Recycling To Be Reality

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority will finally get paid for picking up garbage in Ruidoso since May.

The lack of a signed agreement between LCSWA and the village of Ruidoso has kept the money the village has collected for garbage service provided by LCSWA from going into the LCSWA bank account. Because of this members of LCSWA approved an agreement with the village that allows the Ruidoso utilities department to also bill for trash collection for LCSWA. The agreement provides for payments to be deposited with LCSWA each day, and an administrative fee of 25 cents per billing. Ruidoso will not be liable for payment of any uncollected account.

Members discussed how uncollectable accounts will legally be handled, which was not included in the agreement. However, members approved the agreement without such language because LCSWA was getting no payments from Ruidoso which will be the bulk of LCSWA's revenue.

"I prefer this be approved quickly to avoid any suggestion of double taxing," said Ruidoso village attorney Dave Thomsen.

He recommended the agreement be amended later to include language which will allow legal action to collect on

County Approves Road Tax Refund

A threatened lawsuit prompted Lincoln County Commissioners to take some action to reimburse some property owners for taxes paid on never built subdivision roads.

Meeting at a special called session Monday to finalize this year's county budget, commissioners Stirling Spencer and Monroy Montes discussed the threatened litigation in closed session. When they returned to open meeting they directed county manager Andy Wynham to begin a program of refunding road assessments to property owners for front footage assessments collected on specific subdivision roads which were never built or maintained and which do not appear to have a likely chance of being built or maintained.

The county had never looked into the problem of properties being taxed for subdivision roads that were never built until the complaints were made last year. When Wynham was hired this spring he made it a project to research the road problems and found many that had never been built, but property owners were paying taxes. some for several years.

By reviewing hundreds of pages of tax assessment information, and enlisting the aid of the computer programming company to access the information out of the county's main frame computer, Wynham compiled a list of subdivisions where roads were never built, where some were built and subdivisions where roads were built, but property owners never assessed the front footage

He presented the list to commissioners during the closed session. The roads in question mostly were in Alto Crest Unit 1, Angus Townsite (Clara A. Skinner Subdivision), Baker's Acres, Lincoln Hills Country Club, Lincoln Hills First Addition, Los Corralitos, Rio Bonito and Wolf Creek Estates and some in other subdivisions. Some 94,343 feet of unbuilt roads have been assessed, some since 1970.

Some 62,782 feet of subdivision roads that could have been assessed haven't been, resulting in lost revenue for the coun ty road department.

While the county legally did not have to initiate such a refund program, commissioners and Wynham thought it was their "moral obligation" to do so.

The county will notify current affected property owners in writing and an application sent to them for the refund. A three month time period will be set for property owners to respond. The county also will run legal ads in all local and region newspaper to contact former property owners.

The burden will be on the affected property owners to produce evidence they have paid the front footage tax for every vear it was assessed on the property. Wynham said the county cannot afford to do tax searches on the affected properties.

Once the affected property and payment of tax is verified, the county will set up a system of refund.

It will take Wynham about one month to finalize the plans and prepare the mailer to property owners. He asks that property owners do not contact his or the county clerk's office about the situation.

Pilots Fly Into Town Saturday

Pilots from as far away as West Virgina are expected to fly into Carrizozo Airport Saturday, July 25.

Some 40 pilots are expected to land at the airport where they will be treated to coffee and donuts in the morning. Activities begin when fly-in participants will board the Carrizozo School activity bus driven by Mike Gaines for a trip to White Oaks. There the pilots will be given a tour of the old ghost town, with resident LaRue Wetzel as tour guide. They also will tour the Old School House museum with Robert Leslie as

A "100 years ago" show will be presented to the pilots and guests at the White Oaks Casino. The show will feature local talents Mary Lou Webster, Glen Ellison, Juanita Vallejos and Eveyln Sidwell.

A stop at the Cedarvale Cemetery where LaRue Wetzel will give a short lecture winds up the tour of White Oaks.

The pilots will return to Carrizozo by bus where they will be treated to barbecue.

The Carrizozo Board of Education welcomed aboard newly selected member Mary Funk, then promptly broke her in with a more than two hour closed session for personnel Tuesday. The board opened its meeting with Funk taking the oath of office, given by administrative assistant Nenna Vega. Board members Nick Serna, Eugenia Vega, Jan Barham and Gary Hightower selected Funk from six applicants to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of J.C. Richmond for health reasons.

The board solicited applicants for the position and Funk, Richard Hollis, Eldon Offutt.

Steve Harkey, Linda Gibson and LeeRoy Zamora applied. Each was interviewed Monday during a special board meeting. Board members commented that all applicants were good candidates for the board position.

After Funk was sworn in Tuesday, the board went into a closed session for personnel at 7:13 p.m. Presiding officer Serna opened the meeting at 9:22 p.m. and declare I no decisions had been made during the closed session. The board then hired Ruby Armstrong as sixth grade teacher, approved the activity/athletic increments for the 1992-93 year and tabled a request for payment of Barbie Roper's summer health insur-

An increment, or payment for time spent in extracurricular school sponsored activities, of $2,000 was given to Kenneth Butts for varsity and junior varsity boys basketball. Bryan Wetzel will receive $500 for his work with the junior high boys basketball. Kay Patterson will get $2,000 for her workwith the varsity and junior varsity girls basketball, $2,000 for her work with varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams and $500 for working with the junior high volleyball, Veronica Baca will receive $500 for the girls junior high basketball.

assistant football coach and -Peter Aguilar will receive $700 to work with the junior high football team.

Booty will get $1,500 for junior and senior high school track, Mercie Epperson will get $600 for high school cheerleading, Ruby Armstrong $500 for junior high cheerleading, for a total of $14,300 in athletic increments for next school year.

Activity increments will go to Linda Brown ($250) as senior sponsor, $250 to Booty as junior sponsor, $500 to Butts for being computer coordinator, $400 to Julia Hollis as audio-visual coordinator, $600 to Veronica Baca for annual coordinator, $250 to Earlene Price as student council advisor and $150 to Gabe Papponi as National Honor Society sponsor with a total of $2,400.

The Iowa Test of Basic Skills (ITBS) has produced numbers lower than educators are accustomed to, reported school counselor Earlene Price. Carrizozo administered the test to all students in grades K-8, but is only required to test those in grades 3, 5 and 8. She suggested the district test only those three grades in the future, because of the expense.

Carrizozo students scored an overall average of 50 percentile, with a low of 31 in second grade and high of 68 in the sixth. Price said the average scores should not worry teachers, rather they should be able to focus on those students with the top and bottom scores. "I don't think average kids are to be sneezed at," she said. Next year the test should be easier and scores will probably be higher, Price added.

All Carrizozo 12th graders passed the 1991-92 competency exams required for a diploma. Only one sophomore did not pass one section of the six-part test in composition, reading, English, mathematics, science and social studies and that student has moved away. Juniors who retook all parts of the test passed also.

Carrizozo juniors made an ACT composite score of 23.18 and seniors scored 20.25. The national average is 18.

First graders scored a 70 percent average on their reading assessment test and second graders scored 86.

Price reminded that test scores should not be used to advertise how good a school is, rather to be used as indicators to trace students' progress. In the future, teachers will be recognized as coaches or mentors, rather than dispensers of knowledge.

Next year all grades but first will receive the Metropolitan Achievement Test.

The 1992-93 budget was increased to allow for the $45,049.60 in actual cash balance from last school year to be placed in needed areas. Of that $3,273 will go toward step increases for teachers completing college courses, additional retirement and social security for those increases, $2,000 to textbooks, $2,000 to supplies, $1,000 to travel, $1,000 for board expenses, $4,560 for an increase in group insurance, $1,000 to athletics and the remaining $10,676 to equipment.

The four-day week concept is still alive. Supt. Jimmie Banks said the four-day school week idea originated with former superintendent Danny Burnett and former board members. A survey was taken in March, 1991 which indicated only 68 percent of the teachers favored the alternative schedule.

"We took the next step," Banks said. The school did another survey this spring which indicated all teachers favored looking into the concept and most parents.

Member Hightower said there was some question on the validity of this spring's survey. "We owe it to our community to put together a (more involved) survey and evaluate their real feelings," he said. Member Barham said the survey should include questions which pertain directly to Carrizozo

A new survey will be compiled and offered to teachers. parents and community at a later date.

are expected to ride through Carrizozo first on Sunday, about 6 a.m. followed by the individual men and mixed tandem teams. A time station will be set up at the old Texaco station at the intersection of Highways 380 and 54. The station will be manned around the clock until all racers have passed through the county seat. The last time station before Carrizozo will be in Socorro. From Carrizozo, racers will continue east on Highway 380, gaining more than 1,000 feet to Indian Divide. From that high point, racers will continue on Highway 380 through Capitan, Lincoln, Hondo, then on to Roswell.

The first 1,000 miles of the race, in California and Arizona, will follow routes traveled for the last five years. From Holbrook, Arizona, the race route will exit Interstate 40 and head south on a new route for RAAM.

The race route in New Mexico follows Highway 60 through Socorro, then Highway 380 to the Texas border. The half-way mark for the whole race is Shamrock, Texas.

Residents and visitors are invited to watch as the racers come through Carrizozo. Volunteers are needed to help man the time clock, call Chad Patterson at 648-2244 if interested.

Coordination Needed For Stampede Parking

This year's Smokey Bear Stampede and parade on July 4 in Capitan was a proving ground for the fire prevention bear's 50th anniversary in Parking, especially, for the many vehicles expected for Smokey's 50th will take considerable coordination.

Members of Friends of Smokey met in Capitan Monday to report on the recent Smokey Bear Stampede and associated activities. Concensus among the members was the parking problems experienced this year will be compounded by more visitors in 1994.

Members volunteered Lance Zink and George Beaudry to begin contacting people who own vacant lots which could be used for parking, A trolley, such as the horse-drawn one used at Lincoln Days, could be employed to shuttle visitors from their parked cars to the rodeo grounds.

This year at the rodeo, only contestants were allowed to park within the fairgrounds and visitors had to park along the streets and walk to the rodeo.

"Making people walk on the street will kill the rodeo," said Friends chairman Larry Bandy, Members agreed they need more communication with the Lincoln County Fair Board to work on the parking and other problems. A letter was to be sent to the board to request one of their members attend the Friends of Smokey meetings.

Smokey Bear items did not sell as well as members had hoped. Members discussed ways to increase those sales by placing the Friends booth closer to the Smokey Bear and the American Cowboy Caravan. Also members recommended offering Smokey Bear items in children's sizes and at prices low enough for children or families on moderate incomes.

The Caravan experienced great success during its visit to the area during the July 4 week. One of the most successful stops was Smokey Bear Day at the Races at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. At every stop, Smokey Bear's Fire Prevention educational materials were distributed, primarily to children. Better scheduling next year will give more exposure to the Caravan and Smokey's fire prevention message. Steve Makowski from the U.S. Forest Service, Lincoln National Forest, said the caravan ran low on the educational materials, and plans for next year and 1994 are to order more. USFS also is changing its materials ordering policy to make it possible to order the educational products at any time during the year.

Educational materials, by policy, cannot be sold.

Discussion about the 1994 celebration included contacting New Mexico Magazine for a feature article and a possible advertisement in the New Mexico Vacation Guide. A Friends member will contact the Capitan Chamber of Commerce about helping pay for the ad. Makowski also suggested sized the need to promote the educational aspect of their organization in order to meet its non-profit status. Plans are for the Friends to purchase Smo-key educational materials to have on hand for any Smokey Bear event.

Smokey Bear items to be sold on consignment in more than one Ruidoso business, to extend the Smokey Bear celebration area wide.

The Smokey Bear Fun Run on July 4 had 95 participants, fewer than previous years. The Friends will continue to sponsor the event, but will schedule it on some day other than July 4, hoping to increase participation.

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce sponsored Smokey Bear Parade will continue next year, with the theme possibly more generalized. Only one float fit this year's theme of "Friends of Smokey."

Proposals are being drawn now to take to the New Mexico state legislature and to present to Congressional representative Joe Skeen asking for funds to improve Smokey Bear park for the celebration.

Windspreers need not travel to Grindstone Dam and Lake to participate in their favorite sport and irritate anglers. There is a pothole on Mechem on the north drive leading to Furr's and Sierra Mall that, if filled with water, would do nicely for windsurfing.

The big indentation in the earth could be on private property or on public property because it's very close to Mechem and probably is on the highway right-of-way. That would make it the responsibility of the highway department to fill. They better bring lots of fill material or else fence it off for windsurfacing, canoeing or other water sports.

Windsurfing on Grindstone Lake is a good idea, but why restrict it to windsurfing? How about a village-sponsored paddle board operation. Like the public swimming pool, it could be a revenue producer. Why isn't there windsurfing on the larger Inn of the Mountain Gods lake which feeds Carrizo Creek. And if windsurfing is allowable on lakes which supply villages and cities with drinking water, why hasn't Alamogordo set up a money making deal at Bonito Lake. We're missing out on a lot of water sports here. We would like to cance silently and leisurely on Bonito, it's such a beautiful body of water in the setting.

Nogal Lake could handle very small paddle boats with a short turn-around radius. Eagle Lake is the same, but it, too, like the lake at the Inn of . the Mountain Gods, is on the property of a sovereign nation, so public input would serve no

Carrizozo has a lake that would handle paddle boats which have a short turn-around radius. Let's face it, we've short on very large bodies of water this side of T. or C. or Brantley. But we have mountains. Hang gliding could be our specialty. Wide use of existing but limited bodies of water could expand the recreational attractions of the area. What we really need is a bullet train or monorail to Elephant Butte. But White Sands Missile Range is in the way of that plan.

Worse than potholes are sewer and utility cuts across village streets which are not reasphalted. As traffic flows on and on, the cuts get deeper and deeper. A driver can drive over or around a pothole but it's not practical to drive around a cut in the highway where there is no shoulder. Cuts are just as effective as speed bumps in slowing up traffic. Front-end alignment people love cutsand speed bumps. During freezing weather it's useless to fill potholes and cuts with asphalt. They deteriorate immediately. But we certainly haven't had any freezing weather of late and don't expect any for a time.

> * * * * * * On the positive side, isn't it wonderful to dr ve down Sudderth Drive without affecting front-end alignment. It remains as smooth as glass after the cold mill overlay project a couple of months ago, Now, if the sidewalk improvement project in midtown can just get underway. Would you believe that is one area of heaviest foot traffic on Sudderth, there is no sidewalk at all? Some people might say that is just a part of Ruidoso's charm and quaintness. Fooey. A fix is on the way. Landscaping, Baby buggies with balloon (tires are a necessity on some sections of current sidewalks or where they don't exist at all - big balloon tires.

Penalties For Illegal Dumping

SANTA FE—The New Mexico Environment Department today issued a warning about illegal dumping. More than 210 complaints about illegal dumping resulted in enforcement action by the state during the last year.

The Solid Waste Act sets out penalties for illegal dumping. Violators can face misdemeanor or felony charges, and can be subject to a civil penalty of up to $5,000 per day. In addition, dumping in a watercourse, such as an arroyo, is a violation of the Water Quality Control Commission regulations, and can carry an additional penalty of up to $1,000 a day.

"In addition to showing a lack of respect for the land, illegal dumping can pose threats to ground and surface water, as well as attracting rodents," said Environment Department Deputy Secretary Ron Curry, Curry, who is a balloon pilot, has seen firsthand illegal dumping from the air. "There are adequate facilities available for dumping trash, and it is tragic to see the amount of trash simply dumped onto New Mexico's open spaces."

Complaints about illegal dumping can be reported to the Solid Waste Bureau in Santa Fe at 827-0197 or to your nearest Environment Department field

SANTA FE-Democrat conventioneers decided New York City wasn't as dangerous as it had been made to sound.

None of the 34 delegates and 40 some alternates, guests, staff and press encountered problems during the week. Getting mugged within 10 blocks of Madison Square Garden would have been difficult since there were a hundred uniformed police every square block—and no telling how many plainclothes security people.

The cops were friendly, and probably enjoying the easiest deal of their careers. Their job consisted of checking credentials and herding pedestrians along appropriate streets. The convention hall wasn't the only place credentials were needed. Within a few blocks of Madison Square Garden they were often necessary for crossing the street.

Anytime a conventionrelated event occurred anywhere in town, the area was thick with police. They were also plentiful around hotels used by state delegations.

Since Madison Square Garden is on the edge of the Garment District, many New Mexicans returned with new frocks. The prices were great and the selection unbelievable, conventioneers, including my wife. reported.

Food prices were also good-for New York. Many restaurants advertised $19.92 specials. Their value was evidenced by the many New Yorkers who tried to take advantage of the specials. By the second day of the convention it was necessary to show credentials to order the special in most restaurants.

New Mexicans received an unexpected taste treat one afternoon when Rep. Bill Richardson entertained at the Second Avenue Deli in New York's Lower Eastside. Richardson says he wanted to give New Mexicans a taste of typical New York food so he asked a congressional colleague from Manhattan to suggest something authentic. So New Mexicans were treated to a kosher feast of chopped liver, matzo ball soup, pastrami, sour pickels, rugalach and halvah.

New Yorkers were proud of how clean their city was for the convention. Many New Mexicans had trouble imagining what it must have looked like before. Throughout town were large posters put up by the city saying, "Dese, DEMS, Dose— New York Loves Them All."

Most delegates were entranced with seeing familiar sights, many of them within walking distance of the Garden-Times Square, the Theater District, the Empiro State Building, Lindy's, Sardi's, Toots Shor's. Across from the Garden, the old Hotel Pennsylvania, where my wife and I stayed along with 15,000 other press, still had it's old phone number PA6-5000, popularized by the Glen Miller tune of the

And then there were the New York City cabs. Gov. Bruce

King observed the first morning of the convention that "New Mexico may never see a bullet train, but New York cabs give you the same feeling." The cabbies have a special language of horn honking. Some drive the streets with horn blaring full

That's kinda different for a country boy whose car horn went out four years ago and he's never gotten it fixed. I figure about 98 percent of what's done with a car horn is anti-social. They aren't used for safety purposes. That's for sure.

But for all their lane changing and tearing about town, no cab crashes or even fender benders were reported by New Mexicans in New York. Those drivers are pros.

Washington, D.C. was a different story. During the 10 days Jeanette and I spent there before going up to New York, we were involved in a cab accident and were witness to a bus driver arrested by police and taken away in handcuffs for running two red lights.

D.C. police don't fool around. We learned while in Washington that the truckload of paintings by New Mexico artists that accompanied the Taos Christmas tree last December almost didn't make it to the fancy reception that followed the lighting of the tree.

The driver was stopped at the district boundary and arrested for carrying a gun. He, too, was taken to jail in handcuffs. Seems it's illegal to carry a gun in D.C.

Fortunately the driver's wife managed to maneuver the truck through Washington's streets to the Russell Senate Office Building for the reception that evening put on by the New Mexico Society.

Farm Bureau Director of Information Erik Ness, and Associate Director of Information Christine Nordstorm, were presented the awards during ceremonies in Monterey, California. The department was recognized for, "producing the year's best" public service announcement for radio, print editorial, regularly scheduled radio program and photo essay. The department also received honorable mention for television public service announcement.

Nordstrom was recognized for her design work on a photo layout in New Mexico Farm and Ranch magazine titled "The tage of photos from the annual Dickerson Farm Equipment Auction in Las Cruces. Ness served as the photographer for the piece. Nordstrom is a graduate of New Mexico State University and has been with the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau since August 1991.

Ness was recognized for a public service announcement that focused on water and land conservation by farmers and ranchers. The spot was recorded, using state-of-the-art equipment, at Goldust Studios of Las Cruces. The studio was also involved in production of the audio for the television public service announcement.

The print editorial entitled, "With Friends Like That . . . was aimed at the "farmer bashing" that took place at the last nationally televised "Farm Aid" concert held in Texas.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR—Ross Perot is portrayed as a bumbling little billionaire on an ego trip. Not so. Review his accomplishments. He put down a voter's rebellion. He left a real grass-roots political movement in a shambles. To George Bush, the collapse must have looked like a reprieve.

Then there was that pesky Pat Buchanan. He tells people that there is a one world conspiracy promoted by the Council on Foreign Relations and its offspring, the Trilateral Commission. Bill Clinton is a CFR member. George Bush was until he got to feeling presidential. Then he quietly resigned, Neither Bush nor Clinton would relish seeing the CFR or the one world conspiracy become a full-blown campaign issue in Buchanan needed to be silenced. And, he was. No bumbling about it. Soon the media was reporting hardly anything that Buchanan said, although they reported almost everything that Perot did NOT say. Perot and a willing press protty much silenced Bushanan. The voice against one world government was successfully muted.

As for Porot, he is an entreprenour. Entroprenours trade. Perot is good at it. Perhaps we would do well to recall these words spoken by the late Franklin Delane Reservelt. "If it happene in politics, you can bet that it was planned that way."

> RAYMOND C. WILSON. San Juan Bautista, California.

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

So Ross Perot has thrown in the towel. He must have realized there are better things in life than trying to run other people's business. He was performing very well as a counterpoint to Tweedledee and Tweedledum and we may miss his contribution to the political atmosphere this year, but since he is out of the race, it may be time to start a "Draft Pat Paulson" movement. Let's hope something happens so we don't die of boredom before the campaign is over. I have yet to see anything exciting about George Bush, and Clinton has neither personality, charisma, Miss Lillian, Billy, nor Checkers to liven things up.

In fact, the latest informal poll by the Russell Dramshop Literary Discussion Society, conducted shortly after Perot's abdication, indicates support by registered voters to now be distributed as follows: 13% for Clinton; 12% for Bush; 6% Uncommitted; 14% Uninterested; and 55% Absentee. This poll was conducted with a scientific survey of 14 or more respondents and has a margin of error of 96%, more or less.

The society, which, in addition to others with less expertise, accepts applications for membership from veterans of AA who need a change of pace, sometimes results in some interesting discussions on a wide variety of subjects, most of which will benefit our existence if not subjected to analysis. In fact, just the other day, I and one of the regulars, Rudolph Rosyspoot, were deep in a discussion of our individual preferences in libations when he informed me his favorite drink was anything with Scotch in it. I told him flat out that I did not like Scotch because it tasted like the water you had washed your hands in after you changed

Well", Rosy replied, "I wish you had told me that a long time ago, because I sure could have saved a lot of money over the strange experiences lately. We bought a new coffee pot sometime ago, and once in a while, it hasn't worked like it is supposed to. This morning, when it got through perking, I poured some out into a cup and the water wasn't even colored. Of course, my next comment could most graciously have been interpreted as "it didn't do anything," and so I unplugged it to let it cool for a second try. Since this was the second time this had happened in the past few months, I again checked to see if the basket had coffee in it and was fitted in where it was supposed to be, and found nothing wrong. After about 15 minutes, I went back and poured some more into the cup, and, believe it or not, it was now coffee. This puzzled me. I had never heard of coffee making itself after the pot quit perking. I had always thought that when the water boiled and bubbled up the tube and ran back down through the backet, you had to get coffee, but then, there are a lot of other things about physics that I don't know, either. This got me to thinking. I had always been taught that the theory of cause and effect demanded that if you did something it would produce a predicatable result, as follows: Son: "But, Daddy." "Why should I stay out of your pipe tobacco?" Father: "Cause if you don't, you're not going to like the effect to the seat of your pants."

Logic demands that things occur in a certain order, because the conclusion is the result of the premiseo, or something. But, are there situations which can't be explained by cause and effect? Are there times when things occur in roverso order, or instances when your premises don't do what they are supposed

FORT STANTON: FACTS and FICTION

By BETTY JOINER

Bonito Club was the site of the Corriente CowBelles annual picnic last Saturday evening. The rain and hail storm didn't dampen the fun everyone had dancing to the Lone Star Express Band. The CowBelles invited everyone who had helped with the different projects throughout the year to join them for a meal and the dance. Barbara Wagner, state cowbelle president, and her husband Jim, from La Luz were honored guesta.

Odessa visitors to our areaover the weekend were Mike and Dannine Garvey and two children Michael and Athena. They came to Roswell and visited relatives and then Mike rode his bike to Lincoln where he called his mother, Evelyn Garvey, to come and pick him up, as he had broke a cleat off of his shoe. Four hours was a good time on a bicycle from Roswell. They stayed through Sunday and attend Nogal Camp Meeting.

The memorial services are always special at the camp meeting along with all other services. Glenda and Leslie Armstrong and family always have a very appropriate theme for the memorial. This years was "God's Workroom". Different tools, belonging to loved ones who had died this year, such as a pair of spurs, a shovel, gloves, an iron, a rope, and a tea kettle were a few items placed on a fence in memory of their work they had accomplished. Garth Hyde preached the sermon, stating different legacies that are passed on by each of us. Flowers planted by his mom many years ago still bloom in Capitan today, buildings where services are held each year were constructed and maintained by Walt Wilson, Gil Peters, Glenn Zumwalt, and many others. Three have gone on before us this year.

Many feel that special "glow" when they were greeted at the registration desk by Ruth Wilson or Anne Ferguson, and hear the beautiful music played by Jane Shafer and singing by Paul Biggs, or run into friends you haven't seen but once or twice a year. Thanks to one and all who have had a part in this activity for the past 53 years.

"BUILDERS".

Isn't it strange that princes and kings,

And clowns that caper in sawdust rings And common folks like you and me. Are builders of eternity?

To each is given a bag of A shapeless mass and a book of rules, And each must make, ere life is flown

A stumbling block or a stepping stone.

Harriet McGinnis sends her "hello" to all her friends from Big Spring, Texas. She is doing good and misses everyone. We sure miss you too.

Edie Lawrence returned to Iowa last week to make her home. She had spent several months here, working, and helping her mother, Louise Joiner.

The Lincoln County Pony Express Race will be on Aug. 1. Anyone wanting to mail a letter, it is now time. Letters are in Capitan, Lincoln, Carrizozo, White Oaks, and Fort Stanton at different places. Obtain an envelope, address it, and deposit $2 for the letter to be carried by horseback.

Here at Fort Stanton I have some "Western Americana" envelopes that you can purchase for 34 cents. We do not have much selection from western stamps so the envelope is the next best thing.

Ruth and Dorothy will be at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track on July 25, promoting the race. selling calendars and envelopes. The admission to the rodeo will be free this year with some entertainment by Krystal Roybal and Jake and Josh Jones.

Pat Campbell and grand-daughter Kathy, and J.T. Thomas spent last week in Oklahoma visiting Kathy's dad and other relatives. Kathy will be celebrating her 16th birthday this week.

Bessie Jones, Audrey Davis, Della Joiner and myself drove to Oklahoma City last Tuesday evening to see Christine Honeycutt, Bessie's daughter, who is very ill in the Oklahoma Memorial Hospital. Edward and Verna Honeycutt and daughter Brandy spent Wednesday with us there. We returned late Thursday.

Tommy and Gatha Rogers from Raton were in Capitan Wednesday visiting with Bonnie and Jim McEuen. They had also been north of the mountain to see her uncle, John Robinson.

Lu Parker, Alfa Pumphrey and crew at Camp Sierra Blanca are happy to have Carla Briggs from Carlsbad now helping. She will be the administrative secretary.

Inez Marrs drove to Belen Tuesday where her brother took her on to Albuquerque to catch a plane to Denver. Inez will be attending the American National Cattle Woman's meeting for four days. Inez is the State President elect for New Mexico, CowBelles for 1993.

A Thank You to Residents Of Lincoln County

In December, Lincoln County Medical Center, as well as all healthcare fácilities in the country, was required by law to begin asking all admitted patients if they had advance directives (living wills or durable powers of attorney for healthcare decisions).

We went out to the community to inform residents (and potential patients) about the importance of preparing these documents and keeping them on file at the hospital, a physician office or in a secure place.

Many of you responded by executing such documents and even bringing them to the hospital--where we placed them in a permanent medical record even if you have never been a patient at LCMC.

We applaud you for your forethought in stating your wishes concerning difficult healthcare decisions and in working with us to facilitate any necessary future hospital admissions. If you need to know more about advance directives, please contact Betty Testerman at Lincoln County Medical Center, 257-7381.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA 1992 National Leadership

Meeting

Capitan FHA/HERO Brings Home Gold

A Capitan High School FHA team and individual represented New Mexico well by bringing home the gold from the National Leadership Meeting of Future Homemakers of America (FHA/HERO) held July 5-9 in Chicago.

The Capitan junior Parliamentary teams of Nolan LaRue, Devon Darby, Randy Hutchison, Sherry Dockery, Renes Smith, Michelle McGarvey and Angie Hutchison and Meaghan Vinson in the Job Interview Division won three star gold medals. Debbie King was the Parliamentary Procedure team coach.

The students, along with their advisor Jan LaRue and parent Sharon Darby traveled to Chicago to participate in the meeting where more than 1,350 students competed in 11 major categories.

The Parliamentary team had to demonstrate a working knowledge of Parliamentary law by organizing and running a business meeting.

Because of the many Capitan students who qualified to attend the national meeting by winning at the state level, the chapter decided to drive rather than bear the expense of flying.

The school offered the use of its van and parent Sharron Darby also drove her van and attended the national meeting at her own expense. The trip was possible because of the strong parental support from all students involved, said advisor LaRue.

After two days in the car, the group spent the night in Joliet, Ill., with Mrs. LaRue's parents. The FHA group left early the next day for a tour of Chicago, including the Shedd Aquarium's newly completed oceanarium. The Aquarium overlooks Lake Michigan, so everyone had a magnificent view of yachts and sailboats during the informative show about sea animals.

The group lunched in the Cafe Chicago before riding the world's tastest elevator to the 126th floor of the Sears Tower. The tour also took them to observe the Gothic architecture of University of Chicago.

After the tour the group returned to Joliet for a July 4 family barbecue with some 30 members of Mrs. LaRue's family. They also viewed a fabulous fireworks display.

The National Meeting began in earnest the following day with Star Events orientations. Competitions were conducted over the following two days. While not competing, participants attended informative workshops on Saving the Environment, Teen Sex, Pregnancy Prevention, Building Self-Esteem, Career Decisions, Building Your Chapter, Entrepreneurship and more.

unpaid bills, with costs paid by of delinquents will be compiled both the village and LCSWA.

The village now has a com-. puter program which will identify delinquent accounts just on solid waste collection and a list for LCSWA.

Collections of solid waste in the county, outside the municipalities, may begin about Sept. 11. The date is 30 days following the Aug. 11 county commission meeting, where the county solid waste ordinance will be considered and possibly approved. LCSWA manager Gene Green said it will be a good time because the summer season will be over. Also the time will allow LCSWA to get dumpsters ordered and in place.

The purchase of the dumpsters and other equipment worried a county taxpayer. Len Stokes, who is former president of Southwest Disposal Inc. which collects county trash currently, said LCSWA should take a look at the budget, which he contended does not cover expenses for the county garbage collection. He recommended LCSWA collect trash in Capitan for two months, then see if the cost to do the service for that time is within the budgeted amount, then apply that to what the county collections might be. Otherwise, Stokes said, don't try to fix something that's not broken and being done by private enterprise.

LCSWA will need another collection person and truck to begin the county collections, which will make operation increases over what LCSWA receives from the Ruidoso billings.

Frank Warth, LCSWA chairman and mayor of Capitan, said the time until Sept. 11 can be used to break in the system. An operational financial breakdown will be provided members at the next meeting.

OPPORTUNITY.

Green invited Stokes to meet with him privately to review and discuss the LCSWA budget.

Members adopted a policy which will allow an area near the entrance of the Gavilan Canyon Road Transfer station (in Ruidoso) be designated for residents (not commercial haulers or contractors) to dispose of hot water heaters, old appliances and small loads of other bulky items, not household garbage. There will be no charge for the service, but customers must provide a current utility bill. The intent of the service is to curb the disposal of such items on vacant lots and back roads and streets.

Attorney Robert Beauvais will continue to provide legal services to LCSWA. Members approved his proposal for $15,000 for 250 hours of legal service a year.

Members also approved a motion to have Beauvais attend only by invitation.

The special environmental gross receipt tax collections were more than anticipated last year. LCSWA collected $146,000 for 12 months, rather than the $125,000 projected.

Recycling coordinator Kerry Krumseik reported the recycling center is now open for receiving materials Monday through Saturday. The number of persons bringing materials to the Ruidoso Downs center has risen steadily.

Monday, a load of processed aluminum left for Roswell and the first 35,000 pound load of cardboard and office paper was trucked to the El Paso market.

LCSWA's recycling program has expanded to the igloo program. In addition to the igloos (recyclable receptacles) set up at the recycling center, they are also in three other Ruidoso sites-Wal-Mart, midtown and Furr's on Mechem.

Additional sites will be added per week. The igloss will be placed at the former country store in Alto this week, next week some will be placed in Hondo, then in Capitan the following week. By the second week of August, igloos should be located in Carrizozo, and in Corone by the next week.

The bright blue igloos are labeled for what materials are to be placed in them. Aluminum, newspapers, plastic and glace containers only will be accepted. The containers must be rinsed and metal or plastic lids removed.

In other business, LCSWA

—heard a report on the City of Alamogordo'u readiness to do a joint powers agreement with ether Otoro County municipalities, Holloman Air Force Base and Otero County (if it wishes) to ercate an organization similar to LCSWA, which will work with LCSWA on obtaining a regional landfill.

-approved an omergency purchase of a used semi-truck tractor to havil the trailer with eschied med deni beingenes to Roswell Landall.

BLM Asks Comments

The Bureau of Land Management will hold a public meeting from 7-9 p.m. tonight (Thursday) at the fairgrounds hall in Capitan to gather input from the public concerning Desired Plant Communities.

The information gathered will be used to develop a Resource Management Plan that will direct the management of public lands within the Roswell Resource Area for the next 10-15 years.

A desired plant community is a description of the composition of grasses, shrubs, herbs and trees that are desired to ensure the protection and availability of vegetative resources. Existing range site data provides the foundation for the desired plant communities.

Desired plant communities will be used to define guidelines BLM will use to meet objectives for range and watershed management, site reclamation, wildlife, recreation and so on. Several of these different activities can occur concurrently and contribute to the desired plant community. The desired plant community objectives must be within the site's natural ability to produce.

For the past year, the Roswell Resource Areas has been developing desired plant communities based on range site/monitoring data. BLM will further refine the desired plant community concept based on input it receives at the public meetings which were held in Vaughn, Artesia, Elida and Roswell.

BLM welcomes comments and those wighing to be involved in the management of public lands are encouraged to attend the meeting. For more information, please contact Pat Kelley at 624-1790 or write to the Roswell Resource Area. P.O. Drawer 1857, Roswell, N.M. 88202-1857.
