

County candidates filing day April 7

Filing date for persons wishing to run for county offices is Tuesday, April 7.

To be eligible for the June primary, where voters select their party favorites to be listed on the general election ballot in November, county candidates must file between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the county clerk's office in Carrizozo. Those who file have until April 10 to withdraw from the races.

All county offices will be open, including the five new county commission positions. Beginning this year, voters can select only one commissioner, from their district, rather than all five. Previously, voters were able to select all three commissioners, regardless from what district. The change came with the five-member commission approved by the current board.

With the change to a five-member commission came four-year terms for county offices. This first year some offices will be four years and others will be for two years to establish a staggered cycle.

County Commission districts 1 and 3 will be four-year terms this election and commission districts 2, 4 and 5 will be two-year terms.

County clerk and treasurer will be two-year terms. Sheriff and assessor will be for four years this election.

At the 1994 election, all county offices will go to four-year terms. But not all offices will come up for election that year.

The staggered terms will provide a continuity of elected officials, and will eliminate situations where all county commissioners are new.

With the five-member commission, came the change of precincts to accommodate the new districts. Each district had to contain nearly the same number of residents, which was determined by census blocks.

County commission candidates must be registered to vote in one of the precincts within a district. Voters from those precincts within that district may vote only for the candidate from their district.

The five commission districts are as follows:

District 1 will include Precincts 1, Corona (polls at Corona village hall); 2A, Carrizozo (new precinct with poll at county courthouse); 2B Nogal (fire station); 4, Angus (old Angus school) and 13, Carrizozo (school).

District 2 will include Precincts 7, Ruidoso (county sub-office) and 9, Ruidoso (public library).

District 3 will include Precincts 6, Ruidoso (White Mountain School) and 8, Ruidoso (Ruidoso Middle School).

District 4 will include Precincts 3, Capitan (Fair Building), 12C, Capitan (old city hall); 5, Alto (Bonito Fire Station) and 10, Ruidoso area (Ruidoso Downs Senior Citizens Center).

District 5 will include Precincts 11, Ruidoso Downs (Downs municipal building); 12A San Patricio (St. Judes Parish Hall) and 12B Hondo (Hondo School).

Maps of the actual physical locations of district boundaries can be viewed at the county clerk's office at 648-2394.

Residents may register to vote in the June primary until Tuesday, May 5.

ANDREW C. WYNHAM

Wynham tackles county work

New Lincoln County Manager Andy Wynham came on board Monday, moving into his office in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.

Last week, Lincoln County Commissioners hired Wynham as manager, impressed with his outgoing style and knowledge of local and county governments.

Wynham had been serving as deputy clerk of Bernalillo County in Albuquerque. Now, he plans to move his family to Lincoln County, preferably in or around Carrizozo.

"I'm real glad to be here," Wynham said Tuesday in his office in Carrizozo on his second day on the job. "We plan to become part of the community."

The rest of the Wynham family, his wife Heidi and sons Andrew Jr., 10, James 8 and Daniel 3, will move from Albuquerque soon.

Wynham, who was twice elected as Alamogordo City Councilman and twice elected Otero County Clerk, jumped into county politics with both feet. On his first day Monday he toured the county road maintenance facility in Capitan with county road manager Bill Cupit, who also took him to the county sub-office in Ruidoso.

Wednesday morning, Wynham accompanied county officials to the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority meeting. Wynham said the Authority is doing a great job, but now needs to move forward. He hoped his political contacts in Otero County and Alamogordo will help LCSWA to regionalize.

Wynham said Tuesday he was trying to assimilate county commission concerns. He thought he had a good feel for "hot topics," being familiar with some through his membership in the New Mexico Association of Counties. Wynham served as president and vice-president of the association.

Most pressing issue now is the 1992-93 budget. He also considers roads to be a county issue, although he was impressed with the road department's current organization.

On the pending federal lands issue between the county and the Bureau of Land Management, Wynham said he has found a lot of mixed feelings in the community. Some want the Rio Bonito lands to become public and others oppose it.

The underlying issue of that situation is not really whether those particular lands will become public, rather an issue of county and state's rights versus the federal government.

"Local government needs to have some say over what happens locally," he said.

Wynham knows his limitations as a county manager. He said the public's wants and wishes should be directed to commissioners personally.

Capitan trustees reorganize

Capitan Board of Trustees met briefly Thursday night to reorganize.

The board elected L. C. Cozens as Mayor pro tem. Clerk Jan Starnes and all village employees were retained in their current positions.

Trustees no longer serve as commissioners of various departments, such as police. Rather the whole board will act as a committee for various village departments.

Taxes to go up in Carrizozo

Gross receipts taxes will increase by 1/16 or one percent in the town of Carrizozo.

Tuesday, Carrizozo trustees approved an ordinance which will allow the municipality to collect an additional 1/16 of one percent from each business dollar earned in the town. The funds will be earmarked for infrastructure—mainly streets.

With the state in dire financial need, the legislature passed a resolution to allow the state revenue department to keep 1/8 of one percent from each municipality. It allowed the municipalities to raise their tax by 1/16 to partially offset the loss.

Since the Town of Carrizozo has used gross receipt taxes as matching funds for Community Development Block Grants to improve streets and can use future funds for similar projects in the future, trustees approved the 1/16 raise.

No objections to the increase were voiced by residents at the meeting. Some 15 townspeople attended.

With the increase, effective July 1, town businesses will be required to send the state revenue department 5.8131 cents for each dollar collected in the town. The tax is normally passed on to the consumer. At one time gross receipts were as high as 6.025 percent in Carrizozo.

Patterson named 'Sponsor of the Year'

By RENEE ROPER

"I always wanted to know why," Mariann Patterson responded when asked how she became interested in science.

It seems that education must simply be in the family though. When questioned Mrs. Patterson revealed that her father is teaching for his 50th year and that her grandmother taught until she was 86. Yet another family member, Mrs. Patterson's brother, also teaches.

No one was surprised then when Mariann Patterson was named the "Sponsor of the Year" at the Southwest Regional Science Fair. Mrs. Patterson's response to the honor was simply, "Oh, my!" As a teacher at Carrizozo Schools for the past nine years Mrs. Patterson has stressed the importance of science fair to her students by requiring a project in her classes. Mrs. Patterson feels that science fair helps to teach responsibility to students and adds a little science along the way.

Science fair has been a successful venture at Carrizozo Schools. Since Mrs. Patterson has been teaching here, approximately 300 students have attended regional competition; 100 have attend state, and two people have been alternates to Internationals. Furthermore, students at Carrizozo have won over $12,000 in bonds and scholarships in the past nine years.

Numerous students from Carrizozo High have also gone into science-related fields such as: air traffic control, x-ray technology, nursing, physical therapy, Marine Medical Corp., animal science, veterinary medicine, and horticulture.

It is common knowledge that Mrs. Patterson is incredibly dedicated to teaching and helping her students, but when science fair comes around she works even harder. On some days Mrs. Patterson stays until 6 p.m. or even later helping students get their projects finished. In fact, when asked how many hours she spent at school she simply replied, "A lot!" When she's not working on science Mrs. Patterson says she is, "digging in the dirt."

Living on a ranch near Bingham, 38 miles from Carrizozo surely made it hard for both Mrs. Patterson and her family. When queried about any difficulties encountered in juggling work and family life, Mrs. Patterson remarked that her understanding husband makes it possible and helps her handle the pressure. She also said that it was much harder when her children were at home because they also had projects.

To paraphrase Andy Warhol, "Every person deserves at least 15 minutes of fame." Former and present students of Carrizozo High School are happy to see that Mrs. Patterson finally got her 15 minutes, although it is long overdue.

CARRIZOZO SCIENCE STUDENTS Jason Rose (left) and Billy Sheehan get help with the telescope from their teacher Mariann Patterson. Mrs. Patterson was named Science Fair Sponsor of the year at the regional contest in Portales. Mrs. Patterson will take several of her winning students and their projects to the state Science Fair this weekend at New Mexico Tech in Socorro.

Trustees will ask for water tests

By DORIS CHERRY

Just when they thought it was almost settled, along came another snag.

Tuesday night Carrizozo Trustees were pleased with the latest version of an agreement between the town and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), drafted by town attorney Robert Beauvais.

But a call from Doug Siddens, whose mother owns the ranch below the town's sewer ponds, threw in the snag. Siddens had called Beauvais about an agreement between Fran and the town, signed in 1981 when Manny Hernandez was mayor, which would allow her to use overflow from the sewer lagoons to water her rangeland for cattle grazing.

Now, Siddens is concerned cyanide-contaminated water from the Cimarron Mill Superfund site might eventually contaminate the overflow and subsequently harm the grazing cattle. She wanted a letter from the town assuring her rights to the effluent and no harm will come to her cattle if she continues to use the overflow on pasture land.

EPA plans to pump cyanide contaminated water into the town sewer works in order to neutralize the toxic substance. The town has been working on a contractual agreement with EPA to make sure it has certain rights and is compensated justly for the EPA's actions.

Beauvais recommended the trustees not allow any overflow, or effluent, leave the lagoons. "I recommend we contain the water in the ponds, so we do not become polluters," Beauvais said.

He also questioned whether the effluent could be discharged as such or if it should be left in the ponds to be used as credits toward the town's water rights.

Trustees Harold Garcia, Eileen Serna, Patsy Vallejos and Dough Whittaker further discussed the 25-year agreement between the town and Siddens in closed session, using the exemption to the Open Meetings Act for contract negotiation. When they came back to open meeting they voted to send EPA the newest draft agreement and to notify Siddens the town was going to contact the State Engineer's office, the New Mexico Environment Dept. (NMED) and EPA about the use of effluent from the sewer lagoons, according to Mayor pro tem Vallejos.

In the draft agreement with EPA the town will ask for a static test of water from all extraction wells before the water is ever pumped into the town's sewer system. Also, it requests EPA install automatic monitoring equipment which will shut off the flow from the Cimarron wells if the concentration of contaminants exceeds the sewer system's ability to process it to safe drinking water standards at any time during the remedial process. If that happens the system will be closed down until adjustments are made.

The town will continue to ask for $1,500 a month from EPA to pump into the sewer system. EPA expects the remedial process to take about a year.

Also to be included in the draft will be a request that monitoring wells at the sewer lagoons be implemented.

The draft will be sent to EPA for comment.

The old Chevron station on Central Ave. near the Post Office got a 30-day reprieve. Trustees had intended to reaffirm a resolution which would have forced owner David Ortiz to tear down the old structure or upgrade it significantly. But, word came that Ortiz is in the process of selling the property.

The purchaser has been notified of the town's stance on the old structure. Trustee Whittaker said the purchaser is aware of the situation and may begin some type of work on the property.

Garcia made the motion to allow 30 days for the transfer of property, then the situation will be an agenda item on the meeting following the 30-day period.

"I think we're being very fair," said mayor Cecilia Kuhn.

Trustee Eileen Lovelace again brought up the issue of notifying other property owners who have dilapidated structures, or trashy lots. She proposed letters be written to all property owners with such situations.

"Write yourself a letter," said audience member Bobby Vallejos. He pointed out the city has some unsightly properties also.

Other persons in the audience argued that many properties are being upgraded in the town currently, to which Whittaker agreed.

At the last meeting trustees had invited the public to become a part of a citizen's committee to review lots for possible condemnation. No one responded. "It's a tough thing to sit on," said Garcia.

Town Cleanup Day is set for April 25. Whittaker suggested an incentive be provided to the owner of the best improved property.

Beauvais, who has served on state Main Street and historic preservation, said the town should concentrate on its central business district. If that district is deteriorated it becomes a negative factor for economic development.

A request for proposals (rpf) will be advertised for someone to lease and operate the Carrizozo Recreation Center. Val Reyes, who has leased the center for the last three years, declined to renew his lease contract and said he would be leaving April 30.

Since it takes about 45 days to complete a rfp process, trustees approved advertising for a new lease beginning Thursday. Specific terms of the lease contract will be negotiated after a lease is selected from rpf's.

Mayor Kuhn and trustees thanked Reyes for his time in Carrizozo. Trustee Vallejos requested a letter of thanks be drafted and mailed to Reyes.

In other business, trustees: —Signed the yearly renewal of the Golf Course lease agreement with Ted Turnbow with no additions or deletions. Turnbow also requested the town find some grant or other funds to provide bathrooms for fisherspersons and joggers who use the park near the golf course.

—Okayed relocation policies and plans for the Community Development Block Grant;

"boilerplate" requirements with the grant.

—Passed the ordinance to increase gross receipts tax by 1/16 of one percent. (See related article.)

—Gave approval to Police Chief Choncho Morales to apply for the 1992-1993 Law Enforcement Funds of $17,600; with $15,000 for equipment and $2,600 for training. Specific equipment will be listed at budget time.

—Approved a new business registration for the partnership of Ruth Hammond and Peter Aguilar for the Lincoln County News.

—Authorized maintenance supervisor Faustino Gallegos apply for a $10,000 or more grant from Outdoor Recreation Funds to upgrade the town swimming pool.

—Set meetings with the Fire Dept. at 7 p.m. on Monday, April 6; and with town employees at 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 7. City hall will be closed from 9-9:30 p.m. on April 7 to allow administrative staff to meet with trustees.

—Discussed a request from Whittaker that during budget workshops they consider raising the mill levy on town property.

Trinity site open April 4

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M.—Trinity Site, where the world's first atomic bomb was exploded in 1945, will be open to the public on Saturday, April 4. The National Historic Landmark is open twice a year, on the first Saturday in April and October.

Trinity is located on the northern end of the 3,200-square mile White Sands Missile Range, N.M. between the towns of Carrizozo and Socorro, New Mexico. For the upcoming Trinity Site tour there will be two ways of entering the restricted missile range. Visitors can enter through the range's Stallion Range Center which is five miles south of Highway 380. The turnoff is 12 miles east of San Antonio, N.M. and 63 miles west of Carrizozo, N.M. The Stallion gate will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Visitors arriving at the gate between those hours will receive handouts and will be allowed to drive unescorted the 17 miles to Trinity Site. The road is paved and marked.

The second way of entering the missile range is by travelling with a caravan sponsored by the Alamogordo, N.M. Chamber of Commerce. The caravan forms at the Otero County Fairgrounds in Alamogordo and leaves at 8 a.m. Visitors entering this way will travel as an escorted group with military police to and from Trinity Site. The drive is 170 miles roundtrip and there are no service station facilities on the missile range. The caravan is scheduled to leave Trinity Site at 1 p.m. for the return to Alamogordo.

Cameras are allowed at Trinity Site but their use is strictly prohibited anywhere else on White Sands Missile Range.

Trinity Site consists of ground zero where the atomic bomb was placed on a 100-foot steel tower and exploded on July 16, 1946 and the McDonald ranch house where the world's first plutonium core for a bomb was assembled. The crater resulting from the explosion has been filled in and a small monument now marks the spot. The missile range provides historical photos and a Fat Man bomb casing for display at ground zero. There are no ceremonies or speakers.

Limited food and drink items will be on sale at the site as well as a variety of mementos.

For more information contact the missile range Public Affairs Office at (505) 678-1134/1700.

Carrizozo Municipal Schools is observing Art Week March 22-28 with an exhibition of student art works. The selected pieces of students in grades kindergarten through 6th and high school seniors will be displayed for a month in the school board meeting room.

On exhibit is the work of Mike Fee, perspective abstract, colored pencil; Amanda Greer, abstract, poster paint blatto; Cafa Baker, reverse image, construction paper; Briton Goad, cartoon; colored marker; Lee Sumpter, landscape, pastel on black paper; Charles Dobbs, drawing pencil; John Northrop, abstract, water color and pop art, mixed media; Renee Rael, cartoon pencil; Mary Beth Bond, floral, pastel; Levi Boble, portrait, crayon; Bianca Baca, floral pointillism, colored marker; Nicholas Morerod, crayon resist abstract, water color; Maggie Ventura, drawing, pencil; Bud Clay Hammond, mosaic, mixed media; and Meghan Booty, drawing, pencil.

High School art works on view are those that 15 high school students prepared as part of their English IV class 'haiku' assignment. According to English teacher, Earlene Price, the Japanese verse form usually focuses on an image that suggests a thought or emotion.

Art coordinator, Polly E. Chavez says all student art currently on display in the board room is a sampling of work that is to be included in the upcoming Spring Art Show, an annual event at Carrizozo Schools. The art program for grades K-6 includes art history, art criticism, aesthetics as well as art production. The art projects integrate skills for manipulation of materials, sensory awareness, design, decision making and critical thinking skills.

Anyone with an interest in art and who enjoys working with children is encouraged to volunteer their time to help prepare the art exhibits of all students for the art show sometime in April or early May.

Several Carrizozo High School students were recognized for their good academic skills Monday.

Anthony Archuleta, Nathan Portillo, Scot Brown, Cory Collins, Chad Patterson, Bryan Turnbow, Amy Funk, Micha Schlarb and Yvonne Estrella were recognized by New Mexico State University Alumni for earning a 3.0 or better grade point average. ALAMOGORDO—A star-studded program began at the Tombaugh Space Theater this week.

A daily planetarium show begins at 1 p.m. daily at the theater and will run through Memorial Day.

Admission is $1 per person for the star show, which will change monthly. The first show is "Constellations," and will be similar in format to the free SKYWATCH, shown once a month. The new star show will be 40 minutes long.

The new program is offered in response to the demand for expanded programming in the planetarium.

CowBelles to host meeting

On March 4, 1992, 23 members of the Canyon CowBelles met at the United New Mexico Bank for a lunch of hamburgers and French fries ordered from the Outpost. Jane Shafer gave a report from the well-attended Ag Day Hamburgers Fry at the Carrizozo School on Feb. 19. Canyon CowBelles served 290 hamburgers, chips and desserts to ag students, faculty and the FFA members from visiting schools.

The decision was made and voted on to postpone the Ranch Tour until next summer 1993. Nancy Duley and Anne Ferguson are working on some great ideas that will surely make for the best ranch tour ever.

Plans and preparations for the District V Workshop/Meeting were discussed and committee reports were given. It was decided to ask Carrizozo Mayor Cecilia Kuhnle to give a Welcome Address at the District Meeting and Rene Burton offered to invite her. They also decided to have a style show for the noon time entertainment with Helen Locke's denim designs and Bob & Jenny Curtis' fine silver jewelry, buckles and accessories.

The Coalition of County Governments lunch will still be hosted by the Canyon CowBelles Saturday March 28 at the Carrizozo County Club. Plans for the meal were discussed and the Canyon CowBelles voted to donate two Beef Gift Certificates as door prizes.

Carol Wilson was voted to the Nominating Committee for CowBelle Man of the Year that will meet in June at Clayton, N.M. Anne Ferguson updated members on the State and National Memberships. The 1992 N.M. CowBelles Directories were handed out and the next meeting will be April 1 at Anne Ferguson's home west of Carrizozo.

Al's Musings

By AL STUBBS

Monday night will be sort of a celebrity night in Ruidoso when MainStreet Ruidoso stages an annual awards night and dinner at La Lorraine Restaurant.

A number of dignitaries who helped obtain funding for the MainStreet revitalization project will be present. They include State Sen. Pete Campos of Santa Rosa, State Rep. John Underwood of Ruidoso, Lou Medrano, secretary, State Highway Department; Ron Forte, deputy secretary of the Transportation Department, state of New Mexico, District Highway Engineer Tom Dick of Roswell.

Mary Maul, project director for MainStreet Ruidoso, is busy, busy, busy getting ready for the Monday night affair which will include election of new board members.

Incidentally, Mary Maul's spouse, Jeff Maul, has taken a job in Santa Fe with the only awning company in the state. He will be in Ruidoso on weekends.

We agree that Sudderth Drive between the telephone company office and Country Club will be the "prettiest" main street in New Mexico when the revitalization project is complete. Maybe two years from now, parents will be able to push a stroller down either side of the street between those two streets without risk of life and limb and baby's health.

Sidewalk construction and widening is a major part of the project along with enhanced lighting, signalization, landscaping, signing and much more.

Now if the village will start planning public restrooms for the area and for additional off-street parking the project can be a great boon to the economic welfare of Ruidoso. Off-street parking should take top priority.

Cities and villages across New Mexico are struggling to make ends meet and are considering or have implemented an additional gross receipts tax. This has been necessary because the legislature took away a portion of the cities' gross receipts tax and then authorized cities and village to make up the differences with local taxation. Big deal! That way, the legislature could claim it didn't raise taxes during recent sessions.

Well, Mayor Alonso and our village government and other mayors and governing bodies in Lincoln County should really be pleased (tongue in cheek) with remarks made by Gov. Bruce King last week in Alamogordo.

King is quoted: "We did work to have an opportunity for the cities to work out their financial problems and we're happy to work with them any way we can."

"And I know it's a little unfair to you (the city governments) to have to implement the 1/16 gross receipts tax but there is no way to lose it out of the state budget, so we'll work with you and explain it wasn't something that you did without all of us kind of being in together."

Gee, that's comforting.

Putting together complex toys with an instruction sheet is something every parent tackles, sometimes with limited success.

Even in adulthood, sometimes a man is faced with a similar problem. It is compounded when there is no instruction sheet.

Leroy Gooch, husband of Ruidoso village librarian Mary Lou Gooch, was recruited for a honey-do project at the library last weekend. The project was assembling new catalog card cabinets. There was no instruction sheet, but after a time the drawers were assembled and stacked, hopefully as the manufacturer intended.

There may be 30 or 40 golfers on The Links but you can find solitude on that super golf course even then.

The hills and valleys are so numerous that you can feel like you're all alone in the world wandering through one of the "valleys" looking for your ball.

The Links has some nice deals currently for seniors. Check it out.

It's good that the civic center under construction in the middle of the course won't have many glass areas. Golf balls, when hit by duffers, seem attracted both to water and to glass. That's a strange fact of physics.

It's good to be back writing a column. Sorry we missed last week.

Inside The Capitol

SANTA FE—New Mexico is bringing up the rear once again. This time it's in the arena of national politics.

The Republican and Democrat presidential races were decided by mid-March this year. Usually it's late March or early April before the suspense is over, but that's still two, full months before New Mexico gets its tiny piece of the action.

We could get a big piece, because we don't have to be last in the nation to hold our presidential primaries. If we held those elections earlier, we would attract attention.

Despite being the nation's forgotten state, New Mexico is surprisingly representative of the nation as a whole. A "microcosm" social scientists call it. Since statehood, we've voted for the loser only once in a presidential election. That was in 1976, when New Mexico narrowly went for Pres. Gerald Ford over the winner, Jimmy Carter.

And New Mexico is a much more hospitable state in January than Iowa or New Hampshire. National reporters, who like it mild can hang out in the southern part of the state enjoying 60-degree temperatures, while the snow bunnies flock to Santa Fe and Taos.

New Mexico has what it takes to attract national attention—if we had an early primary.

Next session, some lawmaker will introduce legislation moving our primary to an earlier date. It always happens the year following presidential races when the realization sinks in that we've lost another chance for notice. But the measure will be quietly held back by legislative leaders, who fear it would disrupt a timetable that serves them well.

Obviously February is too early for lawmakers to be running for re-election. They have a legislative session that should be receiving their full attention. But let 'em keep their June primary and we'll select only the presidential candidates early.

An extra election would be an additional cost to taxpayers. But it would also be an investment for the state. The enticements brought in by political machines and the media would focus not only national attention on New Mexico, it would bring lots of bucks.

Another solution would be party caucuses. Let the political parties bear the cost. Actually that doesn't happen in states that are in the action early. They soak the candidates and their campaign organizations for the money necessary to run local caucuses throughout the state.

Bernalillo County Democrat Chairman Art Trujillo had the right idea when he held an ad hoc county caucus at the State Fairgrounds last weekend. Normally, even in March, Trujillo's event would have been before the excitement was over. At one point, Gov. Bill Clinton intended to be in Albuquerque for the Bernalillo County Demo caucus.

Clinton's rescheduled April 13 visit is now apparently also off as a result of Sen. Paul Tsongas suspending his campaign. Clinton promises to make it to New Mexico this spring. It is unlikely Clinton's visit will be worked in with the June primary. It merely will be on his way to California.

California holds its primary at the same time as New Mexico, but having the most delegates in the nation still makes it worth watching. The state gains extra importance this year because its former governor, Jerry Brown, is the only other Demo left in the presidential race.

Brown will stay in until the end because he has a chance in his home state. Although the big factor keeping Brown in now is the ABC (Anything But Clinton) movement. In 1976 Brown also stayed in the race with an "Anything But Carter" candidacy.

So on June 2, as the nation watches to see if Brown can grab his own state out of the path of the Clinton juggernaut, New Mexico will quietly stage its presidential primary, meriting nothing more than a footnote on election night coverage featuring California and New Jersey.

A twist on territorial Gov. Manuel Armijo's lament seems appropriate. Poor New Mexico. So close to Heaven. So far from presidential attention.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR—Once again I'd like to express my thanks to those of you who have contributed to the Carrizozo Air Force Scholarship fund.

The goal is to be able to select one student from each of the five schools in Lincoln County at the end of the 1993 school year and present a check for $1000 to get them started towards the college or university of their choice.

On Sunday, April 12, we will be having a Fly-in Pancake & Sausage Breakfast at the airport, sponsored by the Carrizozo Lions, half the proceeds will go into the scholarship fund, the other half will go the Lions Eye Bank. Your participation is invited.

Many thanks to all of you who have expressed support for your airport. It makes my job much easier.

I thank you from my heart for your positive attitudes — and your support, any worthwhile effort takes a team to make it move!

HAL MARK, Carrizozo Airport Manager.

EDITOR—Foreign aid is a fraud. The American taxpayer has been sold on foreign aid as a humanitarian way of helping the poor, the hungry, and the downtrodden all over the world. That's not the way it works at all.

What it really does is prop up governments that are corrupt, incompetent, and socialist; governments that have become addicted to annual transfusions of American money. We see governments receiving American foreign aid buying and selling to other countries receiving American foreign aid. Too often, foreign aid is used to provide foreign governments with the means to undersell American producers thus putting American producers in competition with their own tax dollars. Whether they are aware of it or not, American taxpayers subsidize foreign competition destructive to both American labor and American capital.

Foreign aid must be stopped. As long as we continue to give foreign aid to those corrupt governments they will not work their way out of poverty. By continuing these annual transfusions of American money we only perpetuate the problem.

Domenici says answers needed

WASHINGTON—The General Accounting Office must review an analysis that criticized GAO's reports on the grazing fee issue and explain the alleged discrepancies to the Congress, Senator Pete Domenici and a bi-partisan group of fifteen western Senators said today.

In a letter to Charles Bowsher, the head of the GAO, the Senators wrote, "We have reviewed the analysis prepared by Resource Concepts, Inc., and believe it to be carefully prepared, credible, and sound. We feel it correctly identifies that spotty research and unfamiliarity with western ranching operations have led to inaccurate conclusions and a distortion of fact."

"As a result of the report's findings we believe that GAO's conclusions need to be reexamined."

"We are requesting," the letter continued, "GAO to review the attached report and provide a detailed analysis of the discrepancies that have been identified with respect to GAO's work. We are also requesting GAO to provide a list of all sources of technical background information used in preparation of their reports, including documentation of reference material and contacts."

The Senators requested the information be given to Congress within 60 days.

In addition to Domenici, the letter was signed by Senators Hank Brown (R-CO), Malcolm Wallop (R-WY), Slade Gorton (R-WA), Kent Conrad (D-ND), Quentin Burdick (D-ND), Tom Daschle (D-SD), Dennis DeConcini (D-AZ), Conrad Burns (R-MT), Orrin Hatch

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

Did you hear about the lawyer who was being investigated because he was wearing a pair of shark-skin boots? They were accusing him of cannibalism.

Several of the attorneys in town were amazed to discover that the international symbol for "lawyer" is a picture of a shark fin, so if you enter an establishment that has a sign on the door depicting a shark fin enclosed within a slashed circle, feel free to smoke if you have 'em, but keep your nose clean because if you get into trouble, you are on your own.

I guess I have been misled for the past 20 years because I thought a shark was a cute furry little animal you usually found in poker games. I didn't know he also had a gainful occupation. I also thought a lawyer was just a person like any other person, except he could tell the same story in three different ways without resorting to the facts. However, that was all right with me, because my case was much stronger if you avoided discussion of the facts. I had everything on my side except merit.

A friend of mine once told me he had only lost two lawsuits in his life, one in which the judge ruled against him and the other in which the judge ruled in his favor. In both cases, he got his just deserts. He must have used one of my old lawyer acquaintances, Samuel J. Slickem III, Esq. of Clipem, Slickem, Skineh and Smith, P.A., who told me when he was discussing contingent fees with a client, he advised them that if they lost the case, he didn't get anything, and if they won, they didn't get anything. Incidentally, I never did meet Mr. Smith. He was either dead or they only kept him around to give a little prestige to the organization.

Bollix: vt. (Slang) to make a muddle of; bungle; botch (usually with "up"). A euphemism for what you really intended to say. This is one of my favorite exercises, and also the winner of a bet with the person who insisted it was not in the dictionary. cf. Snafu, an acronym of military origin describing the result of the process alluded to above. When Mr. Webster defined snafu, he did so euphemistically.

Euphemism: n. 1. The use of a word or phrase that is less expressive or direct but considered less distasteful, less offensive, etc., than another. This is most vividly described as what Mrs. Truman was driving at when Harry publicly stated that since spring had arrived, it was time to put manure on his roses. "How gross," said one of the ladies present. "Couldn't you get your husband to say 'fertilizer' instead?" Mrs. Truman replied, "I don't think so because it took me 20 years to get him to say 'manure.'"

Some other examples of euphemisms are perspiration instead of sweat, using the term justice when you mean retribution, saying burns instead of derriere, calling a dirty old man Poopsy, and insisting that Angel is not another word for spoiled brat. On the other hand, it seems our language is made up mostly of euphemisms in an attempt to make things sound better than they are. Most people would rather not call a spade a shovel; they prefer to refer to it as an unautomated (Con't on P. 5)

Phrase: n. The use of a series of words to convey a thought that could have been conveyed with a single word except that you wanted it to sound more important than it was, to which the listener responded with an organic phrase closely related to my discussion a few weeks ago about organic literature, but at least his comment did not contain the phrase, "garbage mouth," which might have also been appropriate.

I looked out the window the other day and saw a robin standing in about six inches of snow advising his companions that next year he was going to make the travel arrangements. This means that Spring is here, but don't forget your coat because you may need it before you get home. Another indication is the color of the landscape that is passing through at 40 miles per hour.

I was asked the other day what it meant if it took you twice as long to go as it did to come back, and I replied that it meant it was Spring and you were headed in a westerly direction and what was waiting for you at home was much more enjoyable than what you were about to receive when you got where you were going. This is related to relativity in the same manner that your explanation to your parents was when you were asked, "What can you find to do that keeps you out until 2:00 a.m.?" And you reply, "Mother, don't you remember when you were young?" It didn't work then, and it still won't, because Mother really would rather have been with you because she thought whatever you were doing was more exciting than what she was doing and besides that, she thought you wouldn't know how to do whatever you were going to do when the occasion arose, which it didn't, and would need some guidance in the finer points.

Youth Conservation Corps Bill into law

Gov. Bruce King signed into law March 10, 1992, a bill establishing a New Mexico Youth Conservation Corps to provide expanded work opportunities for unemployed youth between the ages of 14 and 22. The Corps, modeled on the Civilian Conservation Corps of Depression days in the 1930s, will concentrate its efforts in the fields of community service and conservation of natural resources. The law creates a nine-member commission, under the direction of the governor, to oversee the management of the Corps. This Commission will be responsible for hiring a Corps Director and establishing policies and procedures for general operation of Corps activities. An ancillary function of the Corps will be to promote continuing education and personal development of Corps enrollees and to improve their employability in private industry. The Commission is empowered by the law to seek funds from State, Federal, and private sources for these purposes. Proposals are currently being prepared for submission to the Federal Government under the Community Services Act.

The New Mexico Chapter 141 of the National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps Alumni was the primary sponsoring agency for the bill and its membership was heavily involved in getting support for the bill. Chapter President Vince Wathen and Legislative Committee Chairman Vicente Jimenez took the lead in managing and working the legislation through the committees and the House and the Senate. Members of Chapter 141 packed the committee hearing room when Wathen and Jimenez presented testimony on behalf of the bill.

Representative Bob Hawk, of Albuquerque, and Speaker of the House Raymond Sanchez were co-authors of the bill and managed to squeeze it through on the last day of the legislative session. The bill was carried through both Chambers with a large majority vote and received strong support from members of both major political parties.

Capitan students present skits

Producing skits with a meaning were the challenge for several Capitan Odyssey of the Mind students recently.

Three groups of Capitan students took their skits to the state Odyssey of the Mind competition in Albuquerque over the weekend. The 6th grade through high school group won 3rd place overall, the 3-5 grade group won 5th place and the K-2 grade group won first.

Last Friday, the Odyssey of the Mind students, who are selected for their academic skills, presented their skits to the Capitan elementary students. Although each group has adult sponsors, the students must make all props and costumes, then perform the skit within an allotted time.

The Kindergarten-2nd grade group of Adam Jimenez (K), Travis Horst (1st), Doug Smith, Melanie Hail, Amber Goodloe, Jessica Weal and Brandi Dickerson (all 2nd) performed "Scientific Clowns." The students wore "clown" costumes which they had made and told jokes mixed with environmental tips. Tommie Neal was their sponsor. Although they won first place, they cannot advance to any higher level since their division is for demonstration only.

The 3-5th grade group of Amanda Bird, Tasia Starnoo, Ricardo Valenzuela, Clay Jones, Kenny Stahl, Cody Montes and Ty Davis performed "Alice in Omerland." The skit, which placed fifth overall at the state competition, was about a girl, Alice, swallowed by a giant raccoon—Omer. Their props included a huge book to illustrate Alice's travels through Omer's insides. Finally, Alice discovers a very polluted lake, which she cleans with "magic chemicals." Amy Riddle is sponsor of the group.

The 6th-high school grade group of Meghan McGrath, Meghan Vinson, Jaylen Ware, Joyce Robbins, Stacy Sidwell, Matt MacVeigh and Keith Witham also performed "Alice in Omerland," and won 3rd place in their division.

Although entitled the same as the younger group, their skit was about a girl who falls asleep and journeys through a polluted dream world.

Gloria Witham was sponsor and Jo Beth Vinson was co-sponsor of the group.

The Capitan Odyssey students competed with hundreds of Odyssey of the Mind students from schools statewide at West Mesa High School in Albuquerque Saturday.

The Beef industry is one of these, which are the backbone of the American economy. The countless number of community activities, such as those sponsored by the Corriente CowBelles, are the heart of the Ag Day observance, demonstrating the scope of the beef industry in America today.

"I don't walk the big dogs," said the little boy, "I ride 'em." When you are a little child you sometimes make faces in the mirror. But when you are passed middle age, the mirror gets even with you.

Spring concert sweet success

The Capitan Dessert Pops Concert continues to be a sweet success.

Guests were treated to a sweet desserts and music from the Capitan High School band and chorus and guest performers Jorge Valenzuela, Barbara Westbrook, Stan Thomas, Agatha Long, Jenny Stephens and Old Wine in New Bottles Quintet on March 19.

With "Puttin' on the Ritz" as the theme, tables were set with candles and flowers, walls decorated with nighttime city skylines and park benches surrounded with plants topped off the urban mood.

The high school band opened the evening with "Hooray for Hollywood", then moved into selections from "Cats," which featured a solo from Agatha Long.

Band members took a break and watched as their instructor, fondly known as "Mr. V", Dick Valenzuela and his quintet Old Wine in New Bottles performed. With Valenzuela on sax were Mike Francis piano, Leroy Gooch bass, Don Lindley drums and Wes Jones trumpet. Jenny Stephens joined the quintet for two selections "Just Friends and Come Rain or Come Shine."

The highlight of the evening for the band and chorus was their performance of the Robin Hood Soundtrack.

Afterwards, everyone was treated to the humor and talent of Jorge Valenzuela, Mr. V's brother, at the piano. Jorge got the crowd laughing with his jokes, then turned around and wowed them with his piano piece.

Then it was the Capitan High School Jazz Band's turn and it started off with "In the Mood." With their toes tapping, members played "Pennsylvania 6-5000 and Moten Swing," featuring soloists Matt MacVeigh and J.J. James.

Guest musicians Barbara Westbrook and Stan Thomas sang an arrangement from "The Music Man."

The evening ended with the band playing the reprise from Hooray for Hollywood.

Other guest musicians were Danny Flores and Rob Lovett.

Elementary environmental education

RUIDOSO—A major element in protection of the environment is public education. And it's starting early in Ruidoso. Carl Stubbs of the New Mexico Environment Department's Ruidoso Field Office, will take on the added duties of teacher during the month of April.

Stubbs will make presentations to kindergartners, first, second and third graders at two Ruidoso elementary schools. The curriculum for the younger students will include discussions of the water cycle—from evaporation to rainfall to lakes and rivers. But he will also focus on how that water is affected by man during the cycle. "The students know about these things—they know parts of the water cycle, but they're not quite sure how it all ties together," said Stubbs. "For instance, they're not always aware that some treated sewage is discharged back into the river, or that septic tanks must be regulated to prevent the leachfield from impacting ground water." For the third-grade students, Stubbs expands his presentation to include a discussion of mercury contamination of the Pecos River and the analysis of Ruidoso's public drinking water supplies. He also discusses food-borne illnesses with the older students, including tips on how to avoid getting sick. "This started when I was asked to give a presentation to my son's class. They then asked me if I would talk to other classes as well," said Stubbs. Environment Secretary Judith Espinosa said education is one of the biggest weapons the Department has in fighting pollution. "The results of Mr. Stubbs' discussions with these school children will be seen for years to come," she added. Presentations are scheduled for kindergarten and first grade students at Nob Hill Elementary on April 9 and 27 and for second and third grade students at White Mountain Elementary on April 13-14.

Soccer is alive in Ruidoso

The game of soccer is alive in Ruidoso. The Ruidoso Warriors is a soccer team composed of athletes 12 years of age and under, and are associated with the New Mexico Soccer Association. The Warriors travel to Alamogordo Saturday, March 28, to take on the Desert Flames—contest scheduled for 10 a.m. on Abbott North Field located on 1st Street. The Flames are in the Warrior age group category. The Warriors will also be in Alamogordo April 4, April 11, and April 18 at the same place and time to compete against teams in the 14 and under age group. The Ruidoso boys competed in the Roswell tournament last weekend and placed third. Team spokesman Roy Seay told the News there will also be a skills contest this Saturday between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Seay also said there are over 12,000 athletes registered with the New Mexico Youth Soccer Association. The starters for the Warriors are strikers Andy Schraeder, Ryan Humphries, and Raymond Harris; midfielders Tim Partridge, Eric Russell, and Jimmy Gutierrez; full backs (defense) Riley Carbuto, Tommy Seay, and Rusty Seeley; sweeper (clear the ball) Arthur Miller; goalkeeper Max Beatty. Also listed on the Warrior roster are Luis Davila, Jonathan Friberg, Levi Price, Malcolm Sharbutt, and Gary Silva. —by BART McDONOUGH

Underwood and Campos speak to Democrats

A large crowd attended the Lincoln County Democratic Party dinner meeting on March 18, at Cree Meadows Country Club in Ruidoso. Lincoln County chairperson CiCi Griffin made several announcements and commented on her experiences at the legislative session. She introduced and congratulated newly-elected Ruidoso Village Councilors Jerry Shaw and Frank Cummins. Griffin also introduced Karen Morris who will be a recipient of an award to women involved in family and youth matters on April 4 in Albuquerque. Only 12 women in the state will receive the awards. Teresa Curry reported on the progress the Lincoln County Democratic Women are making on their float plans and spoke of the need to find a suitable office. The women hope office space will be donated. L. Ray Nunley announced his candidacy for Lincoln County Commissioner District 2, and told of his plans and priorities when he is elected. Fred Hansen also announced his candidacy for Lincoln County Commissioner District 4 and spoke of his involvement as a senator and his background in the Democratic Party. The two guest speakers were Rep. John Underwood and Senator Pete Campos. Underwood spoke on "Make Change your Friend," and his observations of the Democratic Presidential candidates. He gave a report on the funds that the MainStreet Ruidoso and the Ruidoso Convention Center received through the legislature this year. Senator Campos, who now represents Lincoln County through the new re-districting, spoke about the changes result-

Jimmie Luna suspended for alleged campaigning

Jimmie Luna, a Lincoln County Sheriff's deputy and a candidate for sheriff, was placed on a 30-day suspension without pay for campaigning during working hours. According to a letter from the Sheriff's Dept. Board of Supervisors, filed in the Lincoln County Manager's office on March 18, Luna was found in violation of the county personnel Ordinance 1990-4, which specifies special requirements for political activities of county employees. Based on the ordinance handbook's causes for discharge, suspension or reduction in grade, a county employee is not allowed to do political campaigning for oneself or another during regularly scheduled working hours. The board of supervisors from the sheriff's department, consisting of Sheriff James McSwane, undersheriff Bobby Miller, chief jailer Wayland Hill, chief dispatcher Donn Dose, deputy Ken Jones and records administrator Laurie Ventura, unanimously found Luna to be in direct violation of the personnel ordinance on March 18. The board based its decision on witness testimony that Luna asked to be nominated for a delegate's position to attend the State Republican Convention on March 7 and he was witnessed at the Republican Party Central Committee meeting in uniform. Luna had not requested permission from his supervisors to attend the political convention.

The board of supervisors unanimously recommended Luna be placed on a 30-day suspension without pay. If upon his return he violates the ordinance and it can be substantiated, Luna's employment will be terminated. Luna has not requested a grievance hearing on the matter. Luna was unavailable for comment.

College Ranch Advisory Board discusses research

The type of research that is and should be done at a New Mexico State University ranch is being discussed by agricultural research scientists, area ranchers, bankers and government agency representatives. The newly formed College Ranch Advisory Board will match input from 10 members (see attached list) with research projects, said John Winder, beef cattle geneticist with the Agricultural Experiment Station at NMSU. "We want to make our research more responsive to the needs of the clientele, make the clientele more aware of the research being done and get the clientele more active in our research," said Winder. The first board meeting on

Feb. 4 produced some positive comments and suggestions, says Winder. The 100-square-mile College Ranch, 25 miles north of Las Cruces, is controlled by the Agricultural Experiment Station and administered by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics' Department of Animal and Range Sciences. The ranch has been the site of range and livestock research since 1927. Ranch researchers are now looking at herbicide treatments on mesquite brush, range ecology experiments, and more efficient ways to convert grass to beef by examining how certain types of cattle use various range plants. The next formal meeting of the advisory board is set for early fall. 1992 College Ranch Advisory Board Members: Jim Bremer, Livestock Manager, Mesquero Indian Reservation; Tom McKenna, Rancher, Las Cruces; Greg Carasco, Banker, Farm Credit Services, Las Cruces; Tom Mobley, Banker, First National Bank of Dona Ana County; Jim Powell, Soil Conservation Service, Las Cruces; Miles Brown, Bureau of Land Management, Las Cruces; Charles Siepel, Hidalgo County Cooperative Extension Service; Chris Allison, Extension Range Management Specialist, NMSU; Leedre Hyatt, Rancher, Deming; Ben Cain, Truth or Consequences.

Watch for pine tree infestation

SANTA FE—Growers of pinyon (or pinon) pine trees are urged to watch for pinyon needle scale infestation. The tiny, black bumps on many landscape pinyon pines are more dangerous than they appear.

Bob Cain, forest pest specialist with New Mexico State University's Cooperative Extension Service, said the pinyon needle scale feed on year-old needles, sapping the tree's vigor, thinning the crown and leaving the tree susceptible to bark beetle attack.

The insect's yellow eggs are laid in a conspicuous, white, cottony webbing found throughout the tree. After hatching, the crawlers move back up the tree and attack last year's new growth. If left unchecked, heavy scale populations can kill all the year-old needles by the end of summer.

Cain recommended spraying infested trees with a strong stream of water from a garden hose. After washing the eggs from the tree, rake up the material and dispose of it by bagging, burning or burying it.

Fort Stanton: facts & fiction

By BETTY JOINER

March winds are really starting to blow at the Fort. We hope they will soon be bringing in some moisture.

Evelyn Garvey spent the last week of her vacation traveling about. She was in Roswell Saturday, made a trip to Albuquerque Monday with Sharon Darby, and spent the rest of her week in El Paso visiting her daughter.

Harry Hidaka, one of the doctors, is spending a month in Japan. Harry went to visit his daughter there.

Missed a couple of birthdays last week. Understand Bernice Pittam was honored with a party celebrating her 75th at the rec center.

On March 23, 1992 the New Mexico State University Alumni in Otero and Lincoln County congratulated students for three fine academic records that they have achieved in high school. They hosted an "Honors Night" at the Alamogordo High School for outstanding juniors. Laurie Griego from Capitan High School was presented with a certificate "Academic Achievement Award." Laurie is the daughter of Paul and Marie Griego of Fort Stanton. Congratulations Laurie. Keep up the good work.

Taft's Nutrition Services consulting dietician firm for Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School sponsored a contest for incorporating National Nutrition Month into their facility. The Taos's education program under the direction of "Pat McFarland" at Fort Stanton Hospital was chosen as the winner for the Resident/Client program. Pat will design her education programs for the month to select a special dish from weekly focus on a group from the four food groups. Clients will express their knowledge concerning foods they know and relate them to the four food groups.

The purpose of the Taos program is to instruct the clients to prepare a simple menu items so they can prepare menu items by themselves. Five days a week the clients start at 9 a.m. to prepare their noon meal. Each client is assigned a task according to their level of function. These clients eat their own cooking for lunch and then cleanup is included in their tasks. Clients in an informal way are asked to express their knowledge concerning foods they know and the relationship to the four food groups. Anyone who has worked with the clients and instructors know what these accomplished tasks mean to both student and teacher.

Marie Griego reported that Gilbert Barela is improving

Sheriff's report

Despite the wet winter, strong spring winds have dried the countryside enough to make for high fire danger.

Lincoln County fire departments responded to several small grass fires recently. Friday, Hondo Fire Dept. went to a controlled burn which got out of control. Saturday, Nogal and Capitan Fire Depts. fought a grass fire in Maggaddo Creek Estates near Loma Grande. About two acres of grass were charred, and firefighters prevented the flames from reaching several structures in the area.

Sunday, about three acres of grass burned near Lincoln and Bonito Fire Dept. and New Mexico State Forestry firefighters extinguished a grass fire in Homestead Acres off Gavilan Canyon near Ruidoso.

Visitors and residents should be cautious while smoking, also with ashes. Never place hot ashes on the ground near grass or other combustible materials. High winds can fan hot embers into a fire.

Also vehicles with catalytic converters can start grass fires, if the vehicle is parked over very tall, dry grass for a length of time. When parking in a grassy area, make sure the grass does not touch the bottom of the vehicle.

The following information was taken from dispatch records at the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office in Carrizozo:

MARCH 16

9:30 a.m., a minor accident was reported in the parking lot at Ski Apache. A report was taken for insurance purposes.

Ruidoso Ambulance Service went to Ski Apache four times this day to transport injured skiers to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC).

5:04 p.m., Ft. Stanton ambulance went to a Capitan residence where a patient was having a hard time breathing.

MARCH 17

4:59 a.m., Alto Ambulance went to the Alto home of Mrs. Vic Piollet. She was pronounced dead by Medical Investigator Danny Sisson. A deputy also went to the home of the elderly woman.

6:55 a.m., a minor accident involving a deer on Highway 70 east of Ruidoso Downs was reported.

9:30 a.m., a Carrizozo area resident requested an animal control officer (ACO) to pick up some dogs. Carrizozo police assisted the ACO.

11:13 a.m. and 3:08 p.m., Alto Ambulance went to Ski Apache to transport injured skiers to LCMC.

12:47 p.m., Ruidoso Ambulance Service went to Ski Apache for one patient.

9:10 p.m., a Corona area resident reported 100 cedar fence posts stolen from behind Corona Cafe. The resident had a suspect.

10:46 p.m., a Capitan woman reported her 1986 blue Mazda was stolen. At 11:19 p.m. a local EMT, who had overheard the all points look-out bulletin for the vehicle on the radio, reported seeing the vehicle at the Rodeo Bar east of Capitan. About 20 minutes later Capitan police officer Lance Zink advised dispatch he had a prisoner. The look-out bulletin was canceled. Zink booked Johnny Bob Terrell, 36, Ft. Stanton, into the Lincoln County Jail on charges of unlawful taking of a motor vehicle, resisting arrest and battery. His bond was set at $4,000. He was released on an order by Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean Jr. the next day.

MARCH 19

7:08 a.m., the county road manager reported a car blocking a road in Valley Heights Estates at the bottom of Angus Hill. The manager had complained to the car's owner, but had gotten no co-operation. A deputy spoke to the owner and advised the car be moved or be cited.

8:35 a.m., Hondo ambulance went to a Picacho area residence.

Ruidoso Ambulance went to Ski Apache three times this day to transport patients to LCMC.

10:20 a.m., Carrizozo Ambulance went to Ocuero and transported a patient to Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital in Alamogordo.

MARCH 20

12:07 a.m., an accident with injuries was reported on a county road north of Capitan. The passengers were taken to LCMC by private vehicle and New Mexico State Police (NMSF) were notified.

11:15 a.m., Hondo Fire Dept. went to a grass fire east of Hondo School where a controlled burn in an orchard got out of control. The department stayed to oversee the control burn of the orchard.

Ruidoso ambulance went to Ski Apache three times in the day to transport patients to LCMC.

12:43 p.m., Nogal and Capitan Fire Depts. went to a grass fire in Maggaddo Creek Estates. They were assisted by New Mexico State Forestry (NMSF) and US Forest Service firefighters. The fire was out by 3:52 p.m.

1:24 p.m., an accident without injuries was reported by Roy's Gift Gallery in Carrizozo. The fire department was called out because of an engine fire.

Audrey Calentine of Carrizozo was cited.

9:55 p.m., a party was reported at the old heliport site south of Capitan off Cora Dutton Road. There were four vehicles and eight to nine people. Capitan police arrived and the people put out the bonfire, picked up trash and dispersed.

MARCH 22

9:17 a.m., Capitan ambulance and Roswell ambulance went to a one vehicle roll-over on State Road 248 (Pine Lodge Road) north of Capitan. A man with a possible broken leg was transported to Roswell Medical Center by Roswell ambulance. NMSF also responded.

Checklist for fire safety

Spring is fast approaching and with it's arrival many changes will come about; warmer temperatures, the snow will melt and the winds will start. Oh the wind!

With the winds, come wild-fires, the enemy of all wildland fire fighting agencies.

Fire is a good tool for clearing out debris in fields, farms or range land, but like any tool, used incorrectly it can be very destructive. All land owners who use fire as a tool are accountable for the use of that tool. It must be used with care and with an eye on the potential widespread devastation it can cause.

Before, you start a fire please check the following items:

1. Have you taken steps to keep the fire confined in the area you can control?

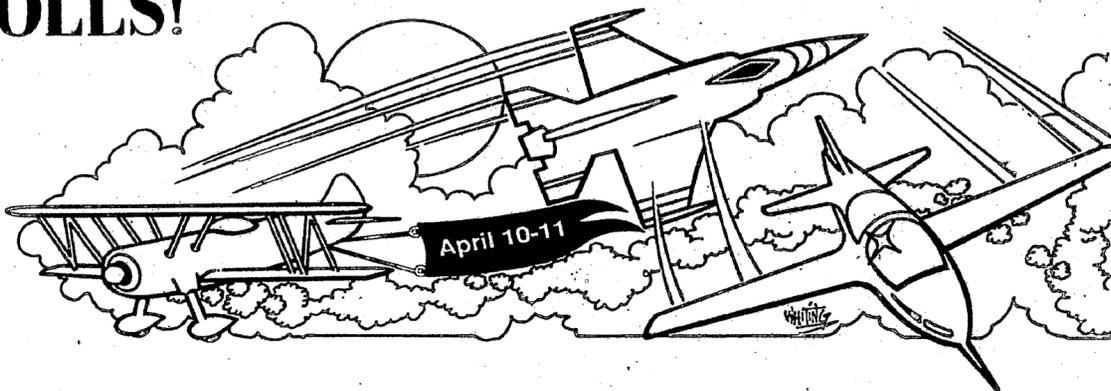

2. Have you on hand the proper tools to control the fire? (Will water be available, tractor, handtools, enough people.)

3. Have you checked the weather? (Will there be wind at the right or wrong time?)

4. Have you contacted your local fire fighting agencies? (They would like to know so they will not need to respond.)

If you have not done these things your burn could become a catastrophic or deadly wild-fire. If you have any questions, contact your local Fire Departments, Sheriff's Office or New Mexico Forestry & Resources Conservation Division, Capitan District, P.O. Box 277, Capitan, New Mexico at 354-2231.

Synovex® implants.

Synovex implants produce higher average daily gains than other implants. This means bigger, heavier calves at weaning or when they come off grass. Synovex implants increase feed efficiency. Together, the increased gains and feed efficiency with Synovex implants can deliver a return of as much as $25 for every dollar invested. Adds as much as 20 lb. gain. Synovex implants are specifically formulated for steers over 400 lbs. Synovex H are specifically formulated for heifers over 400 lbs. Synovex implants consistently outperform all competitors. Synovex C are specifically formulated for calves. The only implant cleared for use on heifer calves being kept for replacement heifers.

New Cutter Blue™

Even resistant flies find it hard to resist.

Introducing Cutter Blue Insecticide Cattle Ear Tags. The new ear tag containing the active ingredient, fenitrothion. This unique, proven compound has never been used in an ear tag before. Until now. For you, that means even more effective control of face flies and horn flies, even the most stubborn resistant ones. And new Cutter Blue has been EPA-approved for both beef and even lactating dairy cattle.

#21550 $1.30
$26.00 / 20pk.

Effective Cutter Gold™

A generation ahead in horn fly control.

Cutter Gold Cattle Insecticide Ear Tags contain the new generation pyrethroid, cyfluthrin. This new compound has been proven to be four to six times more active than the older pyrethroids and offers excellent fly control.

Plus, Cutter Gold is the only new generation pyrethroid ear tag that's approved for both beef and lactating dairy cattle.

WORKS PRECISELY. WORKS RAPIDLY. WORKS CONTINUALLY.

NEW Rear Dose Dial MegaShot™ Delivers Accurate Dose Injections

The advantage you are looking for is ease and speed of each injection — with no sacrifice of accuracy. The new MegaShot™ Pistol Grip Syringe delivers repetitive doses of 1cc, 2cc, 3cc, 4cc, or 5cc. Except the MegaShot quality features you will find with other local injection systems. The rear dosage dial locks securely for multiple doses — with accuracy. The frame and plunger disassemble easily for cleaning and sterilization. MegaShot™ has passed rigid tests by pharmaceutical companies and biological manufacturers, veterinarians and livestock producers. It works precisely and keeps working time after time — accurately.

WALL OF WATER PLANT PROTECTOR

PLANT SEEDS OR TRANSPLANT

Plant transplants 6 to 8 weeks before the last normal frost date for your area. As the plant grows it will start pushing the top of the protector open. You may then fill the protector to the top with water. This will cause it to open fully. If the plant has not opened its protector by the last normal frost date you should open it by filling the tubes with water.
