

Commissioners firm on quitting waste control

Lincoln County Commissioners held firm to their decision to quit the garbage collection, despite a group of county residents who wanted it to continue.

Monday at the regular commission meeting a group of people from various communities requested the county continue the collection business, even if residents have to pay for it. They wanted the present commission of Rick Simpson, Bob Hemphill and Karon Petty, all lame ducks, to hold off until the new commission takes office.

But Hemphill, who resided from San Patricio learned Mike Randle that trash is being illegally dumped in Devil's Canyon and other places, said the present system doesn't work. From now until Sept. 7 the county provides free dumpsters in several locations throughout the county, mostly in the Hondo Valley and Alto areas.

Hemphill advocated finding some solution which all county residents will support.

Joe Baker, who runs Alto Alpa Store, suggested keeping the dumpsters and billing county residents on electricity for wells. He said the situation already is "out of hand" with trash along the sides of the roads. He predicted tourists will not go out to Ft. Stanton to dump their trash.

Commissioners Petty and Hemphill, at the July 23 meeting, decided to end its involvement with the collection business and directed a compactor station be installed at the Ft. Stanton landfill site. The compactor will be the only location for county residents to take trash and a fee will be charged.

The decision gave commissioners a way to access the cost of collection, which had been a point of discussion for several months.

Monday, Hemphill wanted to find some way to impress upon county residents disposal is their responsibility. "Granted it's nice (the free service)," he said.

He then read the state statutes which require the county to provide a means of disposal. Which he described as the compactor to be installed at Ft. Stanton Mesa.

Randle insisted the dumpsters do work, but if they are taken away, "nobody but a few diehards will haul to Ft. Stanton."

He then suggested bringing back the green dumpsters the county used before it contracted with Southwest Disposal Corporation (SDC).

Hemphill said there are alternatives, listing at least two commercial businesses now in collections in the county.

Randle wanted to know what happens to taxpayers' money after the collection service is discontinued.

Petty said the county solid waste budget with the green box system, which consisted of 13 boxes and one extra box which was taken empty to a full box, exchanged and the full box taken to the landfill at Ft. Stanton by a county employee in a county-owned truck and trailer, was only $16,000. The system worked when the county had a land-

VOL. 85, NUMBER 32 ☆ THURS., AUGUST 16, 1990 ☆ CARRIZOZO, N.M. 88301 ☆ ESTABLISHED 1905

CONGRESSMAN JOE SKEEN addresses a group of worried Tinnie area residents regarding the emergency suspension of their post office, closed in July after an investigation of postal violations. Skeen was in Carrizozo Tuesday evening to conduct a question and answer district town meeting. Foreign aid, grazing lands, fuel prices, wildness bill, endangered species, the environment and payment to White Sands ranchers were other topics of discussion at the hour-long get-together with constituents, some pleased and some disgruntled.

EPA, Town concur with cleanup options

An abandoned gold mill in Carrizozo will be cleaned up to ensure the town's pristine water supply stays that way, announced federal, state and town officials. The federal Superfund program will clean up cyanide contamination of ground water caused by the bankrupt mining company.

The US Environmental Protection Agency explained the remedy to the community in a public meeting in Carrizozo last week. Of six options considered, EPA chose to pump contaminated ground water from beneath the facility and discharge it into the Carrizozo sewage treatment system. Representatives of the state Environmental Improvement Division, the state Bureau of Mines, and town officials concurred with this option.

Paul Seminski, project manager with EPA's Region VI office in Dallas, said the discharge to the sewer sys-

Capitan trustees unhappy with landfill changes

Capitan's Class C landfill got off to a slow start.

Village trustees learned the landfill made only $354 in its first week of taking construction and other bulky, non-household trash at their meeting Monday, Aug. 13.

And already a trail of trash is evident along the routes traveled to the landfill.

Trustees Gilbert Montoya requested enforcement of any laws concerning the securing of loads on vehicles.

"I knew it would happen," he said in reference to the trash on the roads.

Capitan Police Chief Randy Spears said by law trash has to be secured, if any trash comes loose from a vehicle it must then be tarped or tied on.

"If you lose any I'll write you," he said.

Trustee LeRoy Montes

said a problem of enforcement is the three different law jurisdictions—town, county and state, and coordinating who is to enforce laws about trash hauling. He considered the securing of trash on a vehicle the individual's responsibility.

Mayor Warth said he would request the sheriff's office and New Mexico State Police enforce the hauling laws.

"Now, let's talk about rates," Warth continued.

He sought to find the ideal rate to maximize profit but minimize dumping in arroyos.

Commercial hauling fee was set at $7 per yard, but Warth passed around a list of rates proposed. The proposal was to have vehicles up to eight feet at $10, 8-12 feet $20, 12-16 feet $40 and over 16 feet $40 plus $1 a foot.

Montes had considered the initial rate of $7 a yard too low for commercial hauling, but thought the rates for construction and bulky trash from individuals sufficient.

Montoya, however, thought the rate of $40 too high, and thought most contractors also would think the rate too high.

Village employee Dan Davenport said the fairest charge was the $7 per yard, for all who use the landfill.

Montoya agreed because the landfill monitor Ron Montes does not know who is commercial hauler and who isn't, and the $7 fee is the fairest way to charge.

"I'm just trying to pay back the county," Warth said.

Refuse to attend training

Firemen protest cut in 'entertainment' funds

A group of upset Carrizozo volunteer firefighters showed up at Carrizozo town meeting Tuesday night to protest the decision to give them less than they requested to attend fire school.

Fire Chief Albert Najar said the report in the Lincoln County News made them "look pretty bad," and that some of the guys who planned to attend the hazardous materials classes were denied that chance by the decision of the mayor and clerk. Because they were unable to attend the haz mat classes, they will lose federal funds.

Clerk Carol Schlarb said the firefighters were not denied any kind of training, rather they made the decision not to go. She also clarified the report in the NEWS was the editor's opinion, not a news report. She advised the men to write to the editor about the opinion.

Trustee Harold Garcia was steeled the firefighters came to the meeting. They arrived about 30 minutes after the meeting, which had only two items on the agenda, Najar said.

Garcia wanted the per diem requirements explained, as he thought the school, which lasted five days, but had registration the Sunday before classes started, should have been considered six days. Registration was at 1 p.m. Sunday, Socorro is about 70 miles from Carrizozo.

Schlarb explained the amount of per diem allowed by the state for municipalities is $65 for a 24-hour period. Mileage is 21 cents a mile, to be paid after they return. At five days for four men, she figured the total to be about $1330, which was $30 less than what she and Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel allowed.

Firefighter John Jiron said they wanted to leave Saturday so they could be in Socorro early enough Sunday to register for classes they needed, since the classes fill quickly.

Schlarb said she and the mayor requested an agenda for the school from the fire marshal's office, since the firemen never submitted anything with their request for $1860. If the fire chief had followed correct procedures, the situation would not have happened.

Garcia explained the situation arose over questions by the board of what classes the firefighters had taken previously, and whether they were just repeating the same classes.

Also, there was no justification for the mayor for the request of funds for six days for a five-day conference, he added.

"I can't speak for that in the paper (Ernest Joiner's OPINION column), but I know how you guys feel like," Garcia said.

Mayor Kuhnel said the agenda for the school, as sent from the fire marshal's office, also needs to show the times to help determine how much is needed for the men.

Trustee Patsy Vallejos told the men to submit a brochure next time, so the council has something to say on.

Najar went on to go they were never questioned in the past, they just put in the requisition and got paid.

"You have to realize we have a new administration," Schlarb said.

Najar felt the firemen deserved an explanation of the situation because they were not planning to be "eating steak dinners" as stated in OPINION. He wanted the NEWS to "clear the air."

Trustee Dale LaMay said the news opinion made the department look bad, and the fire department did not have "its hand in the cookie jar."

Hondo Schools begin four-day schedule

This year at Hondo Valley Public Schools new courses offerings prevail as teachers and staff prepare for the new year. Excellent planning and an excellent staff are what it is all about, according to Supt. Maria Fuentes Leas.

Pre-registration for new students will begin Aug. 14. New teacher orientation will be Aug. 17 and all teachers report for Inservice, Aug. 20. Classes will begin the following day for students.

The usual cafeteria program for students will encompass a full meal plan. Cost for high school students will be $1 and 85 cents for elementary children.

The school day this year begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 3:50 p.m. for students. The longer school day is because of the new four-day schedule. This new format is being introduced on a trial basis. Alternative scheduling has been successful in all New Mexico districts that have adopted it. It is oriented toward quality time versus just keeping students in school, and this format allows for more flexibility and more academic hours than the typical five-day plan.

"We will also be able to devote the extra days when teachers will be provided with special inservice training to staff and curricular development," commented Leas.

Other advantages to alternative scheduling include: less absenteeism, greater enthusiasm on the part of teachers, students and parents for school, higher, over-all test scores and some savings in utility and gas bills.

For more information call the school at 653-4411.

Slow down time here as schools begin opening

Slow down, school is about to begin.

Starting Monday, students throughout the county will be on their way to school and motorists need to be aware of speed zones.

Carrizozo students begin school Monday, Aug. 20. Slow zones on E and B Avenues are set by time limits and are not effective only when students are present. Motorists need to slow down to 15 miles per hour on those streets between 8-8:30 a.m., 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 3-3:30 p.m. The zones extend from 8th to 10th Streets, the speed limit is always 15 miles per hour.

Carrizozo Police Chief Choncho Morales said he will ticket any motorist exceeding those limits during the times.

In Capitan, students begin school Tuesday, Aug. 21. A 15 mile per hour zone on Highway 380 is effective from 7:45-8:15 a.m., noon to 12:30 p.m. and 3-3:30 p.m. The zone extends from the west gate of the On Forest Street (in front of the elementary school) the speed limit is 15 mph when children are present.

According to Police Chief Randy Spears, a change has been made in the parking area in front of the elementary school. The no parking zone has been extended from the power pole south of the entrance to the gate to the old gym. The no parking is from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Friday. Spears said the zone was extended to provide a safer crosswalk in front of the elementary.

Also, Spears urges all pedestrians to use the crosswalk at the corner of Highway 380 and Forest and not to cut across the road from the school gates.

Motorists should also take caution when approaching school buses which are loading the bus stop sign is extended.

So slow down and watch for those kids.

Capitan trustees

Trustees questioned the policy of allowing Capitan residents to dump free on Saturday by presenting a current Capitan water bill if the residents have very large loads. The mayor said the gate monitor would have to determine that on an individual basis.

"It's not just dumping anymore," said Warth.

Montoya added, "I didn't know it could get so complicated."

On solid waste collection services, trustees agreed to call for request for proposal (rfp) which would list three alternatives suggested.

The first was collection at least once a week with transport to the compactor station on Gavilan Canyon in Ruidoso; second, a once a week collection transported to a roll-off container to be located at the Class C landfill; third, a total system of solid waste collection and transport out of the county to a regionalized landfill.

Costs will be on a residential and commercial basis. Equipment must be in accordance with state solid waste management regulations.

Bids will be opened at the next regular town meeting in September.

Resident David Cummins said commercial accounts now are picked up twice a week, Monday and Thursday. Solid waste contractor Wayne Hobbs said he has eight commercial dumpsters he collects twice a week.

The two proposals for leases of the Smokey Bear Museum were rejected. Rfps will be advertised with specific instructions on what is expected of contractors.

Phil Fifer and Chris Williams requested village water to their property not in village limits.

Warth suggested the men petition the village for annexation to the village, which will be referred to Planning and Zoning for recommendations.

The house numbering ordinance was revised to allow non-resident or second home owners a way to get their homes numbered without having to pay the $1 a day penalty.

The village also accepted settlement of the Environmental Improvement Division lawsuit concerning the landfills initiated last year. The settlement, worked out by the City of Alamogordo, will end the lawsuit to make the state provide a way to finance any landfills required by the new regulations.

An offer from Herb Traylor to sell the property between Margaret Rench's and Angie Provine's for $55,000 was turned down because the village does not have the money. Any type of lease-purchase agreement is not allowed by law. Warth said a constitutional amendment will be on the ballot in November to allow municipalities to lease-purchase for more than one year. He urged all to vote for the amendment.

A grandmother, Louise Wolfard, made a complaint against police officer Tom Hammontre, saying the officer harrassed her grandson at the football field.

She said Hammontre took her grandson off the field in front of his teammates, so embarrassing him he wanted to quit the team. She also said the grandson was harrassed at a pay telephone, after curfew, while making an emergency out-of-state call.

Hammontre said a Capitan man complained her grandson, who owns a vehicle with red lights which resemble emergency lights, came up behind the man with the lights flashing. Thinking it to be an emergency vehicle the man pulled off the road. When he saw no blue license plates, he took the numbers down and reported the incident to Hammontre.

Hammontre said he approached the grandson at the weight room at the school, where Spears and a state trooper were lifting on their off-duty hours also, and took the boy outside to show him the state statutes about the illegality of having non-authorized emergency lights.

"I gave him a verbal warning," Hammontre said.

As for the phone call, Hammontre said he told the boy of the curfew; left, then returned about 30-40 minutes later to find the boy still on the phone. Then he told the boy if he didn't finish the call he would go see the judge.

Wolfard alleged Hammontre has harrassed lots of boys in town.

Warth told Wolfard he was sure the officer had no intention of embarrassing her grandson.

"I can't accept enforcing the law as harrassment," he said, then he told the woman he would make a note of her complaint.

"I don't want no harrassment after this," she concluded.

Trustees also accepted the contract with attorney Robert Beauvais as presented. After Beauvais arrived at the meeting from the county meeting where he was earlier, he called for a closed session on litigation.

FIDO'S FAST FOOD

Doggie Drive-Thru caters exclusively to pampered pooches. Maggie Patterson opened her first pet treats store in April. She now serves up to 100 dogs a day. On the menu are dog biscuits shaped like cheeseburgers, French fries and regular dog bones. All are made from the same mixture of whole wheat flour, dry milk, margarine, eggs and wheat germ (to make the coat shiny), molasses (for energy) and minced garlic, which Patterson claims helps keep flies away.

Patterson opened her fast-food dog restaurant because her own dogs became hooked on McDonald's food and howled whenever they drove past the golden arches. She has already received dozens of franchise requests.

Davy Delgado in the Santa Rosa News brings to light yet another version of the personality of Billy the Kid via the book by Robert M. Utley: "Billy the Kid, A Short and Violent Life."

According to Utley, Billy's actions mirrored the establishment's muddy ethics. All around him, writes Delgado, Bonney saw corruption. "The Lincoln County War so vividly dramatized the institutions of government, law and business serving selfish interests and personal ambitions."

Governors, prosecutors, judges, sheriffs, marshals, army officers, Indian agents, attorneys, cattle barons, merchants (in short the "who's who of New Mexico") all perverted political, legal, and economic systems for individual benefit.

Utley writes that if Billy took without regard, so did the Lincoln County and San-

New teachers hired at Hondo Schools

In addition to the challenge of the Alternative Scheduling (four day week), Hondo Valley Schools class schedule will offer some new classes.

Four instructors have also been hired this year, according to Supt. Leas.

Betsy Eldridge from Capitan will be teaching the 4th grade. She is a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University.

Barbara Avalos from Austin, TX will take over the 6th grade class. She replaces Linda Montoya who will be teaching the special education classes for the district.

This year the high school has been able to add an additional teacher who will help in providing greater flexibility in high school offerings. Cheryl Bowman, formerly from Permian High School in Odessa, TX will be teaching English and some social studies classes. She will also use her coaching skills to develop the volleyball and girl's basketball program.

Gordon Thompson from Nogal will bring his expertise in geology and earth science to the program as the new science instructor. He will also teach geometry and hopes to initiate a wrestling program as a special addition to the athletic curriculum.

In addition to teaching Spanish, Lynda Sanchez will be adding world history and New Mexico history to her teaching responsibilities. High school counselor Guillermo Maldonado will be teaching psychology (for seniors) and chemistry will be another choice offered this year. The innovative Principles of Technology will be taught again this year as well.

As for the special invitation, the well known Hondo Fiesta Dancers will be performing for the first time at the New Mexico State Fair. They will dance at 1:30 and 6:30, Sept. 8 at the Spanish Village.

Garcia did say when he was mayor he just signed the requisition without questioning, but the department is audited, just like the town.

After some discussion concerning the difficulty of the volunteer fire men to take time away from work, especially those who operate their own businesses, the mayor sympathized because she also takes time away from her business to do town business. She told them to tell their legislators to change the per diem laws.

After a fireman asked if anyone could go out of town on $65 a day, Vallejos said the county allows $45.

Kuhnel clarified a statement made to her that the money requisitioned and returned would go back to the state; rather, the money was returned to the town's fire protection fund. She suggested the $1300 be placed in a new budget fund for bathrooms in the new fire building. The suggestion was not the motivation for allowing less money than requested, she added, rather a positive side of the situation.

Najar agreed some good things came from the situation because the fire department will be better prepared with the requisition next year. Garcia suggested it keep a file on which firefighters attended which classes.

After all discussion, Najar asked, "when is the council and mayor going to throw us a bash?"

Kuhnel said it wasn't a bad idea to get the community to sponsor such an event. "Good luck with the paper," Garcia said. "The editorial looks bad. Santa Fe does not need to hear things like that, you guys are trying to do your best," he concluded.

Later, Joiner was asked to comment on Garcia's statement, as well as the firemen's remarks that his statements in his OPINION column were unfair.

"Santa Fe needs to know far more about how things go in this town than it gets now," Joiner responded. "What the firemen are guilty of is a violation of state laws. They could easily be charged with contempt, theft, fraud and conspiracy. They're lucky. If I were mayor or trustee I'd move to fire every one of them."

Cable TV basic rates will increase to $18.95 a month and the town can do nothing about it. Additional services will cost $3.88 a month, trustees learned.

Town attorney Robert Beauvais reviewed the contract with Simmons Cable and found no stipulations for the town to regulate charges. "You gave them the farm."

The council also heard from Beauvais about the Hamilton offer to purchase the C-C Natural Gas Company. The offer, which had a deadline at the end of August, will be extended until an opinion about who makes the decision about the selling of the company, Captain and Carrizozo board of trustees, or the gas board, comes from the state attorney general.

A request was to have been made by representative Ben Hall, but the AG's office had not received any as of last week, Beauvais said. He then requested Jon Barela in the AG's office do the research.

Also, Beauvais explained the need for the town to approve stipulated agreement to settle the more than year-long lawsuit against the New Mexico Environmental Improvement Division. The lawsuit was initiated last year after the new EID landfill regulations took effect.

A major reason to approve the agreement was to avoid being in the lawsuit without support of the New Mexico Municipal League, a costly situation.

The council approved the agreement resolution since the state legislature had provided funding and a means to finance the landfills required by the new regulations.

Val Reyes, Rec Center manager also came to the board to request some improvements at the center. The board budgeted $2500 for major equipment repair based on estimates submitted by Reyes.

Also Tuesday night, Reyes said other things in the Center need repair, such as her windows, faucets in the bathrooms, carpet cleaning and insulation in the attic.

The board gave the green light on ordering the equipment, but they requested Reyes do the repair work himself. Reyes said he could do the work, but didn't want the town to take advantage of him.

Garcia said it works both ways, if someone else does the repair, there will be less money to buy the parts.

The board directed town foreman Faustino Gallegos to get with Reyes and order the parts to begin repair on the pin setting equipment, in preparation of the fall bowling leagues.

An agreement with Southwestern New Mexico Economic Development District (SNMEDD) to provide bookkeeping, advertising, reporting, conducting of public meetings and other administration of the Community Development Block Grant for the town street improvements for $5000 was approved.

Beauvais said it was money well spent, because SNMEDD is familiar with federal rules and regulations of the grant, and has the expertise to save the town "a lot of grief."

Included in several letters to the mayor was one addressed directly to Kuhnel about the condition of the old Girard Hotel, which the former administration had ordered Kuhnel to demolish.

Harold DesJardins stated in the letter the deteriorating condition of the building was dangerous, especially since it is open to anyone. He requested the building be torn down or a fence erected to keep anyone out. DesJardins, who was at the meeting, asked to be put on the town agenda at the following meetings until something is done about the building.

The board retired to closed session to discuss pending litigation on personnel.

fill, but new state regulations eventually made the county close the Ft. Stanton Mesa site. A system which Petty said would be "phenomenally expensive," now without a landfill.

Currently, the $100,000 for collection is taken from the road department.

Although Petty said she was not promoting any one private collection business, home services will be available within the next three months. Again the problem of how the county can bill residents for the collection services surfaced.

Commissioner Rick Simpson said he had received requests for additional dumpsters. "We need about 200 sites," he said. Petty reminded the audience of the additional cost to the county to add more dumpsters while for a minimal fee residents can contract with a private firm.

"If that doesn't work, what next?" Randle asked. "Suicide," Petty joked.

Randle predicted it will be more costly to clean up illegal dumping than to provide more dumpsters.

A few other residents asked if the county could impose a mill levy to residents outside municipalities. To which Hemphill asked why they would not be willing to pay $4-$5 a month for a private service.

A resident of Fawn Ridge, which has two county dumpsters, said residents there think they are getting "fabulous service" from the county and do not want to go with a private service which she would cost $20 a month for a small cart.

Petty asked why the residents don't add a collection service bill to the water bill paid by those in the Fawn Ridge water association, and was told the residents don't want to.

Bill Elliott, also a member of the Fawn Ridge association, said people will pay for the county services, especially those who live in isolated areas who will not drive 30 miles to a compactor.

Petty asked how the county would account for the collection fees imposed on all residents outside the municipalities, including those ranchers who already dispose of solid waste on their own land.

Elliott said to just bill those who use the service. But Petty said the county can't "spot tax."

Elliott said the private service costs about $30 a month to rent a dumpster.

Joe Lewandowski, manager of SDC which provides the county collection now, said in a private interview his company will provide services to county residents. A dumpster which will serve up to 10 homes costs about $30 a month for once a week collection. Individual prices per household are about $5 and up, based upon density of the collection area.

Yvonne Lanelli, a resident of Sun Valley, several residents of her area are accused of causing the county to quit the collections. She said many county subdivisions are not organized enough to form an association for collection. "We all pay taxes without getting services," she said, and cited examples of welfare, schools when the family has no children, and urged the county to reconsider.

Hemphill remained firm on the decision and said unfortunately removing a free service is an emotional issue.

Petty encouraged recycling by encouraging in the home. Then she added the compactor could pay for itself.

Simpson, who said he takes care of his own trash, felt the situation will leave some people "out in the cold" and thought a phase-in trial period would have been a little better.

The green dumpsters questioned by several residents were retained by the county. Quay County has offered to purchase the boxes for $10,000, but commissioners until the next commission takes office.

Commissioners finalized the contract with Southwest Community Health Services for operation of Lincoln County Medical Center which was revised to address concerns by commissioners about being included in the budget process of the center.

Tentative approval was given to the low water crossing at the Mountain Lakes Subdivision, based upon approval of a culvert by road supervisor Tommy Hall.

Three different subdivision requests were approved. Certain lots were vacated and replatted in Deer Parks Meadows Subdivision, Short Circle and Circle Drive in Agua Fria Subdivision were vacated and a partial vacation of plat at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club Subdivision Unit 2, block 8, lot 2.

Commissioners formalized the field agreements for tem will meet all pretreatment standards and will be monitored closely to ensure plant operations are not adversely affected and the cyanide is safely reduced to acceptable levels. If standards are not met, the operation will be shut down immediately.

"The mill contaminated its own well," Carrizozo Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel said. "This cleanup will prevent contamination from spreading to the town's wells and to the private wells of people living on the east side," she added. The town's wells were tested and free of contamination.

Officials of the state EID inspected Carrizozo's sewage plant and determined that, "Carrizozo is doing a good job of running the plant; they are well within hydraulic capacity and have the biological and chemical processes which can break cyanide down to nitrate, a common constituent of sewage effluent," said Richard Mitzelfelt, director of EID.

The $95,000 cleanup is expected to last at least 13 months and will reduce cyanide levels in ground water at the site to less than the state and federal limit of 0.2 milligrams per liter. EPA will ask the state EID to pay for 10 percent of the cost of cleanup.

OPINION

● There is plenty of racism to go around in this country, and more and more of it is appearing on the black front. Two recent examples: Benjamin Hooks, executive director of the NAACP, has called upon 500 of the nation's largest corporations to discriminate against white-owned magazines, newspapers, radio and TV stations by reducing current advertising budgets, in order to increase advertising budgets for black-owned magazines, newspapers, radio and TV stations. Being a black racist, he overlooked and ignored all those Hispanic-owned media. He apparently didn't give a hoot about Polish-American, Italian-American, Irish-American, Jewish-American, Japanese-American media owners. To hell with them; go for the black!

● Jim Bakker, the television evangelist who got nailed with his hand in the cookie jar and was convicted of using millions of donations for personal gain, is serving 45 years in the penitentiary. He is white, of course. On the other hand, take a look at Washington, DC Mayor Marion Barry, a black man. He was chief law enforcement officer of DC, head of the government, a role model for children and adults. He spent time lecturing school children on the evils of drugs. Last week he was acquitted on multiple charges of crack and cocaine use, even though his lawyer admitted he did use the stuff. He was exposed as a sex-addict who cheated on his wife. Of the dozen specific charges, a jury convicted him only on one misdemeanor charge, the maximum penalty of which is one year in jail and a $10,000 fine. He won't get the maximum, of course. My bet is probation and some public service. Barry remains Washington's hero. He will be elected to the city council, be the next mayor of DC, and continue as a moral role model. Meanwhile, Bakker is doing 45 years. That's the price he pays for being white in a society obsessed with granting special privileges and immunities to blacks.

● The debacle in the Middle East is fraught with racial overtones. It isn't all greed that prompted Saddam Hussein of Iraq to invade and annex Kuwait. The Arab World hates the West. Neither side understands the other. War between the two is, I am convinced, inevitable. If it isn't now it will be later. A united Arab assault on the West would be disastrous, especially when Arab nations increase their military strength as Iraq has already done. Which is why Israel is important to the defense of the United States, and probably why we spend so many billions of dollars to keep Israel strong. Israel, also hated by Arabic nations, is a buffer between the forces of Islam and the West. If and when war is declared on the West, the Arabs will first have to overcome Israel. That will slow down the advance and give us time to make crucial decisions (like rebuilding our military power). That is why Israel is important to us, and why we help that country stay strong. That is also why Israel has the nuclear bomb (although we play like we don't know that for sure). We know Israel has the guts to use that bomb, which we do not. So don't knock the Israeli too much, or criticize the money we give them. They may be dying for us before too long.

● State Sen. William Owens has introduced a bill in the Massachusetts legislature to pay all American blacks for having once been victims of slavery. I won't go into the details of this extraordinary bill, but they were well publicized on the Phil Donahue Show, CNN's Crossfire and in the media. Owens suggested that $300,000 for every living American black would be an appropriate payoff figure. That figures out to about $8.5 trillion. So what. I predicted in this column when congress voted to pay Japanese-Americans $20,000 each for being forced out of the West Coast War Zone in World War II, that American Indians wouldn't be far behind. They weren't. I predicted that blacks would demand payment for slavery imposed on their ancestors. Now we have that to deal with. Considering how blacks have intimidated the white population since all those Civil Rights Bills, chances are good that payment will be made. We might compromise by just turning the country over to them, thus saving a lot of money.

● One black who has won my admiration and respect is the Rev. George Lucas, pastor of the Race St. Baptist Church in Farmville, VA. On the Crossfire show, he said blacks wanted to participate in the American Dream, and chastized Owens, Jesse Jackson and others for perpetuating racism. Lucas said a real black leader would advise young blacks "to quit jiving and shucking, get into those books, get educated, stop listening to funky music and stop smoking crack," and admonished black girls to stop "having all those babies." Great thinking, Reverend. But it won't work. The black majority wants it all, now, in cash, and without effort.

"Actually, my work is similar to yours. I just probe until I hit a nerve."

BUSH RESPONDS TO IRAQI BLITZKREIG — BY CUTTING OUR ARMED FORCES (I)

On the very same day that the Mussolini of the Middle East sent 125,000 of his Iraqi troops to steal oil-rich Kuwait, President Bush, speaking from the rarified atmosphere of Aspen, CO, called for a 25 percent cut in the armed forces of the United States. His proposed cut in the US Army will leave it smaller than the Army of Iraq!

Mr. Bush did acknowledge that even as our armed forces grow smaller, the United States must be able to respond to global threats such as terrorism, hostage-taking "renegade regimes and unpredictable rulers." He added: "Let no one, friend or foe, question this commitment."

That is an almost direct quotation from the famed Inaugural Address of President Jack Kennedy, in which he vowed willingness to "bear any burden, and pay any price "in order to defend freedom anywhere in the world, and keep the Western Hemisphere nations "masters of our own hemisphere."

Few Democrats, including President Kennedy's brother, ever quote this superb Inaugural Address anymore.

Two days after announcing his plan to reduce the US Army so that it is smaller than Iraq's, our commander-in-chief was obliged to send Marines into Liberia—after one dictator and two apparent would-be dictators endangered the lives of hundreds of Americans.

But Commander-in-Chief Bush did not send in the Marines against Saddam's 125,000 men, who took Americans hostage. For the Iraqis seized an entire country with a speed unseen since Adolf Hitler's troops overran the entire nation of Denmark in one morning—as a sort of sideshow on their way to Norway. (This took place 50 years ago, last April 9th.)

Despite ardent pleas from the Kuwaiti Ambassador for the US to take some action against this Persian blitzkrieg, there were no Marines sent into Liberia. Instead, in reaction to Iraq, there were only the familiar sanctions—which rarely succeed—plus the familiar deployment of aircraft carriers. No wonder Saudi Arabia is petrified!

Within only two days, there was a need for US armed forces in two different continents. This ought to give Congress and the President a great deal of cause for serious thought, in their sworn obligations to defend the Constitution, and by doing so, defend the existence of the United States.

What if Gaddafi and Syria's Hafez Al Assad decided on this same weekend to join Jordan in one more sudden attempt to turn Israel into another Auschwitz?—at the same time the North Koreans dropped paratroopers all over South Korea; while Cuban agents effected a coup de etat in financially desperate Mexico; and repositioned their Afrika Korps from Brownsville to San Diego; while Daniel Ortega, who still owns Nicaragua's army, used it to oust Violetta Chamorro and march through Costa Rica on the way to seizing the Panama Canal; at the same time there came the ominous news from Moscow that Comrade Ligachev had replaced Comrade Gorbachev, who (repeatedly) died suddenly of apoplexy.

President Ligachev also announced mass governmental replacements, the arrest of thousands, including Boris Yeltsin, and a Joint World Co-Prosperity Sphere with Beijing.

Is anyone prepared to claim that none of this horror scenario could take place? The US Armed Forces are to be reduced to their lowest level since 1950—which was the year that Kim Il Sung's virtually undetected North Korean juggernaut roared out of nowhere that anybody expected, and very nearly drove our depleted 8th Army into the sea around the Pusan perimeter.

Unpreparedness and massive disarmament cost us the lives of more than 50,000 US soldiers in Korea. This is a terribly painful lesson recurrent in American history—which our President, our Congress and our Big Media seem simply unwilling to learn.

At our national peril.

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—It's not nice to derive pleasure out of other people's misfortune. However, a lot of New Mexicans can't help but see a silver lining around the cloud that hangs over the world's economy as a result of the Arab oil crisis.

As the price of West Texas crude continues to climb, New Mexicans in the oil business are hoping for an opportunity to regain some of the prosperity they enjoyed from 1974 to 1982, when prices soared to $40 a barrel.

Lawmakers also like the prospects of what those prices will do to state revenues that are so dependent on oil and gas income. During that period, every legislative session was giving money back to New Mexico's taxpayers despite double-digit appropriation increases to all state agencies.

The high oil prices also drive up interest rates worldwide, which in turn is another benefit to state coffers. Our state permanent funds, which are much larger per capita than those enjoyed by most other states, benefit greatly during periods of high interest rates.

The downside of all this, of course, is the onset of double-digit inflation that nearly always results from inflated oil prices and interest rates. New Mexicans with adjustable-rate home loans and student loans will be especially hard hit. The only consolation is that the rest of the country will experience the same inflation levels but without the shot in the arm to the oil industry and the possible tax cuts that might result from much fuller state coffers.

State Department of Finance and Administration economists estimate that every dollar increase in a barrel of oil brings in another $4 million of general fund revenue. Lawmakers also play with figures that indicate the indirect benefits for each dollar increase in oil prices is another $10 million or so.

Another side benefit of oil price increases is that the country begins looking for alternative energy forms. New Mexico is also a big player in those markets with large deposits of natural gas, coal and uranium. Those New Mexico industries could also use the economic boost.

Pete Sahd, a 1920 immigrant to New Mexico from the Middle East, died last week. For several years Sahd was a teacher, first at Stanley High School, where one of his pupils was a kid named Bruce King, and later at Pojoaque. In 1946 he moved to Penasco and founded a general store.

A Republican, Sahd became friends with Dave Cargo in the mid-sixties when the former governor bought property at Rodada. Cargo appointed Sahd to the

Letters to the editor

Firemen

EDITOR—The somewhat critical comments recently expressed about the local fire department call for a response.

It is my understanding of the situation that funds for the Fire Academy training have traditionally included a little something for after hours activities. If this is true, it is incorrect to accuse the firemen of trying to "get away" with something. Besides, why make a federal case of it? Most people in our society, be they doctors, lawyers, cowboys or rocket scientists, when attending a convention or training session, like to unwind and do a little (or alot) of drinking and socializing. This is a fact of life.

I know all of the people with the fire department, some quite well, and know them to be a dedicated group. Why else would they drag themselves out of a warm bed on a freezing winter night to fight a fire?

You can count me among the many who appreciate and support the firemen—besides, who knows when they may have to call on them to help save their lives and property?

Speaking for myself, I do not begrudge them a few dollars once a year to have a good time. Consider it a fringe benefit.

The $5 penalty for late payment of county property tax was retained, at treasurer Shirley Goodloe's request. The county made about $67,000 in penalties last year.

The Alpine Village Sanitation District decreased its mill levy from 20 mills to 10, with commissioner approval. Sid Miller and Dave Parks of Ruidoso, Monroy Montes of Glencoe and Rick Simpson of Ruidoso Downs, Martha Proctor of Capitan and Nancy Knight of Ancho were appointed to the Zia Senior Citizens Advisory Committee. A seventh member will be appointed by the group.

Appointment of board of directors for the Lincoln County Transportation Development District was tabled until at least 10 written nominations are made. Only two were presented Monday.

Commissioners met in closed session to discuss litigation.

The first magazine for children was published in 1751. Directed solely toward children it was appropriately small in size—measuring only four inches by two and a half inches.

Veterans Service Commission upon being elected in 1967. Four years later Bruce King appointed his former student to the Parole Hearing Board.

But Sahd's biggest political triumph came when he was elected to the state's Constitutional Convention in 1969. Being a former teacher he wanted to serve on the convention's education committee. King obliged and Sahd joined a panel that proposed sweeping changes in the state's education system. The proposed constitution was not adopted but many of those changes have slowly been adopted over the past 20 years.

Perhaps more than any convention delegate, Sahd appreciated the significance of the group's task if its work product ended up being accepted by voters. Every time Sahd spoke in the education committee, which was often, he would lean forward toward the microphone in front of him and announce, "This is Pete Sahd from Penasco."

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is accepting nominations for county committee elections for Lincoln County. This notice is issued to inform eligible voters of the right to nominate candidates by petition. Copies of the petition and instructions on its completion can be obtained from your local FmHA Office.

Persons nominated should have an interest in a farm as an owner, tenant, or sharecropper with the county or area in which activities of the county or area committees are carried out. They must be citizens of the United States or aliens lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, and be well qualified for committee work. Spouses of these persons who meet the eligibility criteria are also eligible for nomination for election to the county committee. Nominations must be received in the Ruidoso County Office at 1096 Mechem Drive in the Stroud Building, no later than Sept. 20.

Lincoln Historical Society to hear Sanchez on Apache War

By CHARLOTTE LEE

Lynda A. Sanchez, an historian, Spanish/English interpreter, writer and history and Spanish instructor will present the program for the Lincoln County Historical Society's third regular meeting of the year on Aug. 25 at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the Lincoln County Heritage Trust Historical Center in Lincoln. The public is invited; admission is free.

Sanchez' presentation will not be a "typical" story about the Apaches but will concern an unwritten and seldom discussed chapter of Apache history. When Geronimo surrendered in 1886 most people thought the Apache Wars were over. They were, to a large extent. However, across the border in the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Sonora, remnants of the various Apache bands still remained.

Lynda has worked more than 10 years on tracking their history and bringing it up to date. She has done so, partially by conducting two research trips with her husband, James, into the remote vastness of the Sierra Madre and by oral history type interviews with residents of the Sierra. In addition, she has translated taped interviews, and other archival documents from the Spanish, thus giving a different perspective from the usual one seen in most history books done on the US side of the border.

She will discuss some of her startling discoveries, such as the violence between Apache and Mexican ranchers in the early 1930s that also involved our US State Department. Slides covering some of her research and a poignant story of one of the Apache captives, Carmina, will also be presented.

The University of Oklahoma press has requested that this manuscript of her studies, now almost complete, be submitted to them. They have reprinted INDEH, An Apache Odyssey and are interested in any material regarding Native Americans.

With a background of anthropology, sociology, history and the Spanish language, Lynda has had a varied career in areas already mentioned, as well as serving in the Peace Corps Training and Service in Columbia, South America, providing intensive language and cultural awareness on-site training for Corps members.

She has done archaeological field work at Guevavi Mission Site with the University of Arizona; Site surveys in Utah/University of Utah; Mesa Verde National Park/University of Colorado and the McSweeney Site Dig in Lincoln, NM. She is also consultant to the Lincoln Heritage Trust Museum, to a PBS Documentary on the Lincoln County War (in progress), and editorial consultant/history/anthropology for the University of Nevada. As a writer, Lynda, and Nora Henn, both of Lincoln, co-authored the book INDEH, An Apache Odyssey with the late historian and writer Eve Ball of Ruidoso.

Lynda has had over 25 articles published in eight southwestern magazines and journals. She has worked as historian and interpreter at Ford's Theater for the US National Park Service in Washington, DC, was assistant to the director of the Woodrow Wilson International Center in Washington, working in the Latino Ghetto; and has taught history, Spanish and adult basic education in the Capitan, Hondo and Ruidoso schools.

CAPITAN NEWS

By Margaret Rench

Foggy mornings, afternoon heat and cool nights. Night temperatures twice was 35 degrees then 42. No moisture last week.

The Smokey Bear Museum had 2012 registered visitors last week. Smokey Bear #2, the Bear that replaced Smokey after his death, died Sunday, Aug. 12, at the Washington Zoological Zoo in Washington, DC.

Another very successful Lincoln County Fair has passed. All of the exhibits were great, including the livestock. Large crowds attended daily.

Keith and Louise LaRue are new owners of the Video Shop in Capitan as of May 21. The hours will be 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Todd Proctor, vo-ag instructor and head football coach at Navajo Pines High School in Navajo, NM, son of Martha Proctor and Dee Proctor, graduated from Capitan in 1984 and from NMSU in 1989.

Happy birthday to Sherry LaMay Aug. 22, Neo Vallegos Aug. 23, Ruth Stokes Aug. 29, and Ferny Stokes Aug. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Herd of Ruidoso became parents of a son born at the Lincoln County Medical in Ruidoso, Saturday, Aug. 11.

The Curtis Payne family had Bud and Dorothy Payne of Carrizozo, Jennie Archer, Sandy and Jim Robinson of Roswell visit over the weekend, for the Lincoln County Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Walker of Roswell attended the fair and visited me. Geneva retired Aug. 10. Now they intend to enjoy things they have been able to do. They were residents of Capitan for many years and their children finished school here. When Claude's health changed they sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Cleese and moved to Roswell, and Geneva retired there.

Retta Russel entered the Lincoln County Medical in Ruidoso Aug. 7, with a broken back from a fall. She is seriously ill. I wish her a good recovery.

The Sacred Heart Guild wishes to correct an error in last week's Lincoln County News. Rudy Padilla is the newly elected vice-president of the Guild. Our apologies Rudy, and we all wish you success in your new responsibility.

Several of our local folks participated in the Senior Bowling Tournament held at the Roswell Area Town and Country Bowling Center. There were entries from Clovis and surrounding Roswell area. Those participating from Capitan were Pat and Roland Bailey, Lucy Griego, Elfago Montoya and Bob and Thelma Stephens.

The Lincoln County Fair is now history for another year. The Lions Club reports they were most successful in all their endeavors. The winners of the items raffled off were as follows: Gerry Trujillo won the rifle. Bill Wise won a beautiful picture of Marilyn Monroe and Wayne Withers also won a picture of Marilyn.

The Smokey Bear Lions Club wish to remind everyone that there is a garage sale Friday and Saturday, Aug. 17-18, on Maureen Sullivan's front porch, right next to Bonnies Pizza Parlor. This will be their last fundraising activity until next year and they are in need of articles to sell. Any and all things are welcome. If you have any large things to donate like a brand new automobile or extra fine refrigerator, washing machine or what have you, please call 354-2591 for pickup.

The American Legion raffle winners were Jim Malcolm, the $76 worth of meat; Linda Trujillo, a cord of wood; and Cathy Miller, a cord of wood.

'Things are changing' at Capitan Schools

Capitan Schools are "maxed out" on 8th graders, learned the Capitan Board of Education at its meeting Aug. 9.

Capitan High School principal Bill Stowe told the board the school cannot handle any more 8th graders with its present staff and facilities.

Stowe spoke of the problem while presenting the junior and high school class schedules. Students will take 73 of the 78 potential courses offered in the junior and high school.

"Our kids tend to go to hard classes; 13 are in advanced math," Stowe said. About 84 percent of students got their first choices of classes, which Stowe attributed to a computer program which enabled him to schedule the classes within 10 minutes, after two and a half weeks of entries.

Stowe and Jerry Newsome, elementary principal, foresee even or higher enrollments this year.

Board member Hollis Fuchs said the school might have a windfall from the higher gasoline prices, since some students who travel to other districts might stay in the Capitan district. Also he said the school has an excellent reputation for quality programs.

The board also revised student attendance and tardiness policies. Instead of the former six days allowed absences, students will be allowed five days absences per semester. The five days are to be used for illness, appointments that cannot be made outside of school hours, and absences agreed to by the parent and student; does not conflict with semester or final exams and shall not be used as parental approved truancy.

Truancy is defined as absent without permission. According to the policy "parents cannot approve of an absence if they know it will be or is suspected to be a truancy. If a student is suspected truant, law enforcement officials will be notified."

After five days absences in any class, the parent must notify the school for additional days basic on extenuating circumstances such as doctor's excuses, death of immediate family member, hospitalization and others by agreement with the principal.

Another change in the policy concerned the loss of credit after six days absence.

Supt. Scott Childress considered the language "a little bit harsh" and suggested it be changed to state "on the 6th or more absence, without the parents contacting the principal, the absence will be considered unexcused. The student will be given zeros for each class in which the unexcused absence(s) occurred.

Childress said the new policy will be easier to administer than the old, which required a student with more than six unexcused absences to be put in a noncredit study hall with loss of credit for the class.

Notification to parents will still be made on the 3rd and 5th absences.

Students with tardies should check with the teacher involved. After the second tardy in a class, the student will be placed in detention for one period, after five unexcused tardies in a class, the student will be given a zero for that day and placed in detention for that period. If the tardies continue, the student behavior will then be considered under the discipline policy.

The board also added a section into the student policy about junior high retention. A junior high student must have a 1.66 grade point average in math, English, social studies, and science or have passed three of the four with a C or better. Board members and staff agreed the most problem with junior high students is turning in work.

"We'll give it a try and see how it works," Childress said about the retention policy. High school classification was defined as the number of credits earned. Students must have 0-6 credits to be freshmen, 7-12 for sophomores, 13-18 for juniors and 19 and above for seniors. The definitions will show students they must earn the credits to attain the grade.

Man kind was matchless until the friction match was invented in 1834.

This tree died of a heart attack.

Carving hearts on trees seems harmless enough.

But the fact is, it cut short the life of this majestic oak.

By gouging into the bark, vandals crippled the tree's vascular system. So, like thousands of other innocent victims each year, the tree slowly died.

But the fight against vandalism is gathering strength from the example of Lynn Brauer and Carol Eichling.

When vandals girdled a 300 year old Chinquapin Oak near their Marthasville, Missouri home, they wrapped the wound in sphagnum moss and tended the tree daily, despite blizzard conditions.

If not for the severe winter, arborists feel the Chinquapin might have survived.

We believe miracles can take root. When people care enough.

Give a hoot. Don't pollute. Forest Service, U.S.D.A.

White Oaks Haunts

BY MISTY PEREA

There is going to be a big party at White Oaks Saturday, Aug. 18. Darien and Misty will be married in the morning at Bonito Hollow, then the reception at White Oaks Saloon. We invite all our friends to join us in celebrating our special event.

Mary Hammand and Terry Bullard will be performing guests at the party.

Terry Bullard made an unscheduled stop in White Oaks Monday. Terry played some of his own music, which included his most recent tape, "Heaven Must Be Having Recess Because an Angel Just Walked in," and he played his very own, "Killing Time." It was a fun party. We love you and your beautiful music. Thank you for your time.

Rex will be leaving soon, to return home in Texas for school. We all enjoyed your visit and hope you will come back and visit again.

Happy birthday, Jim Payne. Hope your vacation in Idaho was great for you. We all missed you.

Elaine Marks and Misty
