subject to the 6 percent fee.

This translates to 20 acres @ 12 percent of the appraised land value, and the other approximately 198 acres @ 6 percent of the appraised land value. Mr. Nosker lists in his bankruptcy documents the land in question is worth $12,000 per acre. Thus 20 acres x 12 percent = $12,000 per acre + 198.9 acres x 6 percent = $12,000 = $172,000 per acre. This is only for the lease of the land. This does not include operating costs, transportation, tipping fees, and other profit makers. Total profit over the 40-year period to Mr. Nosker, compliments of the taxpayer, is $6,880,000. Why then would Mr. Harris be so insistent on pursuing such a costly agreement to the taxpayers of Ruidoso Downs?

Lincoln County, on the other hand, has wisely sought a more practical solution to the waste management problem. Recently the county signed a contract with a waste disposal contractor; Southwest Disposal. Under terms of this agreement the trash collected will be compacted and hauled to an Otero County landfill facility.

Lincoln County budgeted $60,000 for waste removal cost. The disposal company will charge $3900 per month or approximately $47,000 per year. The taxpayers save more than $20,000 per year, not to mention operational costs. We applaud this type of fiscal responsibility on the part of the county manager. Ruidoso Downs has the same option with the same company, or the option of working out an agreement with the county. Unfortunately, Mr. Harris has opted for a more expensive alternative.

Why, then, is Mr. Harris so obsessed with the Nosker site, when others have declared it an environmentally sensitive area so close (approx. 1200') to the Rio Ruidoso River. While some people question the run off of pollutants into the river through the arroyos, the Nosker landfill application has assured us that no anticipated discharge of contaminants into streambeds will occur.

The landfill application assures those of us living in the valley that the ground water depth on the Nosker property is 338' to 140' in depth. But current records reveal that groundwater test show that water table in places to be 50' or less. The Rio Ruidoso, which feeds the Roswell Artesian Basin, and is considered a high quality perennial stream, and for many a drinking water source, is not even addressed in the application in the event of a pollution incident. It seems the river was just left off the application map.

One must certainly wonder if there is some other reason that Mr. Harris is so adamant about the proposed landfill site on Mr. Nosker's property. The Village of Ruidoso Downs needs to thoroughly examine their waste problems and find a more suitable remedy more beneficial to all the village that will not send their tax base out of sight. Promoting a landfill in Glencoe is not an appropriate solution. Once the water table or the river has been polluted there is no quick fix. Someone can't just "fix-it" and normal. An article I read recently revealed that one quart of used motor oil could pollute up to 250,000 gallons of water. Imagine what a landfill so close to a river will do to the public health in the decades to come.

Fugitive nabbed in Texas

A young New Mexico fugitive was captured in Corpus Christi, TX March 12. Allen Bruce, 20, was arrested in the Texas city Monday on outstanding warrants from Lincoln, Otero and Dona Ana counties and for crimes committed in Texas.

According to Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane, Bruce was wanted for 28 felony and misdemeanor counts in Lincoln County alone.

Bruce was charged with six counts of commercial burglary, six counts of residential burglary, one count of attempted residential burglary, one count of larceny over $2,500, one count of larceny over $100, three counts of auto theft, two counts of criminal damage to property and one count of escape from jail. All crimes were committed in the Alto and Ruidoso areas.

Bruce escaped from the Ruidoso Detention Facility in early January. After the escape a shooting incident on the Mesalero Reservation was believed to be linked to Bruce, although there was no conclusive evidence to prove Bruce was involved. McSwane said Bruce will be extradited from Texas when he is available.

I think we should be close the window. Buffalo and Rochester, NY, lead the nation in annual average snowfalls, even though they are further south than such cities as Minneapolis and St. Paul, MN.

CREATIVE JUDGE

"I will not push or shove anyone in anger again" is part of a punishment imposed by Union County magistrate judge H. S. "Herb" Blakely. David Vigil, facing three counts of battery as a result of a family incident in Clayton, was ordered to handwrite the sentence 7,200 times.

Blakely suspended 180 days in jail, a $500 fine on two counts and dismissed one count. Vigil was placed on a 360-day probation and within 60 days complete his sentences on paper.

According to the Union County Leader, the judge has no idea if having to write the sentences (7,200 times) will be effective.

Penmanship should show improvement, however.

CAMERA-READY

Congressional press secretaries create their press releases as much like newspaper stories as possible, hoping that lazy reporters will copy the releases "verbatim." Republican Alfonso M. D'Amato goes a step further: His press secretaries send small New York newspapers not only regular releases but also camera-ready articles. These "slicks" include a block of text laid out under a photograph and can be placed directly in newspaper columns.

A story in the magazine "Insight" says such slicks are sent to local papers often, though it is not known how often they are used "as is."

CHARGES DROPPED

According to Estancia's newspaper the Citizen, the state attorney general's office has dropped all charges against Torrance County Sheriff Gary Watts and one of his officers. They were arrested last May as part of what the AG's office called a "theft ring."

Watts consistently claimed he was innocent. Carrizozo area friends of his were relieved with the AG's announcement. They had hoped that the charges would be dismissed due to lack of evidence. Now they are dismayed that their friend is being accused of "chicken-shit stuff."

Among grand jury accusations: that Watts was intoxicated on the morning he took office, Jan. 1, 1989. The document claims Watts was at a bar, apparently at a New Year's celebration, and that Watts was in uniform and armed with a firearm. "Technically," says the Citizen article, "Watt's term began at midnight, and the accusation claims he 'drank intoxicating liquor and became intoxicated' while on duty."

Two Lincoln County women are agitated with Torrance County's grand jury findings.

BUMPER STICKERS

"They do things a little differently in South Carolina," says an item in the magazine "Reason" (Free Minds and Free Markets). In South Carolina the Beaufort County School Board recently adopted a new text for its sex-education courses.

The book, "Sex Respect," contains no information on sexual reproduction, on how to deal with sexual abuse, or on how to prevent unwanted pregnancy.

Instead, it has students make bumper stickers that read, "Control your urgin', be a virgin" and "Don't be a louse, wait for your spouse."

County Commissioners

Historic preservation changes to be addressed on March 26

Lincoln County Commissioners opened their regular meeting Monday with a public hearing that was more confusing than informative.

At the last regular meeting in February, the commissioners heard a request from the Lincoln Preservation Board to amend the Lincoln Historic Preservation Ordinance to allow seven board members (the board now consists of five members) and to designate the zone as a Certified Local Government (CLG).

But when the public hearing opened, chairman Karon Petty said she understood the commission directed county attorney Robert Beauvais (who was not present) to change the designation of the board and establish guidelines. Then the commission would ask the preservation board to look at the ordinance and CLG and come back with a request to incorporate the CLG. The amendments were to be taken to Lincoln for a public hearing at Wood's Annex Tuesday night.

"Instead the attorney has re-written the Preservation Ordinance," she said.

Rather than use the totally revised ordinance, Petty met with Lincoln County Heritage Trust (LCHT) director Bob Hart, who originally came before the commission with preservation board president Bill Morris and revised the segment of the existing Preservation Ordinance pertaining to the board to the requested seven members. The revision lists the guidelines for the seven-member board: three members shall be property owners in the Lincoln Historic District; one shall be a member at large residing in Lincoln County, but not in the zone, with interests in preservation; one shall be a member from professional fields such as history, archaeology, preservation, planning, real estate, design, building trades, landscape architecture, law, finance, or a closely related field, who resides in Lincoln County; one member shall be a representative from the LCHT and one shall be a member from the State of New Mexico, designated by the state on an annual basis.

The members shall be appointed by the commissioners after advertising for nominations of persons to serve on the board. Nominations shall be in writing and bear the signature and residential address of the nominee. LCHT will notify commissioners of the person to serve, and the same procedure will be followed for the state representative.

Terms on the board will last two years, except LCHT and state members. Vacancies will be filled after 60 days and members can be removed if three consecutive meetings are missed.

Hart said the reason for the seven members is to make it easier to have quorum, a problem plaguing the board recently. Also, the membership requirements will allow Lincoln to be designated as a CLG.

Tom Merlin and Tom McKalnup from Santa Fe discussed the CLG. Merlin, director of the Historic Preservation Division of New Mexico Office of Cultural Affairs, detailed the New Mexico preservation program established in 1969 in response to the 1966 Federal Historic Act. A 1980 amendment emphasized local participation and provided for creation of local bodies which would be eligible for federal funds in the form of grants.

Merlin said the proposed seven-member board was larger than CLG requires, but the membership requirements are within the CLG guidelines.

Confusion arose over whether the Lincoln board will become the CLG board and, as county manager Nick Pappas phrased it, "wear two different hats."

Merlin advised the Lincoln board not assume both roles, because it would be "rather unusual."

Hart said since the county has only one historic district, only that historic preservation board would qualify for the CLG and would not cover the whole county. By having the Lincoln board "wear two hats" it would avoid having two separate boards for the county. If another historic district is created in the county in the future, another CLG board would have to be created.

Lincoln resident Ralph Dunlap was concerned people living in such historic areas as Fort Stanton and White Oaks would have a right to accept or reject the CLG, if it is administered by the Lincoln board.

"It could be a real bugaboo," he said, because people are fearful of having such rules imposed upon them.

County treasurer Shirley Goodloe wanted to know what kind of power a second board would have over all of Lincoln County. Then she referred to the many historic sites on private land which property owners have no desire to be regulated.

McKalnup gave the example of Santa Fe which has a CLG. The Santa Fe ordinance applied only to certain parts of the city, just as the present county historic ordinance applied only to the areas the commissioners designated as historic.

Commissioner Bob Hemphill said the CLG would only apply to Lincoln and he encouraged the county seek CLG funds for that area. The only way White Oaks and private property with historic sites could apply is if the citizens agree and vote on creating a preservation zone, then join with the other preservation board.

After discussion, Petty moved to have the document increasing the number of the Lincoln Preservation Board be submitted for public hearing in Lincoln Tuesday.

Tuesday night, a group of about 15 people were on hand at Dr. Wood's Annex to hear of the proposed board change. According to deputy county clerk Loree Vallejos, who took minutes at the hearing, there were no objections to the board membership increase. CLG was mentioned at that hearing.

The final hearing about the change will be conducted at the next regular commission meeting, March 26.

In other business, the commissioners:

—Endorsed the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium presented to commissioner Rick Simpson by Ray Reed. The "all-around wingding" is scheduled for Oct. 13-15 at the Sales Pavilion in Glencoe. Cowboy poets, artists and music are planned.

—Heard a request from Lincoln County Fair Board for funds to insulate the exhibit hall at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds in Capitán. By doing so the hall will be useful throughout the year and can become the second polling place for Capitán as dictated by state mandates. Board member Ralph Dunlap said the $75,000 appropriated by the New Mexico State Legislature was vetoed by the governor. The funds were to be used to replace the bleachers which are making the fairgrounds an insurance liability.

Petty said the insurance problems on the bleachers make them the highest funding priority. She added the problem of insurance may lead to the county asking itself if it can continue to open the fairgrounds to the public.

—awarded a bid for a tractor truck to Watson Truck and Supply for $27,500.

—approved the county Planning and Zoning recommendation to approve a quitclaim deed and partial vacation of a plat in the townsite of Nogal, after discussions with Archie Witham from United New Mexico Bank.

—approved replat of lots 3-4, Block 9 in Alpine Village Subdivision unit 2.

—approved an amendment to the solid waste collection and sanitary landfill operating and maintenance agreement with Southwest Disposal Services allowing for the only negotiable items to be for additional dumpsters and for a six-month period rather than perpetual.

Commissioners also heard of problems with the dumpsters being too small and of a design which does not allow them to be filled completely.

—approved a management agreement with South-

FFA Invitational Judging Contest

Event expected to draw 1000 students, March 17

The Seventh Annual Carrizozo Invitational Judging Contest will be held March 17 at Carrizozo High School.

There will be contests in the following areas: livestock, horses, entomology, farm management, crops, meats, agricultural mechanics, wildlife, land, and wool. More than 1000 students representing 35 FFA chapters and 15 4-H Clubs are expected. The Carrizozo Invitational is one of the largest of its kind in New Mexico.

All FFA contests are a natural outgrowth of the instructional program. The contests help make classes more interesting and encourage the development of special skills. Contests help develop: (1) technical knowledge, (2) ability to make sound judgments, (3) ability to defend decisions, and (4) the ability to be a gracious winner or, a good loser.

The agricultural mechanics contests consist of arc welding, concrete and masonry skills, electrical motors and motor controls, troubleshooting, problem solving, quizzes and identification of over 214 tools along with specifying their uses. The ag mechanics contest will be held in the vocational agriculture shop.

The area of farm management deals with principles of record keeping and accounting, tax regulations, crop machinery and livestock management practices, agricultural economics, agricultural law and land, labor and capital management. Students take written tests and complete problems on a worksheet format.

Livestock judging requires a broad knowledge of breed characteristics, ability to rank classes of animals, animal selection, grading according to USDA standards and ability to give verbal reasons for animal placement. Students deal with cattle, sheep and hogs. The livestock contest will be held at Bar W Ranch headquarters two miles north of Carrizozo.

The meats contest consists of grading carcasses for yield and quality, identifying wholesale and retail cuts of beef, pork and lamb, and making decisions based on visual comparisons. In addition students are required to take a written test on meat technology, solve problems associated with formulating meat products and rank classes of wholesale and retail cuts of meat. The meats contest will be in the Old Gym at Carrizozo High School and will be hosted by the Carrizozo FFA meats judging team.

Horse judges rank classes of horses both at halter and in performance. They must determine the structural correctness of horses, defend the placings, and have basic knowledge of the different breeds. This contest will be held at Bob Curtiss Stables.

The entomology and crops contests test student ability to identify and classify insects, plants and seeds.

A quiz over general knowledge of pesticides and their uses accompanies the entomology contest while seed analysis rounds out the crops contest. Professors in the botany and entomology department at New Mexico State University official the contest which will be held in the mid-school.

Wildlife contests test basic knowledge of different game animals and their habitats through identification and problem solving techniques. Students participate in a "practicum" assembled by the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish and identify slides as well as life size mounts of wildlife native to New Mexico. Area Fish and Wildlife officers assemble and supervise this contest. The wildlife contest is held in the home ec room in Clegg Hall.

In land judging, students identify soil structure, depth, permeability, slope, surface runoff, texture and erosion factors and couple these to classify types of land according to its best use. In addition they determine mechanical and chemical factors which can help develop the land for the most intensive use. Steve Harkey is contest superintendent and Howard Shanks, soil specialist with the Soil Conservation Service, is contest official.

Wool judges learn to appraise wool for quality and yield as well as place classes and defend their placing by giving oral reasons. Students actually place a grade on the fineness and usefulness of the fibers within the fleeces and are able to assess the quality of a line of fleeces.

The tabulation room is supervised by Wally Ferguson, a local rancher and president of the Board of Education at Carrizozo Schools. Over 12,000 tests, placing cards, and quizzes are graded and tabulated in one day. Computers are used to store data and a special Scantron Computer Grading system is used to make grading efficient and accurate. Over 20 qualified Carrizozo grading specialists fill the room to grade, sort, enter and rank data collected throughout the day.

Carrizozo FFA Alumni members hope to serve over 1000 hamburgers in an eight-hour period.

The awards assembly will be held in the New Gym following completion of tabulation. Outstanding students and schools will be recognized for their achievements. The top three teams in each contest area will receive plaques and individuals will be awarded medals. The school with the best overall performance will receive the "Sweepstakes Award."

In addition to the regular contests there will be a special welding contest this year. There will be two divisions, adult and student. Plaques will be awarded to participants with the highest overall score in welding. This contest is open to everyone. The Carrizozo FFA In-tational Contests are co-hosted by Carrizozo FFA members and alumni members from Carrizozo and surrounding area. Well over $1,000,000 worth of livestock and equipment are used in our invitational contest.

Those who wish to get involved in this community project, or would like more information, contact Carrizozo Municipal Schools at 648-2346. Everyone is welcome to attend.
