

County Courthouse Has Space Crunch

By DORIS CHERRY

Lincoln County Courthouse is bursting at the seams, but should it expand its facilities or use its current space more wisely?

Lincoln County Commissioners dealt with that problem Tuesday at their regular monthly meeting in Carrizozo. The Lincoln County Extension Service retained its home economist's office in a narrow margin vote of three for and two against.

Assistant District Attorney for the 12th Judicial District Viola Rhodes asked for the small office used by the home economist. Rhodes said her office workload has increased and there are three people permanently, plus some visiting attorneys who sometimes need room.

Both district attorney and Extension offices are upstairs in the courthouse annex in Carrizozo. Rhodes proposed opening an existing door between the DA's office and the home economist's office to give her office the needed space.

Lincoln County Extension Agent Barry Herd said the Extension Service needs the home economist office, even though the economist had moved out of her office. The rooms were being used for storage of video equipment and other materials and the extra space would be needed for the summer 4-H assistant. The Extension office was moved upstairs in 1979 when then commissioner John Allen Hightower reorganized the annex, with all agricultural related offices groups on the second floor. The Soil Conservation Office is located next door to the Extension Service.

"We know we have a space crunch," said county manager Andy Wynham. To remedy this, he and department heads are looking for more efficient use of their current space. He cited the new space saving cabinets recently installed in the clerk's office. Also, Wynham is working on plans which show expansion options.

County commissioner Stirling Spencer said "someone" in the courthouse has needed more space since he became commissioner. He wanted each department head to make 30-year projections on their needs. Spencer also supported using the present space by storing records in a different way, such as microfiche.

Commissioner Bill Schwetman proposed hiring a space manager to utilize the existing space, which Wynham offered to do if the commission authorized him.

Commissioner Wilton Howell made the motion to allow the DA's office to have the home economist office. It was supported by Howell, and Bill Schwetman, Spencer, Ray Nunley and commission chairman Monroy Montes voted no, thus allowing the Extension Service to retain the office, for now.

The immediate need for space lead Nunley to make a motion to direct Wynham to look into available properties in Carrizozo for extra offices. Wynham said the county offices will need more than available floor space, the offices must also conform to the Americans with Disabilities Act requirements.

County resident Dave Skeen said he was against the county spending a lot of money adding on or renting until it utilizes its current space.

All commissioners approved authorizing Wynham, to look into available space in Carrizozo.

Later in the meeting, District Judge Richard Parsons addressed the commission. Rather than asking for additional room at present, Judge Parsons asked for some type of security in the courtroom for himself and perhaps the jury, repair of the 27 year old speaker system which failed recently,

Voters Approve School Money Issues

By DORIS CHERRY

Lincoln County tax payers were generous to their schools Tuesday.

Voters in the Capitan School District approved a $1.3 million general obligation bond question to construct and furnish a middle school, and Carrizozo and Ruidoso voters approved the continuance of their two-mill levies.

According to unofficial votes compiled by the Lincoln County Clerk's office, some 40 percent of the registered voters in Capitan School District turned out to cast ballots Tuesday. A total of 286 of those voters (including absentee) approved of the bond issue, 218 voted against the issue. Board candidates Russell Shearer in position 1, Tim Worrell in position 2, and Beval Payne in position 4 were unopposed. They received 314, 326 and 389 votes respectively. They will replace outgoing members Preston Stone, Ervin Aldaz and Ron Roybal.

Board Members Elected

whelmingly agreed to continue the two-mill levy, which can be used for various physical plant needs, in a vote of 242 to 61. Some 26 percent of the registered voters in the Carrizozo District cast ballots Tuesday.

Carrizozo incumbent board member Nick Serna retained his position #4 with a slim margin of four votes over Steve Harkey, 183 to 179. LeeRoy Zamora won position #3 with 242 votes to opposing candidate Omer L. Gibson's 117. Dewey Brown won position #5 unopposed with 241 votes.

Zamora and Brown will replace Mary Funk and Eugenia Vega on the board.

Some 50 percent of the registered voters in the Corona School District went to the polls. They elected unopposed Ernest Lueras to position #2 with 109 votes, unopposed Pete Gnatkowski to position #3 with 87 votes and chose Melvin Johnson over Joe Allen Sultemeier 66 to 55 votes for position #5.

Some 20 percent of the registered voters in Hondo School District cast ballots and selected Stella Herrera over Robert Kemp 69 to 22 for position #3. Unopposed Antonio Archuleta won position #1 with 77 votes, unopposed Frank L. Sisneros received 75 votes for position #2 and Curtis McTeigue, also unopposed, received 78 votes for position

#5. Only 10 percent of the registered voters living within the Ruidoso School District cast ballots. Voters elected Jimmie Varnadore over Kent Beatty 245 to 193 for position #4. James Paxton was unopposed for position #5, he received 311 votes. The two mill levy was continued for another three years on a vote of 298 in favor and 90 against.

Board members will be sworn in at their March meetings.

Carrizozo Complimented On Airport Improvement

The town of Carrizozo received a letter complimenting the town for its efforts to maintain and improve the Carrizozo Municipal Airport for emergency air medical evacuation. A copy of the letter from the State Department of Health, Public Health Division:

Dear Mayor Kuhnel: Our group, the New Mexico Air Transport Committee, is the advisory board established by the State Primary Care and EMS Bureau to improve air medical care delivery in the state through development of standards for such transportation.

A portion of our responsibility is to encourage local communities to maintain or improve their airports, thereby allowing the highest level of care for critically ill patients and their families.

Regular inspections of the Carrizozo Municipal Airport and reports from pilots serving the emergency medical air evacuation needs of your residents indicate that you have done an exceptional job of maintaining and improving your airport. Your dedication and support has kept a vital link in the medical services delivery system open to the people of Carrizozo.

We'd like to thank you for your hard work. Even though the nature of emergency medical air evacuation means it's often "out of sight, out of mind" for most of your citizens, it's wonderful to know you appreciate the importance of your airport.

If our committee can be of help to you, please let us know.

KATHLEEN DAVIS, RN
Chair, New Mexico Air Transport Committee.

New Members Appointed For Historic Preservation Board

By DORIS CHERRY

Lincoln County Commissioners directed the county manager to negotiate with attorney J. Robert Beauvais for legal services.

The Commission accepted Beauvais' proposal following a closed session to discuss contract negotiations, personnel, threatened or pending litigation at the end of the regular monthly meeting Feb. 2.

During the meeting Beauvais, who served as county attorney during the last commission, recommended commissioners vote on ordinances with a roll call, even though it is not required. Even though commissioners had approved two ordinances by that point, they backed up and took roll call votes on the ordinances—one to establish a method for choosing a chairman and vice-chairman by vote of each commission member, and one a fair housing ordinance to comply to rules associated with Community Development Block Grants for housing.

Beauvais also recommended commissioners take a roll call vote on authorizing publication of ordinances and public hearings. Commissioners complied on the proposed ordinances to amend the Lincoln County Personnel Policies and Procedures Ordinance to provide for representatives from each commission district; to amend the Zia Senior Citizens Advisory Committee to allow representation from five commission districts and amending the Transportation Development District to allow for the five district representation.

Commissioners also authorized the publication and scheduled a public hearing March 2 to establish a local board to deal with labor management relations by April 1.

All roll call votes were unanimous.

Most business went smoothly Tuesday, until commissioners came to appointing members to the Lincoln Historic Preservation Board, considered to be one of the most controversial boards in the county. Commissioner Ray Nunley thought the board had disbanded. Commissioners ended up removing board member David Lee, whose term was not to expire until December, and appointing Glen Dennis, Ralph Dunlap, Coleen Salazar and Pat Ward as property owners in Lincoln and Dorothy Bell Knapp as member at large. Howell's motion to appoint Cecilia Apodaca failed with the lack of a

Driving Is Restricted At Airport

Carrizozo Airport Manager Hal Marx again warns that cars are not permitted to drive on the taxi or tie down areas at the airport.

If an airplane or other property is damaged, a federal offense is committed, Marx said. Offenders could be subject to heavy fines, and/or imprisonment.

Marx plans to take down license numbers of unauthorized vehicles on the taxi or tie down areas to turn in to the proper authorities. The only exceptions for vehicles on the tie down or taxi areas at the airport are aircraft and/or hangar owners.

There is a large warning sign at the entrance to the airport area regarding the above information. "Please adhere to the rules," Marx said.

Rep. Skeen Asks For MRS Field Hearing

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Joe Skeen, R-NM, has called on his New Mexico colleague Bill Richardson, D-NM, to conduct a field hearing in Ruidoso to discuss the Department of Energy's Monitored Retrieval Storage (MRS) program and its implications in New Mexico.

In a letter to Richardson, Chairman of the Natural Resources Subcommittee on Native American Affairs, Skeen noted that the MRS program has attracted a number of Indian tribes from around the country wanting to study the possibility of siting high-level nuclear waste on reservation land for a fee. "The potential impact on those Native Americans who have applied for federal funds for considering an MRS on their reservations deserves further Congressional Action. I believe your newly created Native American Affairs Subcommittee should be given joint responsibility in this matter," Skeen wrote to Richardson.

"New Mexicans deserve to know more about any further siting process for high-level nuclear waste," Skeen continued. "In addition, any affected communities within the State must have a primary and better temperature controls in the courtroom itself. Parsons also informed commissioners that the judicial offices had made first bid for the parking lot to the northeast side of the courthouse for an expanded judicial complex.

Again, as he has for the last four years, Parsons asked for space for a law library eventually. However, he said his offices' space needs are being alleviated by the use of an extensive microfilming of court records, at the cost of $25,000 a year.

"We're sitting pretty on space," Parsons said.

Commissioner Howell recommended Parsons get with Wynham on the maintenance needs. Parsons said he was working well with Wynham then asked if the once monthly pot luck lunches involving courthouse staff could be reinstated.

For four years Lincoln County has been working on an Enhanced 911 emergency response system. One answering point on the system will be housed in the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department dispatch in Carrizozo.

Dr. Bernie Reimann of Capitan, chairman of the county's E-911 advisory board, told commissioners he supports the sheriff's request for space. Sheriff James McSwane did not request more space at Tuesday's meeting, but has requested it recently.

Commissioner Nunley had requested the item be on the agenda and asked his fellow commissioners to support his drive to get the E-911 installed and working. Discussion about the E-911 included concern that the project had stalled.

"It's not stalled us," Wynham said. Rather, equipment will be soon purchased. House numbering and mapping has been completed in all the municipalities. The county addressing has yet to be finished.

E-911 system consists of computers which indicate the location from which the telephone calls originates. That shows emergency personnel where to go, rather than relying on directions given from the caller, which should decrease response time.

Dr. Reimann said there will be a meeting of the E-911 board and the telephone companies that serve Carrizozo and Ruidoso to discuss equipment purchases. All county telephone companies have been collecting 25 cents a month on each phone for an E-911 equipment fund. Some companies collect an additional 25 cents a month on each phone for networking with the other telephone companies in the county.

The project has been slow because of the lengthy process of obtaining agreements between the county's telephone companies, which has been completed, Dr. Reimann said.

Commissioners unanimously voted to support the E-911 system and board. Dr. Reimann was directed to go back to the E-911 board and work on a budget to cover their needs and return to the commission with a presentation.

In other business, commissioners:

—Adopted a consent agenda to provide a bulk approval of several routine items, such as payroll register, accounts payable, treasurer's report and routine annual agreements. Any one commissioner can take a consent item out for discussion and separate action.

—Approved consent items: Bonito Fire Dept. firefighters retirement qualification records, affidavit of detention center inspection by commissioners, 1992-93 cash in lieu of commodities contract with the Eastern New Mexico Area Agency on Aging.

—Officially employed Cheryl LaBelle as Zia Senior Citizens Program Director.

—Approved $10,000 be given to the Village of Corona to move and install a building from the El Paso Natural Gas Company to a site in Corona for the village's senior citizens program. Montes asked that the center become a multipurpose facility for the entire community.

—Approved the purchase of computerized mapping software for the assessor's office. The bid for the software came to $21,300, more than budgeted. However, there is $18,000 in cash balance from the reappraisal fund which can be used for the equipment.

—Approved a resolution which redistricted the boundaries for the Hondo and Glencoe-Palo Verde Volunteer Fire Departments.

—Okayed a resolution to authorize the sale of obsolete equipment, specifically the old roller shelves and file cabinets from the clerk's office and some canteenware.

—Directed James R. Kerlin Jr., executive director of The Counseling Center to come back for additional funding requests at budget time. Commissioners denied Kerlin's request for an additional $10,000 for the counseling offices which served mental health needs to county residents and in area jails.

Kakuska and Dorothy Tally alternates; Stirling Spencer to the Carrizozo Health Center Advisory Board; Maggi Bohks retained as Emergency Program Manager; Wilton Howell to the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County; Monroy Montes and Howell to the Extraterritorial Zoning Authority; Bob Walters, Gordon Barham and Stormy Edwards to the Extraterritorial Zoning Commission; Ray Nunley to the Lincoln County Medical Center Board; Bill Schwetmann to the Lincoln County Fair Board; Ralph Romero reappointed to the Planning and Zoning Com-

District 1 and 2 representatives terms expire December 1994, the others expire December 1995. Commissioners also disbanded the standing Road Review Committee, appointed in the previous commission, by a narrow vote of Nunley, Speneer and Montes agreeing to dishband and Howell and Schwetmann voting to keep the committee. Commissioners had rescinded former action establishing the three person committee. Any road review committee now will be a five-member group with representatives from each district. Commissioners also agreed to appoint the committee when need arises. In other business, commissioners: —Directed the road review committee look at a road from Forest Road 99 to ranch headquarters as requested by owner Kennan Fuller of Corona. Fuller was directed to get signatures of 10 freeholders within a two-mile radius of the road. Beauvais recommended commissioners conduct a work-study to redefine the road review policy.

—Gave unanimous support to the continued opposition of the Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) facility for nuclear waste on Mesalero Apache Tribal lands after MRS Watch Committee chairman Dr. Bob Walters reported on recent moves by the Dept. of Energy. "We're being forced by Indian sovereignty to accept this MRS," Walters said.

—Heard Howell reject his prior acceptance of an invitation by the U.S. Council of Energy Awareness and Edison Institute, both lobbys for the nuclear electrical industries, to tour nuclear power plant facilities in North Carolina. Howell said he lost lots of sleep over this, then decided not to go since it was financed by the industry. "If I choose to go...I will pay my own way."

—Approved resolutions to revise a resolution regarding the school bus route maintenance policy to allow the county road manager to view roads and make decisions; and the other in support of paving Ft. Stanton Road from Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. The second resolution will be sent to state representative John Underwood and state senator Pete Campos. —Authorized application of fund requests for the New Mexico State Highway Coop, CAP and School Bus Route programs as discussed at the Jan. 27 meeting.

—Heard a report from Hubert Quintana about recent proceedings in the New Mexico Court of Appeals over the Mesalero Water Rights lawsuit.

—Reviewed a capital improvement project request for old Lincoln Town sidewalk project, noted by Nunley who was to hand deliver the $83,000 request to Underwood and Campos.

—Heard road manager Bill Cupit propose an educational program that will involve high school age students working with the road department.

Extension Homemaker Clubs Merge

On Nov. 18, 1992, the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Extension Homemakers Club merged with the La Junta Homemakers Club. This club was organized April 4, 1942 by Carl P. Radcliff, County Extension Agent, assisted by Miss Veda A. Strong, State Extension Home Management Specialist, Las Cruces, and Lorena Radcliff, County Extension Secretary.

Extension Clubs are educational clubs dedicated to teaching information on subjects relating to the family, home, and community. Over a span of 51 years, there were 22 presidents, many of whom served for many years. Mrs. Nina Nelson was the first president, and Mrs. Opal Armstrong was the last. It is estimated there have been over 2,000 club members, with 1,000 meetings sponsored by the club.

In 1972 the La Junta Homemakers Club was organized in the Hondo Valley. Most of the members at that time in the Ruidoso-Hondo Club were from Ruidoso; however, a number of women in the valleys were members of both clubs. After the membership declined in the Ruidoso-Hondo Club, it was merged with the La Junta Club. "La Junta" means the merging or coming together and is an appropriate name for the merged clubs.

Mrs. Geraldine Tully, of San Patricio, is the new president of the La Junta Club, and she extends a welcome to anyone interested in becoming a member. The club meets on the third Wednesday of each month. For more information, please contact Betty McCreight, Extension Home Economist, Carrizozo, or Lorena Radcliff, Hondo, 653-4912, or Opal Armstrong, Ruidoso, 258-5663.

Skeen . . .

(Cont. from P. 1) role in any negotiations, and, as it stands now, the citizens of New Mexico are not active participants." Skeen asked Richardson to consider holding a field hearing in Ruidoso at the Subcommittee's earliest convenience.

Congressman Skeen has been a vocal opponent of the MRS program and of efforts by New Mexico's Mesalero Apache Tribe to locate an MRS facility on reservation lands in Otero County. Such a facility would temporarily store high-level nuclear wastes in above-ground containers until those wastes can be transferred to a permanent repository.

During the 102nd Congress, Skeen attempted to block any additional study funds going to the Mesaleros for the purpose of studying the MRS. "The almost unanimous opposition to this project within the State makes it unlikely that an MRS would ever be located on Mesalero land," Skeen noted. "However, the siting process is ongoing and I believe all New Mexicans should be able to express their views on the topic at a field hearing in Ruidoso."

AI's Musings

By AL STUBBS

Newspaper technology has changed dramatically since we started in the business over 40 years ago. Gone are the days of Linotype and Intertype typesetting machines, page cylinders cast in hot metal from mats, a huge melting pot, a rotary press, crude photo reproduction machines, noise, some confusion. But, it was interesting and fun.

People we were associated with were more interesting, however.

When we became editor of the Roswell Daily Record a long time ago, the shop foreman was a man named Bob Bear. Away from the newspaper he was gracious, outgoing and fun to be with. On the job, he was a bear at times. His sister at the time was society editor. Frances Bear Wolfe was her name. She was a tiny, sweet little woman who was on top of society news in the Roswell area at all times. She had one idiosyncrasy. When she typed a story, she used no punctuation. This created some editing problems at times. The Bear family at one time had owned the newspaper.

In those days the "back shop" or mechanical department of a newspaper had many employees. Later when offset printing came into vogue, the back shop was all but eliminated. A couple of pasteup people were all that were needed to replace a crew of 10 or 12.

Bob Bear supervised the back shop. One time we had a disagreement with Bear over the makeup of the paper. We had the idea that the editor should have total control over makeup and content. Consequently, for six weeks the shop foreman wouldn't speak to the editor. This made communication over details of getting out a newspaper difficult to say the least. Bear retired when the newspaper went to offset. We became good friends.

Brownie Emerson was a thorough, competent reporter. But he hated to have fun more than anyone we ever knew. Somewhere or another he acquired a typewriter which had oversize, 18 point, That's small headline size. He would save old envelopes to use as copy paper. His stories would run reams long because of the big type. A few days before Christmas each year, the Record would lock the front door while the annual Christmas party (food and drink) was staged. Everything was shut down except Brownie Emerson's typewriter. He'd sit there with a grim look on his face, bating out stories while everyone else was in a festive mood. Could never quite figure that out?

We hired Jim Crow as sports editor for the Record. Jim's wife had some oil money, and he drove a spiffy little red sports car. He was good at his job. He and his wife went to Hawaii one year on vacation. My phone rang one day; it was Jim.

"I'm not coming back," he said. Hawaii had grabbed his full attention. He later became head of the Journalism Department at the University of New Mexico. Unfortunately, he died at an early age.

Village councilor Jerry Shaw called the other day and reminded me that she had worked for the Lincoln County Record when we were editor of the Roswell Record and the short-lived Lincoln County Record; many years ago.

"It was my first journalism job," Shaw said. She wrote special columns for the weekly; she still has copies.

"It was a neat little paper," she said. Shaw and her husband, Dick, later published "Best Bet" here in Ruidoso. She kept her finger in the journalism pie through that publication which carried features articles and entertainment news, primarily. It, too, was a neat little publication.

Today this newspaper, the Lincoln County News, is made up in Carrizozo but printed elsewhere. It hasn't always been so.

When Paul Payton was publisher, in the 1970s, he asked us to come up and edit and paper and be general manager of the Lincoln County News while he underwent eye surgery and a recovery period.

Perhaps you saw the movie "It Happens Every Thursday" which was about publishing a weekly newspaper. Well, it happened every Wednesday in Carrizozo and still does. That's the day the newspaper is made up, pasted up and pages prepared for printing on Thursday morning.

We especially remember Payton's one-lung press and his amazing folding and inserting machine.

The press printed two pages at one time. The sheets were then turned over and two more

Inside The Capitol

SANTA FE—Sen. Virgil Rhodes' speeding ticket on the second day of the 1993 Legislature may end up as a catalyst for either the elimination of some legislative immunities or the call for a state constitutional convention.

Rhodes was stopped near his home in Sandia Park, east of Albuquerque, on Jan. 20 for going 55-mph in a 45-mph zone. Rhodes explained to Deputy Sheriff Mark Samarock that a state legislator cannot be arrested for anything less than a felony during a legislative session.

The deputy apologized for not knowing about the restriction but wrote the ticket anyway. Rhodes warned the deputy would be finding out about it in a hurry.

Samarock did find out about it in a hurry. And so did most of New Mexico, because the deputy was outfitted with a pocket tape recorder, which caught the entire conversation.

Citizen response was predictable. A week later the Albuquerque Journal carried a full page of letters critical of Rhodes and expressing outrage that lawmakers would exempt themselves from laws that apply to everyone else. Editorial page editor Bill Hume said the newspaper had received dozens more letters, which was very unusual for a single subject.

Most writers expressed shock that such a law could exist. They wondered how many legislators are driving drunk or vandalizing or shoplifting during the session. One suggested that all lawmakers should be asked during candidate interviews if they have ever invoked their immunity from misdemeanor arrest.

It isn't just a statutory law that grants such a privilege. It's in the state constitution. The practice dates back to Olde England when the king had to be restrained from preventing members of Parliament from carrying out their duties.

Apparently in Wild West New Mexico there was still some reason for including such a provision in the constitution.

But as we prepare to enter the 21st century, 19th century immunities no longer cut it with voters. Rep. Kip Nicely, an Albuquerque Republican colleague of Rhodes, has introduced a constitutional amendment proposal that would eliminate the exemption from arrest.

Considering the desire of lawmakers to polish their image with voters through ethics legislation, it is unlikely anyone will strongly oppose Nicely's amendment. And the approval rate by voters should be right up there near unanimous.

Hmmm, what an opportunity to tie a legislative salary to the proposal.

While Nicely is at it, there are some immunities in the constitution. The remainder of the paragraph granting privilege from arrest says, "And they shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech or debate or for any vote cast in either house."

Wow!

Or maybe the entire constitution should be combed for anachronisms of all kinds. Rep. David Townsend of Alamogordo will try again this year to create a task force designed to set up procedures for a new constitution. The Rhodes incident may aid Townsend's effort.

Public outrage was calmed somewhat when Sen. Rhodes paid his speeding ticket and apologized for losing his temper. There isn't much doubt Rhodes would have won his case had he fought it, so voters may be forgiving the next time Rhodes stands for election.

But they may not forgive Rhodes' assertion that the only thing he did wrong was lose his temper. Now that it has been called to the public's attention, voters are sure to think that there is something wrong with invoking legislative privilege and being above the law.

Few legislators abuse the speeding immunity. Most accept the reality that the public holds them to a higher standard of conduct than ordinary citizens.

But a few become irritated at the tendency to hold lawmakers to superstandards. Senate Minority Leader Billy McKibben, R-Hobbs, says people "don't use a microscope to look at the Legislature any more. They use a protoscope."

Wire-Burn Sites Are Investigated

In the last several years, a significant number of wire-burn sites have been identified by Bureau of Land Management (BLM) personnel on BLM land in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, and other states. These sites result from the illegal burning of insulated wire. The wire is purchased at a low price (or stolen), taken to a remote area where the insulation is burned off, and the resulting bare copper wire is then sold to a metal recycling company. These companies will pay more for bare wire because they do not have to strip off the insulation.

Wire-burn sites usually appear as dark gray to black ash. The sites occasionally have a greenish color. Pieces of copper wire, wire connectors, and other electrical components are often found in the ash or nearby. The sites range from "campfire" size to as much as an acre. Where one is found, other sites are often found nearby.

The Hazardous Materials staff at the Las Cruces Office of the Bureau of Land Management has discovered 14 sites to date, eight of which are on BLM land. Due to the remote location and low levels of contamination at these sites, clean-up has not been deemed necessary. Sites have also been discovered by BLM personnel on private and State lands. Most of the sites are in Dona Ana County but sites have also been discovered in Sierra and Otero counties.

A recent site discovery on BLM land in Sierra County was sampled in December for the presence of hazardous materials. Results of sediment sampling by a BLM contractor in December 1992 indicated the presence of lead, furans, and dioxin compounds. The furans and dioxins are residual by-products created by burning the plastic insulation off of the wire. The lead is derived from electrical components and wire connectors.

Heavy rains in January 1993 caused flooding of the site and eliminated the ash. Results of soil samples taken in December were not received by the BLM until after the January flooding. The sampling results indicate relatively low levels of contamination and do not appear to pose a threat to public health or the environment.

If additional sites are discovered, the BLM will work with the New Mexico Environment Department and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to comply with all environmental regulations. The BLM will also attempt to apprehend and prosecute those persons responsible for wire-burning and for any contamination resulting from these activities.

Three Members Reappointed To Advisory Council

The Roswell District of the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) announces the reappointment of three members to the Multiple-Use Advisory Council for the 1993-1995 term. The ten-member Council's purpose is to see that the needs of the communities served by the BLM's Roswell District are heard, and to provide advice and counsel to the Roswell District.

The reappointees are Mr. Dan C. Berry, a rancher from Eunice, N.M., serving in the wildlife category, Mr. O.S. (Scotty) Bray, Rights-of-Way and Claims Coordinator with Arco Oil and Gas Co., Midland, TX, transportation/rights-of-way representative, and Mr. Jerry Don Martin, a professional guide and rancher in Roswell, N.M., who will serve in the recreation category. Their terms began Jan. 1, 1993.

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

A few months ago I made a wise crack about a French Poodle that was named Fydeaux. I discovered this week that not everyone understood what I was getting at. As you may recall, I was discussing the effect of strange names on the social relationships, (i.e., the Boy name Sue syndrome), and our new dog, named Prissy, who was going to be the toughest dog on the block because of the name. Well, Fydeaux (phonetically, "Fido") didn't have a lot of those problems, but his dog tags weighed a pound and a half.

What is the popular appeal of Rush Limbaugh? Is it his intellectual prowess? His ardent conversation? Him reminding you of a teddy bear? Or is it the expectation that his necktie will eventually devour him? (I have several bets out on the last alternative. I didn't think grown men actually wore those things they got from Aunt Mabel, but I guess he does.)

We received a sweepstakes entry form from the E.S.P. World Society the other day which contained the usual language about returning it while you still have a chance (fat chance) of being included in the drawing, or your prize will go to someone else. There is something dreadfully inconsistent about this. If the common purpose of this association is valid, they would already know who was going to win, so my sending in an entry would be irrelevant. They could have saved a lot of stamps if they had just sent me my millions without all of the fanfare.

How should you respond to the complement, "I am proud of you for accomplishing what you accomplished. You are so good!"

The arrogant response: "I deserved it."

The inappropriate response: "Ah, it was nothing any other fool couldn't do." (except, of course, the fool who gave you the compliment.)

The boring response: "This was something that anyone in my position and with my background could do without any difficulty and let me tell you about the facts that led up to my being able to accomplish what many others have tried for many ages to . . ."

The generic response: "Thank you!"

The correct response: You should tailor your response to fit the individual who gave you the compliment so that you express your thanks for the compliment by giving the complimentor a boost to his/her ego and the feeling that he/she has accomplished something similar to what you did that started this discussion, and send a copy of your response to Miss Manners because she would like to know the answer to this question herself.

I have often wondered if "his/her" is unisexual, bisexual or hermaphroditic. It kind of reminds me of the story of the old Jersey bull who progressed from the masculine to the neuter gender after he visited the neighbor's purebred Hereford heifer herd.

Alliteration: n. (c.f., Hereford heifer herd.) This could be the beginning of a hit country song. "Oh, I love my pretty little darling as much as my Hereford heifer herd, but she gave me a bum steer at the county fair in the key of G, cha, cha, cha." (repeat chorus)

Byte: n. Five bits and cheap at twice the price. This is a cheap joke that only computer nuts will understand and no one will think is funny until you realize the subject is not about computers at all but we are talking about cash money. The origin of the term "bit" goes back to colonial times when a silver dollar would buy enough that you could divide it into eight pieces, and to make change, the emporium operator

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR—I was deeply offended by the paid ad in which George Washington was quoted under the heading "America's Godly Heritage", and even more concerned after reading the report of the Jan. 11 meeting of People for the West.

This whole misrepresentation is just one more consequence of lack of historical education and misunderstanding within various narrow concepts of religion.

Washington was a deist and followed the religious faith of the Enlightenment, which was the driving force of our American Revolution. He was convinced that a divine force, impossible to define, ruled the universe. He called this force "Providence" and carefully avoided the word "God" in order to avoid endorsing any doctrine of the organized churches.

This lifting of statements out of context by narrow religious viewpoints is just one more argument for the separation of church and state.

Cedarvale.

would cut a chunk out of your dollar. This lasted until someone thought up the amazing idea of making coins worth less than a dollar, but instead of minting "one bit" pieces, they made dimes because the creators could not handle the mathematics based on .125. And they also made quarters which were worth 2.5 dimes. And all the rest of it makes sense, too.

pages were printed. Then section two had to be folded and inserted into section one.

Current co-owner of the Lincoln County News Peter Aguilar remembers the machine Payton used to fold and insert the sections. Peter was No. 1 printer at the News in those days. The amazing inserting machine stands in the News plant even today, hidden away in a back room.

Payton was about the only person adept at using the machine. He'd sit in the middle of it and operate various handles and controls while the spider-like contraption folded and inserted sections of the paper.

This usually happened very late Wednesday night. Then came mailing time. There was a string machine. We'd roll a paper, then snap them into the string machine which tied the paper and created a tolerable bow knot. Then address labels were applied. Mailing went on until the wee hours of the morning.

The last job was to take mail sacks to the post office and breathe a great sigh of relief.

Payton's widow, Eleanor, lives in Kansas where her family had a hardware business. Paul Payton before coming to Lincoln County published a paper at Clayton. His brother had a newspaper at Aztec. That ink does get into a family's blood.

We've known a few other characters in and out of the newspaper business. Maybe more later!

Grizzlies Advance In State Rankings

The Carrizozo Grizzlies, this week, ranked seventh in state, beat the Ft. Sumner Foxes, in a hard fought game, 64-58 Saturday in Carrizozo. The win pushed the Grizzlies, (13-2 and 40 District) into sole possession of first place District 3A.

The victory over the Foxes, (3-1 District) finished up the week which saw the Grizzlies win three games in three days. They beat rival Capitan on Thursday at Capitan 69-57 and Hondo on Friday at home 101-47.

In the Ft. Sumner game the Grizzlies shot a miserable 36 percent from the floor as the Foxes stayed close the first three quarters. The Grizzlies, led by senior Cory Collins (18 points, 11 rebounds) pulled away from the Foxes in the final quarter as Collins, who scored 16 points in the second half seemed to score at will.

"Cory played another outstanding game for us. He works so hard in practice and I think it showed tonight. The team was tired and seemed a step slow, except Cory who carried us tonight," said head coach Kenneth Butts.

One reason Collins was open for a lot of his shots was that Ft. Sumner was double and triple teaming senior center Bryan Turnbow (7 points, 16 rebounds).

"Ft. Sumner was just not going to let Bryan beat them. They had a body on him all the time," said coach Butts.

Also scoring in double figures for the Grizzlies was senior Heath Rickman (15 points, 5 assists) and Blas Herrera (11 points). "We don't hit too many shots tonight but Heath and Blas made enough baskets to keep them honest on our outside shooting," said Butts.

CARRIZOZO GRIZZLY #22 Anthony Archuleta goes up for a shot during the Carrizozo-Capitan basketball game last Thursday in Capitan. Tiger #11 Michael Fish attempts a block with #25 Darilan Roybal walling in the wings. Archuleta's shot was true, helping Carrizozo win 69-57.

The bench for the Grizzlies again came in and played well for the Grizzlies. Coach Butts stated, "There is no way we could have won those three games if it had not been for our strong bench. Every night it is someone else who steps in the game and plays well for us."

Others who scored for the Grizzlies were juniors George Vega (6 points, 7 rebounds), Jon Vallejos (4 points, 2 steals) and senior Mike Barela (3 points, 5 assists, 3 steals).

On Friday night the Grizzlies scored 101 points as they crushed the Hondo Eagles. The Grizzlies had six players in double figures as they used balanced scoring and unselfishly play to blow out the Eagles.

The six Grizzlies scoring in double figures were led by Collins with 19 points, Turnbow and Vega each scored 18 points, Rickman and Herrera each had 13 points and Vallejos chipped in 12 points.

According to Butts seniors Anthony Archuleta (2 points, 7 assists, 2 steals) and Barela (3 points, 9 assists, 6 steals) were the main reason for the one hundred points. "They both (Archuleta and Barela) got the ball to the right people at the right time and that led to a lot of our easy baskets."

Senior Scot Brown was the Grizzly who scored the basket, as he received a great pass from Archuleta, to put Carrizozo over the century mark. "Scot has worked so hard this year and I was glad to see him score that basket. He does everything a coach could ask for and more," said Butts.

The Grizzlies traveled to Capitan for the first game of the week and escaped with a hard fought win over the Tigers, 69-57.

"Capitan is a much improved team. Coach Becker is doing a great job over there. I would not be surprised if we played Capitan again, if we make it to the Regional tournament," said coach Butts.

The game went back and forth early as both teams traded baskets. The first quarter ended with the Grizzlies holding a slight edge 20-17. Rickman scored 10 of his 18 points in the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Grizzlies stretched their lead to 36-30 as Bryan Turnbow scored 6 of his 18 points despite being doubled team most of the game.

Going into the fourth quarter the Grizzlies held a 10 point lead and held off the Tigers. "We had a chance to put the game away early but we missed four layups in a row and that kept the game close. This was a good win for us, Capitan is always tough at their place. "We got a great all-around effort tonight from everyone, and that is what we need to beat good teams like Capitan," stated Butts.

Also playing well for Carrizozo was Collins (10 points, 8 rebounds, 6 assists) and Vega (10 points, 6 rebounds). "Between Collins and Vega I have two good players to play the four spot for us," Butts noted.

Scoring for the Grizzlies were Herrera (7 points), Vallejos (4 points) and Barela (2 points, 5 assists).

"This was a tough week for us and we responded with three wins. I just hope we can continue to play well for the rest of the year," said Butts.

This week the Grizzlies travel for two district games at Mountainair, Friday at 4:30 and Vaughn, Saturday at 4:30.

Lady Tigers 2-0 In District Play

By DORIS CHERRY

The Capitan Lady Tigers are undefeated in district play following their 59-23 win over Loving Friday, Jan. 29.

It was the basketball team's second district win.

Junior Tyele Traylor started at the hoop, with her 22 points. Stacy Gowen and Tammy Payne scored nine each, Anita Aldaz scored eight, Kelly Cox scored two, Amy Cline and Sunshyne Trost scored one each.

"We played well on the road," said Lady Tigers coach Norman Cline. "Loving's not an easy place to play."

Cline said the game started off kind of slow, but the girls picked up the pace to win.

The girls host another district game with Lake Arthur,

Friday.

Thursday, Jan. 28, the Lady Tigers defeated the Carrizozo Lady Grizzlies 65-9. The Lady Tigers dominated their home court as everyone on the team scored.

Payne was in top form with 20 points. Traylor scored 10, Christina Gonzales scored seven, Jessica Cline six, Amy Cline, Cox, Aldaz and Gowen four each. Catherine Sidwell and Trost scored two each.

The long standing rivalry between Capitan Tigers and Carrizozo Grizzlies was again staged Thursday, Jan. 28.

The Tiger boys gave the Grizzlies a good run for their money, but the Carrizozo boys prevailed for the win 69-57.

The Tigers jumped ahead in the first quarter staying just ahead of the Grizzlies. Late in the first quarter, Grizzly Heath Rickman made the first of his many three-pointers to put Carrizozo ahead.

Second quarter scoring continued to be intense. The half time buzzer sounded with the score Carrizozo 36, Capitan 30.

The Tigers began to loose focus during the third quarter when starters Kyle Traylor, Trevor Cox and Michael Fish began to tire. The Tigers came within a few points but never regained the lead. The third quarter ended Grizzlies 54, Tigers 44.

Carrizozo jumped out in the fourth quarter and outscored the Tigers from the start. Capitan's Fish made good a three-pointer to put his team within eight points of Carrizozo, 56-63.

A charity point put Capitan to 57 points, the final score of the game for the Tigers.

The Tigers lost focus during the final minutes of the game and were unable to score again. A technical foul was made by Capitan on Grizzlie George Vega with three seconds to go in the game.

Vega was good for two points.

The Tigers stole the ball in the final second, but the game was all over. Grizzlies 69, Tigers 57.

Throughout the game the Tigers played strong defense on Grizzly powerhouse. Bryan Turnbow. The Capitan boys did a good job on defense overall.

The Tigers will host Lake Arthur varsity and JV teams. Games start at 4 p.m. in Cummins Gym.

CAPITAN NEWS

By PAULINE MCGARRY-WHITTAKER

I like Al Stubb's column. He gave me a job as a stringer for the Roswell Daily Record when he was editor of that paper in the seventies. Lois Purvis coached me in taking mug shots and fortunately all my copy was published. The black and white photos I took of various Capitan citizens were blown up nicely. I was proud to be associated with such "ink in the blood" writers. So much for my newspaper experience.

George Elkin, Jr. drives from Roswell each Sunday to the Church of Christ building to teach Sunday School and preach the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services. He especially enjoys the pot luck dinners each second Sunday of the month. His motto is "When you need someone to listen." He is a professional counselor with offices in Roswell. Mr. Elkins has worked with a training program for deaf and hearing impaired, job placement, and adaptation for blind persons, and with inmates in state penitentiaries. He and his wife, Billie, make a wonderful team.

Stacy Cox, a senior at NMSU in Las Cruces, went with her parents to Clovis to her cousin's wedding. Her cousin is Kim Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Cox.

Dick Beck, president of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce, presided at the monthly meeting at the Smokey Bear Coffee Shop Monday. A decision was made to move the Chamber of Commerce headquarters to the Blue Door Gallery at 106 Lincoln St. David Posley will be happy to answer questions and give information about our village to interested parties. The phone number is 354-3030.

Other business - a scholarship of $300 will be given to a qualifying student. It was decided a pot plant would be given to each new business, delivered by an officer of the chamber. Gordon Ross will plan to invite each new business owner to present a program about his or her business. There has been five new businesses open in Capitan in the last six months.

The fundraising program for the chamber are the Bingo games meeting each Thursday night at 108 West Second Street. The building will accommodate 60 people. There are two progressive blackout pots ongoing.

Kathleen Hellman gave information on Friends of Smokey projects which you will be reading more about.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson were welcomed as new members of the chamber.

Two wedding anniversaries were celebrated Jan. 23. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morton's 50th anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warth celebrated their 48th anniversary. Mr. Warth and Mrs. Morton are also brother and sister.

Kenneth Parker, President of the Parker Pen Company said in the 1940s. "Two nations or two individuals which mutually profit from trade do not tend to quarrel or go to war."

Mrs. James Stone, Kathy Dean's mother, fell and broke her leg. She is in the hospital in Lubbock, Texas.

I will report on my brown-eyed three letter boy friend from time to time.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS CLIPBOARD

A weekly school column from Carrizozo Municipal Schools that serves as a bridge to parents, businesses and community groups who welcome knowing more about their school. News about student, staff and board members will be highlighted.

PERSONAL IN-SERVICE—School personnel attended an afternoon in-service on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 27. The child abuse/neglect training was provided by staff of the Otero and Lincoln Counties Social Services Division of the New Mexico Children, Youth and Families Dept. Dutch Thatcher, social worker supervisor, Alamogordo, told of agency goals and reporting laws. Dawna Reyes, Ruidoso, spoke of physical abuse/neglect. Chuck Scovone's presentation was on sexual abuse. Scovone is from Alamogordo.

The update on current substance and child abuse information included signs, symptoms, legal responsibilities, resources and legislatively mandated training. Questions and discussion followed.

SCIENCE JUDGE—Last week Mariann Patterson was among several teachers from this area who served as judges for Capitan's science fair for grades seven through nine. Patterson judged in the biological sciences division: zoology, botany, medicine and health.

STUDENT SCOUTS—Fourteen Cub Scouts of Troop 153 will hold their first pack meeting on Feb. 5 in the school's multi-purpose room at 7 p.m. The pack meeting brings together scouts and parents to talk about cub scouting purposes. The event will include the presentation of Bobcat badges. Several scouts will receive achievement beads, a progress step toward rank.

The younger group of boy scouts have been busy learning knotting skills and the older scouts have been practicing the color guard techniques for the upcoming ceremony.

The scouts have been working on leadership skills and building muscles to stay physically fit and alert. During the Christmas holidays they made and gave ornaments to New Horizon clients and sang carols. New plans are in the works to invite a speaker in law enforcement to instruct the troop in home safety and safety in the community.

SCIENCE FAIR PARTICIPATION—Students in Mariann Patterson's high school classes began preparing for the annual science fair with reports due first semester. Learning the scientific method includes that there be a purpose, procedure, the experiment, observation and last, a conclusion.

Student research proceeds in certain orderly steps: Define the problem; collect information on the problem; form a hypothesis, experiment to test the hypothesis, observe and record data from the experiment and draw conclusions. Scientist publish their findings, but says Patterson, high school students prepare a backboard that is judged at the science fair.

The school's annual science fair is on Wednesday, Feb. 10. The exhibits are open to the public on Thursday, Feb. 11. Science students in grades 5 through 12 will be participating. Michael Booty teaches seventh and eighth grade science. Bryan Wetzel teaches fifth and sixth grade science. Polly Chavez is the Carrizozo Schools news coordinator.
