LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS

VOL. 85, NUMBER 21 THURS., MAY 31, 1990 CARRIZOZO, N.M. 88301 ESTABLISHED 1905

CARRIZOZO'S MEMORIAL Day services "to pay tribute to those brave men and women who made the supreme sacrifice by giving their lives so that we may live in freedom" was the theme of Monday's event at McDonald Park (formerly known as Spider Park). Veteran Vernon Petty is pictured raising the flag while fellow veterans and others recite the pledge of allegiance. The event kicked-off with a parade which included the Sheriff's Posse on horseback and a long, long trail of politicians waving from fancy cars of the past and even from plain old family cars.

County budget raises salaries, but tax revenues to be lower Lincoln County Commissioners Rick Simpson and Bob Hemphill approved the proposed 1990-91 county budget of $5,196,708 at a hearing, May 24.

The $5.1 million in expenditures reflect a 10 percent pay raise for county employees, above any salary adjustments which will result from a job classification begun by the county manager's office. The proposed budget must be approved by the state Department of Finance and Administration (DFA).

Expected revenue from taxes and road projects will total $5,495,737. With other revenues, including correction fees, farm and range, federal grants and programs, state senior citizen programs grants, the revenues and beginning cash balance the total is $8,542,420.

Mill levies agreed upon will not exceed those from last year's total of 1 1/2%, but will be proportioned differently. Lincoln County facilities improvements, such as coolers, roofs and so on, will receive 8/16, 12/16 for roads and 4/16 will be available for EDCLC on a strict dollar match basis. Any amount not claimed by EDCLC will revert to Lincoln County facilities improvements.

At a work session before the hearing, Hemphill favored the additional levy for EDCLC because, without it, the group will be underfunded and thus will cease to exist by next year. The 4/16 equals to about $60,777, according to figures from treasurer Shirley Goodloe.

Commissioners proposed placing the levy for EDCLC on the ballot in November to ask voters if they wish to continue it on a yearly basis. If approved, the levy will continue without commissioner approval.

Revenue from taxes and mill levies is expected to be less this coming year due to devaluation of properties. The devaluation was based on a down-trend in market values of real estate in the county.

Adjustments to salaries reflected the reclassification of employee positions to create an equal pay for equal work situation. Elected officials will receive a 15 percent increase beginning Jan. 1, 1991, as mandated by the state legislature.

Also new in the proposed budget is a salary for a county planning officer for 10 months, plus benefits.

Budgets for the flowthrough money for various county fire departments, except Bonito, had yet to be received from the state fire marshal's office. When the figures are received they will be forwarded with the proposed budget to DFA.

County manager Nick Pappas explained why the county was able to increase salaries on top of the reclassifications which will result in some major increases for

Memorial Day

'Remember the veterans, whether alive or dead'

"Why keep Memorial Day?" asked Lt. Col. Stephen Spencer to a small group gathered at Memorial Day celebrations in Carrizozo.

As the wind sent small clouds of dust swirling, Spencer asked those present what Memorial Day meant to them—just another three-day holiday, or a time to remember the dead soldiers?

He considered memorializing the dead as a "Catch 22" in our society, since it is the only time to remember someone—after one is gone. He challenged all to remember while they can still see that person, to hold on.

"The quickest way to realize what freedom means is to live without it for a while," he said. "If you don't believe me, ask the judge to put you in jail."

Then he asked, what is a soldier? It isn't a male or female, a hero, or a Rambo.

Soldiers are not actors, such as one would see in movies or shows like Tour of Duty or Platoon. "It's hard to sit in an air conditioned theater eating popcorn and relate to a guy with leaches all over him."

He urged that soldiers be remembered while they are alive.

"Death to a soldier is an occupational hazard," he added. Only way to defeat death is to not be born.

Upcoming reductions in the military budget will result in one-third less force, he said.

He considered the best analogy to a soldier is to a minister whom no one thinks about or associates with until somebody has problems. Until somebody turns up the heat.

"That's okay, we decided to do this job. We are professionals."

When a soldier takes the job, the oath goes with it—"so help me God." — to support and defend the Constitution against all enemies foreign and domestic.

"God isn't used that much now," he said.

This nation was founded on the words like "so help me God, In God we trust."

"I have no problems using those words. It implies I need help from God, like this nation needs help."

He then spoke about the uniqueness of the Constitution which has lasted 200 years and how it is worth supporting and defending from foreign and domestic enemies.

Although he found it hard to relate to domestic enemies, he considered them to be no social, economic or political—rather the biggest problem is the lack of moral integrity.

"We're hollow like a skeleton without meat on its bones.

Carrizozo Schools get high marks from state education

Carrizozo Schools will be accredited by the state department of education for the next three years, and ended with good marks for the upcoming school year budget.

Carrizozo Board of Education learned this at the budget hearing with representatives of the department Betty Campbell, Stan Rounds and Penny Mendoza.

Mendoza presided over the hearing which reviewed the proposed 1990-91 Carrizozo School budget with Supt. Danny Burnett, school administrative staff and members of the volunteer budget committee—Mike Schwartz, Evelyn Schwartz, Bob Hemphill, Mike Gaines, Linda Brown, Gerald Montes and Pat Holland.

Campbell and Mendoza were members of the state evaluation on-site visit team last year. Several specific questions about the budget concerned the program problems noted at the visit. Also, questions asked of many districts focused on legislative changes and opportunities, Mendoza said.

During the hearing, members commended Carrizozo Schools for addressing the problems noted at the visit before the written report was delivered by the hearing officers.

Rounds commended the school for adding programs noted by the evaluation visit, something "unique in the face of enrollment loss."

"That is an important statement on how the school feels about its kids," Rounds said.

The $1,156,135 operational budget for the 1990-91 school year is based on an enrollment of 248 students.

Burnett credited the good budget, which included added programs and a 2.6 percent salary enhancement, to the volunteer committee which meets weekly. The added programs and salary increase came about by consolidation of positions possible with multiple certifica-

Cisneros challenges county to be self sufficient

Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County had a symposium last weekend.

Numerous persons from Lincoln County communities attended the all-day activities which included panel discussions on economic development trends for the 1990s, financing manufacturing companies in the 1990s, speeches on the challenges for the 1990s by Jim Covell, CID president American Economic Development Council; municipal role in economic development by Roswell Mayor William F. Brainerd and the highlight of the entire day, a speech by former San Antonio, TX Mayor Henry Cisneros.

Cisneros told participants Lincoln County has "tremendous quality of life, with clean air, pure water, moderate climate, quality education and sense of community." An attractive combination few spots in the US enjoy.

The mystical, spiritual quality given by the Indian community also combines with other qualities which all become an economic asset.

He challenged those present to master their own destinies by developing a sense of strategic vision and not allowing the area to become a victim of the times while other places prosper. Those who prosper have a plan. Cooperation, working together by leaders to put together a dialogue, will advance communities.

Carrizozo gets funds for street improvement

In an 11th hour decision Carrizozo squeaked by with a $113,540 grant to improve town streets.

Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel traveled to the Community Development Block Grant hearing in Santa Fe last week to add input to her town's bid for federal funds for community improvement. Just as the mayor began to think no funds would be allocated to the town, the Community Development Council announced Carrizozo would receive the $113,540, the only funds left after awarding $8.9 million to more than 40 other local governments.

The town ranked on the top side of medium in the terms of need. The original request from Carrizozo was $259,500.

The $113,540 grant was awarded based on an application which proposed to improve Carrizozo streets by resurfacing and upgrading drainage. Listed for improvements are: 11th St. from E Ave. to B Ave.; Birch St. from 14th to 3rd; E Ave. from 14th to 17th; 12th from Central to B Ave.; 5th St. from E Ave. to Highway 380 and E Ave. from Highway 54 to 8th St.

Carrizozo will provide $25,000 in matching funds and $6,000 in in-kind services.

New Mexico State Legislature appropriated $50,000 for street improvements in Carrizozo during the last session also.

The federal grant program helps local governments finance community centers, physical infrastructure and

ABSENTEE VOTING
Former County Clerk David Chavez was overheard telling office workers in Tierra Amarilla: "Nelda's signed her ticket to the penitentiary."

A complaint to the state office was filed last week about an incident involving absentee ballot voting. The complaint was that Nelda Archuleta, county office manager and administrator for the county's indigent funds, filled out absentee ballots for two people and possibly a third. Also that she didn't offer the three voters the opportunity to cast ballots in the statewide races in the Democratic primary. Instead she cast ballots for them in those races.

Archuleta is said to be accompanying voters as they cast their primary election choices. Chavez said that he told her that the only time she should be in there is when the voter asks specifically for her assistance.

Chavez made the ticket-to-prison remark after he said he had received a call from the office of the secretary of state. Chavez resigned his post May 15, seven months before his term expired. Chavez said the decision was a "matter of looking after his own future" and not as a result of the alleged election code violation.

FORM OF FRAUD
In his Rio Grande Sun editorial Robert Trapp says that thirty years ago there was no such thing as an absentee ballot in this state, "then we were talked into amending the state constitution to allow such voting, being convinced that by not allowing absentee voting a certain number of voters was being disenfranchised."

Trapp says the arguments sounded reasonable and fair, but some sceptics warned that allowing absentee voting was opening up the election process to another form of fraud. The absentee ballot process could be misused by some unscrupulous political leaders, these sceptics foretold. (Two years ago Rio Arriba county got a taste of this when two candidates for the county commission won at the polls but were defeated when the absentee ballots were counted.)

"Why should serious voters march to the polls on election day when the decision has already been made by the absentee voters?"

STATISTICAL TIDBITS
A new book "100% American," by Daniel Weiss reveals that 45 percent of American women wear uncomfortable shoes because they look good and 75 percent wear the wrong size bra. Weiss did exhaustive research on hundreds of subjects. Among them:

one percent of our income tax returns are examined by the IRS... 17 percent of US doctors smoke... 70 percent of American men who earn $70,000 a year or more cheat on their wives... 29 percent of American have had visions... 55 percent of Americans wouldn't travel to outer space even if they had the chance... And 5 percent of Americans expect the after-life to be boring.

NINJA TURTLES
Usually I skim over "Across the USA: News from every state" section in USA Today, but today the small print challenged me and here is what I plucked to share with you.

Montgomery, AL—Carolyn Cartee, 34, analyst with criminal intelligence unit of state Department of Public Safety, will go to trial July 16. She's accused of alerting drug suspect to a Dec. 30 raid.

Little Rock, AR—Ex-chairman of state Game and Fish Commission Frank Lyon Jr., 7 others may appeal magistrate's $2,500-each fine, one-year hunting ban, lawyer said. They were cited for having 40 ducks, 16 over limit, on a Dec. 17 hunt.

Stonington, CT—Village clock will keep chiming after noise test registered 59 decibels, 4 decibels under state maximum. Resident Jonathan Aks had seven sign petition against night chimes. Pro-chime petition was signed by 450.

Boston, MA—State Correction Department lawyers are preparing six counter-suits against inmates suing over prison conditions. Frivolous suits (one) charged scrambled eggs were too hard) cost $1 million in salaries, lawyers said. 2,000 inmates suits are pending.

Minnetonka, MN—Federal jury found adult bookstore, theater owner Ferris Alexander, 71, guilty of 25 pornography, racketeering counts. Wife, son acquitted.

Durham, NM—Llama breeders will meet June 15-17 to buy, sell, talk about llamas. 200 llamas, 21 breeders live, in state, said Gail Sanborn of A-Llama-Dam-A Farm.

Albuquerque, NM—Cartoon images of scientists as nerds, villains, "fat girl in glasses" must stop, Sandia National Laboratories official said. Mike Wartell offered lab's services (free) to help revamp stereotypes into "heroid image." Hollywood's response so far: zilch.

Cincinnati, OH—New policy that bars firefighters from wearing clothing with racial messages is on hold while city decides if it's legal. Policy was started after complaints about sale of T-shirts touting fictitious "White Firefighters Association."

Huron, SD—Bob Hope, John Denver, Tom Jones, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles headline Aug. 28-Sept. 3 state fair, officials said.

And last but not least—a man in Morgantown, WV charged with embezzlement, falsifying records, was fired. I bet that made the former Cheat Lake Fire Chief Russell McCormick fume.

White Oaks Haunts

by MISTY PEREA

Ivy Heyman returned this week from a trip to Miami to bring her mother to the White Oaks area to live. Nice to have you as a new neighbor, Ann!

Gaylan is back in White Oaks, so is Frank, Karan, and family next week. Addie had a birthday party at Harlan's on Sunday. Country music by Curtis.

The Huns Run at White Oaks was fun this year, again without incident.

A.J. Marks won the leather jacket that was raffled. As a tribute to a friend in the ground, there was a procession to the cemetery to place a wreath on Bud's grave with a tribute prayer for all who had passed on.

We hope our floats in the parade will inspire you all to join in the fun next year. This was a community effort, but our thanks to Ruth for her enthusiasm and getting it started.

Don't forget our workday June 3 at the arena. Your ideas and help are more than welcome.

It Was Smart To Elect Him

Electing Paul Bardacke attorney general was one of the smartest things New Mexico voters have done in decades.

When Bardacke campaigned in the Democratic primary and in the general election two years ago, his pitch was that as the state's top legal officer he would be non-partisan.

He has been as good as his word. In fact, Bardacke, a former University of New Mexico law professor, has brought to his office the integrity, objectivity, and unbiased pursuit of truth that mark the academic world at its best.

A recent example of his non-partisan approach to office is Bardacke's opinion that the state Human Services Department (HSD) could not pay employees to register voters.

As originally conceived, employees would be available at each of the department's field offices to sign up food stamp and welfare recipients as voters.

Under this plan, which was approved by HSD secretary Juan Vigil and Gov. Toney Anaya, the department employees would conduct registration while drawing their state salaries.

But Bardacke said no, paying state employees to serve as voter registrars is unconstitutional.

Even though such a registration program would have benefited members of Bardacke's own political party, which appears to be the reason for the plan in the first place, the attorney general ruled against it.

With all the partisan maneuvering that has been taking place in the upper levels of state government during the past two years, Paul Bardacke provides refreshing relief.

To him, something is fair or it is unfair, it is legal or it is illegal. And he bases his opinions accordingly, no matter how much partisan uproar they cause.

When Bardacke entered the attorney general's office, he left his political baggage outside where it belongs.

We wish there were surefire ways to spot the Paul Bardackes when they run for elective office, and separate them from the rest of the pack.

But there aren't. That's why we citizens get taken so many times by office-seekers who promise one thing and then do something entirely different once they are in office.

Isn't it nice to find someone in a top government position who takes his oath of office seriously?

King Losing Grip on State Government

By DAVID STEINBERG
Of the Journal's
Capitol Bureau.
ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL
B-2 Sunday, June-21, 1981

"Like the old saying goes: the best laid plans of men sometimes go awry."—Gov. Bruce King, about potential prison problems, at June 2, 1981 press conference.

"The best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley."—Robert Burns, Scottish poet, in an oft-quoted line from a poem to a mouse.

State government seems to have "gone-awf" for Bruce King. By the time he leaves office in 18 months he will have served as governor of New Mexico longer than any other person.

His longevity does not seem to have worn well. He appears to be lost in a sea of having to make too many decisions on too many controversial subjects. Sort of a Democratic version of President Eisenhower.

But it's not too late for Bruce King to take charge of a government crying out for a stern and wise hand.

That is one person's conclusion based on the widely held belief that King acts like he wants to be governor but doesn't want the responsibilities that go with it.

The belief is founded on three observations—1. that King is delegating too much responsibility; 2. that he is making appointments more for reasons of partisan politics and less for "pro bono publico"; and 3. that he avoids taking stands on touchy issues of state.

Point No. 1, Delegation. King appears to be a man uncomfortably alone in the inner sanctum of his office without a person he trusts for advice on significant, daily issues requiring decisions made after ambiguities have been swept away.

During his first administration as governor and in the first 19 months into the present term, he relied heavily on his nephew, David King. David King assumed the burdensome responsibility for making bureaucratic strategy on behalf of his uncle. There is no one at the governor's side whom the governor trusts to do that now.

The governor's own son, Bill, proved himself a solid lobbyist for the administration during the last two legislative sessions. Cousin David isn't likely to return to government. Attempting to fill that void left by his departure is aide Linda Kehoe.

In the days B.D.K. (Before David King), he and Mrs. Kehoe vied for the governor's ear. Mrs. Kehoe may have the governor's ear now but she cannot fulfill the role David King had; she knows many things of government but not the kinds of things the governor must be informed about. The governor needs a "thinker" to complement the work of the "doers" surrounding him.

Point 2, appointments. The King administration looks like it makes too many appointments for political expediency—to pay off political friends and acknowledge party loyalty. At the outset of the current administration, the governor had promised to bring in new, and not necessarily partisan faces.

He has marginally lived up to that publicly stated commitment. He appears to be in retreat from that commitment. It would be unfair to criticize an appointee solely for his or her party politics, but that is a valid criticism if partisanship is the sole reason for an appointment.

As example: King appointed Eric Serna, former secretary of the state Employment Services Department, to fill the vacancy on the State Corporation Commission. But that decision was preceded by King's call for as many persons as wanted the commission job to apply. We can only assume that his staff methodically reviewed the applications.

What King did in that case should be a lesson in others—giving the appearance of fairness, of openness. By widening the circle of potential appointees he would go a long way to enhance his stature as chief executive of the state. And it might even increase his standing as titular head of the state Democratic Party.

Indeed, it would be a corruption of government for a leader to pluck only those associates—or relatives of associates—to fill jobs with people to whom he is indebted or wants to create a political debt.

Point 3, avoidism. King has carefully skirted definitive stances on pressing issues. For example, on the MX missile, King has said it is fine to have the massive underground system in some other state's backyard, but not in the breadbasket that is Eastern New Mexico.

On the Waste Isolation Pilot Project, King has told supporters of the nuclear waste disposal site that he favors it. A while later he can tell opponents that he also wants an anti-WIPP referendum on the ballot.

Apparently motivated by a willingness to please every constituent, King winds up on uncertain grounds and confused. He must realize that he can't logically embrace mutually contradictory attitudes on the same issue without leaving listeners bewildered. To some, conflicting statements confirm the stereotype of a politician.

A sensitive partisan issue has been the continued reign of Brad Hays as state Democratic Party chairman. Having been a loyal employee of Bruce King and a good friend of David King, Hays is now seeing repayment of that loyalty. Hays says he wants to remain in that post until the term expires in November.

Only one voice has asked for Hays' resignation, that of Lt. Gov. Roberto Mondragon. The 1982 political campaign began in the spring of 1981, and Mondragon thinks that a new party chairman should give the party a fresh face right now.

"My concern is that November is too late to begin to get the party in shape," Mondragon says. If King can influence Hays through others, he should suggest his early resignation—or reassignment.

Ernest V. Joiner's

● According to the National Rifle Association (NRA), hunting and killing animals is a "sport," and Americans should not be deprived of their guns for that reason. I see nothing sporting in hiding in a blind to await the approach of an animal so the hunter, armed with a high caliber rifle with telescopic lens, can kill a defenseless animal. It isn't a fair fight, so it can't be sportsmanlike. Bullfighting has been criticized for its cruelty to combat bulls. But the bull has a chance for survival. If he kills the matador he goes free. The same cannot be said of a hunter who kills, not for food or in self-defense, but for pleasure. If hunters were sportsmen they would engage in hand-to-hand combat with deer, bear, wolves or other game hunters love to kill for the hell of it. I have often thought that if hunting is to be classified as sport, animals would be armed with equally high-caliber rifles with telescopic sights and trained to return the fire when attacked.

● I support the NRA in its other causes. I believe the 200-year-old tradition of private ownership of guns should be maintained, whether or not such ownership is guaranteed by the US Constitution. I have owned guns for decades. I have never used a gun to destroy any animal. The only creatures I kill are mice, rattlesnakes, cockroaches and assorted pests when they menace my health, and/or my life. These guns are not registered nor will they ever be, no matter what the law may say. Congress recently outlawed the ownership of assault rifles and handguns as not necessary for killing animals for sport. That is another foot in the door.

● The next step by congress will be to require all guns of whatever type to be registered. They (congress) need to know the names and addresses of all Americans who possess guns of any type. Congress is using as excuse for gun control the fiction that if gun ownership is reduced, crime will be reduced. That is as false as it is ridiculous. Example: Washington, DC banned guns 14 years ago. Since then, murders in Washington, DC have increased by 121 percent. DC is now known as the murder capital of the US. By contrast, a town in council in Georgia has an ordinance requiring every home to have a gun. Crime there has decreased dramatically. Guns, like whiskey, can be made at home. Which is why prohibition failed and why gun control will fail. I personally witnessed the manufacture of handguns by a high school manual training class in California. These guns were crude, made of ordinary pipe. Standard ammunition was used. They were crude but effective.

● Let us assume that all guns disappeared. There are other lethal weapons that cannot be controlled or eliminated. To commit a crime a criminal only needs a knife or sharp implement, a blunt instrument like a baseball bat, a dose of cyanide, a broken beer bottle, or a pair of strong hands. When a person decides to kill another person, he will use one of the many methods available—including throwing a victim out of a 20-story window. Now about some statistics on the number of people who are killed by guns as opposed to the number killed by other means?

● My guns will not be used to kill animals. They will be used to kill people. First, those people who invade my home with criminal intent and threaten my life and property. Ten years ago in this column I wrote:

● "In Chicago, in each of the last 40 years, more thugs have been cancelled out by armed shop and home defenders than by police. Out of 951 cases studied, armed civilians, 545 of whom used handguns, faced 1,504 thugs and four gangs. Of this number, the armed civilians routed 483, including the gangs; wounded 278, captured 699, and killed 244. If you're counting, this adds up to more than 1,504, but that's because some of the categories overlap. Instead of depriving the civilian population of guns, perhaps we should consider taking guns away from the police and giving them to civilians—who seem to have a better record of using them in the public interest, at least in Chicago."

● Government forces are no longer capable of protecting the lives and property of its citizens. Several years ago the Chief Justice of the United States was awakened late at night by reporters banging on his door. He answered the door in his pajamas—with pistol in hand. He, like millions of other Americans, can no longer depend on law enforcement officers to protect them, their property and their families.

● If I kill in self-defense, I will make sure that my bullet actually kills. No wounding. Unless the criminal is dead he will have me in court for the next 10 years trying to prove to the court that he was lost at the time and didn't know what he was doing, or that he was forced to steal in order to support an ailing grandmother, or that he was mentally retarded, or that he had been an abused child and the whole thing was society's fault. In such a case, a well aimed bullet between his horns would be a blessing to him, to me, and to society.

● Secondly, civilians may one day need guns to protect themselves from the tyranny of government. Our government constantly intrudes upon our constitutional rights. We no longer can hire whom we please, pay them what is agreeable between the parties, negotiate working hours; we must pay for unemployment compensation and insurance, finance daycare centers, abide by affirmative action and racial quotas in hiring, use public lands bought with our money, not call people by any name they term offensive, give our tax money to finance obscene "art," manage and propagandize our children through public schools; government keeps dossiers on its citizens through the IRS, compels

A.C.L.U. SUCCESSFULLY SUED BY POLICE OFFICER

You probably have not seen it featured—or even mentioned—in the liberal-dominated Big Media. But it is surely news that the American Civil Liberties Union has finally... and successfully... been sued.

The circumstances of the case reveal absolutely massive hypocrisy within the ranks of this bizarre and litigious band of extremists.

Newport Beach, California, police officer Richard Long in 1980 attended in plain clothes what had been announced as an open public conference. When ACLU lawyer Rees Lloyd spied Long taking notes, Lloyd began harrassing Officer Long, as "a spy." Lloyd also threatened to slap the officer, who he subsequently ordered ejected from what the ACLU had announced would be an open meeting.

Seven years later, a jury awarded Officer Long $46,000 in damages—which award was upheld by the California Supreme Court. The ACLU settled out of court for $35,000.

Long's lawsuit charged that his civil rights were violated when he was denied access to a public conference because of his employment.

This epochal case ought to be pondered carefully by the many US government agencies that have adopted policies that require all personnel, when they discover a telephoner is with the media, to transfer the call to the press office and decline to talk, as they do with ordinary citizens.

The Washington National Cathedral of the Episcopal Church has, on two occasions, had its uniformed police eject a non-violent, peaceful but inquiring reporter from the Cathedral grounds—in one case because they wanted to exclude him from a news conference for Soviet clergy—this in a tax-exempt building which is billed as "A House of Prayer For All People."

Teenagers on the loose

'Partying' spot is nightmare for south of town resident

Carrizozo librarian Julia Hollis loves kids.

For 16 years she has worked in the Carrizozo Schools and has come to know most of the kids in the small town.

She and her husband live south of the town on a deadend road. A road which has become the favorite "party spot" for local teenagers and young adults.

"We're very, very concerned about these kids," Hollis said. "We care about the kids and their families."

Why is Hollis concerned? The party spot usually includes the consumption of alcohol by the underage kids. Most, if not all, of whom Hollis has seen grow up in the local school.

The parties sometime last until 3 or 4 a.m. "I wish the parents could hear what their kids are saying and doing," she added.

Not only do the kids shout and make a lot of noise with loud music, but recently someone shot the family dog, which was within his own property lines.

It was a windy night, Hollis said. The partying kids had left the end of the road, but some returned later. Although she did not hear the gunshot, she found the bleeding dog at the house in the morning. He was taken to a veterinarian in Ruidoso where he was given a chance to recover.

Hollis called her neighbors to see if the dog was bothering anything on their properties and found none knew of the situation. Which led Hollis to believe it was one of the parties who shot the dog. Large tennis shoe prints were found in the soft ground of the pasture the next morning, and a pool of blood where the dog was actually wounded.

She called the sheriff's office and a deputy responded a day later.

The dog shooting was not the first time a gun was involved in the partying. Hollis has heard gun shots before.

When Hollis approached some parents of kids she knew definitely were partying there, the parents denied the situation, then said they knew their kids were going to party and would rather know where their children were.

"I can't believe the parents don't care," she said.

Hollis not only files away library books, but often listens to kids who have problems. Depression is something she notices among adolescents, yet they choose to use the strongest depressant known to man—alcohol. And she thinks the problem is getting worse.

Kids see adults in position of authority with drinking problems and this becomes a key factor in using alcohol. "What they see is what they do."

"The problem here has gone mostly to alcohol," she added.

And she believes the alcohol is supplied to local teenagers by a young adult—Danny Morales. Although several kids were picked up after a recent party, Morales was released quickly, she said.

On prom night, it sounded like all of Carrizozo was at a big party there.

And when Hollis called the sheriff's office no response was made about the partying situation until she talked to Sheriff James McSwane about problems with his dispatch.

Now assured the problem was corrected, Hollis said she plans to call for a deputy any time the kids come out to the party spot.

"If one parent will say 'where is my child at 4 a.m. and what is he doing' or one kid will say 'I'm not going to party (where they get raving drunk and puking)' then Hollis feels she will have accomplished something.

"I don't think the kids are bad. I don't dislike them or their parents. I just see something very bad is going to happen if changes aren't made."

Hollis feels people are waking up to the need of a moral turnaround in this country. "Or we're going to go down the tubes."

By reading history she has learned all great civilizations crumbled from within from lack of values.

For the immediate future, Hollis worries for the safety of the kids who are partying. Fast driving and guns, mixed with alcohol, make her fear something bad will happen.

"It's only a matter of time."

What's a 'new world order'?

EDITOR—What do you know about a "one world order," sometimes called a "new world order?"

If your answer is, "nothing," or, "next to nothing," join the club. You are probably in the mainstream of American political thought. Whatever it is, they just don't say.

One observer says that President Bush has used the term seven times in his speeches since he was elected. Mikhail Gorbachev has used the term six times according to the same report. You would think that the news media would clarify the term, but they don't.

Other presidents have mentioned it publicly; Richard Nixon talked about it; Lyndon Johnson, and others. An older generation will recall Adolph Hitler spoke frequently of a "new order." The whole world under socialism has been a socialist dream for over a century.

There are those who believe that President Bush, Mikhail Gorbachev, Nixon, Johnson, and the late Adolph Hitler were all talking about the same thing; one world under socialist rule.

If President Bush does not mean a one world government when he talks of a "new world order," then perhaps he should say so. Perhaps he should explain. After all, he swore an oath "to preserve and protect" the Constitution, not to replace it with a one world government.

wage earners to contribute to Social Security whether they like it or not, tells us where to throw the garbage, what we can put in our food, what we can smoke; and up our taxes at will. At this moment, government had decreed that we must work from January to May just to pay our annual taxes. We took our privately owned guns to a tyrannical government more than 200 years ago. Without those guns there would have been no United States of America. That time may be approaching once again.

● I was aware of this 20 years ago when I wrote in this column: "When President Salvador Allende of Chile was deposed by a military junta the first order of business for the new government was imposition of military law. The second order of business was to forbid the civilian population to have guns. This is the standard procedure for maintaining dictatorial, tyrannical power over the people. For good reason. Guns in the hands of a free people is the best insurance against sudden and unpopular seizure of governmental powers. Always, the first act of a despot is—disarm the people. This country is moving, as it has been for years, toward a dictatorial form of government. This movement has been coincident with mounting pressure for laws to prohibit ownership of guns by civilians, or laws to severely restrict their ownership and use . . . any government that disarms its citizens is a government that knows it is headed toward acts that will outrage the people and inspire them to defend themselves."

● I have a sneaky suspicion that NRA feels the same way I do about civilian ownership of guns. That "sporting" tome conceals the real necessity for private guns ownership—our ultimate means of restoring republican government and the freedom of its people. So good luck to the NRA.

The Village of Capitan received $370,000 for sewer system improvements. Mayor Frank Warth and Dr. Bernice Reimann attended the CDBG hearing last Wednesday. Dr. Reimann worked on the study for a wetlands project to deal with the village's sewage. Engineer Roy Miller with the Southeastern New Mexico Development District, who worked on a similar project for Tatum, helped the village write the proposal. The village ranked sixth high in the CDBG listing. The village's original request was for $400,000. Ruidoso Downs was awarded $132,500 for a senior citizens center. The project also ranked in the high portion of the list.

Lincoln County requested $234,932 for a Service Center Improvements to remodel the old Carrizozo Town Hall. The county received no funds.

Carrizozo school gets high marks

tive expenditures for 1989-90 were revised to allow for an extra $10,000. With this figure, the budget committee referred to a list of priorities in case such a situation arose. Suggested by that committee was to add a step to all salary levels. As a result the two administrators will receive a $1000 increase, and the rest went to all other personnel.

Another increase reflected in the budget and questioned by SDE members at the hearing was in the 700 series for non-instructional student support—other athletic expense. Burnett explained the funds were to replace outdated football helmets.

"I think the patrons want football to continue," Burnett said. To do so, the helmets must be replaced.

Campbell later questioned the $118 per student spent on athletics as compared to the $20 per student on all other expenses. "That's a lot of money in a tight budget year," she said.

Burnett qualified the expenditure, which has been cut back to the "basics," because the school has as many athletic participants as larger schools. When dividing the costs with the small budget as compared to the large school budget, it looks out of balance, Burnett said. Yet, uniforms cost the same amount, he added.

"It's still higher for districts your size," Campbell said.

Carrizozo board member Hoot Gibson supported the athletics because the grade point average (GPA) of athletes is higher than non-athletes.

Campbell favored high GPAs, which indicates the incentives of athletics pay off, but encouraged the board to look at student council, debate, speech and judging and other such programs.

"I hate to see it get too out of balance," Campbell urged. Campbell sympathized as she grew up in a small community and realized sports was the "heart of the community."

She also requested the school become aware of and create steps to address fine arts and music competencies and PE for grades K-8.

New programs such as Restructuring and Relearning and 20th Century Education according to New Mexico Senate Bill 34 were mentioned.

Burnett said the school is interested in the aspects of the programs and will consider studying Restructuring. The longer day, a part of the 20th Century Plan, was not possible for Carrizozo Schools because of the long transportation required for some students.

Burnett said he'll pursue the longer year to provide curriculum development and in-service time for staff to upgrade skills.

Rounds presented the budget/resource review and said he had to dig for as many dollars for teachers' salaries. He was happy to see a few additional dollars for salary but said it was not the only thing to retain good teachers. Environment was an important way to retain good teachers and he commended the board for its leadership role.

He also commented the school for the budget committee's work on a priority list for additional funds. The list gave the reviewers a "clear and precise direction" for using the extra money.

He continued to commend the school for summer programs for students at risk, the summer library and weight lifting programs, full-day kindergarten four days a week, with no extra funds to finance this.

Particularly "neat" were the number of scholarship and community support.

"The message you give kids is worth something," he said.

He credited good CTBS scores, passage of the High School Competence Exams and high scores in English, math and science. He worried about scores in reading, which trailed off from the other high scores.

Counselor Gerald Montes said he hopes to address the problem, which he attributed to no high school level programs to help students attain better reading skills. He also thought some problems originated with questions on the test.

Burnett said the school has not given a student a certificate of attendance (rather than diploma because of failure on competency exams) in three years.

"It speaks well for the district," Rounds said.

It is an advantage that small districts appreciate, he added. He wished large districts like Santa Fe, Las Cruces and Albuquerque could enjoy the same phenomena.

Small schools have a unique advantage because boards know every teacher and staff member.

"I believe in small schools," Rounds said.

As for enrollment, Rounds questioned how secure the projection for next year is.

Burnett looked at a 12-year increase-decrease trend in such things as post office box rentals, utilities, talks with people, the chamber of commerce, and put the parts together to come up with a "crystal ball estimate."

Rounds also questioned whether enough of an increase for cafeteria was budgeted and wondered why more students were not enrolled in the reduced free lunch program.

Burnett said a lot of people meet the criteria but are too proud to participate, rather pay on their own. "It's sort of sad, but heart warming." Because of this lunch prices will not increase.

Rounds considered it a wise decision and wondered if the US, as a whole, had an attitude as the people in Carrizozo it would be interesting how the system would be.

When discussion returned to the value of small schools, but the declining economy of small towns, Gibson said the state is not interested in putting money where there is good lifestyle. Rather someday all will "wake up and the only thing in New Mexico will be up and down the river."

Rounds agreed the state needs to take affirmative steps to entice business into the small communities. "It's unfortunate in New Mexico to have an economy which is main lined on the Rio Grande when the best resources are out of that geographical area."

Ferguson then urged the legislative finance committee be told consolidation of small schools will not work, something which he will be "ready to fight."

"Small schools do a good job," Ferguson said.

Rounds then said cooperative agreement between small districts makes more economic sense than "cut and dry consolidation."

Gaines recommended a study to determine how much kids spend educating themselves in small districts as opposed to larger districts. He predicted kids in small districts spend and earn more for themselves on a percentage basis than the larger schools.

Ferguson said many thousands have been raised outside of athletics and FFA. Rural districts take care to support programs out of pocket to support what happens to their kids," Rounds concluded.

All SDE members are products of rural small schools and communities and empathized with all the comments made about keeping the "lifeblood" flowing to the small towns.

They commended the school for the good work on the budget and thanked staff for another nice day in Carrizozo.

The proposed budget will be finalized in September.

A NEW KIND OF DRUG, HUGGING

I am frequently asked the question, "Why do so many people use drugs?" I can't really answer this question. I can speculate on why some use drugs.

1.) They feel that they are misunderstood and can't cope.

2.) Nobody listens to them.

3.) Nobody cares about them.

I have a new kind of drug I would like you to try. —"Hugging." Try it just once. You may become addicted. HUGGING IS HEALTHY: It helps the body's immune system; it keeps you healthier; it cures depression; it reduces stress; it induces sleep; it's invigorating; it has no unpleasant side effects. Hugging is nothing less than a miracle drug.

HUGGING IS NATURAL: It is organic and naturally sweet; it has no pesticides, no preservatives, and no artificial ingredients. It is 100 percent wholesome.

HUGGING IS PRACTICALLY PERFECT: There are no moveable parts; no batteries to wear out and no periodic checkup; is low in energy consumption, high in energy yield; and it is inflation-proof and non-fattening. Finally, it is theft-proof, non-taxable, non-polluting, and, of course, fully returnable.

A country where we profess to do a lot of things, and "do as I did not as I do."

He related to another country in history which suffered the same problems—Rome.

"It disintegrated from within."

He predicted the US would suffer the same result if moral integrity is not restored.

"As a soldier, that will be the biggest domestic internal enemy."

Before Spencer, District Judge Richard Parsons spoke about a flame which cannot be destroyed—the desire for freedom which the revolutionist Paul Revere rode about. He also spoke on his dislike of the recent Supreme Court decision that flag burning is not a violation of the Constitution, rather freedom of expression. "When I see a flag go up in flames I feel sorry for those who burned it," he said.

He then related a scene from the book A Man Without A Country. "This is my own, my native land, remember them."

Also Monday, politicians spoke after deputy county treasurer Janice Ware read a list of Lincoln County residents and former residents who died in 1989 and the first part of 1990.

Veterans present also were noted. The day began with a pancake breakfast, a parade through Carrizozo and lunch at McDonald Park.

CARRIZOZO MUNICIPAL SCHOOLS REPORT CARD TO THE PUBLIC 1989-90

MISSION AND GOALS OF THE BOARD

The primary purpose of schools in New Mexico is to educate all students. All other purposes are in support of this. Schools, therefore, are responsible for students acquiring learning skills and knowledge, and for acquiring and displaying desirable personal qualities and values.

The primary purpose of public schools is to provide an educational environment which provides strong basic skills as well as encourages creative and experimental activities.

The school believes that all children have equal moral, social, and educational worth.

There are numerous differences which exist among children, and all children should have the opportunity to cultivate their native capacities and become effective, contributing members of our democratic society without discrimination with regard to race, national origin, religion, sex or handicap.

The school believes that an excellent academic program can coexist with an excellent athletic and activities program. However, the academic program shall be the main emphasis of the efforts put forth by the school.

Constant communication between the public schools and the community is imperative. The schools must provide services and programs which have been identified by the community as important and which will provide the community with informed, self-reliant and self-maintaining individuals.

The schools are responsible for educating children with regard to becoming productive, contributing members of society and to provide them with skills which will allow them to deal with daily life and an ever changing society.

The schools provide instruction with regard to developing an understanding of democracy and the responsibility of citizenship, emphasizing interest and participation in community, state and national affairs.

The school promotes and fosters good citizenship, moral and ethical values, good physical and mental health, conservation, problem solving, wise use of leisure time, good work and study habits, respect for others and for property, and honesty.

The Carrizozo Municipal Schools has a fair but firm disciplinary policy to govern students, void of arbitrary and capricious standards which would establish double standards. Students should be treated with rights and responsibilities so as to start building a strong foundation for exercising rights and responsibilities.

The total educational experience should include, along with the academic curriculum, instruction that would promote the qualities of loyalty, sensitivity, dependability, drive, sincerity, trustworthiness, integrity and self-discipline.

The Carrizozo Board of Education publicly acknowledges the fact that it lies neither within its responsibility nor within its ability to substitute for or supplant the guidance and love of the student's family. The Board does readily accept the responsibility to provide students with experiences designed to lead them progressively into gaining the knowledge, skills, and attitudes which will enable them to live happy and successful lives.

In assuming this responsibility, the Board believes that the basic commitment of the Carrizozo Municipal Schools should be to develop within each student an awareness of his worth as an individual and to provide each student with a sound educational basis for achieving his/her full human potential.

Respect and reverence for the uniqueness of every individual shall be the hallmark of the educational environment.

BOARD OF EDUCATION GOALS FOR 1990-91

1. Expand communication with the community.
2. Continue to improve the campus.
3. Establish a chain of command to be followed when administrators are not on campus.
4. Implement a Hazardous Condition Reporting Mechanism.
5. Establish a reward system for excellent employees.
6. Continue to improve education.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF MEETING AND SALE CARRIZOZO MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 7 COUNTIES OF LINCOLN AND SOCORRO, NEW MEXICO GENERAL OBLIGATION SCHOOL BUILDING BONDS SERIES JULY 15, 1990

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Education of Carrizozo Municipal School District No. 7, Counties of Lincoln and Socorro, New Mexico (the "Board" and the "District," respectively) will receive and review sealed bids for the purchase of the District General Obligation School Building Bonds, in the aggregate principal amount of $540,000 at the Administration Building, Carrizozo, New Mexico, on June 14, 1990, at 11:00 a.m., prevailing Mountain Time. At a regular meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m., the Board will publicly discuss and consider such other matters as may properly come before such Board, provided, however, that a satisfactory price be obtained for the bonds.

DESCRIPTION OF BONDS table with columns: Years Maturing, Principal Amounts. Rows: 1992 ($35,000), 1993 ($35,000), 1994 ($40,000), 1995 ($40,000), 1996 ($45,000), 1997 ($45,000), 1998 ($50,000), 1999 ($50,000), 2000 ($55,000), 2001 ($55,000), 2002 ($70,000)

Both principal and interest on the bonds will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America, and the principal of each bond will be payable at the principal office of the paying agent/registrars to be selected by the Board. The interest on each bond shall be payable by check or draft mailed to the respective registered owners thereof at the address as it appears on the registration books of said paying agent/registrars or any successor paying agent/registrars, or by such other customary banking arrangements acceptable to the paying agent/registrars and the person to whom interest is to be paid; provided, however, that such person shall bear all risk and expense of such other customary banking arrangements. Said issue constitutes a portion of the bonds which were authorized at the election held on April 3, 1990 and are for the purpose of erecting, remodeling, making additions to and furnishing school buildings or purchasing or improving school grounds, or any combination of these purposes, and will constitute general obligation bonds of the District, payable from general taxes which may be levied without limitation as to rate or amount.

REDEMPTION The Bonds are not subject to redemption prior to maturity.

QUALIFIED TAX EXEMPT OBLIGATIONS The District intends to designate the bonds as "QUALIFIED TAX EXEMPT OBLIGATIONS" for purposes of Section 2685 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). Section 2685 of the Code permits the designation of governmental bonds such as these bonds as qualified tax exempt obligations, based upon certain representations made hereinbelow:

(a) The bonds are not private activity bonds; (b) The District does not reasonably expect to issue qualified tax exempt obligations in an aggregate principal amount exceeding $10,000,000.00 during calendar year 1990; and (c) The District will not designate more than $10,000,000.00 in aggregate principal amount of qualified tax exempt bonds during calendar year 1990.

INTEREST RATE Interest on said bonds will be payable on July 15, 1991, and semi-annually thereafter on January 15 and July 15 in each year until maturity.

The maximum net effective interest rate permitted on said bonds is twelve percent (12%); provided, however, that if the net effective interest rate on such bonds is greater than ten percent (10%) per annum (based on the actual price to be paid to the District for said bonds, calculated to maturity according to the standard tables of bond values), such rate must be approved in writing by the New Mexico State Board of Finance, and the District may not issue the bonds before such approval is given. It is permissible to bid different or split rates of interest; provided, however, that: (1) no bid shall specify more than one interest rate for each maturity; (2) the maximum interest rate is twelve percent (12%) per annum; (3) each interest rate specified must be stated in a multiple of one-eighth (1/8) or one-twentieth (1/20) of one percent (1%) per annum; and (4) the maximum interest rate specified may exceed the minimum interest rate specified by no more than two percent (2%).

BIDS Bidders are required to submit a bid specifying (a) the lowest rate or rates of interest and premium, if any, at which such bidder will purchase such bonds. For informational purposes only, each bidder is requested to specify (b) the total net interest cost to the District in dollars and cents and (c) the net effective interest rate in a stated percentage. Proposals should be enclosed in a sealed envelope endorsed "Bid for General Obligation School Building Bonds of Carrizozo Municipal School District No. 7, Counties of Lincoln and Socorro, New Mexico," addressed as follows: Carrizozo Municipal School District No. 7, Administrative Office, Post Office Box 99, Carrizozo, New Mexico 88801, Attention: Secretary, Board of Education. Only unconditional bids shall be considered. Bids should be submitted on the official bid form which may be obtained from the District's financial consultant (see "INFORMATION" which appears hereafter).

BASIS OF AWARD Said bonds will be awarded to the best bidder considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any, and subject to the right of the Board to reject any and all bids and re-advertise. The best bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid, if any, from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of the bonds to the respective maturity dates at the rate or rates specified in the proposal, and said bonds will be awarded on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the District. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The bonds will not be sold for less than par plus accrued interest. The District reserves the privilege of waiving any irregularity or informality in any bid.

GOOD FAITH DEPOSIT

All bids shall be sealed and, except the bid of the State of New Mexico, if one is received, shall be accompanied by a good faith deposit of not less than $10,800 (i.e., two percent (2%) of the principal amount of the bonds) in cash or by cashier's or treasurer's check, or by certified check drawn on a solvent commercial bank or trust company in the United States of America and payable to "Carrizozo Municipal School District No. 7. Such good faith check shall be returned if the bid is not accepted. If the successful bidder shall fail or neglect to complete the purchase of said bonds within forty-five (45) days following the acceptance of the bid or within ten (10) days after the bonds are offered for delivery, whichever is later, the amount of the deposit shall be forfeited to the District as liquidated damages and, in that event, the Board may accept the bid of the one making the next best bid. If all bids are rejected, the Board shall re-advertise said bonds for sale in the same manner as herein provided for the original advertisement. If there be two or more equal bids and such bids are the best bids received and for not less than par and accrued interest, the Board shall determine which bid shall be accepted.

TIME OF AWARD AND DELIVERY The Board will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of the bids. Delivery of the bonds will be made to the successful bidder at some bank or trust company in Albuquerque, New Mexico, or elsewhere at its request and at its expense, within 60 days of the acceptance of the bid. If for any reason delivery cannot be made within 60 days, the successful bidder shall have the right to purchase said bonds during the succeeding 30 days upon the same terms, or at the request of the successful bidder, during said succeeding 90 days, the good faith deposit will be returned and such bidder shall be relieved of any further obligation. The successful bidder shall make final payment for said bonds with the Federal Reserve Funds or other funds acceptable to the District for immediate and unconditional credit to the District for immediate and unconditional credit to the account of the District. It is anticipated that the delivery of the bonds will be on or about July 19, 1990.

INFORMATION Information concerning the bond, including the District's Official Statement may be obtained from the District's Financial Consultant, Rilee and Associates, Suite 1200, First Interstate Bank Building, 320 Gold Avenue, SW, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87102, (505) 243-1784. The Official Statement is deemed final by the District for purposes of SEC Rule 15c2-12(b)(1) (15 CFR § 240.15c2-12(b)(1)) except for the omission of the following information: the offering price(s), interest rate(s), selling compensation, aggregate principal amount, principal amount per maturity, delivery dates, any other terms or provisions required by an issuer of such securities to be specified in a competitive bid, ratings, other terms of the securities depending on such matters, and the identity of the underwriter(s).

TRANSCRIPT, PRINTED BONDS AND LEGAL OPINIONS The written approval of the New Mexico Attorney General of said bonds as to form and legality will be supplied. The legality of the bonds, in addition, will be approved by Simons, Cuddy & Friedman, Attorneys at Law, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503 ("Bond Counsel"), whose opinion will state in substance that the issue of the bonds in the amount aforesaid is valid and legally binding upon the District, that all of the taxable property in the District is subject to the levy of a tax to pay the same without limitation of rate or amount, that interest on the bonds is excludable from gross income for purposes of federal income tax, and that the District has properly designated such bonds as "Qualified Tax Exempt Obligations." The successful bidder (without cost to such bidder) will also be furnished with the printed bonds (with the opinion of Bond Counsel printed thereon), and a complete transcript of the legal proceedings, including a no-litigation certificate which will state that no litigation is pending to the knowledge of the signer or signers thereof as of the date of the delivery of the bonds affecting their validity or the levy or collection of such taxes for their payment.

CUSIP NUMBERS CUSIP identification numbers may be typed or printed on the bonds, but neither the failure to provide such number on any bond nor any error with respect thereto will constitute cause for failure or refusal by the purchaser thereof to accept delivery of and to pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms hereof. All expenses in relation to the CUSIP Service charge for the assignment of said numbers will be the responsibility of and will be paid for by the purchaser.

Dated at Carrizozo, New Mexico, this 15th day of May, 1990.

some employees. He said the major reason was Goodloe's wise investment of county money, with yields of several thousands in the last two years. He also complimented Sheriff James McSwane for saving the county money on the in-house jail remodeling job.

Former excessive county attorney fees were cut by reducing the number of attorneys working for the county to one. Capital outlay and additional personnel requests were kept to a minimum last year also. All which added to a savings for the county.

All county officials were so prudent, costs were kept down, Pappas continued.

The excellent cooperation of all elected officials helped the county adjust the salaries even with less revenue expected this year.

"It is a major step in stabilizing the budget for years to come," Pappas said.

Simpson commended all department heads, who expressed their satisfaction with the budget.

Another action taken at the budget hearing was to approve the resolution to accept the state road department cost sharing programs.

For the county Arterial

Program (CAP) the state will provide $151,159 for the Cora Dutton Road. The co-op program to improve the Alamo Canyon Road will be funded $102,280 and $52,583 will go toward the school bus project to improve Schlarb Road in the Carrizozo area.

Pappas said the state's share of the co-op and school bus route project funds were scaled down from the original county requests.

An imminent legal matter was discussed in a closed session for litigation at the end of the hearing.

Commissioner Karon Petty was absent from the budget hearing.

The entrepreneurial economy will replace the old reliance of traditional labor force. To create this economy will require innovative ideas which rely on research and education at all levels.

The language of economic development as the role of officials have changed. The entrepreneurial government has blurred the lines of public and private and focuses on what has to be done, he said.

Demographic changes also will affect the future. Aging of traditional populations will lead to larger groups of young minorities.

"The complex of American society is changing fast," he said about the increase of Hispanic and black populations by 2000. New Mexico is already near 40 percent in Hispanic population.

With the population becoming older and more people reaching retirement comes the implication that those will be unwilling to spend so much for education and a refusal to invest in the future.

The dynamics will be intergenerational and intercultural.

To avoid problems with an undereducated work force in the future, communities must look toward providing the education of skills needed.

The future also will be an era of local action, which is not partisan, but pragmatic. The federal government will not be a major player in solving problems, he said. Reliance on federal dollars for housing, transportation and other programs must end. Rather an era of self-reliance must begin.

"Self-reliant Lincoln County, or suffer the consequences," Cisneros challenged.

It will require personal involvement and concern, vision with a sense of purpose and creative investment attitudes.

"Communities can be masters of their own destinies," he said.

He challenged communities to get together and talk, for all within to put good ideas together and "leave your skepticism at the door." "Talk positive and respect ideas. . . only that way will good ideas get a fair hearing," he said.

After giving specifics on economic development which included historic preservation, Cisneros concluded his talk by reciting Cuban poet, then translating it as two types of people: "those who love and build and those who hate and destroy."

The seminar was held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. Carrizozo Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel and Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso also attended and were seated with the guest of honor.

CORRECTION

A correction to last week's White Oak Haunts, which stated the money from the auction held before the August Pony Express race will go to the Bud Crenshaw Cowboy Chapel. The Pony Express Auction proceeds will go to the race itself only. Another auction is scheduled at a later date to raise money for the chapel.
