Lincoln County Fair now in full swing

By DORIS CHERRY

Come to the Lincoln County Fair!

The fair which began in Capitan Wednesday continues through Saturday, with some surprises this year.

One big attraction is the 10-ride carnival which began today (Thursday) and continues through Saturday at noon.

In addition to the carnival, which the Lincoln County Fair Board hopes will help attract more people to the annual event, are the livestock shows, sales and another new addition—the Senior Citizens' Bake-off Friday.

Today (Thursday) Aug. 9, the market steer show begins at 1 p.m. in the livestock arena, at 2:30 p.m. rabbit and poultry judging begins. The exhibition hall opened to the public at 8 a.m. today and remains open until 8 p.m.

Friday, Aug. 10 the building opens to the public at 8 a.m. At 9 a.m. the market lamb show begins. Entries to the Senior Citizens' Bake-off will be taken until noon. Anyone 55 and over can enter, but organizers says cheesecakes, custard or creme pies will not be allowed. The livestock committee will judge the entries.

The exhibition hall remains open until 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 11, the exhibition opens at 8 a.m. and the junior exhibitors' coffee begins. Coffee, milk and doughnuts will be served to exhibitors in the fair building. All exhibitors and interested are invited to attend.

At 8:30 the popular pet show begins. Entries will be received beginning at 7:45 a.m. in the show ring. No species of animal shown in the fair may be entered. All pets must be restrained, no unruly pets will be allowed. The contest superintendent will determine the pets' disposition. No vicious, dangerous or poisonous pets allowed.

The category of pets include: tallest dog, shortest dog, largest cat, smallest cat, pet with longest tail, pet with shortest tail, best groomed pet, pet doing the most tricks and most unusual pet.

Following the pet show is the Special Lead Class, which is open to Lincoln County boys and girls. There will be two age groups: 2-5 and 6-9. Exhibitors will show at halter a sheep or goat, any age, breed or sex. Contestants will be judged as a pair, on appearance and showmanship. Prizes will go to the first five places.

Awards will be given to winners of adult and junior divisions beginning at 10:30 a.m.

The livestock buyers lunch begins at 11:30 p.m.

At 1 p.m. the Junior Livestock Sale begins in the show ring. Rick Walters will be the sale auctioneer. Last year 25 buyers purchased the winning animals.

The fair ends at 3 p.m. Saturday, when entries must be taken home. Any entry taken before 3 p.m. will forfeit all premiums. The fair board and Extension Service will not be responsible for any exhibits left after 3 p.m.

In addition to the carnival, exhibits and livestock shows various organizations and services will have educational booths, crafts will be for sale, as well as food.

THE SAGEBRUSH Stagecoach with a load of can-can girls was among the parade entries at Sunday's events, part of Lincoln's annual 3-day celebration focused around the famous (or infamous) Billy the Kid. The parade was a potpourri of cavalry men, mounted groups, dancing Indians, Mexicans in sombreros performing rope tricks, mountain men, pioneer women and merchants as they may have looked in the late 1880s.

Class C landfill opened

The Village of Capitan opened its Class C landfill Aug. 7.

The landfill will be open from 8:15 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday.

Charges to dump construction trash only are as follows:

—pickup truck (classified as single axle vehicle with beds not to exceed eight feet), $6 a load.

—trailers or other trucks; up to eight feet, $6; eight-12 feet, $12; 12-16 feet, $20; 16 feet and over, $20 plus $1 per foot over 16 feet.

Commercial haulers will be charged at the rate of $7 per yard. The gate keeper will charge commercial haulers by the size of the truck.

Municipalities or their agents will be billed monthly. All others will pay at the gate unless other arrangements are made.

The Capitan landfill will not accept any household garbage.

Rush to raise gasoline prices causing concern

Drivers everywhere were in for a surprise when they went to the gas pumps this week—higher prices.

Here in the Southwest, just next to the oil patch, prices are going up with the rest of the nation.

Increases of up to 15 cents per gallon were clocked on gas pumps throughout Lincoln County, and elsewhere in the state, according to statewide news sources.

Most gasoline retailers are blaming increases on distributors, who blame the large producers who set the prices to the distributors. Most blame is being placed on the invasion of Kuwait by Iraq and the threat of Saudi Arabia, which supply about 50 percent of the nation's crude oil.

In Lincoln County the highest prices for unleaded were in Hondo and Corona. For full-service unleaded, the price Wednesday morning was $1.35.9 a gallon. Those stations do not have self-service pumps.

The lowest price in Lincoln County was at the Ruidoso Shamrock where self-service unleaded was $1.21.9 Wednesday morning. The operator said the price had actually gone down two cents from a high earlier in the week.

Power Car Wash on Sudderth in Ruidoso, which had been at $1.11.9 for unleaded last week, went to $1.18.9 over the weekend. He sold out his supply at that price and will go up to $1.24.9 when the next delivery is made.

Fina Minit Mart at the Y of Highway 70 and Sudderth Drive had unleaded at $1.27.9 Wednesday. The same gas was $1.24.9 Friday.

In Carrizozo the lowest prices Wednesday morning were $1.23.9 for unleaded at Carrizozo Fina and Phillips 66. At Fina prices were raised five cents Friday night, but Tuesday afternoon, the pumps were changed to reflect the higher figure.

Allsup's in Carrizozo went from $1.14.9 for unleaded last week to $1.24.9 Wednesday morning.

Capitan Chevron had self-service unleaded at

Firefighters refuse to attend fire academy

Some Carrizozo Volunteer firefighters decided not to go to fire academy in Socorro this year.

Juan Jiron, Mike Monreal, Bob Hemphill Jr. and Bobbie Vallejos requested the Carrizozo town trustees approve fire school registration fees of $1860 at the town meeting July 24. At that meeting there was some discussion among trustees about the high cost requested for this year's academy and why the same firefighters go every year.

Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel asked if the men were repeating the same courses or if they planned to attend new ones. Vallejos was the only firefighter who had not attended any annual school before. None of the firefighters were at the town meeting.

Trustee Gilbert Archuleta said at the meeting many firefighters could not attend because of work schedules.

After discussion, trustees tentatively approved paying the fees out of the fire protection fund if it appeared the men would be taking new courses.

Kuhnel contacted the state fire marshal's office and found the fees required for

ALEXANDER McSWEEN (Bill Wise, Carrizozo) bites the dust, Bible in hand, during Sunday's pageant performance in Lincoln. After all was said and done, Main Street (back in the Lincoln County War days) was lined with men who died with their boots on. Meanwhile, this year marks Billy's 50th "last escape."

WHILE HOT DOG, burrito, Indian bread and snow cone vendors conduct brisk business in the background, "Billy" re-enacts for the NEWS his famous tin-type pose. William H. Cox, formerly of Bartow, FL, lives in Lincoln and was the winner of the Billy the Kid look-a-like contest in Ruidoso. Cox said he has many other similarities to the real Kid: he is Irish, lost his mother at a young age, and does odd jobs to make a living.

SONS OF SILENCE

"Everybody and their dog are going to be there." "I think overall, businesses feel good about the rally." "Every Harley rider I know says he's coming up." "By Wednesday, Main Street was a study in blue jeans, black T-shirts and leather."

According to a story in the Albuquerque Journal, Sturgis, SD again hosted a party for thousands of visitors, most of whom own Harley-Davidsons. The town of 7,000 was expected to draw 140,000 to 400,000 blue jeaned and black T-shirted bikers. Some rally goers belong to groups such as Hell's Angels, Banditos and Sons of Silence.

PORSCHE PARADE

Sturgis, SD has motorcycles. White Oaks, NM has Pony Express riders. Lincoln, NM has Billy the Kid. Capitan, NM has the county fair. Cloudcroft, NM has Porsches.

Porsche Club of America will hold its first Concourse de Croft road rally Sept. 1 and 2 in Cloudcroft. Approximately 30 cars will participate in the event. Activities will include a scenic course through the Sacramento Mountains, a build-your-own sandwich luncheon, and tour of the Solar Observatory.

Cloudcroft's Mountain Monthly reports that on Sunday, Sept. 2 there will be a Porsche Parade, followed by a concourse.

WARNING LABELS

A news item in Spotlight says that Indiana officials have been asked to place warning labels on Bibles which it is allowing the Gideon Society to place in rooms at state park inns.

The request came from the Freedom From Religion Foundation Inc., a nationwide organization of agnostics and atheists based at Madison, WI. The warning label would read:

"Warning! Literal Belief in This Book May Endanger Your Health and Life."

The group also wants the state to distribute Bible-debunking pamphlets.

HARD-NEWS DAN

Dan Rather of CBS made the Between The Lines column in The New American. Rather is out on the lecture circuit saying "important things and exhibiting his own integrity."

At the Town Hall of California recently, he talked about how he is committed to "news, all news, all the time." He made it clear that he hates the way television is mixing news and entertainment.

Ironically, a couple nights later, Rather is chatting with Arsenio Hall on his late-night variety show.

WORTH REPEATING

"In this age of shameless self-promotion, Supreme Court nominee David Souter comes onto the national stage as an oddity. No one knows quite what to make of a man who has a life, not a life-style, who lives modestly, works hard, spends inconspicuously, attends church, enjoys solitude, honors his mother, and helps his neighbors." —Margaret Carlson, Time magazine, "An 18th Century Man."

TODAY'S BUSHISMS

Bush's assaults against the English language include telling fellow economic summitters that "a new world of freedom lays before us," and urging them to "have a very good time at this museum we're very proudful of."

Time comments: "A language we're very proudful of lies before us wounded."

FAIR GOERS BEWARE

In medieval times, pigs were sold live at fairs and open markets, where sellers would tie up the pigs in burp sacks. A gullible customer might end up buying a cat instead. When the buyer finally opened his bag, the truth was revealed.

Such is the story behind the expression: "Let the cat out of the bag."

I have often wondered where our common expressions originated. David Feldman in Reader's Digest answered some of my questions regarding expressions and how they started. The article, "Red Tape Can Get Your Goat" was condensed from "Who Put the Butter in ButterFly?"

"Get your goat" refers to the uncanny ability of some people to irritate. One theory is that the phrase came from the practice of horse trainers of putting a companion in stalls with high-strung thoroughbreds, to soothe them. Goats were among the most effective. Horses became attached to the goats and rival barns would steal a companion the night before a race. The next day, the upset horse would under-perform.

Charles Dickens and Thomas Carlyle were among the first to use the expression "red tape" to describe official sluggishness and government bureaucracy. English lawyers and government officials traditionally tied official papers together with red ribbon, which they called red tape.

An 80th birthday bash for Alton B. Whittaker

Alton B. Whittaker celebrated his birthday Aug. 4 hosted by his children, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Knight, Alton Reese Whittaker, and William A. Whittaker.

The Lincoln County Fair Building was decorated at the entrance with signature murals on the colonades by his guests on one side and on the other side by his grandchildren down to the fourth generation. The pot plants of yellow mums sat on the top of both colonades leading to a decopage of photographs of the McGarry-Whittaker family, then of Whittaker's family and early life. Ken Cox video recorded and commented on each picture highlighting Whittaker's athletic ability as a three-letter athlete in football, track, and basketball back in Altoona, PA; also his career as a hardware merchant, and Atlantic Richfield supervisor as well as his record of being the last administrator of the Carrizozo-Lincoln County Hospital.

A barbecue dinner was catered by the Circle J Restaurant of Ruidoso and the Phillip Ortiz band from Carrizozo entertained guests as Pauline McGarry Whittaker and Alton B. Whittaker lead the party onto the dance floor. Over 100 people attended, including out-of-town guests from Carlsbad, Albuquerque, Nogal, San Patricio, Hondo, Lincoln, Colorado and Texas.

Whittaker said, "If you survive until you are 80, everybody is surprised that you are alive, surprised that you can walk, surprised that you can reveal lucid intervals, much less dance. Life begins at 80."

Carrizozo student attends seminar

James Silva, a junior at Carrizozo High School, participated in an engineering seminar hosted by New Mexico State University.

Purpose of this seminar was to stimulate interest in the field of engineering. The seminar was held from July 22-27. James was one of 30 students across New Mexico to be selected to attend the seminar.

Professors from New Mexico State University spent the week lecturing about various engineering techniques and presented problems for students to solve. The students were given orientation briefings concerning the four major branches of engineering; electrical, chemical, civil and mechanical. The next three days were spent in a classroom examining fundamentals of engineering concepts. Some of the important concepts presented were the laws of mass conservation, elements of design of incinerators, and water purification. The major focus was on environmental concerns relating to low level radioactive waste and water purification. The students also spent one day observing experiments, some of which were on the cutting edge of technology. These experiments covered everything from wastewater treatment to laser photography. The seminar culminated in group presentations of a simulated waste contamination problem.

The problem presented in the seminar was similar to the one encountered by the EPA in Carrizozo. The problem presented in this seminar concerned 5,000 barrels of contaminated cutting oils which contained toxic poisons. The poisons were in danger of contaminating the nearby aquifer due to barrel leakage. The barrels' contents had to be decontaminated, the water purified, and on-site trenches backfilled.

James was the chairman of his group of three teachers and three students. He presented a design proposal for cleanup of the waste site and fielded questions from NMSU professors. For his efforts, James' group placed third of 10 groups in the competition. Most groups, including James' group, worked through the night to complete the project.

Ellison, Hobbs; best float, Last Escape of Billy the Kid pageant cast; 2nd place, American Legion, Capitan; best antique car, Ken and Jean Gromman, Roswell.

The Sweepstakes Award went to the New Mexico Territorial Militia.

This year's Grand Marshals were Peg and Leota Pfingsten of Lincoln. The Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse served as color guard. Parade judges were Jan Davey, Ruidoso; Tom Knapp, Ruidoso Downs; and Bonnie Mattox, Ruidoso. Parade lineup man was Barry Hale. Logistical assistance at each end of the parade was provided by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department.

Hindi Arabians win Pony Express Race

The Hindi Arabians won the Pony Express Race again this year.

For the third year in a row, Jamil Hindi of Duran won the race in one hour, 50 minutes and 25 seconds. The 1st place prize of a trophy saddle by Harlan Webb and $700 went to the Arabian horse breeders.

The Young Crazy Riders, a team of Cordell Vicenti and Grant Vigil from Dulce, were 2nd with a time of 1:54.45. They won $500.

David Werito's Pony Express team was 3rd with a time of 2:32 and won $300. Zia team was 4th with a time of 2:06.

Marge Dressell of Bosque Farms was 5th with a time of three hours even. Dressell experienced difficulties early in the race when her horse fell on her leg. Despite the injury, she continued the race to the end at White Oaks.

Pamela Sedabaca was the sixth entry to the race but was unable to compete because of problems with her horse Friday.

Riders carried more than 600 letters as they traveled over the rough roads. As part of the race, the mailbags had to be carried by each rider and switched from one horse to the next at each exchange.

Cordell, with the Young Crazy Riders team, almost lost his horse at the last exchange, and had to chase it, causing him to lose several minutes and the first place prize.

The 22nd Pony Express Race began at the Capitan Gap turn off, east of Capitan, went over 32 miles of rough country roads to end at White Oaks. The race began in 1969 as part of Lincoln County's Centennial celebration.

A barbecue and rodeo kept visitors around White Oaks Saturday after the race.

Friday night race fans participated in an auction to raise money for the race and later a street dance. The White Oaks Bar, which had been closed, opened for the dance but special investigation agents for the Alcohol and Gaming Commission closed it at 11 p.m.

According to Mike Frieze, special agent with Department of Public Safety, the White Oaks Bar was closed because it failed to display a liquor license. The bar's license was held because the business failed to pay state gross receipt taxes, said Lillian Martinez in the state Alcohol and Gaming Commission office in Santa Fe.

Although the taxes had been paid by Thursday night and closed the bar, the actual license was not at the bar by Friday night.

Agents Frieze and Chris Ortiz went to White Oaks Friday night and closed the bar, putting an end to the night's activities. Frieze said they had no problems with the crowd at the bar, and all left when requested.

An administrative citation was issued to the bar owner.

Carrizozo scores well at North-South game

A scoring surge in the second half by the North team highlighted the 12th annual North-South AA-A All-Star boys basketball game at the Pan American Center in Las Cruces Thursday night, Aug. 2.

The North team, which trailed at half-time 47-33, tallied 66 second-half points to edge the South team 99-94. The South team, led by Carrizozo's Michael Chavez, led by as many as 17 points early in the second half, before the winning Northerners mounted their second half assault.

Chavez led the South's effort with a team high of 20 points. Cliff's Arnold Polanco was also in double figures for the South with 13 points. Abe Padilla, who along with Chavez, represented Carrizozo at this year's contest, and scored 4 points.

Coaching the South team was James Kelt, formerly of Hagerman. The event was sponsored by the New Mexico School Coaches Association.

Although the men still had planned to attend the school, Kuhn learned Tuesday they did not go.

When contacted, Jiron said they all agreed not to attend the academy, but he declined to state why.

Gas prices

$1.26.9 Wednesday, a five-cent increase from last week's price.

Rusty Anchor Bar in Capitan still had unleaded priced at $1.13.9 Tuesday night, but all supplies were gone.

Some retailers are predicting higher prices yet. Controversy about high gasoline prices in Ruidoso is on-going, even before the recent conflict in the Middle East.

According to a report, gasoline wholesaler Ray Bell said the price of crude oil has nothing to do with the price of gasoline, rather the company strives for a profit margin of about 10 percent.

A spokesman said Jennings Oil in Ruidoso said their gasoline comes from Chevron in California and they have no say in how prices are set.

Constituents have complained to New Mexico senators and reportedly those senators have asked for an investigation into what they are terming "price gouging."

With New Mexico so dependent on the tourist trade for much income, and tourists depend on reasonably priced gasoline to take those excursions, constituents have much to complain about.

Fiddler winners named

There was something for all the Wild West fans in Lincoln this weekend.

MANY THANKS TO ALL PROPERTY OWNERS WHO HAVE BEEN GENEROUS ENOUGH TO ALLOW US TO USE THEIR LAND FOR THE PONY EXPRESS RACE.

The Lincoln County Pony Express Race is an annual event, which is run on the first Saturday in August. We are trying to keep a Lincoln County tradition going. Since we are a new organization we depend entirely on donations and fund raising. If you have any suggestions for future years events, please let us know. We can always use the help!

Amazing new powers of communication can now be yours.

We just improved your telephone network. You can now make life simpler and more convenient with Contel's Premier Package.

Premier Package offers six advanced calling services for only $4 per month. It includes services like Call Waiting, which puts busy signals out of business by letting you answer a second call while you're on the phone.

Do Not Disturb lets you prevent unwanted calls by giving callers a recorded message. You can let important callers through by giving them a personal identification number.

Cancel Call Waiting lets you temporarily halt call waiting if you don't want an important call interrupted.

The other services are Three-Way Calling, Wake-Up Reminder, and Call Forwarding.

If you'd like to possess these amazing new powers for only $4 per month, simply call your Contel office at 1-800-635-6471. Even if they're not what you'd call amazing, they're still surprisingly handy.

Ernest V. Joiner's
OPINION

● If you want to exercise power, try serving on a jury. There is a belief among laymen that if they are chosen for jury duty they have to weigh evidence presented, abide by the law, and do what the judge instructs them to do. Not so. A story in the Washington Post recently explained what "Jury Nullification" is all about. This is an ancient common law concept that says a jury has total discretion, and if it finds a law is unjust, or should not apply in a particular instance, it can find a defendant not guilty—no matter how damning the evidence is. The jury can make its own law or ignore any law in its pursuit of justice. Obviously, some laws are unjust; or unjust when applied to certain cases.

● Judges seldom point these things out to jurors, mostly because of a Supreme Court decision in the 1890s which allowed judges to refuse to inform juries of their ancient rights and prerogatives in arriving at a decision. If a judge tells the jury to ignore certain evidence, the jury doesn't have to comply. Certain comment may be ordered stricken from the record, but it cannot be stricken from the minds of jurymen. This theory was instituted to protect people from royal oppression, and it is as valid today as it was in ancient times, a part of the common law upon which much of our present-day law is based.

● The Post article cited the case of Mayor Marion Barry of Washington, DC who is on trial for crack-smoking and cocaine use. Jury Nullification was discussed in this case because his indictment is seen as a white plot against a black official. Therefore, an all-black jury was selected with the defense gambling that it will find the mayor not guilty—in spite of the number of laws said mayor has obviously broken. While it would be personally gratifying to see this monster behind bars, I am glad that the policy of Jury Nullification has arisen and received publicity that will acquaint Americans with a fundamental right they seem to know little about.

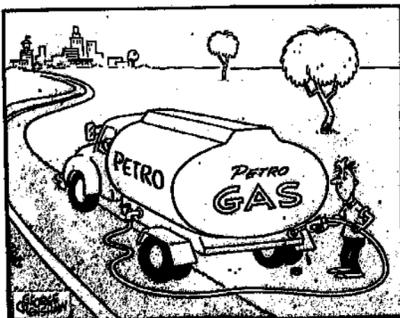

● Maybe we need some Political Nullification, too. The National Education Association of New Mexico, the state's largest organization for school employees, has endorsed a slate of candidates for state office in November. Any time the NEA endorses a candidate one may be sure that an "understanding" has been reached whereby the candidate, if elected, will "cooperate" with NEA in its enduring struggle for more tax money and more power over schools. I am delighted to get this list. I will vote against every one of them in November because of the alliance with NEA. They are: Bruce King, governor; Casey Luna, Lt. governor; Tom Udall, attorney general; Stephanie Gonzales, secretary of state; David W. King, state treasurer; Robert E. Vigil, state auditor; Jim Baca, land commissioner; and Eric P. Serna, corporation commissioner.

● Juan Jiron, a Carrizozo volunteer firefighter, declined to tell our reporter Doris Cherry why he and three of his fellow firefighters refused to attend a fire academy five-day training session in Socorro this week. The group had planned to attend, and presented town trustees with a requisition for $1860 to cover their expenses. When trustees questioned the high cost, the requisition was approved pending approval of the mayor. Then the mayor called the fire marshal's office to check on the cost. She was informed that the cost was $1300, not the $1860 the firemen had requested. The mayor then wrote a check for $1300. The firefighters were angry and threatened to quit. It was learned that the group planned to take the extra money and spend it on a "party" at some Socorro location. Caught with their hands in the town's cookie jar, they retaliated by refusing to attend the academy.

● Firemen are special people. They face physical danger and even put their lives on the line in doing a job for which they receive no compensation from the town. They do get a $100 a month pension when they reach retirement age and have a minimum of 10 years on the job. But this public service is no excuse for trying to steal money from the town to enjoy an evening of revelry, complete with steak and lobster and assorted goodies that, in this instance at least, would have amounted to more than $100 per person had the scam succeeded.

● Mayor Kuhnel said the money saved could go toward furnishing bathrooms in the new fire station now under construction. Funds for such niceties are scarce, and the $1860 saving will help.

● I suggest to firemen who feel the town owes them an occasional "night on the town," that they take the matter directly to town trustees. Trustees are pretty understanding people, and they appreciate the volunteer work performed by firemen. They might agree to support an occasional bash. It certainly beats the failed alternative.

The wolves are out again!

Ruidoso Council under fire

By J.A. "AI" JUNGE

The Ruidoso Village Council, under Mayor Victor Alonso, is being questioned on what is being done, has been done, or will be done to complete the long awaited civic center.

The same pattern is arising now as in the past, when our local newspaper and a number of local citizens are quick to criticize on matters for which they had little knowledge or inclination to learn the facts.

A good example of this occurred when the council was considering installation of a solid waste compactor transfer system a few years ago. From a simple idea in January 1981 until the system was placed in operation in April 1986 there were many suggestions, ideas, and criticisms thrown at the council. During that five years there were numerous town meetings and newspaper articles—all against the compactor/transfer idea. This attitude was in spite of the fact that the system was needed and would prove large cost savings. The council was recalled in 1984 and the compactor/transfer idea was featured in the recall effort.

Fortunately, in spite of the objections, the outgoing council approved the purchase of the system, leaving it up to future councils to complete the project. Since installation the system has paid for its cost and has grossed over $200,000 per year.

The civic center faces the same problems as councils faced in the past. If one has an idea in Ruidoso, there are forces that will rise to challenge you. Those who criticize generally have no facts or knowledge of the issue—they attend no council meetings—listening instead to those who are similarly ill-informed and act without rhyme or reason.

The council meeting of Aug. 2 is an excellent example of how difficult it is for the council to deal with such a situation.

The council was interrogated by Bill Wooley, chairman of the board of the Cree Meadows Country Club. Lack of knowledge was quickly evident by asking questions which had been answered in the past at one or more meetings. The council listened patiently, as it always does, but finally was forced to limit Mr. Wooley in his rather long series of questions.

R. D. Hubbard voiced concern about the civic center's appearance conforming to that of the hotel. Mr. Hubbard was assured again that the original agreement that the civic center and hotel would conform in appearance had not been changed.

Here are answers to the more obvious questions:

1. Yes, we will construct a center of more than 12,000 square feet and probably as large as 35,000 to 40,000 square feet in size. Less than a maximum size as stated will not accommodate the size of meetings we plan to serve.
2. Yes, the original architects agreement has been cancelled. We are paying for the work performed thus far.
3. No, we don't lose the efforts of the original architect as the oncoming architect will have access to the work on hand.
4. Yes, the civic center and hotel will have a similar appearance on the outside areas.
5. Yes, the target date for the center's completion is 7-1-91.
6. Yes, there will be adequate meeting rooms in the civic center.
7. Yes, there will be adequate funds to build the maximum size structure.
8. No one on the council is involved in any architecture or building firm.

The Ruidoso News, in an article dated Aug. 2 covering the council meeting of July 31, and in an editorial of the same date, supports the fact that the News is not pro-council.

In the March 1990 election every candidate supported by the Ruidoso News was thoroughly defeated. This defeat has resulted in the anti-council attitude which we face at the present time. My alleged association with a Ft. Worth company was incorrectly reported, as has been done in the past. My comments to the council in April 1988 that I remembered a company in Ft. Worth whose building concept could save some money on the civic center. I have never visited this company and, at the time, had not spoken to the owner in over 26 years. The Ruidoso News reported that I had a friend in Ft. Worth who could build the civic center. Hog wash.

The News editorial of the 8-2-90 issue further demonstrates its attitude by saying we hope that the council isn't taking a chance of losing the performing arts center being donated by the A. D.

CORRECTION

A statement in the Aug. 2 issue of The News about no services being available in White Oaks is incorrect. Sodas, coffee, ice and snacks are available in White Oaks only at Birdsong's Crafty Cages shop. The shop is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. everyday.

The Spencers will praise the council for the outstanding structure we plan to build. We will build a structure to fit the needs of the citizens of Ruidoso. The editorial went on to say, "the 7-23 edition of the Tarrant Business paper stated that the Speed Fab Crete Company . . . was negotiating with the Village of Ruidoso for construction of a new civic convention center." Had the News checked their source they would have found that the only statement made by the Ft. Worth company was that a presentation had been made to the Ruidoso Council to explain what the Fab Crete process was all about. But the News jumped on this info, correct or not, as it placed a suspicion on the Ruidoso council.

It is regrettable that the citizens have only one local paper to read.

The Ruidoso City Council, at long last, is acting within the scope of any successful business and the voters of this city should be proud of this council. The backing of the Ruidoso News would be helpful.

SERIOUS WARNING OF A MASSIVE SOVIET DECEPTION

In 1984, a former KGB major named Anatoly Goltizyn, who defected in 1961 at the US Embassy in Helsinki, wrote a book entitled, New Lies For Old.

In this book, he warned that with regard to Gorbachev's Glasnost, "The Soviet Union is engaged in a massive long-term deception operation, designed to destroy NATO . . . and encourage the United States to unilaterally disarm, while observing continuing, indirect Soviet aggression in Asia, Africa and Latin America."

This might be dismissed as fantastic except for the other predictions in this book:

1. The Berlin Wall will be dismantled.
 2. Censorship will be relaxed in the Soviet Union.
 3. A government containing elements in solidarity with the Roman Catholic Church would be formed in Poland.
 4. This dazzling array of liberalization will astonish the West, which will then disarm itself.
- There was also Goltizyn's accuracy in fingering the extensive KGB penetration

Letters to the editor

Illegal dumping

EDITOR—I read the story in the Lincoln County News of July 26, 1990 relative to action by Lincoln County Commissioners on solid waste (garbage). Earlier stories about illegal dumping on land of Southern Pacific railroad close to Carrizozo is also very germane.

Looking back over the last 35 years in Ruidoso, solid waste programs worked pretty well in the past. Starting with the original "dump and burn" pit about 1938 on (then) Forest Service land, west of the Stroud Building, near Ruidoso Financial Center, and up until the sanitary landfill was moved to the current location near Fort Stanton, most people in the Ruidoso area depended on municipal pick-up and/or taking their garbage to the appropriate place.

About the time the landfill was moved to the present Fort Stanton location, the population started to increase dramatically. I cannot say whether the location of this landfill or the increased population caused people to dump solid waste illegally in the closest, most convenient lot, side canyon, seldom used street, or wherever.

In any event, the amount of garbage dumped illegally around the Ruidoso area has increased dramatically. Some subdivisions in the village limits have garbage dumped in dedicated streets. Go and look around. The Ruidoso area does not have the corner on unlawful dumping of garbage. I believe that this practice of dumping garbage illegally in any convenient spot is true for all of Lincoln County.

With Lincoln County proposing to offer residents outside municipalities only a compactor for household waste at the Fort Stanton location and construction waste dumping only at Capitán, the problem of illegal dumping all over the county is going to increase dramatically.

The reason provided by Commissioners Petty and Hemphill for eliminating dumpsters pick-up around Lincoln County in your Lincoln County News story of July 26, 1990 is very strange. Commissioner Petty referred to providing free collection services to some communities while making a charge to all property owners. Commissioner Hemphill stated that to provide free services to certain areas and not to others was possibly illegal.

Why has this question of fairness on Lincoln County tax dollar expenditures suddenly become such a major factor? New Mexico law requires that the tax levy be consistent throughout Lincoln County. This is to say the Ruidoso residents must pay the same basic tax rate as the residences of Lincoln, Nogal or wherever.

Several county services, including police services, are not provided to residents of municipalities even though these municipal residents help to pay for these services through property taxes. Therefore, the residents of municipalities pay a lot of property tax to Lincoln County and do not receive very much in return. We're to be "fair" with our property tax dollars, I believe that the Lincoln County government would be just about out of business.

The residents of Lincoln County need to wake up and figure out just what the angust county commissioners have done. I believe by eliminating solid waste pick-up in Lincoln County, a bad situation has been made worse. Further, I wonder if Lincoln County does not have some legal liability on solid waste pick-up in the county?

DAN D. SWEARINGIN, Ruidoso.

of French intelligence, as well as the "Cambridge Five"—including the notorious Kim Philby, Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean, who so badly undermined British Intelligence.

The Goltizyn's predictions are now coming true, too—with an economic vengeance.

The city of Killeen, Texas is being economically devastated by the dismantling of General George Patton's famed "Hell on Wheels" Second Armored Division.

With property values plunging 20 percent since January, and unemployment going through the roof, Killeen's Mayor Major Blair says with anguish: "This is an awfully fine unit to be throwing away. It will be worth until the Russians get rid of theirs before we did it."

In New Hampshire, a state that used to enjoy watching the economic misery of Miracle Mike Dukakis' Massachusetts, the Boston Globe reports: "The sagging defense and computer companies of Massachusetts are panicking just as badly in Southern New Hampshire."

Nearly 20 percent of West Point's Class of 1986 has now opted to resign their commissions in view of Defense Secretary Cheney's lament: "I am going to have to throw people out on the street, freeze promotions, and do great violence to our most important military asset, our men and women in service."

Why not, instead, cut two-thirds of the congressional staffers, and all of the National Endowment For the Arts and the Corporation For Public Broadcasting?

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—The search for gold at Victorio Peak is not going as quickly as expected.

At the beginning of the year, following passage of congressional legislation by Rep. Joe Skeen and negotiations with White Sands Missile Range officials, professional treasure hunter Norman Scott reported that the search could be completed within the month of April.

But that estimate turned out to be grossly optimistic. Unlike the good-old-days of the past, it now takes complicated, exhaustive environmental impact statements in order to look for buried treasure. That assessment was completed last month by firms from Albuquerque and Las Cruces. July and August will be consumed by a period for public comment on the outrageous harm that will be perpetrated on this obscure hill in the middle of a missile range that will probably be forever closed to the public.

Assuming the Friends of Dry Hills are not able to convince state and federal authorities that our ecosystem will be forever devastated if Victorio Peak suffers a puncture wound, searchers expect to begin their hunt in September. Once again the estimate is probably grossly optimistic. The Ova Noss Family Partnership likely doesn't realize what it is up against. There are trust fund babies in the Land of Enchantment with nothing better to do than look for projects about which to become indignant.

If and when the 200-page study is reviewed by enough engineers, geophysicists and professional complainers and passes through all the hoops, excavation can begin—probably not before November.

Meanwhile a major research expedition was allowed at the peak May 12-21. The most advanced underground radar techniques and equipment were used to probe under the hill for the cavern in which Doc Noss claims to have found gold bars stacked like cordwood. The team, headed by geophysicist Dr. Lambert Dolphin, found the cavern and identified a route along which a modest tunnel could be dug.

Four to six inch holes will be drilled into the hill to intersect the caverns in the areas of greatest interest. Finally, a new TV camera system will be lowered into these holes to view the caverns remotely prior to actual excavation.

This Victorio Peak search is one of the more sophisticated presently being conducted in the world. Such efforts no longer involve a Jeep and a shovel. The Ova Noss Family Partnership is a major organization, headed by grandson Terry Delonas out of offices in Newport Beach, California. In addition to the engineering side of the gold search, constant fundraising must take place.

The partnership has been publishing a monthly newsletter for over a year that goes to partners and supporters. It is a slick eight-pager with pictures and updates. I have just received a copy of the latest issue, which also features T-shirts, baseball hats, photographs and videotapes available for sale to supporters and friends. Anyone interested might write to P.O. Box 10441, Newport Beach, CA

New Mexico:

Rich in natural resources, poor in per capita income

We are a state rich in natural resources, yet its residents are largely ignorant of the government office which controls them, says Republican state land commissioner candidate John Bigbee, speaking July 24 to Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County (FRWLC), members and guests.

The former deputy land commissioner then detailed responsibilities of the office he seeks, an office he describes as "one of the most important in New Mexico."

"The estimated valuation of New Mexico's natural resources is $48 billion," he told the large gathering. "We're second only to Alaska." This wealth, held in land grants and trusts, is based on reserves of natural gas, oil, coal, molybdenum, potash and copper. In these resources, New Mexico ranks in the top four among other states.

Revenues generated from them support institutions such as state schools for the blind and deaf, New Mex-

Much of the expedition's cost is financed through sale of the story to magazines and television programs. NBC's Unsolved Mysteries has carried two major productions on the search. Both programs have been aired more than once. The series is sure to be a continuing source of updates on the adventure. Watch for them.

In the meantime the searchers had better hope time does not run out on them again. In 1977 they were given just one month inside the missile range for the treasure hunt. This time Congress gave them a year to settle the question once and for all. In 1977 no time-consuming environmental impact statements were required.

This time the hill may not be the biggest obstacle. The mountain of paperwork and burdensome government regulations may be what conquers them in 1990.

ico Military Institute, Carrie Tingley Hospital, the state penitentiary, and others, he said. And "25 percent of every school dollar comes from revenue generated by the land grants."

Yet voters remain largely ignorant of the state land office, says the former state representative. He related an anecdote of a voter who referred to it as "government welfare." Upon reading Bigbee's campaign card, "that gentleman changed his mind in a hurry!"

Bigbee, past president of the international Center of Holistic Resource Management, concluded, "If we're that rich (in natural resources), why are we 47th in per capita income?"

He then praised FRWLC's recycling program and voter registration efforts.

Bigbee cited his experience as deputy land commissioner as his chief qualification for his candidacy. Carrizozo rancher Stirling

Canyon CowBelles are pushing beef

Canyon CowBelles met Aug. 1 at the home of Pat Hume on the Nogal Mesa.

Guests for the luncheon were Lynn Gallacher and Patricia Broom, both became members at the meeting.

August birthday members were Ruth Wilson, Margaret Stearns, Cheri Goad and Joyce May. These birthday donations are sent to the Girl's Ranch at the end of the year.

Canyon CowBelles will furnish the beef and help serve the Buyers Luncheon at the Lincoln County Fair.

The Canyon Fair Booth will be selling homemade cinnamon rolls, coffee, tea, candy, the State CowBelle Cook Book and the Brand Napkins. Literature on beef products and beef cooking will also be available at the booth. The new state CowBelle T-shirts will be on display.

Plans were made to work one day at the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium near Ruidoso in October.

Old Lincoln Days have come and gone and the Smokey Bear Lions thank all of the good folk who contributed to their highly successful endeavor. The "Lady Lions" worked many long hours baking for the event, but though they are tired and spent, their financial rewards more than made up for the expended energy. All revenue goes back into their fund for helping the less fortunate. At the top of their agenda is supplying glasses to children and elderly people who cannot afford them. It was most gratifying to the ladies and gentlemen of the Smokey Bear Lions when Monica Gonzales of Lincoln came up to them and wanted to buy something from them. She said, "You bought my glasses for me last year when I was having some difficulty in school. Now, I am doing very well in school and I want to give something back to you people." She then brought her mother over and had her picture taken with Lions George and Elaine Beaudry. George Beaudry was president of the Smokey Bear Lions when Monica received her glasses. Monica also wrote the Lions Club a letter of thanks at the time, and it is things like that that make working for the Lions worthwhile. Monica Gonzales is only 10 years old and will go into the 6th grade this month. Congratulations, Monica, on being such a good student.

Geraldine Olson of Philadelphia is visiting with her aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Allen Service of Capitan.

Congratulations to Bill Butts for being "Top Gun" in the shoot-out contest written up in last week's Lincoln County News. Seems he came out No. One in competition with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, The New Mexico State Police and The Lincoln County Sheriff's Office. Sounds very impressive, Mr. Butts. Let us all hear more about you and your accomplishments.

Farm Bureau fights another US purchase of private property

New Mexico's largest agricultural organization is mobilizing to kill or amend a proposed bill in congress that would strip private property from landowners in Grant County in an effort to preserve Indian sites.

The board of directors of the NM Farm and Livestock Bureau voted unanimously to oppose SB 2429, which is a measure proposed by US Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) that purports to protect Mimbres Indians sites in Grant County.

Farm Bureau President William McIlhane said the board took the action after hearing numerous negative reports from residents of southwestern New Mexico.

"As it stands now, this legislation would once again put the government in the business of buying private land and could put people out of their homes. That is totally unacceptable to our organization," McIlhane said.

Known officially as the Mimbres Culture National Monument Establishment Act, the measure proposes to take 1,024 acres of private land and would lock-up a total of 1,514 acres of federal, state and private land.

"We want it to be known that Farm Bureau is not opposed to the preservation of our cultural resources. In fact, people in agriculture have long been in the forefront in this arena. What we oppose, is in the strongest terms, is this endless pursuit of private land by the feds in a state where they already own one-third of the ground," McIlhane said.

The Farm Bureau President pointed out that Sen. Bingaman recently held a forum on the bill in Grant County and fielded many concerns about the legislation as it's now written.

"Sen. Bingaman's office is working on some changes in the measure and we sincerely hope the private property issue will be resolved.

The government has no business buying up private property," McIlhane pointed out. "We must also remember this is taxpayer money and our nation is in no financial condition to be buying up land everytime the wind blows," McIlhane said.

rien's wedding. Lone Star Express will be playing for the reception.

Apologies to the campers on my property on Friday and Saturday for the rude interruption of your fine music and party.

Whoever broke the window at the saloon should come in and tell Misty about it, and why.

Lincoln was fun, and we all had a good time. Billy the Kid and Pat Garret were especially nice. Thanks guys.

Thank you all for a safe and fun weekend.

COMPUTER ASSISTED INSTRUCTION

During the 1989-90 school year, the Capitan Schools implemented an Integrated Learning System (24 Station Computer Lab) for all students in grades Kindergarten through Eighth. The primary emphasis was on Reading, Math Skills and Concepts and Language Arts. For the 1990-91 school year, this lab will be expanded to the High School. Not only will the lab have thirty-seven separate courses available in the system, but the machines will be IBM which will provide for the capability of networking with the integrated learning system, but can run IBM and other MS-D OS software.

Some unique features of this System are: CURRICULUM: 1) Includes continuum of curriculum covering math, reading, language arts, and computer education from primary to adult basic education levels; 2) Provides instruction appropriate for remedial, average, and gifted levels; 3) Includes programs specifically designed for early childhood education which match Kindergarten objectives for cognitive skills; 4) Aligns with State Competencies. INDIVIDUALIZATION: 1) Uses adaptive testing techniques for placement during the first 10 sessions; 2) Uses sophisticated techniques to determine appropriate sequence of instructional modules for students; 3) Uses pattern of responses correct; 4) Continually assesses each student's mastery level across a complete range of skills; 5) Based on that mastery assessment, moves the students forward or provides additional tutorial help; 6) In each instructional session, prerequisite skill practice as appropriate; 7) In each instructional session, adjust proportion of exercises to emphasize skill areas in which the student is weak. INSTRUCTIONAL FEATURES: 1) Provides problem-solving environments in which students can experiment and explore solutions; 2) Integrates critical thinking skills in each course. Challenges the students to explore and apply concepts; 3) Integrates science applications in a comprehensive math course; 4) Integrates specific teaching of problem-solving strategies in a comprehensive math course; 5) Provides speech when essential for instruction; 6) Uses speech in instructionally significant ways - in directions and specific tutorial messages that respond to student errors; 7) Provides tutorials which appear at the instant a student makes an error and provides instruction specific to the error; 8) Includes a guided writing course which uses a word processor, spelling checker, and idea processor, as well as instructional components in the writing process; 9) Reports academic progress of each student at any time; 10) Pinpoints specific skills for each student in which they need instructional intervention; 11) Provides diagnosis and instruction in one integrated system with no separate testing required.

The Capitan Schools feel that with this learning system, its balanced curriculum and its excellent teaching staff, students will dramatically increase their achievement growth rate. Normally, students gain a grade equivalent of one month for each hour spent in the lab. Students average 2 1/2 hours per week in the lab, while Chapter I and Special Education students average 5 hours per week in the lab.

HIGH SCHOOL CURRICULUM - Features 76 separate courses ranging from Latin I and II, Spanish I and II, Art I and II, Physics, Chemistry, Advanced Math, Anatomy, Lincoln County History, Wildlife Science, Drama, Band and Choir.

ACHIEVEMENT - Capitan students average 15 percentile point above the national average on Standardized Tests, and all students pass the national average on College Entrance Exams, and all students pass the New Mexico High School Competency Exam.

CURRICULUM K-12 - The Capitan Schools will incorporate into the curriculum a critical thinking skills component; a cognitive education component; a component of respect, responsibility and other moral values. In addition, a comprehensive health education program stressing personal health, mental and emotional health, substance abuse, and nutrition will be incorporated.

Sheriff's report

The kitchen in the Lincoln County Jail rated a 100 from the New Mexico Environmental Improvement Division last week.

The rating is based on an inspection of the refrigerator, stove, garbage cans and other areas of the kitchen, said Carol Zamora, cook. The perfect score had never been achieved before in Zamora's five years with the department.

Other sheriff's department activities include:

AUG. 1

8:41 a.m.—an anonymous caller reported a subject was cutting the chain and lock off the gate at Cimarron Mill east of Carrizozo. When a deputy responded he found no one there, but the chain looked as though it had been cut. However, there were no tracks or other indications of a crime. The deputy also checked the Sierra Blanca Mill about one mile south and found nothing.

2:46 p.m.—an employee at Alto County Club reported a truck dropped concrete on the roadway. Sheriff's office (SO) contacted various concrete delivery companies and found Valley Transit of Ruidoso was in the area. The driver of the truck agreed to clean the concrete off the road.

AUG. 2

9:20 p.m.—Rick Emmons of Carrizozo reported a fight between Rito and Paul Zamora at a neighbor's house. Carrizozo Police responded. There were no arrests.

10:56 p.m.—some people staying at the Nazarene Camp in Angus reported a mini-van with Colorado plates ran them off the road by Bonito Lake. The incident was referred to New Mexico State Police (NMSP).

AUG. 3

10:22 a.m.—Ralph Dunlap of Lincoln reported a person was trying to set up a soft drink sales without authorization or permit in Lincoln. SO advised the person to leave.

6:33 p.m.—officers responded to an accidental shooting in Carrizozo. Davin Epperson, 14, was found bleeding from the eye. Officers learned Epperson and other kids were shooting BB's at .22 bullets when one apparently went off, striking Epperson in the eye. Carrizozo ambulance transported him to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso first. He later was transferred to Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital in Alamogordo. He was then taken to a hospital in El Paso for further surgery.

8:51 p.m.—two deputies assisted special agents from the Dept. of Public Safety shut down the White Oaks Bar.

11:12 p.m.—Corona EMS was dispatched to a fatal accident between Carrizozo and Corona on Highway 54. Ruben Dave Chino and Richard Lopez Jr., both of Mescalero, died when their vehicle rolled four times. A third passenger also was thrown from the vehicle.

AUG. 4

9:21 a.m.—Paul Collins of Carrizozo reported a breaking and entering. Carrizozo Police responded.

9:55 a.m.—SO took a report of a burglary from Phil Kendrick in Alto.

8:46 p.m.—a massive search by various agencies, including White Mountain Search and Rescue, Sheriff's Posse, NMSP, Civil Air Patrol and US Forest Service, resulted in the rescue of two women lost in the White Mountain Wilderness above Bonito Lake. Sue Butler, 45, of Indian Springs, NV and Brenda Rollo, 40, of Fresno, TX were found Sunday at 8:05 a.m. They were lifted out of the wilderness by helicopter from Holloman Air Force Base and returned to their families at the trail head. The women thought the 13+ mile trail was about ¼ of a mile. They determined the distance by a simplified map in a tour guide.

8:59 p.m.—Petra Sandoval of Carrizozo reported she was bitten by a dog. According to reports, Sandoval went out to bring her son's dog into the house. When she untied the dog it attacked her. The attack was unprovoked. The seven-month-old Chow dog bit her several times on the right forearm, then knocked her to the ground and bit her on the side. Her daughter then tried to get the dog away from her mother, but the dog then bit her on the right hand and left thigh. Both women were taken to LCMC. The dog was impounded for the mandatory 10 days.

9:55 p.m.—SO responded to a report of a fire and loud party in front of Birdsong's house in White Oaks. SO talked with Birdsong's and advised them if the fire got away from them it was their problem.
