

Regional Landfill To Be Publicly Owned

A Lincoln-Otero Counties regional landfill will be publicly owned and operated.

Representatives of the Lincoln and Otero Counties Solid Waste Authorities met in Tularosa March 25 and agreed that the proposed regional landfill should be equally owned by both groups. "The ownership will clearly be 50-50," said LCSWA chairman Frank Warth, also mayor of Capitan.

"Our purpose is clear," Warth added, "that the landfill be publicly owned and operated." The proposed landfill will be located south of Alamogordo.

Due to a new amendment to the state Solid Waste Act, publicly owned landfills will qualify to be permitted up to 20 years, while private solid waste facilities will be permitted only 10 years. Because of this the two groups agreed the landfill should be public.

How to finance that regional landfill was a big part of the regional meeting. Kevin Power, from the Principal Group, is investigating ways to finance the facility, Warth said. Power will put together a package that will be attractive to the bond market, since both LCSWA and OCSWA plan to commit their environmental gross receipt taxes as collateral. It is expected that the taxes will be more collateral than needed.

An interim financing plan was approved by the authorities, which will provide funding through a bank in Alamogordo. Alamogordo city manager Bob Stockwell told the groups that a $700,000 loan will be made to cover interim expenses. The funds are expected to be available by June.

When final costs are known, the authorities will pursue a bond issue of $3.5 to 4 million, of which a part will be used to pay off the interim loan. The rest of the money will go to acquisition of the land, construction of the landfill and equipment purchases.

The groups must also work out legalities of who should issue the bond, the authorities through a joint powers agreement or Alamogordo issuing the bond on behalf of the other entities. The legal firm of Sherman and Howard will provide legal guidance on the bonds.

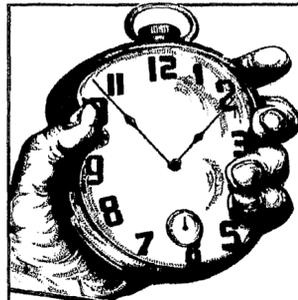

"There are a lot of bumps in the road," Warth said. "We're still in front of everybody in the whole state...We're running into legal obstacles never before confronted."

Part of the interim financing will cover the cost of the permit application. The authorities voted to pay Camp Dresser & McKee $68,000 for phase 2 of the permit application contract. Warth said the firm hopes to submit the application to the New Mexico Environment Dept. by April 9.

"It was a good meeting," Warth said about the regional session in Tularosa.

Profiles In Courage Award Is Presented To Tom Trost

By RUTH HAMMOND

Tom Trost of Capitan received a special honor March 6 in Albuquerque. Trost and nine other Vietnam veterans were honored with the Vietnam Veterans of America New Mexico State Council "Profile of Courage" Awards.

The awards are presented to veterans who have demonstrated outstanding characteristics and personal service to their communities since their service in Vietnam.

Trost is originally from northern Illinois where he attended Highland Community College for two years before enlisting in the service. His basic training was at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri and Fort Gordon, Georgia before he was sent to Vietnam for a year. While in Vietnam Trost served in the only military police (MP) infantry unit. He also did ambush and reconnaissance missions as a machine gunner, mostly at night.

When his tour of duty in Vietnam was completed he was stationed at White Sands for 18 months as an MP.

His return to civilian life led Trost to earn a Liberal Arts Degree in 1978 with an emphasis on sociology and psychology.

Trost has worked at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School since July 1978, working with people with developmental disabilities. Trost is now director of social services at the facility.

Through the years Trost has served the community in many ways. He has been elected member of the Capitan Board of Education for eight years and is presently President of the Capitan School Board. He has another two years to serve on the board.

Ruidoso Hears Complaint About Partying In Park

By DORIS CHERRY

An isolated portion of Ruidoso's Two Rivers park has become a haven for drinking parties and at least one adjacent property owner wants something done about it.

Ken Hosmer, who owns a home next to the upper portion of Two Rivers park, asked the Ruidoso Village Council Tuesday to close the park by 10 p.m.; post signs which list fines for violators of alcohol drinking, littering and disturbing the peace; direct police to patrol the area; and create a parking and turn around space and barricade the rest of the park to motor vehicles.

Hosmer wrote the village a letter addressing his concerns and his proposals in July 1992, but got no response. Hoping to ward off the same problems this summer, Hosmer addressed the council personally Tuesday night.

He said he has called the police about the problem several times, but to the best of his knowledge no citations were issued. Along with the drinking and careless driving, Hosmer said, litter abounds. He had contacted the village last year and learned the village has ordinances against drinking alcohol, littering and overnight camping in the parks. The village clerk suggested Hosmer talk with the police chief.

Hosmer and his wife met with officer Mike Lovelace, who assured the police are aware of the problem and asked him to call whenever a problem arises. He also said he would see to it that signs concerning drinking alcohol would be posted. As for citations issued to violators, Hosmer was told the responding officer has the discretion to issue citations.

Hosmer said he wants to stay on the property his grandfather bought in 1936. "I'm trying to work through the channels to get something done," he said. But it was clear he was frustrated with "the channels."

Chief of Police Richard Swenor told the council that his department gets calls about problems in all the parks, especially in the summer. "We're doing the best we can," Swenor said. However, his officers must also patrol Alto and Grindstone Lakes, which belong to the village.

Swenor empathized with Hosmer's problem and agreed the park should be barricaded, with designated parking. Mayor Pro Tem Barbara Duff agreed with the barricading and directed signs be put up about littering, drinking and overnight camping.

"We have posted no drinking signs, but they disappear as fast as my traffic signs," Swenor said.

Swenor did not agree with Hosmer's idea to close the park, since he thought the village does not have enough parks.

Councillor J.D. James thought the police should issue citations to violators, especially if they are the same ones, as Hosmer said. James was also concerned that he had received

The prenatal clinic helps assure healthy babies and young children.

Health nurse Theresa Luna urges those planning to attend either the prenatal clinic or the family planning clinic to make an appointment early by calling 648-2412.

Michael Ortiz Is Selected As USC Associate Provost

PUEBLO, COLO.—Dr. J. Michael Ortiz, dean of Continuing Education at the University of Southern Colorado in Pueblo, CO., will assume the post of associate provost effective May 16.

USC Provost Bruce Grube announced the appointment in a memo to university faculty and staff on Friday.

"Following discussion with the various groups and individuals who met the candidates, it is clear the university community arrived at a consensus," said Grube.

"We are indeed fortunate to have such a talented individual join us in the Office of the Provost," he said.

Ortiz, who joined the university in 1990, currently oversees the university's continuing education and summer school programs.

Prior to his arrival at USC, Ortiz served as the director of the Office of Extension Instructions at Appalachian State University in Boone, North Carolina.

Ortiz has extensive experience as an educator and administrator. He has published articles on programs for minority, pre-school and handicapped children and presented papers at numerous national and international conferences.

DR. MICHAEL ORTIZ Associate Provost

He has authored successful grant proposals for the Las Hermanas/USC program and the Pueblo Hispanic Education Foundation, and serves as university coordinator for the High School Senior to College Sophomore Program of the Educational Alliance of Pueblo.

His wife, Betty, is employed by Pueblo School District 60. They have two daughters, Summer and Megan. He is the son of S.M. (Sally) and Cecilia Ortiz of Carrizozo, and a 1965 graduate of Carrizozo High School.

Ortiz received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque and his doctorate in Early Childhood Education from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, in 1981. He recently completed additional post-doctoral studies at Harvard University's Institute for the Management of Lifelong Education.

Ortiz will replace Dr. Teshome Abebe, who earlier announced his return to the School of Business.

VALLEY OF FIRES campground hosts Wilma and Shelby Caddell (front left) are welcomed by BLM rangers Albert Najjar (right) and Bill Murry (back). The Caddells will be at the park for two months, and will be on hand to meet the public. They also will check on the BLM Rio Bonito Ft. Stanton campground. The Caddells have been campground hosts in various locations in the western U.S. since 1990. One of their recent stays was at another Valley of Fire, in Nevada. They said the reason they decided to be campground hosts was it provided an affordable way to travel. The Caddells, and all other campground hosts at Valley of Fires, work a 40 hour week and receive $7 a day, plus gas, electricity, water and sewer and a place to stay. Mary and Bill Porter of Tucumcari were hosts at the area in March. Anyone wishing to become a campground host can call Valley of Fires Recreation Area at 648-2241 or the BLM Roswell office and ask for Barbara Bills. Hosts at Valley of Fires are needed for June, July, August and Sept.

Zoning Change Proposed For Paradise Canyon Subdivision

The Ruidoso-Lincoln County Extra-Territorial Zoning Commission is proposing to change the zoning designation for all lots in Blocks 4, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 18 of Paradise Canyon Subdivision which do not lie inside the village limits of Ruidoso. The area is currently zoned R-1 Residential and it is proposed that it be zoned R-MS Residential Mobile Home. This designation would make legal and allow the placement of mobile homes in the above designated areas of the subdivision.

A public hearing will be held on the proposal at 1 p.m., April 12, in the conference room of the Lincoln County Sub-office in Ruidoso. Everyone is invited to attend the meeting to support or protest the action, or send a written letter of support or protest to the Lincoln County Manager.

Water Line Estimates For Ruidoso Differ By $36,000

By DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso Village Councillors Tuesday tabled a particular request from C-Net Resorts, owners of Carrizo Lodge Condos, to annex the Carrizo complex and connect to the village water supply.

C-Net and Carrizo Homeowners Association had agreed to pay the cost of 7,400 feet of eight-inch pipes and fittings. C-Net wanted the village to install the lines, within two months.

Councillors' major concern was the cost estimate of the project, which C-Net claimed to be $8,400 at $6 a foot. After some computations, councillors figured the cost to be more like $44,400.

Councillor Jerry Shaw said at the last regular meeting, when staff was directed to negotiate with C-Net on the proposal, she asked for a definite cost estimate. "We don't seem to be getting anywhere with this," Shaw said.

Another problem with the two-month deadline is how the village crews will have to adjust their project schedule. "It will affect approved projects," said village manager Ron Wicker.

Councillors were not concerned about the village having enough water supplies to connect Carrizo Lodge, since improvements in the water lines have stopped millions of gallons of leaks.

After the council unanimously approved the motion to table the particular request, Shaw said she thought the annexation and connection was a viable thing. "I'd like it done," she said. However, she wanted James Porter, president of C-Net Resorts, Inc. to sit with the council and work out details.

Wicker said in the recent negotiations with Porter, only himself and village planner Cleatus Richards represented the village. While the council had requested a committee of Wicker, Richards and a councillor to meet with Porter, the mayor did not appoint such a councillor to do so, Wicker said.

Village residents with septic tanks where sewer is not available will not be assessed a monthly fee. Councillor J.D. James voiced his opposition to the village charging a fee for septic tanks where there is no sewer service. A fee had been discussed at the last regular meeting, as one way to help finance needed improvements at the regional wastewater plant.

Councillor Frank Cummins said the fee was just a proposal. However, he did not approve of such a fee for those without sewer available.

The motion was finally amended to look closely into charging a high fee for commercial septic tank pumpers to dump at the wastewater facility.

More than an hour of the council meeting was occupied with discussion about an appeal to the Planning and Zoning Commission's denial of a zoning change request. Attorney John Underwood, representing Jeffrey Smith who sought to have the zone changed from light commercial to multi-family residential, explained the need for such a change in order for Smith to obtain federal HUD loans to finance the project.

Smith plans a 40-unit apartment complex on the four-acre tract, located next to Highway 70, west of Miners Mountain Music (old Camelot theater). The project is estimated to cost $1.5 million. Smith was responsible for Camelot Apartments, which now have waiting lists for rentals.

P&Z had denied the zone change request in order to keep the Master Plan intact. The Master Plan has not been changed since it was approved in 1988.

Underwood said the council is the ultimate authority over zoning requests. Underwood also hinted that, if necessary, Smith would take his appeal to district court, as is allowed by law.

Village attorney Patricia

Ortiz argued that an appeal would be allowable only if P&Z had made an error according to the zoning ordinance.

After James moved to rezone the 4.195 acre tract from C2 to R3 and include an amendment to the Master Plan, discussion turned to how a public notice of the appeal should have been published to allow anyone with protests time to voice them. James then rescinded his motion and made another motion to publish notice of public hearing of the appeal and an amendment to the Master Plan on April 27.

Councillor Ron Andrews asked that staff find out whether the council can legally override a P&Z decision before the public hearing.

In other business, councillors: —Approved a resolution establishing policy and guidelines for the mandatory random annual audits of lodging vendors.

—Selected lodging vendors to be audited by having councillor Bill Karn draw two names from a box. The names were on folded paper and were not revealed to the public to protect the confidentiality outlined in the resolution.

—Approved the transfer of a dispenser liquor license to Miriam B. Kotkowski, Enchantment Inn Hotel and Screaming Eagle Lounge. There were no protests.

—Continued a public hearing on a resolution to establish operational policy at the Civic Events Center until the next meeting. Wicker promised a draft resolution for councillors prior to that meeting.

—Accepted a "70% Plus" award from the U.S. Dept. of Transportation to the Ruidoso Police Dept. for the village having reached 70 percent or better seat belt usage. The rate of usage is determined by direct observation. Mary Justice, director of the Safer New Mexico Now program, presented the plaque to police chief Richard Swenor and mayor pro tem Duff.

—Authorized the advertisement for cash bids only, to sell Unit 5 of Mark Condos, which was bequeathed to the village library.

—Heard a report from the Sign Ordinance Review Committee which asked for a code enforcement officer. Committee chairman Dan Swearingin was asked to come back at the budget hearing in May.

—Vacated the right of way of Buckner Drive adjoining Lot 21B, Block 8, Cree Meadows Country Club subdivision, with an agreement applicant George Davis pays $1,222.85.

—Approved the final change order of $7,905.14 from Bradley Construction Company on the Civic Center project and made the final payment of $67,016.52 to close out the civic center building project. The payment request was reviewed and okayed by the architect and by New Mexico Dept. of Finance and Administration.

—Awarded bids for furniture and equipment for the civic center.

—Awarded roofing bids to Hamilton Roofing of Artesia for $26,930.59 for the village administration center and to Allen Roofing of Roswell for $14,462.41 for the police/court complex.

All LCSWA members but Stirling Spencer and Ernest Luera met in Tularosa prior to the meeting with OCSWA. There they discussed concerns and answered questions before getting with their Otero County counterparts.

Also, the executive committees of both LCSWA and OCSWA had met in Alamogordo on March 23. Warth reported the results of that executive committee meeting to his fellow LCSWA members on March 25.

"Our board is an exceptional group, they represent Lincoln County well," Warth commended.

Members of the two authorities will meet in Ruidoso April 25.

Hosmer's letter, dated July 1992, only last week.

Swenor explained it is difficult to issue citations for drinking, especially when the violators can see police coming and get rid of the beverage before police arrive on the scene. That prompted councillor Jerry Shaw to say the village needs a plainclothes officer.

"We have something in the budget to address the problem. Keep in mind tonight when it comes time for budget," Swenor said.

After discussion about whether to turn the problem over to Parks and Recreation Committee, councillors voted to turn the problem over to staff, including Swenor, the problem be solved and a report be made at the next meeting.

"The man has a legitimate concern," James said.

In other business, councillors:

—Set a public hearing date of April 27 for a proposed ordinance which will establish rules and regulations for Grindstone Lake.

—Heard a report from Karen Kopp, executive director of Economic Development Corp. of Lincoln County. She told of a Winn's store to be located in the old Sprouse building by May, and how she is in the process of developing a file of potential business sites in Lincoln County. She also is working with three businesses wanting to relocate to the Ruidoso area and she is working to promote Richards Puzzles in Japan, Germany and military stores in the U.S. and foreign countries.

—Approved consent agenda items for annual application for airport aid from the state to purchase herbicide to control weeds along runways; and chamber of commerce request for approval of advertising plan.

—Heard a report from Dr. Bob Walters of the Monitored Retrieval Storage Committee, that while it has been quiet from Mescalero, the Mescalero Apache Tribal Council is now working with a private group to apply for additional funding to site a facility for nuclear power plant waste. The deadline for the Phase 2B $2.3 million grant application is March 31. The applications are not required to be made public until one is accepted and funded, Walters said. Two proposed sites in Utah are no longer being looked at, which leaves the Mescalero site the only viable option for the Dept. of Energy. Support for the DOE to hold hearings about the MRS in Ruidoso is growing.

—Set a special meeting for 10 a.m. April 9 to approve a local labor relations board.

—Heard the chief of police report that 911 is coming close to reality, with the bids awarded to a vendor to provide equipment for two public safety answering points.

Mayor Victor Alonso was absent from the meeting, in order to visit his father.

Mr. and Mrs. David Pillar

Hightower-Pillar Wedding

Lisa Diane Hightower and David William Pillar were married Jan. 2, at the Trinity United Methodist Church in Carrizozo with Reverend William Scholes officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Gary and Beth Hightower of Ancho, and the groom is the son of Russell and Carolyn Pillar of Waunakee, Wisconsin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length ivory satin gown with a castilian train. An open scalloped sweetheart neckline was outlined with sequins and pearls as were the satin and lace Gigot sleeves. The skirt had a basque waistline and was accented with pearls, lace, and soft bows. For her hair, the bride chose a layered veil of sparkle illusion attached to a headdress featuring teardrop pearls on an ivory tiara.

Cheryl Hightower, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Michelle Klevin, sister of the groom from Madison, Wisconsin, and Alison Hobson, from Las Cruces, were bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaids were Katherine and Mollie Hightower, sisters of the bride. The flower girl was Erin Hightower, cousin of the bride, and the ring-bearer was Tyler Klevin, nephew of the groom. Acolytes were Brian and Patrick Hightower, cousins of the bride. The bride's colors were emerald green with red and gold accents.

Daniel Pillar, twin brother of the groom, from Madison, was best man. Another brother, Bruce Pillar, from Pontiac, Michigan, was a groomsman, as was Brian Grosek from Madison. Brett Barham, from Lubbock, served as usher.

"The Wedding Song" and "To Me" were sung by Phyllis Zumwalt who was accompanied on the piano by Phyllis Schlegel. Jane Shafer was the organist.

Out of town guests included family and friends from Pontiac, Michigan; Flint, Michigan; El Paso, Stillwater and Canyon, Texas; Albuquerque, Alamogordo, Silver City, Ruidoso, Capitan and Corona.

After a brief honeymoon in Ruidoso, the couple has made their home in Madison, Wisconsin.

His other activities include running, he ran in two marathons, and carving southwestern statues and sculptures out of alabaster. He has also coached Little League baseball and Little League basketball.

Trost and his family live in the Capitan area. His wife Ruby is a teacher's aide at Capitan Schools, son Stormy is 19 and lives in Canyon, Texas and plans to attend college in the fall, daughter Sunshyne, 18, is a senior at Capitan School and will graduate this spring, and Javier, 6, is in kindergarten at Capitan School.

Trost is also a member of the Vietnam Veterans of America and would like to get a chapter started in the Capitan area to act as a support group for veterans.

Trost was surprised when he was told he was a recipient of the prestigious award this year. He said the program included a slide show.

"It was a premiere event," Trost said. "A big event for the state chapter."

There were more than 300 people at the awards banquet held at the Ramada Classic in Albuquerque where two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist Bill Mauldin was the keynote speaker.

Mauldin's cartoons featuring "Willie and Joe" captured the essence of the American soldier during World War II. Mauldin's career as a cartoonist-author-war correspondent covered not only WWII but also the Korean conflict, the Vietnam War and the 1967 Israeli-Arab conflict. He was the only political cartoonist to cover the Persian Gulf War up close.

AI's Musings

By AI STUBBS

This Jack Forrester of Capitan who died recently was quite a man. We've run across some historical material that has been in our "historical file" for a long time.

One publication, "Old Timers' Review," by editor Clarence Adams of Roswell. It is dated Fall of 1979, Vol. 1, No. 1.

Adams says in the first paragraph, "One of the best rodeo stars and ranch hands that ever focked a bronco in the Pecos and Hondo Valleys is an old timer by the name of Jack Forrester, a man who very well may have worked more old-time round-ups, as well as rodeos, than any cowpuncher alive today."

Forrester in the article tells how he came to the area. He told Adams he was working in a Buster Brown shoe factory in St. Louis when he and two other fellows decided to head west to California in a Model T Ford.

"Everything went alright until we got to Picacho Hill; that was even before they built the 'hairpin curve' road up the hill. It was really a rough one. I thought it was the prettiest country I had ever seen though.

Forrester said the trio stopped at the store in Picacho. He said that at the time Gus Chandler and Ed Bloom of the old Diamond A outfit were at the store. Bloom was general manager of the ranch. Chandler said something about needing a boy to work on the ranch.

"Since I was 'bout 16 years old at the time I figured I would 'fill the bill,' so I got my suitcase out of the Model T and told Mr. Chandler that he had hired himself a hand. I don't know what happened to my two friends. They got in the old Ford and took off to California I guess. I never saw them again."

Forrester said he was with Ed Bloom and Chandler for 37 years.

Although he couldn't ride a stick horse when he first went to work, Chandler introduced him to rodeoing when they made a trip to Alamogordo. Forrester placed first in bronc riding. That marked the beginning of the rodeo trail for Forrester.

Forrester, after making rodeos all around the area and in Colorado said he had a horse that Bob Crosby wanted, so he sold the animal to Crosby and teamed up with him on the big rodeo circuit.

"I learned a lot traveling with Bob Crosby. He had won the world's title All-Around Championship Cowboy in 1925. So in 1923, I was good enough to win the New Mexico Championship All-Around Cowboy," Forrester told Adams.

Forrester said he and John Thomas, another old-time Lincoln County rodeo star, were "pretty good buddies ...

"I saw John get throwed off a mean old bronc one day, and I know he must have landed thirty feet away. John got up with a grin, then he turned white as a sheet. I knew somethin' bad had happened to him, so we took him to the doctor. Right away the doc said John had a bunch of ribs pulled loose from his back. Well, they started wrapping old John with gauze, and when they got through he looked like an Egyptian mummy. But he was back bronc riding pretty soon, and John and I went to many a dance together after that."

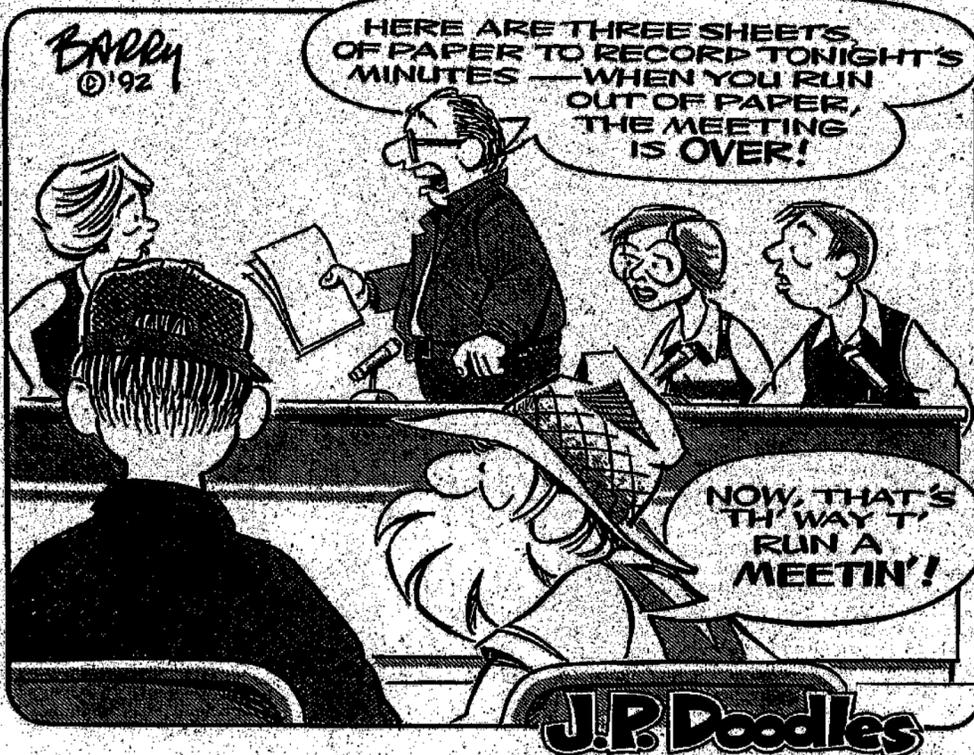

Forrester told about one time when he and Bert Pfingsten and Thomas went to Jemez Springs. Unfortunately they twisted off the universal joint on their old truck. They saw an old cultivator in a field and made their own universal joint. It worked then and for a long time after.

Forrester later became area cattle inspector. You could find him talking over old times with friends while he whittled away on a piece of pine or juniper. He'd whittle out a pair of little boots, a saddle or some other trinket.

Adams reported that when the visiting was over, more than likely Jack would say:

"Here's a little something to take along with you - a little token of our friendship. I thought you might like it."

He was that kind of a guy—missed by his many friends.

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—The veto season is back.

Gov. Bruce King has 20 days following the end of the '93 Legislature to sign or veto legislation that was passed. His deadline is April 9. That's Good Friday, in case you want to attach any significance.

Good ol' laid-back Bruce gets pretty serious about his responsibility. He's not the type to let bills become law just to make friends or not create enemies. In fact King uses the veto more often than most of his predecessors. Two years ago, he used the "pocket-veto" to kill a large number of measures he felt the Legislature didn't give him enough time to consider.

Before the clerks of the House and Senate send their bills to the governor, they proof read them carefully. They call it "enrolling and engrossing." Sometimes that process takes most of the 20 days the governor is allotted for his decisions. In such a case good ol' Bruce can become downright surly.

King likes his staff to go through every bill he receives very carefully. He's been around long enough to know the problems caused by poorly worded legislation. In '91 he felt there wasn't time to give careful enough consideration to some of the measures sent him, so he didn't take action either way on many bills, thereby automatically vetoing them.

During a legislative session, the procedure is reversed. The governor has three days to sign or veto any bill he receives. If he does neither, the bill automatically becomes law.

At one of the late session signing ceremonies this year, King appeared to be delivering a strong message. When he signed the Enhanced 911 bill, which he vetoed last year, King expressed his appreciation to supporters for making it more acceptable this year.

"Sometimes when I veto bills, people come back the next year with the same bill and just lobby it harder," King said. It seemed a clear message he is expecting to receive bills that fit in that category. Observers guess the proposal to make a new county out of Albuquerque's South Valley might be the target of King's warning.

Besides being able to veto an entire bill, New Mexico governors and those in many other states also can partially veto some bills. This is the "line-item veto" authority that Congress has jealously withheld from U.S. presidents, who would love to use it on pet projects of congressmen.

King is expected to do much of that this year himself. A New Mexico governor's partial veto extends only to appropriation bills. He can cross out anything in a money bill he doesn't like as long as the remaining words still makes sense. Lawmakers have grown fond of including restrictive language about how appropriations can be spent. King also can veto that language if he desires.

It is a significant power. But not as major as in some other states. In Wisconsin, for instance, governors can literally rewrite legislation to conform to their desires. Republican Gov. Tommy Thompson has made a practice of striking appropriated amounts and writing in lower figures, vetoing digits from an appropriation and individual letters from words. The Democratic Legislature took him to court and lost. The case is now on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court charging Thompson with subverting the Legislature's intent.

King will do some subverting of his own in the next few days. He is especially sensitive about legislative attempts to weaken the executive branch of government through micro-managing or through leaving the executive out of the loop on major projects.

The smooth-running '93 Legislature sent King about 40 more bills this year than it did in its last long session. That may mean King will break his record of 77 vetos two years ago.

EDITOR—On the contrary, I believe Mr. Queen loves a good debate, as do I.

Christianity has as its basic tenets: God's creation of a perfect world, man's fall through sin, the need for atonement, God's sacrifice of his son as the payment for sin, the necessity of repentance and acceptance of the Saviour to gain God's forgiveness, the revelation of truth through the authority of scripture, the inspired word of God. These negate compatibility with either dictionary definition given by Mr. Queen. My Random house dictionary has 11 definitions of Christianity and a few of those might tolerate Deism as an accompanying belief.

Only the study of original documents can reveal "real" history. Historians, being men, must necessarily add viewpoints and opinions to their writings. Until the turn of the century, most American history was written from a Christian point of view; now it's anti-Christian, even atheistic.

Dredging up the sins of the past, slavery, native genocide, and hundreds of others, will do little to prove or disprove the intent of the Founders in establishing this nation. The behavior of individual Christians can always be cited as hypocritical; sinners that we are, we do wrong, knowingly. If we were good, we wouldn't need a Saviour, and we wouldn't need the system of checks and balances built into our government.

At the time our Constitution was written, eight of the states still required church membership and commitment to Christ of their elected officials. Even Jefferson believed that "...God gave us life, God gave us liberty..." from the quotations etched in marble on the walls of the Jefferson Monument in Washington, D.C.

Original documents, diaries, letters, and other writings of the Founders reveal respect for, if not commitment to, the principles of Christian living. This nation was founded by men who believed in a creator, and/or a saviour, not in the godhood of man.

JIMMIE WELLS, Claunch.

Dept. of Corrections Agrees To Settlement

The New Mexico Department of Corrections has agreed to a $4.6 million settlement on an overtime pay lawsuit filed by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) on behalf of state correctional officers, the union announced in a news conference today.

AFSCME spokesperson Luis Arellano said the settlement affects 1,375 corrections officers, giving some as much as $6,000 in back overtime pay. Others will receive less, he said, depending on when they joined the AFSCME Fair Labor Standards Act lawsuit, filed in January, 1990.

The union will ask correctional employees to vote on the settlement next week. If accepted by employees who are AFSCME members, it will go to State District Court Judge Steve Herrera for final approval in June, 1993.

FORT STANTON:

FACTS and FICTION

By BETTY JOINER

The first coat of black top was poured Friday to finish the before and after road to the bridge. Shortly all the trucks hauling gravel and dirt to the Cora Dutton Road will be using the new bridge.

Cindy Nowell reports the playdays will soon be starting at the Capitan arena. If anyone would like to join, they can contact Cindy at P.O. Box 791, Alto, N.M. 88312 or call her at 336-4927. Cindy, Tonya Payton, and Jo Bennett were the timekeepers and bookkeepers at the roping held on March 27 in Capitan. Three round robins were held and the winners were: 1st, Audrey Davis and Randy Rutherford; 2nd, John Fish and David Roper; 3rd, Eddie Davis and Bill Jones.

2nd—1st, John Fish and Bill Jones; 2nd, Audrey Davis and Hector Gomez.

3rd—1st, Eddie Davis and Randy Rutherford; 2nd, Rusty Silva and Hector Gomez.

John Fish was the winner of the high money, with $20 separating the three top places. Bill Bennett was the flagger for the day.

Floyd Goodloe conducted the services for Hattie Phillips last Thursday at Angus. Many friends we hadn't seen attended. It was good to see Mora Titzworth, Louise Ferguson, Opal Butts, J.B. Morris, Bill Schrenghost, and all the other many friends and family. Three of Hattie's children attended with Mary Lou Welch not able to because of her husband's illness. Johnny and Ethelyn Werner's daughter sang "The Dance" and Mary Lou's grandson sang "The Lord's Prayer". Know Hattie is smiling over all the beautiful music that was played. She was laid to rest beside her husband "Edgar" in the Angus cemetery. Many of Hattie's coworkers, postmasters, attended her final farewell.

Lisa Vega is planning a Pony Express meeting on April 3, Saturday at Opal Mills home at 1 p.m. potluck. The portable arena, money matters, prizes, etc. will be discussed. Anyone wanting to help is welcome.

The Lincoln County Extension members had their cultural arts meeting in the Sierra Mall in Ruidoso March 18 with 49 members present. Terry White, head of the theme, Denims and Lace, did a wonderful job. Corsages made out of denim and lace were judged and the winners were: Original, Amanda Torres; Prettiest, Edith Dobbins; Best use of theme, Edith Malcolm.

Winners of door prizes of ceramic cups filled with flowers were: Bessie Jones, Bonnie Theford, Edith Dobbins, Rosalie Dunlap, Thelma Chipman, Phyllis Zumwalt, and Inez Pacheco. Joan Allen and Jo Blazer won wreaths. The cups were made by Zelma Vickery of Corona. Best of show went to Edith Malcolm for her crocheted tablecloth.

Clifford and Gilbert Sambrano are very happy in Roswell. Clifford is coaching Little League Baseball and enjoying helping his two boys, Sal and Little Clifford, and many others. Gilbert is busy with the Roswell police department. Anita Sambrano just recently brought her 2 1/2 year old grandson, Antonio, to live with them from Delaware. Grandparents Liza and Moses are proud of all of them. Lorenza Sambrano, Anita's husband, will shear up to 50 head of sheep for anyone needing sheep sheared. His phone number is 648-2540.

Marcia and Gene Harvey stopped in to visit Bessie Jones and the Joiners last Monday from Socorro.

The Lincoln County Long Rifles will be meeting April 3 at the Fort Stanton Rifle Range. Bring your rifle, pistol, scatter gun, knife and Hawk. It will be potluck so bring some food. This will be their annual turkey shoot. April is the month to elect new officers and to catch up on the dues.

Winners of the recent basketball tournament played at the Fort on March 20 and 21 were: Village People, 1st place; Troy Padilla, Terry Cox, Deke LaMay, Mad Dogs, 2nd place; Lando Baca, Trevor Cox, Kyle Traylor, Jim Griego; 3-Ball, 3rd place; Jim Delgado, Chris Schlarb, Heath Rickman.

Other teams competing were the Regulators, the Generics, the Opp's, the Putenge Fuange, and the One-Minutes. Players making up these teams were Tino and Ernie Gallegos, Troy Keller, Thomas Mirelez, Eddie Neiderstadt, Johnny Beltran, Benny Zamora, Leroy Zamora Jr., LeRoy Page, J.D. Neiderstadt, Joe Aprada, Ray Hernandez, Chris McCarty, Jessie Gallegos, Richard Herrera, Eli Salcido, Rudy Saiz Jr., Ron Moore, Gilbert Centura, and Bobby Griego.

This was sponsored by the union at Fort Stanton. By the sound of the names of the teams, know it had to be a "ball" as well as a great fundraiser.

Robin Armenta and Willie Hobbs were busy last week in the Capitan Post Office. Mike Currin was lucky enough to get to go to Las Vegas, NV, with his Dad and spend a few days. Mike is doing a great job as the new postmaster. The NAPUS state convention will be held in Albuquerque on April 27, 28, 29 and 30th. Mike is already working with the hospitality committee for this event.

A lot of ropers attended the Sunday round robin roping at Hondo last Sunday. Eddie Davis and Art Franklin were the winners of this one. Everyone is practicing for the big roping to be held in Albuquerque this weekend.

Ruidoso FFA Teams Compete In District Judging Contest

The Ruidoso High School and Ruidoso Middle School FFA members traveled to Roswell Friday and Saturday to compete in the District V FFA Judging Contests.

The Meats Evaluation Team placed 2nd overall. Team members are John Crawford, Heath Battles, Corrina Reed and Luke Koerner. The Middle School Meats team placed 7th. Team members are Dusty Silva, Darci Hibner, Megan Garrison, Lawrence Dominguez, and Clarissa Campbell.

The meats contest consists of meat cut identification, quality grading, yield grading, carcass pricing, placing classes, written test, formulation problem and questions. It is designed to give students a well rounded look at the meat industry.

The Wildlife Judging Team placed 3rd overall. Team members are Jolene McGee, Joe Brooks, Jeremy Heavington, Chris Carusona, and Mike Gallerito.

The wildlife contest consists of wildlife species identification, written test, and a practical. The practical features various specimens from New Mexico wildlife including things like antlers, skulls, furs, wings, feet, traps and teeth.

The Agriculture Mechanics Team placed 3rd overall. Team members are John Crawford, Jeremy Turner, Shane Melton, and Steve Minner. Two middle school members judged as alternates on this weeks team. They are Kevin Hoyt and Chase Hampton.

The agriculture mechanics contest consists of tool use and identification, electric motors and motor control wiring, welding, small gasoline engines, written test, and a 20 station problem solving exercise.

The Farm Management Team placed 4th overall. Team members are Teri Hall, Colinda Stokes, and Shane Melton.

Farm management features a 50 question test that is derived from a 550 question bank of agriculture economic problems. Students must learn formulas and be able to solve each of the problems. The second part of the contest requires students to complete budget sheets, compute depreciation, determine interest rates, and make future marketing decisions.

The Middle School Horse Judging Team placed 4th overall. Team members are Dan Roller, Reynaldo Lopez, Jazmin Fleharty, Dominique Rue and Brian Campbell. The high school did not field a team this week due to a schedule conflict. The horse judging contest consists of placing classes of halter and performance horses and oral reasons from the members as to why they placed them in that particular order.

The State FFA Judging Contests will be held this week in Las Cruces. In addition to these contest areas the Ruidoso High School FFA members have put together a team in the new Agrimarketing Contest. It requires a team to create a business for the purpose of marketing agriculture products. Students must do a feasibility study and determine a market for their product.

County Will Participate In National Security Exercise

Lincoln County emergency response teams will participate in a national security exercise April 6. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) through the Emergency Management Planning and Coordinating (EMPAC) Bureau is coordinating the event.

The purpose of the national security exercise is to test, evaluate and improve emergency response agencies' reactions to a radiological accident/incident that threatens national security.

Those involved in the exercise will be volunteer fire departments, radiological defense officers, law enforcement, county government and public information officers.

Maggie Bohks, Lincoln County Emergency Management Coordinator, is preparing for the functional exercise which is classed as less than a full scale on-the-scene exercise but more than a table-top exercise.

The scenario for the exercise includes terrorists with nuclear devices in several areas in New Mexico and the shooting of a sheriff's deputy after he stops a vehicle east of Carrizozo. The deputy reports he became suspicious of strange looking packages in the rear of the vehicle he had stopped. The vehicle is later wrecked but the occupants are not found. Reports of radioactive readings from the materials in the vehicle add to the emergency of the situation.

Bohks will set up an Emergency Operation Center (EOC) in the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office where the exercise will be conducted.

Bohks said the entire exercise will be conducted at the EOC. There will be no radio transmissions or equipment involved. Members of the emergency response teams will be at the EOC and will write their proposed actions to the simulated situations.

Bohks will also develop a narrative that coincides with the state's narrative as well as adding situations unique to Lincoln County's jurisdiction.

Trinity Site Will Be Open To Public On Saturday

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M.—Trinity Site, where the world's first atomic bomb was exploded in 1945, will be open to the public on Saturday, April 3. The National Historic Landmark is open twice a year, on the first Saturday in April and October.

Trinity is located on the northern end of the 3,200-square mile White Sands Missile Range, N.M. between the towns of Carrizozo and Socorro, New Mexico. For the upcoming Trinity Site tour there will be two ways of entering the restricted missile range.

Visitors can enter through the range's Stallion Range Center which is five miles south of Highway 380. The turnoff is 12 miles east of San Antonio, N.M. and 53 miles west of Carrizozo, N.M. The Stallion gate will be open from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. This is a change from years past when the gate did not open until 9 a.m.

Visitors arriving at the gate between those hours will receive handouts and will be allowed to drive unescorted the 17 miles to Trinity Site. The road is paved and marked.

The second way of entering the missile range is by travelling with a caravan sponsored by the Alamogordo, N.M. Chamber of Commerce. The caravan forms at the Otero County Fairgrounds in Alamogordo and leaves at 8 a.m. Visitors entering this way will travel as an escorted group with military police to and from Trinity Site. The drive is 170 miles roundtrip and there are no service station facilities on the missile range. The caravan is scheduled to leave Trinity Site at 1 p.m. for the return to Alamogordo.

Cameras are allowed at Trinity Site but their use is strictly prohibited anywhere else on White Sands Missile Range.

Trinity Site consists of ground zero where the atomic bomb was placed on a 100-foot steel tower and exploded on July 16, 1945 and the McDonald ranch house where the world's first plutonium core for a bomb was assembled. The crater resulting from the explosion has been filled in and a small monument now marks the spot.

For more information contact the missile range Public Affairs Office at (505) 678-1134/1700.

ENMU-R Survey Seeks Vo-Tech Program Needs
 Eastern New Mexico University at Ruidoso (ENMU/R) is conducting a needs assessment survey regarding present and future vocational training programs in Lincoln County. ENMU-R is not trying to replace current vocational programs in the schools but seeks to augment the present programs with a training program that will provide a two-year degree or certification in the vocational-technical classes. Business people, school administrators, educators who teach grades 9 through 12, students in grades 10 and 11, and parents of students in grades 10 and 11 are asked to complete the survey. The survey area is for Capitan, Carrizozo, Corona, Hondo, Ruidoso, Cloudcroft and Tularosa. The survey seeks important information for which potential students are likely to enroll, the future manpower needs of area employers and the probable job opportunities for trained students outside the region. The information is needed in order to establish future vocational-technical programs in Lincoln County. Anyone interested in completing a survey may contact ENMU-R at 1400 Sudderth in Ruidoso or call 257-2120 or 1-800-934-ENMU.

Sheriff's Report

Unreported controlled burns and a lightning fire again kept fire crews busy last week.

The chief advised dispatch to cancel the call for fire units because the fire was an unreported controlled burn. The responding deputies advised the subject who was burning the brush that he should not be burning because of the weather conditions.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS CLIPBOARD

A weekly school column from Carrizozo Municipal Schools that serves as a bridge to parents, businesses and community groups who welcome knowing more about their school. News about student, staff, and board members will be highlighted.

MIDHIGH SCIENCE—When 5th and 6th graders returned to class after Spring Break they continued work on their current science project. They are keeping track of leaf development on Elm trees on the playground. They are involved in the project as part of their life science curriculum. Their teacher Bryan Wetzel says that the experiment teaches his students to observe, measure in an accurate manner and record their findings.

The students record millimeter measurements of buds every other day and will continue until the end of April. They have noted that freezing weather hinders bud growth. They found that a 10 millimeter growth change occurred over Spring Break.

Other mid-high science activity earlier this year involved burning of fuses to stimulate an electrical short. Rancher's True Value donated the fuses needed for the experiment. The science students will be reviewing the experiment in preparation for a field trip on May 3 when they visit Elephant Butte Dam. They will tour the hydroelectric plant and its tunnels where they will observe water valves and other equipment.

CIVIC EDUCATION—During Spring Break for Carrizozo Schools, Cory Collins and James Smith, seniors, were among students participating in the March 24 New Mexico Citizens Bee held at New Mexico State University at Las Cruces. High school students in grades nine through twelve were eligible. The Citizen Bee is a civic education program and national academic competition of the Close-Up Foundation based on U.S. political and cultural history, government, geography, economics and current events. It is designated to stimulate greater understanding of our American heritage and the issues facing our country. It is an opportunity to recognize academic achievement of young people. The Citizen Bee experience involves students, educators, families and the community in the acquisition of knowledge and skills essential for effective citizenship.

Questions are derived from the 'Citizen Bee Guide to American Studies', newspapers, news magazines and television broadcasts reporting national and international events. Participants have 30 minutes to complete an objective written exam. All students then participate in four oral rounds. One round focuses on current events questions; the other three rounds are based on material in the Citizen Bee Guide to American Studies. Citizen Bee coordinator Gabe Papponi and Superintendent Jimmie Banks accompanied Collins and Smith to Las Cruces on March 24 for the Citizen Bee.

BASKETBALL PROJECTS—Boys basketball activities projects include a moneymaking project and a first annual outsiders tournament to help generate money for new varsity uniforms.

The first annual outsider tournament will occur April 17 and 18 in the new gym. The eight team double elimination tournament is free to the public. Local and around the state teams will be competing in the event. For additional details contact basketball activities coordinator Coach Ken Butts at school (648-2347).

STUDENT SCOUTS—Cub Scout Pack 153 held its monthly meeting on March 12 in the school cafeteria. The Bear Den presented colors of the flag and led the Pledge of Allegiance. The Bears have been learning folk tales and made paper mache masks as part of the project. They have planted flower seedlings with plans of future beautification. The scouts who earned a red bead for completing four achievements are Bronson Gage, Adrian Goad, John Green, Patrick Hightower, Brandon Langley, Francisco Marquez, and Robert Ortiz.

The Wolf Den led the group in a fun song. They demonstrated hand-crafted puddle jumpers and bean bags. They have been working on outdoor cooking, home safety and other life skill projects. The scouts who completed 10 electives to earn a Gold Arrowpoint are Anthony Beltran, Matthew Hernandez, Jack Greene, Sam

Greene and Trevor Cluff. The Cub Scouts will be attending the 1993 Scout Fair in Roswell on April 24. They will be selling tickets to the public to help earn money towards Day Camp in June.

Polly Chavez is the Carrizozo Municipal Schools news coordinator.

Ranch Field Trip For 4th Graders

Lincoln County fourth graders were exposed to their ranching heritage during a field trip to the Circle Bar Ranch West in Tinnie March 29 and 30. This is the third year of the two-day program.

The prime sponsors are Lincoln County Heritage Trust, Diamond A Cattle Company, and Circle Bar Ranch West. But the program could not be put on without the cooperation of the R.D. and Joan Hubbard Foundation, Miller Hudson, Inc., C&L Lumber of Ruidoso, Scott Shaffer of Carrizozo, or Ernest Lueras of Corona.

Students arrive at Circle Bar West by bus and are then treated to several hours worth of activities designed to introduce the roots of our ranching heritage, the development of ranching.

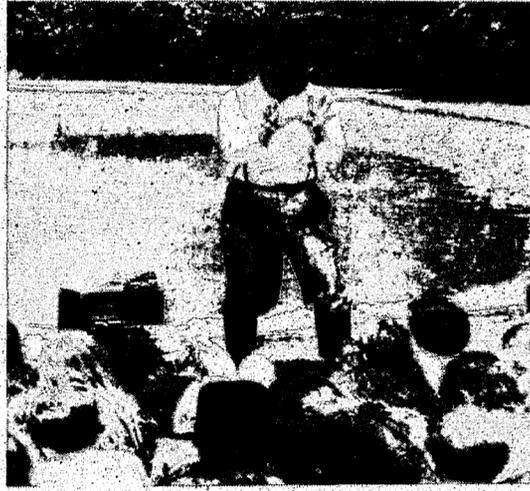

An acre is staked out to show its dimensions and the progression from the plow to tractor and hay bale from small to huge are explained.

Charros from Las Espuelas de Plata (Dexter) demonstrates the Spanish debt in ranching with Mexican and American cowboy equipment and horse control technique.

Branding is both explained and demonstrated with a board for classroom display receiving a Diamond A.

Ranch life before electricity and computers is described, as well as the importance of windmills, wells, and water, and modern range management techniques for both livestock and wildlife.

Roswell dramatist Boyd Barrett performs a one-man show. The haunting first part relates to the 1896 murder of Col. A.J. Fountain and son, Henry. The second half describes the lives of children in Native American, Hispanic, and Anglo families during the violence-prone 1860's and 70's.

150 years of making life a little sweeter.
