

Capitan water, sewer rates to be increased

By Doris Cherry

Capitan residents can expect rate increases on water and sewer, but just how much has yet to be determined.

After auditor Keith Harrington of Roy Woodard and Associates presented the audit report for the village at the January trustee meeting Monday, trustees and Mayor Frank Warth decided against a vote to amend the ordinances setting water and sewer rates. At least until they can conduct a workshop to determine where the water-sewer fund losses could be recovered.

Trustees were to have considered a basic rate increase of $1 more for 1000 gallons less than current rates. But Harrington told of a $74,000 loss in the proprietary fund (water, sewer, solid waste), with $25,000 of that loss was for construction of the wells. The majority of the loss was in the water-sewer fund.

Trustee Norm Renfro questioned if the purchase of city hall, generator and water rights came out of that fund, thus creating the loss. Harrington said the city hall purchase was not shown with that loss.

The audit showed cash balances decrease from $128,000 in 1989 to $96,000 in 1990.

Trustee Dr. David Rouleau requested Harrington identify where the loss occurred, which Harrington replied was not all cash loss, rather $71,000 of the $74,000 was in depreciation, a non-cash expenditure.

"We're not a $76,000 loser in the water fund?" Renfro asked.

"Cash-wise you're not," Harrington replied.

Purchase of fixed assets, such as a generator, caused the biggest portion of cash depletion, Harrington continued. Which were one-time expenditures and will not occur for a number of years.

Cash-wise, if the village had not bought fixed-assets it would have started off with more money in the bank. "It's not a cash loss, it's a paper loss," Harrington said.

"We made $20,000," Renfro replied.

The confusing audit discussion led to trustees deciding to seek ways to rectify the losses. Harrington said he would work with the village water accounts department to help "keep an eye on computer balances."

In light of the audit report, Warth said the rates needed more inspection, to find the loss and what it represents, then adjust rates properly. A Saturday workshop will be set to study the rates in respect to the audit report. The date and time will be announced later.

Otherwise, the audit report showed village revenues, based on gross receipts, cigarette and gas taxes, were down from the budgeted amount. However, Harrington noted, such revenues are hard to budget year-to-year. But the village decreased its expenditures to more than cover that lowered revenue. All accounts were okay except for property records, where the village was found to have not maintained detailed records of its property (inventories of such things as furniture and so on) since inception of the village.

Warth noted the village has kept detailed records recently. Harrington said the situation had occurred for years and would cost too much to update. However, the audit was acceptable to state agencies even with the qualified opinion on the property records.

The report already was accepted by the state auditor, Harrington said.

The ordinance amendments dealing with water meter security deposits, designed to protect the property owner from liens placed on the properties for overdue water bills was approved. According to the ordinance, a lien can be filed after a water bill is 60 days overdue. The $50 deposit for renters was not adequate since that would only cover two months' minimum water bills. The amendment raised the deposit for renters to $100 and the property owner will be alerted after the tenants are two months overdue.

After four years, deposits will be refunded, if there are receipts to show no overdue bills. The village has water payment records to 1985, but not before.

Ordinance 91-4, which totally revises the former cemetery ordinance, formalizes what the Cemetery Board is currently doing and sets it all on paper. It provides for half-lots for cremation urns and flat stones in the new part of the cemetery. It was approved.

Renfro questioned whether there were any liens on the property purchased for cemetery expansion. Village attorney Robert Beauvais said the village paid off two liens on the property to clear the title, leaving the former owners with very little profit on the sale of the .96 acre.

A problem with litter falling on the roads leading to the village dump, which was converted to a Class C landfill for construction trash only, was discussed.

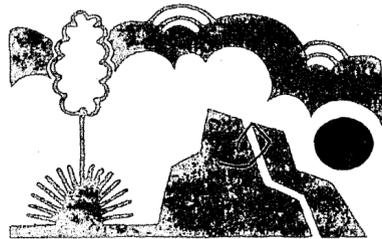

Warth said the problem comes from haulers who do not secure their loads, letting debris fall onto the roadway.

Beauvais explained the municipal code only allows an officer to cite someone for such littering if he sees the trash fall from the vehicle onto the roadway. He suggested amending the municipal code to add a section from state law on discharging refuse on private and public land, to provide enforcement.

Ruidoso's water concerns

'You can't take a shower with sodapop'

By BLAKE MARTIN

Councilor Bill Karn of the Ruidoso City Council is concerned with water issues in Ruidoso.

The proposed riverwalk in Main Street Ruidoso's project has been reported to have been "Karn's baby" eight years ago. Apparently then, he brought it up, but could not even get a motion seconded to discuss it.

Ruidoso owns the land on either side of the Rio Ruidoso, according to the plat which reads "public right of way."

The councilor also works closely with Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Board, a quasi-governmental entity which owns the Eagle Creek water rights, and Alto Lake.

For the long run, the board seeks an inexpensive solution to produce more water than the existing wells and Alto Lake flow rights produce.

The controversial issue of the Water Defense Association is also one of Karn's concerns. Years ago, when it was formed, there were more water rights being applied for, than actual flow in the river.

"Priority dates" and related complexities are certainly not unfamiliar terms and ideas to anyone with a vested interest in water rights. Simply stated, a priority date is like a birthdate, when a water right is issued by the state engineer's office.

The Mescalero Apache Indian Nation had not fully put the water to "beneficial use" when they were first put on the reservation, according to Karn. Beneficial use refers to efficient irrigation and distribution of water.

A decision, continues Karn, which saved a lot of people's water rights, has been appealed by the Nation. Otherwise, if they had achieved an earlier priority date ruling, they could have confiscated all the water rights.

"Right now, we're just waiting for the appeal process," he concluded.

Hubert Quintana and Karn are scheduled to discuss the Tuesday, Jan. 15, meeting of the Water Defense Assn., following Karn's return from Santa Fe.

In Santa Fe, Karn will help approach our delegation concerning funds for the civic events center, Eagle Creek, Hwy. 42 water line replacement, and the bicycle-riverwalk trail proposals.

THE OLD GARRARD Hotel goes down. Gary Lovelace began demolition of the old hotel last week. Found to be tougher than first thought, the hotel took more days to demolish than planned. The hotel was built in 1917. According to Carrizozo News, Friday, March 23, 1917, "Arrangements are being made by Garrard and Corn to build an apartment house on the same block occupied by the Temple Hotel. There are to be twenty four rooms in the new building and so arranged that additions can be made easily." Sherwood Corn, father of Dolly Ward of Carrizozo, constructed the building. During the 1940s Mrs. Helen Prior operated the Garrard and served family style meals. In 1982 now-mayor Cecilia Kunnel bought the hotel as investment property. But due to extensive damage to the adobe walls, the building deteriorated until the town ordered it demolished. Kunnel sold the hotel and property to Harold DesJardin, who operates the old Temple as the Adobe Inn Bed and Breakfast, in 1990. Economic Development

Robert O. Anderson has some good words for county

Certificate holders and guests of Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County crowded Cree Meadows Country Club in Ruidoso Friday night to elect three directors and hear Robert O. Anderson.

Certificate holders re-elected Scott Shafer of Carrizozo and Don Shaw of Ruidoso and added new member Steve Stroud, also of Ruidoso, to the board of directors. Stroud is owner of The Stroud Building, Stroud Crop Insurance and Prairie State Committees, Inc. all of Ruidoso. He lives in Alto.

Following the banquet, directors elected Ronnie Paulger president. Paulger is president of First National Bank of Ruidoso. Stroud was elected vice-president; Frank Sayner re-elected treasurer and Mike Line, secretary.

At the banquet Anderson, former chairman of the board of Atlantic Richfield Co., originator of Ski Apache (originally Sierra Blanca Ski Resort) and founder of Lincoln County Heritage Trust and now president of Hondo Oil and Gas Co. in Roswell and chairman of the board of United Banks of New Mexico, spoke about the Mideast crisis, the Soviet Union, and US economy.

He also praised Lincoln County for its unique human resources. He spoke of the town of Lincoln, where he chose to locate the Lincoln County Heritage Trust because of the town's uniqueness.

The Museum of the Horse, to be located in the Ruidoso area, he said will be a major attraction to add to the Indian culture, Ft. Stanton and Ruidoso Downs race track.

He predicted the county will do very well in the years ahead, because "this is a great place to live."

Of the Middle East, he personally believed the US would "squeeze out of the ball game."

Also at the banquet a new industry for Ruidoso was introduced. Richards Puzzles will move from Manchaca, TX to set up a company to build and sell puzzles. 15-20 jobs could be created.

Area mayors, county commissioners, including newly appointed commission member to EDCLC Monroy Montes, other public officials, EDCLC certificate holders and board members from Capitan and Carrizozo were introduced. Representative John Underwood also was noted.

Shaw spoke of EDCLC support for the plan to establish college level courses in Ruidoso, a solution to the airline service, the 50th anniversary of Smokey Bear in Capitan, IronHorse railroad project, Main Street Ruidoso redevelopment efforts and the new hotel and golf course.

Carrizozo Schools facing tough budget decisions

Carrizozo Schools will have to take a hard look at its program when it comes to budget making time this year.

At the Carrizozo Board of Education meeting Tuesday night, Supt. Danny Burnett said, "this is the toughest budget this district will ever have to make."

Burnett made that statement based on a falling enrollment and either no, or very little, increase from state funding for the 1991-92 school year. Although the state board of education has recommended the legislature fund schools at a 6 percent increase from this year, Burnett said, "we'll be real lucky to get 2 percent."

With the 2 percent increase, Burnett figured the school could receive $1,721,000 with an enrollment of 230.5 units. Units are the number of students in various programs. That projection is down 17 units from this school year because of the large number graduating seniors and the small junior class coming into next school year. This year 28 seniors will graduate, there are 17 juniors. Combined with the fewer numbers in the lower grades, the enrollment will automatically drop by at least 13, Burnett said.

If the legislature funds at a 6 percent increase, the school could still generate $21,553.49 more than this year, even with the fewer students. But at 2 percent, the school will see a decreased funding of $1,278.94, at 1 percent the school will have a $12,374.03 shortfall and if no increase the school will have a $23,475 shortfall from this school year.

As the level of funding falls off, Carrizozo Schools' cash carryover also will drop about half from last year, Burnett predicted.

Because of the large potential funding loss and increased utility and insurance costs to the school, Burnett has started a list of areas to cut in the school programs. "There are no sacred lambs," Burnett said about 11 school programs and staff.

One way to get extra funding will be to give no staff raises, thus making the district eligible for "emergency funds" from the state.

Before Burnett gave the bad news about the budget, he presented his Advisory Committee and sub-

Lost skier found by searchers

A lost skier was finally located around 5 p.m. Saturday at Ski Apache.

Dale Perryman, 28, Arlington, TX, was found unconscious by searchers and was transported by helicopter to Albuquerque for treatment of hypothermia (subnormal body temperature) and potential frostbite.

Ski Apache reported the lost skier about 5:50 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 10. State police and White Mountain Search and Rescue were called out. Perryman was found Jan. 12 by Mescalero searchers on the Three Lakes side, south of Apache Bowl.

According to sources, the fog probably disoriented Perryman, causing him to ski beyond the resort boundaries. It was reported he was only 20-50 yards outside of those boundaries.

The search lasted for approximately 48 hours

C'zozo Chamber of Commerce

Tips on how to lobby the right legislators

The New Mexico State Legislature 1991, 60-day session began Tuesday.

Lobbying is a major part of the legislative process, and can be done by anyone with a specific interest or need.

Ruth Hammond, Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce president, offered some tips on contacting legislators recently.

The best approach is to contact your legislator before a bill is introduced. However, if the particular bill of interest is known, write the bill's name and number and specific page number when contacting the legislator.

When a written contact is made, make it a short synopsis. If calling to discuss the bill with a legislator, call before and set up a time. Then ask who will be there, and if necessary, ask for press coverage.

Attending committee hearings are very important, for the public's presence is felt. But don't talk too much and dress professionally. (Most women dealing with the legislature wear dresses or dress suits.)

When dealing with a legislator, don't get mad or threaten to get the idea across. Give credit to the legislator for doing something before considering the bill. Always thank a legislator, with a written letter and a call, after the meeting.

If at a committee hearing, stay while the bill is being heard. If speaking, again be brief and have a spokesman chosen before going to the committee hearing. Have the written summary of your needs, be honest and present both sides. Don't ever visit a legislator, or committee, with liquor on your breath.

And don't ever take a legislator for granted, give credit for sponsorship in the past.

When making written comments or requests, write only on one subject at a time and keep it brief. Most importantly, spell the legislator's name correctly. Don't mass mail copied letters, make each, one individual. And when signing your name, put your address and sign your name legibly.

The New Mexico House of Representative has 70 members and the senate has 42.

State senator for Carrizozo and the rest of Lincoln County is James L. Martin of Socorro. His home address is Box 1006, Socorro 87801, home phone 835-2030. His Santa Fe address is the State Capital Building, Santa Fe 87503, and the switchboard is 984-9300.

The state representative for Carrizozo is Paul Harrington (District 52) Box AQ, Elephant Butte, NM 87935, 894-7501. Same number for state building.

Richard Knowles represents District 57 which includes, Capitan, Lincoln and into Roswell. His address is Box 285, Roswell, NM 88201, 623-8484.

John Underwood is representative for District 56, which includes Ruidoso, Hondo Valley, parts of Chavez and Eddy counties. His address is Adobe Plaza, Suite B, 200 Mechem Dr., Ruidoso, NM 88345, 257-5566.

The legislature meets 60 days this year, as it always does in odd numbered years. It meets for 30 days in even numbered years.

Remember, said Hammond, anyone can lobby.

Before giving the tips, Hammond conducted the January meeting of the Chamber, where the Christmas lighting contest winners received their gift certificates which can be spent at any Carrizozo business which is a chamber member.

Virginia Carabajal, received the $50 certificate for her 1st place display, Lillian Swift accepted the 2nd committee structure for 1990-91. The advisory committee consists of chairmen of the various sub-committees: Bob Hemphill, policy revision; Pat Holland, elementary instructional development; Mariann Patterson, student schedule development; Gretchen Becker, special programs development; Evelyn Schwartz, secondary instructional development; Nenna Vega, budget planning; Mike Gaines, vocational program development and Ron Becker, athletics and activities.

The advisory committee met last week to organize and define roles. The purpose of the committee is to improve communications between staff and to delegate responsibilities in the schools. Some of the committees are open to anyone who wishes to participate, including parents.

Board member Eugenia Vega asked if all staff would be on at least one committee, to which Burnett replied, there is a place for every staff member. He strongly encouraged staff to join a committee.

Board president Wally Ferguson hoped teachers would participate to show their concern for the school.

National, state and district goals for education were reviewed. National goals focus on readiness of preschool children, with training and support for parents in this direction; school completion with at least 90 percent graduation rate; student achievement and citizenship with competency in English, math, science, history and geography; math and science with US students first in the world; adult literacy and lifelong learning and safe, disciplined and drug-free schools, with drug and alcohol curriculum in K-12 grades as part of health education.

Ferguson said the discipline and drug-free goal is always a goal of his. "We have as much substance abuse as any school our size," he said. He considered it a parent-problem.

State level goals include: 7 in academics, communication, quantitative, aesthetics, physical health, science, social skills and cultural knowledge; application goals; analytical thinking, life skills, technology, environment, personal and interpersonal health and lifelong learning.

District goals include: providing an educational environment which provides strong basic skills as well as creative and experimental activities; providing all children opportunity to cultivate their native capacities; an excellent academic program can coexist with an excellent athletic and activities program, with main emphasis on academic; constant communication between school and community; a firm disciplinary policy to govern students; and development of an awareness of each student's worth as an individual and to provide each student with a sound educational basis for achieving full human potential. The defined goals as presented to the board were: expand communication with community, continue to improve campus, establish a chain of command to be followed when administrators are not on campus; implement a hazardous condition reporting mechanism; establish a reward system for excellent employees and continue to improve education.

Burnett suggested each board member select two goals to keep the number at 10, to allow focus on those goals. "Too many goals are hard to address," he said.

The district needs assessment follow-up document also was reviewed. The document will allow staff and board members to rate how the school performed in meeting the needs addressed before.

Mountainair Schools finally responded to a letter from Carrizozo concerning abusive behavior toward Carrizozo girls volleyball team and fans at a match in Mountainair in October. Mountainair Principal, Mr. Renteria, wrote the school has taken special precaution to insure the safety and respect of the team and crowd. He personally investigated the incident and has hired additional police and security inside and out and added more staff to games. He ended by writing he looks forward to hosting Carrizozo in the future.

Mountainair basketball teams play in Carrizozo Jan. 25.

Ferguson was glad the school responded and directed a letter he sent to Mountainair board president concerning the steps taken to remedy the situation.

The school also bragged on the strong ACT scores made by seniors and juniors. The composite score for the seniors was 20.8 and 21.5 for juniors. Scores have stayed above 20 since the 1987-88 school year.

Former teacher Michael Schwartz, who is on military duty leave from the school, has received orders to ship out this weekend, probably to Saudi Arabia, Burnett announced.

A request from Lincoln County for the school to identify its most problem school bus routes will be referred to bus drivers. Board members credited the county for improving many of the roads that were major problems.

A budget transfer to keep the cafeteria in the black was approved. As of this month the cafeteria had only $38 for food purchases. Finance officer Nenna Vega proposed a $12,000 transfer from emergency funds to finish the school year. The cafeteria fund was drastically cut at budget time last year, giving it less monies to begin this school year. Burnett also said fewer students are eating. However, if more students would participate in the federal school lunch program, which funds the cafeteria at a higher rate than the $1 fee, the cafeteria would be in better financial shape.

The transfer now must go through Santa Fe for approval. Burnett predicted the school may have to raise the price for meals.

Burnett updated the board on the capital improvements projects and Hemphill gave a tour through the new computer and business labs.

The board meeting began with a two-hour closed session where members evaluated the superintendent based on evaluation given to all staff. Ferguson said the evaluation will be placed in Burnett's file.

Also at the meeting, three bronze art pieces by Carrizozo-area artist Curtis

"A man ought warily to begin changes which once begun will continue."

Fort, were on display. Art assistant Polly Chavez had invited Fort to display his works. A video of the entire "lost-wax" process will be shown to students sometime in the future.

Board election is Feb. 5 and the next board meeting is Feb. 19.

Smokey Bear Classic tournament results

Capitan's Bobby Griego was named to the all-tournament team at the conclusion of the Smokey Bear Classic tournament last weekend in Capitan.

The Tiger boys, still struggling for cohesiveness as a team, were able to win the 7th place over Weed in the final round of games Saturday.

Boys teams playing were Weed, Estancia, Carrizozo, Mesilla Valley Christian, Reserve, Lake Arthur and Vaughn.

Vaughn eliminated the Capitan boys from the winning side of the bracket Thursday, where shooting was the Tigers biggest problem. Coach Pat Ventura said the boys had the most problems in the first quarter, but still only shot 44 percent.

In the next game with Lake Arthur Friday, Capitan was down by 15 points in the first half, but managed to bring the score ahead by one point. After the half-time break, the Tigers could not rally, and lost the game. That put the Tigers against Weed for the final game of the tournament Saturday morning. Capitan won that game.

Carrizozo took the championship by defeating Reserve. Vaughn was 3rd, Estancia, 4th, Lake Arthur won the consolation.

Griego averaged 20 points in all the games. Nathan Roybal averaged 16, Kyle Traylor 18. Ventura credited Roybal for his over-all assists and outstanding defensive play.

Ventura said he saw improvements in his team, especially in the last game with Weed. The Tigers are beginning to play as a team. The boys will travel to Reserve for another tournament today (Thursday). They will play Magdalena. The first district game is with Hondo, which begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 23, at Hondo.

Fans packed the bleachers in Cummins Gym in Capitan last weekend to watch as eight girls teams compete in the annual Smokey Bear Classic basketball tournament.

Although Capitan girls did not play their best, they took second place behind Animas at Saturday night's championship game.

Teams competing were Reserve, Carrizozo, Lake Arthur, Animas, Estancia, Mesilla Valley Christian School, Capitan and Vaughn.

In the first round of games Thursday, Reserve beat Carrizozo 66-29, Animas beat Lake Arthur. Estancia defeated Mesilla Valley and Capitan defeated Vaughn.

Friday, elimination games began. Animas defeated Reserve and Capitan defeated Estancia. Lake Arthur defeated Carrizozo 51-33 and Mesilla Valley defeated Vaughn.

Saturday, Mesilla Valley defeated Lake Arthur for the consolation and Reserve defeated Estancia for 3rd.

Carrizozo and Vaughn played out the final placing with Carrizozo winning the 7th place berth 33-30.

Carrizozo players were Cheryl Hightower, Amy Funk, Yvette Hernandez, Laurie Zamora, Lynette Hernandez, Nangie Vega and Lori Gibson. In the Reserve game, Yvette scored 16 points, Zamora 8, Hightower 4 and Gibson 1. In the Lake Arthur game Zamora scored 18 points, Yvette 10, Hightower 5. In the final game against Vaughn, Hightower scored 11, Yvette 9, Gibson 6, Zamora 5 and Vega 2.

The Capitan girls travel to Reserve to compete in a tournament beginning today (Thursday). They play Colonia Juarez in the first round. They begin district play with Hondo, at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 23, in Hondo.

Grizzlies named to AP All-State team

Several Carrizozo Grizzlies were named to the Associated Press All-State high school football team for Class A schools.

In the 1st team offense: senior Guy Archuleta, tight end, and junior Val Reyes, lineman.

Honorable mention offense: Silva, wide receiver; Portillo, tight end, and Archuleta, placekicker. Honorable mention defense: junior Leroy Zamora and Michael Barola linebackers.

Capitan players also were selected. Senior Dan Seay was 2nd team offensive placekicker and senior Nathan Roybal was honorable mention defensive back.

Grizzlies defeat Reserve for championship

The Carrizozo Grizzlies boys basketball team captured its second consecutive Smokey Bear Classic on Saturday night with a hard-fought 51-48 decision over the Reserve Mountaineers.

Carrizozo had to put on a late 4th quarter surge which saw them erase a 34-39 deficit starting the last period of play. Reserve jumped out to a quick 15-11 lead after one period and increased their lead to 26-20 at the intermission. The upset-minded Mountaineers hung on to a 39-34 lead after three periods before Carrizozo made its run in the final period behind senior Guy Archuleta's 9 and Chris Schlarb's 5 fourth-quarter points.

A two-point basket and a subsequent steal by point guard Chris Barola sealed the victory by Carrizozo late in the game.

Leading scorers for Carrizozo, who improved their season record to 12-1, were Archuleta, 13; Schlarb, 12, and Justin Portillo with 8. The Grizzly defense held Reserve to one basket in the final period and outscored the Mountaineers 17-9 in the decisive final period.

Named to all-tournament team were seniors Guy Archuleta, Chris Schlarb and junior Justin Portillo. Bobby Griego from Capitan also made the team.

Carrizozo advanced to the championship game by routing Mesilla Valley Christian 69-30 on Thursday night. Grizzlies jumped out to a 28-2 advantage after one period and coasted on as 9 players got into the scoring column. Portillo led the way with 14. Raphael Chavez 12, Archuleta 11 and Schlarb with 10.

On Friday night the Grizzlies had no problem with the Estancia Bears and won 62-35. Another quick start found Grizzlies leading 21-10 after the 1st period and 36-17 at the half. Rebel Sandoval and Archuleta led the scoring with 11 each. Schlarb and R. Chavez each chipped in with 10 each.

Vaughn beat Estancia and won 3rd place in the tournament, while Lake Arthur beat MVC in the consolation game. Capitan beat Weed on Saturday after suffering losses on Thursday and Friday to Vaughn and Lake Arthur. Carrizozo will take their 12-1 record to district play which begins Saturday at Corona. Boys and girls varsity will battle the Cardinals with the first game set at 6 p.m. Grizzlies will host the Vaughn Eagles on Tuesday, Jan. 22. Action is set to start with the girls varsity game at 6 p.m.

"It's silly the officer has to see it," Beauvais said.

He further suggested the gate man be empowered to issue citations to anyone with an unsecured load at the gate to the landfill, as well as the police officer being able to see the violation and cite.

Trustee Gilbert Montoya was not pleased with the idea. "We need to encourage people to come and dump." He suggested the village write the landfill clients and tell them of the problem with litter, before citing them, because citing will discourage them from using the landfill.

Trustee Leroy Montes told of dumpsters belonging to Southwest Disposal Corp. placed in various Alto and Ruidoso area construction sites. SDC contracts with the village and county for household solid waste collection and disposal.

Warth and Renfro both thought the construction companies should haul their trash to the Capitan landfill and Renfro wondered if there is any legal way to make them do so.

Beauvais was as surprised as Warth because construction trash compacts very little.

Warth concluded the discussion by saying "we'll look at it."

Warth read a letter from CableVision announcing a five percent increase on Feb. 14 to make the basic rate $19.65. "There's nothing we can do, it's unregulated by federal law," Warth said.

After a brief closed session audience members questioned trustees about various topics, including how the village hires and how the village will decide on a rate increase for water.

Jody Roberts asked why he and others were not given the opportunity to apply for the gatekeeper job at the landfill, specifically. "I feel I was neglected," he said.

Warth said the village was on a tight schedule when the gatekeeper job was filled, leaving it with no time to advertise for that job. However, all other openings will be advertised in the future. He also suggested Roberts put his application on file with the village, for any future jobs, which he did not foresee any time soon.

Resident Diane Riska questioned how rate increases were devised. Warth said he used a computer model to test billings and rates against revenue structures. Village employee Dan Davenport used accounting for all expenses in the system and they compared the two results.

"Now we'll investigate the loss, we cannot operate on a deficit," Warth said.

Riska's main concern was summer water rates and suggested lower rates then to encourage people to have yards in the summer.

Warth said that thought is counter to new theories of water conservation.

Trustee Rouleau told of the large number of acre-feet used in June as compared to earlier months, which puts high demand on the pump, which in turn increases costs.

Warth then reported on the water line project from Eagle Creek to the village. The first half of the project is done and the second half may start in May, with Eagle Creek Association paying the bill. Once completed the pipeline will take some of the pressure off using the well.

Resident David Cummins said paying for the water is like putting money in the bank.

But Rouleau said what the village has paid is "insignificant" compared to what Ruidoso has paid.

Davenport said the village can't afford to break even (with water payments) in the 1990s as there will be no more federal funds for such projects in the future. He reminded all present the village has not raised its water rates since 1984.

The next village meeting is Feb. 11.

● 1991 got off to a rousing start. First, the Sioux Indians are petitioning congress for a formal apology and compensation for descendants of Sioux killed in 1890 by the US Cavalry at Wounded Knee, SD. Of course, they don't give a hoot about an apology, but they do want the dough for what the tribe says must go to descendants of 400 Sioux killed at Wounded Knee. Fair being fair, why don't we petition congress to make the Sioux pay compensation to descendants of all those US Cavalrymen killed in the same battle?

● Then the alleged Rev. Al Sharpton, rabble-rousing black racist and perpetrator of the Tawana Brawley rape hoax, was stabbed in the chest as he was preparing to take off on another protest demonstration in New York City. Unfortunately, he is expected to recover. And the seven residents of Donnan, Iowa voted last week to abolish their town. Fayette County will take over Donnan's street maintenance and the state will handle the town's final bills. Doesn't that give us an idea of how to solve Carrizozo's maintenance and financial problems?

● An encouraging bit of news is that State Rep. Mark Caruso of Albuquerque says he will introduce legislation in the New Mexico Legislature limiting the terms of legislators to 12 years in office. That seems to be the only way to get rid of legislators-for-life. California has just passed a constitutional amendment limiting legislators' terms that will throw trash like Assembly Speaker Willie Brown out of office. Other states are enacting similar legislation. Perhaps the people will yet regain control of their own government, especially if they can limit terms for congressmen.

● Last week in Richardson, TX a 16-year-old student walked to the head of his class and blew his brains out with a pistol. The act coincides with courses in "death education" being given in public schools. A television show, 20/20, reported recently on the death education program for students. The program showed high school students being taken to morgues to touch dead bodies. In one Florida county, even 1st graders are being given the death education program. They were taught to make their own coffins out of shoe boxes. And in a Massachusetts school, 8th graders were assigned to write suicide notes. If it isn't death education, it's sex. Economist Thomas Sowell recently reported a parent was present in a 5th grade class in Oregon. "I was present," the parent said, "when a plastic model of female genitalia with a tampon insert was passed around to the boys so they might understand how tampons fit." By all means, let's provide more money for public education!

● You have heard of the "Hate Crimes" bill passed by congress and signed by the president. This bill makes it a criminal offense to show any prejudice against sodomists—no matter what the Bible says. The bill passed 402-18. Of the 18 who voted against the Sodomy Lobby, every one was a Republican. Not a single Democrat had the guts to vote against this ridiculous bill.

● A dozen environmentalist groups are asking congress to more than double the government-owned wilderness area in New Mexico. We already have 1.6 million acres where people can't live, own land, or on which they can make a living. Why not get it over with and turn the whole state into a wilderness where horned toads and spotted owls can live in comfort. Nationwide, 91 million acres of land is declared wilderness, and that isn't enough for these damned environmentalists who seem to love rattlesnakes and buzzards more than they do human beings. Not to worry; we can always migrate to India and get on with our lives.

● You read where black racists are demanding that the name of New York City be changed to Martin Luther King Jr. City. We had better get that done soon, else we run the risk of being called racially prejudiced and discriminatory. So I had this dream about how Martin Luther King's Birthday was celebrated this year. There is a Martin Luther King Memorial Stadium in Martin Luther King City, and on Jan. 15 a football classic was played between the Martin Luther King Overcomers and the Martin Luther King Plagiarists. People had a hard time finding the stadium because all thoroughfares in Martin Luther King City were named Martin Luther King Streets, Boulevards, Avenues, Lanes, etc., so no matter which street one took, he missed the stadium. A few drove and drove and never knew where they were except when they cross the Arizona state line, and found out damn quick where they were. But the game was over by then, with both teams winning 100-100 because it was illegal for any Martin Luther King team to lose. I tuned in on MLK-TV in time for the announcer to explain how workers who were not paid double-time for not working on Martin Luther King's Birthday could collect their money and send the offending employer to jail. Then I woke up. Was it fantasy or was it prophecy?

The ads for 20th Century Fox's "Come see The Paradise" all feature the headline: "IN 1992, OVER 100,000 AMERICANS WERE INTERNED IN PRISON CAMPS."

That, ladies and gentlemen, is an unmitigated lie. The only Japanese-Americans ever interned were less than one tenth of this number. They were interned because they held dual citizenship in Japan, or were those who demanded repatriation. These and enemy aliens were held in Department of Justice Internment Centers.

The remaining Japanese-Americans were relocated, to relocations camps, where they had the same housing and rations as millions of American armed forces. From these camps they were allowed to move to any place in the United States, other than our three West Coast states. And thousands of Japanese-Americans left these camps either to go to college, or to work in civilian jobs, or to serve this country in the heavily-decorated 442nd Regimental Combat Team, whose members would hardly have fought so well for a country with "concentration camps."

But writer-director Alan Parker, who took such widely-protested liberties in the film "Mississippi Burning," is never one to let facts get in the way of a good and potentially profitable Guilt Trip for Whitey.

That this relocation probably spared Japanese-Americans severe reaction when Americans learned of the Bataan Death March is as ignored by Parker as that dramatic but historic Bataan atrocity is ignored by

One wonders why—except that its victims were white males. That there was never one proven case of inhumane treatment in these relocation camps is a great tribute to the man who ran them, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, later president of Johns Hopkins University.

The relocation was ordered by President Roosevelt and approved by Gov. Earl Warren, as well as the US Supreme Court of William O. Douglas, Felix Frankfurter, and Hugo Black. For years after the war, the US government paid millions in reparations to any Nisei who lost any property.

The billion-dollar reparations bill recently passed by congress, together with this fraudulent film, are both sleazy defamations on the memory of great men.

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—As the New Mexico Legislature and the US Congress begin their 1991 sessions, a group of people are worried about how these lawmakers got where they are.

The nation's turnout for the 1990 elections was 36 percent, the lowest since World War II. Negative media campaigns were the order of the day, fueling widespread voter alienation despite their acknowledged effectiveness in influencing voter behavior.

In congressional races, 96 percent of the incumbents swept back into office—stark testimony to the overwhelming advantages of incumbency and the resulting decline in electoral competition.

The two major political parties, already suffering from widespread public disaffection, took a beating in several states as independent candidates won governorships in Alaska and Connecticut and a congressional seat in Vermont, while a Socialist was elected to Congress from Massachusetts.

Increasingly, political observers are beginning to speak of things such as a breakdown in the nation's "civic culture." Pollsters are documenting a growing conviction among ordinary citizens that our political institutions and elected leaders cannot be trusted to do the right thing.

And perhaps most disturbing of all is the fact that the poorest voter turnout in the nation is among 18 to 24 year olds, to whom we are entrusting the future of our country.

In this gloomy post-election atmosphere, one is tempted to despair about the future of representative government in the United States and wonder if anything can be done.

One of the country's leading civic organizations is responding to the crisis by stepping up its efforts to promote responsible citizenship. The Taft Institute of Government, an organization dedicated to education about the process of American government, is beginning an ambitious project called Youth Vote '92, designed to increase political participation among American youth.

For 30 years the Taft Institute has conducted summer seminars for teachers focused on the principles of the two-party political system. Beginning this year that focus will change.

Youth Vote '92 will provide intensive training for educators on the right to vote, its tortuous history, its relevance to modern life, and its importance as a civic duty in a democratic society. It will give them lesson-planning assistance and teaching aids they need to translate their new knowledge into effective classroom instruction.

Two-week courses will be offered for graduate credit at over 30 sites throughout the nation. Over 900 elementary, secondary and community college educators are expected to participate. They will return to their classrooms to impact on over 135,000 students a year.

The University of New Mexico used to be the site of many Taft seminars under the leadership of former Political Science Department Chairman Paul Hain, an active observer and participant in the New Mexico political process. Hain has since been lured away by a Texas university.

Maybe another enterprising political science professor somewhere in the state will pick up the ball and bid for one of the seminars. New Mexico needs the encouragement for its youth.

State Bureau of Elections Chief Hoyt Clifton says the highest percentage of purges from the state's voter rolls is among the youngest registrants. Purges are conducted after every general election. In the next few months, over 200,000 purge notices will be sent to those who have not been exercising their right to vote.

Too many of those purged will be our youth. That is a sad commentary on a state where the 18-year-old vote movement got its start in the late 1960s.

Letters to the Editor

Don't finance socialism

EDITOR—When do we quit financing world socialism? With our government already overburdened with a $800 billion deficit, our president gives the USSR another billion dollars in credits.

Since the Bolshevik Revolutions in 1917, different administrations have loaned billions upon billions of dollars to the always failing socialist experiment in the Soviet Union. They never pay back anything. Still the Bush administration gives them more.

It's time to quit financing the USSR failure. If we would cut off the loans (that are really gifts) eventually free enterprise would raise living standards. In the meantime, American loans only prolong the government provided agony.

According to the Dec. 14 front page story in the New York Times, even the Soviet working people recognize the problem. They ask the US to quit financing the Gorbachev socialist regime. According to the Times, a Soviet tractor driver pleaded with the Times' reporter, "You tell Americans, don't give the communists a kopek. They're bandits!"

You can't make it any plainer than that. President Bush should quit financing socialism in the USSR. No matter how much the president squanders in the Soviet Union, socialism is a born loser. The US is having plenty of fiscal trouble here at home. Let's get our own affairs in order before we go completely bankrupt, that is, if we are not bankrupt already.

place $35 certificate for Willie and Debbie Swift and the $15 3rd place certificate was to be forwarded to LeeRoy and Arlene Nejar who were unable to attend the meeting. Hammond also noted the unique Nativity display at Joe Ventura's home. He received honorable mention.

Members also discussed the certificate holder's meeting of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County Friday, Jan. 11. All agreed to have Ralph Forsythe represent the chamber. Election of board members to EDC was to occupy some of the Jan. 11 meeting. Chamber members agreed Scott Shafer of Carrizozo should continue on the board and requested Forsythe the vote for him. Two other slots were open. Other suggestions for those were Glen Crane of Ruidoso and Steve Stroud, also of Ruidoso. However, chamber members told Forsythe to vote for Shafer and to chose as he wished for the other two.

Forsythe reported on the EPA, which is supposed to come to Carrizozo this spring to begin clean up of cyanide contamination at the Cimarron Mill, northeast of town. No report has been issued yet on the Sierra Blanca Mill site investigations.

Members approved placing an ad in Lincoln County News expressing their thanks to all who donated to the Christmas light fund. EXPENSIVE DINING According to Insight, Marvin Seife will be sentenced this month and could be hit with up to 10 years in prison and a $500,000 fine.

The investigation into corruption in the Food and Drug Administration's generic drug division has produced convictions not only of 14 chemists and mid-level administrators (found to have taken bribes or faked tests) but also of Seife, the former head of the division (for perjury). Seife lied to investigators when he claimed he had not let generic drug company executives buy him meals.

After prosecutors produced evidence showing he had eaten at least 14 meals with drug company representatives, Seife admitted he had misled investigators. He blamed a failing memory caused by arthritis medication.

MAD FAD

What has a shape like a tongue depressor and looks like a ruler but becomes an instant wrist band or bracelet? It's a Slap Wrap, and very popular with K-through-8th grade buyers.

The 9-inch strip of steel encased in brightly colored, patterned fabric is marketed by Main Street Toy in Simsbury, CN. An imitation made in Taiwan has been rushed to US stores.

School teachers complain when they hear the snapping sounds as the newest fads are slapped on wrists. The bands coil into bracelets. The Slap Wrap will one day be history, like the hula-hoop.

FORBIDDEN WORDS

Joseph Farah in his column "Between the Lines" seen in The New American writes that one of the nation's most prestigious journalism schools is distributing "a dictionary of cautionary words and phrases" in an effort to ensure that today's reporters and editors avoid terms that might be offensive to certain cultural groups. Some examples:

Gal: Should never be used to describe a woman.
Gender enders: Avoid these. For instance — actress, comedienne, executress, heroine, poetess, and starlet. Instead, use gender-neutral terms such as actor, comedian, executor, hero, poet, and star.

Illegal alien: Often used to refer to Mexican and Latin Americans believed to be in the US without visas. The preferred term is undocumented worker or undocumented resident.

Stunning: Avoid physical descriptions.

DO NOT EDIT THIS

In his new book Fumble-rules William Safire gives a humorous side to grammar and good usage. Among his fumble-rules (mistakes that call attention to the rule):

- Avoid run-on sentences they are hard to read.
- Don't use no double negatives.
- Avoid commas, that are not necessary.
- Verbs has to agree with their subjects.
- Never use a long word when a diminutive one will do.
- Proofread carefully to see if you any words out.
- Never, ever use repetitive redundancies.
- Last but not least, avoid cliches like the plague.

STILL TIME

The New Year is still new enough to make New Year's resolutions. Andy McInnis in The Final Pioneer (Arizona's most interesting newspaper) has resolution suggestions to fit the proper age category. Repeat after him, "I promise to..."

- Age 0-4: To sleep through the night without waking mom or dad for a drink, to eat, with nightmares, or to breast feed.
- Age 5-12: To avoid Bart Simpson behavior.
- Age 13-17: To take an interest in something other than sex, video games, or rap music.
- Age 18-25: To accept the fact that your parents no longer are willing to support your carousing.
- Age 26-50: To not tell your boss to kiss your patoot unless you have another job lined up.
- Age 51-65: To spend more time with the grandkids, or at the bar, whichever is closer.
- Age 66 and up: To drive at least the speed limit.

Program to provide activity for elderly

Many older people feel that it is too late to begin a regular activity program, but research shows that any body can be made stronger and more flexible if it is used regularly. In Boston, 90-year-old nursing home residents are using weight training to improve their lives. Some have been able to walk away from their wheelchairs.

In New Mexico, the New Mexico State Agency on Aging, with the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Health, is launching a statewide activity program for older people, New Mexico on the Move. Presently being piloted in 12 locations, the program will go statewide for the winter season beginning Jan. 21, 1991. There will also be a spring and summer season.

People participate in teams of four; two of the four must be age 60 or older, while the other two may be any age. An aim of the program is that children and grandchildren will participate along with the elders. Teams will receive bonus miles for recruiting people over 70 and people who have not been active for at least one hour per week for the past year.

Individuals may call a participating center to be placed on a team, or teams of four may register through a participating center. For further information, call Corona, 849-5111, Corona Senior Center, and Captain, 354-2640, Captain Senior Center.

HONOR STUDENTS

Students at Eastern New Mexico University who made the Dean's List for the 1990 fall semester include: Robert L. Dorband III, Lincoln; John W. Frazier, Mary F. Kraft and Bobbi S. Shearer, all of Captain; Jayme L. Racher, Hondo; and Victoria E. Sanchez-Garrett, Tinnie.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC

Fair Housing is a national policy of the United States. It's the law, and it's your right. Today, more than ever, America is closer to upholding the inalienable right of all its citizens to live where they choose, or for as long as they choose and can afford to do so. Yet, this year, as many as two million people who want to rent or buy a home will be discriminated against because of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, families with children, or national origin. You can do something about housing discrimination. The Town of Carrizozo has passed a Fair Housing Ordinance. Complaints may be filed locally with Municipal Court or by reporting violations to the US Department of Housing and Urban Development. Toll-free, 1-800-424-8590.

E-911 Program

In 1989 the New Mexico Legislature passed a law that set up a mechanism for funding a state-wide emergency number. It became known as the E-911 Act. The act allows each local governing body (municipalities and counties) to pass an ordinance to establish a 911 system. The local phone company is then obligated BY STATE LAW to collect $.25 from each telephone customer (except for those on the Low Income Telephone Assistance Program—LITAP). The telephone company turns this $.25 surcharge over to the State of New Mexico where the funds are retained. Local governing bodies (counties and municipalities) may then apply to the local government division of the State Department of Finance and Administration to draw from these funds to set up their own local E-911 system.
