

Ruidoso terminates Mesa contract, approves E-911

By BLAKE MARTIN

Ruidoso City Council met to discuss topics ranging from enhanced emergency phone line service and Civic/Events Center design to the adoption to provide for liens and foreclosure for Lodger's Tax penalties.

Larger than normal attendance included County Manager Nick Pappas, Mayor Warth of Capitan, and Mayor Alonso's family.

Bill Karn Sr., chairman of the city council television committee, reported that positive telephone response and new sponsorship would help keep the meetings on the air. They will be shown on channel 11 at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Karn especially thanked Parson's productions, Dick Weber, and Al Junge. Improved presentation and format hope to "heighten the interest" of the program in the future.

George Puckett, executive director of the Economic Development Corporation, submitted quarterly financial reports which were reviewed by the council with no questions.

Mayor Victor Alonso reported that Stephanie McCall of Ruidoso High School had written him a letter requesting a youth center, "free of drugs and alcohol." Mayor Alonso promised that when the council went back into budget cycle reviews within the next six months, they will address this need.

Barbara Duff added that she too had received a similar letter from the mayor's daughter, Angela.

The mayor also reported on the village's involvement in the Service Commission District. Improved collection and service along with more customers paying their bills reflect harmony and spirit of cooperation within the county, he said.

Charles Norwood further presented an outline of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (SWA), and the opportunities that accompany its creation. According to Norwood, the adoption of the Communities Service Act and the Joint Powers Agreement combines communities countywide, and gives them authority over collection, transport, and disposal of waste materials.

Representation on the board is the result of community population, solid waste production, and area potential for new customers.

Along with the environmental services gross receipts tax increase, funding for SWA will also include user fees for collection and disposal, and issuance of revenue bonds.

Mayor Alonso noted the potential of SWA to raise property taxes up to 10 mills. Norwood commented that that sort of action was unforeseen in light of alternative sources of funding.

More than collection and transportation, Norwood continues, SWA will have the ability to dispose of, recycle, and compost waste. In the past, it has been compacted and taken to Roswell.

In the future, he concludes, our spirit of cooperation and experience will be valuable as state and federal regulations become more stringent. "There is something in this for all of us," says Norwood.

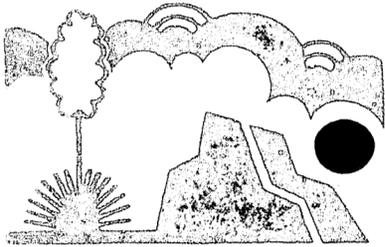

There will be a public hearing Thursday night at 6:30 concerning this issue. Nick Pappas will present to the Solid Waste Commission.

Mayor Alonso then issued a proclamation of Yellow Ribbon Day for soldiers sent to Saudi Arabia. White Mountain Elementary students have been saving aluminum cans toward monies to send care packages for the soldiers. Monday, Nov. 5, will

Workshop sponsored by clubs

The November meeting of the Carrizozo Women's Club will be co-sponsored by the Lincoln County Cooperative Extension Service and the Carrizozo Women's Club at 7 p.m. on Nov. 8.

Participants will make a Christmas angel and will need: old scissors, 1 1/4 yards of muslin or cotton/polyester fabric 45 inches wide, or a white or pastel sheet, one bunch of medium size satin roses, or a small bunch of fabric flowers (all available at WalMart or Sprouse Ritz), 6 yards of 2 1/2 inch wide ribbon (3 yards of 2 colors to coordinate with ribbon), a hot glue gun and several glue sticks.

Extension Home Economist Betty McCreight asks participants to tear the fabric into 31 - 1 inch wide strips, selvage to selvage. Cut 8 of these into 15 inch pieces. The rest of the supplies needed will be provided for a cost. Helen Lock also will instruct the workshop.

the league chartered six months ago and now has members from all areas of Lincoln County.

Only local candidates spoke, from state representative to probate judge.

Each was allowed a limited time to speak and all were asked same questions for each position.

In last week's issue of THE NEWS, candidates for governor were listed. THE NEWS failed to mention write-in gubernatorial candidate Libertarian Joseph Knight. A slot appears above the governor's position for the write-in. Once a write-in is put into the slot, the position is locked into place. If a voter lowers a lever for either declared candidate and wishes to vote for write-in, raise the lever to negate the vote and open the slot. However, once the candidate is pulled, once the curtains are pulled to open the curtains, no vote can be changed.

Thursday night, moderator Dorothy Lockwood, state league board member from Albuquerque, kept candidates to their limits with the help of timekeeper E. J. Fouratt.

The night began with state representative candidates for District 56, which includes Ruidoso and the Hondo Valley. Voters in District 57 and 52, covering Capitan-Lincoln and Carrizozo-Corona respectively, cannot vote for the District 56 position.

Republican candidate Ben Hall and Democrat John Underwood seek the seat in the state legislature. Underwood said it is time for a change, with a window of opportunity to raise teachers' salaries, do away with the anti-donation clause, encourage private industry with tax incentives, and industrial revenue bonds.

Hall listed his six years as state representatives when he introduced 80-90 bills, with a 80-90 percent success rate. He also served four years as county commissioner.

To keep in touch with county affairs he serves on county committees and city committees as well. His main concern is for the welfare of the people in District 56, from families on welfare to bankers. He has worked with an open door for the last six years. He also advocated doing away with the anti-donation clause.

A question asked what was the highest priority in the legislature. Underwood said increased salaries for teachers would be his first move in his first session. He also wants to bring parents and community back into education, such as creating programs to bring senior citizens into the classrooms, to lower the second highest dropout rate in the nation.

Hall explained teachers' salaries, relative to per capita income, are the fourth highest for teachers in the US. Ruidoso district has the highest paid teachers in the state. He emphasized reduction of classroom loads and parent involvement to help teachers.

In response to a question about limiting terms for representatives to two, Hall said two terms limit would be disservice, since it takes at least four years to learn the "ropes." He would be happy to limit terms to 10-12 years, but four years are not enough.

Underwood said terms are limited by voters, who use their voting power to expel nonresponsive legislators. He liked the Oklahoma legislation limiting terms to 12 years.

As for legislation to create more new industry and jobs, Underwood said getting rid of the anti-donation clause and tax incentives would help "create a climate of economic wealth."

Hall said the key to economic development is incentive and competitiveness. The state competes with all other states, and although he agreed limits set by the anti-donation clause should be lessened, there need to be controls. He advocated strongly the right-to-work laws, which have been discussed in the legislature, but have never been introduced on the house floor.

Health care for the indigent, is one of the biggest problems in the county and state, with 40 percent without insurance and 40 percent with partial, Hall said. He hopes to work on legislation concerning this problem, since those who cannot pay put a burden on insurance prepayments and the taxpayers.

Underwood expounded on the senior citizens as the "forgotten" part of the population. He listed the recent cuts on Medicare and Medicaid in the US Congress as shameful. He proposes to "work hand in hand" with the insurance industries to find health insurance for senior citizens and indigent people of all ages.

The next candidates were for Magistrate Judge Division I. This court is located in Animal lover donates to upgrade kennel

Carrizozo Mayor Cecilia Kuhnle received some potential financial assistance for the town kennel this week.

A citizen, who declined to identify himself, gave a small covered wagon-type camper trailer to the mayor to sell or raffle off to raise funds to upgrade the town kennels.

The trailer, which has the shape of a little covered wagon, with a bright blue top, and is big enough for a person and the equipment needed for camping, or whatever. Funds raised by the sell or raffle of the trailer will be earmarked specifically for the kennel, the citizen requested.

The citizen offered the trailer because his mother had been an animal lover and he felt she would have liked him to do this act of charity.

The condition of the kennels led to an investigation and citation by the Lincoln County sheriff's office animal control to the town of Carrizozo and Mayor Kuhnle for cruelty to animals.

Last week, Kuhnle appeared in Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean's court for her first appearance. She pled not guilty to the charge for herself. Afterwards she requested town attorney Robert Beauvais prepare and send a letter of appearance to Judge Dean.

Beauvais also is attorney for the county.

Changes listed in new county tax notices

Although Halloween is known for its hauntings, it signals the property owner to think about taxes.

Nov. 2, 24,400 tax bills will be mailed from the Lincoln County Treasurer's office. As in the past the bills will show tax distribution, amounts, assessed and taxable values and due date of Nov. 10. But this year some changes have been made that property owners should be aware of.

Treasurer Shirley Goodloe said the most confusion part of this year's billing might be the method of administration, because all property owners will receive a bill. In the past Goodloe's office mailed tax bills to financial institutions which held mortgages for property owners. Not required by law, it was done as a courtesy, she added.

Collecting taxes from some finance companies became more of a problem which prompted the office to make the change.

"Please take five minutes to read the front and back," said chief deputy treasurer Janice Ware. She pointed out the additional information now printed on the back of the bill. Other information on the back of the bill this year includes due dates of

Nov. 10 and delinquent date of Dec. 10, and second half due date of April 10, 1991 and delinquent date of May 10, 1991; 1987 delinquent taxes; taxpayer option and remedy and protest taxing authorities options, interest

Capitan plugs into the E-911 system

The Village of Capitan opted into the E-911 system at a special called meeting Monday night.

A unanimous vote of trustees Gilbert Montoya, Alfred LeRoy Montes, Dr. David Rouleau and Norm Renfro put the village on track with the state of the art emergency telephone system known as Enhanced (E)-911. Before the meeting, a public hearing was held where Robert Gunter, state E-911 program coordinator, spoke about the program and its costs.

By opting into the program, anyone within the Village of Capitan will have a 50 cent surcharge added to monthly telephone bills. In the case of Capitan, Contel is the telephone company which will charge the additional rates. Of that 50 cents, 25 go toward hardware and 25 cents to networking. The village must be with the program for a year before any hardware can be purchased from the state fund. The cost of the computer hardware is estimated to be more than $200,000. Through the state fund, a state purchasing contract which was recently awarded, will provide the same type of equipment for all E-911 systems in the state. This will provide a consistency and interface among all system, regardless of the telephone company.

Gunter came on board at the state program in August and has since sparked the E-911 programs throughout the state.

MEDICAL REVISIONISM

"In the increasingly strange world of medical revisionism, could cheeseburgers be next?" That is the question posed by a news bit in US News & World Report regarding coffee.

The good news on the caffeine front: A new study in the New England Journal of Medicine says that having four or more cups of coffee a day does not increase the risk of coronary disease. The study says that coffee addicts who switched to decaffeinated for health reasons may actually be at higher risk of getting heart disease. Decaffeinated, perhaps of the way it is processed, may pose a 50 to 60 percent greater risk of heart attack or strokes, the study says.

My opinion: What we don't know does hurt us. Can society manage without studies, surveys, reporters, columnists, editorials, letters-to-the-editor and campaign ads? I will research the matter and reveal my findings on April Fools Day 1991.

MIXED SIGNALS

Travel Holiday in its travel adviser section says that actions speak louder than words and hand gestures are no exception. Familiar gestures have different meanings around the world. For example:

Crossed fingers bring good luck in America and Europe, but in Paraguay are obscene.

Snapping the fingers of both hands in France and Belgium connotes something vulgar.

Thumbs up hitches more than a ride in Australia and Bangladesh, where it's obscene.

The "A-OK" sign with the fingers is rude in Greece and Russia and indecent in Brazil.

Waving palm out in Greece and Nigeria is an insult. In Thailand it conveys anger.

ELECTION RESULTS

Watching the election results come in on the computers after 7 p.m. Nov. 6 can be an interesting event this year. Candidates along with relatives, friends, enemies, backstabbers and scum-suckers gather at the Lincoln County Court House for this social event this year.

If you plan to go, remember that hand signals take new meaning after reading the travel tips on hand signals. When you see a candidate it would be better to voice your greeting or wish. Do not rely on hand signals.

Do not give him or her a crossed fingers signal for good luck. If he or she wins for office or re-election do not give the "A-OK" or the thumb up sign.

The well-traveled sweet old lady or gentleman standing next to you might slap your face or give you a dirty look. Or he or she might take you on your offer.

THINK ABOUT IT

Figures cited by Harper's Index are food for thought. For example:

Percentage of Americans who say that the leftovers in their refrigerators are more than four weeks old: 5.

Maximum running speed of a wild turkey, in miles per hour: 25.

Number of subscribers to The Ostrich News, worldwide: 2,450.

Percentage of hunting injuries in Georgia that are the result of hunters falling out of trees: 36.

Number of sandbags the US Army has shipped to Saudi Arabia since August 2: 2,000,000.

White Ribbon against porn in full swing

The 9th annual National White Ribbon Against Pornography (WRAP) campaign is in full swing, culminating for Pornography Awareness Week on Sunday, Oct. 28 and going until Sunday, Nov. 4.

A $9-billion-a-year industry, pornography reaches and corrupts children and degrades adults. Hardcore pornography traffic is largely dominated by organized crime. By advocating sex anytime, anywhere, with anyone of any sex or age, pornography has a destructive effect on our society, WRAP officials say.

WRAP is organized nationally by Morality in Media, Inc., (MIM), headquartered at 475 Riverside Drive, New York, NY 10115. Morality in Media is a national, interfaith organization working to stop the illegal traffic in pornography constitutionally, through vigorous enforcement of obscenity laws. Pornography Awareness Week (PAW) was begun in 1982 as an effort of American Family Association, and has grown and now promoted by many denominations and non-church

OPINION

● I was embarrassed. Here I was watching a live televised debate in congress last week. It had nothing to do with the impending war in the Middle East or with that body's inability to put a budget together. It was all about the spotted owl. The US Fish & Wildlife Service has declared the spotted owl to be an endangered species, and has barred logging on about half the federal forest land in California, Washington and Oregon. To protect 3,000 owls will cost 28,000 or more logging jobs over the next decade.

● Do you know what a spotted owl is, have you ever seen one, what did one ever do for you? Is their presence more valuable than the jobs of 28,000 workmen and the harm this will do to a vital industry? Would the eco-maniacs who pushed through this Endangered Species law be so sobbingly sentimental if it were known that only 3,000 deadly cobra snakes were alive and had to be protected? We know about the owl's rights, but what about human rights?

● While all this balderdash is being debated by our congressmen-for-life, the National Geographic magazine recently reported that 99 percent of all species that ever existed on earth are now extinct, almost all due to the forces of nature exerted over the life of the earth. Are we in the business of reversing the forces of nature; and if so, how arrogant can we get? Species are placed here for a reason, and they disappear for a reason. If these Green brains had been alive a million years ago, and exhibited the same stupidity then as they do now, we would be up to our collective asses in dinosaurs today.

● Let's put those spotted owls to work. Round up the 3,000 that are upsetting the Pacific Northwest economy and ship them to the Middle East. Toss the owls into Iraq and Kuwait. Then nobody could fire a gun without running the risk of hitting or upsetting an owl. Our soldiers could return home uninjured. Their places in that area would be taken by 10 million volunteer environmentalist anxious to stand guard over the vanishing specie, spotted owl. Too, can you think of a better way to get even with Saddam Hussein?

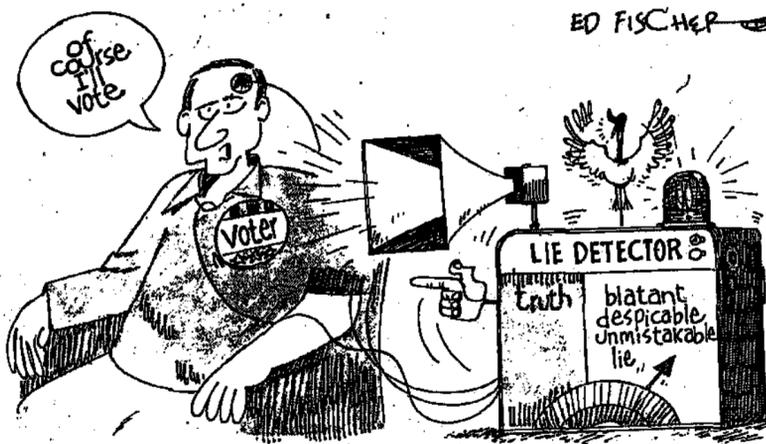

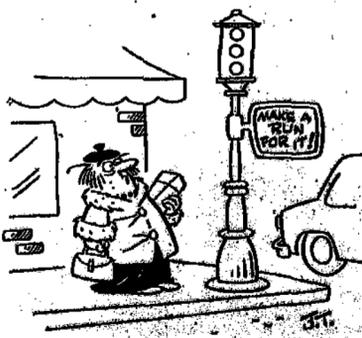

● Now that congress has inflicted new and higher taxes on the poor and middle class, and will be rewarded Nov. 6 by voters who will return them to office, let us focus on the US Postal Service. According to its own figures the average postal employee receives $41,445 a year in wages and benefits. . . Yes, you can fight city hall. An Illinois circuit judge has ordered the near-bankrupt city of East St. Louis to turn over the city hall to the Walter DeBow family. DeBow sued the town after he was beaten in an East St. Louis jail. He won, but the city couldn't pay the damages. So the judge ordered the city hall turned over to DeBow. . . Japanese personal savings increased to more than $5 trillion last year. That equals $126,000 per household compared to practically zilch for American families. . .

● Congress is now debating whether black Americans are entitled to reparations for wrongs suffered under slavery and for decades of racial discrimination. I knew this was coming when congress awarded more than $1 billion to Japanese-Americans in 1988 who claim, and falsely so, that they were "imprisoned" during World War II. A federal commission has now been appointed to study the black reparation issue. Considering what congressmen do to buy votes to keep them in office for life, you may rest assured that reparation will be made.

● Considering what happened to the Dartmouth Review when somebody slipped a quotation from Adolph Hitler into the masthead recently, I may be inviting the ire of the NAACP, ACLU and other special interest groups for quoting what American Way Features recently had to say about the black race. Herewith:

● "In all the world's history, no black race has ever originated a written language, the simple use of the wheel or even a simple house. Nowhere, ever, have blacks produced what could be called a high civilization or a free Republic. Government-decreed-and-enforced equality is contrary to the Bible, the Constitution, the free enterprise system, history, and common sense."

● If there is truth in this quotation, then black Americans should compensate the US Government for allowing them to be brought here as slaves, considering how they have progressed and how they share the same rights as all Americans, not to mention special privileges that whites do not enjoy. Increasing numbers are being elected as mayors, governors, congressmen and legislators. One sits on the US Supreme Court. Many are college professors, authors, scientists and technological experts. Perhaps they should take a look at Africa today, compare life there with life in the United States, and forget about having Americans pay for their good fortune.

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—While the powerful Legislative Finance Committee continues to sound the alarm about New Mexico's bleak financial picture, some encouraging signs are appearing on the horizon.

Legislative leaders serving on the LFC are intent on assuring that state agencies do not get too enthusiastic about their funding requests for next fiscal year. It is a wise move but just possibly things might start looking a little better soon.

Two economic indicators show New Mexico's economy is doing better than the nation's. That isn't saying a lot but it surely is a change in our state of affairs.

The Commerce Department reported last week that personal income in New Mexico rose 1.3 percent in the second quarter of 1990, ranking the state 19th in the nation in the growth of personal income. The forecast is for our state to remain at that sort of level while the nation as a whole slowly dips into a recession.

A recession is usually defined as a decline in personal income or employment. In the area of jobs, the nation is just about at recession level. The Sept. 30 report of the New Mexico Department of Labor reveals the country's job growth rate in the past year is a mere 0.1 percent. Employment in New Mexico increased during the same period at a 1.0 percent rate.

Information from the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics that has just been released shows New Mexico ranked 18th in the nation in job growth from 1987 to 1989. During that same period Arizona fell from 2nd to 30th, Texas slid from 23rd to 35th and Colorado dropped from 22nd to 39th.

And in the oil industry, a weekend Roper poll showed independent oil producers feel almost unanimously optimistic about the long-term future of the petroleum industry. Seventy-three percent of the executives surveyed said the Persian Gulf crisis will bring permanently higher oil prices: 94 percent said the crisis will spur interest in alternative energy sources and 97 percent said the demand for natural gas will increase as a result of the higher oil prices.

None of these bits of good news will produce an economic boom any time soon. The independent oil folks also said they don't plan to start drilling activities until they have had a little longer to watch prices fluctuate. None expect the price to stabilize much higher than about $25 a barrel. On Aug. 1, the day before the invasion of Kuwait, the price stood at $21.54. Earlier this month oil hit a record $41 a barrel before falling back to the low $30 range.

But the oil producers said they are busily reviewing new exploration areas at this time in anticipation of being ready on the day industry analysts declare sufficient stability has been attained.

Gov. Garrey Carruthers has enjoyed some breast-beating as a result of New Mexico's improving job picture. He has talked a lot about job creation during his administration. Although his critics maintain the governor never has had a program to produce more jobs, the figures are nevertheless there to show a modest improvement.

Carruthers says one of his regrets is that he has not been able to produce an infusion of jobs into economically depressed northern New Mexico. Following the massive layoffs at the Public Service Company a year or so ago, the governor snapped up Al Robison, the former top PNM financial officer. Robison's charge was to find more jobs for the North. But before the financier got his teeth dug into the project, his attention was diverted toward putting together a company to purchase the ailing PNM.

In the meantime, New Mexico's legislative leaders appear to be taking a wait-and-see attitude toward financial resources for the 1991 legislative session. Tax hikes are being left to Pres. Bush and Congress. Most of the state's efforts this year may be directed toward "clean up" of gross receipts tax exemptions and squeezing out a little more revenue through increased efficiency in the collection of taxes and through improved investment policies.

Changes listed

(1 percent per month) penalty, tax rate and attention mobile home owners, concerning transfer of titles and tax release from the assessor's office.

The actual appearance of the bill is another big change. Ware said Goodloe had been looking for another style of bill which would provide more information when she saw the one from Valencia County.

So this year taxpayers will see a new style. The bill will contain three stubs, one for the 1st half payment of taxes, with tax amounts and delinquent dates printed on it, another for the 2nd half with similar information and the full payment stub. All stubs remind the taxpayer it is the duty of the property owner to forward the bill to the mortgage company if tax payments are escrowed.

No receipts are mailed to taxpayers unless a stamped self-addressed envelope is provided with the payment. Ware said the actual savings for the office by using the bills has yet to be determined, but she foresees a savings in postage, receipts, envelopes and labor.

The bill will arrive in a business size envelope and no return envelope will be provided by the county.

Taxpayers can mail their payments or hand deliver them to the treasurer's office. Ware also said taxpayers in the Ruidoso area can deliver payments to the county sub-office on Cree Meadows Drive in Ruidoso.

If a property owner has not paid 1987 taxes, the information on the taxed property is sent to the state, which in turn places the property on a list and takes over the collection. If taxes are not paid, the property will be sold for the highest bid. The next tax sale in Lincoln County is scheduled Nov. 27. Ware cautioned prospective buyers to do their homework and find out what the property is like before bidding.

Don't let the new bills haunt you, study them for five minutes and tax time should go smoothly. If problems arise, contact the Lincoln County Treasurer's office at 648-2397.

Vote YES on No. 4

EDITOR—With a single stroke of the pen on Jan. 9, 1990 the New Mexico Supreme Court took away one of Carrizozo's most important purchasing powers.

Their ruling eliminated the ability of all public bodies—cities, counties, public schools, colleges, public hospitals and all of state government to lease-purchase personal property and equipment required to meet the everyday needs of Carrizozo's residents.

We can get that power back for our citizens on Nov. 6 by voting FOR Constitutional Amendment No. 4.

I urge all voters in Lincoln County to approve Amendment No. 4. Otherwise, we will remain in helpless limbo.

CECILIA KUHNEL,
Mayor,
Town of Carrizozo.

Ruidoso Town Council

officially commemorate the wish for the soldiers' safe return home.

The mayor urges display of yellow ribbons "to show our appreciation for the sacrifices made in the defense of freedom, which we continue to enjoy as American citizens." Trudy Lopez received the proclamation along with other concerned mothers and relatives.

Ordinance 90-11 is being amended so that it provides lien and foreclosure action for failure to pay lodgers taxes. Essentially, says City Attorney David Thomsen, this will increase revenue by more efficiently enforcing collection.

Also, adds Alonso, it provides for recourse against the property, not the owner, who may be bankrupt anyway.

Al Lane of the Library Committee presented the council with Resolution 90-24 regarding property bequeathed to the Ruidoso Public Library by the late Mary Catherine Anderson Dean. Possible disposition of the property was proposed.

Because of the costs of management of the property, Lane says, liquidation is recommended. The council neither rejected nor accepted the recommendations, instead they advised the committee to reconsider. Councilor Jess Stinson and others advised of the current poor real estate market.

The city council then broke for a 15-minute executive session for discussion of threatened litigation.

Once again, an enhanced emergency 911 was proposed to the council. Robert Gunter of the Department of Finance Administration recommended the village to opt-in for 50 cents per access line.

The new service would allow for computerized location of the caller, and instant notification of all or one emergency services within that jurisdiction.

Councilor J.D. James stated that if one life is saved, it is worth all of it. The result cost of six dollars a year per line must exist for 12 months before equipment and networking can be placed.

The council acted to prepare a resolution to be considered at the next scheduled meeting.

The civic center design was discussed with architect Bob Garland. More specifically, the kitchen equipment is being arranged in the 32,890 square foot event facility.

Again, the mayor mentioned the delayed completion date to be a result of cost efficient construction. The new completion date is Nov. 29, 1991.

A bid of $19,689 was accepted from Sierra Blanca Motor Co. by the council for the purchase of a chassis/cab ambulance replacement.

Also, $18,800 was appropriated for the purchase of a used elevating scraper from Albuquerque. This equipment will be used for the new civic/events center, as well as other citywide projects.

Ed Hyman, chairman of the Lodgers Tax Committee, presented a request for lodgers tax $10,000 fund allocations. The council allotted $3,500 for the purchase of Ruidoso pins for advertising purposes; $6,000 was directed to the Retirement Services Division of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce; and $1,500 to Parks and Recreation.

A public hearing date of Nov. 27, 1990 was set for approval, publication, and adoption of Ordinance 90-12. It will provide the village with authority to order removal of dilapidated buildings, rubbish, debris, etc., from a lot.

Resolution 90-25, an amendment to the 1990-91 fiscal year budget, was postponed until a work session and special meeting on Nov. 7 at 9 a.m.

Rumors of "shutting down the airport" have no foundation, according to the council. Because of problems in the service levels of Mesa Airlines, says the mayor, the chamber of commerce found it difficult to raise the needed airport subsidy to continue service. The council moved to terminate the contract with Mesa Airlines.

Jerry Watts of the chamber later commented on the existence of the Air Transportation Committee. This committee will continue to work with the council to address the issue.

"There is a strong contingency that feels we need air service in Ruidoso," says Watts. With changes in Mesa's service structure, he continued, it became apparent that we need to think about utilizing a different carrier.

Candidates forum

Carrizozo and incumbent Republican Gerald Dean Jr. runs against Democrat Benny Coker. Voters vote for two magistrate judges; division I and division II.

Coker listed his 17 years residence in Lincoln County and 12 years as an elected official in the village of Captian—8 years as trustee and four years as mayor. During that time he worked with state statutes, ordinances and resolutions.

Currently he is in the retail liquor business and proposes to work with the liquor server and the driving drinker to deal with DWI problems. He also proposes to work in the administration end of the court, which he said needs updating and strive for effectiveness in the court and accountability to the voter.

Dean said he is a New Mexico native, raised in the Lovington-Hobbs area. He listed his DWI sentences and record in his court for the last six years. (Magistrate term is for six years, not the two as for other county offices.)

The first question dealt with whether there is enough case load to warrant opening the Capitan magistrate court. Coker said he would have to take a close look at the case load to determine whether it would be more effective to have the additional court.

Dean told of when he first became magistrate and the Carrizozo office was half-time and Capitan quarter-time. To reopen the Capitan court would be cost ineffective, since it takes considerable funds to run the court.

As for community service sentences, Dean said it is more cost effective and would help keep taxes down for the sentences, since it costs taxpayers $32-38 a day to jail someone. Coker likewise agreed to the sentences, and advocated taking more use of them.

As for OR bonds (a release on one's own recognition) in criminal cases, Coker said he was not really in favor of the ORS but each case merits its own review.

Dean said ORs have a place in the system, and they can work to the whole benefit of the case; however, bonds should be used with lots of discretion on the merit of the case.

Division II magistrate judge candidates incumbent Republican Jim Wheeler and Democrat Harrold Mansell then spoke. Wheeler is seeking his fifth election to add to the 14 years already served. He listed his 18 years with the Albuquerque Police Department, 14 magistrate colleges and two national judicial colleges and lots of continuing education as experience. He claims to be fair and impartial with each case speaking for itself.

Mansell has been municipal judge for Ruidoso Downs for the last three years, and the longest tenure of anyone to serve in Ruidoso Downs. He is vice-president of the Lincoln County Development District board of directors, controller for Alto Village (Lakeside Corp.) mayor pro temp for two terms in Ruidoso Downs.

"I don't just want to beat Judge Wheeler, I want to retire Judge Wheeler," he said.

As for community service, Wheeler said he believes in it and uses it. Mansell also uses the service by telling of recent assignments from municipal courts.

As for ORs, Mansell said he would talk with the arresting officer, then said he had turned down 80 percent of the ORs requested in his court, preferring to make the person charged with a crime "set there or make bond."

Wheeler said the first person expected to obey the law is a judge and read a rule which states a judge shall consider OR first.

As for a sentence on a DWI related head-on accident with the driver not licensed, Wheeler said the maximum sentence is three years and $5000 fine, but it takes a district judge. Mansell said he would give the maximum.

County commissioner candidates for District I, II, III also spoke. Voters select one for each district, even though that district does not cover the area in which the voter resides. For District I Democrat Ralph Dunlap spoke of his years as Lincoln County agent helping him know the needs of constituents, with the main priority on roads. A former commissioner, Dunlap listed economic development important. Because he is retired he has more time for complex and time consuming duties of the office. A major concern is to resolve the landfill question and get a lot done if all work together. Dunlap listed things done during his term of commissioner—the airport road, bridges and Rd. 42 near Corona.

Republican Monroy Montes asked all to vote for all three commissioners, then told of his family's fifth generation in Hondo Valley where he is now a farmer.

Montes said he is a "good father, farmer, husband and commissioner."

For District 2, Republican Stirling Spencer and Democrat Chuck Rominger squared off. Spencer told of his 42 years as a Lincoln County resident, leaving only when economic conditions forced him to for six years. He has worked as a waste water engineer in Austin and El Paso, TX. In Lincoln County he has served on the Soil and Water Conservation District board, Carrizozo School Board and Lincoln County Historical Preservation Board. He strives to have fiscal accountability with long-term planning, with expansion of county services only if necessary. He supports county-town cooperation and coordination with the state and invites citizen interrogatives.

Rominger listed his education at Texas Christian University in business administration, his present business in the right-of-way acquisition business, his work with the Dept. of Interior, county assessor, and management of Sitzmark Chalet and Montgomery Ward in Ruidoso in the early 1970s. He is for clean air, water and soil, economic development, to provide jobs for kids to keep them here. He supports the transportation project, dumpsters and advocates the state taking over Devil's Canyon Road.

Candidates for District 3, Democrat Bill Elliott and Republican Thomas Valliant spoke. Elliott listed his four years as commissioner, from 1983-86, first time as vice-chairman and second as chairman. Second time he was unopposed. He advocates economic development and good health care. He also listed accomplishments during his commission terms—paving Gavilan Canyon and Carrizo Canyon Roads, first paving assessment in the state in Alto Village, set alignment for the access road to the airport, instituted dumpsters system, bought Life Line system. He told of the Dec. 13, 1985 Moncor failure which almost lost more than a million of county dollars, but with the help of congressmen persuaded FDIC to wait.

Valliant has lived in Ruidoso 35 years and has three children in school. He runs a small deli in midtown Ruidoso now. He graduated from Ruidoso High School and attended NMMI and ENMU. He has had varied jobs, proving how tough it is to make ends meet in Lincoln County. "We all live here because we want to," he said, and invited a pull for him in the election.

First question for commissioners was how involved should a commissioner become in the daily operations of the county. Montes said qualified people such as the county manager will take care of operations, but a commissioner should stay in touch.

Dunlap said commissioners should set policy and not get involved in the daily operation.

Spencer agreed with Dunlap for commissioners setting policy, then coordinate with officials. Rominger echoed the feeling, "give direction and allow him to proceed."

Elliott also dittoed the setting policy and added, "don't let them assume they are commissioners."

Valliant said it is a unique chance to welcome any input.

As for a countywide recycling program for glass, metal and plastic and composting, Dunlap said the recycling is a final salvation to landfill problems and advocated composting.

Spencer totally supported recycling, but took a realistic view of the costs involved. He could see taxes or levies imposed at first due to the low volume, but to put the financial burden would depend on his constituency.

Rominger supported, but listed the money already spent for studies which he wants to see before proceeding.

Elliott told of federally mandated recycling and said the old dumpsters could be used for recycling bins on a volunteer basis.

Valliant advocated recycling and wanted to go with Otero County for some sort of landfill management system.

Montes said it is the duty of members of our disposable society to recycle and to teach children not to be so wasteful. All commissioners said there are enough employees but advocated increased training, Valliant said staffing is dependent on new development and wanted to keep a tight watch of funds. Montes said to get the most for your dollar, especially in fuel costs.

Martha Proctor, incumbent Republican for county clerk, runs unopposed. She said she is proud and humble to run unopposed, which tells her of the confidence the voters have in her work as clerk, and she pledged to continue. She advocated Republican John Bigbee as commissioner of public lands, and encouraged all to vote.

County treasurer candidates Republican Janice Ware and Democrat Mike Morris told of their qualifications. Ware has worked in the treasurer's office since 1987. She was appointed chief deputy in 1989 and her experience makes her qualified.

Morris told of his graduation from Alamogordo High School, NMMI junior college and UNM. He was a banker for 16 years trained in assessment, loans and personal investments and portfolios. He is married to Karen and has school-age children. He has been in Lincoln County 12 years, runs Mountain Pest Control and is a member of the Ruidoso School Board. He advocated investing county funds for the highest returns, with professionalism, knowledge and expertise.

The role the treasurer plays in the county budget is

Our employees are helping a certain look become fashionable again.

A classic look is becoming popular again in high schools around New Mexico. It's a look many kids thought would never become them. But the people of US WEST® set out to remind kids why they're in school. Through a program called Choices, US WEST employee volunteers visit ninth graders throughout the state and show them how the choices they make as students will affect the choices they have as adults. There's no preaching or lecturing. Students are challenged with real-life situations that demonstrate how more education means more opportunities. At US WEST® we're excited about the Choices program. And about seeing more New Mexico teens take another look at staying in school.

limited to just the treasurer's office, said Ware. Morris told of budgeting with line items and working with the county manager on the budget. As for what taxes are collected, Morris knew of only those on real estate. Ware told of collection for school districts, all municipalities, county, special districts, soil and water, sanitation districts and the state.

For assessor Democrat Wayne Townsend squared off with Republican Patricia Serna. Townsend has been a businessman in Texas and New Mexico for 24 years and never ran in negative cash-flow. His main interest is in real estate appraisals and considers the work of the tax appraiser extremely important. He advocated running the office equitably, and efficiently as possible with accountability. "Eight hours of work for eight hours of pay," he said.

Serna is a native Lincoln Countian and Carrizozo High School graduate. She has worked for the county since 1971 and 18 years as assessor. In 1989 she was appointed to serve as chief deputy assessor. She is trained in all field of the office, has completed two seminars in Dallas and is a member of New Mexico Association of Assessors. She proposes to fulfill her office in an equal, fair and courteous manner.

In response to when are reappraisals and how funded, Serna said the 1985 state law requires reappraisals every two years and a special appraisal fund finances the process.

Townsend echoed the answer.

As for appraised values higher or lower than similar properties elsewhere, Townsend said appraisals must be fair and done with extreme seriousness. Serna said appraisals are based on fair market value and are set for each school district separately, based on ratio studies for reappraisals.

Sheriff's candidates came next; Republican incumbent James McSwane and Democrat Bill Butts. McSwane listed, his one year, ten months as sheriff, city police, district attorney investigator, department of corrections and deputy experience. In that time he has investigated murders and all types of crimes in Lincoln County and assisted Otero County. He told of the only murder during his term, which was solved and the murderer sentenced. He has experience in administration, budget, personnel and civil processes. He has implemented new policies and procedures to improve the office. His department has 27 employees, with deputies averaging 12.5 years experience, 160 hours advanced training in the last year and a half. He credited undersheriff Bob Miller's 35 years of experience as helping tremendously.

He has maintained an open door policy and has decreased the major crime rate in Lincoln County by obligating time in the county and municipalities. "I am not working for the state police, just you," he said.

Butts told of his years with New Mexico State Police, where he became captain. He was trained in investigation, riot control, civil disturbances, search and rescue, pistol. While stationed in Tucumcari, with 132 miles of interstate, he waged war on drugs. He pledged to wage the same war against drugs in Lincoln County, especially in the schools. "You need this Butts behind you in Lincoln County."

As for extra training, McSwane told of the need for training in investigation and all around education, as training in just one area would not allow deputies to serve in all areas.

Butts advocated monthly training sessions for deputies in criminal and traffic. He also wants cooperation between law enforcement agencies. He strongly supported the sheriff's office involvement with traffic enforcement, to support state police which are "too thin" in Lincoln County.

Butts also saw the fight against drugs as the most important problem to deal with. To think Lincoln County has no drug problem is far fetched, with need for interaction into the flow from Mexico. He also advocated tighter DWI enforcement.

McSwane said traffic enforcement would keep deputies from their obligating work for the people. He told of his communication with DEA, National Guard in the drug war. He cited an example of free helicopter service from the guard now, as opposed to the county paying for the service as in the past. He advocated getting those assets to help. With 12 deputies, the six state police can work the highways, he added.

Candidate for probate judge Democrat Ruth Hammond was the last to speak. Her Republican opponent, J.O. (Bud) Payne, did not attend the forum.

Hammond listed her seven years as reporter for Lincoln County News, during which time she researched county records and other involvements which resulted in the political bug biting her. She is active in many county groups, Hazmat public information officer, Civil Preparedness, officer in Families of Ft. Stanton, ARC, state and county, and is actively working to keep Ft. Stanton as a hospital. She invited voters to pull the last lever, "mine's on the bottom." In closing, Lockwood called attention to the retention questions on the ballot for district and court of appeals judges. She said this is the voters' chance to get rid of inept judges. "You do have a choice," she said, but realized the new retention votes are confusing.

Finley credited forum chairman Frankie Jarrell for writing letters to get the candidates there and for the tremendous job she did on the forum.

Election is Tuesday, Nov. 6. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. If unsure about voting precinct, contact the county clerk's office at 648-2394.

Grizzlies blast Reserve, 39-0

By CHRIS SCHLARB

The Carrizozo Grizzlies clinched a state quarterfinal berth last Friday by rolling over Reserve 39-0. Several turnovers helped the Grizzlies defense to its third shut-out in a row and its fourth of the season.

Chris Barela led the scoring barrage with 4 TDs and over 100 yards rushing, the first one coming on a 4 yard jaunt with 5:42 left in the first quarter. Archuleta kicked the extra point. Barela's second score came with two seconds gone in the second quarter. Archuleta again kicked the extra point.

After a fumble recovery, Barela ran 56 yards before being brought down from behind. One play and a flag later he ran in from 15 yards out. The extra point was blocked.

Rebel Sandoval ended a scoring threat by Reserve late in the first half with an interception. Score at the half 20-0. A Reserve fumble recovered in the end zone by Kevin Sheehan started the scoring in the third quarter. The two point attempt failed. The ensuing series by Reserve resulted in a fumble recovered by Heath Rickman on the Reserve's own 4 yard line. On the next play, Barela ran in for his final touchdown. The two point attempt was no good.

The third quarter was quiet until Reserve tried a fake punt that was picked off by Justin Portillo with a minute left in that period. Another Reserve interception, this one by Lee Roy Zamora, led to the final score of the game. A two yard plunge by Kevin Sheehan and the extra point by Archuleta ended the scoring.

Hondo Lady Eagles win over Hagerman

On Oct. 22, the Hondo Lady Eagles won a match for home fans.

Hagerman gave the Lady Eagles one scare in the second game, but the Hondo girls came out with their first district match win in many seasons. Scores were 15-0, 10-15, 15-10 and 15-6.

Hondo's Tanya Carmichael served first in the 1st game and aced 4 of 5 points. Patricia Salas stepped up for another point. In the next rotation Teresa Montes served 4, with Emily Flores and Faustina Baca to add their one point each. Celena Copeland finished the game with the 14th and 18th points.

In the 2nd game, Hondo took an early lead, but lost in the 4th rotation when Hagerman served 5 straight points to lead 7-4. Emily Flores stepped up to the service line and made 4 straight to give an 8-7 lead. The game saw-sawed until finally Hagerman took charge and won.

Copeland served the ball in the 3rd game for 1. Then Salas made 3 straight for a 4-2 lead. Montes and Baca each made one, Copeland then made 3 more, Carmichael made 2 and Flores 4 with an ace for the 15th point.

The 4th game was all Hondo's. Junior Copeland made 10 straight and aced 7 out of the 10. Hagerman fought back, but Montes added 2 more for a 12-4 advantage. Hagerman closed the gap to 12-6 but Copeland finished the game with the last 3 points.

The Hondo Lady Eagle attack was led by senior Montes with 18 hits, 8 kills. Leading defense was by junior Baca with 8 points and 8 digs. Erica Copeland and senior Roberta Chavez also contributed to the Hondo victory, said coach Cheryl Bowman.

The Hondo girls played Lake Arthur in the first round of district playoffs Tuesday night.

Lady Tigers take district title

Capitan Lady Tigers wrapped up another winning volleyball season by defeating Cloudercroft's Lady Bears in four games to take first place in the district.

The Capitan girls played Cloudercroft girls on their court Saturday afternoon. With the winning match, the Capitan girls are undefeated in district play and have lost only two matches in regular season. Because of their first-place ranking, Lady Tigers will host the final district matches Saturday, Nov. 3.

The Lady Bears gave the Capitan girls a scare in the first game of the match when their Misty McMuller made seven service points and won 15 to Capitan's 10. But the Lady Tigers were not to be put down and came back in the second game to win 15-6. Lesley LaRue's 7 service points. Cindy Castillo made 5 service points, helped by Karie Cox's 2.

Lady Bears decided to make the Lady Tigers work for the next game, bringing the score to 15-12 with Capitan taking the win. Cox made 7 service points and Vickey Sedillo made 6.

In the final game the Lady Tigers took the lead and won 15-5. Crystal Dalton made 5, including the last serve. Cox made the first serve for a total of 4, LaRue made 3 and Sedillo 2 and Castillo 1.

Thursday, Oct. 25, the Lady Tigers played their last home match against Hagerman, an easy win in three straight games; 15-7, 15-3 and 15-10. Cox made 6 in the 1st, Castillo 4 and LaRue 5. In the 2nd game, Castillo made 4, Kerrie Runnels 4 and Tammy Payne 1. In the 3rd Castillo made 5, Sedillo 3, Stacie Gowen and LaRue 2 each.

Although coach Pam Allen said the girls were not concentrated in that final game match with Cloudercroft, she credited the team for serving "real well." LaRue had a good day hitting as an individual on the last match.

Allen's winning Lady Tigers play the winning school from this week's district play-offs at 7 p.m. Saturday at Capitan High School. Capitan is rated 1st in the district at the end of the regular season, Loving 2nd, Cloudercroft 3rd, Lake Arthur 4th, Hondo 5th and Hagerman 6th.

The Lady Tigers had a goodyear and are looking forward to the playoffs—district, regional and state which will be held in Roswell.

"Our team has been playing solid volleyball. We have a good shot at the state title," Allen said.

She predicted the state tournament pairings to be tough, but her team has to play tough teams sooner or later. She also predicted the Lady Tigers would play Pine Hill, from the western part of the state.

Until those playoff the Lady Tigers will work on concentration and consistency as key factors.

The junior varsity also ended its season with wins against Hagerman and Cloudercroft. Tycie Traylor scored 7 straight in the first game against Hagerman which the girls won 15-3. Gowen made 4, Jessica Newcomb 2 and Anita Aldaz 1. In the second 16-14, Traylor made 4, Letty LaRue, Aldaz and Susan Houcher 3 each.

In three games, the girls defeated Cloudercroft. A slow start and loss of the 1st game woke the girls up. Gowen made 6 in the 1st game, Letty LaRue 5 and Tammy Payne 1. In the second, 15-1, Gowen made 5, Traylor 4 and Payne 3. In the final game, 15-8, Gowen made 4, Tammi Peralta 3, Newcomb 2 and Traylor 2.

Grizzlies, Tigers butt heads Friday

A long-time rivalry again will be staged in Capitan this Friday when the Tigers play the Carrizozo Grizzlies for the final game of their seasons.

Kick off is at 7:30 p.m. in Tiger Field. Third-ranked Carrizozo will try its tactics with the 1-8 Tigers after smearing Reserve 39-0 last weekend.

Last Friday at home, the Tigers played good football in the first half.

When the half-time buzzer sounded, the Tigers were ahead of the Loving Falcons 7-6. But it was short lived, the Tigers lost 25-7.

Nathan Roybal made the only Capitan touchdown early in the first quarter. A successful long pass from Dan Seay put the ball in Roybal hands and sent him onto the goal line for the score. Seay added the extra point with his good kick.

Defensively, the Capitan boys held the Falcons off until the fourth quarter, when the Loving drive took over for three more touchdowns and ended the game in its favor.

Friday night's action will be a district game. After the scores are tallied Friday, district standings will be finalized.

Capitan Music Boosters will be selling enchilada dinners at the Capitan school cafeteria before the game.
