

New commissioners get organized, fire Hall

By Doris Cherry

The new Lincoln County Commission started its meeting with a closed session, then came out and fired Tommy Hall as road superintendent.

Once commissioner Stirling Spencer was elected chairman and Bill Elliott vice-chairman, the format of agenda was retained as before, commissioners Spencer, Elliott and Monroy Montes went into a 40-minute closed session to consider appointments of county manager, road superintendent, or manager as the new group calls the position, and county attorney.

Commissioners left the conference room to conduct their closed session, something different than previous commissions which would require the audience to leave the room. They conducted the session to consider the appointments or personnel.

When they came back, Elliott moved to retain Nick Pappas as county manager.

All votes were yes. Pappas was not present as he was in the hospital in Roswell with a coronary condition. To serve as county manager in his absence, Spencer appointed Pappas' administrative assistant Martha Guevara.

Montes moved to retain J. Robert Beauvais as county attorney, and again all yes votes.

When Elliott moved to not retain Tommy Hall there was no discussion, but Spencer voted against the motion, casting his vote in favor of Hall. Elliott and Montes both voted yes.

Hall immediately left the room and was unavailable for comment.

Spencer appointed assistant road manager Joe Vega Jr. to serve as manager until the vacancy is filled. The job will be advertised and applications considered at a later meeting.

Afterwards, commissioners set about to pass resolutions dealing with housekeeping—regular meeting dates, open meetings notice and publication procedures and official holiday calendar.

Commissioners will resume the former daytime meeting times, at 9 a.m. every 3rd Tuesday. The first meeting will be Friday, Jan. 18, instead of Jan. 22 because of a conflict with the state legislative session. With the February meeting, commissioners will resume their regular time. The meetings will be as follows: Jan. 18, Feb. 12, March 5, March 26, April 16, May 7, May 28, June 18, July 9, July 30, Aug. 20, Sept. 10, Oct. 1, Oct. 22, Nov. 12 and Dec. 3.

As for open meetings, notice must be given 10 days in advance of a regular meeting, three for a special meeting and 24 hours for an emergency meeting. Other instructions about where notices of meetings must be posted also were included in the standardized resolution based on state law.

The official holiday calendar saw one change from previous calendars.

Spencer commented on the Martin Luther King Day, Jan. 21, and suggested the day be replaced with a "floating" birthday holiday for each county employee. Spencer based his suggestion on a survey he requested the manager conduct among county employees. The 90 percent staff response indicated overwhelming approval of the paid birthday holiday.

Audience member Dorothy Forsythe asked if Spencer had checked with the NFL about that deletion of the M L King Day. No, he answered. Forsythe has been an advocate of deleting the M. L. King holiday.

Lincoln's Birthday will be observed Friday, Nov. 29; Washington's on Tuesday, Dec. 24; Good Friday (1/2 day) Friday, March 29; Memorial Day Monday, May 27; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 2; Columbus Day, Oct. 14; Veteran's Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving, Nov. 28; Christmas Day, Dec. 25 and New Year's Day, Wednesday, Jan. 1, 1992.

Action was taken to direct work be done on air conditioning system before summer arrives. The former commission set aside funds for the work. Repairs will be made by McKee-Trane.

The bulk of the Wednesday meeting was committee appointments.

Maggi Bohks was reappointed as civil defense director.

Montes was appointed to fill the two-year position on Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County.

Elliott and Montes fill the two two-year terms on the Extraterritorial Zoning Authority board.

The openings on the ET Zoning Commission (two-year terms) were tabled until Jan. 18, to allow commissioners time to review and interview those on the board now.

The Joint Powers Agreement Committee for the El Paso Water suit openings were tabled also, to give time to determine the viability of the committee.

Elliott was named to the Lincoln County Medical Center board, a two-year term.

Kay Dennis, Carolyn Cantrell and Richard W. Seeley were retained on the Lincoln County Lodgers' Tax Committee. The vacant position was filled by Larue Wetzel at the committee's recommendation.

Lincoln County Fair Board increased by one when Spencer appointed Judy Roberts, himself, Ralph Dunlap, Scott Shafer, Darlene Bobb and Hoot Gibson. The additional member makes it a 16-member board. Other members' terms have yet expired.

Lincoln County Personnel Board appointments were tabled.

Lincoln Historic Preservation Board members Chris C. Jordan, Bill Morris and A.D. Powers were retained and Agatha Long appointed to fill the vacancy created when Montes resigned. Vacancies for the board are advertised, Long was the only nominee.

Martha Proctor will serve as the county representative with the New Mexico Association of Counties.

Promises and accomplishments of Ruidoso's city council

By BLAKE MARTIN

Four months ago, a State of the Village was distributed by Responsible Government in Ruidoso.

Quotes from Mayor Victor Alonso and Councilors Ron Andrews and Barbara Duff were presented under a heading of two bar graphs that show reduction of expenses without reduction in services, and a $619,846 reduction in property taxes since the March 1990 elections.

City Manager Charles Norwood was noted for his administrative leadership.

Mayor Alonso comments that they rely daily on his extensive experience. Norwood communicates well with employees.

"The village has been reorganized, with elimination of expense and unnecessary middle management slots. This has resulted in Tax Dollar Savings with no decline in service levels."

Formerly, each department had a department head and three division heads. So, there was a resulting layer between city manager and department managers. Norwood has apparently had no problem with departmental communication. "Division heads may be needed further down the line," said Alonso; but, for a village of this size, they are a waste of taxpayers' money.

Alonso also mentions televising council meetings. "We support an underlying feeling of public service and participation." Televised meetings show interested citizens exactly what the city council is addressing.

The creation of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority was projected in the pamphlet. In the past, it seems that Ruidoso wanted SWEARING IN ceremonies over, District Judge Richard Parsons, stops to enjoy the goodies served by Dot Copeland, Ruidoso, one of several members of the League of Women Voters, who hosted the reception in Carrizozo. The League, strictly non-partisan, has more than 107,000 women and men members in all 50 states. Parsons, who officiated at the Jan. 2 oath ceremony for newly-elected officials and staff, is a League member.

New county officers take their oaths

It's official now.

Lincoln County officials elected in November took their oaths of office at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2 before District Judge Richard A. Parsons in the district courtroom in Carrizozo.

Judge Parsons commented favorably about the new commissioners visiting all the departments in the courthouse in December, to see what each department needs.

"It brought all of us closer together, more of a family, rather than a diverse group with no one to talk to," Parsons said.

All commissioners; Stirling Spencer, Bill Elliott and Monroy Montes were sworn in, then the manager's office staff. Manager Nick Pappas was unable to attend the ceremony as he was in the hospital in Roswell.

Parsons credited clerk Martha Proctor's, treasurer Pat Serna's staffs for being a "hardworking bunch" and jokingly asked the assessor's office to "faithfully reduce our taxes."

He also credited the staff of the district court. "These people make my job a lot, lot easier," Parsons work load has increased 38 percent.

Magistrate Judges Gerald Dean Jr. and Jim Wheeler were sworn in with probate judge Bud Payne.

Sheriff James McSwane took the oath for the second time, along with his large staff.

Parsons closed the ceremonies by calling it one of the real delights of his job and wished for an administration which will be "better for all."

The commissioners conducted their first meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Lincoln County League of Women Voters treated all present to a reception immediately following the ceremony.

Lighting contest winners in Capitan, Carrizozo

The judges had a hard time deciding winners in Carrizozo.

After consideration, winners of the 1990 residential Carrizozo lighting contest sponsored by the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce are as follows:

1st. Virginia Carabajal at 510 F. Ave.; 2nd Willie and Debbie Swift at 508 D. Ave and 3rd Lee Roy and Arlene Najar at 701 5th Ave. Honorable mention went to Joe Ventura on Aspen St.

Lincoln County Courthouse was the winner in the commercial category and will receive the traveling trophy.

The three residential winners have been invited to attend the Jan. 8 Chamber of Commerce meeting at noon at United New Mexico Bank. The prizes of gift certificates will be awarded to winners at that time.

Six homes in Capitan were rewarded for their excellent Christmas light displays.

Winners of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce Christmas lighting contest are: Floyd Danielson 1st (a $35 prize), Jesse Cervantes 2nd ($25) and Harold Seay

THIS TWISTED 1979 Ford van shown from the rear, flipped twice and landed upright after it was hit by a train near the SP Railroad depot in Carrizozo. The vehicle, not at the crossing, was in the path of the train going 60 miles per hour. The impact ejected Alva C. Twombly of Oklahoma about 32 feet from his van. The fatality occurred after 10 p.m. Jan. 1.

Promises

to go it alone. The new council changed that direction. So far, all municipalities have "kicked in their share of taxes" and signed the joint powers agreement forming the official solid waste authority.

Now, the municipalities should nominate members to serve on the board. After the board is created, it will begin by creating a budget from environmental gross receipts taxes, which will provide for the bid for hiring a director. Then they have to establish by-laws which include billing operations, incorporation of new customers, waivers for service on ranches, employment and personnel policies, etc.

As a member of the initial board, Alonso expresses hope of someday meeting with Otero County's Alamogordo. Then, they can offer a partnership to jointly operate a county landfill. By servicing to such a wide area, the SWA would be spreading the cost, thereby lessening the cost to taxpayers.

The mayor specifically commends Nick Pappas with his efforts in seeing the formation of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

The Civic Events Center was suggested as going in a positive direction. The Civic Events Center is a good example, continues Alonso, of how [and the council work toward] compromise and openness. Evidently, some had feared they would be hard to get along with regarding this issue.

"We represent a council that wishes to express all viewpoints."

Economic development, involving the Ironhorse Steam Rail Project with third season potential, is at the top of the mayor's priority list.

Dick Weber's name is commended with the progress of the project. Now that the proposal has been made and the $40,000 grant provided, a feasibility and environmental study will proceed.

People in the community should begin to get a little more excited about advantages of this economic potential.

While boasting a reduction in village budgeted expenses, property taxes returned to property owners (2 mills returned 4 months after distribution), and village structure reorganization, the pamphlet indicated maximum cooperation with no reduction in services.

The former administration was apparently spending a dollar for every one they made. Anyone or business experiencing maximum spending with no reserves will never be prepared for any unforeseen problems cutting into operations.

The present council has reduced that spending .02 for every dollar, with no reduction in service. This improves the villages credit rating, just as it would an individual.

All you can do, continues Alonso, is be conservative, reduce costs, and build up reserves.

Upgrading Fort Stanton won't close the hospital

Another Ft. Stanton closure scare worried area residents this weekend.

When the Dec. 30 Albuquerque Sunday Journal ran a full page headline reading "State Must Upgrade Handicapped Services," written by Scott Sandlin, it caused worry among some of the state hospital's employees.

The article reported on a 175-page decision issued by the US District Judge James A. Parker in Albuquerque on Dec. 28. The decision culminated eight weeks of trial over the past year in a class-action lawsuit filed by Protection and Advocacy Systems, Inc. (P&A) on behalf of a handicapped Los Lunas Hospital and Training School resident, Walter S. Jackson, and others in 1987.

According to the article, Parker entered the order after finding the state had violated constitutional rights to due process of the handicapped and has unlawfully discriminated against the most severely handicapped.

The focal points for the lawsuit were the state's two major institutions for the developmentally disabled, Los Lunas and Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Schools. Critics had claimed the institutions merely warehoused the handicapped without providing the safety, training and education required by law. They argued the handicapped could be best served in smaller community settings.

Ervin Aldaz, administrator at Ft. Stanton, said the order was received in Health and Environment Dept. office in Santa Fe only by Wednesday (Jan. 2) morning. When contacted later that same Wednesday, Aldaz said the department secretary Dennis Boyd had issued no comment about the order since he had only received the court document and had not had time to review it with Chris Cerf, the state's attorney, in the suit.

However, Aldaz said "basically, we got what we expected."

He assured the hospital near Capitan would not close, now would Los Lunas. One point of the order was that the hospitals would remain open, he added. "We need them."

But, the state must begin working on a way to move some of its institutional residents back to the families or to a more community setting near the families. According to the Journal article, that would mean moving about a fifth of the residents of Los Lunas and Ft. Stanton to community settings. In cases where the states said it could not place residents in the community because of no services, the court said the state must make those services available.

Aldaz said some clients will get to go to their families, as part of the ruling, but some of those had been "referred out" to families or community settings before the court ruling. However, there was no place to put those 20 clients, Aldaz added.

"I'm all for it," Aldaz said about moving certain clients out to the families or community settings.

The ruling will be asking the state for adjustments in the system. A transfer and correction plan, due by April 1 and ordered by the court, will guide the state to fix all problems cited in the court's opinion by next September. In the next three months the state and its critics must agree on a timetable for changes, the Journal article read.

Pete Cuba, attorney for P&A, said the state had been ordered to design a community service system adequate to take care of people with developmental disabilities outside of institutional settings.

Those affected by the order have mental and physical disabilities including retardation, epilepsy and cerebral palsy.

Aldaz defended Ft. Stanton against the criticism in the Journal article that the state "warehoused" the handicapped. "We do not agree we are warehousing," Aldaz said. He cited a recent audit of the Ft. Stanton facilities by an ICF (Intermediate Care Facility) team which gave the Fort a "clean bill of health" and said the Fort is doing a good job with education and training.

During the suit the state defended its treatment and said major improvements have been made since the lawsuit was filed.

"At least we're looking getting those who function closer to home," Aldaz said. Aldaz, numerous Ft. Stanton staff and some parents of residents at Ft. Stanton, testified during the trial on the institution's behalf.

A more detailed report about the court ruling will be made when the document is available.

The state, as a loser in the suit, will be expected to pay the plaintiff's attorney fees and court costs in addition to the estimated $2 million Cuba said had been spent by the state to hire the Washington, DC defense firm, according to the Journal.

The state's Attorney General or Sec. Boyd have yet to issue statements.

Commissioners

Appointment of Planning and Zoning Commission members whose terms expired (Patsy Sanchez, James Sanchez and Ernest Lueras) also were tabled.

Dub Williams and Bill Carrigan will retain their positions on the Property Tax Protest Board.

Regional Waste Water Joint Use Board member appointment also was tabled. Elliott was appointed to Southeastern New Mexico Development District and Pappas re-appointed.

Montes was appointed to serve on the Water Defense Association board for the Mescalero Water rights suit.

Montes will retain his seat for District I on the Zia Senior Citizens Advisory Commission (three-year term). Elliott appointed Inez Tanner of Ruidoso to fill the District II vacancy created by the resignation of Sid Miller.

Spencer and Elliott were appointed to the Solid Waste Committee, joining mayors Victor Alonso and Frank Warth.

Spencer and Elliott also will serve on the Special District Commission for solid waste.

Following business, Spencer opened the floor for discussion from the audience. Noema Page suggested a parliamentarian for the commission, which Spencer acknowledged.

Jack Page noted the cheerful attitude, "not the long faces" of prior commissions.

Elliott commented about Page's statement. "I like to enjoy what I do, I enjoy humor, but I don't take this job lightly," said the commissioner who served two terms in the late 70s and early 80s.

Commissioners discussed the road review committee and the need to make it a standing board. Elliott requested the county manager's office draw up a resolution concerning this to be presented at the Jan. 18 meeting.

front seat. Officers speculated Twombly had gone into the rear of the van. When the train hit the vehicle it caused the van to flip twice, throwing the man out about 32 feet. The van flipped about 54 feet from the point of impact to where it stopped. The van also hit the corner of the maintenance building at the depot, then landed on its wheels.

Martin said the accident was unavoidable for the train was traveling fully loaded.

Twombly's body was taken to Ruidoso and will be transferred to the state OMI office in Albuquerque for autopsy. All three Carrizozo officers and a Lincoln County Sheriff's deputy assisted with the investigation and crowd control.

CAR CARE CORNER

Oil Filters: Your Car's Key To Long Life

Full flow design. Before any oil can be distributed to engine bearings, it first must pass through the filter.

Helps wick and absorb both old and new oil.

Micronic element. Aids in removing particles as small as one micron or 39 millionths of an inch. Without this filtering process, the filter element can get too clogged with contaminants for oil to pass, and the pressure relief valve opens, letting dirty oil flow into the engine.

Changing your car's oil filter regularly can help your engine last longer.

There are several things you can do now to lengthen the life of your car's engine—and perhaps the time between now and the next time you have to purchase a new car.

One of the most important aspects of under-the-hood car maintenance involves oil and the oil filter. The oil filter plays a major role in keeping your car running smoothly. All oil that flows through to the engine is first filtered through the filter to weed out impurities. Even if you change your oil regularly, it's just as important to change the filter at the same time.

After an oil change, the lubricant in the oil chamber may be clean but up to a quart of it resides in your oil filter at all times. Unless you change your oil filter, along with the oil, you'll mix the old, dirty oil with the new. A complete oil change means replacing your oil filter, as well. For example, in Parator's full flow, spin-on type of oil filter, the kind most cars use, the contaminants trapped through the filtration are caught in the filter's Micronic paper element so they can't travel to the bearings along with the oil.

This element can remove particles as small as one micron, or 39 millionths of an inch. Without this filtering process, the filter element can get too clogged with contaminants for oil to pass, and the pressure relief valve opens, letting dirty oil flow into the engine.

When you're logging miles between oil changes, as prescribed by your car's manufacturer, remember the importance of changing your filter along with the oil. It's an important part of your car's road to longer life.

Biscuits... Bueno!

What could be more all-American than piping hot biscuits, fresh out of the oven? Or chocolate—a favorite treat that Americans consume more chocolate per capita than anyone else.

All-American? Not quite! "Biscuit" comes from the Latin root words meaning "twice cooked." The original biscuits were baked a second time to make them long-lasting for sailors, soldiers and travelers—perfect for that long voyage to the New World.

Spanish cooks perfected the recipe and called them biscochos. Maria Theresa, Spanish bride of Louis XIV of France, liked them so well she brought the biscocho to the royal French court. The French liked them, too, and called them biscuits.

The same Spanish bride, also brought us chocolate. Chocolat, a beverage first served to Spanish conquistadors by their Aztec hosts, was long considered an aphrodisiac. Whether because of its power, or simply because it tasted good, Maria Theresa drank chocolate enthusiastically. From Spain to France and back to the New World, chocolate has come a long way—just like biscuits. Now biscuits are high and moist and, like chocolate, made even more tempting with a variety of flavors.

There's no guarantee these chocolate-chip biscuits will make a Latin lover out of you, but you'll certainly be enamored with the combination.

These light, tender drop biscuits, made from a sweetened dough and richly studded with chocolate chips, are made so simply with ingredients you probably have on your kitchen shelf. With or without a drizzle of chocolate, Maria Theresa would have loved them, too.

Christmas trees recycled, free

There will be countywide tree recycling at several locations in Ruidoso.

The sanitation department will pick up trees, recycle them into compost, and use the product for parks and recreation flowerbeds and other similar projects. In addition, the public may come and fill their own plastic bags for personal use.

Here are the locations: Fire station #2 White Mountain Drive, the free parking on Sudderth by the dumpsters, the parking lot across the street from Whispering Pines in Upper Canyon, the sanitation department on Gavilan Canyon Road, and School House Park on Sudderth, by the dumpsters.

Pick up will be at least once a day until Jan. 15. Call 257-4090 for additional information. It is urged that the drops are used rather than dumpsters, as it takes a different type of vehicle to collect Christmas trees.

Thoughts of New Years past.

Any suggestion that AIDS sufferers be quarantined as a matter of public health is greeted with a storm of protest on grounds of invasion of privacy, violation of civil rights; and, of course, discrimination. Yet we have quarantined people with other and less dangerous communicable diseases such as hepatitis, smallpox and typhoid. Even now the nation is roused to quarantine cigarette smokers who are deemed more dangerous to public health than people suffering from deadly viruses. The City of Seattle is debating creation of a "drunk park" in that city where boozers must repair in isolation from the rest of the world. We are in a national pother over mandatory seatbelts in automobiles, and can't wait to clap in jail any driver found untrussed. We can do these things to smokers, drunks and drivers—but we must not criticize or isolate the filthy buggers, gunzels and gazoonies who have given us the formula for wiping out the world.

Our benevolent federal government, concerned with the high price of gasoline, wants to solve the problem by imposing an additional 50 cents per gallon tax on the stuff. How raising the price of gasoline by 50 cents will make it cheaper for the consumer, or increase the gasoline supply, isn't explained. If oil companies that produce gasoline added 50 cents to the cost of a gallon of gasoline, the country would take up arms. But if the government adds 50 cents to the cost of a gallon of gasoline, the populace will toss hats in the air with the hope that the oil companies might get hurt by the action!

I don't know what it is that people in Carrizozo do to insure their good luck on New Year's Day. Throughout the South it is customary to eat black-eyed peas cooked with hog's head as a means of warding off evil in the coming year. In Mexican lore, menudo is the perfect preventative for New Year's hangover. It's a soup made of tripe, hominy, pigs knuckles and red chile, topped with onion, organo and lemon juices. It also cures the will to live. In Cuba, the family awaits the New Year with bowls of fresh fruits. When the clock hands reach 12, everyone eats one grape at each stroke of the chimes. This guarantees good luck in the coming year. The Chinese prepare packages of money wrapped in red paper. This package, along with two tangerines, goes under the pillow of every member of the family on the night before Chinese New Year. This makes for prosperity in the year ahead. Out in Hollywood, midnight on New Year's Eve is something to behold. That's when everybody comes out of the bedrooms to kiss. The cheapest place to celebrate New Year's Eve and guarantee good luck is New York City. By the time you get dressed, set the burglar alarm, start the tape of the dog barking, pull down the steel window shutters, alert the Neighborhood Crime Watch, double-check the four deadbolt locks, the two combination locks and the door chain—it's Jan. 5 so what difference does it make.

To hell with Arafat. Happy New Year to our alphabetical overseers, the FBI, CIA, ILO, GPU, VA, OHD, SS, EGC, DEQ, BPA, DC, HUD, HEW, BLM, AEC, CAB, EPA, FCA, FCC, FMC, FPC, FTC, ICC, SEC, USDA, FDA, OSHA, ACA, CIO-AFL NMU and the CPUSA (without which life could be less complicated). . . And to the OAA, APTD, AB, SSI, FAP, AFDC, PHS, UN, UNICEF, EBF, IMF, FHA, FRA, DOT, ECOSOC, CLC, WPI, WIPP, OEC, AIM, NASA, EPO, ICCS, GAD, LCDC AND ETC—all of which proves that if we only learn the alphabet, who needs to read?

Dear Peace Movement Persons: What we learn from history is that we refuse to learn from history. You think you have something new and effective in your Peace Movement, so let us journey back to the 1920s, before most of you were born. There was a Peace Movement in this country then as big as yours is now, only it was more effective. If you will consult your history book, you will learn that this peace effort resulted in the Kellogg-Briand Pact, signed by all major nations in August 1928. Chief provisions of this pact was the outlawing of war as a means of settling international disputes. Naturally, war broke out 11 years later. It became known as World War II. As of this date in 1985, not one of the 62 nations that signed the Kellogg-Briand Pact has ever rescinded it, disavowed it, or abided by it. The lesson of history here, which we won't accept, is that all peace pacts are good only as long as all parties there to have the military strength to protect themselves. Which is why peace with military strength has worked and peace without military strength has not. History aside, and getting closer to home, there are 138 different peace movement groups in Berkeley, CA alone; yet that benighted city continues to be a veritable war zone. Your "peacefully" oriented answers are solicited. Yours fitfully, etc., etc.

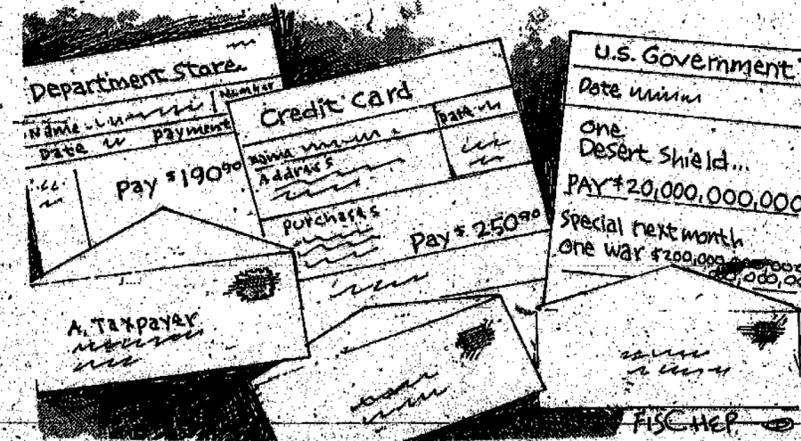

In 1754, the use of powder on men's hair went out of fashion after being worn for over 100 years.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY STUDENT AFRICAN AMERICAN SOCIETY MAY BE DECERTIFIED FOR RACIAL SEGREGATION

The New York Times reports that at long last racial integration may be imposed on one racially segregated black organization just as it has on so many white.

The Student African American Society's president, Frank Williams, is outraged; and told the Times: "The University is trying to dilute the only thing African-Americans can call their own."

But the newly enacted student Code of Conduct states that students have the responsibility not to discriminate against others in their individual roles as members of students organizations. And since the young black racists of the Students African American Society allow only blacks to attend the meetings, they are in violation of this code, according to Dean of Student Relations Edward Golden. Dean Golden also noted that since recognized student organizations because agents of the university, they must therefore be open to all students.

Student President Williams has charge that this is an attempt to deny the black students power. But his racists club accepts money from the Student Government Assembly whose rules deny funding to any group for African-Americans who have found institutional racism at the university.

Would somebody in Syracuse offer this word-twister a large mirror?

And if student Williams is unwilling to look at his own racism in wanting to perpetuate racial segregation at Syracuse, then let the funds be cut off that pay this segregated club's office supplies, office spaces and telephone bills.

Maybe they could persuade the Klan to organize a Young Klanners at Syracuse and go Co-op in sharing a building with separate offices. For the Klan doesn't like race mixing, either.

LIST OF LISTS

It's listmaking time again, and the compulsion not only sums up the year but also charts a new decade and a new mood. Remember, it's not the end of the year—it's the beginning of a new list." Richard Stengel, Time

Stengel's top four reasons why people love lists:

1. Lists are fun.
2. Lists are quick.
3. Lists help us remember things.
4. Lists give us something to argue about.

A partial list of lists (and the list is endless):

1. Grocery lists
2. The Sears catalog
3. The Bill of Rights
4. Nixon's enemies list
5. The 1990 Census

One of my favorite type of lists appear in Harper's and is called an "index." Harper's Index kicked off the new year with the latest figures available as of November 1990. Among their findings in time for 1991:

Number of minutes Congress spent last October debating the Administration's request for new S&L bailout funds: 30.

Number of minutes Congress spent last October debating a proposal to renovate the Capitol hairdressing salon: 40.

Rank of January, among months in which the fewer marriages take place: 1.

Percentage of Americans who say the group with too little influence in government is people like themselves: 91.

Number of members of Congress who have sons and daughters serving in the Persian Gulf: 2.

Pounds of Saudi Arabian sand the army has imported to study its effect on military equipment: 160.

Estimated amount Princess Diana has spent on underwear since marrying Prince Charles: $26,460.

Total contributions by individuals in 1989 to New York's Bide-a-Wee Home Association for pets: $1,700,000.

Total contributions by individuals in 1989 to New York's Coalition for the Homeless: $622,000.

Packets of Kool-Aid a chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has sent to soldiers in the Persian Gulf: 5,040.

Average number of calories burned by melting an ice cube in one's mouth: 2.3.

LOCAL MOTORISTS

"I have backed our Union County patrolmen Forrest Thompson and Jon Goodan 98 percent, because they make only proper stops and citations. But there have been citations I've taken exception to, written by Raton and Springer patrolmen against local motorists."—County Magistrate Judge Herbert S. Blakely.

According to Clayton's Union County Leader, 12-25-90, Blakely will no longer preside over proceedings arising out of highway patrol citations if the patrol has its way. And the judge is mad about that. Blakely has suspicions of who instigated the new policy, and of the possible motives. He explained that there have been state police citations which he has thrown out of court, because the citing officers had not used proper procedure in their handling of motorists.

The judge became aware of the new policy of excusal about two weeks ago. All mandatory court filings of highway patrol traffic violations made by the state police beginning Dec. 7 started to be accompanied by notes of excusal. The state police substation commander sees the new policy of automatic excusal as a matter of right, adding that it's like the right of the prosecution or defense in a jury selection to exercise a peremptory challenge and excuse a potential juror just because he doesn't seem right to consider the matter.

Magistrate judges from neighboring counties will go to Clayton to hear state police prosecutions. County attorney Fred Martinez noted that the State of New Mexico will have to pick up the tab on the additional expense of shuffling magistrate judges around to hear Union County cases in Clayton. He added, "Theoretically, the state police could keep excusing Judge Blakely for years to come as long as they don't run out of excusal forms; but I don't know whether that is likely."

Keeping America Strong

"KEEPING AMERICA STRONG"

By JOSEPH A. SCHLEGEL

victions of democracy for a free and independent nation. But, for us to assure our continued existence as a sovereign nation, we must keep America strong.

Keeping America strong requires sacrifice. Sacrifice only a mother's tears of sorrow and heartfelt grief for a loved one, lost on the field of battle in defense of democracy everywhere, will attest—What price freedom, America.

Keeping America strong requires commitment. Commitment from all Americans to uphold and protect the Constitution; a legacy from the founding fathers to secure our freedom and guarantee the rights and liberties of the people.

Keeping America strong requires leadership. Leadership in battle; leadership in peace. Responsible leadership dedicated to the preservation of those principles and values upon which this country was founded.

Keeping America strong requires spirit. The spirit of the American people everywhere. The spirit to rise up in the face of defeat and overcome oppressive forces of overwhelming adversity as did the colonists who fought and gave their lives in the quest for independence.

Keeping America strong demands a price. The price essential to protect and preserve those basic human rights our forefathers fought and died to establish as our birthright. At what price freedom, America? At any price that give strength to our con-

What price freedom, America! April 19, 1775, marked the beginning of an era for the settlers of a new land. On that historic day, the first shots of the Revolutionary War were fired at Lexington, Massachusetts.

Six and a half years later, on October 19, 1781, the British surrendered at Yorktown, Virginia.

What had started as a struggle for the rights of the English colonists ended in the creation of a free and independent nation—the United States of America.

Since that great moment in history America has flourished, from the thirteen original colonies, to fifty unique and independent states. United in pride, patriotism, and self-determination, she embodies those qualities that give strength to our con-

Rampaging teenagers shoot, steal, rob, loot, etc.

It was a scene right out of the Wild West.

A stolen pickup, high speed chase, wreck, hostage situation which ended in a shooting and finally an arrest of two teenagers kept law enforcement agencies on edge last Friday.

Freddy Baca, 15, of Ruidoso Downs and William Russell Reel, 17, Hobbs, were arrested at the home of Lucas Carrillo outside of Picacho in the Hondo Valley. They were charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, aggravated burglary and unlawful taking of a motor vehicle.

Baca and Reel escaped earlier from the Portales Reintegration Center and ended up in custody after Carrillo held them at gunpoint, then tied them up.

Cezar Holquin, 20, also of Picacho, was shot in the leg by one of the two boys earlier that Friday as the pair demanded keys to his car. The boys wrecked the truck which they had stolen earlier in Ruidoso Downs.

The youths are incarcerated at Otero County Juvenile Detention Center in Alamogordo.

The situation began Friday when the boys went to Baca's mother's home. Then they went to Baca's uncle's home and stole his pickup. They headed east on Highway 70 and about San Patricio, Pete Baca, the truck's owner, saw his truck.

Reportedly Baca drove after them, flashed his lights at them, then pulled up beside them when they didn't stop. When the boys spotted Pete they sped away. Pete did not pursue.

Speeding away at extremely high speeds, the boys eventually wrecked the truck, got out and ran toward a house off the highway.

According to New Mexico State Police officer Steve Standridge the boys broke into the house and tried to get the keys of a vehicle belonging to Holquin. They were armed with a .38-caliber Colt handgun reportedly taken from the Baca truck.

Holquin was in the house alone when the boys broke in. During the following encounter to get car keys from Holquin, so the boys could continue on their flight, Holquin was shot in the leg. Three more shots were fired before the boys ran to the Rio Hondo, with the sound of the State Police sirens in their ears.

Holquin went to the highway and got help from a passing motorist and later was taken to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) where he was treated and released two days later.

State Police began to search the river area while the boys hid in the hills above. After dark, about 6 p.m., the boys went to Lucas Carrillo's home and offered to pay him if he would take them to town. Carrillo pulled out a rifle, disarmed the boy with the gun, tied them up in his yard, then notified State Police.

Police arrested the boys at 6:30 p.m. They were taken to Otero County juvenile facilities since the Lincoln County jail has no such facilities.

Whether the youths will be tried as adults or juveniles on the third-degree felonies will be determined by the district attorney.

Two State Police units and three Lincoln County Sheriff's department deputies were at the scene.

Other sheriff's activities include:

needed to secure Hubbard's $50,000 bail. In cash. Small bills. Just like the money missing in the bank robbery. Squires was arrested for possession of stolen property.

Detroit Executive Deputy Police Chief James Bannon, whose farmhouse was burglarized, went to court for a hearing on suspect Scott Royst, 18. Asked if he recognized the defendant, Bannon said, "No, but I recognize my boots." Royst was wearing them.

Earl Latham escaped from the Maryland House of Correction and went straight to his mama's house. Great hideout. When the police showed up, he answered the door. They told him he was busted, but Latham said they had the wrong guy. He came up with "My name's Earl Smith." Police asked the crafty "Smith" to spell his last name for them. He couldn't.

HISTORY SNIPPETS

"Any decade that starts with a recession and impending war has to be viewed suspiciously." —Sandy Grady, Knight-Ridder Newspapers.

U.S. News & World Report featured news tidbits of the year 1990 in their Dec. 31 issue. These are the snippets of history that caught my eye:

There were 130,917 more bankruptcies than in 1988. Michael Milken got 10 years, but seven of the 13 other defendants convicted in Wall Street's biggest scandal served an average prison time of 14 months. Most notorious music in 1990: "As Nasty As They Wanna Be." Donald Trump's 1989 net worth: $1.7 billion; today, zero. D.C. Mayor Marion Barry publicly denied possessing drugs at least five times before he was convicted of possessing drugs. Perrier was found to contain benzene, and all bottled water sales increased more than 10 percent. Toy gun sales reached $100 million. The prosecution and defense of Manuel Noriega have cost $30 million so far. Since Aug. 2, 52 Americans have died in the gulf effort—135 fewer than 1990's drug-related homicides in Washington, DC. Van Gogh's "Yase de Blauwets at Ququelcots," valued at nearly $16 million, draw only a $9.5 million bid. And finally, 93 million Americans answered the census thinking responses were confidential; in fact, all answers will be made public in the year 2062. And how was your 1990?

Pork roast was 43¢ a pound

What everybody was doing 20 years ago this week

Twenty years ago The NEWS welcomed 1971 with its Jan. 7 issue with headlines read "Eighty Called for Jury Duty Monday" and all names were listed.

Grizzly varsity loses in overtime to Ruidoso, 66-61. Jody Wrye made 23 points, Danny Harkey 16 and Ray Roper 10. Warriors Corky Conrley made 22 points, Blane Miller made 20, Billy Ray Davis 11. The Zozo Bee squad won its game with the Ruidoso freshmen.

Capitan brought three basketball teams to Carrizozo Jan. 5, and went home with the big win but lost two others. Carrizozo 7th graders won 27-19 with help from Willie Vega with 14 and Stanley Steinepreis 7. J.W. Ware for Capitan made 8.

The Zozo 8th grade team also won 30-14 with help from Beltran with 7 and Vega 6. R. Phillips hit 6 for the Tigers.

Capitan 9th graders won 52-46 with R. Abercrombie's 19 and Ware's 16. Gilbert Sambrano hit 24 for the Grizzlies and A. Hoff 12.

Weather ranged from a high of 60 on Jan. 3 with winds at 20 miles per hour to the next day's high of 28, low of 7. Then on Jan. 5, the high was 17 degrees the low was minus 18. Rain turned to snow on Jan. 4 and 5 to make a total of precipitation for the year of 1970, 9.24 inches. The 18 below was a record-breaker for Carrizozo. The lowest temperature to that date was 12 below in 1960.

Dee Ann Jackson and Gerald Posey marry Jan. 2 in Trinity Methodist Church in Carrizozo. Miss Jackson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.Y. Jackson of Ancho, the bridegroom's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Arrell Posey of Carrizozo. Their reception was in the Carrizozo Rec. Center.

A picture showed new staff in the Lincoln County Treasurer's office: Mabel Vigil, treasurer; Barbara Lovelace, deputy, and Patricia Serna, deputy.

Movies advertised were; "2001 a space odyssey," "Anne of A Thousand Days," The Killing of Sister George and Candy. Army Sgt. Richard Lopez of Roswell received the Silver Star.

In the classified section 12 acres of land with a well producing 200 gallons per minute was for sale at $15,000.

Town council (Carrizozo) met to issue two business licenses: to Joe West, for operation of cable television and the other to Ace Vending Co. A franchise with Color Cable TV, the Hancock owned company, was cancelled by the town. Present were Mayor Johnson Stearns, Councilmen Duff May, Joe Ortiz, Joe Ventura, Vernon Petty, Clerk Nellie Lee Baker and Marshal Choncho Morales.

Again on the back page an ad; Everything ordered sold to the bare walls, Roberts Mercantile in Corona.

Pork roast at Piggly Wiggly in Carrizozo cost 43 cents a pound, round steak 98 cents a pound, dog food in a 15-ounce can was 8 cents, potatoes 10 pounds for 49 cents.

The 1971 Caprice Chevrolet was advertised as "The biggest, most luxurious Chevrolet ever. A complete change." The Vega was "The littlest Chevy ever. It wasn't changed from anything."

And so went the first issue of the 1971 edition of The NEWS.

Hints For Homemakers

Sweaters: Helping Them Look Their Best

Sweaters can be cozy, comfy, fuzzy and fashionable—but to keep them in like-new condition, take them to your drycleaners. Then they can look better longer, and are less likely to shrink.

Your drycleaner uses many special techniques to clean sweaters that would be difficult for you to duplicate successfully at home, advises the International Fabricare Institute (IFI). Almost any fiber can be made into yarn for a sweater. The drycleaner judges how best to clean a sweater by taking its fabric construction and color into consideration.

Wool is perhaps the most common sweater fiber. By blending wool with acrylics, silks, nylons and other fibers, designers create many different looks and textures.

The drycleaner will classify knit items according to color, fiber, construction and bag, loose-knit, soft, and trimmed garments. He or she will take measurements before and after cleaning, pre-spot carefully,

Your drycleaner uses special techniques that can keep your favorite fashion sweaters looking lovely, and if necessary cabinet dry, restore or repair.

Sweaters with a long nap have a tendency to mat during wear and cleaning. This matting can sometimes be removed in finishing by steaming the fabric lightly and brushing the fabric with a soft brush.

Poorly constructed sweaters may cause problems your drycleaner cannot avoid or correct. Beads and other trims can disintegrate in solvent. Be sure to point out delicate trims and beads and the garment's care label to your drycleaner.
