

Negotiations At Crucial Juncture

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority assured it will have proper representation in the "historic" negotiations with Otero and Alamogordo.

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) members met in Ruidoso Downs Monday and agreed to allow "proxie" votes to represent absent members at the next joint LCSWA and Otero County Solid Waste Authority (OCSWA). The two entities are at a crucial juncture in their negotiations on an equally-owned regional landfill. Considered a historic "first" for the state, this will be the first time any two countywide groups will cooperate on creating a regional landfill. Such regional cooperation on a landfill has been the goal of the state's environment department since the new landfill regulations were passed in 1989. Those regulations closed most of the small local dumps and forced governments to haul their trash out of their areas. It also led to the creation of LCSWA, also the first such group of local governments to form in the state.

New Mexico Secretary of Environment Judith Espinosa is scheduled to be at the joint meeting of the LCSWA, OCSWA and the City of Alamogordo, at 6 p.m. today, Thursday, Nov. 19, at the Tularosa Community Center.

LCSWA members signed legal documents which will allow LCSWA members present at the Tularosa meeting to vote on their behalf.

LCSWA chairman Frank Warth preferred not to use the proxies, as he considered it better to have real members. However, the proxie votes will prevent an "embarrassing" situation of no quorum of LCSWA at the regional meeting members, as happened at the first regional meeting with OCSWA.

Proxie votes will be limited to the regional meetings strictly, and will not be allowed at the local LCSWA meetings.

"The proxie is to make sure we move ahead with Otero County," Warth said.

Warth was to carry the proxie votes to the OCSWA-LCSWA meetings, but hoped he would not have to use them. County member Andy Wynham recommended not just one person carry all the proxie votes, rather he wanted to limit the number of proxie votes for each person.

A quorum was no problem for the LCSWA board Monday, since all members but Ernest Lueras of Corona were present. Members also thought there will be no problem in getting six of them, a quorum, at the Tularosa meeting, since Espinosa plans to attend, and at least five proposed sites for a regional landfill will be reviewed.

"It will probably be the most important meeting with the joint boards," Warth said. "We need to be assured of good representation."

Warth said most of the meeting probably will be conducted in closed session to discuss acquisition of property and negotiations.

Members also heard an update on the Memorandum of Agreement between LCSWA, OCSWA and the City of Alamogordo to create a regional landfill. The memorandum has been signed by Warth and the chairman of OCSWA. The memorandum creates a mechanism for the joint Lincoln-Otero Solid Waste Authorities to act as

New Officers Installed For Carrizozo Chamber

Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce installed its officers at the regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 10, held at Carrizozo Airport.

President Mary Lou Webster, vice-president Glen Ellison, secretary Hal Marx, treasurer Patsy Serna and corresponding secretary Doris Cherry were brought into office by guest installing officer Sue Stearns.

Members endorsed the Choncho Morales Appreciation Banquet, to be held at 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 27, at Carrizozo Senior Citizens Center on Central Ave. The banquet will be preceded by a free reception from 3-5 p.m. also at the center. The seniors had already endorsed the banquet where all proceeds will go to the Morales family. Tickets for the banquet cost $5 and are available from the senior center, Roy's Gift Gallery and Ellison.

Morales served as police officer and chief of police of the Town of Carrizozo more than 30 years.

Ellison had proposed the Morales award and other awards such as a Pioneer, be given at a banquet sponsored by the chamber. The chamber will consider such a banquet and similar awards sometime in the spring.

Christmas is right around the corner and the Chamber will be setting out containers to take donations to maintain the present Christmas lights and a goal of purchasing a lighted decoration for the Santa Rita Plaza area. Containers will be placed in Carrizozo businesses.

Members approved a donation of $25 to purchase small gifts for the people at New Horizons in Carrizozo. Ellison and Mary Lou Webster and Evelyn Sidwell are planning to put on a Christmas show for the New Horizons clients on Dec. 19.

Airport manager Hal Marx asked members and the community to help Santa give away

School Attendance Policy Revised

By DORIS CHERRY

Chronic absenteeism by some Carrizozo students prompted the Carrizozo Board of Education to take a tougher stand on its attendance policy at its meeting Tuesday.

Members discussed and agreed on a policy which will allow only 10 absences a semester, with no differentiation between excused and unexcused absences. The board did not approve the policy, choosing to table it until they had a final finished copy for approval at the December meeting.

The new policy incorporated parts of attendance policies used by area districts, including Capitan and Ruidoso. Members fine-tuned the parts from those other policies into one which they thought will meet the needs of Carrizozo schools and students.

Under the new policy, parents or guardians must contact the principal's office by a phone call, if possible, when a student misses a day or period of instruction. A note, which includes the date written, full name of student, days absent and reason for absence, signed by the parent/guardian, must be presented to the principal's office the day the student returns to school.

The school will take the responsibility to notify parents/guardian by a letter signed by an administrator after the sixth and 11th missed days or periods of instruction. On the 11th missed day, the student will be placed on a no-credit status until the parent/guardian/student appears before the attendance committee within five school days. If no such request to appear before the committee is made, the parent/guardian/student will be referred to the Juvenile Probation office.

The appeal procedure will allow the parent/guardian/ of the student who has missed more than 10 days a semester, or the student who has missed more than 10 days a semester, if that student is older than 16 years, to request a meeting with the attendance committee to justify the absence and to reinstate the credits lost due to absences or to determine whether the school should initiate the penalties against parents/guardians under the Compulsory School Attendance Law. If the penalties are initiated the Juvenile Probation Office will be contacted.

Parents/guardians/ students should request to appear before the attendance committee after each absence thereafter until the end of the semester to avoid the no credit status.

School related absences such as field trips, athletic events, music events and so on will not be counted as missed days or periods of instruction. All other absences will be counted as missed days or periods of instruction. Students

DARE Program Helps Students "Say No"

A program which dares children to say no to drugs is going well.

The D.A.R.E. or Drug Abuse Resistance Education program has been well received in the Carrizozo, Capitan and Corona Schools. Under the program, Lincoln County Deputy Connie Hopper teaches a DARE curriculum to 5th and 6th graders. The program is funded by the Drug Free Schools federal grants through Region 9 Cooperative Center.

The curriculum provides lessons on risk taking and decision making; alternatives to drug use such as exercise, sports and so on; peer pressure; gangs; support systems; self esteem, since those who feel good about themselves usually do not do drugs or alcohol; managing stress; media influence on drug use and how to be assertive enough to "say no."

Drug and alcohol free high school students will visit the elementary classes to tell kids why they chose not to use alcohol or cigarettes.

The DARE students will complete a commitment to take a stand on drug use and present it to their classes at the conclusion of the 17-week program. Students also will be involved in a moving ceremony at the conclusion of the program.

While the grant pays for Hopper's salary, there are no extra funds to purchase educational materials or DARE items which are awarded for poster contests and other incentives. Hopper has been raising funds by speaking to organizations and from contributions from individuals and businesses.

Pueblo Video in Carrizozo will be the site of a DARE bake sale all day Wednesday, Nov. 25. All proceeds from the sale will go to the DARE program.

Police Needs Citizen Help

The Carrizozo Police Department is asking for assistance from local citizens in finding out who is responsible for shooting out street lights around town.

The lights are expensive to replace and create a hazard at night if they are not working.

Police Department head Charlie White is asking anyone who sees a person with a BB gun or pellet rifle damaging street lights to please call 648-2351 or 648-2341.

"Your help in making Carrizozo a safer place to live and work is appreciated," White said.

equal partners in the landfill, with the City of Alamogordo as lead agency.

"Alamogordo is moving right along," Warth said. Eleven design proposals for the landfill have been received and were to be rated by Alamogordo's chief engineer.

County solid waste collections are on track and dumpsters will be placed in various locations this week. Pick up of "white goods" and other bulky items, and clean up around the dumpsters will be done by LCSWA employees. Request for bids to do the jobs had been advertised, but the bids returned included very high prices per hour for the services. Members voted to accept LCSWA manager Gene Green's recommendations to reject all bids and do the service with LCSWA employees.

The joint powers agreement with the county of Lincoln was approved. County commissioners approved the agreement at their Nov. 6 meeting. The agreement provides for a county solid waste collection and collection of monthly assessment fees. Households in the unincorporated areas of the county, outside of municipalities, will be charged $5.25 a month for trash services. The billings, sent on a quarterly basis, will be mailed Dec. 15.

Members approved the lease purchase of the county dumpsters, which are being stored in Capitan, Carrizozo, Alto's REA building, Hondo junction and Super Select Barn in Glencoe. Carrizozo mayor Cecilia Kuhnel requested the dumpsters be moved soon because the town plans to start up its kennels. The dumpsters are stored at the kennel site. Green said the dumpsters will be moved out within the week.

Former county member Stirling Spencer asked that LOSWA work with local newspapers to show locations of the dumpsters, once they are placed throughout the county.

Once the dumpsters are on site, all county households will receive a mailing providing dumpster locations and other information about the county service and billings. Green said he wanted residents to call his office in Ruidoso Downs if there are problems.

Some dumpsters will be located within state highway rights of way, as provided in a six-month interim agreement between the New Mexico State Highway Dept. and LCSWA. Green gave former LCSWA chairman Victor Alonso (mayor of Ruidoso) credit for helping secure the interim agreement. At first the highway department balked at the idea of allowing the dumpsters in the rights of way, claiming it would involve complicated legal agreements. Alonso made several personal calls to the highway district engineer in Roswell to convince him to talk with state highway supervisor Lou Medrano to give LCSWA six months. A few days later came the interim agreement with the highway department.

The idea behind the adopt a dumpster program was to improve the appearance of the containers. Member Ron Andrews demanded the board take immediate action to improve exterior appearance of the dumpsters. His motion was approved by all members.

Dale reported on the positive publicity received in the local media. He introduced Lee Prinz, an independent news video person, who was filming the meeting for a video article to be aired that night on KBIM 10 Roswell.

The next LCSWA meeting will be Dec. 21. Members agreed with Warth to conduct the meeting at K-Bob's Restaurant in Ruidoso, then have a lunch as a Christmas party. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. at K-Bob's.

COUNTY RESIDENTS WILL SOON be using these dumpsters to dispose of trash. The dumpsters will belong to and be collected by the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, whose office phone number is printed on the side. County residents will be charged $5.25 a month for the trash service, and bills will be mailed on a quarterly basis. Dumpsters are to be placed in various county locations this week and next.

Environment Secretary To Recognize Work

SANTA FE—New Mexico Environment Secretary Judith Espinosa will attend a joint meeting of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority and the Otero County Solid Waste Authority this week. The meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m., Thursday, November 19, at the Tularosa Community Center.

"I am pleased to recognize this historic occasion and the precedent-setting work the Authorities have done by cooperating on solid waste issues," said Espinosa. "Proper siting of landfills to protect our precious ground water and other natural resources is imperative. Regional efforts such as these are important in making proper solid waste planning economically feasible."

Secretary Espinosa will recognize several key players in formation of the solid waste groups, including Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso, Capitan Mayor Frank Warth, Alamogordo Mayor Dan King, Alamogordo Mayor Pro Tem Don Carroll, Lincoln County Attorney Bob Beauvais, and Cloudford Mayor Mike Nivison.

RC&D Meeting November 24 In Alamogordo

The South Central Mountain Resource Conservation and Development Council will meet in Alamogordo Tuesday, Nov. 24 in the Alamogordo City Commission Chambers, 511 E. Tenth St. (located on the west end of City Hall).

Coffee will be served at 9:30 a.m. followed by the general business session at 10 a.m. Reports on various project measures will be given and new proposals accepted.

Isn't It Nifty, Look Who's D'How 50

Green proposed revising the budget in January, once LCSWA knows how much of the special environmental gross receipts funds will be needed to negotiate with OCSWA on the regional landfill.

Members also approved the purchase of a new copier for the office. All logs and other paperwork is done on the copier.

LCSWA members tabled indefinitely the Adopt-a-Dumpster program proposed by Ruidoso artist Barbara Westbrook.

County member Bill Elliott objected to the program from the start and continued to do so. Visitor and former member Al Junge credited Mrs. Westbrook for all she has done for the village, but pointed out problems concerning ownership of dumpsters which are painted with a pleasant landscape. "In the long haul you give up proprietorship, and you'll set a precedent if you let them (dumpsters) be handled by someone else. My dumpster does not belong to me, it belongs to you (LCSWA)," Junge said.

Members appeared to agree on the ownership issue, which would become a problem if dumpsters were allowed to be "adopted" and painted.

Member Dave Dale cast the lone no vote to tabling the dumpster program. He said art on dumpsters has been a tremendous success in Roswell. He asked if a similar dumpster art project could be brought up in the future, after the more pressing issues are resolved. He learned that the "Adopt-a-Dumpster" cannot be brought back for consideration, but a similar project could be. Dale said such a project could be "a valuable adjunct to get the community involved."

School Attendance

will be expected to make-up work for all missed days as well as school related absences. It is the responsibility of the student and/or parents/guardians to initiate efforts to secure make-up work, and to insure the make-up is turned in on a timely basis as determined by the teacher.

Currently parents are required to send a note the day a student returns, but that is not being followed. Attendance clerk Linda Brown said some parents are not aware they have to send a note. As a result she is having problems with students who want to see their attendance records in order to have parents send letters after the fact.

Also under the current attendance policy, it does not matter how many absences students have as long as a parent sends a note saying they know their child is gone.

"Once the kids know they will have only 10 days to be absent, some of the problems will stop," said teacher Terri Flores who serves on the attendance committee.

The board was in discussion about the policy more than two hours, considering many options for the policy. From the start all members, Gary Hightower, Eugenia Vega, Jan Barham, Nick Serna and Mary Funk agreed to the 10 days absences, then came to a consensus on the rest of the policy.

The final draft of the board's new attendance policy and the version to be included in the student handbook will be considered for approval at the December 15 board meeting. Once adopted, the new attendance policy will become effective Spring Semester 1993. Also, a copy of the policy will be given to students. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Board members also amended the composition of the attendance policy to include two teachers, the principal, counselor and a student member. The attendance clerk was removed from the committee but will be asked to attend any meetings of the committee to provide information concerning attendance.

The New Mexico State Dept. of Education will evaluate Carrizozo School sometime early 1993. Committees were established to prepare the school for the evaluation team's visit. Tuesday, board chairman Hightower asked where those committees stand.

Barham referred to the September 17 board meeting minutes which stated Supt. Jimmie Banks requested each board member serve on one or more committee, not the superintendent. However, the superintendent continues to serve on the committees. Hightower requested Banks report on the progress of the committee at the December board meeting.

Teacher Mariann Patterson, who serves on the high school curriculum committee, said her group has talked to the 7-12 grade teachers. Three teachers have finished curriculums on file in the office, some are working on theirs. The curriculums will be one of the major things reviewed by the evaluation team.

Hightower said there is pressure for schools to have committees made up of staff, board members and the public to make sure the board does not control everything without asking for input. "Our policy says we will have those committees," he said.

Patterson defended the committees which she found to be a more effective "avenue" to communicate with the board and to provide a different perspective. "I think they're kind of nice," she said.

Barham recommended the members of the committees get together and define the purpose of their committees. But Flores said it would not be out of line if the school board defined the goals of the committees.

Hightower concluded the discussion by encouraging members to continue to work on the committees.

Feb. 2, 1993 was set as the day for the election of three board of education positions. Position 3, held now by Eugenia Vega and Position 4, held by Nick Serna will be open. Those are four-year terms. Position 5, held by appointed member Mary Funk, will be open for a two-year term.

Any registered voter who resides within the Carrizozo School district is eligible to run for those positions. Interested persons must file between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 15, only, at the Lincoln County Clerk's office in Carrizozo.

Also included on the Feb. 2, 1993 election ballot will be a question asking voters to continue the two-mill levy for SB-9. The current two-mill levy will expire at the end of this year. The ballot will ask for continuance of the levy for 1993-95 and if approved, will NOT increase property taxes.

The two mills collected from properties within the Carrizozo District is matched by the state of New Mexico. The funds are used for capital improvements for the school, including erection or remodeling of buildings, additions, equipment, furnishings, improvements of school grounds or purchase of activity vehicles. The funds may not be used for salaries or operating expenses.

Hightower requested Banks have a needs assessment list available for the board at the December meeting.

The declining number of Class A schools participating in 11-man football is prompting the New Mexico Activities Association to review its definition of classifications. Because of the increase in enrollment of many Class A schools, there will only be three to four Class A schools in the state playing 11-man football within two years. There must be at least 10 such schools to create a district for state championship.

Carrizozo would become one of those four with an 11-man football program to remain in the Class A.

Many of the Class A schools facing a change to Class AA are concerned because they will have to play schools with much larger enrollment. Loving proposed a redistricting plan to allow the school at the bottom of the Class AA enrollment to continue to compete with the Class A schools. Banks and principal Joe Price were to travel to Estancia Wednesday to a meeting to discuss the redistricting.

"It will be a long fought-out procedure," Price said.

Any redistricting proposal must be drafted by the New Mexico Activities Association executive committee and approved by voting members from all the state's high schools. Since each high school has one vote, that can give big districts with numerous high schools an advantage over the small districts which have just one vote.

In other business, the board commended teacher Kay Patterson for obtaining a $499 grant from the Dept. of Public Health/Health Promotion Bureau to conduct a program to involve and enlighten employees on healthful ways of living.

Heard the November attendance report which indicated more students absent this year than last. It was attributed to more going hunting.

Presented the JTPA Outstanding Supervisor Award plaques to Charlotte Emmons and Pat Jiron for their help with the summer youth employment program.

Heard Price report counselor Earlene Price will take some 16 students to Life Guard Program in Las Cruces.

The program provides a peer type counseling training so involved students can return to their school to work with their fellow students.

Heard that students have been notified there will be no activities during "dead week" or semester finals.

Approved a resolution which asks Congress to put more money into education as a priority.

DARE Helps Students

Hopper said the DARE program is worthwhile enough to request the grant to continue it next year. She said it takes three to four years to really impact the kids enough to see a difference in the number of police calls. In Roswell, which has had the DARE program several years, police have seen a difference in the number of juvenile calls.

Hopper also will talk to civic groups concerning the DARE program and parenting. "I love to give it, it's very emotional," she said.

Donations to the DARE program have come from Ruidoso Office Supply, Nogal Fire Dept., Richard White, Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse, Carrizozo Woman's Club, Trinity United Methodist Church, Fraternal Order of Police, Bonita Fire Dept., Junior and Vi Propser, Canyon CowBelles, Beaver Pond Post 35 American Legion Corona and others.

Overall Hopper has found the DARE program to be excellent.

"It makes you feel good when you know the kids are listening," Hopper said.

Al's Musings

By AL STUBBS

We who live in a relatively high altitude area forget that altitude has a definite effect on visitors. This was evident when the Ruidoso Noon Lions Club presented a Barbershop Quartet extravaganza Saturday night at the First Christian Church.

One of the barbershoppers was huffing and puffing a bit after finishing a number. He mentioned the altitude as the contributing factor.

The Barbershoppers from Roswell, El Paso and Alamogordo staged an "Afterglow" performance at Cree Meadows Country Club following the main superb performance. Choruses from El Paso and Alamogordo added to the festivity.

The congregation of Community United Methodist Church received a bonus, Sunday morning. Two singers from the night before, Michael and Kaye Moncibalz, of El Paso, provided special music. They are the daughter and son-in-law of Alice Nelson of Ruidoso, a member of that congregation. A handbell choir added to the special music of the day at the church. We like bonuses.

The Community United Methodist Church choir will join other choirs and music groups for The Season Spectacular, Ruidoso's "Christmas Musical Event," Saturday and Sunday evenings at the Civic Events Center. Time is 7:30. The program will include choirs, drama skits and dance. Another bonus for music lovers.

Speaking of altitude and breathing, older people are especially affected by altitude whether they be Barbershoppers or not. Or maybe it's just advancing years which cause problems whether it be in the mountains or on the plains. We've noticed recently some subtle changes in behavior as a result of accumulated years. Don't scoff, you young whippersnappers of 45 and 50, you'll get there some day.

People of all ages should exercise. And it's said walking is one of the best exercises — brisk walking, not leisurely strolling.

In these mountains older folks people walk a lot. The Forest Service has been kind enough to provide "padded" walking trails off Cedar Creek Road. One trail is a mile and a third around. The other is a quarter mile.

Walkers and joggers have a choice. If they go left at the gate on the longer trail, they gain altitude rather fast, then its down and up and down and up to the halfway point. The bonus is that at the halfway mark (at the gnarled old pine tree) the walker or jogger faces no more uphill pulls. It's gravy back to the starting point. No huffing or puffing. Or, when starting out, the walker or jogger can take the right path for a gradual climb to the gnarled old tree and then up and down for the rest of the way.

The shorter trail is easier, really. Six times around that and you've got in a good solid mile and a half walk.

Soon those trails will have snow on them, and other alternatives will have to be found, like around gymnasiums, inside the Sierra Mall, etc. Maybe the village will scrape snow off the walking trail around the Links Golf Course.

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—As Democrats were celebrating an election night, I saw an old friend sitting in a corner of a hospitality room at the Albuquerque Ramada Classic.

"Hey, Why so depressed?" I asked. "Maybe you ought to be down the street at the Marriott with the Republicans."

"Oh, I voted for the winning presidential candidate," came the reply. "It's just that he's the wrong age."

"What's wrong with baby boomers? We knew they were going to take over the world sooner or later?"

"That's the problem," he said. "They're taking over too soon. We skipped an entire generation by going directly from World War II veterans to a baby-boomer president."

"Hmm, that's our generation that got left out, isn't it? The children of the Depression and World War II."

"Right," my friend said glumly, "and I predicted it 25 years ago. I remember the occasion as clearly as if it happened yesterday. I remember where I was sitting and who was there. We had just come in from a protest demonstration and I told my fellow marchers that we'd be punished for our actions even though we were doing the right thing. No one from our generation will ever be elected president, I told them. We'll be forever branded because of our activism."

"But we all weren't activists," I reminded him. "I went to college in the '50s when our only social concern was when the next panty raid would be."

"But your age group got left out just the same," he said. "It wasn't just activism. We're the smallest of any generation in a long time. Our parents were too poor during the Depression to have big families, most of our fathers were gone during World War II, and a lot of our generation were killed in Vietnam."

"Oh, there'll still be time for our generation," I reassured him. "Bill Clinton won't be president forever."

"Sure, but then it'll be Al Gore and other his age. And it isn't any better on the Republican side. Dan Quayle's a baby boomer, you know. Candidates from our generation will run, but they'll get beat just like they have in past elections."

My friend may be right. The also-rans from our generation include Michael Dukakis, Tom Harkin, Bob Kerry, and Dick Gephardt. By not taking a shot yet, Sam Nunn, Bill Bradley, John Robb and Jay Rockefeller may have blown their chance.

Being a baby boomer wasn't the only thing that won the presidency for Bill Clinton. He also had a New Mexico good luck charm with him at all times during the last month of the campaign.

When Hillary Clinton was in Santa Fe in early October, she disappeared during a photo tour of the Plaza. As she was admiring Indian jewelry under the portal of the Palace of the Governors, she suddenly vanished.

Alice King had heard her fellow first lady complain that she needed to do some shopping for an anniversary present. She wanted to buy her husband a good luck charm but her handlers wouldn't give her the time.

As they passed by the entrance to the Palace of the Governors, which is now a state museum, King quickly grabbed Clinton's hand and whisked her in the door and through a back entrance to the museum gift shop where Hillary picked out a small Zuni mountain lion fetish. She presented it to her husband just before the first presidential debate.

The rest is history.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR—A very successful Breast Cancer Screening Program was completed during the month of October, sponsored by Altrusa and Lincoln County Medical Center. We wish to thank and compliment all of the organizations, individuals and patients who participated in this worthwhile community project. Three hundred three (303) patients underwent mammographic examination, and an additional twenty-two (22) have appointments in December to complete the program.

We wish to commend particularly the members of Altrusa who provided administrative support, Amanda Preciado, RT, who performed the radiological examinations, the press, radio and TV media who publicized the program, the community physicians and their staffs who referred the patients, and most importantly, the women who availed themselves for the screening.

The interests and efforts of all of the individuals involved were instrumental in making this community and county supported project successful.

DONALD A. WOLFEL, M.D.
Director of Radiology.

VALERIE MILLER,
Administrator.
Ruidoso.

EDITOR—I would like to congratulate the American People for rejecting the divisive and mean-spirited politics that have so characterized the Bush Administration.

Every time I heard the Republicans put down Arkansas as a poor and backward state I realized they could just as easily have been talking about New Mexico had our governor been running for the Presidency. It has always been my understanding that our presidents are elected to be the leader of all fifty states, not just the rich and powerful ones.

For the first time in many years both the Presidency and Congress are in the hands of the Democrats. The responsibility of dealing with the awesome problems facing our country and the world is now on their shoulders and if they fail to resolve them, they too will be voted out of office.

Thanks are in order to Ross Perot for putting the fear of God into both our establishment parties. They needed that.

Some words of advice to my Republican friends. Put the right wing lunatic fringe of your party back into the basement they crawled out of. Pat Buchanan, Pat Robertson, David Duke and others of their ilk do not represent what is good in the American People and they will only bring you grief.

In electing the Clinton-Gore team the American People have selected four young, vigorous and intelligent people to lead our nation. Let us hope they live up to their promise.

A final thought. With the coming of the Clintons a cat will once again grace the White House with its presence. I consider this a good omen for our country.

DONALD QUEEN,
Carrizozo.

A True Value

Recent statistics from the Department of Labor show that telephone service is one of the best values.

In the past five years, food and beverage costs have gone up over 23 percent, housing costs up over 21 percent, and medical care skyrocketed over 45 percent. During this same period, the cost of telephone service increased by little more than 3 percent nationwide.

At GTE, we're doing our best to make your telephone service an EXCELLENT VALUE.

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

It is sometimes almost dangerous what you can dredge up from the depths of your memory in idle moments. The other day I commented on something as being the product of a fertile imagination. That phrase has been in my vocabulary for a long time, but I really had never paid attention to it before, so I decided it might stand a little analysis.

What does it mean? The easy answer is intellectual productivity, but what is produced? Why is it fertile? Now, we're getting somewhere. It is my inalienable belief that it is the parent of organic oratory, which is a beneficial aspect of human affairs because it makes you feel good if you tend to overlook the particulars and only enjoy the spirit of the experience, and it is fully recyclable. Quality production invariably leads to massive proliferation, especially if it is funny. It is also subject to one of Parkinson's unwritten laws that states upon commencement of operation the subject tends to expand to the point of overwhelming any situation, which proves the maxim that you should not encourage its practitioners because they don't need it. The only way to control it is to compete with it.

Erudite: adj., having or showing a wide knowledge gained from reading something other than my column. The ability to participate freely in the activities described in the foregoing paragraph without fear of contradiction from some slob who has read the same book you have. Which reminds me of the library where I used to study that contained only one book, but they promised me that as soon as all of the pictures had been colored, they would get another one with words in it. That hadn't happened yet when I left the area so I don't know the present status of the institution but I expect the librarian ought to be able to stay within the lines by now.

I'm certainly glad my sole and separate period arrived about the same time Betty Crocker learned how to cook. Since I have had to fix some of my own meals lately, it is a joy to purchase a prepared food of some kind that actually tastes pretty good. Prepared foods, with the exception of Spam which tastes like nothing else so you either like it or you don't, used to make you thank your lucky stars that Mom decided to be a parent rather than a steamfitter and had learned to cook from her mother who was a culinary genius with beans and potatoes. (See there, Dan. It does have an "e" in it if you have more than one of them.) Incidentally, anything with "Mom's" written on it was usually an insult to motherhood in general and explained why Pop left home.

Do you remember when the only wolf we worried about was the one after our sheep? I don't remember any campaign promises in recent years concerning a soupbone in every pot and a wolf at every door, but whoever did it delivered. Things have been a little rough lately on my end of the trickle-down theory. We have heard a lot about trickle-down economics lately, but what is it? It is essentially a term describing one method of governmental intervention in the economic life of a society which deals with where to prime the pump. The Republicans have generally favored filling the tank farm and allowing a little juice to trickle down through the system, hence the name of the theory. Democrats are more inclined to put a gallon in every vehicle and hope it will permeate upward to the top. Both approaches make about the same amount of sense. One loses all but a trickle on the way down and the other has the law of gravity against it. The only unifying characteristic seems to be that proponents of both ideas have read my lead paragraph.

AI's Musings

The older you get, the more you tend to avoid exertion, unfortunately. We've noticed that if you park your car on a slant, driver's side higher than the passenger side, it's so much more difficult to get the bod out of the car. So we tend to search in these hills for level ground.

Then there's the tendency if you drop something on the floor that needs picking up, you wait until there are two items that need picking up. Conserving energy is important. And it's harder to breathe when the waistline is expanded and you have to lean over. We do tend to rationalize.

There are many other indications of the passage of time and its effect on the psyche. Climbing mountains is out. Driving 600 miles a day suddenly is onerous. The couch is more comfortable for watching TV than a chair zzzzzz. Evening events and meetings had better be good or you won't be there.

The construction crew has installed one set of culverts and are now working on the creek crossing where the traffic will detour for the construction of the bridge.

N.E. Britton celebrated his 80th birthday last Wednesday at the Smokey Bear Restaurant. Maxine Wright and Shirlene Fitzner served cake and coffee to several of Nigger's friends. Alton and Pauline McGarry, Fletcher and Emogene Hall, Della and Dave Bonnell, Julius and Shirlene Fitzner, Howard and Maxine Wright and others joined in and wished him many more. On Sunday he celebrated again with Robert and Sandra Runnells at the B & L Pizza. Sorry I missed both, but still wish you "Happy late Birthday!"

All the employees and clients from the Fort send their condolences to Mack and Hazel Bradford. Georgia Maples, Hazel's mom passed away last week and was buried Saturday morning at the FourSquare Church with Rev. Harold Perry officiating. Burial was in the Capitan Cemetery. Gertrude Huey, Pearl Sphon, Glenda and Harold Perry, and Bessie Jones served dinner to family and friends at the Senior Citizens building.

The "Hand Maidens" were very pleased with their sales of all their goodies last weekend. They want to thank everyone who bought and to the ones who didn't make it. They will have the sale again in the basement of the Methodist Church in Capitan on Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

Dave and Della Bonnell hosted the First Christian Church luncheon for Hondo, Ruidoso Downs and Fort Stanton area members last Sunday at Mendoza's Restaurant. Twenty-five members were present for the meal and fellowship. Della is very busy these days. She was appointed vice president of the state chapter League of Postmasters by the League's president, Ramon Brongil. We will all benefit by Della representing us from this area. Postmasters send your training ideas to Della and she will pass them on to the president.

Ronald Joiner is counting the days til he will be home to visit with our family and attend his engagement party, planned for Nov. 28. Pat and I are waiting anxiously, too.

A poem given to me by a friend:

JUST FOR TODAY
 I will not worry
 I will not be angry
 I will give thanks for many blessings
 I will do my work honestly
 I will be kind to every living thing
AND JUST "MAYBE" IT WILL BECOME A HABIT.

Lady Tigers Win 3rd Place Trophy

By DORIS CHERRY

They had their dreams spiked right off the court.

The Capitan Lady Tigers cruised through the first round of the state Class A volleyball tournament Thursday, Nov. 12, by defeating Cimmaron in three straight games: 15-2, 15-13, 15-2.

But when they came into the semi-final match against region B runnerup Texico Friday afternoon at Roswell High School the girls just were not ready. They lost in three straight games: 10-15, 6-15, 13-15.

That only defeat of their entire season cost them the state title, and put them into the match for the consolation, or third-place trophy, with the other semi-final loser Dora. It took them four games to win that match and the third place trophy: 15-10, 7-15, 15-7, 15-7.

"We were desperately disappointed," said Lady Tigers volleyball coach Pam Allen. "They played one poor ballgame this season (the one with Texico)."

"While heartbroken about their loss to Texico, the girls had enough class and character to pull it together to win the third place trophy," Allen said.

The disappointing loss was a big lesson in life for the girls. "They learned that even when they had their dreams shattered, they could still get up and face the day. I am very, very proud of our kids."

Fans and parents from the other communities highly complimented the Capitan girls for their performance in the consolation match, stating they thought the Lady Tigers were still the best team.

Volleyball company Tachikara gave six Class A State All-Tournament awards and one most valuable player award, selected by the Class A coaches. Lady Tigers Tycie Traylor and Stacy Gowen were selected to the All-Tournament team.

"This is a huge tribute to them as athletes and their performance throughout the tournament," Allen said. Stacy was the only setter from the Class A teams to be selected. "That really made a statement about Stacy," Allen said, since setters are not usually noticed as often as the hitters and servers.

Tycie is an outside hitter and midblocker throughout the season and during the tournament.

"All in all we finished the season on a good note," Allen said.

Coach Allen said some of the girls even joked about how they could hold the trophy a certain way to make the inscribed panel appear blue, rather than the green for third place.

"We were pleased Roy won the tournament," Allen said.

This was the final volleyball match for seniors Tammy Payne, Kelly Cox and Pam Pacheco. "We had a great season and ended 21-1," Allen said.

In the match with Cimmaron, ron, Tycie Traylor served 18 balls which ended in points. Tammy Payne 10 service points, Stacy Gowen and Kelly Cox five each and Jessica Cline four.

In the semi-final with Texico, Payne had 10 service points, Cox and Anita Aldaz five each, Traylor two.

For the third place trophy, Aldaz served 16, Traylor 11, Gowen 10, Cox five.

Basketball practice has begun and the first boys and girls games are set for Thursday-Saturday, Dec. 3-5 at the Roadrunner Tournament. The tournament will be hosted by Dexter and Hagerman. Junior varsity boys and girls teams play Cloudfcroft JV teams Dec. 8, there.

The girls basketball team will have its first home game against Magdalena on Friday, Dec. 11.

Norman Cline will be the varsity girls basketball coach, Ron Becker will be boys varsity basketball coach.

The first home boys basketball game will be against Corona, Saturday, Dec. 12.

Santa will give the toys away at a party from 2-6 p.m. at the Airport Terminal on Sunday, Dec. 20. Sue Stearns was to ask the Woman's Club members to help with the Santa party.

Marx also asked members to help with refreshments and any other donations possible.

At the time of the meeting nine businesses and three individuals had paid dues. Past members wishing to renew should do so. Business dues are $40 a year and individuals are $10 a year.

Members considered a request for them to host the 1993 state chamber of commerce conference. Since the requirements for the conference exceeded the space capacities of motel facilities in Carrizozo, members agreed to send a thank you letter for considering the town, but declined to accept the invitation. The letter will ask that Carrizozo be considered for the conference sometime in the future.

Small gifts were given to outgoing officers by outgoing President Ruth Hammond and Webster presented Hammond a plant.

Member Dorothy Forsythe encouraged and reminded all to shop in Carrizozo first this holiday season.

Sheriff's report

Firefighters from Capitan Volunteer Fire Dept., the US Forest Service and New Mexico State Forestry battled a 72 acre grass and brush fire Monday afternoon near Capitan.

About 12:20 p.m. a call came into the Capitan Village Hall to ask if anyone was conducting a controlled burn on the Brewer Ranch south of the village. Once it was determined there was no controlled burn, firefighters were dispatched.

The fire reportedly began at a farm tractor, whose operator was pushing out brush.

Winds were relatively calm, but the fire burned up the south slope of C Mountain before it was contained.

Firefighters stayed with the fire until after 7 p.m. to mop up.

Hunting season ended Sunday night. The usual numerous trespassing reports kept the understaffed Game and Fish Dept. on the run throughout the weekend.

The following information was taken from dispatch records at the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office in Carrizozo:

8:48 p.m.—Two rifle shots were reported fired about one-fourth mile from Alto Store, possible poachers. The responding deputy advised he made no contact with any vehicle, but would patrol the area for a while. By 9:23 p.m. the deputy stopped patrol after no contact.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS CLIPBOARD

A capable school counselor from Carrizozo Municipal Schools has joined a team of parents, business and community groups who include parents, staff, and board members will be highlighted.

PEER HELPER TRAINING—On Nov. 19 and 20, 14 CHS students and sponsors will take part in the Boundless Journeys Program at Mesilla Valley Hospital in Las Cruces as part of the Life Guard Training. Life Guards are special people who can become an important link in the suicide prevention process, and the prevention of many other serious problems. A Life Guard can help a friend in crisis, or just be available to talk. An adult can then take over in helping to render assistance to the adolescent in need.

The Boundless Journeys Program, the training portion of the program concentrates on the fundamentals of managements; problem-solving, decision-making, communication, teamwork, leadership, trust and development of interpersonal skills. The training is two-fold. The students will take part in an outdoor "adventure-based" experience. This activity will allow the participants to confront emotional, physical and cognitive challenges in a controlled, designed-for-success environment. The students will participate in classroom instruction which includes active listening skills, recognizing different personality traits, understanding teen sexuality and recognizing the signs and symptoms of suicide.

Students participating in the program are Rachel Archuleta, Lori Gibson, Jacob Portillo, Danielle Giordano, Linda Filley, Renee Roper, Jessica Estrella, Jennifer Narvaez, Sarah Funk, Jeff Maynard, Debbie Bond, Lynette Hernandez, D.J. Vermilion, Natalie Chavez and Amanda Vega. The group is sponsored by Region IX and Earlene Price, Carrizozo school counselor.

VETERANS HONORED—In the US, people remember veterans with celebrations, parades, speeches, and special services. Locally, two age groups paid tribute to all the veterans who have served in the United States. Second graders made and mailed cards to veterans at the Veterans Administration at Albuquerque. On Nov. 11, Supt. Jimmie Banks, a member of the Carrizozo Lions Club joined fellow member Duane Vincon and John Booker in remembering the men and women who have served in the US Armed Forces. The three placed flags in front of businesses and residences whose owners participate in the club's flag program.

For their Veterans Day project the second graders and teacher Jackie Alustuey discussed the history of the day that honors veterans. The students learned that the day was once known as 'Armistice Day' in honor of the truce of peace that was made when World War I ended on Nov. 11, 1918. (The 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month.) Nov. 11 was made a federal holiday in 1938. Then shortly afterward, World War II broke out. In 1954 Congress changed the name of Armistice Day to Veterans Day. The second graders thanked the veterans for their service and included illustrations of the US flag or soldiers.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL—Band directors Richard Brown and Dick Valenzuela attended the recent 15th Annual Zia Marching Festival in Albuquerque. Valenzuela's Capitan students placed first in the class 1A competition. The all-day event was held at Lobo Stadium. Thirty bands participated in the event sponsored by the UNM Spirit Band. Brown's wife, Karen, who also teaches at Carrizozo and their son, Isaac also attended the musical event.

ATTENDS COLLEGE GAME—Supt. Jimmie Banks was in Las Cruces on Saturday to attend the NMSU football game against the University of California. His son, Michael S. Banks, played his last home game, 44-31 in favor of the Aggies. Michael, an NMSU defensive tackle is a four year letterman. He graduated from Bloomfield High School. He was on the all-state football team; served as captain of the all-star north team and held the state record in discs. Several other Carrizozo Aggie fans attended Saturday's game.

UNDER REPAIRS—Roofing construction has begun on elementary, mid-high and high school buildings. Until construction is complete no parking will be allowed under the tree area between Manire and the high school. School buses arrive and depart from the south end of the campus while the roof work is in progress.

HEAD COACHES MEETING—Carrizozo was the site of a head coaches meeting this past Monday. The purpose of the meeting was to select District 1A first and second teams. The announcement will be released Sunday. The coaches also nominated players for the South all-star team. Coach Michael Booty joined coaches from Loving, Cloudercroft, Reserve, and Capitan at the Carrizozo meeting.

JOINT EFFORT—In a joint undertaking, the CHS Student Council and National Honor Society will sponsor an Air Band Contest and Food Drive on Wed., Nov. 25. Students in grades 7-12 are encouraged to form musical groups whereby they "lip sync" the lyrics to songs while pretending to accompany themselves on musical instruments. Two cans of food or $1 will be the admission to the assembly.

Polly Chavez is the Carrizozo Schools news coordinator.
