Large crowd hears request for aid on park rededication

By RUTH HAMMOND

Carrizozo Trustees faced a standing-room only crowd at the council meeting Tuesday when a group of people asked the town for help rebuilding Fred Chavez Park.

A program slated for Aug. 25 to rededicate the park is a week behind schedule, according to Glen Ellison, chairman of the committee.

Ellison asked the town for help with several things to make the park ready for the planned celebration; another basketball goal, another picnic table, playground slide, water for a drinking fountain, bleachers moved to the park, and for the town to pay to have hardware and meter installed for electricity for a new light as well as a contract between the town and the electric company for service for a minimum of five years.

"If we can get it done by the 19th it would put us back on schedule," Ellison said. In addition to the things listed, he wants the fence repaired and the park closed for one week. This will allow time to water the grass and to put the park in better condition for the program.

"We would like the town crew to come and be helpful with enthusiasm," Ellison said, and added, "Do they come help us or what do we do?"

Town foreman Faustino Gallegos said the basketball goals and swing seats have been ordered and should be delivered any day. He also said town workers can, with the board's permission, run a water line from its present location to where the group wants to build the drinking fountain next to the patio.

"We think we have a very serious problem," Ellison said, and added, "I feel

POLICE SUSPECT Carrizozo juveniles went on a vandalism spree early Tuesday morning which includes this broken window on the Carrizozo Administration Center on D. Ave. According to Carrizozo Police Chief Choncho Morales, some juveniles were seen in the area some time between 1 and 2 a.m. Tuesday. Investigating officer found the top of a wooden planter located next to the building was pried loose and thrown through the window. The nature of the institutional glass kept the vandals out. Chief Morales reported another vandalism at the school, which is suspected to have occurred at the same time.

Waste authority gets breather

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority got a breather.

A lawsuit filed against Valencia County, which challenges the validity of selling the bonds based on county revenues, has put a five-month hold on original Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) plans to start operations this fall.

Members' worries about obtaining funding to acquire equipment and assets from Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan and the county to get LCSWA operations on line by fall multiplied Monday when Kevin Powers, bonding consultant from the firm Sherman and Howard, told the group the lawsuit has put the sale of bonds to finance the operation on the shelf.

LCSWA had anticipated selling more than $1 million in bonds based on revenues derived from collections of the special environmental gross receipt taxes of 1/16 of 1 percent from businesses in the municipalities and 1/8 of 1 percent collected from county businesses. Because of the lawsuit, filed by a taxpayers group which challenges the validity of counties to obligate revenues for bonds (since there are no specific state laws allowing this), Powers said his firm has declined to issue any opinion regarding the sale of bonds financed with those county revenues at this time. He also consulted another bonding firm, which also declined an opinion because of the lawsuit. A substantial portion of the bond revenues were to come from county collections.

And without that letter of opinion, no one will buy the bonds financed, even in part, with county revenues, because there is no validity or guarantee to back them.

Powers indicated current belief the county will prevail in the litigation. But, with no

Sense of pride felt growing in Carrizozo

There's a new sense of pride developing in the town of Carrizozo.

The community, which traditionally has been split by the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks, is taking note of its other half and plans to "roll out the red carpet" with a ceremony to rededicate a park long-forgotten by many in the other half of Carrizozo.

The Fred Chavez Park became resident Glen Ellison's soap box recently. He and others, many living within the neighborhood around the park near Santa Rita Catholic Church, have decided it's time to give credit to the many families who lived quietly in the neighborhood east of the tracks.

Considering credit to the Hispanic population of the town long overdue, Ellison approached the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce which met at the Carrizozo Airport Tuesday, and requested $675 for printing costs for a 12-page booklet describing the historical events behind the Fred Chavez Park. The booklet will be distributed at a ceremony to rededicate the park on Aug. 25 and will be available at various Carrizozo lodgings.

"It's way past time to say we're proud of our Hispanic community," Ellison said to the 15 chamber members and guests.

Ellison suggested the chamber request reimbursement from the Carrizozo Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC), which meets next month.

Member Woody Schlegel set the gears in motion for the booklet's publication, and included a reimbursement request be made to the LTC.

Ellison, who was moved with gratitude, invited all to the rededication ceremony, which also will honor Carlos Zamora, killed in Vietnam 25 years ago. The family has agreed to raise the flag which draped their son's coffin at the ceremony.

"This is our year for pride," Ellison said.

Chamber members also discussed where to meet—at the airport, or Zia Senior Citizens' Center. Managers

Ruidoso councillors, mayor rap editorials

By DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso village councillors and Mayor Victor Alonso were ticked off with recent editorials which have shocked them and caused them to lose sleep.

At the village council meeting Tuesday, councillor J. D. James supported the mayor and credited the current administration for its openness, fairness and communication, which he considered "outstanding." He made reference to recent editorials in the Ruidoso News which have claimed a lack of communication and secretiveness by the mayor and administration, and said the mayor always answered questions or attempted to find answers to questions.

"This disturbed me to see this kind of editorial," James said.

He said all the council does is for the better of the village and acknowledged there are problems with the village. But James said it was easier to be "out there than behind this desk."

School board to host party for community

Carrizozo students, parents and patrons are invited to meet the Carrizozo School staff at a party Friday, Aug. 16.

Burgers and soft drinks will be served at no cost to all guests at the meet-the-staff party held at Spencer Park beginning at 5:30 p.m.

The swimming pool will be open for free use, there will be volleyball games and horseshoe pitching. Carrizozo Board of Education is hosting the party.

Planners appeal to board

Capitan limits debated

Capitan wants to extend its planning jurisdiction one mile beyond its limits.

At the regular Board of Trustees meeting Monday, Dr. Bernhard Reimann, chairman of the Capitan Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z), requested the board consider creating a one-mile Extra-Territorial Zone (ETZ) to control undesirable land-use activities outside the village.

Currently, Lincoln County has a zoning ordinance passed in 1988. Since it lacks any land use plan or zoning maps, it is not enforceable. Because of the county's inability to control undesirable land-use activities, Capitan P&Z is pursuing the ETZ.

"It's always been the intention of P&Z to get the extra-territorial limit of one mile," said Mayor Frank Warth.

Capitan's 1986 zoning ordinance has no provision for an ETZ, which carries the idea of having all planning done with some "rhyme or reason," said village attorney Robert Beauvais.

By state law, a municipality with Capitan's population can have a one-mile ETZ which will govern any land use in that area. ETZ can only be established by ordinance, concurrent with a similar ordinance approved by the county commission. Those ordinances will set up an ET Commission and Authority. The ET Authority is composed of two elected county officials and one elected village official and is the body which can grant variances.

"Now, there is nothing to stop anything out of town limits," Beauvais said, and indicated such things as wrecking yards and asbestos landfills. Only New Mexico Environment Dept. (NMED) regulations control what is done out in the unincorporated areas of the county.

Trustee Norm Renfro asked a number of questions concerning the ETZ, including if the ETZ commission could govern such things as water wells. While the commission cannot govern water wells, it can govern land planning, to make such things as a subdivision consistent with those in the village and to keep out undesirable land uses.

Beauvais said setting up the ETZ will be relatively simple because Ruidoso already has been through the process with the county.

As for those owning property in that one-mile zone now, they and their land usages would be "grandfathered," Beauvais added.

As with any ordinance, public hearings on both county and village levels will be conducted to take citizen comment before action is taken on the documents.

Warth directed Beauvais to contact the county to begin the process of establishing the ETZ.

The old Capitan Class B household landfill is still haunting the village. On Aug. 2, a NMED official visited Capitan's and Corona's landfills. Then this week, the village received a letter from NMED stating it will need closure and post closure care plans.

While Beauvais had little problem with the closure plan, which will not require anything extensive, he worried about the post closure care plan, which requires a 25-year monitoring for water and wind erosion of the covering soil, drainage control, settling, detection of any contamination in nearby water wells and so on.

Regardless, Beauvais was not amenable to signing off to any of the NMED requests. He considered the landfill closed within a period when the then-New Mexico Environmental Improvement Division (EID) was being sued by several New Mexico governmental entities (Capitan included). EID forced landfills to close in 1989, which prompted the suit. Because the village closed the landfill in 1990 when the suit's stay was in effect, Beauvais felt strongly the village has no obligation for the plans or monitoring.

After Beauvais and Warth told of the five-month delay in the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority start-up of operations due to a different lawsuit, Beauvais said the original 17 parties in the lawsuit against EID will not comply with the current NMED closure requests. With the extra time given by the LCSWA delay, Beauvais hopes to have the cloud hanging over the Capitan landfill, which LCSWA will buy as a construction dump, cleared.

"We can't sell the landfill until the liability is removed," Beauvais said. He then recommended the village tell NMED "politely" it can't enforce the closure plans.

"You write the letter to (NMED) and say the deal is not acceptable," Warth directed, and trustees agreed.

LCSWA will fully comply with all closure requirements for the Class C landfill once it is acquired.

Who has the authority to hire the maintenance/utility worker caused some heated words at the end of the meeting. Warth wanted to let water supervisor Terry Cox interview and select the worker, since Cox would deal directly with the employee. But trustee LeRoy Montes, who insisted Cox had never been appointed supervisor or even water commissioner, thought the worker should be interviewed and selected by the trustees. The two argued about when Cox was appointed supervisor and water commissioner, which Warth said was during the organizational meeting when the board was first in office.

Trustee Gilbert Montoya

turned to Beauvais for advice. Since Capitan is a mayor/council form of government, the mayor is personnel officer who hires on the advice and approval of the council. Cox can do no more than make a recommendation, Beauvais said.

Renfro thought Cox needed to have input, since the worker would be under him. But Montoya said, "They all work for us."

Finally, Montes agreed to let Cox screen applicants and provide three or four recommendations.

"I can't be the only one left holding the bag," Cox said, since many people were wanting the job. He offered to screen and come up with three recommendations. Finally, Montoya agreed to meet with Cox to screen the applicants. The worker will be hired at the next regular meeting.

Right after Montoya's offer, trustees went into closed session to discuss personnel.

Trustees also:
* Reappointed Renfro to the Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association Board.

* Approved a resolution setting up a separate line item in the village budget for the $10,000 revenue bond reserve.

* Waived the $100 a day carnival fees for both the Lincoln County Fair Association and Capitan Chamber of Commerce (which plans to sponsor a circus in October), and set a public hearing for next meeting to amend the village policy to allow such waivers to all non-profit groups.

* Agreed to allowing a 20-foot easement for the Boling and Pilon property south of the Senior Citizens' building.

* Awarded the gravel contract to LaRue's for $8 a yard delivered and $5 a yard picked up at the mine.

* Awarded the diesel contract to J.R. Oil Co. for 70 cents a gallon, subject to market fluctuations.—DORIS CHERRY.

knowledge of how long the lawsuit will take to be resolved, the bond sale is on hold.

Although some type of legislation to clarify counties' abilities to dedicate revenue for bonding is expected to be introduced into the New Mexico State Legislature either during the special fall session or next winter, that will not help LCSWA right now.

Hashing over several options, including dropping the county as active, voting participants, alternative financing through Farm and Home Administration proposed by LCSWA manager Gene Green and a seller financing arrangement suggested by Powers, members agreed on the five-month delay. The seller financing possibly might be subject to a 5 percent gross receipt tax imposed on municipalities or be prohibited altogether by state laws.

LCSWA chairman and Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso had problems with the county no longer being part of the board, since the group has struggled for more than two years to reach the cooperation and compromise so far achieved.

County member Stirling Spencer agreed with Alonso. But he also expressed his distrust of the direction LCSWA would take without the county representation, which might be negative.

Members approved a resolution for LOSWA to petition the Legislature to clarify the technical aspects of the law which might prohibit counties from issuing revenue bonds. Authority attorney Robert Beauvais said the New Mexico Association of Counties will lend support to the petition, since the problem goes beyond Lincoln County.

After approval of the delay, and resolution to petition, some members sighed with relief. LCSWA treasurer Al Junge said the delay will allow the group more time for better planning. How to collect solid waste fees in the county has yet to be determined.

Spencer said it will benefit the recycling and composting programs.

Alonso said it will give Ruidoso time to make more profit with its $250,000 annual solid waste business.

"It'll cost the county more money, too," said County Manager Nick Pappas about the $4,000 monthly bill from private contractor Southwest Disposal Corp.

Three LCSWA entities—Capitan, Carrizozo and Corona—hold contracts with SDC. Capitan Mayor and LCSWA vice chairman Frank Warth said he would contact SDC about an extension to his village's contract to cover the 5 month-delay. Ruidoso will continue to pick up trash in Ruidoso Downs until the bonding issue is settled.—DORIS CHERRY

Hondo curriculum due improvement

According to new Hondo Superintendent, Sergio Castanon, Hondo Schools will open the 1991-92 school year with the administration, staff and parents working closely together to improve the school's curriculum. A "Needs Assessment" conducted last spring indicated that a top priority was the need for more offerings.

"Because of this priority we have developed a new schedule that begins with a series of honors classes. They will be more demanding and taught at the college preparatory level," said Castanon. "Because the honors class carries a higher numerical value the student will obtain, for example, five points for an A instead of the usual four and so on." These classes will be: chemistry, advanced math, principles of technology, Spanish II and a humanities/creative writing seminar.

"We have a talented, versatile and enthusiastic group of teachers here at our school and we are taking advantage of this by better utilization of their talents," noted Castanon. "For a school of this size our class schedule can compete with any large school," he continued. "It is actually even better because we have small classes. The one-on-one assistance for the student makes for a positive environment for students."

In the vo-tech area, an entirely new program will be initiated this year. Not only will this include the honors class, principles of technology, but drafting, introduction to industrial technology and electricity/electronics.

By next fall, it is hoped that these classes will be expanded into the excellent facilities via the current enrollment plan at ENMU Roswell and possibly the Ruidoso campus as well.

Additionally, according to Castanon, "We plan to tap the rich cultural and linguistic diversity of the Hondo area from the beautiful Spanish language to the incredible selection of artists, musicians and authors that live within a 20-mile radius.

"Our goals are such that we hope students will make substantial gains in academic performance at all levels and that the community will be even more supportive and involved than in the past.

"Our door is always open. It is going to be an exciting year at Hondo! For more information, please call 653-4411."

IF THE LIGHTS GO OUT... WE WON'T LEAVE YOU IN THE DARK.

There's a wild thunderstorm, or maybe a roaring wind storm. The lights go out. You grope for the candles and flashlight and wonder, "what do I do now?"

It doesn't happen often, but when a power outage does occur even a short time can seem like forever. That's why your local rural electric cooperative has set up a 24-hour toll-free hotline

We'll immediately dispatch a repair crew so you'll experience only a minimal interruption of service. We know how much you depend on all the good things electricity makes possible and we want to keep that energy flowing.

through the years the park has been neglected.

Many members of the audience agreed and at one point in the hour-long discussion when several people were speaking at the same time Chief of Police Choncho Morales told them to talk one at a time.

Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel told Ellison and Gallegos to "work it out." She asked Gallegos to bring his work schedule and Ellison to bring a list of what work needs to be done. A meeting was scheduled for 8 a.m. Wednesday for Kuhnel, Ellison and Gallegos.

Trustees agreed to pay up to $500 to have the electrical work completed. No estimates were presented. Access to the electricity will be controlled by a locked box with the key to possibly be at city hall.

Ellison said he wants to take a photo of the park to be used in the booklet which will be published to commemorate the park rededication. The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce agreed Tuesday to pay $675 printing costs for the booklet and will accept donations to help pay the expense.

Mary Chavez thanked the council, town crew and Ellison for their help with the park.

Ellison then asked if the town would approve a parade through town and across the railroad tracks to Fred Chavez Park on Aug. 25. Permits may be required from the highway department.

The solid waste contract was discussed for another hour with town attorney Bob Beauvais listing several points of contention, one being that the request for proposals (RFP) for disposal service was "fatally flawed."

Attorney John Underwood representing Joe Lewandowski, owner of Southwest Disposal Corp., responded that Southwest has worked in good faith since March 1990 without a signed contract and only disagreed with one sentence in the contract. The questionable sentence deals with termination of the contract.

Termination for just cause was not disputed but termination of the contract at will, meaning the town could terminate the contract for no reason, was the problem.

Trustees agreed to delete the "at will" termination clause from the contract.

In other business, trustees approved a co-op agreement between the town and Lincoln County for the $6,000 grant from the county with the money to be used to replace windows and refurbish the old ice plant locker building which will be leased to Lincoln Laminated Logs, Inc.

Lincoln Laminated Logs is Carrizozo's new industry, which will begin production soon. The business will manufacture laminated beams to be used in building homes.

Mayor Kuhnel will present regular reports to county commissioners about how the money is being spent and how the project is progressing.

Carrizozo Municipal Airport Manager Hal Marx presented a letter about costs of gas, announced the flagpole has been installed and the flag is flying, and said the sweeper, truck and riding mower that the town was to receive free from the airport surplus equipment program had gone to the department of agriculture.

State Representative John Underwood said the current redistricting plans call for all of Lincoln County to be in district 56. At this time Lincoln County is divided between three different districts.

Joint powers agreement between the town and Lincoln County Sheriff's office for housing and care of prisoners was approved. The new charge for housing prisoners will increase from $35 a day to $50 a day. The contract is from July 1, 1991 to June 30, 1992.

Wayland Hill was reappointed to Captain Carrizozo Natural Gas Association.

The Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) application is due in Santa Fe Aug. 23. Trustees asked town foreman Faustino Gallegos to make the decision as to which streets should receive priority in the application for funds for street paving.

Mayor Kuhnel reported she had met with the airport committee and engineer Earl Cook to discuss preliminary plans for improvements at the airport.

Mayor Kuhnel presented a copy of the letter the town attorney had sent to David Ortiz, owner of the apparently abandoned gas station at the corner of Highway 54 and 12th Street. The town has received a complaint about the rundown condition of the property.

Mayor Kuhnel received an invitation to attend the Texas Tech University Homecoming on September 28 when Ernest Joiner will be inducted into the University Hall of Fame. Joiner is former owner, editor and publisher of the Lincoln County News.

No action was taken after the council was in closed session for one and one-half hours to discuss personnel matters.

of both locations have invited the group. Members agreed to have the September meeting at the Zia Senior Citizens Center, when they will decide on a permanent location.

Chamber president Ruth Hammond informed members the chamber's sign on the Zia Center had faded and needs repainted. New member and Carrizozo High School principal Joe Price volunteered art students to do the painting.

Hammond told of the need to appoint another president-elect, since that officer Shawn Hill has moved. Members approved keeping the officers situation as it is now, with president Hammond.

Airport manager Hal Marx thanked all present for their support of his efforts at the airport. He said a flying school is scheduled to call him Wednesday about relocating to Carrizozo Airport. An A&P mechanic has contacted him about opening a shop.

"Word is getting out Carrizozo Airport is alive and well," Marx said, and increased flight activity and fuel sales back that statement.

Marx also provided lunch to all members and guests.

Next meeting is at noon, Sept. 10, at Zia Senior Citizens Center on Central Ave. in Carrizozo. Meals can be purchased at the center, also.

Alonso, who acknowledged James' comments, left his chair as mayor and "pulled an Al Jungs" by approaching the podium to voice his personal opinions about the editorial comments.

He read his open letter to the editor which refuted the many opinions and editorials written about himself and his administration as mayor. While Alonso acknowledged the newspaper's right to freedom of speech, he also defended the openness in his administration.

The mayor told of how he ran on a campaign of change, which he considered accomplished in the way issues were handled honestly and civilly. He also pointed out the coverage of council meetings by three media, which also makes for more open government.

"Your heroes out of the past are casualties of change," Alonso said, in reference to an editorial.

Alonso said the first amendment is more than freedom of the press, it also is the right of the people to peacefully assemble and petition government for redress of grievances. He then mentioned how the newspaper encouraged and instructed people to remove their names from a petition concerning the hotel and golf course plans, before he was elected mayor. That situation prompted Alonso to promote a bill which would prevent such removals.

While friends have urged Alonso to change the editorial comments for two and a half years, he has resisted. But the constant "hammering and badgering," which he said was causing him to lose sleep, prompted him to voice his opinions.

Councillor Bill Karn also commented on an editorial which blasted the council for voting itself a $250 raise when employees were left without. Karn did not vote for the raise.

"I never want Ruidoso News to endorse me," he said. After councillors and the mayor had their say, they allowed time for the media to make comment. That offer was declined with a request the right be reserved for another time. Alonso approved the request.

After the opinions, the council got down to village business. Village manager Ron Wicker reported on the hiring of Gary Jackson as deputy manager. Jackson was selected from 18 applicants who responded to the ad for the position. Jackson, who comes from being manager of Lamarque, Texas, had worked for Wicker while at Pearland, Texas, and holds a masters of public administration and bachelor's in government from Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas.

Another bit of good news was also reported by Wicker who told of the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) letter which gave the green light for the council to open construction bids for the village civic center Wednesday afternoon. Because a portion of the funds to finance the project come from the state, there is a certain amount of red tape to which the village must comply, Wicker said.

Also, two major problems dealing with a rejection of architect bids by the village council earlier this year and the validity of the golf course—hotel lease in light of a petition which almost stopped the project were cleared by DFA legal counsel. That clarification has put the project on track.

Also, the center plans had to include handicapped access which will boost the cost by $10-15,000, Wicker added.

Alonso viewed the information as good news and voiced his support of the project. "Hopefully we have enough money to break ground," he said.

In other business councillors:

* Approved a state revised subcontract agreement with Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority for the village to provide funds to the recycling project first, then the village will apply for reimbursement from the grantor New Mexico Energy and Minerals. Approval of the subcontract puts LCSWA in the recycling business.

* Approved a zone map amendment for Lots 1, 2, and 3, Block 9 of Alto Crest Subdivision as requested by Randall Mullican with restrictions on the age, size and set up of mobile homes. The amendment has been requested earlier but was delayed due to opposition by neighbors. The added restrictions satisfied the opposition.

* Heard a report from Parks and Recreation Committee chairman Smokey Stover regarding the need for development of a "family resort" in Ruidoso that would service local citizens and attract family tourists. He proposes to utilize volunteer committees and donations to upgrade various existing facilities. He also presented a priority list with a youth activity center at the top. The list included upgrading recreation facilities at Grandstone Lake, North Youth Park, Wingfield Seniors Park, Two-River Park and the Links at Sierra Blanca jogging path.

* Gave approval to J.B. Stinnet to vacate a 40 foot strip of land which was once platted as a right of way for Main Road in upper canyon, and a fair market value given to a strip of land belonging to the affected landowner across the street, as negotiated between the two property owners.

* Unanimously approved an exchange of 8.72 acres fronting Warrior Dr. owned by White Mountain Development Co. to Ruidoso Schools for 6.8633 acres of White Mountain School Tract Y owned by Ruidoso School to create a 20.2699 acre parcel for the proposed Performing Arts Center. The village worked with attorney Don Dutton on a compromise agreement on behalf of Dr. H.N. and Mrs. Jackie Spencer who plan to contribute funds for the center's construction.

* Okayed a replat of Lot 5, Block 1, 1st Addition to Cree Meadow Heights Subdivision on condition the 2 inch water main be upgraded to six inches with fire hydrants by assessment district with lots shown on the replat paying the proportional share of the costs.

* Gave approval to a Parks and Recreation sponsored All American Street

Dance to be held Saturday, Aug. 31, at the swimming pool area with live music and no alcohol.

* Gave permission to the Ruidoso Elks Lodge to use the Eagle Creek Sports Complex for a Lumberjack Logging Jamboree on Sept. 14, which will benefit Cerebral Palsy. The Lodge plans to serve beer and one of the sponsors will be Budweiser Insurance and a canopy license was provided.

* Approved two resolutions which will direct owners of property on 204 Spring Road and 109 San Miguel to demolish and remove dangerous buildings. If the buildings are not removed or protests filed, they will be torn down by the village, and a lien placed on the property to pay the clean up bills.

* Heard Alonso announce R.D. Hubbard will appear before the council in the Aug. 27 meeting to answer questions and concerns about the Raddison Hotel project which he recently delayed one year.

Planners appeal to board

Capitan limits debated

Capitan wants to extend its planning jurisdiction one mile beyond its limits.

At the regular Board of Trustees meeting Monday, Dr. Bernhard Reimann, chairman of the Capitan Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z), requested the board consider creating a one-mile Extra-Territorial Zone (ETZ) to control undesirable land-use activities outside the village.

Currently, Lincoln County has a zoning ordinance passed in 1988. Since it lacks any land use plan or zoning maps, it is not enforceable. Because of the county's inability to control undesirable land-use activities, Capitan P&Z is pursuing the ETZ.

"It's always been the intention of P&Z to get the extra-territorial limit of one mile," said Mayor Frank Warth.

Capitan's 1986 zoning ordinance has no provision for an ETZ, which carries the idea of having all planning done with some "rhyme or reason," said village attorney Robert Beauvais.

By state-law, a municipality with Capitan's population can have a one-mile ETZ which will govern any land use in that area. ETZ can only be established by ordinance, concurrent with a similar ordinance approved by the county commission. Those ordinances will set up an ET Commission and Authority. The ET Authority is composed of two elected county officials and one elected village official and is the body which can grant variances.

"Now, there is nothing to stop anything out of town limits," Beauvais said, and indicated such things as wrecking yards and asbestos landfills. Only New Mexico Environment Dept. (NMED) regulations control what is done out in the unincorporated areas of the county.

Trustee Norm Renfro asked a number of questions concerning the ETZ, including if the ETZ commission could govern such things as water wells. While the commission cannot govern water wells, it can govern land planning, to make such things as a subdivision consistent with those in the village and to keep out undesirable land uses.

Beauvais said setting up the ETZ will be relatively simple because Ruidoso already has been through the process with the county.

As for those owning property in that one-mile zone now, they and their land usages would be "grandfathered," Beauvais added.

As with any ordinance, public hearings on both county and village levels will be conducted to take citizen comment before action is taken on the documents.

Warth directed Beauvais to contact the county to begin the process of establishing the ETZ.

The old Capitan Class B household landfill is still haunting the village. On Aug. 2, a NMED official visited Capitan's and Corona's landfills. Then this week, the village received a letter from NMED stating it will need closure and post closure care plans.

While Beauvais had little problem with the closure plan, which will not require anything extensive, he worried about the post closure care plan, which requires a 25-year monitoring for water and wind erosion of the covering soil, drainage control, settling, detection of any contamination in nearby water wells and so on.

Regardless, Beauvais was not amenable to signing off to any of the NMED requests. He considered the landfill closed within a period when the then-New Mexico Environmental Improvement Division (EID) was being sued by several New Mexico governmental entities (Capitan included). EID forced landfills to close in 1989, which prompted the suit. Because the village closed the landfill in 1990 when the suit's stay was in effect, Beauvais felt strongly the village has no obligation for the plans or monitoring.

After Beauvais and Warth told of the five-month delay in the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority start-up of operations due to a different lawsuit, Beauvais said the original 17 parties in the lawsuit against EID will not comply with the current NMED closure requests.

With the extra time given by the LCSWA delay, Beauvais hopes to have the cloud hanging over the Capitan landfill, which LOSWA will buy as a construction dump, cleared.

"We can't sell the landfill until the liability is removed," Beauvais said.

He then recommended the village tell NMED "politely" it can't enforce the closure plans.

"You write the letter to (NMED) and say the deal is not acceptable," Warth directed, and trustees agreed.

LCSWA will fully comply with all closure requirements for the Class C landfill once it is required.

Who has the authority to hire the maintenance/utility worker caused some heated words at the end of the meeting. Warth wanted to let water supervisor Terry Cox interview and select the worker, since Cox would deal directly with the employee.

But trustee LeRoy Montes, who insisted Cox had never been appointed supervisor or even water commissioner, thought the worker should be interviewed and selected by the trustees. The two argued about when Cox was appointed supervisor and water commissioner, which Warth said was during the organizational meeting when the board was first in office.

Trustee Gilbert Montoya

turned to Beauvais for advice. Since Capitan is a mayor/council form of government, the mayor is personnel officer who hires on the advice and approval of the council. Cox can do no more than make a recommendation, Beauvais said.

Renfro thought Cox needed to have input, since the worker would be under him. But Montoya said, "They all work for us."

Finally, Montes agreed to let Cox screen applicants and provide three or four recommendations.

"I can't be the only one left holding the bag," Cox said, since many people were wanting the job. He offered to screen and come up with three recommendations. Finally, Montoya agreed to meet with Cox to screen the applicants. The worker will be hired at the next regular meeting.

Right after Montoya's offer, trustees went into closed session to discuss personnel.

Trustees also: * Reappointed Renfro to the Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association Board.

* Approved a resolution setting up a separate line item in the village budget for the $10,000 revenue bond reserve.

* Waived the $100 a day carnival fees for both the Lincoln County Fair Association and Capitan Chamber of Commerce (which plans to sponsor a circus in October), and set a public hearing for next meeting to amend the village policy to allow such waivers to all non-profit groups.

* Agreed to allowing a 20-foot easement for the Boling and Pilon property south of the Senior Citizens' building.

* Awarded the gravel contract to LaRue's for $8 a yard delivered and $5 a yard picked up at the mine.

* Awarded the diesel contract to J.R. Oil Co. for 70 cents a gallon, subject to market fluctuations. —DORIS CHERRY knowledge of how long the lawsuit will take to be resolved, the bond sale is on hold.

Although some type of legislation to clarify counties' abilities to dedicate revenue for bonding is expected to be introduced into the New Mexico State Legislature either during the special fall session or next winter, that will not help LCSWA right now.

Hashing over several options, including dropping the county as active, voting participants, alternative financing through Farm and Home Administration proposed by LCSWA manager Gene Green and a seller financing arrangement suggested by Powers, members agreed on the five-month delay. The seller financing possibly might be subject to a 5 percent gross receipt tax imposed on municipalities or be prohibited altogether by state laws.

LCSWA chairman and Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso had problems with the county no longer being part of the board, since the group has struggled for more than two years to reach the cooperation and compromise so far achieved.

County member Stirling Spencer agreed with Alonso. But he also expressed his distrust of the direction LCSWA would take without the county representation, which might be negative.

Members approved a resolution for LCSWA to petition the Legislature to clarify the technical aspects of the law which might prohibit counties from issuing revenue bonds. Authority attorney Robert Beauvais said the New Mexico Association of Counties will lend support to the petition, since the problem goes beyond Lincoln County.

After approval of the delay, and resolution to petition, some members sighed with relief. LCSWA treasurer Al Junge said the delay will allow the group more time for better planning. How to collect solid waste fees in the county has yet to be determined.

Spencer said it will benefit the recycling and composting programs.

Alonso said it will give Ruidoso time to make more profit with its $250,000 annual solid waste business.

"It'll cost the county more money, too," said County Manager Nick Pappas about the $4,000 monthly bill from private contractor Southwest Disposal Corp.

Three LCSWA entities—Capitan, Carrizozo and Corona—hold contracts with SDC. Capitan Mayor and LCSWA vice chairman Frank Warth said he would contact SDC about an extension to his village's contract to cover the 5 month-delay. Ruidoso will continue to pick up trash in Ruidoso Downs until the bonding issue is settled. —DORIS CHERRY

Hondo curriculum due improvement

According to new Hondo Superintendent, Sergio Castanon, Hondo Schools will open the 1991-92 school year with the administration, staff and parents working closely together to improve the school's curriculum. A "Needs Assessment" conducted last spring indicated that a top priority was the need for more offerings.

"Because of this priority we have developed a new schedule that begins with a series of honors classes. They will be more demanding and taught at the college preparatory level," said Castanon. "Because the honors class carries a higher numerical value the student will obtain, for example, five points for an A instead of the usual four and so on." These classes will be: chemistry, advanced math, principles of technology, Spanish II and a humanities/creative writing seminar.

"We have a talented, versatile and enthusiastic group of teachers here at our school and we are taking advantage of this by better utilization of their talents," noted Castanon. "For a school of this size our class schedule can compete with any large school," he continued. "It is actually even better because we have small classes. The one-on-one assistance for the student makes for a positive environment for students."

In the vo-tech area, an entirely new program will be initiated this year. Not only will this include the honors class, principles of technology, but drafting, introduction to industrial technology, and electricity/electronics.

By next fall, it is hoped that these classes will be expanded into the excellent facilities via the concurrent enrollment plan at ENMU Roswell and possibly the Ruidoso campus as well.

Additionally, according to Castanon, "We plan to tap the rich cultural and linguistic diversity of the Hondo area from the beautiful Spanish language to the incredible selection of artists, musicians and authors that live within a 20-mile radius."

"Our goals are such that we hope students will make substantial gains in academic performance at all levels and that the community will be even more supportive and involved than in the past."

"Our door is always open. It is going to be an exciting year at Hondo! For more information, please call 653-4411."

through the years the park has been neglected."

Many members of the audience agreed and at one point in the hour-long discussion when several people were speaking at the same time Chief of Police Choncho Morales told them to talk one at a time.

Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel told Ellison and Gallegos to "work it out." She asked Gallegos to bring his work schedule and Ellison to bring a list of what work needs to be done. A meeting was scheduled for 8 a.m. Wednesday for Kuhnel, Ellison and Gallegos.

Trustees agreed to pay up to $500 to have the electrical work completed. No estimates were presented. Access to the electricity will be controlled by a locked box with the key to possibly be at city hall.

Ellison said he wants to take a photo of the park to be used in the booklet which will be published to commemorate the park rededication. The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce agreed Tuesday to pay $675 printing costs for the booklet and will accept donations to help pay the expense.

Mary Chavez thanked the council, town crew and Ellison for their help with the park.

Ellison then asked if the town would approve a parade through town and across the railroad tracks to Fred Chavez Park on Aug. 25. Permits may be required from the highway department.

The solid waste contract was discussed for another hour with town attorney Bob Beauvais listing several points of contention, one being that the request for proposals (RFP) for disposal service was "fatally flawed."

Attorney John Underwood representing Joe Lewandowski, owner of Southwest Disposal Corp., responded that Southwest has worked in good faith since March 1990 without a signed contract and only disagreed with one sentence in the contract. The questionable sentence deals with termination of the contract.

Termination for just cause was not disputed but termination of the contract at will, meaning the town could terminate the contract for no reason, was the problem.

Trustees agreed to delete the "at will" termination clause from the contract.

In other business, trustees approved a co-op agreement between the town and Lincoln County for the $5,000 grant from the county with the money to be used to replace windows and refurbish the old ice plant locker building which will be leased to Lincoln Laminated Logs, Inc.

Lincoln Laminated Logs is Carrizozo's new industry which will begin production soon. The business will manufacture laminated beams to be used in building homes.

Mayor Kuhnel will present regular reports to county commissioners about how the money is being spent and how the project is progressing.

Carrizozo Municipal Airport Manager Hal Marx presented a letter about costs of gas, announced the flagpole has been installed and the flag is flying, and said the sweeper truck and riding mower that the town was to receive free from the airport surplus equipment program had gone to the department of agriculture.

State Representative John Underwood said the current redistricting plans call for all of Lincoln County to be in district 56. At this time Lincoln County is divided between three different districts.

Joint powers agreement between the town and Lincoln County Sheriff's office for housing and care of prisoners was approved. The new charge for housing prisoners will increase from $35 a day to $50 a day. The contract is from July 1, 1991 to June 30, 1992.

Wayland Hill was reappointed to Capitan Carrizozo Natural Gas Association.

The Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) application is due in Santa Fe Aug. 23. Trustees asked town foreman Faustino Gallegos to make the decision as to which streets should receive priority in the application for funds for street paving.

Mayor Kuhnel reported she had met with the airport committee and engineer Earl Cook to discuss preliminary plans for improvements at the airport.

Mayor Kuhnel presented a copy of the letter the town attorney had sent to David Ortiz, owner of the apparently abandoned gas station at the corner of Highway 54 and 12th Street. The town has received a complaint about the rundown condition of the property.

Mayor Kuhnel received an invitation to attend the Texas Tech University Homecoming on September 28 when Ernest Joiner will be inducted into the University Hall of Fame. Joiner is former owner, editor and publisher of the Lincoln County News.

No action was taken after the council was in closed session for one and one-half hours to discuss personnel matters.

of both locations have invited the group. Members agreed to have the September meeting at the Zia Senior Citizens' Center, when they will decide on a permanent location.

Chamber president Ruth Hammond informed members the chamber's sign on the Zia Center had faded and needs repainted. New member and Carrizozo High School principal Joe Price volunteered art students to do the painting.

Hammond told of the need to appoint another president-elect, since that officer Shawn Hill has moved. Members approved keeping the officers situation as it is now, with president Hammond.

Airport manager Hal Marx thanked all present for their support of his efforts at the airport. He said a flying school is scheduled to call him Wednesday about relocating to Carrizozo Airport. An A&P mechanic has contacted him about opening a shop.

"Word is getting out Carrizozo Airport is alive and well," Marx said, and increased flight activity and fuel sales back that statement.

Marx also provided lunch to all members and guests.

Next meeting is at noon, Sept. 10, at Zia Senior Citizens' Center on Central Ave. in Carrizozo. Meals can be purchased at the center, also.

Ruidoso councillors...

Alonso, who acknowledged James' comments, left his chair, as mayor and "pulled an Al Jungs" by approaching the podium to voice his personal opinions about the editorial comments.

He read his open letter to the editor which refuted the many opinions and editorials written about himself and his administration as mayor. While Alonso acknowledged the newspaper's right to freedom of speech, he also defended the openness in his administration.

The mayor told of how he ran on a campaign of change, which he considered accomplished in the way issues were handled honestly and civilly. He also pointed out the coverage of council meetings by three media, which also makes for more open government.

"Your heroes out of the past are casualties of change," Alonso said, in reference to an editorial.

Alonso said the first amendment is more than freedom of the press, it also is the right of the people to peacefully assemble and petition government for redress of grievances. He then mentioned how the newspaper encouraged and instructed people to remove their names from a petition concerning the hotel and golf course plans, before he was elected mayor. That situation prompted Alonso to promote a bill which would prevent such removals.

While friends have urged Alonso to challenge the editorial comments for two and a half years, he has resisted. But the constant "hammering and badgering," which he said was causing him to lose sleep, prompted him to voice his opinions.

Councillor Bill Karn also commented on an editorial which blasted the council for voting itself a $250 raise when employees were left without. Karn did not vote for the raise.

"I never want Ruidoso News to endorse me," he said. After councillors and the mayor had their say, they allowed time for the media to make comment. That offer was declined with a request the right be reserved for another time. Alonso approved the request.

After the opinions, the council got down to village business. Village manager Ron Wicker reported on the hiring of Gary Jackson as deputy manager. Jackson was selected from 18 applicants who responded to the ad for the position. Jackson, who comes from being manager of Lamarque, Texas, had worked for Wicker while at Pearland, Texas, and holds a masters of public administration and bachelor's in government from Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas.

Another bit of good news was also reported by Wicker who told of the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) letter which gave the green light for the council to open construction bids for the village civic center Wednesday afternoon. Because a portion of the funds to finance the project come from the state, there is a certain amount of red tape to which the village must comply, Wicker said.

Also, two major problems dealing with a rejection of architect bids by the village council earlier this year and the validity of the golf course—hotel lease in light of a petition which almost stopped the project were cleared by DFA legal counsel. That clarification has put the project on track.

Also, the center plans had to include handicapped access which will boost the cost by $10-15,000, Wicker added.

Alonso viewed the information as good news and voiced his support of the project. "Hopefully we have enough money to break ground," he said.

In other business councillors:

* Approved a state revised subcontract agreement with Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority for the village to provide funds to the recycling project first, then the village will apply for reimbursement from the grantor New Mexico Energy and Minerals. Approval of the subcontract puts LOSWA in the recycling business.

* Approved a zone map amendment for Lots 1, 2, and 3, Block 9 of Alto Crest Subdivision as requested by Randall Mullican with restrictions on the age, size and set up of mobile homes. The amendment, has been requested earlier but was delayed due to opposition by neighbors. The added restrictions satisfied the opposition.

* Heard a report from Parks and Recreation Committee chairman Smokey Stover regarding the need for development of a "family resort" in Ruidoso that would service local citizens and attract family tourists. He proposes to utilize volunteer committees and donations to upgrade various existing facilities. He also presented a priority list with a youth activity center at the top. The list included upgrading recreation facilities at Grindstone Lake, North Youth Park, Wingfield Seniors Park, Two-River Park and the Links at Sierra Blanca jogging path.

* Gave approval to J.B. Stinner to vacate a 40 foot strip of land which was once platted as a right of way for Main Road in upper canyon, and a fair market value given

● Don't know how many times it has cropped up lately. People are talking about the school system in Carrizozo. They talk about the past and the present. What about the future? That's the main question, isn't it? What are we going to do about the future? We can sit and worry about yesterday's election, yesterday's team, yesterday's superintendent, or teacher, or particular coach. But what comes out on that bottom line is this: Where are we headed and in what manner are we headed there? Some people may say: Hey, newcomer, butt out! But we feel the community should be urged to back their school system. After all, there will be other years, other elections, other leaders, other children. Let's make Carrizozo a more outstanding community than it already is in every way, while we can — now. One of the best places to make ourselves shine is through children, our schools. With the positive and affirmative (friendliness and cooperation), instead of the negative and cranky (back-stabbing and vandalism), we can achieve a shining goal. Our new superintendent and principal and every new teacher, aide and any other personnel should be welcomed openly. Good luck to all.

● Enjoyed meeting Aileen Lindamood, nee Haley, last week. Her father was John A. Haley, early-day publisher of the News. She was former postmaster at Alto, and helped write "A History of Lincoln County Post Offices." In fact, she left a copy at the News office for reference.

● Similarly, Ruth Birdsong, White Oaks, presented us with a book she edited, titled "The Winter at White Oaks, 1880-1881." It is from the unpublished journal of Frank Wallace.

● Paul Beckner, president of Citizens for a Sound Economy (CSE), writes: A few brave souls have stood up — not to say something — but to actually do something. After years of horror stories about how Uncle Sam dispenses with your money, legislation has been introduced to try to end that never-ending nightmare known as pork-barrel spending. Freshman Sen. Bob Smith, R-N.H., along with Rep. Harris Fawell, R-Ill., and Tim Penny, D-Minn., have introduced legislation that ceases spending on 325 programs contained within the current fiscal year 1991 budget. The targeted programs total more than $1 billion in dubious spending. Because the government's fiscal year runs from the beginning of October through the end of September, some of the money is already spent. But, spending for the designated wasteful programs would stop dead in its tracks if the bill becomes law. Taxpayers would save significantly. The effort marks the first known attempt to cut fat from the federal pig with the precision of a surgeon, yet with the effect of a butcher. But can a few earnest congressmen grab hold of the federal pig? After all, newspapers delight in pointing out the wasteful spending that receives Washington's rubber stamp of approval each year. Lawmakers, of course, complain about pork, though they never mention the funds that went to the folks back home in the same breath. In fact, congressmen often dismiss the hoopla surrounding any number of projects with the lame excuse that what is usually described as pork-barrel spending is just another congressman's project. In other words, everybody participates. And former Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., spent years highlighting government waste and mismanagement with his monthly Golden Fleece awards. Despite years of juicy publicity, no one ever seems to be able to fence the wily pig in. The bill's authors intend to change that. Smith, Fawell and Penny, with the assistance of the "Porkbusters" coalition (of which CSE is a leading member), devised an objective set of provisions to determine the most indefensible pork-barrel spending. To be included in the legislation, an item must have met at least some of the conditions identifying pork. How has some of the wasteful spending qualified? Some of the items in the bill, for instance, have never been the subject of a congressional hearing. Many others were classified because they mysteriously wormed their way into bills that they were not part of originally. This situation usually occurs after both the House and Senate have passed similar bills, but a few differences remain to be worked out between the two chambers' versions. Meetings between congressmen and senators — known as conference committees — take place to iron out areas of disagreement. There, out of public view, much unnecessary pork suddenly appears, and takes on new life as parts of bills that have just had their major differences resolved. Such behind-closed-doors deal-making happens all too often.

IT'S 1991—DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR KIDS ARE?

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Sen. Pete Domenici says Congress has lost a considerable amount of confidence from the American people—and he plans to do something about it. Domenici recently joined with three other members of Congress to form a bipartisan coalition of one senator and one representative from each party, who have introduced legislation to make Congress more effective.

Following a restructuring of Senate committees in 1946, there were 38. Today there are 298. Staff members have grown from 2,000 to 12,000. The average length of bills has quintupled from 4 pages to 20 pages.

Domenici's biggest grabber of all—the Senate spends a fourth of its time calling the roll. Sure, the Senate knows about electronic voting machines. The House has had them for two decades. But the U.S. Senate is much like the New Mexico Senate—it's fun to play around with roll call votes.

When our new state capitol was built in 1967, provisions were made for electronic voting in each chamber. By the early '80s, the House went for it. But the state Senate continues to call the roll so members can jockey back and forth, switching votes, and trying to create ties so they can put the lieutenant governor on the spot. The state Senate seldom gets through a roll call vote in less than five minutes, while the House takes 30 seconds with its electronic system.

At the federal level the problem is compounded by greater numbers. The U.S. Senate is bigger than the New Mexico House.

Domenici and friends want to streamline Congress by appointing a 20-member panel to make recommendations for a comprehensive reform of the institution. The report date is to be the fall of 1992. The way Congress moves, that's lightning speed.

The proliferation of U.S. Senate committees has Congress in legislative gridlock, according to Domenici. That especially worries him in the areas of science and technology where fast action is important. As Congress considered the recently passed technology-transfer legislation, four committees had jurisdiction over the bill.

Domenici says instead of focusing on how to use the committee structure to review and improve the legislation, he was forced to think about how to get around it if his bill were ever to pass.

The same situation exists concerning legislation to open the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant near Carlsbad. Three House committees have jurisdiction over a bill Congress is trying to move quickly so as to avoid administrative opening of the site. The situation has prompted Sen. Jeff Bingaman to consider amending the language into a defense bill that has already passed the House and come to the floor of the Senate.

Domenici also wants to streamline Congress' three independent legislative cycles. The budget cycle, authorizing cycle and a spending cycle seem like they are "designed to confuse people," the senator says.

The four sponsors of the reform legislation are not the only members of Congress frustrated with the institution's inability to act. One concern many have had in the past few years is that their mushrooming staff may be taking over.

With 12,000 employees working for 535 lawmakers, the odds get better all the time that that tail will start wagging the dog. Congressional staff work has become a profession, with staff transferring among bosses at a rapid rate. A strong network has developed among these 12,000 people that some fear is becoming more powerful than Congress itself.

That fear may be what it takes for Congress to make some reforms. The last thing politicians want to lose is their power. But has the staff system already become too strong? If so, is there a chance the rapid growth of staff will not be sufficiently analyzed? After all, the review panel will be dependent on its large staff.

What kind of bird is this sales tax of New Mexico?

By JAY MILLER

SANTA FE—Is New Mexico's sales tax the broadest in the nation, hitting many inappropriate categories such as local governments and the poor? Or is it a tax with over $2 billion in loopholes—enough to double the state budget?

Both allegations have been made to the Legislature's Tax Equity Task Force. Both sides can't be right. So which one is correct?

Actually both statements are basically true. It just depends on who's doing the talking. Dick Minzner, secretary of the Taxation and Revenue Department, can argue either side.

In most states a sales tax is levied on the gross receipts of most retail merchants. In New Mexico the tax is extended to just about all goods and services. That includes such basic necessities as food, medicine and doctor bills. It includes fundraisers of community service groups. And, as of last year, it includes sales by cities, counties and school districts.

Such groups complain our sales tax is far too broad while others note the $2 billion in exemptions that remain. Minzner seems to like New Mexico's broad-based tax. He points out that with a sales tax rate that is only moderate among states, New Mexico receives a high "effective yield." He says other states would have to approximately double their rates in order to equal our yield.

As Minzner puts it, "We tax just about everything we can." So what about the $2 billion we don't tax? As Minzner says, we're already taxing just about everything we can. The rest of the stuff, the state can't tax without one heck of a fight from you and me. Most of those untaxed resources are the payrolls of every employer in the state. That's right, a payroll tax that would doubtless come out of the paycheck of every wage earner in the state.

The next biggest source of new sales tax revenue would be on gasoline. The tax you pay at the gas pump does not include state sales tax. It's a separate tax that goes into the state road fund without ever passing through the general fund. Those interested in building roads have kept the gasoline tax earmarked for highways.

That tax doesn't look very likely either. If neither payrolls nor gasoline are hit with a sales tax most of that $2 billion is out the window.

But New Mexico's lawmakers haven't given up. Already the most creative in the nation at rooting out those who should be paying their share, the 1991 Legislature went another step by taxing the sales of cities, counties and school districts.

Balancing state budgets on the backs of local governments is not an invention for which New Mexico lawmakers can claim credit, however. As states throughout the nation are being hit by recession, they are turning to local governments for relief—and not just by taxing them. Local governments are now being charged for services states once offered free; they are being hit with mandates to perform services once provided by the state; and they are seeing massive cuts in state aid.

BLOOMS AFTER 1900

The story of communities of Lincoln County was told in a history of post offices written by postmasters; or former postmasters; or persons associated with post offices. The following excerpts are from a story about Carrizozo submitted to the 1976 Lincoln County News bicentennial issue. The account about early-day Carrizozo was compiled by Roy Harman, former Carrizozo postmaster.

The Carrizozo post office was named for the Spanish word "carrizo" meaning tall, dry grass which once grew in the surrounding country and for which a nearby mountain was named.

Shortly after the turn of the century, Frederick M.P. Hunt became Carrizozo's first postmaster. His commission was dated May 31, 1902. Prior to this time, the area had been served by the White Oaks and Nogal post offices.

Carrizozo probably would have been no more than a siding and junction with the old Capitan branch of the El Paso and Northeastern Railroad if the people of White Oaks had cooperated with Charles B. Eddy, who was having the railroad built north to tie in with the Rock Island Railroad. Because of the hidden cost of securing the right-of-way through White Oaks, Eddy decided to by-pass the town of White Oaks and start the town of Carrizozo.

Records show that the first postmaster, Hunt, served until March 1907. Ira O. Wetmore, a man who had taken a great interest in the building of Carrizozo succeeded postmaster Lacey (first name unknown) and served until 1909 when William Riley, a longtime resident of Lincoln County was appointed. Harman writes that Riley was an excellent penman and the records kept by Riley are unusually beautiful. The Riley family was well-known in Lincoln County. Harman lists Mrs. T. A. Spencer Sr. and Mrs. Will Ed Harris among them.

In August 1912, Arthur J. Rolland, a Carrizozo businessman, was named postmaster. He served until December 1913. He was a pharmacist and operated a drugstore in Carrizozo until his death in 1947.

NEWSMAN APPOINTED

In 1914 newspaperman John A. Haley was appointed postmaster. At the time of his appointment, Haley was busy, having just published a yearbook about Lincoln County. During Haley's term as postmaster, the post office was a central accounting office for Lincoln County. Haley's daughter is Carrizozo resident Aileen Lindamood, former Alto postmaster (no such thing as postmistress). Georgia Orme Johnson, Edith Crawford and Era B. Smith served as clerks when Haley was postmaster.

Harman recalls that the Lincoln County News carried an interesting item in 1913 concerning the parcel post service which had been established on January of that year. The article told of John Baird of Carrizozo mailing a dog to his friend, Les Harman at White Oaks. Dogs are not accepted for mailing now, Harman points out.

In 1923, Haley was succeeded by Elizabeth O. Gumm, a teacher whose husband was a member of a pioneer White Oaks family. Herman E. Kelt was named to head the office on the death of Gumm on May 1933.

After serving ten years, Kelt resigned and Era B. Smith became acting postmaster. Smith edited the Lincoln County News at this time and found that it was too much to hold both jobs, so she resigned. Herman Kelt was re-appointed.

EQUAL MEMBERS

During the Lincoln Fair days, I met Capitan's Thelma Stephens, who was "managing" the Smokey Bear Lions Club booth. Thelma was busy passing around Lion literature on opening day of the fair. I learned that she wasn't merely supporting her husband's club. She is a Lion herself and she boasts that the women are equal members. None of this chauvinist stuff.

Since their charter date in 1938, starting with a zero bank account, the Smokey Bear Lions Club have supplied eyeglasses and eye exams for more than 50 children and adults from Ft. Stanton, Lincoln and Capitan; have collected and donated more than 100 pairs of used eyeglasses for the needy in Mexico, and have donated musical instruments to a school in Palomas.

The club maintains Memorial Park at Capitan, mows grass for the elderly and donates money to several other organizations and individuals. "Being a Lion means that all the monies we earn through garage and bake sales and whatever else we do to raise funds goes back into our community to help those that need help," the Lions club members point out.

PUSHING AMERICANISM

Meanwhile, a booth next to the one Thelma was working at, a man was promoting the American Legion to "foster and perpetuate 100 percent Americanism." Bob Stephens (Thelma's husband) proudly tells fair-goers about the club's oratorical contest.

The purpose of the American Legion's National High School oratorical contest is to develop a deeper knowledge and appreciation of the Constitution of the United States on the part of high school students. Other objectives: the development of leadership qualities, the ability to think and speak clearly and intelligently, and the preparation for acceptance of duties and responsibilities, "the rights and privileges of American citizenship. That is a mouthful!"

Happy birthday to Raymond Sanchez, Aug. 9. Many more.

Old Lincoln Days, the Pony Express and the Lincoln County Fair have come and gone for another year. Just seems like the powers that be could come up with a different set of dates. The festivities at White Oaks and Old Lincoln Days come at the same time. Why? Some of us folks like to attend both and doing that takes some planning and a lot of unnecessary driving. Before we can catch our breath and get a few dollars ahead, the Lincoln County Fair is in full swing. All the beautiful things on display and you feel guilty when you honestly cannot afford to buy some of them. Especially guilty when some of the most beautiful are made by your very best friends. Why not put a little more time between these three events. If it interferes with the beginning of school, then start sooner!

Just ran across this the other day while cleaning out my desk. "Share your Smile. A smile costs nothing, but it creates much. It happens in a flash, but its memory of it lasts forever. It cannot be begged, borrowed, or stolen, but it is of no earthly good to anyone until it is given away. So if in a hurry, you meet someone who is too weary to smile, leave one of yours, for no one needs a smile so much as he who has none to give." —G.K. Chesterton.

A week ago we wrote that life begins at 80, if you let it. Well, I have noticed that everything is farther away than it used to be. It is even twice as far to the corner and they have added a hill, I think. It seems to me they are making the stairs steeper, nowadays. And have you noticed the smaller print they use in the newspapers?

There is no sense in asking anyone to read aloud anymore, as everybody speaks in such a low voice I can hardly hear them. The material in dresses is so skimpy nowadays, especially around the hips and the waist, that it is almost impossible to reach one's shoelaces. And the sizes don't run the way they used to. The 12's and 14's are so much smaller. Even people are changing. They are so much younger than they used to be when I was their age. On the other hand, people my own age are so much older than I am. I ran into an old classmate the other day and she had aged so much, she didn't recognize me. I got to thinking about the poor dear while I was combing my hair this morning and doing so I glanced in at my own reflection. Really now—they don't even make good mirrors like they used to.

Enough rambling. So long 'til next week.

Corona Schools get 'exciting new people'

"There will be some exciting new people in and around the Corona School District this year," said George Langan, Corona's new superintendent.

Corona starts on a four-day school week (Tuesday - Friday) along with Logan and Mosquero for the first time this year.

Five new teachers have joined the staff. Teaching for the first time are Todd and Shelly Pinnell. Todd will be teaching vocational science, and coaching boys basketball. Shelly will be finishing her student teaching and teaching third and fourth grades. Todd and Shelly are both from Melrose.

Tom Tracey joins the staff as the new special education teacher. Tracey has a master's degree in special education and lives in Nogal.

Sam DuBoise comes to Corona from Ecuador, where he worked and taught school for the last 18 years. DuBoise will teach Spanish, French, computer science, and business. He is originally from Los Alamos.

Jerry Adcox will be the new football and track coach as well as the social studies, health and physical education teacher. Adcox comes to Corona from Washington state; however, he started his coaching career at Shiprock.

To add to this list of outstanding talent, is the new superintendent, George Langan. He comes to Corona from House, where he was the coach, principal, social studies teacher, and superintendent for the past four years.

HARVEY ROSE, formerly of San Jon; has been hired at Carrizozo Schools as vocational agricultural and technology teacher.

Kindergarten full time now for Capitan

Capitan kindergartners will be full-time students this fall.

State approval of funding for the full-time program came to Capitan school officials late last week, which allowed elementary principal Jerry Newsom to tell kindergarten teachers JoAnn Washburn and Dottie Mae Veigh to get ready. Teachers will be assisted by instructional aide Janie York in the afternoons, Newsom said.

Beginning at 8:05 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 20, kindergartners will be in class all day, five days a week.

Parents need to call Capitan Elementary School at 354-2238 for their child's class assignment.

Also, Newsom said the State of New Mexico is highly recommending kindergartners have another measles shot in addition to all required immunizations. Lack of the measles shot will not disqualify a student's enrollment, however.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

A work release participant from Camp Sierra Blanca minimum security prison, who walked away from his job in Ruidoso Wednesday, Aug. 7, is still at large.

According to Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, Richard Mann has yet to be found. Mann's disappearance was first discovered after he did not report to the camp bus which picks up work-release prisoners after work in Ruidoso Aug. 7.

The Sheriff's Office (SO) was advised of the walkaway about 6 p.m. that day. New Mexico State Police (NMSP) routinely handles walkaways and escapes from Camp Sierra Blanca.

Mann, 44, is Native American, 6'3", 210 pounds, with brown eyes and black hair. He was serving time for aggravated battery and had five months left on his sentence.

Anyone who has seen Mann should contact the SO or local police.

Fort Stanton Facts & Fiction

by Betty Joiner

By BETTY LOU JOINER

Saturday, just before 2 p.m., Fort Stanton had a cloudburst. It rained so hard you couldn't see anything. Sheets of rain fell for a good twenty minutes. The fairgrounds in Capitan received the same rainfall just before the sale began at the fair.

The fair closed on Saturday afternoon, with another fine year of exhibits. The judges did a superb job! Those judging were Jane Terrell, flowers and horticulture; Juanita Sultemeier, Jaquette Finley, Dorrie Wagner, Marilyn Perry, Sharon Rhodes, Peggy Voigt, and Mrs. Knapp. Mrs. Knapp judged the artwork and the other ladies, members of different Roswell extension clubs, judged the many crafts and 4-H exhibits. Ron Lamb, who judged the pigs and lambs, was very good at telling the exhibitors their errors in showing the animals. This helps them do better next year.

A few of the top winners for 1991 were Joe Arnett, champion horticulture award for his cabbage, and Leon Locke, reserve for his patty pan squash. Opea baking champion award went to Annell Beville of Nogal, for her hot rolls and reserve to Ruth Shannon for her date loaf. Brenda Marshall of Corona won the canning with Dorothy Tally winning reserve. Jane Hernandez won the top flower award with Beverly Payne placing second. Bessie Jones won the senior citizens cook off with her angel food cake. Tammy Payne won the 4-H cake contest and received over $200 for her cake in the sale. Henry Berry was the winner of the sheep lead class. Inez Marrs, general superintendent of the fair had the following people helping throughout the fair: Ruth Shannon, Molly Mason, Mary Shanks, Beverly Payne, Kit Hall, Edith Malcolm,

Flags flying proudly at Carrizozo Airport

The flags are flying proudly at Carrizozo Airport, thanks to the efforts of Gary Lovelace, Scott Shafer and Glen Ellison, according to Hal Marx, airport manager.

"We had discussions with Great Southwest Aviation Wednesday about the establishment of a flight school at the airport. Anyone interested in learning how to fly, please contact me," said Marx.

Marx posts a reminder, as the deadline of Oct. 1 approaches, that ornaments for the State Christmas Tree are being collected at the airport. Ornaments must be five

Mary Lu Cozzens, Janie York, Staci Horst, Amy Riddle, Chuck Johnson, Bessie Jones, Mike Haniera, Jane Hernandez, and Betty Joiner. The Capitan FFA girls catered the buyers luncheon serving just over a 100 people. The 4-H clubs and FFA members were serving all kinds of goodies during the fair. The carnival was another attraction at the fair. Be sure and look for the many other winners in the paper.

Beatrice Gomez filled in at the post office last week for Donna Keller. Donna went to Albuquerque and picked up Erin. She had flown into Albuquerque from Honduras. Donna and Erin left Sunday then, for Oral Roberts University, where she will be attending school.

Gwen and Eddie Jones picked up Lance Jones and Cody Erwin at the Albuquerque airport last Monday morning. Along with Joe Aroda, Jeff Ortow, and Adam, Teresa, and Monique Barboa, they attended a national karate tournament in Oakland, Calif. They were gone Thursday through Monday.

Robert Griego, Trapper Delore, Martel, and the Jensens attended the Big Horn Rendezvous shooting match in Albuquerque last weekend. There was some very tough competitors from throughout the United States competing.

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse met at the fairgrounds on Aug. 11. Another plaque was shown which they won in the Lincoln parade, along with a blue rosette ribbon. Marvin Jones called the meeting to order. Della Joiner was presented a check for $300 to help with her expenses in Albuquerque. The raffle tickets need to be turned in on or to nine inches tall, and must be made of wood, leather, tin or tile. No religious significant items, please. Also, cash can be accepted to help defray the cost of shipping the tree to Washington, D.C.

The "Fun Fly" for miniature aircraft rescheduled for the last weekend in August has once again been postponed until mid-September.

Marx invites churches of Carrizozo to hold services at the airport on consecutive Sundays while the weather remains nice. He says pastors may call him and dates can be set up for the services.

The Lincoln County Pony Express committee would like to thank the posse for their help during the race. Corona festival days and the Estancia parade were well represented by posse members. Jane and Leon Livingston were new members welcome to the group.

SHY LYN BULLARD

Corona girl competing in TEEN pageant

Shy Lyn Bullard, 17, daughter of Robert and Roberta Bullard of Capitan, has been selected to compete in the 1991 New Mexico Miss TEEN Pageant to be held at the Holiday Inn Pyramid Hotel, Albuquerque on Aug. 17-18.

She and other 13-18 year olds will be honored and recognized for their achievements in school, community and personally. She and other young ladies from all over the state who compete in the pageant are required to participate in the "Volunteer Service Program" of the pageant. Through this program many teen girls are becoming involved in community activities by contributing at least 12 hours of time benefiting those less fortunate than themselves. Due to the Volunteer Service requirements of the pageant this past year, Miss TEEN contestants donated over 800,000 hours of time across the country to many volunteer and charitable organizations.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, volunteer service, speech or talent, personal interview, and formal presentation. Awards will be presented in each category. The 1991 New Mexico Miss TEEN will receive a $500 cash scholarship, a self improvement/modeling scholarship, formal gown, select merchandise and gifts, and an all expense paid trip to represent the state of New Mexico at the National Finals in Kansas City, Mo. Over $100,000 in scholarships and prizes will be awarded at the national pageant.

Miss Bullard's accomplishments and hobbies are: Who's Who Among American High School Students, Miss Model of 1991 in the Miss New Mexico American Coed/Teen Pageant.

Corona Schools get 'exciting new people'

"There will be some exciting new people in and around the Corona School District this year," said George Langan, Corona's new superintendent.

Corona starts on a four-day school week (Tuesday-Friday) along with Logan and Mosquero for the first time this year.

Five new teachers have joined the staff. Teaching for the first time are Todd and Shelly Pinnell. Todd will be teaching vocational science, and coaching boys basketball. Shelly will be finishing her student teaching and teaching third and fourth grades. Todd and Shelly are both from Melrose.

Tom Tracey joins the staff as the new special education teacher. Tracey has a master's degree in special education and lives in Nogal. Sam DuBoise comes to Corona from Ecuador, where he worked and taught school for the last 18 years. DuBoise will teach Spanish, French, computer science, and business. He is originally from Los Alamos.

Jerry Adeox will be the new football and track coach as well as the social studies, health and physical education teacher. Adeox comes to Corona from Washington state; however, he started his coaching career at Shiprock.

To add to this list of outstanding talent, is the new superintendent, George Langan. He comes to Corona from House, where he was the coach, principal, social studies teacher, and superintendent for the past four years.

HARVEY ROSE, formerly of San Jon, has been hired at Carrizozo Schools as vocational agricultural and technology teacher.

Kindergarten full time now for Capitan

Capitan kindergarteners will be full-time students this fall.

State approval of funding for the full-time program came to Capitan school officials last week, which allowed elementary principal Jerry Newsom to tell kindergarten teachers JoAnn Washburn and Dottie MacVeigh to get ready. Teachers will be assisted by instructional aide Janie York in the afternoons, Newsom said.

Beginning at 8:05 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 20, kindergarteners will be in class all day, five days a week.

Parents need to call Capitan Elementary School at 384-2238 for their child's class assignment.

Also, Newsom said the State of New Mexico is highly recommending kindergarteners have another measles shot in addition to all required immunizations. Lack of the measles shot will not disqualify a student's enrollment, however.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

A work release participant from Camp Sierra Blanca minimum security prison, who walked away from his job in Ruidoso Wednesday, Aug. 7, is still at large.

According to Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, Richard Mann has yet to be found. Mann's disappearance was first discovered after he did not report to the camp bus which picks up work-release prisoners after work in Ruidoso Aug. 7.

The Sheriff's Office (SO) was advised of the walkaway about 6 p.m. that day. New Mexico State Police (NMSP) routinely handles walkaways and escapes from Camp Sierra Blanca.

Mann, 44, is Native American, 6'3", 210 pounds, with brown eyes and black hair. He was serving time for aggravated battery and had five months left on his sentence.

Anyone who has seen Mann should contact the SO or local police.

Fort Stanton Facts & Fiction

by Betty Joiner

By BETTY LOU JOINER

Saturday just before 2 p.m., Fort Stanton had a cloudburst. It rained so hard you couldn't see anything. Sheets of rain fell for a good twenty minutes. The fairgrounds in Capitan received the same rainfall just before the sale began at the fair.

The fair closed on Saturday afternoon, with another fine year of exhibits. The judges did a superb job! Those judging were Jane Terrall, flowers and horticulture, Juanita Sultemeier, Jaquetta Finley, Dorrie Wagner, Marilyn Perry, Sharon Rhodes, Peggy Voigt, and Mrs. Knapp. Mrs. Knapp judged the artwork and the other ladies, members of different Roswell extension clubs, judged the many crafts and 4-H exhibits. Ron Lamb, who judged the pigs and lambs, was very good at telling the exhibitors their errors in showing the animals. This helps them do better next year.

A few of the top winners for 1991 were Joe Arnett, champion horticulture award for his cabbage, and Leon Locke, reserve for his paty pan squash. Open baking champion award went to Amnell Beville of Nogal, for her hot rolls and reserve to Ruth Shannon for her date loaf. Brenda Marshall of Corona won the canning with Dorothy Tally winning reserve. Jane Hernandez won the top flower award with Beverly Payne placing second. Bessie Jones won the senior citizens cook off with her angel food cake. Tammy Payne won the 4-H cake contest and received over $200 for her cake in the sale. Henry Berry was the winner of the sheep lead class. Inez Marrs, general superintendent of the fair had the following people helping throughout the fair: Ruth Shannon, Molly Mason, Mary Shanks, Beverly Payne, Kit Hall, Edith Malcolm,

Mary Lu Cozzens, Janie York, Staci Horst, Amy Riddle, Chuck Johnson, Bessie Jones, Mike Haniera, Jane Hernandez, and Betty Joiner. The Capitan FFA girls catered the buyers luncheon serving just over a 100 people. The 4-H clubs and FFA members were serving all kinds of goodies during the fair. The carnival was another attraction at the fair. Be sure and look for the many other winners in the paper.

Beatrice Gomez filed in at the post office last week for Donna Keller. Donna went to Albuquerque and picked up Erin. She had flown into Albuquerque from Honduras. Donna and Erin left Sunday then, for Oral Roberts University, where she will be attending school.

Gwen and Eddie Jones picked up Lance Jones and Cody Erwin at the Albuquerque airport last Monday morning. Along with Joe Aproda, Jeff Ortzow, and Adam, Teresa, and Monique Barboa, they attended a national karate tournament in Oakland, Calif. They were gone Thursday through Monday.

Robert Griego, Trapper, Delore, Martel, and the Jensens attended the Big Horn Rendezvous shooting match in Albuquerque last weekend. There was some very tough competitors from throughout the United States competing.

The Lincoln County Sheriff's posse met at the fairgrounds on Aug. 11. Another plaque was shown which they won in the Lincoln parade, along with a blue rosette ribbon. Marvin Jones called the meeting to order. Della Joiner was presented a check for $300 to help with her expenses in Albuquerque. The raffle tickets need to be turned in on or before the next meeting which will be on Sept. 1. The drawing will be held on Sept. 2. Some of the other activities the posse will be helping with will be the Aspenade, Fred Chayez Memorial Park in Carrizozo and the Symposium. Belen's parade, Estancia and Moriarity are possibilities. The Lincoln County Pony Express committee would like to thank the posse for their help during the race. Corona festival days and the Estancia parade were well represented by posse members. Jane and Leon Livingston were new members welcome to the group.

SHY LYN BULLARD

Corona girl competing in TEEN pageant

Shy Lyn Bullard, 17, daughter of Robert and Roberta Bullard of Capitan, has been selected to compete in the 1991 New Mexico Miss TEEN Pageant to be held at the Holiday Inn Pyramid Hotel, Albuquerque on Aug. 17-18.

She and other 14-18 year olds will be honored and recognized for their achievements in school, community and personally. She and other young ladies from all over the state who compete in the pageant are required to participate in the "Volunteer Service Program" of the pageant. Through this program many teen girls are becoming involved in community activities by contributing at least 12 hours of time benefiting those less fortunate than themselves. Due to the Volunteer Service requirements of the pageant this past year, Miss TEEN contestants donated over 800,000 hours of time across the country to many volunteer or charitable organizations.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, volunteer service, speech or talent, personal interview, and formal presentation. Awards will be presented in each category. The 1991 New Mexico Miss TEEN will receive a $500 cash scholarship, a self-improvement/modeling scholarship, formal gown, select merchandise and gifts, and an all-expense-paid trip to represent the state of New Mexico at the National Finals in Kansas City, Mo. Over $100,000 in scholarships and prizes will be awarded at the national pageant.

Miss Bullard's accomplishments and hobbies are: Who's Who Among American High School Students, Miss Model of 1991 in the Miss New Mexico American Coed/Teen Pageant.

Her sponsors are Robert and Roberta Bullard and cousin Russell Bullard.

Flags flying proudly at Carrizozo Airport

The flags are flying proudly at Carrizozo Airport, thanks to the efforts of Gary Lovelace, Scott Shafer and Glen Ellison, according to Hal Marx, airport manager.

"We had discussions with Great Southwest Aviation Wednesday about the establishment of a flight school at the airport. Anyone interested in learning how to fly, please contact me," said Marx.

Marx posts a reminder, as the deadline of Oct. 1 approaches, that ornaments for the State Christmas Tree are being collected at the airport. Ornaments must be five to nine inches tall, and must be made of wood, leather, tin or tile. No religious significant items, please. Also, cash can be accepted to help defray the cost of shipping the tree to Washington, D.C.

The "Fun Fly" for miniature aircraft rescheduled for the last weekend in August has once again been postponed until mid-September.

Marx invites churches of Carrizozo to hold services at the airport on consecutive Sundays while the weather remains nice. He says pastors may call him and dates can be set up for the services.

Capitan hires principal, alters rules to promote 27

By DORIS CHERRY

Capitan Board of Education hired Darrel Stierwalt as high school principal and made some student-friendly changes to the board policy and high school student/parent handbook at its meeting Thursday.

Members approved a change which will allow students in grades 7-12 to make only a D average to pass. The major reason for the change was 27 students were retained in the 7th and 8th grades, most of whom had averages that were very close to the C- required to pass.

"Lots of parents were not aware their kids were in grade trouble," Stierwalt said.

This school year, Stierwalt plans to set up weekly progress reports and if problems are seen, parents will be alerted of any problems early in the semester. He also plans to start a support group for study skills, to help those students who are having grade trouble.

"Most students admitted they were at fault, not turning in homework," Stierwalt said.

Letters were mailed to all students' parents. Only 10 had responded by Thursday. Nine signed waivers which will allow their children to be promoted to the higher grade. Parents of one student said to "leave him there." But Stierwalt was disappointed so few parents responded.

Board member Tom Trost said the retention news made a "lot of kids real serious." Some even were in tears because they would not be with their peer group.

With the 18 retainees, junior high scheduling will be tough for newcomer Stierwalt. The teacher to student ratio will be much higher in those junior high core subjects to allow for the retainees, and the incoming students from the elementary. Also there will be a need for additional textbooks.

Stierwalt hoped he would have scheduling completed by Wednesday, when students began receiving their class schedules.

Board president Preston Stone apologized to Stierwalt for the scheduling problem, because he knew in January of a potential problem with grades. He said letters were mailed to parents once, but no follow up was made by former administration officials.

"We appreciate the job you're doing," Stone said to Stierwalt.

Students who pass to a higher grade with the parental waiver will not be qualified to participate in high school sports because of the New Mexico Athletics Association requirements of a C or higher average.

Other academic changes to the handbook will make it easier for a student to make the B Honor Roll. A student will only need a B average to qualify, rather than B in every class as required before. Stierwalt said the B average would be more fair to students.

This school year, there will be no home room in the high school. There will be seven class periods, with the first to start when the bell rings in the morning at 8:20 a.m.

Five minutes were added to the first period to allow for announcements. Lunch will only be 30 minutes, but students will be allowed to leave campus at that time. However, students will not be allowed to leave campus during class time.

As for tardiness, which has been a tremendous problem in the past, students will be allowed three "freebie" tardies a semester with the individual teacher to deal with the situation. After three, a zero will be given for work turned in that day. After the 6th tardy, the student must attend a detention hall, AFTER SCHOOL HOURS. The after hours detention hall will alert parents and coaches who then can "prod" the young people along, Stierwalt added.

The discipline policy was not changed from last year, but both Stierwalt and superintendent David Lock were not quite happy with the policy. Lock suggested a board work session to consider some changes. However, he was not quite ready for a radical change at this time.

Stierwalt said most students would not need the most severe punishment for discipline problems. "Use logic and reason and they usually come around," he said.

Another change high school students can expect is the parking lot situation. Students will be allowed to park in the west lot only, because of the "madhouse" in the morning when students were allowed to park in the middle lot close to the multi-purpose building. The YoAg parking lot will be used as an overflow lot for students also. The middle lot will be reserved for staff and visitors. Staff will be on duty at the lot during lunch to monitor students.

The speed limit will be dropped to five miles per hour, and Stierwalt has contacted Capitan Police Tom Hammon who will be on hand during noon to enforce the limit, and write tickets if necessary.

Students who plan to bring a car to school must bring in proof of insurance and registration and sign a form.

Traffic will be one-way onto campus from 8-8:30 a.m. and 3-3:30 p.m. because of the narrow driveway and bus traffic.

The handbook will be given to each high school student, who must take it home, review it with parents, who must sign the document. Students then must return the signed handbook to school, where it will be filed. If problems, which are addressed in the handbook, arise during the school year, the student and parents will be referred to the book on file.

Board policy was also modified to allow 8th graders to participate in varsity sports. Former policy limited varsity participation to students in grades 9-12. Stone said the modification will help the school rebuild its varsity football program. The policy will also apply to girls volleyball and both boys and girls basketball, and track.

All members voiced their confidence in the coaches to use good judgment when playing the 8th graders so no injuries will result.

NMAA rules allow 8th graders on varsity teams.

The board accepted Bobbe Fowler's resignation as 3rd grade teacher. Members also hired Pat Holland as 3rd grade teacher, Joe Beth Vinson as 1/2 time instructional aid and Pam Peciado as 1/2 custodian.

Extra-curricular assignments were given as follows: Pat Ventura as head football coach, Ed Davis and Kim Nelson as assistants.

Ventura also will be head boys basketball coach; Norman Cline will be head and assistant girls basketball coach; Terry Cox will be assistant boys coach; Ed Davis will be boys junior high coach and Pam Allen girls junior high coach.

Allen will continue as head and assistant volleyball coach. Cline will be junior high coach.

Davis will be boys head track coach, Allen head girls track coach and Cline girls junior high track coach.

Ventura will be the summer weight program room supervisor; Myrum Whitaker will be football and volleyball cheerleading coach; Hazel Poissot will be basketball cheerleading coach; Diane Riska will be the annual staff sponsor; Dick Valenzuela will be band and choir sponsor; Bill MacVeigh will be student senate sponsor and Hazel Poissot will be mock trial sponsor.

Bus drivers will be the same this school year.

Starting next meeting board members will have an agenda which will include the pledge to the U.S. and New Mexico flags.

The school nutrition program, for free and reduced lunches, was approved. The school will receive 5 cents more reimbursement from last year.

A member of the board will represent the school at the State Committee Meeting, but no one committed at the Thursday session. Members wanted vice-president Trost to attend and the superintendent presented him with an ugly tie to show his support of Trost being the representative.

The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, September 10.
