Johnson fills vacancy on board of trustees

by DORIS CHERRY

Carrizozo Town Trustees welcomed Johnnie Johnson on board Tuesday night.

On Mayor Cecilia Kuhn's recommendation, trustees Harold Garcia, Dale LaMay and Patsy Vallejos approved Johnson's appointment to fill the vacancy created when former trustee Gilbert Archuleta resigned. Johnson took his seat on the board after being sworn in by the town clerk and began learning about the responsibilities of a trustee right away.

Town attorney Robert Beauvais told of problems with renters who do not pay their water bills. Then he reviewed a proposed ordinance to set different water deposits for renters and property owners to help the town recover some of the water bill debts incurred by renters.

The proposed deposits will be $50 for property owners and $100 for renters. Beauvais said the $100 for renters, who traditionally create the largest water debts, would be enough to recover some of the delinquent bills. The town plans to shut off water to residences which have incurred two months delinquent bills.

Backed by state laws, the town also will have the power to put liens on properties which have water debts. The new ordinance would "put more teeth in enforcement and collectability," Beauvais said.

"It'll do no good if we don't stick to it," LaMay said.

Beauvais agreed there must be uniform application of the ordinance.

He also spoke of how other municipalities use the liens as leverage to keep water debts down. Capitan recently passed an ordinance setting the same dollar amounts for deposits.

Town foreman Faustino Gallegos recommended late charges be added to bills also, to keep delinquencies from happening. He said the late charge stopped a lot of delinquencies in other communities. Beauvais said $5 is a standard late charge and could be added to the proposed ordinance.

But some questions arose on how to bill the renters at the government-sponsored low income housing. Beauvais said it is a unique situation because the housing is owned by an authority, on which the town could never foreclose.

Town clerk Carol Schlarb said the authority now requires all renters to pay deposits for water.

"We can't favor someone in low income housing over someone else," LaMay said.

All agreed the situation with the housing authority would have to be worked out. The proposed ordinance will be reviewed again at the next regular town meeting, May 14. Trustees will have the option of approving the ordinance at that time.

Trustees approved the town's contract with Southwest Disposal Corp. (SDC) for solid waste collection and transfer station. Although SDC has been collecting trash in Carrizozo for more than a year, there has been no formal contract. SDC had responded to the town's request for proposals in 1990, based on a five-year contract. But no formal contract was ever signed by both the town and SDC.

Beauvais presented a contract for the town which will retain the five-year term, but will add a termination clause and franchise fee. The termination clause would provide a way for the town to get out of the contract if it chooses to go with the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA). The $3 franchise fee is already being charged to residential accounts and would continue with the terms of the contract.

LaMay asked about an office, which SDC's proposal had stated. No office has been provided since SDC began collections. Rather, the town clerk, trustees or mayor have been the go-betweens for residents' solid waste problems.

Trustees approved the proposed contract which now goes to SDC for its approval.

Kuhn gave a brief update of the LCSWA which has retained a bond counsel for the bond sale based on the special gross receipts from participating entities; will have the Ruidoso transfer station, truck and dumpsters, Ruidoso Downs trucks and dumpsters and Capitan Class C landfill appraised by the first week of May; rented an office for the manager in the Ruidoso Downs village hall. The joint powers agreement between all six entities has passed. The next LCSWA meeting is May 13 at the Ruidoso Downs Village hall (the old Redman's Club building).

Kuhn also addressed two items in the recreation center management contract passed last meeting. She wanted clear delineation between major and minor repairs and a quarterly report of accounting at the center as specified in the contract. No accounting report has been forwarded to the town. Trustees agreed the mayor has the authority to request such an accounting

Job training program comes to Lincoln County

Changing job skill requirements of the future may leave some New Mexicans out in the cold.

Without some type of training or retraining many workers or the presently unemployed will be left behind. Meanwhile, employers are reassessing their hiring practices and are seeking programs that offer flexibility in their budgets resulting in net savings to their companies.

To address some of the future training needs and respond to employers needs, the New Mexico Dept. of Labor will be in Carrizozo

May 2 to orient potential employees with the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

JTPA provides 50 percent reimbursement for wages paid while in training to businesses which hire people who qualify for the program. JTPA was passed by the US Congress to provide effective employment and training assistance to economically and academically disadvantaged youth and displaced workers.

Any private-for-profit business or non-profit organization operating in New Mexico is eligible to participate in the program.

Local JTPA representative Tony De La Paz from the Alamogordo Dept. of Labor office will be at Carrizozo Town Hall from 9:30 a.m. to noon on Thursday, May 2 to orient persons interested in participating in JTPA and will qualify them on a one-to-one basis. De La Paz said the main purpose is to get as many people into the applicant pool as possible. If a person qualifies, he can be sent to school or be added to a pool from which Lincoln County employers can draw. Lincoln County businesses and workers have underutilized the program in the past.

JTPA is primarily for persons 18 years old or older. Applicants need to bring a photo identification, social security card, proof of birthday, proof of address (such as utility bill showing an address) and proof of gross wages from November 1990 to April 1991.

For more information about the program or the meeting at Carrizozo Town Hall call the Dept. of Labor, De La Paz, at 437-9210.

Homes needed for foreign students

Foreign high school students will be arriving soon into the Carrizozo area for homestay programs, and the sponsoring organization urgently needs local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Area Coordinator, Patricia Cannell, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, have their own spending money, are fully insured and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families.

Carrizozo area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting may call Patricia Cannell at 801-563-9511 or the International Headquarters toll-free at 1-800-245-6232.

"WHO'LL GIVE ME FIVE? Seven and a half?" ... "Sold to number 22 (Joe Hooten)!" Auctioneers came to Carrizozo last week and sold thousands of dollars worth of equipment, supplies and office equipment. Truck-trailers lined both sides of 12th Street, ready to haul off Belco Industries items bought at the public auction.

Lujan to dedicate Valley of Fires Recreation area

May is "Take Pride in America" month and the Bureau of Land Management, Roswell district, which administers the Valley of Fires Recreation Area, will celebrate with the formal dedication of the area on May 1.

Valley of Fires Recreation Area is three miles west of Carrizozo on Highway 380 and sits on an "island" of rock surrounded by a lava flow. In February, 1990, BLM acquired Valley of Fires

Recreation Area from the state of New Mexico, and has been refurbishing it for several months. The recreation area will offer overnight camping, picnicking, nature study and sightseeing opportunities.

Secretary of the Interior Manual Lujan Jr., in company with other staff members and BLM State Director Larry Woodard, will arrive at Valley of Fires at 1 p.m. for the formal dedication which will take place at the recreation area's community shelter.

BLM District Manager Francis R. Cherry Jr. and area manager Sandy Allen have extended a personal invitation to the ceremony to local officials and general public. For further information please contact Barbara Bills, BLM, Roswell office, 622-9042.

Soil, water Stewardship Week is April 28-May 5

The Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District is encouraging local churches, organizations and individuals to join the nationwide observance of Soil and Water Stewardship week, April 28-May 5.

The local conservation district, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is providing color literature that highlight humanity's responsibility to be active stewards of the nation's soil and water resources.

The local district is one of nearly 3,000 conservation districts nationwide that work with the National Association of Conservation Districts to encourage greater resource stewardship through the annual week-long observance.

The Carrizozo district has provided "Show Your Care with Buddy Bear" coloring activity books for all kindergartners through 2nd graders in Corona and Carrizozo schools. Litanys are being provided to churches.

Happy Birthday to Gerri Jo Wilson April 25, and Veronica Reves April 27, Cheryl Mark April 21.

Albert Muse and family have been residents of Capitan since June 1973. He was in paint and dry wall business. He was a dedicated family man of eight children and 24 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren. Many friends. To know him was to love him. Albert was hospitalized in Roswell April 10 in critical condition. April 11 he was transferred via helicopter to University Hospital in Albuquerque, where he died in peace. His wife Mildred, seven of his children and their children gave their roses to their father and he recognized all of them. By the way

By P.E. Chavez

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Last Thursday morning I was astonished to see so many cars and trucks parked on both sides of 12th Avenue. Side streets in the area were also full of parked vehicles. All the action was inside Belco Industries, where auctioneers were conducting brisk business. I wandered into the building and almost became the owner of 12 air drills and 40 socket sets. An auction is no place to wave to acquaintances.

MEMORY LANE

The clock seemed to turn back to 1956 when 12th Avenue was a busy Carrizozo street every day. According to Lincoln County News and Carrizozo Outlook (located then at John's TV) the Lyric Theatre was showing "Rebel Without a Cause" starring James Dean and Natalie Wood. Other businesses included those in the Belco plant location: El Cibola Hotel owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harkey and the City Garage featuring the Bel Air Convertible Chevrolet.

Occupants of vehicles parked on 12th Avenue 35 years ago may have been shopping at Carrizozo Mercantile Company owned by Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Jones and now site of King's Food Mart. Or perhaps they were shopping at Carrizozo Hardware Co. (Hooten's Feed Store now); the Lane Sisters; Rollands Drug Store (Family Pharmacy now); or Paden's Drug Store (Gift Gallery now). Shoppers may have been grabbing a snack at the Yucca Grill owned by Welcorm and Ruth Armstrong or a drink at the Yucca Bar owned by Joe Sargent or chatting at Shorty's Place (post office location now).

Carrizozo, county seat of Lincoln County, was a busy place in 1956. All streets were full of shoppers who came from all over the county.

ALIVE AND WELL

Alma and Friday Sherrill owned Nu-way Laundry and Dry Cleaners; Jiggs Sidwell was in charge at Phillips 66 Auto Service; J.S. Stearns sold Paul Revere Life insurance and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Callaway managed Coffee Cup Cafe.

Lloyd Vigil owned Jonnie's Bar and Marvin H. Roberts headed Lincoln County Motors. Morris Beauty Salon was once located at Garcia's laundromat.

Other places to eat out included Paul's Place, Pick's Freez and Burger Bar or Western Texaco Truck Station Coffee Shop. A person could buy groceries at Thornton's, Food Mart or Vega Feed and Grocery Store (now home of Lincoln County News).

AND THERE'S MORE

Back in 1956 Carrizozo was a lively place. There was King's Cactus Bar; J.G. Moore Insurance Agency, Rick's Texaco Service Station, Fred's Shoe Repair, Big Jo Lumber Co., Means Motor Supply, Nickels Building and Hardware (still here), Shafer Motor Company, and Ortiz Brothers Chevron station.

We even had wrestling at Miller's Hall (Club Carrizozo now), Nike Drive-in Theatre and 24-hour mortuary, known as Shaw's Mortuary.

HOMEMADE PESTICIDE

Many Americans will garden this year and spend dollars to keep lawns green, flowers fresh and vegetables free of pests. USA Weekend, in an effort to cut down on chemicals, featured a home-brewed bug killer. Considered eco-friendly, the homemade pesticide contains 3 onions, 1 whole garlic, 2 tablespoons hot red pepper, chopped, and 1 tablespoon soap. The ingredients are blended in a quart of water and then sprayed on plants. Without the soap, the recipe looks like it could go well with my taco or burrito.

EARTH DAY

Earth Day, observed on April 20 this year, was an opportunity for ecology groups to emphasize the importance of maintaining a healthy planet.

The following recycle tips are my contribution for the event:

* One gallon bleach bottles are good for scoops. Cut the bottom out and leave the lid on. For a funnel take the lid off.

* Plastic mesh bags that onion and garlic come in can be used to make soap holders to hang near outdoor water faucets. Put a bar of soap in the bag and tie it off with rope making a loop at the top for hanging. The mesh plastic allows the soap to be used right through the bag while letting air keep it dry.

* Sluggish sink drains respond to several pots of boiling-hot water down the drain. Then run hot tap water down the drain for a couple of minutes. If this does not bring results, pour one cup of baking soda into the drain. Follow this with one cup of vinegar. Cover the drain opening tightly for 20 minutes. Then run hot tap water down the drain.

PFK Spelling Bee tonight

Tonight (Thursday) Carrizozo 3rd and 4th graders will compete in the annual People for Kids Spelling Bee.

The bee will start at 6:30 p.m. in the old Carrizozo School gym. The 3rd and 4th graders will be judged by members of the board of education. Each contestant will receive an award of recognition with special gifts going to winners.

PFK will honor the winning class with double-dip ice cream cones and the runners-up with single scoop cones.

PFK solicits help for future bake sales so it can sponsor the end of the year field trips for students.

The final PFK meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 14 in the superintendent's office.

Historic home tour in Lincoln

In celebration of National Historic Preservation Week, five historic adobe homes in Lincoln will be open to the public.

The homes are: Dr. Woods, Gallegos House, Sandoval House, Casa de Patron, and the Old Ellis Store.

The tour of homes takes place during Mother's Day weekend, May 11-12. The Saturday tour will be in the evening from 5 to 8 p.m. and on Sunday in the afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. A guide at each home will explain the history of the building itself and its role in the events of Lincoln.

OPINION

● DEAR Peaceniks: It has been determined that during the past 3,500 years, there was peace in the civilized world for only 230 years. So drop those placards.

● DEAR news media: You keep telling the American people that the war in the Persian Gulf was the shortest war in history. Not so. In 1898 a war was fought between England and Zanzibar. From the beginning of hostilities to Zanzibar's surrender by Sultan Said Khalid, was exactly 38 minutes.

● FOR too long we have been believing what sociologists say: "If crime could be stopped through punishment, crime would not now exist." No studies are cited to prove the truth of this statement, because none exist. This paraphrasing seems equally valid: "Food can't stop hunger, because if it could, hunger would have been abolished long ago." Studies do exist to verify the latter statement. Mark Hare, writing in The Press magazine several years ago, documented his point that there is no shortage of food, either in US or worldwide. "The world is producing each day two pounds of grain, or more than 3,000 calories, for every man, woman, and child on earth. Three thousand calories is about what the average American consumes daily. And this estimate is minimal. It does not include the many other staples such as beans, potatoes, cassava, ranged meat, much less fresh fruits and vegetables." Yet, according to the International Hunger Project, 15 million people die each year of starvation. That's 28 people every minute; 21 of them are children. The problem is distribution. This food is not in the right place at the right time. Politics, ignorance, fraud, and mismanagement hinder distribution of food that would eliminate hunger worldwide.

● WHICH brings us to another favorite cliché of sociologists: That poverty causes crime. It is also the theme of college textbook writers, such as Daniel Goldberg who wrote "Challenges in Our Changing Urban Society," a college textbook, in which he writes: "A basic cause of crime, as we know, is poverty. Anything that can be done to reduce poverty is almost bound to reduce crime at the same time." He offers no studies to support such a statement, and his conclusion does not follow from the premise, and would not even if the premise were true. US Uniform Crime reports show just the opposite.

● IN the period 1960-72, an era of prosperity, crime went up 191.7 percent while the population increased only about 14 percent. But in 1972 alone there were 5,891,900 serious crimes committed. The American homicide rate has jumped to more than 9 per 100,000, nearly double the rate of 30 years ago. According to the Senate Judiciary Committee, all crimes of violence have increased more than 500 percent since 1960. This caused the committee to note that the US today is "the most violent and self-destructive nation on earth." Prosperous American has four to nine times more crime than European countries. Last year alone in the US there were 23,000 murders.

● SO-CALLED experts, sociologists, psychologists, and writers of textbooks claim poverty is the major cause of crime in the US; that all we have to do to abolish crime is to abolish poverty. Since about 1945 that philosophy has gripped the government and many of its citizens. Yet, in the period 1960 to 1990 violent crime has increased 500 percent, a time when US citizens enjoyed less poverty and a better distribution of income that at any time in the nation's history. The more we spent to eliminate poverty, the higher soared the crime rate.

● WHY doesn't some sociologist account for the fact that during the Depression when unemployment among white families was 25 percent (and much greater for blacks at the bottom of the economic heap), crime was an insignificant item in the social order? During those trying times we had no locks on our doors. In our town of 4,000 there was no city police. In the five years I lived here, no rapes were reported. There were no muggings and few thefts and robberies. People knocked on doors asking for work to do in exchange for meals. But they rarely stole. Public assistance was unheard of. California Speaker of the House Willie Brown was dragging a cotton sack in the fields of Texas. By contemporary standards he should be a criminal now instead of being the most powerful politician in California.

● THE rich and comfy commit crime, too. Jack Benny, highly paid comedian, was convicted of diamond smuggling in New York in 1939; Winston Burdett, TV news reporter for CBS, confessed to congress he spied for the Red Army in Finland in 1939-40. He was kept on by CBS. Timothy Leary, former Harvard

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Several Democrat state elected officials are encouraging Gov. Bruce King to fire all exempt appointees of former Gov. Garrey Carruthers.

They claim that Carruthers immediately fired all exempt employees from the Toney Anaya administration and that Anaya did the same to King's appointees from his second administration.

Last week's efforts at getting King to move marked the second time the governor has been encouraged to wipe the slate clean. King was urged to take action as soon as he took office but said he wanted to wait until the 1991 legislature ended. It is not uncommon to wait until lawmakers have left town to take actions that might result in controversy. Not only does the timing of actions during a legislative session mean there are more people around who might get upset, it also distracts attentions and energies from the legislative effort.

King had another visit last week from some of the elected officials with whom he is close. They reminded him that lawmakers went home over a month ago and still there has been no house-cleaning. These elected officials claim Carruthers' appointees in some administrative agencies have been "causing trouble" for the new slate of Democrats who were elected last November.

State employees come in two basic categories — exempt and classified. Exempt employees are usually the top people in each agency plus their personal secretaries. They receive higher pay but have no job protection. The governor can hire and fire them at any time for any reason. These employees have the cushy jobs, usually won as the result of having been longtime, loyal campaign workers. They know they should have a resignation letter already typed and signed for the time when they fall from favor or when the boss leaves office.

Classified employees are protected by the state Personnel Act. In order to be fired the state agency must prove to the state Personnel Board that there is just cause for the action. New Mexico hasn't always had a state Personnel Act. Until its passage in 1961, all of state government turned over when a new administration took office. Now state agencies not only have to jump through hoops to fire an employee, there are also regulations on hiring to insure applicants are qualified and not just politically connected.

These classified employees are not who the Demo officials are after. The assumption by both major parties has always been that most state workers are Democrats. That is why Republicans always try to limit any kind of political activity as much as possible because they have suspicions there is plenty of unseen politics going on inside state office buildings during campaign season.

Former Gov. Garrey Carruthers, a Republican, often boasted that he never asked the Personnel Office to find a job for a campaign worker. No one has ever come forward to dispute that claim.

ED FISCHER

Demos counter that Carruthers never associated with anyone who needed an entry level state job.

When Big Bruce gets around to sweeping out the corners for the final remnants of Carruthers' appointees, it isn't likely to cause any big headlines. That's just the way the political game is played.

Politics is not the only place exempt employees stand to lose their jobs. It also happens in the world of lobbyists and special interests groups. This column mentioned recently that the New Mexico Rural Electrification Cooperative Association will possibly undergo a shake-up in its top management soon.

An early edition of this column mentioned that RECA board members were upset because one of their three major bills failed to pass the 1991 legislature and another was vetoed by Gov. King. A later column version corrected that to say all three measures passed and one was vetoed. That's an impressive performance for anyone's lobbying effort—especially when they killed all the unfavorable bills that were floating around.

But Roger Beimer and crew may be out anyway.

instructor, writer, guru and dope-head, got a 30-year sentence (later reversed) for smuggling drugs from Mexico. Pearl Buck, Nobel prize winner for literature, was forbidden to solicit funds for her foundation because she appropriated charitable funds. LeRoi Jones, a black, prominent playwright, was arrested in New York in 1966 for assault and robbery. Arthur Miller, famous playwright, was cited for contempt of congress in 1956. Norman Mailer, novelist who made $400,000 on a series of essays downgrading the moon landings, was arrested in New York in 1961 for stabbing his wife. The list is endless. Lyndon Johnson stole a seat in the US Senate; Earl Butts, former Secretary of Agriculture, was jailed for income tax evasion; Hank Greenspan, prominent Las Vegas publisher, was once convicted of arms smuggling; Eldridge Cleaver is a convicted rapist; H. Rapp Brown, convicted burglar, is a big shot in the Peace Corps. And that brings us down to the criminal assaults of the Kennedy Klan on decent Americans, all of which are overlooked because he is rich and powerful.

● NOWHERE have I found evidence that poverty causes crime. Many say it does, but they only quote each other to support the claim. And nobody wants to even discuss the fact that in poorer societies than ours, the crime rate is lower than ours.

● THE late Earnest Hooten, American anthropologist, studied 13,873 male prisoners in 10 states, and had the courage to assert that crime is largely the result of physical and racial factors. He suggested that the "criminal stock" be eliminated by breeding a better race, and that starts in the bedroom. That's an idea that isn't going anywhere in today's climate where poverty, discrimination, police brutality, and Western culture are the dominate scapegoats for anything that goes wrong.

Letters to the Editor

Free public education

EDITOR—One of the most deceiving lies ever told is the one that says we have "free" public education. It is probably the most costly system that educators can impose upon taxpayers. The fiscal facts are that taxpayers will pay for public education all of their lives. In fact, their children will pay for it all of their lives even if they attend private schools.

Some taxpayers choose to educate their children in private or in parochial schools. In a few years they are through paying for the private system, but neither they nor their children will ever finish paying for the state operated "free" public school system. It is totally unfair.

On the other hand, the private or the parochial systems cost taxpayers very little. It pays its own way. With a fair tax-break, no telling what the private or the parochial system could do.

Give them a fair tax-break. Provide a tax shelter that will create an incentive to build more private schools. Force the state operated system to compete on fair and equal grounds. Then let the parents decide which system is best for them, but let them decide with a cost factor that is fair and equal.

Fair competition in education could solve the problems in education. Private or parochial education has already proven itself. Private or parochial education is the greatest bargain, dollar for dollar, that the American taxpayers get. We need more of it.

Commissioners say things differently in those days

Forty years ago Lincoln County News was also the Carrizozo Outlook, "Printed in Lincoln County for all of Lincoln County."

On front page of the April 27, 1951 issue, Felipe Sedillo, 21, of Tinnie was the first known casualty of the Korean War from Lincoln County. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Sedillo of Tinnie.

Captain was the victor in its first invitational track meet. Kuidoso was runner-up. Weed next.

"Engineers Say Roads Up to Commissioners" was about a group of White Oaks residents interested in seeing construction work on the Carrizozo-White Oaks road completed, who met with state highway officials. County commissioners, who had met with the residents the week before, had said there was no money for such a paving project. The highway officials refuted the commissioners' claim, there was money. Commissioners Wilbur McKnight and A.C. Hester had sent a letter to state highway requesting withdrawal of the money allocated for the road construction. "The highway men assured the group that if the county commissioners will recommend the White Oaks road work, they anticipate no difficulty in securing approval from the Federal Bureau of Roads."

The group was also told of how Lincoln County lost an appropriation for the road a few years before during the commission term of A.C. Hester and William Gallacher when the two men could not come to an agreement regarding a location for the work to be done.

The issue of the White Oaks road was a controversy for a number of years, but was brought to a head on April 13, 1951 when several bridges on the road were destroyed by fire and a group of irate citizens met with county commissioners. The White Oaks group charged "politics" in the way commissioners had withdrawn funds for the road construction and transferred them elsewhere. Commissioners denied the charge on the grounds the state highway engineer had told them the Federal Bureau of Roads would not approve it. It finally came out that commissioners had not inquired the reason for the reported disapproval by the federal bureau, but only where else the money could be spent. The State Highway Dept. charged Forrest Queen, Jim Taylor and Raymond Littleton, all of White Oaks, with destruction of the bridges.

A short item by Dan A. Storm told of Paul H. Jones visiting Mrs. Ola G. Jones of Glencoe, on leave from Brook Army Hospital in San Antonio where he was recovering from wounds received in Korea.

Carrizozo High School senior class presented a hilarious comedy, "Ever Since Eve," Jimmy Barnett, Bob Powellson, June Aguayo, Bettie Lou Grogan, Norma Compton, Daisy Dickerson, Raymer Shaw, M.S. Miramarian, Ana Rizzieri, Donald Calentina, David Lueras, Jose Sedillo, Jack Key, Glyn Zumwalt, Alton Lenard and Richard Sidwell were members of the cast.

AROUND CORONA

Cedar and Primrose Temples, Pythian Sisters, held a joint meeting April 22 at the McIntosh Community center to honor Grand Chief Velma Smith, who made her official visit to both Temples. She was accompanied by Sisters from Miracle Temple from Belen and Albuquerque. The meeting was preceded by a luncheon.

Mrs. Smith's emblem is Praying Hands, her flower pink and blue carnations. Primrose presented her with her emblem in a ceramic made by Ethel Floyd. Cedar gave her a cash gift, and a large cake topped with the carnations.

Mrs. Bud Taylor drove to the San Francisco Bay area last week to help daughter Pauletta move to Malibu into a beach house which they plan to redecorate. Mrs. Taylor will continue her scuba diving lessons from her daughter.

Ellis Hodge is at home after an absence of several weeks for surgery in Albuquerque followed by therapy in Roswell.

Friends received word early Monday of the death of a former resident, Buddy Milner in a West Texas Veterans' Hospital. He was injured in the Italian campaign in WWII and never fully recovered. A memorial service and interment were scheduled in Blanket, TX.

Laurie Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Owen, and Robert Petrose were married Saturday in a church service followed by a dinner for over 300 guests and a dance. The couple will reside in Farmington where the bride is a graduating high school senior and where both are employed. Attending from Corona were the bride's grandmother, Mrs.

from manager Val Reyes.

Another lease considered was for the golf course. Lease holder Ted Turnbow wanted to renew the $1 a year contract with no changes. However, Beauvais found some discrepancies in the term of the contract, with one place stating one year, another five years with annual renewal. Garcia wanted the five years to give Turnbow, who has built up the facility, a protection for those investments. He was all for as many years as possible on the lease.

Trustees tabled the contract until the next meeting so they could talk with Turnbow directly. They also will ask about the situation for the port-a-potty rental.

A franchise to the SDC contract was approved separately from the actual solid waste collection contract. It will give the town $3 for every residential account. The fund goes into a solid waste line item. The franchise fees charged to utilities and services is a typical way municipalities can earn extra money.

An audience member suggested the solid waste fund not be allowed to get too large; rather, the money be put into the general fund to be used where needed.

Currently the money is not in an interest-bearing account. Trustees plan to discuss what to do with the franchise fees during budget work sessions.

Trustees approved a business registration for Barbara's East Coast Subs Plus, a sandwich shop with video games located in the old Wagon Wheel Restaurant building, submitted by Barbara J. Davis of Carrizozo. There was some concern about resolution of a more than $700 water debt incurred by former tenants. Schlarb assured the bill would be paid once the title and deed are finalized.

LaMay requested the county be told not to use town streets to transport gravel to the Schlarb Road project. Heavily loaded trucks are threatening to tear up town streets already in disrepair. "They'll beat those roads to death," LaMay said.

Kubnel told of plans by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to begin cleaning up the wells at the Cimarron Mill site. EPA and engineers plan to be in Carrizozo May 2 to review a cleanup time line. She also said the tests made on wells at the Sierra Blanca site came back clean, showing no contamination.

In letters to the mayor, SNMEDD requested the town provide $240 for membership fees for next fiscal year's funding; the 4-H Club wants to plant trees at the new fire department building; trustees agreed to set a public hearing to get comment on a Community Development Block Grant and the mayor acknowledged the coming formal invitations to the dedication of Valley of Fires Recreation Area on May 1.

At town police chief Choncho Morales' request, trustees considered what to do about potentially dangerous conditions at the Belco Building. Plaster is falling from areas on the second story wall to the sidewalks and Morales worried of potential dangers to citizens. Beauvais said by law trustees can pass resolution regarding dangerous conditions, then serve notice on the property owner who has 10 days to take action toward solving the conditions. If the conditions are not improved the town can deal with them, then place a lien on the property to cover costs.

The resolution will be on the next meeting agenda. For now, Beauvais will work with Archie Witham, who is in charge of the Belco Building for Small Business Administration.

After going into a closed session for personnel, trustees came out and announced the chief will enforce parking provisions in the town traffic ordinance and set the next workshop to review the proposed personnel ordinance for 6 p.m., April 30.
