Commission opposes Bonito land exchange

By DORIS CHERRY

Lincoln County Commission met with state Bureau of Land Management director Larry Woodard to discuss the environmental assessment phase of the proposed Rio Bonito land exchange.

The exchange, which was first brought to public light in February 1991, has fueled a debate between BLM and the Lincoln County Commissioners which has yet to be extinguished.

Commissioners contend the majority of Lincoln County residents are against the proposed swap, which will take about 1,140 acres and 330 water rights out of the private sector in Lincoln County in exchange for 15,000 acres of BLM desert lands near Las Cruces and Los Lunas. With the exchange, the four tracts within the Lincoln Historic District will become public BLM lands.

The commission's major argument against the exchange was the unequal parity of private and public lands in the county. Already federal agencies control about 33 percent of the county acreage.

Other negative comments about the exchange dealt with BLM's ability to manage the properties it already controls.

Commission chairman Stirling Spencer requested Woodard and Roswell Resource Area manager Sandy Allen, to address five points of concern.

—Not enough specifics in the management plan on the impact to the county.

—The exchange is not in compliance with the county's land use plan on parity of federal and private acreage.

—Maintenance of the multi-use concept.

—How the Endangered Species Act will affect the area.

—How water rights will be used, for maintaining downstream flow or irrigation?

Woodard invited the commissioners to meet with Allen to review public comments her office has received regarding

Morales turns in his badge

Former Carrizozo Chief of Police Choncho Morales turned in his badge Wednesday.

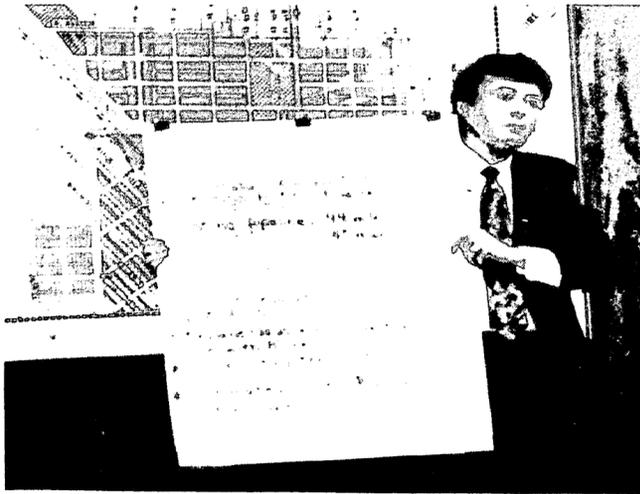

After 32 years on the force as an officer than chief, Morales turned in his equipment after Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel had sent him a written request to do so.

Morales' position was deemed abandoned May 15 when he failed to respond to a letter sent by the mayor which demanded he return to duty or show cause why he had not complied with the order to return to work, said mayor Kuhnel Wednesday.

Morales had taken sick leave in April, then did not come back to work. On April 29, Kuhnel sent him a letter requesting medical documents to support his sick leave. Since his medical reports did not indicate serious problems, Kuhnel sent another letter May 12 demanding Morales return to work by 5 p.m. May 15, or his position would be abandoned.

"He had not shown cause why he could not comply with the order to come back to work," Kuhnel said.

CAPITAN-CARRIZOZO Natural Gas Association attorney Robert Beauvais holds up a flip chart to help explain why the association's board of directors want to sell its transmission line to Natural Gas Processing Company (Zia Natural Gas). Considered the most important decision the gas association board has had to make, the board sought approval of the sale from the Carrizozo Trustees—only to find an argument over who has the power to make the final decision.

Natural gas situation fuels lengthy debate

By DORIS CHERRY

The issue of whether a council has total control over one of its appointed boards sparked a debate which lasted three hours at the Carrizozo town meeting Tuesday and may result in the loss of a profitable business deal.

The debate began when president of the Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association (CCNG) board of directors, Dr. David Rouleau, apprised trustees of his board's unanimous decision to sell its transmission line to the Natural Gas Processing Company of Wyoming. Rouleau pointed out considerable data compiled by various engineers, appraisers and advisors for the last three years which indicate the only viable option for CCNG is to sell the transmission line.

Based on that information, the gas board, comprised of three members appointed by the Carrizozo Board of Trustees and two appointed by the Capitan Board of Trustees, had made the unanimous decision to sell the transmission line to Natural Gas Processing Company (Zia Gas Co. in Ruidoso Downs is the local office). The company had proposed the purchase three years ago. Since CCNG has worked to compile information to show whether the sale would be a prudent business decision and now was presenting the data to obtain coun-

Voters to make history at polls

Voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, June 2, and make history.

For the first time since it became a county, whether territorial or state, Lincoln County will have five members on its board of commissioners. Along with the five-member board will come four-year terms, and a change in the way of voting for those five commissioners.

For the primary election, voters who live within a certain commission district may choose their favorite party candidate. The ballots on each precinct voting machine will list only those candidates for that particular commission district. Voters may choose from those commissioner candidates only. Republican voters select only Republican candidates, Democrat voters select only Democrat candidates in the Primary Election.

Last year's redistricting brought another set of changes for many voters, with precincts and polling places modified. The county clerk's office mailed notices to voters of any change in precinct or polling place. But office staff expect some confusion and many questions at the polls.

Candidates below are listed in the order they will appear on the voting machine ballot.

Candidates for U.S. president are: Democrats Edmund G. Brown, Bill Clinton, Tom Harkin, Paul E. Tsongas, Lyndon H. LaRouche and Larry Agran; Republicans Patrick J. Buchanan, George Bush.

Candidates for U.S. Representative District 2 are: Republican Joe Skeen; Democrats Patsy D. Reinard, Dan Sosa Jr., Donald Bruce Wilson.

State Corporation Commissioner: Democrats Jerome D. Block, Jackie A. Fisher, Peggy J. Helgeson; no Republican candidates.

Justice of the State Supreme Court: Republican Harris L. Hartz, Democrats Francesca Lobato and Stanley F. Frost.

Judge of the State Court of Appeals: Position 8 Democrats Bruce D. Black and Marc Prelo Jr. There are no Republican candidates for Position 8. Position 9 Republican Joanne Birge, Democrats Steven Schoen and Lynn Pickard. Position 10 Democrat Benny E. Flores and Republican Charles R. Barnhart.

State senator District 8 candidates are: Republican Dana cil endorsement of the plan to sell.

Natural Gas Processing (NGP) had provided CCNG with a written offer to purchase the transmission line and its right of way. Previously CCNG had delayed action on NGP's previous offers by appealing to the Public Service Commission which regulates natural gas operations.

Rouleau said the positive aspects of the sell of the transmission pipeline would be that CCNG would keep the distribution and lateral pipe system over which they would have control. CCNG could retire its remaining debt incurred to construct the pipeline in 1965 and

Maritime Day observed May 22

By RUTH HAMMOND

American Merchant Marines and Military Veterans were honored at a ceremony at Fort Stanton Cemetery May 22 which is National Maritime Day.

Retired Merchant Marine Captain Victor Schaerer welcomed the more than 80 guests who attended the program and said, "From within the ranks of those in attendance we should be able to get a big ship safely underway." He added, "We should have sufficient air protection and with help of US Army and Marines be able to repel any enemy boarders."

Sye Feldman, a former British RAF pilot, played the bagpipes as members of the Roadrunner Chapter of Merchant Marines of Albuquerque entered the cemetery.

Tom Hufford and Pat Brinkley of the Roadrunner Chapter and US Air Force Veteran Cleson Pritchett were speakers. Pritchett spoke about our military forces.

Special thanks went to Mrs. Joseph Wattam of Taos for donating the 1,000 pound ancient fisherman's anchor which now rests at the base of the 25-foot tall monument in the cemetery. Mrs. Wattam's husband, now deceased, was a chief engineer in the US Merchant Marines.

Another new addition at the cemetery is a 10,000 pound anchor from the US Maritime Reserve Fleet at Beaumont, Texas. The massive anchor was made available through Captain Warren Leback, head of the Maritime Administration in Washington, DC. The anchor came off a World War II Victory Ship.

Representatives from Senator Jeff Bingaman's office and Senator Pete Domenici's office attended the ceremony.

Fort Stanton Postmaster Betty Joiner set up a branch of the Fort Stanton Post Office and sold envelopes with special commemorative cancellation honoring American Merchant Marines. The cancellation is available from the Fort Stanton Post Office through June 22 and

Polling Place List

Precinct boundaries were approved in 1986 for precincts to be used in the 1992 Primary and General Elections. The 1990 census was taken according to these precincts.

This is the first time in the history of New Mexico that precinct boundaries follow physical lines (roads, streets, rivers, creeks, trails and municipal or county boundary lines).

Previously, precinct boundaries followed invisible lines known as meets and bounds that are used by surveyors of land.

Each commission district is made up of several precincts.

Trustees approve budget

Carrizozo trustees okayed the preliminary 1992-93 budget for the town Tuesday night. Clerk Carol Schlarb presented the budget which proposed expenditures at $1,314,689 for town operations and salaries and benefits for its 10 full-time employees and one part-time employee. Revenues were estimated at $1,084,050, leaving an ending cash balance of $362,240. "We're in the black," Schlarb said. The original preliminary budget which trustees presented to the trustees Tuesday night was altered at the last minute, after Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District (SNMEDD) representative Curtis Schrader told of a major problem with the recent construction bid for the street repaving project. SNMEDD was hired to administer the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) which will finance the paving projects.

But, when the bids were opened by Ted Asbury, from the engineering firm Roberts, Asbury and Andrews, no one took into account gross receipts on the $175,000 lowest bid. Schrader took the blame for not catching the mistake, which will cost the town about $14,000 more on the bid to cover the gross receipts for the project. He said he was unaware of the gross receipts, since he had been in New Mexico only about a year.

Schrader also said the engineer made no mention of the gross receipts, either.

CDBGs require a matching cash fund. Enough money had been earmarked and set aside from the special infrastructure gross receipts which Carrizozo voters approved for upgrade of streets to meet the original cost of the match for the 1990 CDBG and the 1992 CDBG (also for paving), plus some left over for future projects. After discussion about various options to take in order to come up with that additional $14,000, Schlarb advised trustees to take the money needed for the gross receipts from that fund.

Part of the paving project is $45,000 from the New Mexico State Highway Dept. to resurface E Ave. If that project is not completed by June 30, the town will lose those funds.

A pre-construction conference is set for early next week and Mayor Cecilia Kuhnle declared the "machines will be on the streets by June 5," at the meeting Tuesday.

Schrader said the town is getting a pretty good investment on its $60-$70,000. "The town is getting over $600,000 of street improvements."

Kuhnle assured trustees the situation on the gross receipts will not happen in future projects, since she and Schrader are both educated on the situation. Many of the delays and problems with the 1990 CDBG project were attributed to the engineering firm.

Schrader said the town does not have to accept Andrews, Asbury and Roberts firm in the upcoming request for engineering proposals on the 1992 CDBG.

The preliminary budget, approved by the trustees, will be sent to the Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) in Santa Fe. DFA will make adjustments, then return the budget to the town. A final budget hearing will be held in July, and the 1992-93 town budget will be formally adopted.

Martha Proctor to start third term

Martha McKnight Proctor is running unopposed in the Republican Primary and General Election for the office of Lincoln County Clerk. Ms. Proctor expects to start her third term as county clerk on January 1, 1993.

Ms. Proctor is a life long resident of Lincoln County, spending most of that time in the Hondo Valley on the ranch that now belongs to Sam Donaldson. This ranch was owned by Ms. Proctor's family from 1945 until, recently, Ms. Proctor attended New Mexico University and later worked at Tinnie Silver Dollar for 18 years. She also worked part time at the Hondo Post Office. Martha says that she believes elected officials serve in a profession where professional training is not always required, but where character, candor and honesty are most important.

The county clerk is responsible for the safekeeping of the county's legal records of real estate transactions, mortgages, probate records and marriage certificates. The clerk must also attend all County Commission meetings and record the minutes, as well as conduct all county, state and national elections.

Ms. Proctor said she decided to run for the office in 1988 because her three children were grown and she had the opportunity to devote full time to the position. Martha enjoys her work very much and says she is both proud and yet humble that Lincoln County voters have allowed her to run unopposed for the second time. She is proud because it shows that the citizens of the county have faith in her ability to do the job efficiently, and yet humble because she realizes that there is always room for improvement.

AI's Musings

By AL STUBBS

We suspicion that someone is fooling around with cloud seeding again. This would explain the very unusual weather we have been experiencing recently.

Some three decades or so ago, cloud seeding was a big item in this area. Ranchers particularly were interested during drought years, hoping to increase rainfall artificially to grow more grass (or just any forage) for livestock.

Apparently there were two methods of seeding clouds so that they would release their moisture over a "designated" area, so to speak.

One method was to release silver iodide crystals from an aircraft into rain clouds. Another was to release the substance from the ground, as we recall, from "cookers".

There was one company in the Denver area which specialized in rainmaking. Robert O. Anderson of the Hondo Valley and Roswell was a promoter, as we recall. He had and has vast ranch holdings.

Controversy soon developed over cloud seeding and rainmaking, however. Areas which thought they were robbed of moisture because of cloud seeding elsewhere were ready to go to court. And cotton and hay farmers at certain times of the year didn't want heavy rainfall at all.

But, considering the unusual weather of late, we suspicion someone is fooling with silver iodide again. If so, the Hobbs people have a basis for a lawsuit for sure.

By taking published figures and doing some adding and subtracting, we determined that last week Ruidoso received 3.2 inches of moisture, in a month which is normally almost bone dry. Campers who came to the Lincoln National Forest for an outdoor adventure over Memorial Day holiday, they, too, might have a basis for legal action against those cloud seeders, if they exist.

Emily and Walter Henn of Lincoln did a fine job of informing the Roswell High School class of 1942 about Lincoln County War fact and hearsay during the class visit to the historic old town last week.

In a separate presentation, Alice Bryant of Alto gave classmates food for thought when she told of what she described as an encounter with possible aliens in Colorado. She is the author of two books, one on a perfectly formed glass skull apparently of ancient but unknown origin.

The class of '42 might also have a cause for legal action against cloud seeders. It drizzled all during the Lincoln visit, putting a damper on a walking tour of Lincoln. The outdoor artfest at Clouderoft might also have a call for action. Golf courses would join in a class action suit.

James Hobbs of the Flying J Ranch Wranglers has introduced a new song he has written. The Wranglers played and sang it during the opening night of entertainment at the Flying J Ranch north of Ruidoso, Saturday evening. The title is "Biggest Little Cowboy That I Know." Adam, the young son of Jim and Cindy Hobbs, inspired the new offering.

It takes will power to come out of the Museum of the Horse gift shop without a package or several packages under the arm. Greeter Bonnie Mattox told us the head count at the opening gala dinner and dance, Saturday, was about 700.

The facility is certainly one of which Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs and the R. D. Hubbards and the Hubbard Foundation can be proud. And in any saddle-making contest, the saddle creators from Mexico come out several lengths ahead. What skill!

Weatherman Bill Hostetter tells us that so far this is the third wettest year in Lincoln County on record. It is behind 1958 and 1975 but could catch up before the month of May is out.

Summer hours at National ruins begin

Beginning Sunday, May 24, 1992, Salinas Pueblo Missions National Monument will change to summer hours. The ruins of Abo, Quarai, and Gran Quivira will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily. These hours will remain in effect until Monday, September 7, 1992. Park Headquarters in downtown Mountainair will continue to be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily.

Each of the three ruins sites, located in what was once the Salinas Jurisdiction of New Spain, contains the ruins of a Spanish Franciscan Mission built on the site of a prehistoric Indian village in the early 1600s. The ruins of Abo are located nine miles west of Mountainair on US Hwy 60. The Quarai ruins are eight miles north of Mountainair on NM Hwy 55. The Gran Quivira ruins are 25 miles south of Mountainair on NM Hwy 55.

This year Salinas Pueblo Missions will celebrate Heritage Preservation week with an exhibit entitled "Monuments of Adobe". This traveling exhibit, developed by the Albuquerque Museum, opened May 15 and will be on display at Salinas Pueblo Missions National Monument headquarters in Mountainair through mid-August.

Admission is free. For further information contact the Superintendent at P.O. Box 496, Mountainair, N.M. 87036, or call (505) 847-2585.

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Washington, D.C. will get a big dose of New Mexico this summer.

In June the Smithsonian Institution opens two major New Mexico extravaganzas.

From June 26 to July 5, New Mexico will be the featured state in the 26th annual Festival of American Folklife to be held on the National Mall, the magnificent grassy area extending from the Capital Building to the Washington Monument.

Two days earlier the National Museum of American History opens its special Columbus Quincentenary exhibition entitled "American Encounters." And what is the only logical state to feature? Smithsonian scientists figured it out as quickly as you did.

The Quincentenary exhibit is of such significance that it will enjoy an indefinite run. Estimates range from 10 years up. No state has ever been featured so prominently.

In contrast, exactly half the states in the nation were featured before New Mexico in the 10-day Festival of American Folklife. But it made sense to feature New Mexico at this time as part of the Quincentenary observance.

And I worried about our state letting the promotional opportunity of our 394-year life get away from us. Even if we had dropped the Quincentenary ball completely, it appears others still would have realized our place in the nation's history.

The Folklife Festival is expected to attract more than a million visitors from across the nation and around the world to view the work of some 100 New Mexico folk artists.

The Smithsonian staff tell us the Festival can be expected to have other impacts, well justifying the $200,000 appropriated by the 1991 Legislature. Most "culture bearers," they say, return to their state, energized by their experience and proud they have represented their state, community, family and tradition. Their renewed attention to their own cultural role has often inspired others to not only preserve the culture but to extend it in new, creative ways.

All states recently featured at the Festival have realized this, the Smithsonian tells us. We understand the possibility of restaging the Festival in New Mexico is being discussed and that Smithsonian officials have pledged staff assistance should state officials request.

As if the Festival weren't exciting enough, having New Mexico featured for upward of 10 years in a 3,800 square foot exhibit that will be seen by an estimated 65 million people boggles the mind of "One of Our 50 is Missing."

According to a Smithsonian news release "American Encounters examines the dynamics and effects—both positive and negative—of historical and contemporary encounters among the Native Americans, Hispanics and Anglo Americans of New Mexico. It explores ways in which Native American and Hispanic cultures have endured, resisting successive efforts by dominant cultures to absorb them, and have achieved a state of coexistence within the framework of the Anglo American culture."

The exhibit is funded by a $1.2 million appropriation from Congress and an additional $1 million from the New Mexico Legislature. If 65 million people see the exhibit, that computes to 1.5 cents a person New Mexico will have spent to advertise the state.

Of course, if some of the exhibit is negative, as the news release warns, might the promotional value be diminished?

One thing is certain. There will be protests. In the past month farmers and ranchers have objected to a state-funded roadside broadcast saying the Mescalero Apaches had some of their original land taken away. And the Santa Fe Fiesta Council has objected to a New Mexico Quincentenary Commission-funded videotape showing a less-than-sensitive portrayal of De Vargas' reconquest of the Pueblos.

Both groups have asked Gov. Bruce King to censor all or part of the offending works. King has indicated he may "clean up" both productions. Smithsonian, you better be on guard.

Search for pioneer farmers and ranchers

The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau is searching for "pioneer" New Mexico farmers and ranchers as part of the organization's 75th anniversary celebration. The Farm Bureau is also seeking to locate the oldest farms and ranches in the state for recognition at the annual meeting set for Dec. 3-4, 1992 at the Las Cruces Hilton.

William McIlhaney, president of the organization, said pioneer members of the Farm Bureau are being sought in all counties across the state.

"This organization first came together in 1917 and we are seeking folks who were active in the group in the early days so we can honor them at our annual meeting. In addition we want to locate the oldest ranch and farm properties, and recognizing the history of the state, we know there are properties that span centuries." Persons with information on historic farms, ranches and pioneer Farm Bureau members can contact the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau in Las Cruces at (505) 526-5521.

The 75th anniversary activities begin with the Farm Bureau summer conference, July 17-18, 1992 at the Legends Hotel in Angelfire, N.M. Numerous activities are planned for the event including the premier of a new video tape examining the history of the state's largest agricultural organization titled, "Distinguished Past - Dynamic Future... the history of Farm Bureau in New Mexico."

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR—I would like to commend the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, and especially Deputy Angelo Vega, for the efficient and thorough job they did in investigating the recent incidents of vandalism at Cedarvale Cemetery in White Oaks.

Perhaps this will send a message to those people who have nothing better to do with their time than to desecrate the final resting place of people far better than themselves. Keep up the good work.

DONALD QUEEN,
Carrizozo.

EDITOR—Those people who wish to bring wolves back should bring them back where they (those people) live. Most of these people wish to bring wolves back not where they live, but where other people live. (To reintroduce wolves on federal land is to reintroduce wolves on adjoining private land).

Of course, these urban dwellers don't live in a habitat suitable for the wolf. They have created and live in an environment impossible for the wolf and most other animals, but they demand that others feed, protect and live with wolves.

Rural and urban dwellers alike who don't like to hunt game, don't have domestic livestock, don't have pets such as cats or dogs, or who don't know that wolves would prey on their pets if wolves became plentiful, are often for wolf reintroduction.

State game and fish people and others will get more money, recognition and power if the wolf is reintroduced so likely some of these people will be in favor of it.

My hope and belief is that there are enough rational, caring people in all walks of life to prevent wolf reintroduction.

BILL BRYAN,
Corona.

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

It looks like the person who wanted me to say something good about President Bush is going to have to wait a little longer. This past couple of weeks he has spent alienating blocs of voters, which either means he knows something I don't about how to make enemies and influence friends, or he has a death wish.

First, the Justice Department decided this was an appropriate time to show all the Indian tribes in Arizona that they could, after several years of doing so and while the matter is pending in court, no longer flaunt the law with their gambling operations, which certainly didn't make George the man of the day with the five tribes that were raided, and sent a message to other tribes in other states, including New Mexico, and Lincoln County, that the welfare of the Indians is of little interest to the powers that be. I'm sure this bloc of voters will be consulting their Perot Cards to see what the future holds.

Next, the spotted owl was told it would have to share its backyard with the endangered logger. Although I may be somewhat in sympathy with the logger because it takes too many acres to feed an owl and owl feathers don't bring a very good price on the open market, giving such a vocal minority as the environmentalists more to talk about doesn't sound like a very appropriate move when you are second in the polls.

Third, he has announced, himself and through Dan Quayle, that the cause of the Los Angeles riots is the disintegration of family and moral values in the black community, in part resulting from the failure of social programs initiated by Lyndon Johnson. While there may be considerable merit to this theory from an academic point of view, implying that the black community was at fault for not controlling their own didn't seem to be designed to gain popularity in the polls. In fact, I would expect the support to go somewhere else, if there was anywhere else to go.

And then there was Murphy Brown.

In many ways, George Bush is acting like a lame duck trying to force some of his pet proposals through while he still has a chance.

Sign in bar: "Drinking alcohol during pregnancy can cause birth defects." I happen to know this is true because neither of my children, who are now grown, have any birth defects, and it has to be due to the fact that I didn't drink when my wife was pregnant. I readily admit they are not perfect, but any defects they have were acquired postnatally.

My friend replied, "Well, we certainly picked the hostess with the leastest this time."

The present popularity of cellular phones is changing the habits of the population. We no longer have to be tied to a particular spot to receive or make calls. We can now call our girlfriends, our broker, our candlestick maker, our politician, our lawyer, or our banker, all without having to wait to return to where the phone is. We also can receive all our important phone calls, from relatives, aluminum siding salesmen, office supply salesmen, telephone salesmen, our children's bondsmen, etc.

Carrying your phone around with you will be very handy, but I wonder what you will do with the phone book. However, this is not a problem for me since I can remember the numbers for most of the calls I would want to make, if I could just remember what I did with the phone.

I hesitate to use the phrase, "I believe", because it means "I am satisfied with the concept and don't want to talk about it anymore", but if you define "belief" as being the present acceptance of a body of assump-

Corriente CowBelles plan Grady Le Roping

Thursday, May 21, 1992 Corriente CowBelles of Capitan met at the Smokey Bear Cafe. Sue Naegle, formerly a Copper CowBelle member joined our group.

Plans are continuing to proceed for the Grady Le Roping to be held at the Capitan Fairgrounds on June 14. We expect to have applications for the scholarship awarded that day in by early June. On June 21 Corriente CowBelles will be making burritos for the concession stand. We are looking for a large crowd at the team roping June 14. This is the only money maker Corriente does each year. Our money is spent mostly for youth and their activities.

Again the classroom has yielded 11 teachers applying to take this course come summer. We decided to increase our donation to $200 to help these teachers who come from the Hondo, Ruidoso and Capitan schools. Other organizations have generously contributed.

Father's Day is a special day for CowBelles to promote beef and celebrate this special day. The slogan "Prince of Fatherhood" will be used. In addition to advertising, Corriente plans to give a $20 beef certificate to the family of the first born baby on Father's Day or soon after, in the hospital at Ruidoso.

Plans for the July 4 parade float are being considered.

Also a picnic for Corriente CowBelles and families was discussed. This is being considered for July.

The Corriente CowBelles plan to donate money to go to the owner of the Grand Champion breeding heifer at the Lincoln County Fair in August.

Thursday, June 18 will be the next regular meeting of Corriente CowBelles.

The former second town police officer John Northrop Jr. had resigned at the end of April, while Morales was on leave, which left the town without its own police.

Immediately, the town placed an ad to hire a police officer. After interviews the trustees approved Kuhn's recommendation to hire Gene Knutson. Knutson lasted only two days, then quit, once again leaving the town without its own police.

Deputies from the Lincoln

County Sheriff's Office and the New Mexico State Police had been providing law enforcement for the town of about 1,200 people.

Thursday, May 21, Mayor

Kuhn hired Charlie White to serve as temporary part-time officer, because of the crisis situation. White was an officer with the Roswell Police Dept. for a number of years.

A notice of employment for a certified or non-certified police officer, part-time or full-time was again advertised by the town. Deadline for applications is 5 p.m. Tuesday, June 9. That night, during the regular Carrizozo trustees meeting, they will consider whether or not to hire an officer as a chief of police, Kuhn said.

Until then White will provide law enforcement for 32 hours a week, deputies and state police will assist during White's off hours.

R.D. HUBBARD talks with some guests at the grand opening of the Anne C. Straddling Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs Saturday night. Guests were treated to a show of 11 breeds of horses, wonderful Mexican dishes and barbecue, a preview of the museum's multi-million dollar exhibits in the newly remodeled facility and a dance with music by Lone Star Express of Capitan. The museum was financed through the Hubbard Foundation, established by R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard, who also own the Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The museum is now open to the public.

Gas situation

receive a $50,000 cash payment.

Rates to customers will be guaranteed for nine years and Rouleau did not anticipate a rate increase. CCNG employees would also be retained and as well as the association's humanitarian concerns for its customers. CCNG would receive $500 cash for each new customer it takes on.

Also CCNG would no longer be responsible for maintenance and insurance on the transmission line.

The major reason the CCNG board decided to sell the transmission line is the extreme high cost of upgrading the line to meet future demands. Currently the transmission runs from its connection with the El Paso Natural Gas main line to its connection with the Ruidoso trunk south of Capitan. The distribution and lateral lines to the various consumers residences come off the main four-inch transmission line.

Predictions are the four-inch line may not provide enough gas to maintain proper pressures for all customers if a cold winter occurs. To replace that aging smaller pipeline would with a six- or eight-inch line would cost CCNG from $2.5-$3.5 million. Financing the upgrade would ultimately increase the cost of gas to the 680 CCNG customers in Capitan, Carrizozo, Nogal and to Ft. Stanton. Another concern was whether Ft. Stanton would reduce its gas needs if it changed to a geriatric service facility. If Ft. Stanton's needs decline 20 percent, CCNG could be in financial trouble.

The gas board made no overnight decisions about the sale, Rouleau said.

Rouleau told of the history of the board, how it was formed by the two municipalities, Capitan and Carrizozo, to service the rural area. Once the board incorporated, it was allowed to make its own decisions about management. However, two years ago did CCNG decide to make itself a public entity, subject to the Open Meetings Act, audits and so on.

Attorney John Underwood was present at the town meeting to represent Natural Gas Processing. He said NGP will most likely proceed with a request before the Public Service Commission to pursue its own transmission line if CCNG does not accept the company's latest offer. It will demonstrate to the Public Service Commission the present line does not have the capacity to meet the needs of the gas consumers it services.

It wasn't the sound reasons for the decision to sell that sparked the three-hour argument. It was Trustee Harold Garcia's insistence that the CCNG board had to seek unanimous approval to sell any part of CCNG from the two boards of trustees which appointed the members. He argued the state statutes which allowed the two municipalities to establish the CCNG in 1964 require unanimous approval from the boards of trustees which appointed the CCNG board.

The CCNG board has requested a clarification on the statute from the Attorney General's office, but none opinions have been made. CCNG attorney Robert Beauvais said the state law requires unanimous approval from both boards of municipal trustees only if CCNG decided on total liquidation of assets. By statute, once the board incorporated it had all powers as an ordinary board of directors to dispose of real assets.

"Your real powers are to appoint the board, they serve at your pleasure, if you're not satisfied. . . replace them," Beauvais said.

But Garcia did not want the responsibility of citizen protest if the transmission line sell goes unfavorably. He also wanted to put the sell out to public bid.

Rouleau told the trustees he was there to get their unanimous approval and the legal issue of who has the power is a moot point if the trustees are in agreement to sell the line. "I don't think there is opposition in the Capitan board (of trustees)," Rouleau said.

Underwood said he was coming before the two municipal boards on behalf of his client to make sure there are no problems with the sell.

Trustees admitted they knew nothing about the business workings of CCNG. Rouleau and CCNG representatives at the meeting invited the trustees to the Wednesday CCNG board meeting in Carrizozo. There they would be provided with CCNG profit figures. Rouleau decline to discuss CCNG monetary assets in the public meeting, before Natural Gas Processing Company's attorney.

The discussion eventually turned into an argument between Garcia, Underwood, mayor Cecilia Kuhn and Beauvais over the power of the board. Garcia took it further and insisted CCNG board consult and receive approval from each municipal board in the negotiation process.

Underwood said his client will most likely withdraw his offer to buy the transmission line if he is required to negotiate with all three boards. "The enormity of that task forecloses the deal."

He also said if his client has to wait for an Attorney General opinion (which can take as long as six months) on the power of the CCNG board to make decisions on the sell of part of its assets, the offer will be withdrawn.

Since the purchase offer from Natural Gas Processing has a timetable Rouleau encouraged the trustees to endorse the CCNG board's decision to sell, not to "arrest the process, which would put us at a disadvantageous position."

A conflict of interest on the part of Beauvais, who serves as attorney for CCNG and the town of Carrizozo, was drawn into the argument. Beauvais invited the council to seek outside legal counsel on the situation.

Finally, after about three hours of discussion, trustees unanimously accepted the findings of the CCNG board, and decided that in two weeks, at the next regular meeting, they would determine whether to allow CCNG to make the final decision about the sell, or whether they, as trustees have the power to make that unanimous decision.

"This board doesn't speak for the Capitan board," Beauvais replied.

CCNG board members will meet with the Capitan Board of Trustees about the sell at the village meeting in June.

Pinon needle cast worries residents

Problems with pinon tree needles turning brown has many county residents asking Lincoln County Extension Agent Barry Herd for answers about the situation.

Apparently the trees are losing last year's new needles and many trees have lost older needles as well. New shoots are developing normally and will soon provide the only needles on many of the trees.

The pinon needle cast, or dropping off of needles, may be the result of a needle cast fungus. The ways of infections in the area may be due to wet conditions at the time spores are being produced, probably summer.

Most trees should recover from the needle cast without (Con't. on P. 8)

Patsy Reinard holds a degree in economics and is a candidate for the 2nd Congressional District Democratic nomination. She has studied with Walter W. Heller, Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers from 1961-64, who guided the American economy through one of its healthiest periods in history.

Economic and Social Recovery Program

One-time tax cuts will not stimulate GNP growth, caused by low productivity, which has plagued our nation since 1973.

1. Trade Reform: Fair trade, not free trade, is the only weapon which will save the 2,000 GOOD jobs lost in America every day.

2. Tax Reform: America's middle class produces the nation's jobs, its wealth, its art, its inventions, and its military and political leaders. Yet, we are taxing the middle class to extinction and discouraging them from bearing children. We must return to the progressive tax rates in effect prior to 1986, because it is clear that the Tax Reform Act of 1986 has not benefited anyone but the wealthy.

3. Legal Reform: Our nation is overinsured and overly litigious. We need caps on professional malpractice (which will help bring down medical costs), punitives, and other tort awards.

4. Education Reform: Our education system needs to be more responsive to the changing needs of American industry. Teachers must be experts in their technical fields.

5. Regulatory Reform: Deregulation's true legacy has been to create transportation bottlenecks, the destruction of healthy airlines, and curtailment of rail access to certain industries and areas.

6. Banking Reform: We must reduce taxpayer exposure to future bailouts by a drastic overhaul of banking regulations.

7. Big Government Reform: Government agencies, including Congressional staff and budgets, and government pay scales and benefits, must be trimmed to match the reduced tax base represented by a private sector which has been seriously crippled by recession. It now costs about 6 million dollars to support a member of Congress. The last two pay raises Congress received should be rolled back and Congressional staffs should be cut 25%.

8. Shift in Military Spending: The U.S. still maintains more than 500,000 military personnel in hundreds of bases around the world and spends billions of dollars to support them. All support monies possible should be spent in the U.S., not a foreign land, and military forces gradually reduced to a safe peace time level.

9. National Health Care Reform: Proof that private health insurance companies have failed to contain administrative and medical costs is that America spends 14% of its Gross National Product on medical care every year. Still, 37 million Americans do not have medical insurance and, therefore, equal access to medical care. There is enough money available, with some cost containment, to provide basic medical coverage for every American without more taxes and perhaps at a savings to some paying high insurance premiums.

Peggy Helgeson candidate for State Corporation Commission

Peggy Helgeson is a Democratic candidate for State Corporation Commission. This is her second bid for the position.

Helgeson is a businessperson, real estate investor, retired deputy sheriff and mother of two sons, both Eagle Scouts.

She earned a teacher's certification in criminal justice from UCLA. Her experience includes full charge bookkeeper, cost accountant, payroll supervisor, teacher, store security manager and membership in the AFL-CIO and NEA.

"My goal is to eliminate favoritism in the State Corporation Commission," Helgeson said. "I will introduce departmental 'time and motion' studies and develop policy and procedural manuals. With consistent representation of regulations, we can ensure fair and equitable treatment of regulations, especially the backbone of New Mexico's economy, the overlooked small, independent business person."

Helgeson has visited Lincoln County several times recently campaigning for the Democratic primary.

She presented the Lincoln County banner to Cece Griffin, chair of the Lincoln County Democratic Party. The banner has been displayed in the Lincoln County booth at Albuquerque.

the exchange, since those have affected the specifics in the land use plan.

"The overall sense is a light touch," Woodard said. He said there might be an occasional picnic table, but the main intent is to maintain its current look. "We're not going to put in a Disney Land and screw that all up," Woodard said.

Allen said footpaths along the river are being considered, but lands near residential area will be left undeveloped.

One area outside of the historical zone, which has yet to be added as part of the proposed exchange, could lend itself to a more intensive use recreation area.

Funds to develop the area will trickle in, taking as long as 10 years.

As for the parity of federal to public lands, Allen said by 1994, she hopes to have as much as 35,000 acres of isolated BLM land within Lincoln County identified for disposal—either by exchange or actual sell. However, Woodard said BLM prefers to exchange. Eventually, Allen said enough lands may be identified to make a net gain of private lands in Lincoln County through BLM exchanges.

Commissioner Monroy Montes asked about the cost of the exchange to the taxpayers. Woodard had no answer.

On the multi-use of the land, Allen said BLM never intended to have no grazing, rather will use the livestock grazing as a management tool. Non-motorized and footpaths are planned for some area along the river. Hunting is not a good idea, Allen said, because of the close proximity of the highway. Her office will work with the Game and Fish Dept. on the hunting situation.

BLM will continue to preserve and protect the watershed with a salt cedar eradication project. Archaeological work could be done on sites with potential for excavation and possible interpretation. All recreation areas will be low intensive so as to not draw large crowds.

Off-highway access and parking for those paths and trails will be included in the plans.

BLM has no intent to place endangered species within the Rio Bonito area. While the plan says the area is suitable for endangered species, BLM has no intent to do so.

The water rights discussion included comments from a lawyer from the State Engineer's Office about proposed laws to create downstream rights. Previously, Woodard had proposed to utilize the 330 water rights toward the Pecos River debt to Texas. Because of the designation of the Rio Bonito as a "sinking river" it would not do much good on the Pecos River issue, Woodard said.

Allen said the plan will utilize the 330 water rights as they have been historically—for irrigation of old croplands for livestock and wildlife. There is a possibility of a small reservoir if additional lands are eventually included in the exchange. Tract 5, which is on the east end of the Lincoln Valley, could include the reservoir. That tract was not included in this original proposed exchange.

If BLM makes any change of water rights useage it must be approved by the state engineer's office, Allen said.

Martha Frank, attorney from the state engineer's office, said a great many groups in the state are interested in establishing downstream water rights, which will require upstream users to let water down in dry times, in order to keep water in the stream bed.

There is one coalition of various environmental groups working on a bill for the state legislature to consider during the next session in January 1993.

"There have been lots of fights over it (water)," Frank said.

Discussion about the exchange concluded with Woodard giving a modified time table on the exchange. The comment period on the Environmental Assessment has been extended until June 30. A decision, based on public comment, will be made sometime in July. Or the Secretary of Interior (under whom BLM falls) may decide to proceed.

"If the think is still so onerous to you, a federal court challenge is an option," Woodard told commissioners. "I hope it does not get to that point."

Montes agreed there needs to be more communication between the commissioners and BLM.

Commissioners made no decisions about the proposed exchange, rather were just fact finding. The meeting was attended by numerous members of People for the West and area ranchers.

Commissioners also approved a liquor license transfer from a Ruidoso business to The New Barn on Highway 70, near Ruidoso.

Bids for belly dumps and other heavy road equipment were also awarded.

HAIL ABOUT THREE inches deep covered US Highway 380 near Nogal turnoff east of Carrizozo May 22. Driving was hazardous and many drivers returned to Carrizozo to wait out the storm which left patches of hail across the countryside, resembling winter snow.

ELECTED, APPOINTED OFFICES:
None.

WHAT DISTINGUISHES YOU FROM YOUR OPPONENT?
Worker of the people, not just a privileged few; never has held public office before; has taken less than $100 in political contributions; is fed up with self-serving government officials.

STANCE ON MAJOR ISSUES:
Supports streamlining commission's procedures for incorporation, better access to commission, training emergency personnel for WIPP routes, insurance for exposed WIPP workers, ending the non-regulation of Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangements, rotating chairmanship, more prudent expending of government funds, equitable treatment for all.

Voters to make

Mossman-Lucero and Democrats Margarito Valdez and Pete Campos.

State representative District 56 (all of Lincoln County): Democrat H. John Underwood is running unopposed in either party. There are no Republican candidates.

District Attorney, 12th Judicial District: Democrats Bert Atkins and Gail Wade Brownfield. No Republican candidates.

State Board of Education, district 8: Republican Van Witt and Democrat Jennie I. Ortiz.

Although there will be five county commissioners, voters will select their favorite party candidate from their district only.

County commission candidates are: Commission District 1—Democrat Harold Garcia, Republican incumbent Stirling Spencer.

Commission District 2—(new district with no incumbent) Republican Karon Z. Petty, Democrats Alvin S. Harcrow Jr. and Lonnie Ray Nunley. Nunley contested his disqualification as a candidate because he had not updated his voter registration by Jan. 27, the date of the governor's election proclamation. Because of the many precinct changes, the district judge ruled Nunley could become a candidate because he had lived in the same location for more than one year.

Commission District 3—Democrat Charles Griffin and Republicans incumbent Bill Elliott, Wilton H. Howell and A. Tommy Hall.

Commission District 4—(new district with no incumbent) Republicans Don E. Dutton, Jack A. King and William H. Schwettmann; Democrat Fred Hansen.

Commission District 5—Democrat J. James Sanchez and Republican incumbent Monroy Montes.

County Assessor candidates are: Republicans Albert N. Baca and incumbent Patricia Serna. There are no Democratic candidates.

County Sheriff candidates: Republicans Gilbert S. Sambraño, James C. McSwane and Jimmie Luna Sr.

Democrat as well as Republican voters will get to turn down voting pointers for their favorite Probate Judge candidates, who are: Democrats Larry Ted Turnbow and Jerry Wright; Republicans J. O. "Bud" Payne and Doyle C. Howell.

There are no declared write-in candidates for any offices on the Lincoln County primary election ballots.

Voters uncertain of their polling place or precinct need to contact the Lincoln County Clerk's office at 648-2394 before election day.

Fort Stanton: facts & fiction

By BETTY JOINER

Freda and Mike Hanjer are home after a three week honeymoon trip. They visited Mike's parents in Plano, Texas and his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harrison, in Conroe, Texas. From Texas they drove to Acoma, N.M., City in the Sky, and then on to Arizona and toured the painted desert, petrified forest, and the meteor craters. Leaving Arizona they went to Sacramento, Calif. and then flew to Seattle, Wash., visiting other relatives. They also visited the Widbey and Kingsten Islands. After arriving back in Sacramento, they started home, camping in the Sequoia National Forest, on to Las Cruces where they visited Freda's family and then back to Fort Stanton. The couple had a great time but are glad to be home. We missed you.

Dave and Della Bonnell enjoyed the company of their grandbaby and son and wife, Paul and Marie Bonnell from Albuquerque. April is getting prettier everyday, reports grandma and grandpa! bet it is the truth!

Carolyn Hall and family, of Perryton, Texas, and formerly of North Dakota visited many relatives she hadn't seen in 20 years. Several met at McDonalds in Ruidoso and got reacquainted. Carolyn is the daughter of Donald Hall, a brother to Virgil Hall and Louise Joiner.

The Merchant Marine memorial on May 22 was attended by 75 people. The rainy skies cleared just long enough to have the services. Jean and Victor Schaerer had the monument and anchors decorated with beautiful flowers, one bouquet resembling a flag. Many attended from Albuquerque, Arizona, Ruidoso and Roswell. Martha Elizabeth Waltham attended from Tucson, Arizona. She was responsible for the small anchor that was donated to the cemetery.

The "Taps" played by Dick Mound were very impressive. Twenty or so had lunch at the Senior Citizens in Capitan, after the services.

I cancelled over 400 pictorial cancellations commemorating the service. I would like to thank Jean and Victor for letting me do this as a part of the memorial service. Ruth Birdsong helped with the design and Peter of the Lincoln County News got the picture, camera ready, for the stamp to be made. This cancellation is kept in my office until June 22. Anyone wishing to have one can send 29 cents and their address or send a stamped envelope to me with their return address enclosed. A couple attending the services also helped me lick stamps for many of the envelopes, a big thank you to Les and Edith Talbot of Albuquerque. Bob Marrs, his officers, and inmates have been taking care of the cemetery and set up chairs for the many attending. Thanks to Nick Skogland for this. Anytime a project is taken on it makes you proud to be a part of it, especially when it improves the looks of your surrounding area. Vic and Jean are to be commended for a job well done. Ruth Hammond donated a 100 envelopes to be used for this also. Thanks everyone.

Louise Babers, Betty Joiner and Aileen Lindamood were the three Lincoln County postmasters attending the unveiling of the plaques in the Carrizozo Park on May 25 in memory of Fred Chavez. Aileen has worked many hours of this project. All postmasters and anyone enjoying the park should be proud of all the people who have worked towards the park project.

FORT STANTON Cemetery is the new home for this 10,000 pound anchor that came off a World War II Victory Ship. It had been kept at the US Maritime Reserve Fleet at Beaumont, Texas until recently.

AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINES were honored with a special commemorative Post Office cancellation. Fort Stanton Postmaster Betty Joiner set up a branch of the Fort Stanton Post Office at the Fort Stanton Cemetery May 22 to sell the special cancellations. The cancellation will be available at the Fort Stanton Post Office until June 22. The stamp drawer Joiner used at the cemetery is 100 years old.

BLM wants comment on Bonito land exchange

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) is requesting public comment on the Environmental Assessment covering the proposed Rio Bonito land exchange. Public comment on the EA will be accepted through June 30, 1992.

In the Rio Bonito Land Exchange the BLM will acquire 1,115 acres of land plus 330 acres of water rights from the Lincoln Valley Land Company. The parcel is along the Rio Bonito near Lincoln and adjacent to BLM administered land in the Fort Stanton area. Acquisition of the land will enable the BLM to enhance the riparian resources, wildlife habitat, fisheries, watershed and the historical values in the area. In exchange, 36,719 acres of public land will be transferred to private ownership in Dona Ana, Otero, Sierra, Eddy, Chaves, San Juan and Valencia counties.

This exchange is the result of an offer from the Lincoln Valley Land Co. All public land involved in the exchange have been previously identified in management plans as lands to be transferred from government ownership.

The Environmental Assessment is available for public review at the County Librarian and County Clerk's offices of the affected counties as well as the BLM offices in Las Cruces, Carlsbad, Roswell, Farmington and Albuquerque. Comments on the Environmental Assessment should be sent to:

Bureau of Land Management, Roswell Resource Area, P.O. Drawer 1857, Roswell, N.M. 88202-1857.

Sheriff's report

Wild weather and a naked man kept sheriff's officers busy over the otherwise quiet Memorial Day weekend.

A hailstorm Friday surprised motorists who had to slow down for as much as three inches of hail which covered roadways in the Nogal area, Ruidoso valley and other locales over the county. There were no reports of serious auto accidents or major property damage.

Heavy, cold rain was reported countywide most of the weekend.

A funnel cloud was sighted north of Capitan about 3:30 p.m. Monday, May 25. The cloud did not touch down and dissipated with a heavy rain.

Despite cold temperatures, on May 24 Lincoln County Sheriff's Dispatch in Carrizozo received a report of a naked man yelling for help in Kraut Canyon near Bonito Lake. At 1:08 a.m. the caller reported someone up the canyon calling for help, said he's hurt. The three responding deputies and a Carrizozo policeman located the male subject—unclothed, and only slightly injured. David K. French, 30, Ft. Bliss, Texas, refused medical attention from the ambulance crew which was dispatched to the scene. French was arrested, taken to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso for evaluation, then taken to the Lincoln County Jail in Carrizozo. He was booked on charges of disorderly conduct, indecent exposure, each with $200 bail, and jailed for 12 hours of protective custody. French bonded out Sunday. Reportedly he was allegedly inebriated during the incident.

The following reports were taken from dispatch reports in the Lincoln County Jail in Carrizozo.

9:27 a.m.—a family violence incident was reported at a ranch residence in the north-west part of the county. The woman rancher's son was throwing things around and threatening her—he was intoxicated. The responding deputy advised the subject left voluntarily and would find a place for him to stay.

4:01 p.m.—Ruidoso Police Dept. advised of people netting fish from Two River Park in Ruidoso. The incident was turned over to the Roswell Game and Fish office.

8:16 p.m.—Carrizozo Ledge near Ruidoso advised six or eight cars full of kids were told to leave the area, yet parked in the area anyway. The responding deputy advised the kids to get out of the area. They did.

MAY 23
3:05 a.m.—power outage was reported in parts of Carrizozo. There was a loud bang, then power failed three times, then power on. Other areas in town were without power until 4:06 a.m. when Otero Electric Coop crews repaired the problem.

3:08 a.m.—a need assistance alarm sounded in the low income housing in Carrizozo. The complainant reported a "tell tale" was going off loudly, along with a flashing blue light at the residence of an elderly gentleman. A deputy and fire department personnel assisted the subject back onto his couch from the floor. "He'd fallen and could not get up..."

3:32 a.m.—a boulder was reported in the middle of Highway 70 east, about mile marker 270-271. Hondo highway department supervisor and NMSPP were notified.

9:59 p.m.—Carrizozo lodge reported an accident with injuries involving one vehicle which ran into two others. NMSPP responded.

11:50 p.m.—Ruidoso police made a report for a man camping at Kraut Canyon near Bonito Lake. The complainant had a fight with a man and the complainant left the camp in Kraut Canyon to put his family in a motel. He requested a deputy to go and pick up his camping gear.

MAY 24
1:08 a.m.—a disturbance was reported at Kraut Canyon. A male subject was yelling for help. The unclothed subject was taken into custody by responding

District Court

There will be no more jury trials in any courtroom in the 12th Judicial District for the rest of the fiscal year.

The district, which includes Lincoln and Otero Counties, has run out of money to pay jurors. This year's state judicial budget was cut short by the New Mexico State Legislature, which resulted in short budgets in all judicial districts.

According to District Judge Richard Parsons, the 12th judicial district had about $2,400 left for trials about two weeks ago. That would have paid for about two days of a courtroom trial—complete with jury.

Since that time, the funds have run out, resulting the cancellation of all jury trials until June 30, when the current fiscal year ends. A new fiscal year, and new budget, begins July 1. Canceled jury trials will be rescheduled.

The multi-day trial set for June 2 on the Kathy Palomarez embezzlement case was granted a three-month extension. Her jury trial will be rescheduled at a date convenient to all parties sometime before September.
