Alonso resigns as LSWA chair

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority chairman Victor Alonso resigned effective May 18.

Alonso announced his resignation near the end of the regular monthly meeting of the authority Monday. He said he felt good about the progress the group has made, mostly the "tough deal" of coordinating the county. He also said he had agreed to serve for a year, as did all the chief elected officials from each participating entity. He said the chairmanship has taken lots of time and travel and now he needs to devote more time to his business.

Nominations to fill the vacancy were taken from the members present. Current vice-chairman and Capitan mayor Frank Warth was nominated to be chairman. Ruidoso member Ron Wicker was nominated to be vice-chairman. Election of the nominated persons will take place at the May 18 meeting.

Turnbow announces for probate

Ted Turnbow, a Democrat, has announced that he is a candidate for Probate Judge in Lincoln County in the June primary.

Turnbow was born in Portales, New Mexico, and grew up on the South Plains in Leveland, Texas. Turnbow graduated from Texas Tech University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Physical Education and history. Turnbow taught school and coached football and basketball in Lubbock, Morton, and Magnolia, Texas, before moving to Lincoln County in 1983.

Turnbow has a home on Nogal Mesa that he shares with his wife of 27 years, Linda, and their two sons. Linda teaches first grade in Capitan. Bryan and Cody attend Carrizozo Schools. Turnbow has operated the Carrizozo Golf Course for five years and is in Carrizozo on a daily basis.

Elliott announces bid for re-election

Bill Elliott announces his candidacy for Lincoln County Commission District III.

Elliott has served as county commissioner for District III for six years, 1983 through 1986 and again in 1991 and 1992.

"I am very proud of the hard work the present county commission has done for all of Lincoln County," Elliott said. "Your confidence and support in allowing me to serve as your county commissioner, District III for six years is most gratifying."

"I have worked hard to represent all of the county and can proudly say that we have professional office management, equipment, and personnel that we can rely on to run the county

Ruidoso member Ron Andrews was elected to fill the vacant treasurer's position. Ruidoso Downs former mayor Bonnie Addy had served as treasurer until she left LCSWA after the March municipal elections.

Ruidoso village council will select another member to fill the vacancy created by Alonso's resignation.

Members voted to provide $2,443 to the Southeast Economic Development District (SNMEDD) to hire a coordinator provided 80 percent of its 26 governmental entities go along with a solid waste study, which will look at landfills on both the east and west side of the mountains.

As for the coordinator, members talked specifically of Nick Pappas, who has approached SNMEDD. The coordinator position must be advertised and there is no assurance he will be hired.

LCSWA members agreed to go with the SNMEDD study because of the mixed signals received from the Otero County governments. Despite numerous meetings with the Otero group, including one where draft joint powers agreements were distributed, no commitments have been made.

Lincoln County is a year ahead of all the other surrounding counties. Alonso said Otero's slow progress to organize and is now just beginning to think about recycling and composting clouds the joint landfill issue.

Warth said the east side counties are also slow to realize they have a solid waste problem.

About half the Lincoln county trash goes east to the Roswell Landfill at this time, the other half goes to the Otero county Dog Canyon landfill west of the mountains. With about one and a half years left on the life of the Otero county landfill members agreed they have little time left to organize and talk. Rather, Alonso thought LCSWA should be looking at buying land within a year.

"We're in a delicate tight-rope," Alonso said.

Warth said it was not an option of going east or west, rather east and west.

LCSWA attorney advised the members they should have a clear option with the SNMEDD study that Lincoln have a free standing two-county landfill on the west side and is not locked in to a five-county landfill on the east.

There was some worry about the SNMEDD and the Corps of Engineers studies, in which LCSWA is participating, taking eight months to be completed. That time could be used to site an actual landfill on the west side of the mountains.

At a recent meeting of LCSWA representatives and the Otero group, the Otero governments will use that time to organize.

The Corps study will look at financing options and economic feasibility of a landfill for Lincoln and a joint landfill with Otero. Results of the study are expected in December.

LCSWA members signed the actual agreement with the Corps for the study. Terms of the agreement were negotiated and some changes had been made in the scope of work. The study will look at financing options, including sales tax bond and general obligation bond. LCSWA attorney Robert Beauvais said LCSWA may have to look at having a bond question on the general election ballot in November.

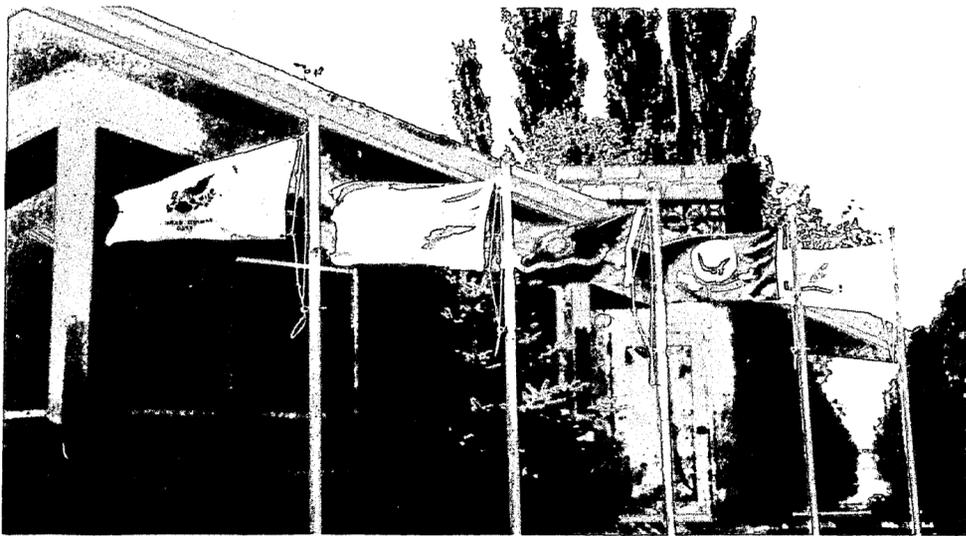

But Alonso was philosophically not in favor of burdening the property owners with more taxes. "I believe landfills should be financed with user fees...if we tax property, there is no real measure of the real cost per user."

Alonso preferred a revenue bond issue.

The study does not specifically include Alamogordo, but may in the future.

LCSWA members further discussed financing, as suggested at the recent meeting with the Otero groups. Cloudcroft mayor Mike Nivision suggested the 10 entities of the Lincoln and Otero groups pool their resources and approach the state legislature for money to finance a landfill. By doing

Ken Cox resigns from Capitan School Board

All but one of the current Capitan Schools certified personnel were asked to return to school in the fall and a school board member resigned.

Capitan Board of Education on Thursday accepted the resignation of board member Ken Cox, effective May 15. Cox plans to move his family to Carlsbad.

The board invites any person registered to vote and who resides within the Capitan School District, to apply for the vacancy on the board. The board has 45 days to replace Cox or the State Dept. of Education will do so. Resumes and letters of application from interested persons should be mailed to Capitan Schools Supt. David Lock, P.O. Box 278, Capitan, N.M. 88316.

Board members Preston Stone, Tom Trost, Ron Roybal and Jack King re-approved the contracts for 34 certified personnel for classes K-12, librarian, counselor, nurse and special education. However, they did not act on rehiring VoAg teacher Joel Edwards. The board had met in closed session to discuss personnel prior to regular business.

Edwards requested and was granted a personnel hearing before the board at 1 p.m. May 1.

Drama teacher Molly Weber submitted her resignation at the March meeting.

The board also accepted the resignation of cook Ceil Chaffins, who has moved to Alabama.

Breakfast will be served at school beginning this fall. The board approved the 1992-93 school breakfast program, which is reimbursed with federal funds. Lock said the board anticipates the breakfast program will be mandated by the federal government in the near future.

Breakfast will be served to students from 8-8:20 a.m. each school day. No bus schedules will be adjusted to accommodate the program. Meals will cost 65 cents for full payment, 30 cents for reduced, $1.25 for adults and $1 a la carte. Some students may qualify for reduced or free meals, based on their families income, same as the lunch program. Guidelines and applications will be sent with all students in the fall.

Research has shown that children do better in school if they have a good breakfast. The board hopes the program will help the education environment. The head cook will plan menus.

The 1992-93 school calendar, which was approved at the March meeting, was amended to change the parent-teacher conference schedules. Presently the conferences are held on

Clinic Opens In Hondo

Lincoln County Medical Center has announced the opening of a healthcare clinic in Hondo. Michael Carbutto, D.O., will staff the clinic, which will probably be open every Friday morning beginning May 1.

Hondo Valley residents can make an appointment to see Dr. Carbutto by calling his Ruidoso office. As a family practice physician, Carbutto will see patients of all ages for their primary healthcare needs. As use of the clinic increases, specialists from Ruidoso may also come to the Hondo location on a rotating or as needed basis.

"We really felt there was a population in the Hondo Valley lacking convenient services because of the location between Roswell and Ruidoso. Because we want to do our best to reach out to all residents of Lincoln County, we decided to open the new clinic," said Valerie Miller, administrator of Lincoln County Medical Center.

Dr. Carbutto agrees. "I want to help provide access to care for the residents of the valley," he said. Carbutto is a former Ruidoso resident who left in 1981 for college and medical school. "Family medicine in a small community is special," he said. "You're not just treating patients, you're treating your neighbors," he continued.

The clinic will be held at Hondo Valley Public School. To make an appointment at the Hondo Clinic, call Dr. Carbutto's office at 257-7075 or 257-7091.

such, all entities would have to forgo "porkbarrel" funds for such things as civic centers and so on.

Beauvais said that should be pursued because a landfill would be paid for. All the groups could go together to ask the legislature for capital appropriation during the 60-day session in January 1993.

Members selected their favorite from four finalists of the logo contest. Contest committee chairman Bill Allen presented the logos, one of which received honorable mention. After discussion, members selected the logo designed by Debbie Jones, of 103 El Paso, Ruidoso, which incorporates the full name of Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority and shows a garbage can. Jones also submitted another for the preferred logos.

Nick Pacheco of Capitan received honorable mention for his colored design which all agreed would not be usable as a logo, but which was such fine work it deserved attention. The other logo finalist was Deon Cox of Nogal.

Members also agreed to take old tires and car batteries from residents, not commercial operations. The batteries can be taken to Wal-Mart, also.

Capitan also will have a clean up on April 25. City trucks will be available for trash. Construction waste will be taken at the LCSWA Class C landfill near Capitan.

The next LCSWA meeting is May 18 at the Recycling Center in Ruidoso Downs.

Trash collection is going smoothly for LCSWA in Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs. LCSWA will participate in the Ruidoso cleanup scheduled for April 25 and May 1 by providing a roll off container for construction trash and attendants at the transfer station. Construction trash will cost $15 a yard.

After discussion, members agreed to let residents dump a level pickup bed load of construction trash for nothing. LCSWA will not collect trash, just provide a place to Members also met in closed session to discuss threatened litigation and real estate contract. Members came back into open session and directed LCSWA manager Gene Green to negotiate with the Ruidoso Downs Race Track for property for a composting operation. Also Green will work with the track on an agreement to collect trash there. The track has given Ruidoso Downs a trash truck to pickup garbage. The agreement will be made with the track and LCSWA.

Canyon CowBelles promote double Cheeseburger day

The Canyon CowBelles and Carrizozo Country Club joined forces to host and provide a lunch for the Coalition of County Governments on March 28. As the turnout was not as great as anticipated, there was a lot of leftover food, so the CowBelles had their April 1 meeting at the Country Club to feast on a terrific roast beef lunch. Twenty members and guest Ruth Brockman were present to enjoy the meal and meeting.

Thanks and words of appreciation were extended to all for a job well done on the Coalition meeting as well as the District V CowBelle meeting held March 12. A special thank you to Johnson Stearns for all the hard work he contributed and also to Curtis Fort who brought his bronzes for display at both meetings. Mr. Fort was very generous to donate a small bronze at our District CowBelle meeting, for which we held a raffle with all proceeds going to the NM Boys/Girls Ranch.

Sarah Gnatkowiak gave a report on some of the topics discussed at the Coalition meeting. She pointed out that everyone needs to get involved with land and water issues and to be aware of what goes on in our local government. New Mexico is unique in that our county commissioners have an ultimate say in a lot of decisions that not only affect ranchers, but also businesses, schools, loggers, miners, those who own a house or bit of land and anyone who drinks water or likes to eat! It is vital to know who is governing your town or area and state and to be sure and support them. We learned that the Supreme Court just passed a 9-0 vote for logging jobs vs. the spotted owl controversy in the Northwest, so keep informed and be supportive.

Anne Ferguson also shed some light on the Edmondson vs. Synar Campaign in the state of Oklahoma. Synar is trying to raise the public land use fees which will adversely affect ranchers' grazing fees by a tremendous amount.

Wednesday, March 20 was Ag Day in which Ruth Wilson spearheaded a distribution of beef related brochures, pamphlets and placements to local businesses including the motels, beauty shops, restaurants, REA and grocery stores. We thank you for supporting our CowBelle efforts in getting the word out about our industry.

We listened to an audio cassette report from PRIMETIME promoting Double Cheeseburger Day which will promote beef and dairy industries working together. The event will be May 1.

Linda Greer won the door prize and the next meeting will be May 6 at Annie Withers home.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD YOUNG

LaMay-Young united in marriage

Kimberly LaMay and Richard Young were united in marriage on April 4 at 2 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents, Dale and Maxine LaMay in Carrizozo.

Baskets of white carnations and white lilies and white mums decorated the LaMay home.

The Rev. Cliff Hoeve of the Trinity United Christian Church of Lubbock, TX performed the double-ring ceremony.

The groom's parents are Bob and JoAnn Young of Logan, N.M.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal white lace covered Victorian wedding gown, enhanced by rows of lace covered ruffles cascading down, accenting the chapel length train. She wore a veil of white illusion held by a pearl headpiece.

She carried a cascade of white roses surrounded by light blue primroses accented with lace and ribbon entwined with a string of pearls belonging to the bride's great-grandmother.

A wedding reception was held at the Four Winds. The bridal table held a three-tiered heart-shaped wedding cake adorned with blue roses and topped with a western bride and groom.

The bride is a 1988 graduate of Carrizozo High School.

The groom is a 1979 graduate of Logan High School and is now employed with Brooks Construction. The couple will reside in Dell City, TX.

A student's view

Four-day school week

By RENEE ROPEP

If a student were asked if he would like a day off of school every week, he would naturally reply, "Of course!"

When students at Carrizozo Schools heard of the possible switch to a four-day schedule, most everyone was delighted. But further consideration and information concerning the proposed change brought to light a few details that many people may not have realized.

The reasons given to students and parents in explanation of this proposed change are as follows: to reduce operating costs in energy consumption and transportation costs, to improve the attendance rates of students and teachers, and to allow families to have a day to make doctor, dentist, etc., visits without students missing school. Other advantages such as three-day family weekends and easily made-up snow days are listed.

Some of these advantages are apparent. It is obvious that reduced costs would be beneficial. The reduction of all costs for one complete day over the period of at least a year could prove to be substantial. These cuts in spending might possibly free money for other programs and needs. Studies of other programs which have implemented the four-day week have shown that attendance records of both students and teachers have indeed improved significantly. Attendance could also be improved since students would be provided with an extra week-day in which to take care of doctor's visits and other such business.

Fewer disadvantages are listed, but discussions among students and parents revealed other views. The disadvantages mentioned include: extended day may be too long, especially for younger students; progress of special education students may be hindered by the interruption of three days, or difficulties in obtaining child care for working parents.

Conversations throughout the day were centered on other possible problems. Most of these difficulties involved students who participated in extra-curricular activities and families living out of town.

A problem concerning students playing sports is that if they are forced to get out of school at a later time, that means after school practices will end that much later. Students also will not be permitted to use any school time for extra-curricular activities.

This would mean that all out-of-town games and trips would have to be scheduled on a Friday or Saturday or later at night. Older students who were participating in sports would seldom have an extra day because on the off-day they would always have practices or games.

This in turn brings up another problem, that of students living out of town. Naturally students who live out of town have to get up earlier and get home later than students who live in town. The longer day would only make these students get up even earlier and get home even later. This could have a major impact on younger children who have trouble with a long day anyway.

In thinking of this, the problem which naturally comes to mind is: will the quality of education be affected by the effort to learn more in less time. Although people say that it is the same as going five days, it must be taken into consideration that it could be harder to learn as the day drags on and students become more fatigued. This plan could also present the following problems for adults. One is the problem of childcare. Most working parents do have to work on Fridays. They would be faced with finding someone to care for their child throughout this day.

Another negative aspect is that some school employees will work less and be receiving less pay. The people affected by this will generally be cafeteria workers and school bus drivers. The salaries of these people could be 20 percent less because of the lost day.

There are two sides to this issue, both positive and negative. Carrizozo School students were issued surveys on Tuesday to take to their parents to gauge interest and opinion. If enough positive interest is in evidence, further steps will be taken to inform the public.

Beckley to receive bonus for enlisting

ALAMOGORDO, N.M.—William G. Beckley, the 21-year-old son of Russell and Barbara Beckley of Lincoln, N.M., will receive a special $1500 cash bonus for enlisting in the Army as a wheeled vehicle repairman.

Beckley, whose wife Millisa also lives in Lincoln, will leave April 23 for eight weeks of Army basic training. He will be eligible to receive his cash bonus after completing the mechanics phase of his training at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

"I decided to join the Army to get the mechanics training," Beckley said when he enlisted for four years. "I also wanted a chance to serve my country."

Beckley graduated from Capitan High School in 1989.

Capitan School Board . . .

Thursdays. Next year the conferences will be held from 4-8 p.m. on Friday Oct. 23, and Friday, March 26. Students will not attend school that day. The board hopes the change will increase parent participation.

Architectural Plus, of Roswell, was the most favored of 16 firms who submitted proposals to design a middle school facility. Negotiations for the cost of the firm's work will begin. Part of the specifications requested the architect consider long-range planning.

The school plans to hold a bond issue election in February 1993. The amount of the bond will be determined by the plans.

Mickie Griego is the recipient of the Jesse E. Fay scholarship this year. She will receive about $800 from the endowment.

Board policy on reduction in force (rif) was amended to include wording set by this year's session of the New Mexico State Legislature which allows the school to discharge certified school personnel if the state or federal government does not appropriate or authorize enough funds.

Commendations were given to Joel Edwards for the Ag Judging Contest held at Capitan School, about 1,000 4-H and FFA students from 40 teams participated, and to Dick Valenzuela for the Dessert Pops concert.

Lock also announced the planned visitation by State Dept. of Education representatives Sandra Rokoff and Sydney Gould. The two will view the school's elementary special education programs which keep students in the regular classroom. Capitan Elementary Principal Jerry Newsom, who also is the special education director, responded to an invitation from the State Dept. for exemplary programs.

The board will conduct a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 20, to consider the preliminary 1992-93 school year budget. Lock will take the preliminary budget to Santa Fe the following day, for review by the State Dept. of Education. The formal budget hearing is set for May 26.

SANTA FE—Lotteries aren't something in which New Mexico should be involved, say state lawmakers.

So why should New Mexicans be subjected to a federal lottery that has separated Americans from over $25 million a year?

Didn't know the federal government ran a lottery? I found out during the mid-'70s oil boom, when the U.S. Bureau of Land Management ran an oil and gas lottery. The idea was reasonable. The BLM decided to give small investors an equal shot with well-to-do individuals and companies by conducting a lottery for its valuable leases rather than putting them on a competitive bidding basis.

The catch was that the process was sufficiently complicated so the average Joe who wanted to gamble a little money couldn't just buy a chance on a lot in some oilfield. There were federal forms to be filed and procedures to be followed.

But, never fear. In our free market economy, there soon emerged a service to fill that need. Companies went into business overnight that would handle all the paperwork and red tape for you—at many times the actual cost. They placed ads in publications that told of fabulous wealth to be gained from the skyrocketing value of oil leases. For something like $75 it was possible to get in the game.

I bit. And didn't win. Only later did I learn the actual filing fee was next to nothing.

In the '80s the Federal Communications Commission got into the act with a lottery on cellular telephone licenses. And shady application preparation services misled thousands of small investors about their prospects of being "big winners." With a $75 course under my belt on why this might not be a real good idea, I didn't get burned.

Now the FCC is at it again. This time it's a lottery on "wireless cable" television. No longer is the marketing done through ads in publications. High-pressure telemarketing application mills have sprung up to fleece investors out of millions of dollars with overblown promises about the likelihood of scoring huge riches in the world of high-technology.

A brochure from one of the application mills says, "Our FCC has historically proven itself as the greatest of all government giveaways. Awarding the airways to the American public is like the great land grants of the early 1800s, only this time the real estate is in the sky."

Wow. How could a guy resist? We've all heard of government giveaways. Here's a chance to get in on one ourselves. And it sounds legit. After all, it's the federal government so everything must be OK.

The catch is that the application fee is $165. The "investor" pays upwards of $5,000 for the assistance in filing it.

Why does the federal government get itself involved in projects that have so much chance for abuse?

Fairness. Some committee of bureaucrats decided competition for new licenses in a highly-regulated industry would be so intense that a lottery would be the only fair procedure. The government isn't making money off the lotteries. In fact the feds are spending a bunch on tracking down fraud and abuse of the lottery system.

But they keep at it. The FCC is planning new federal lotteries to award market licenses for even newer technologies called multiple address systems and interactive video data services. Observers expect the same "old hands" who have specialized in manipulating the wireless cable TV to their advantage will move over into these fields.

And some sources say abuses of these new technologies will be overshadowed in the next few years by an even greater threat to consumers. Efforts are now afoot in Congress to shift a major section of the radio frequency spectrum from public use into the private sector. It could be the biggest bonanza ever for con artists and other sharp operators.

If you would like further information on these scams or if you suspect you have been defrauded or misled by a federal lottery application mill, contact the Securities Division, New Mexico Regulation and Licensing Department, 725 St. Michael's Drive, Santa Fe 87501. Jerry Manzagol and crew are doing a bang up job watching for the con artists.

Host families needed for student exchange

Want to know more about the world and its people, but haven't the time or funds to travel? Try bringing a bit of the world to you. Invite an exchange student to share your home and become a part of your family.

Families who have participated in an exchange program have reported a new appreciation for other cultures and a great satisfaction in opening their home and hearts to an international visitor. Family members not only learn of another country, but become better acquainted with their own sense of nationalism, history and traditions. Participants have said, "It's the most wonderful learning opportunity I could give my family."

International Student Exchange, Inc. (ISE), is presently seeking host families for students from seventeen different countries. Students between the ages of 15 and 18 are carefully screened by ISE for suitability. They bring their own spending money and are covered by health insurance.

While living with you, a student attends the local high school and is expected to bear his or her share of household responsibilities. The length of stay can range from three months to a full year, depending on your wishes. An ISE representative will help you select a student from numerous student applications which include family photos and biographical essays.

For more information on being an ISE host family, or on sending a son or daughter abroad, phone ISE's Regional Office nearest you.

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

I must be getting better. It only took me two days last week to get my income tax return filed. One day to fill it out and one day to figure out how to pay it. It was an exercise that proves the point that the reason Congress is so good at getting away with deficit spending is that the tax code trains us all on its finer points. I figure I am now only three years behind on my taxes. Not on paying them to IRS but on getting the debt retired that I incurred doing so. And I am again going into the new year with that fresh new feeling of starting from nothing. This must be what the poets are talking about when they glorimize the newness of spring, nay, the rejuvenation of life, the budding of new opportunities, the putting aside of old ways in favor of innovative advancement, and enough of that.

I plan to make hay this year while the wolf is enjoying his latest well deserved root canal. After all the nibbling he did on me last year, it's a wonder he has any teeth left at all. I may have tooth marks on my booth-els, but you ought to see what he has on his nose.

On the Tonight Show the other night, Rodney Dangerfield said his wife had run off with his best friend, but he wasn't very worried because he thought he could come up with a new wife. But he said he sure did miss his dog.

He also said something about having to park in the handicapped zone at the nudist colony, but that one went over my head.

It has been said that the best method of birth control for couples over 50 is nudity, but that still doesn't seem to explain the reference to "handicapped". At least not to me, but maybe if I keep stumbling around, I'll finally figure it out.

A couple of weeks ago, I got several comments in response to something I said in this column, but I got distracted by my discussion about child support, that took two weeks to talk about without ever coming to a point. Speak of stumbling around. After letting it settle, it seems that my point was that child raising should be treated as a necessary task of life, and we should not let social relationships interfere with doing a good job of it. In other words, there is plenty of time to work yourself to death trying to fulfill dreams of things you want to accomplish that after you do, you find you didn't care whether you did or not, and you finally decide that the humdrum is not so bad after all.

See how easy it is to get distracted. As I was saying, I had some comments on my column. One individual asked, "Why can't you say something good about George Bush?", and before I could answer, George threw the first baseball of the season into the dirt. I am now convinced that we should support Senator Bill Bradley (D., N.J.) for president. Since he is a former NBA star, maybe he can carry the ball without dropping it. At any rate, I will say that George lacked genuinely concerned; sort of the type of grin that reminds you of the Lincoln-esque expression about the man who was tarred and feathered and rode out of town on a rail. "If it wasn't for the honor, I'd just as soon not be here."

Another self-styled literary critic told me he would like my column more if I would write about only one subject at a time. I suppose he meant only one subject per column, rather than only one subject per sentence, but that may be asking too much because limiting me to a single subject certainly restricts my ability to elaborate on the finer points of the concept I might be discussing.

The Other Side . . .

Whenever I confine myself to a single subject, I invariably wind up talking myself into a corner that I can't get out of without some skillful maneuvering, and from the number of corners I've been in, my maneuvering equipment is about worn out. I am amazed that anyone would criticize my efforts in writing my column, not from their temerity in daring to tell me how I should do it, but in the fact that they had the guts to admit they had read it in the first place.

Aha! Now I get it. He was handicapped because he had lost the benefit of all of his illusions. You have to be a good talker to lie about things that are in plain view and hind sight doesn't help when it's yours that's exposed.

VAN W. WITT

Witt to seek re-election

Van W. Witt announced his intention to seek re-election to the State Board of Education.

Witt, a Republican and 37-year veteran of New Mexico's educational system, has represented District 8, which includes Chaves, Eddy, Lincoln DeBaca, and Torrance Counties for the past three years. In those years, Witt has chaired the Professional Standards Committee, which implemented changes in the National Teacher Exam so that more minorities could qualify. He was also instrumental in implementing guidelines for a statewide salary schedule for classroom teacher aides so they could receive higher pay for extra training and years of service.

As a member of the Instructional Materials Committee, Witt strongly supported and voted for more local (parental, as well as local board) control of text book selection; in addition, he advocated larger budgets for classroom instructional materials.

Presently, Witt serves as the State Board Representative to the New Mexico Activities Association, which governs all extracurricular activities of New Mexico's schools. He is also active as a member of the following committees of the State Board: Educational Standards Committee, Indian Education Committee, Vocational Education Committee, and Vocational Rehabilitation Committee.

An issue of pressing importance, and one that Witt strongly favors and will work to implement, is raising New Mexico Teacher's salaries to regional average as soon as possible. "It is urgent that we make our teacher's salaries competitive with those in neighboring states," he says.

Dancers to perform at C'zozo art show

This year's annual art exhibit at Carrizozo Municipal Schools will feature a performance by Roswell Folklorico. The group is composed of seven former Hondo Valley High School dancers which includes two former fiesta kings. The dancers reside in Roswell, Artesia and San Patricio.

Their performance in Carrizozo on Friday evening May 1, 1992, is free of charge to art show goers. Some of the dances that the group perform include: El Bolonchon, El Jarabe Pateno, Jesucita En Chihuahua, El Novillero and El Jarabe Tapatio. Newer numbers include Los Alazana, Una Noche En Santa Rosa and La Lora.

Roswell Folklorico originated in September of 1991 under the direction of Frank Herrera of Roswell. Herrera is an instructor of Business Education at University High School and Eastern New Mexico University-Roswell Campus and serves as organist/cantor at Assumption Catholic Church.

The other dancers are Martha Torrez Polaco and Connie Chavez, Roswell and both bilingual education instructors at Nancy Lopez Elementary; Yvonne McTeigue Zumwalt, Artesia, student at Aladdin Beauty College and seamstress for Roswell Folklorico; Billy Joe Herrera, San Patricio, assistant instructor at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School; Jerome McTeigue, Artesia, mechanic; and Laura Gomez McTeigue, also of Artesia, housewife and mother.

Their involvement in high school with the nationally famed Hondo Dancers and their love of the Mexican and New Mexican music and dance inspired Roswell Folklorico to continue to share this tradition with others. The adult group has danced for St. John's and St. Peter's Catholic Church fiestas, Eastern New Mexico University-Roswell Campus, ENMU Portales, Roswell Independent School District and various clubs throughout the area. The group has booked performances into summer, including a stop at St. Eleanor's Fiesta in Ruidoso.

The art show in Carrizozo will include a display of visual arts created by Carrizozo students in kindergarten through sixth grade as well as art work submitted by students in mid-high through high school who have an interest in art. In addition to Roswell Folklorico, the Carrizozo art show will include a variety of dance performances. Among them are Carrizozo fifth graders who will dance the "Cotton Eyed Joe" under the direction of Wini Wilmore, fifth grade teacher at Carrizozo Mid High.

Vega assists Dr. Rouleau

University of New Mexico medical student Audrey Vega is assisting Dr. David N. Rouleau while benefitting from the Captain physician's professional experience during a preceptorship—an apprentice period that the School of Medicine requires for all students seeking an M.D. degree.

Dr. Rouleau is one of more than 120 doctors in private practice around the state who instruct medical students in this critical part of medical education.

Vega also did a community health project during her preceptorship. Projects range from conducting a free health screening in the community to preparing health information to help residents make good medical treatment decisions.

Vega is working with Dr. Rouleau from April 1 to April 28, 1992. During that time she will gain skills in taking medical histories, conducting examinations and analyzing symptoms of illness.

Ski patroller needs assistance

Ski patroller Dave Tetreault was seriously injured while performing his duties. His injuries will force him to possibly miss all of fire season work this summer. Insurances will cover some of his medical bills, but his young family needs assistance with day-to-day expenses. A bank account has been established at Ruidoso State Bank to accept donations and pay his family's bills. The name of the account is "Connie Boehm for Dave Tetreault." His recovery may take several months, so we appreciate the community's generosity.

Numbers show 'no debt' on rise for farmers, ranchers

The 1990 ag finance survey conducted by New Mexico department of agriculture and the USDA agricultural statistics service suggests New Mexico farmers and ranchers are in less debt trouble than in previous years. Survey answers are a reflection of farmers and ranchers, nationwide, NMDA says. Frank A. DuBois, director/secretary, NMDA, says, "This survey shows the lowest debt to asset ratio we've had reported." Debt is defined as money owed on real estate, operating, personal and other debt.

The numbers showing "no debt" increased in both farming and livestock operations responses. For farmers, the percent of operators reporting no debt increased from 1986 and 1988 levels, rising to 29.0 percent. For livestock producers, the percent of producers reporting no debt increased from the mid and low 20s of 1986 and 1988 to 36.2 percent in 1990.

At the same time that the numbers with no debt were increasing, the number of respondents with debt to asset ratios over 40 percent also fell. This is an important move for stabilization in both farming and livestock operations because a debt to asset ratio over 40 percent indicates operations are in trouble. Farmers reporting over 40 percent fell substantially from a reported 23.3 percent in 1988 to 16.7 percent in 1990. Like the crop producers, the percent of livestock producers with debt to asset ratios above 40 percent fell substantially, from a reported 25 percent in 1988 and 26.9 percent in 1989 to 12.1 percent in 1990.

Farmers reported a decrease in debt of $159 thousand in 1988 to an average value of $96 thousand in 1990. Ranchers report a decrease of debt from a high of $289 thousand in 1988 to $143 thousand in 1990. Ranchers debt to asset ratio fell in 1990 to the lowest ever reported, a little over 15 percent. Farmers debt to asset ratio decreased to 18.7 percent, down from 28 percent in 1988.

NMDA surveyed by random sample 1,098 livestock producers and 1,091 crop producers. The survey was designed to compare results from surveys of 1984, 1986 and 1988. Twenty-four percent of the farmers responded and 31 percent of the livestock producers answered the questionnaire.

Both farmers and ranchers reported they were current on real estate loan payments and both groups say the turnaround rate from lending institutions was roughly half the number turndowned for additional funds in 1988.

The survey found that the highest debt to asset ratios were reported by dairy and hog producers, those in the 45-54 years of age bracket and those producing crops on 2,000 or more acres. Also, reporting highest debt to asset ratios were those with a gross income of greater than $250,000.

The lowest debt to asset ratios were reported by cotton farmers, those in the 65 plus years of age bracket, those who farmed 100 to 499 acres and those who produced gross receipts under $10,000.

In characterizing income, the survey reveals average gross farm income to be $119,262 with expenditures of $102,346. Twenty-five percent of the expenditures was for interest payments. The average farm income is a combination of 46 percent of the income as net from farm proceeds and 54 percent from sources off the farm such as earnings from spouses.

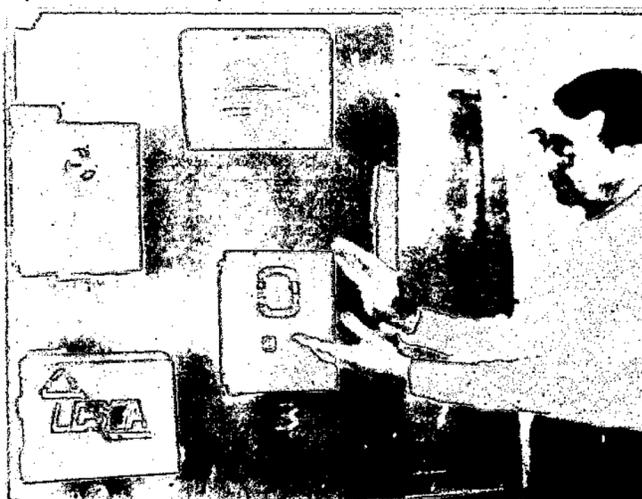

Income characterizations for livestock producers showed an average gross receipts of $90,437 with expenditures of $60,916. Of that 39.7 percent went for interest payments. Net family income from livestock operations was $55,830. Of that, 58 percent was derived from livestock operations and 42 percent generated off the operation.

Of the six counties with responses from farmers, Quay county reveals the lowest debt to asset ratio of just over 11 percent. Dona Ana is second with assets of $558,049 and debts of $98,946 for a 17.7 percent ratio. Curry county showed 23.3 percent, Roosevelt, 27.4 percent, Bernalillo had 27.9 percent and Eddy county had 28.8 percent.

Ten counties had responses for livestock operations with Rio Arriba having the lowest debt to asset ratio of 1.7 percent. Curry had the largest of 32.7 percent. The counties of Lea, Chaves, Mora, Catron, Union, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Quay also responded for livestock production and their asset figures ranged from 10.9 percent to 31.6 percent.

Soil & Water Stewardship Week is April 26 - May 3

"Our Treasured Trees" is the theme of Soil and Water Stewardship Week featuring the vital role that trees and forests play in conserving soil and water resources, the Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District is encouraging local schools, camps, churches, organizations and individuals to join the nationwide observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 26-May 3, 1992.

The local conservation district, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is providing literature and educational materials that describe how people are dependent upon and interact with trees. The local district is one of nearly 3,000 conservation districts nationwide that works with the National Association of Conservation Districts to encourage the wise use of natural resources through the annual week-long observance.

Knollene McDaniel, chairman of the Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District, said she hopes Stewardship Week will encourage individuals to think about their relationship with trees and establish and care for trees in urban and rural areas. "Every citizen has the opportunity to plant a tree, care for a newly planted seedling, look after mature trees or send financial support to someone who will do those tasks," said Mrs. McDaniel.

Materials designed with the 1992 theme, "Our Treasured Trees", are being distributed by the Carrizozo District and may be obtained by calling or visiting the district office during business hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Lincoln County Courthouse Annex, Carrizozo, N.M., telephone, 648-2941.

Memorial Day program slated

The Memorial Day program to unveil the plaques at Fred Chavez Park will be held May 25. This will be the final step in restoring the park to its original condition.

An enchilada dinner is scheduled for May 17 from 12 noon to 3 p.m. at Santa Rita Parish Hall to raise funds for the remaining expenses for the park program.

Volunteers are needed the afternoon of May 17 to help prepare the park for the festivities. Anyone wishing to help should contact Chevo Baca or Theresa Luna.

Glen Ellison appeared at the April 14 Carrizozo Town Council meeting to ask for permission for the program and for assistance. He presented the information to the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce April 14.

Loans available for Gulf War vets

According to Joseph S. Cordova, Director, Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office, Albuquerque, several Persian Gulf War veterans have applied for and received veterans housing loans. Eligibility was established for these veterans as they were called to active duty under Title 10 USC which provides for home loan entitlement benefits. At the present time, home loan entitlement benefits are not extended to other members of the National Guard units as they are serving under Title 32 USC.

Cordova reminds all Gulf War veterans that they have this benefit and if they have questions they may contact the VA Regional Office in Albuquerque at 766-3361, or toll-free 1-800-827-8019, for information on obtaining proper eligibility certification.
