

Jail Expansion On Hold . . . Again!

By DORIS CHERRY

More room will be needed in the sheriff's office when the 911 emergency phone system is installed, and along with more room, more personnel will be needed.

Sheriff Jay McSwane told Lincoln County Commissioners Tuesday that any expansion of the current sheriff's office and jail will result in the need for more staff.

Commissioners budgeted $150,000 toward remodeling the sheriff's office/jail complex.

After the sheriff turned over the jail to the county commissioners last year, commissioners directed county manager Andy Wynham to focus on an expansion for the jail and sheriff's office. Wynham contracted Wayne Andrews of Albuquerque who prepared plans for the expansion. The plans are at the stage that requests for construction proposals could be advertised. The plans include a new entrance, an office for the jail administrator, a new dispatch center, separation of the jail and sheriff's office and a recreation yard for prisoners.

However, those same plans did not meet with the sheriff's approval when first presented and as a result were put on hold.

Now the estimates have been received on the 911 system equipment and the extra space in dispatch will soon be urgently needed.

McSwane said he was not opposed to the plans, but he questioned the dispatch and detention access. Before, the progress toward getting a sheriff's office expansion bogged down with disagreements over the entry/Sally Port, and security for the jail and deputy areas.

"I just want to make the commission aware of all probabilities. If we go with these plans, it will cost more in personnel," McSwane said.

Chairman Monroy Montes was willing to modify the plan. "I'd hate to end up with something we can't staff," Montes said.

McSwane also asked that any remodeling be done in phases, with each phase completed before starting on the next, such as completing a new dispatch area; so not to disrupt services.

Scaling back the plans to avoid the extra staffing was a consensus among the commissioners. They asked Wynham to get with the sheriff and come up with modifications so there will be no need for more staff.

Wynham said the problem is he and the sheriff got with the architect and still could reach no compromise.

McSwane has presented various options to remodeling the sheriff's office, including a modular building (very expensive) and a location away from the courthouse. He preferred to be close to the jail and the court room, to avoid drawing manpower away.

"I'm doing all I can to cooperate, while keeping manpower

Chamber Office To Be Reality In Carrizozo

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce will have more to offer visitors later this summer when the long-awaited chamber office becomes a reality.

Billie Jean and Bill Nunnally bought the former Trading Post building across the street from Roy's Gift Gallery and offered to partition a portion of the building for the chamber office at no cost to the chamber. Chamber members voted unanimously during their meeting Tuesday to put the chamber office in the building. Volunteers will be needed to help construct the walls for the chamber office.

Billie Jean is a member of the National Tourism Board and said the town needs a full-time chamber office. She also has suggestions as to ways the chamber can promote Carrizozo and tourism in the area.

In other business, chamber president Mary Lou Webster announced the scholarship committee recommendation to present the 1993 Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce scholarship to Bryan Turnbow. Webster said the chamber received seven or eight applications and Turnbow was selected because he had received no other awards or scholarships. Turnbow plans to attend University of New Mexico to study to be a pharmacist and wants to work in a hospital setting.

Members agreed to present the scholarship to Turnbow.

Billie Jean Nunnally reported on plans for the chamber sponsored People's Market to be held Aug. 7 and 8 in Spencer Park. Nunnally said she delivered more than 5,000 flyers promoting People's Market and has received donations of cash and prizes to be used during the two-day event.

Reservations for booths for arts and crafts items and food booths for People's Market are now being accepted by the chamber.

Sonnemaker Will Be New School Supt.

Capitan Board of Education hired a new superintendent Tuesday.

Meeting in a special session, board members Tom Trost, Beverly Payne and Tim Worrell unanimously approved hiring Dianne Sonnemaker for a one-year contract with a salary of $53,000.

Sonnemaker is currently assistant superintendent at Hobbs School District. She will be available by June 1.

Trost said absent members Jack King and Russell Schearer were in support of hiring Sonnemaker, and their votes will be recorded at the regular board meeting May 13.

Trost said Sonnemaker was very interested in being at Capitán Schools, which will be her first full-time superintendent position.

"I think you made a good choice," said 6th grade teacher Mecca Aldridge, who represents the Capitán Teachers Association. Sonnemaker toured the school and met staff recently when she was interviewed for the position.

Trost said he and other school members talked to Sonnemaker's current office staff, head of maintenance and other staff at Hobbs District. All had nothing but good to say about Sonnemaker.

Sonnemaker is planning to visit Capitán this weekend.

Questions of whether she will come on board before July 1 were left unanswered, until the current budget is reviewed.

US West Open House May 13

US West Communications will host an Open House at the Central Office at 1102 E. Street in Carrizozo from 2 to 4 p.m. May 13.

Frank Reed, community affairs manager for US West for the western half of the state will be present and invites the public to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Reed said the public can tour the building during the Open House.

County Disbands Transportation Development District Board

The 1993-94 fiscal year preliminary county budget is on its way to Santa Fe.

Lincoln County Commissioners adopted the preliminary budget at their regular meeting Tuesday, but not after more discussion about the "high priced road department" and requests for higher salaries for some staff.

County manager Andy Wynham opened the public hearing on the preliminary budget by saying it incorporated all changes agreed upon at the previous two special budget work meetings, and still met the required 5/12ths (or 41 percent of the budget) cash reserves for the general and road funds.

One citizen was especially upset over the proposed road budget. Dave Skeen of Alto, was extremely upset about what happened to the road department budget, which was cut down considerably from what road manager Bill Cupit first requested. Skeen also challenged why the commissioners bought two new ambulances, which would deteriorate if driver over the roads which will also degrade with the reduced budget.

Skeen did not like the road department to have a cash reserve of some 47.6 percent, some six percent over what is required, while cutting the proposed operating budget some 34.2 percent.

"I call that overtaxation. If you're not going to use the money, why collect it," Skeen said.

Wynham said the preliminary road fund budget provides a cash balance some $400,000 over what is required by state law. However, the road department costs are estimated to be $160,000 more than is received from the one mill from property taxes dedicated to roads plus other revenues. At that rate of loss rate, the cash reserves would soon be gone, ultimately requiring the commission to raise taxes.

Wynham said the $1,067,136 road department budget is an increase over actual expenditures from this current fiscal year, but a decrease over prior years. He said the proposed budget has enough money to continue to operate

Nunnally Hired As Part-Time Police Officer

Carrizozo has a new part-time police officer.

Carrizozo Trustees met in special session May 3 and agreed unanimously to hire Bill Nunnally as part-time officer. The recommendation to hire Nunnally was made by police department head Charlie White.

Nunnally will take the place of part-time police officer Bill Murry who has resigned. White told trustees that Murry's last day will be between the 15th and 21st of May.

White wanted to begin training Nunnally before Murry vacates the position. The department has adequate money to pay salaries for both men during the training.

Nunnally has 18 years law enforcement experience and is eligible for New Mexico certification by waiver.

Heavy Winter Snows May Cause Flooding

Higher than average snowfall on Sierra Blanca this winter will result in above normal runoff when the snow melts. Surveys conducted in March indicated Sierra Blanca received 207 percent more snow than average.

Spring rains along with the above normal runoff will increase the danger of flash flooding. The severe thunderstorm season usually begins in May and lasts through June. The combination of thunderstorms and snow melt can cause dangerous conditions to develop quickly.

People are warned to be extra careful of flash floods and to use caution in arroyos as well as on bridges and culverts. One danger sign to watch for is stream bank erosion. Also high water flows will often include debris which is another danger. Lincoln County Commis-ion Chairman Monroy Montes and Maggie Bohks, Lincoln County Emergency Services Coordinator, attended the Spring Runoff Conference April 14 in Santa Fe hosted by the Emergency Management Bureau of the New Mexico Department of Public Safety.

Montes and Bohks received information about flood hazard analysis and vulnerability assessment as well as flood assistance and recovery.

Participants in the panel discussions were the US Soil Conservation Service, National Weather Service, Interstate Stream Commission, State Engineer's Office, US Army Corps of Engineers, US Bureau of Reclamation, Disaster Assistance Program Office, Emergency Planning and Coordination Office, American Red Cross, NM Army National Guard, and NM State Police.

Grand Jury To Hear Udall Charges Against Underwood

At the request of Attorney General Tom Udall, District Judge Richard Parsons has set June 1 for potential jurors to appear in Carrizozo to be impaneled for a grand jury to judge whether there is probable cause to file criminal charges against State Rep. John Underwood and Ruidoso Downs Police Chief Will Hoggard.

The Administrative Office of the Courts in Santa Fe has mailed 250 summonses to potential grand jurors, said a representative in Judge Parsons' office. The list is selected from driver's licenses and summonses are mailed to potential jurors directly from Santa Fe. The district court clerk will receive a print out of the list.

Questionnaires will be returned to the district court clerk in Carrizozo, and potential panelists are to appear June 1. The judge will select 18-24 jurors for the case which has up to three months to be heard in the closed court.

Underwood went public in early April about the investigations by the Attorney General's office, and allegations of bribery and criminal solicitation, over his conduct as defense attorney in a DWI license revocation case in Ruidoso Downs in February. At the time of the license hearing, Underwood was in Santa Fe considering a bill to appropriate funds to help construct a new village hall for Ruidoso Downs. Underwood said he suggested to police chief Hoggard the arresting officer drop the case by not showing up at the hearing. The officer did not come to the hearing and the case was dropped.

Underwood has denied any wrongdoing and has called for investigations of his conduct in the case by the State Ethics committee and the State Bar Disciplinary Board. However, the AG's office has requested the grand jury.

According to published reports, Underwood prefers a public hearing, instead of the grand jury where all deliberations are secret.

Udall supported his decision to request the grand jury, because it will give the people of Lincoln County an opportunity to judge whether there is probable cause to file criminal charges. And if Underwood is indicted by the grand jury, he will get his public hearing in a criminal trial.

Underwood has employed Ruidoso attorney Gary Mitchell, who is claiming the entire situation is political. Underwood had plans to challenge Rep. Joe Skeen for the U.S. Congress, but now is uncertain of his political future.

Underwood co-sponsored the state ethics bill which passed both the house and senate and takes affect July 1.

Jail Expansion

down and still provide the best service," McSwane said.

But commissioner Bill Schwetzmänn urged the plans get moving to the right track.

Dr. Bernie Reimann, county E911 committee chairman, addressed the urgency of the expansion. Estimates have been received for the 911 equipment for the sheriff's office in Carrizozo and one for the police department in Ruidoso. To install the equipment will require 126 inches of space in dispatch. Until the extra space is provided for, the equipment will be stored.

Temporary installation of the 911 equipment will ultimately cost more, since the second installation into permanent quarters will not be paid for by the 911 funds.

"We need this space as soon as possible," Reimann said. Otherwise, the system will be concentrated in Ruidoso, where police chief Dick Swenor has agreed to provide the 911 system to the entire county for three months.

Montes suggested Reimann get with Wynham and McSwane to review the architectural plans for expanding the dispatch.

After more discussion about delaying the 911 system because of the lack of an appropriate space, Montes said it wasn't a question of emergency, it was a question of indecision.

Montes finally directed the sheriff get with the jail administrator, 911 board, county manager and architect, then come back with plans for the board to look at and decide upon at the June meeting.

Remodeling discussion turned to the needs at the sub-office in Ruidoso. McSwane asked that a partition wall, with door for access to the restrooms, be installed to separate the sheriff's offices from the health clinic. He said the small children visiting the health office come in contact with subjects deputies deal with in their offices.

"It's not favorable to the small children or the subjects," McSwane said.

Commissioners concurred to have the architect look at such a partitioning, although Montes joked that he could frame out the suboffice wall in a half day.

Once again Spencer asked for plans that will not require more personnel.

"I can come up with a plan requiring little staff, but less service," McSwane said.

Commissioners also briefly discussed whether the county must have rural addressing to implement the 911 program. Reimann said the 911 program is designed to allow modification if E911 is installed. E911 provides specific location information as well as a telephone number and name whenever a person calls.

"In the long run, rural addressing will be nice to have, but it is not necessary," Reimann said.

Hondo Schools will get a new football and baseball fields, thanks to help from the county road department.

Hondo School board member Frank Sineros requested help with excavating the field, to provide the school a spring time sport—baseball. The field can also be used for community softball games.

Sineros said the district was not asking the county to bear the full cost of such a project, estimated to be some $14-16,000. Rather, the district offered $8,000 in cash and $6,000 in kind work.

Because the project was a government to government situation, and thus does not violate the anti-donation clause of the New Mexico Constitution, commissioners unanimously voted to accept the Hondo District proposal.

Commissioners were not so generous with Phil Jones who asked if he could put up a sign on county right of way on the corner of Highway 48 and Airport Scenic Drive in the Alto area. The sign would point the way to his business Bent Tree Jamboree, a family dinner theater. He planned to move the sign once he got permission to place it on private property.

Commissioners did not allow the sign, fearing it would set a precedent for those to request signs in the county right of way. However, the request did bring to light the fact that many signs are now on county rights of way. Wynham said the request has opened the need for a policy to remove signs on the county rights of way.

Airport Scenic Drive belongs to the county, but the county at present has no way to maintain it. Commissioners discussed the situation with the drive and State Road 214 (which runs from Ft. Stanton, past the airport turn off and on to Highway 70 at Devil's Canyon.

While representative John Underwood did get some funding through the legislature for the roads, Spencer said the trade outs in the legislature got "plain screwed up." The state appropriated funds for a fog seal and repaving program from Highway 380 to Ft. Stanton, and $200,000 a year for two years to pave and recondition the road from Ft. Stanton to the Airport, in exchange for the county taking all of State Road 214.

Spencer wanted the state to take over Airport Drive from Highway 380 at the Ft. Stanton turnoff to Highway 48 in Alto, as a main artery, then appease the state by the county taking over maintenance of State Road 214 from the airport turnoff to Highway 70.

Some three miles of the airport road belong to the Village of Ruidoso. Schwetzmänn proposed the county get with the village to create some cooperative agreement for use of the village's hot mix plant for paving, then get on with taking care of the roads.

In other business, commissioners:

—Conducted a closed session for pending litigation and personnel for an hour and 10 minutes. No decisions were reached.

—Appointed Planning and Zoning members Nancy Duley from district 1 on a one year term; Karon Petty from district 2 on a one year term; Jerry Wright from district 3 on a two year term; David Cummins from District 4 on a one year term; Buddy Guthrie from district 5 on a two year term; Wayne Negley on a one year term and Ralph Romero on a two year term, both as members at large.

—Accepted the proposal from Emmons and Company of Albuquerque to conduct the 1992-93 audit.

—Accepted the only bid to construct a metal building for the Glencoe-Palo Verde Fire Dept. Substation from Jerry Morris Construction, Inc. of Hobbs.

—Upheld P&Zs recommendation to deny vacation of a fire escape easement on Harry Leonhardt's lots in Deer Park Woods.

CARRIZOZO TRACKSTERS (from left) Cory Collins, Jeff Maynard and Willie Silva are headed to the state meet this weekend at UNM Stadium in Albuquerque. The boys qualified to compete in the 1600 run/mile, 3200 run/2-mile, 110 hurdles and long jump events.

Three Grizzly Tracksters Qualify For State Meet

Three Carrizozo tracksters qualified for the state track meet to be held Friday and Saturday, May 7 and 8, in Albuquerque.

Cory Collins qualified in the 1600 and 3200 runs. He had qualified in the 3200 by time, running a 11:12.3, at Tularosa the week before the district meet. In that same meet he missed qualifying for state in the 1600 by .8 of a second. At District he won both events and will compete in both at the state meet.

Willie Silva, an 8th grader, won the long jump at District giving him a berth at the state meet. Willie made a jump of 17' 9 3/4" to win the meet. This makes three years in a row that a Silva from Carrizozo has won the district long jump competition.

Jeff Maynard ran a second in the 110 high hurdles to give him a shot at the state meet. This will be Jeff's first trip to state and he hopes to do well.

The competition will begin this Friday at 11 a.m. for Carrizozo. Maynard will run in the preliminaries of the 110 high hurdles at 11:45 and Collins will run in the 1600 run at 12:45. On Saturday Willie will be in the long jump at 10:30. If Jeff makes the 110 high hurdle finals, he will run at 12:40, and Collins will run in the 3200 at 4:30.

Results of the District meet for Carrizozo were:

Cory Collins—1st in the 1600 and 3200.
Jeff Maynard—2nd in 110 high hurdles, 6th 300 intermediate hurdles, 4th high jump.
Willie Silva—1st in the long jump, 8th high jump.

Jacob Portillo—3rd high hurdles, 6th long jump, 4th 300 intermediate hurdles, 4th 400M run.

windy weather hindered the Carrizozo Clean-Up Day activities May 1. Three teenagers, one boy from the karate class, and town crews helped with the community-wide effort.

The dumpsters placed at city hall and Fred Chavez park were filled by people helping with the clean-up as well as individuals cleaning their own properties.

Members discussed continuing the clean-up during the summer by asking for volunteers to collect items every two weeks or once a month and take the items to the transfer station for disposal.

Airport manager Hal Marx told about the Last Friday Social held at the airport April 23. He said six or eight people attended.

The Nunnallys will host the Last Friday Social in July.

Members asked for information about the Carrizozo Lodger's Tax Committee (CLTC) and how funds are spent. CLTC secretary Ruth

Al's Musings

By AL STUBBS

Weather was his vocation and his avocation. Meteorologist Carl W. (Bill) Hostetter was a friend to many people in Lincoln County. The turnout for a memorial service for him at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount was an indication of this.

Hostetter had been a volunteer official weather observer for Ruidoso since 1987. He spent 26 years in the Forecast Center in San Antonio, Texas, where he predicted one of the biggest killer hurricanes of the century while on duty there. His specialty was hurricanes. He could tell you the effects of "El Nino" on the weather in Lincoln County; he was valued as a speaker. He also was a valued member of the Ruidoso Valley Noon Optimist Club as well as of his church.

For years, until recently, he provided by-weekly weather information to the press. We used to call him every Monday and Thursday mornings for "the weather." He was always cheerful and accommodating early on those mornings.

Father John Penn at the memorial service said that each year he would call Bill before Easter to see when the sun would rise on Easter morning. Hostetter told him that sunrise in the mountains isn't the same as on the plains. He indicated it depends on what mountain or hill you are behind as to when the sun will come creeping over the ridges.

One year Easter was so early that Penn said he scheduled a sunrise service for 5:30. That's early.

People are interested in weather, past and present. Witness the time devoted to weather, say, in newspapers and on radio and television. With the advent of offset printing, getting weather information into a newspaper is relatively simple today. It hasn't always been that way.

When we started out in the newspaper business one of our jobs was to drive to the weather bureau at the Roswell Army Airfield each morning, pick up a hand-drawn weather map from the meteorologist there, take it back to the office and redraw it as neatly and professionally as possible. Then, the map had to go onto an engraving machine. One such machine was the Fairchild. A red hot needle would engrave the map onto a sheet of blue plastic which rotated on a drum while the map turned on an adjacent drum. The completed engraving would be cut to size and affixed to a page cylinder ready for the press. It was quite a project. Most photos and illustrations had to come off of the engraving machine. One other type was a cold metal process where the map or photo was engraved onto a sheet of metal which turned on a cylinder. Newspapering has changed. It's much quicker and easier. I don't know that it is any more fun or challenging.

We grew up across the street from the weatherman in Roswell. His name, as we recall, was Cleve Hallenbeck. His daughter, Pam, was and may still be a Ruidoso artist.

Speaking of weather, it descended on Roswell Saturday with a vengeance just before the Air Show was to start at the Roswell Industrial Air Center. We can attest to the fact that the temperature dropped 23 degrees in just a few minutes.

Bill probably could have predicted that storm with great accuracy. The weather still would have cancelled out the Air Show for that day. Sunday was beautiful, and the Air Show went on as scheduled. Ticket stubs were honored on Sunday.

One thing we don't get much of in these beautiful hills is dust. But, you know it's windy when white sand starts collecting on vehicles and such. West Texas-style dust storms are rare in the mountains. Those monster dust storms in Texas can take the paint right off of a vehicle.

One TV weatherman was at Hostetter's memorial service. He told of how Bill had helped him over the years and of how much respect he had for Ruidoso's weatherman. He reflected the feelings no doubt of everyone at the service. He's missed.

J.P. Doodles

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—It's not surprising that Anne Kovacovich Bingaman is the first woman to head the antitrust division of the U.S. Justice Department. She's already blazed a lot of trails in New Mexico.

Bingaman was the first woman on the faculty of the University of New Mexico Law School. She was a leader in the campaigns to open the New Mexico Military Institute to women and to make New Mexico one of the first states to pass an Equal Rights Act. That was prior to passage of the federal Equal Rights Amendment, which New Mexico was one of the first states to ratify.

Bingaman was also the first female student body president at the Stanford University Law School. It was there that she decided to shun her many suitors to pursue a shy, serious, fellow student who seldom dated.

Her hunch was good. They married. Jeff soon became a successful lawyer in practice with former Gov. Jack Campbell. Later he was elected New Mexico's attorney general and then U.S. senator.

But establishing herself in the legal profession wasn't as easy for Anne. When she first went job hunting, she couldn't even get an interview. She finally had to settle for working at the Modrall firm in Albuquerque as a paralegal. Six months later the firm hired her as a lawyer.

Not long after, the Bingamans moved to Santa Fe where Jeff associated with the Stevenson, Olmstead and Campbell firm. Tired of trying to get others to hire her, Anne became a founder and partner of Bingaman and Davenport, specializing in antitrust law. Her successes enabled her to provide significant financing for her husband's first two campaigns.

There wasn't much antitrust business in New Mexico but Anne soon found her self involved in a nine-figure suit brought by residential customers against Southern Union Gas Company and its suppliers. Her efforts to convince one of several oil companies to be the first to settle eventually led to the return of over $100 million to gas consumers.

When the Bingamans moved to Washington in 1988, Anne's New Mexico success didn't cut it in the big city. After interviewing at 35 firms, she received three job offers. She signed on with Onek, Klein & Farr and later moved to Powell, Goldstein, Frazer & Murphy where she became a partner in 1985.

Since then Bingaman has become a nationally recognized authority on antitrust law. There may not have been a single, big business, corporate lawyer in the nation, who didn't already know her name before Bingaman was appointed antitrust division head. This was no bone being tossed to a senator's wife in order to pick up his vote on some Western issues.

One first Anne Bingaman can't claim is that of the first Washington wife to make good in her own right. Elizabeth Dole performed admirably in cabinet positions under both Presidents Reagan and Bush. At least a couple wives of Washington political columnists also held important White House positions in the last 12 years. And Hattie Babbitt, the lawyer wife of Interior Department Secretary Bruce Babbitt, has already been named ambassador to the Organization of American States.

Several New Mexico Democratic women say they have known ever since a September 1992 campaign visit to our state by Hillary Clinton that Anne Bingaman would be an influence in this administration. They talk about how evident it was that Anne and Hillary hit it off immediately as dynamic women lawyers, who in many ways were heads of their households.

There is no doubt Anne Bingaman will shake up the Justice Department's antitrust division and maybe a lot more.

Planting Windbreaks Will Help Wildlife

Thousands of trees will be planted by farmers, ranchers, and urbanites in New Mexico this spring and summer. These trees will be planted for many reasons. For example, field windbreaks are planted for erosion control and improved crop production. Livestock windbreaks are planted to protect livestock from harsh winter weather. Farmstead and homestead windbreaks are planted for beautification and for protection from windy New Mexico springs.

Currently, ten programs provide full or partial funding for noncommercial tree planting in the State. In the past three years, an equivalent of more than $2.25 per person in New Mexico has been spent on this type of tree planting.

Secondary benefits can also be realized if they are considered in designing and planting windbreaks. Windbreaks support birds that eat insect pests. Windbreaks also improve hunting opportunities and provide a focal point for outdoor family activities. In some areas, they are essential to survival of wildlife.

Adding wildlife benefits to windbreaks can be achieved without compromising the primary purpose. In developing a plan, the design, plant materials, and locations that meet specific windbreak needs can be selected while including factors that benefit wildlife.

Trees and shrubs that will provide wildlife benefits and are adapted to the local climate should be selected. Generally, native species are the best bet, because they are adapted and familiar to wildlife.

A variety of trees and shrubs should be included in the windbreak planting for a more natural appearance, wildlife values for more species, and fewer chances of disease or insect problems.

Where appropriate, a site that connects to a larger habitat block, such as a river corridor, woodlot, wetland, or woody draw, should be selected.

A wildlife food plot or leaving grain fields unplowed is a beneficial consideration in planning. This plant cover reduces soil erosion. On the lee side of windbreaks, wildlife would have a food source in a sheltered spot.

Planting or leaving a mixture of grasses and legumes, grain, or stubble as a border, 20 to 50 feet wide, along the edges of windbreaks should be considered. This border would provide nesting, loafing, and foraging cover for pheasants, quail, and other wildlife.

Adding a row of shrubs to the windward side to trap snow before it gets to the main windbreak and to improve wind protection near the ground should also be considered.

For more information about windbreaks and wildlife considerations, contact the United States Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service. The phone number is 354-2220 in Capitan and 648-2941 in Carrizozo.

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

Oh, I was searching for her inner beauty but her face kept getting in the way, cha cha cha.

Things are getting better in the lush department. I saw an article in the paper which concluded that the latest medical evidence shows that consumption of two or three alcoholic beverages per day has the effect of promoting the production of the good kind of cholesterol and significantly reduces the risk of heart disease. This could be true because your liver may not last long enough for you to develop heart disease. I'm sure there will be some considerable debate over this issue because it flies in the face of the temperance crowd. You know the old story, "liquor that touches my lips will never touch yours", and preachers will now have to have their sermons reviewed by the AMA to determine if they are medically correct. The psychiatric profession may become a growth industry because of the well-known tendency for alcohol to cause insanity in total abstainers. This statement was made about 60 years ago by Ambrose Bierce, but it remains relevant in today's world. (Who the heck is Ambrose Bierce? Oh, he is one of those unknown authors who are used as convenient repositories for witty sayings when they don't turn out that way.)

There was another article in the same paper that warned against accepting scientific opinions without a grain of salt. The problem with accepting conclusions from research seems to be, according to the article, that the opinions may vary depending on the approach taken, which is the same as saying the research is structured to establish the desired results. This concept reminds me of putting together a jigsaw puzzle of a picture of an elephant. Depending on where you start and how long you work on the puzzle, you could conclude that elephants are similar to snakes, trees, blimps, fire hoses, mothers in law, saddle blankets, or some other appropriate fantasy. (My apologies to the blind men of Indian folklore, who did the same thing but came up with different results.)

I note that Clinton administration has announced it will be shifting the emphasis of the war against drugs from production to consumption which will lead to an increase in supply thereby reducing the price to one TV per fix. The next few years should prove to be interesting with illicit drugs on the market at popular prices and the proliferation of prescription alcohol.

"Man, I've had four marteonies and I don't feel nothing, but if I add a little snort of coke, I won't even care."

I'm joking, of course. However, I do think the only answer to the drug problem is to take the profit out of the market. As it stands now, the profits are high enough that law enforcement penalties are ineffective in controlling the supply, and we need to try something else.

Insurance principle: Every man should have enough life insurance coverage to provide for his passing without creating undue hardship for those he leaves behind, but not enough to encourage collection.

"Honey, if I were to drop dead tomorrow, would you marry again?"

"Dear, it's 2:00 a.m. in the middle of the night." "I probably would, because it would be so (SEE PAGE 5)

Wedding Bells for Tiffany and Ernie

Tiffany Sue Thompson of Capitan and Ernie Gallegos of Fort Stanton plan to marry at 5 p.m. Saturday, May 8, 1993 at the Foursquare Church in Capitan.

A reception immediately following the wedding will be held at the fair building in Capitan. All friends are invited to attend this celebration.

The groom's parents are Bill and Gloria Wheeler of Fort Stanton and Faustino and Veronica Gallegos of Carrizozo. The brides parents are Mr. Richard Thompson of Ruidoso and Mrs. Linda Brewington of Capitan. Congratulations to the newlyweds to be.

Sandra and Gloria do well in Louisiana

Sandra and Gloria Wheeler attended the WIBC National Bowling tournament in Baton Rouge, La., last week. Since I do not know anything about bowling I wasn't too sure what to write. Sandra won a patch for 125 over series and a patch for 75 pins over average. Sandra bowled a 204 and won a pin for 200 Award. The other bowlers who went from this area were Flo Maul, Virginia Danielson and Cindy Sanchez. Chauffeur Barney, Sandra and Gloria enjoyed touring Bourbon Street in New Orleans and the Riverwalk. They left on Wednesday and returned on Sunday.

Postmasters attend State NAPUS Convention

Mary Gourley, Debbie Moore, Patsy Racher, Mike Currin, Shirlene and Julius Fitzner, Dave and Della Bonnell, Cherie and Bobby Hobbs reported a lot of fun was had at the state post office convention held in Albuquerque last week. The new NAPUS president elected for the next two years was a surprise with Mary Williamson winning. She won over Pat Roark and Esther Rodriguez. Paula Appleton, one of this years host postmasters, was the winner of postmaster of the year. John Roark presented Mary Gourley, Debbie Moore and Betty Joiner a plaque for helping with the convention in Ruidoso last year. The plaque is greatly appreciated but think it should have been presented to Lincoln County Postmasters.

Do want all of you to know we couldn't have done without each of you. Forty-five retirees were honored with gifts at the retirees breakfast.

Edna Gfeer is spending time in Carlsbad trying to sell their home there. She sure does miss all her friends at Fort Stanton and hopes to be returning soon.

St. Judes Research for Children Bike-a-Thon May 15th

Lorenza Holquin works hard each year to raise money for this Bike-a-thon. Everyone participating enjoys the day at the Fort riding around the square. It is exactly one mile around and sure does seem longer after the first lap. If anyone would like to participate, call Lorenza at 354-2340 to get details, or come on out at 10 a.m. and join the group for good exercise and fun.

Al Sanchez retired from Alto about a month ago and is really enjoying his retirement.

Visited with Buddy Hill Tuesday and he is very happy with his job as postmaster in La Luz. Wishes it wasn't quite so far to drive, but otherwise is doing great.

Two ropings over the weekend were held at the fairgrounds and at Beavers Arena in Ruidoso Downs. If anyone has the winners please let me know.

Pat Joiner helped Joel Bonnell in Glencoe last week. On Saturday and Sunday Bill McAlpine, Pat, Jay Davis, Chris Lamb, and others helped move cattle from the Fort Stanton pasture.

Molly Mason and Bessie Jones left Monday to go to Portales for the District Homemakers' cultural arts show. Molly had just recently returned from Arizona, where she had attended her mothers funeral.

Shirley Goodloe visited with her family and N.E. Britton this past week. It is good to have you back in town Shirley. Hope to get to see you while you're here.

Hope everyone, especially all mothers, have a very very "Happy Mother's Day."

Carrizozo PD Orders Computers

By RUTH HAMMOND

Carrizozo trustees agreed during their regular meeting April 27 to accept the one proposal received from the firm of Dutton, Griffin, Stevens & Hakanson, LTD of Ruidoso for attorney services for the town and to begin negotiations with the firm.

The proposal was for $65 per hour for routine legal services, $100 for complex legal services, fractions of hours billed in tenths of an hour, and out of town charges and expenses.

In other business: Randy Horn of Southwest Disposal asked the town for permission to increase fees for trash service and tipping fees at the transfer station. The town contract with Southwest Disposal began March 2, 1990. This is the first increase request and is in accordance with the contract and is determined by the consumer price index (CPI) inflation determiner.

Trustees tabled making a decision after asking Horn if the price increase would begin July 1 at the start of the fiscal year. This will give trustees time to make adjustments in the budget for the next year.

The fire protection application was approved as presented. Fire Chief LesRoy Zamora answered questions from trustees about costs for repairs on the trucks and other expenses for the Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department.

Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce President Mary Lou Webster told trustees the chamber had an offer for free space for a chamber office in the former Trading Post building now owned by Billie Jean and Bill Nunnally.

Webster asked if the chamber would need a business registration.

Trustees agreed it was not necessary for the chamber to have a business registration. Trustee Harold Garcia thanked the Nunnallys for donating the space.

Carrizozo residents Opal Hill, Betty McCreight, Joan Means, and others asked for special water rates to encourage people to water their lawns.

Trustees will consider the request during budget workshops. It will depend on whether the special rates would cause problems in the water department budget.

Billie Jean Nunnally told trustees she would be bringing a group of investors to Carrizozo soon.

Police department head Charles White received permission from the board to order two computers with printer and cables. Money for the computers will come from the Law Enforcement Protection Fund budget.

The computers will be purchased on the state contract at a total price of $5,100, and will include training.

The town received five proposals for audit services. Action on the matter was tabled to allow time to review the proposals.

Proposals were received from Sandra Johnson and Sandra Rush of Clovis; Woodard, Wingfield, Cowan & Co. of Roswell; Hoffman and Associates of Albuquerque; John J. Shanberger of Clovis; and Pamela A. Wright of Albuquerque.

A closed session was held to discuss personnel matters.

Help RHS Find 1947-63 Alumni

Ruidoso High School alumni who attended RHS during the years of 1947-1963 are invited to attend a "Come Back Home" reunion July 9-11. Alumni of the first few years started high school in Capitan, before the Ruidoso High School was built.

The reunion committee has planned a full weekend of activities and invites alumni and their families to attend.

The reunion committee also needs help locating former class members. Through the years they have lost contact with many of the alumni and ask that anyone with names and addresses of former RHS students from the years 1947-63 please contact any of these reunion committee members: (All phone numbers are area code 505) Jim Veater at 336-4296, Genevieve Hensley Veater at 336-4296, Peggy McNatt McClellan at 257-2356, Frank Potter at 378-4142, Jeanette Thompson Hatch at 258-5717, Joann Martin Hall at 258-4263, Helen Barajas Kilgore Woodfin at 258-5689, Vera Cooper Ward at 258-9218, or Dean Holman at 378-4588.

The committee would like the names and address before May 30. They hope to compile a permanent file of former RHS students for future reunions. Mike Gladden, Ruidoso High Schools Superintendent, is working with the reunion committee and will maintain the records in the school central office.

The reunion committee also has plans to reconstruct the school history and will need photos. Names and addresses should be put on the back of the photos in order for them to be returned to the owners.

CAPITAN NOTES

By Pauline McGarry Whittaker

Family values is a term we have all lived with since Adam met Eve, but during the last presidential campaign it became a political issue. When my niece, Donna, boarded the plane to Frankfurt, Germany to attend college her mother yelled to her, "you have three things to remember meaning her three pieces of luggage but Donna remembered what her mother had been teaching her. "Yes, I know in an irritated voice, "Chastity, Chastity, Chastity."

Alton and I consider our grandchildren and great-grandchildren our Family Valables. We drove 300 miles round trip to Carlsbad to attend our granddaughter Allison's 20th birthday then we attended the Modern Dance Spring Performance coached by Cheryl Jenkins who teaches dance at the high school. Elizabeth, another granddaughter, showed talent in ballet. We just know she will be another Dega ballerina. Then we spent time watching two ball games where Michael is a pitcher for the Astro Little League Teams. We have no doubt he will pitch for the Big League someday. The next game was Jeremy playing second base hitting the ball from a

T-ball. We missed Jamie's game coached by her father, Jeff Neatherlin, because of the birthday party. We had to miss seeing our granddaughter Kelly Cox all dressed up for the Senior Prom here in Capitan, but we will attend the potluck for the National Honor Society where Kelly will be. We are so proud her class mates elected Kelly president of the National Honor Society. Alto and I cannot take credit for the success of our grandchildren but we do take credit for teaching the parents of our grandchildren. We have several grandchildren and great-grandchildren in Carrizozo. We are counting on Amber Vallejos, our great-granddaughter, being Miss America some day. I have been talking to a bunch of grandparents and I know they can relate to these stories.

Chris Shanks was elected vice-president of Abilene Christian University student body of 5,000 students. Shanks will have a private office as well as a lucrative scholarship. Capitan has another graduate who has made us proud.

I was trying to find out if there is a beautification program for Capitan to celebrate Smokey Bear's birthday for 1994 so I asked Erma Trujillo if she was a friend of Smokey, she answers, "No, but I am related to Smokey. I was born where Smokey was born." I had always heard everyone was related in this area.

Kay Strickland and Maxine Wright went to Lubbock, TX to visit Maxine's sister Janelle Lucas.

Tammy and Beverly Payne visited Guy Payne at NMSU in Las Cruces this weekend.

Karie and Stacy Cox from New Mexico State University and University of New Mexico, visited their parents and Keith and Kelly recently.

Bart McDonough did an impromptu entertainment of old familiar tunes on the piano after lunch at the Senior Citizens. Thanks Bart.

County Disbands

the department, with the only significant cuts being the deletion of the two vacancies, one open for almost the entire fiscal year. Also, construction programs with the state highway department help offset the loss in the road fund to about $60,000 a year.

Wynham said the funds budgeted also did not reflect actual expenditures. He said the road department has spent $950,426 this year to date, and is expected to spend $1,036,828 by the end of the year. The budget for last year was $1.2 million.

Skeen said the budget was unrealistic because it did not include the amount of money that will be needed to purchase gravel in the future. The county has been getting free gravel from the Forest Service's Devil Canyon pit, however, reserves are nearly gone.

Chairman Monroy Montes supported the commission's decision to cut the proposed road fund budget and the purchase of the ambulances.

"We spent many hours laboring over the road department and other budgets," Montes said.

Montes acknowledged the good work the road department has done under manager Bill Cupit's supervision. But he also noted the cost of upgrading the county roads under Cupit.

"It (the road department) is a high priced department," Montes said.

Montes also defended the ambulance purchases, since the old units range from seven to 21 years old, some with over 100,000 miles on their odometers.

"We did weigh all the factors, and it hurts me to cut the road department," Montes continued.

Commissioner Wilton Howell also defended the road department budget cuts and the estimated cash reserves. He estimated the road department will have less cash reserves this coming fiscal year than in the last.

"We can't spend up our reserves, or you'll be reviewing our budget like Clinton's," Howell told Skeen.

Skeen said he had just gotten back from working on Clinton's budget and that was the reason he had not attended any of the budget work meetings held in the last two weeks. He based his comments on information provided in the local newspapers only.

After commissioner Stirling Spencer thanked Skaen for taking interest in the transportation issues, commissioner Bill Schwettmann said everyone knows where he stands on the roads issue. "And speaking of taxes, by not maintaining the roads in first class condition, we already raised taxes with front end alignments and less tourism," Schwettmann said.

Skeen finally requested more money be put into the road program, instead of the commissioners throwing out Cupit's proposed five year road plan.

Efforts to obtain more salary for jailers and departmental chief deputies failed by majority vote of the commission. Ray Nunley attempted to raise the jailers at least one more step on the pay scale because the jailers have potentially dangerous jobs.

Wynham credited detention center administrator Wayland Hill for working hard to prove he was capable of saving money. Also Wynham said the jailers put their life on risk with unwieldy prisoners and deserved to have a salary at least equal to an assessor's mapper or an entry level deputy.

Sheriff Jay McSwane also believed jailers needed a raise, and also communications staff. He also thought jailers should not be paid as high as a deputy, who have more dangerous jobs.

On a commissioner's vote of three to two, jailers' and dispatchers' salaries were increased, but jailers did not receive the extra Nunley wanted.

Clerk Martha Proctor requested the salaries for chief deputies for her office, the treasurer's and assessor's offices be increased to 80 percent of the elected official's salary. She said the chief deputies must assume extra responsibilities and are exempt employees with no job protections. Currently the deputies receive 77 percent.

Discussion turned toward what the sheriff's chief deputy or undersheriff should receive. He currently gets 87 percent of the sheriff's salary.

Spencer argued all chief deputies should receive 80 percent, and made a motion to that effect. His motion died in a roll call vote when Schwettmann, Howell and Nunley voted no.

The salary for the sheriff's temporary secretary was also decreased on a vote of 3-2. Nunley had problems with a temporary secretary hired at the same salary level as an experienced one.

After no further public input, commissioners approved three resolutions to adopt the preliminary $7,471,753 budget for the 1993-94 fiscal year, with the changes made during the hearing. The preliminary budget will be sent to Santa Fe for review and approval, then will be returned to the county for action to become the official 1993-94 budget.

A proposed ordinance to amend the county's ordinance regulating the accumulation of refuse, solid waste and litter went to the table for more consideration. The current ordinance allows persons to be cited for allowing accumulation of debris near an inhabited dwelling.

The amendment came about after the sheriff's animal control officer, acting as a litter control officer, discovered an accumulation of debris near an uninhabited dwelling. Because the ordinance exempts such situations, the officer could not cite the violator.

The main argument against the proposed amendment was it is open to interpretation of debris. Commissioners agreed the wording was clear enough and could lead to abuse. Rather commissioners wanted some guidelines to enforce a litter ordinance.

"This is so open-ended that someone could come to my operation...some of that junk we actually fix," Montes said.

Commissioners unanimously voted to table the amendment until their next regular meeting, then directed Wynham to bring back a more defined document.

Commissioners took little time in adopting an amendment to the ordinance which sets fees for solid waste collection. The amendment sets a $5 late fee for each trash billing cycle from the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

Commissioners disbanded the Lincoln County Transportation Development District, which was organized in 1991. With no public input during the hearing, commissioners agreed there appeared to be no purpose for the district and board, since no grants were applied for. Unanimously, commissioners voted to repeal the two ordinances 1990-6 and 1991-13.

Commissioners voted to set a public hearing for a liquor license transfer during a special meeting May 18 at 9 a.m. at the county sub-office in Ruidoso. The license transfer was requested by Frank J. and Sandra K. Gady, Gady's Pic and Pak from Bill Stirman and other business.

Commissioners also approved the resolution setting fees for alcoholic beverage dispenser's, club, retailer's and canopy licenses.

Commissioners also approved the consent agenda items including the treasurer's financial report for March; volunteer firefighters retirement act qualification records for the Nogal Fire Dept.; payroll, accounts payable and final road acceptance in Unit 2 in Agua Fria Subdivision.

DR. SANDRA DAVIS, D.C.

The human body must have balance in order to have good health, and one of the most important balances is achieved through proper treatment of the nervous system, which controls every function of the body. The main objective of DR. DAVIS is to heal using natural methods. Their goal is to educate people to an alternative method of health care, care without harmful side effects due to unnecessary medication. Many times a chiropractic examination of the spine will reveal the cause for many problems. In addition, it can help relieve a problem that is just beginning. If people would get a spinal check-up, like they do a dental checkup or chest x-ray, serious health problems could be averted. The spine is such an important part of our bodies, but given little attention until pain shows up. By this time the problem may be of a serious nature. This is why DR. SANDRA DAVIS spends time with her patients educating them to the reasons behind their present health problems. Chiropractic medicine uses standard diagnostic procedures. This includes chiropractic examinations, and use of x-rays when needed. These procedures help reveal the problem so the body's balance can be restored to good health. The goal here is to find the cause for illness and treat that cause.

DR. DAVIS of Ruidoso is located at 445 Mechem Dr. in Ruidoso, phone (505)257-7555, invites everyone to call for a spinal check. No one need suffer needlessly. Most insurance companies cover chiropractic care. Office hours are Monday - Friday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., and Monday - Thursday, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS CLIPBOARD

A weekly school column from Carrizozo Municipal Schools that serves as a bridge to parents, businesses and community groups who welcome knowing more about their school. News about student, staff, and board members will be highlighted.

CONSERVATION DAY—

Last week 5th graders traveled to Cedar Creek Campground near Ruidoso to participate in the first annual conservation day program sponsored by the Forest Service. The topics were tree measurement, tree identification, archeology, wildland fire-prevention, fire engines, wildlife, soils and water shed management. Students measured a tree for height and width using instruments that Forest Service personnel use. Students learned how to identify species of pine, spruce and fir trees. A lesson in archeology explained the importance of identifying artifacts in the field and included a demonstration in primitive tool making.

Carrizozo, Hondo and Ruidoso fifth graders are able now to explain "carrying capacity" as it pertains to bears. The Fish and Game Department gave a creative presentation in which the students pretended to be bears gathering food. The relatively new technique of using fire as a forest management tool was discussed as well as how to put out forest fires. Fire trucks and other equipment used by the Forest Service and the Ruidoso Fire Dept. was displayed and demonstrated. The danger of house fires was stressed.

Soil conservation and watershed management was discussed. Students participated in their own demonstration about the effects of erosion in fish, streams, and city water supplies. They tested top soil for its PH factors (acidity of the soil). Classroom teacher Bryan Wetzel said that the educational, fun day was possible because of the excellent behavior of the students. Parent sponsor, Mrs. Heira led one of the groups to the various stations.

COMMITTEE—The Carrizozo Municipal Schools 1993-94 budget committee meets every Thursday at 3:20 p.m. at the school board meeting room. Parental input is welcome at these meetings.

BIOLOGY TRIP—Ten Biology II students traveled to Albuquerque on April 27 to visit the University Hospital, the Medical Examiner's Office and the Anatomy Department at the medical school. The students visited the newborn department and saw infants weighing 1-2 pounds. They also visited the children's ward. At the Medical Examiner's Office they visited the tissue lab and were instructed in autopsy procedures. The most interesting part of the trip was the anatomy department where an entire human body was viewed. The body had been dissected transversely and preserved in plastic. The trip concluded in the human dissection lab where students observed a human body being dissected by medical students.

VISIT ZOO—Students in grades K-2 were on a field trip last week to Alameda Park Zoo in Alamogordo. They rode a miniature train at the Toy Train Depot. The students appreciate the effort by People for Kids (PFK) for the donation of money. PFK helper Mariann Bingerman and many mothers contributed baked goods and time to make a successful bake sale with proceeds going to the field trip expenses.

JR./SR. PROM—Amy Funk and Anthony Archuleta were named queen and king at this year's Junior/Senior Prom. Coach Ken Butts and his wife, Christetta provided the music. Class sponsor Margaret Barela, juniors and parents decorated in a Mardi Gras theme.

ART DISPLAY—Students in junior high and high school will exhibit art at the Senior Citizens Center May 7. The occasion is a benefit dinner for the H.O.M.E. group interested in restoring a late 1800's house in White Oaks. H.O.M.E. (House of Memories Echoes) will serve lasagna beginning at 5 p.m. Music and art show is included in the event. Proceeds will be used to help with expenses in moving the Van Schyock house and making it into a museum.

CONCERT—Sixteen 5th and 6th grade band students spent the day in Estancia April 30 practicing for a concert that evening. They combined with 145 students from Capitan, Mountainair, Dexter, Cloudcroft and Estancia to play in the concert. The event was the Sierra Blanca Music Educators Honor Band for 1st and 2nd year band students. Carrizozo band director Richard Brown directed the 1st year honor band. Beth Hightower, Cheri Goad and Karen Brown accompanied the students.

SPRING FLING—Choir and band students will perform at this year's annual music and art event on May 11. The mid high and junior high chorus groups will present pop music. Band students will perform several numbers and will include the high school sax ensemble. The program will begin at 7 p.m. and is open to the public and free of charge. Forty-one students have been practicing Spanish/Mexican dances. Their first dancing appearance as a group will be at the Spring Fling on May 11 with the event's opening numbers.

Community and area musicians and singers will join the school program with a diverse range of music and song; country, Spanish, Tex-Swing, folk and gospel. Among the performers are Linda Pilley, Henry King, John Duncan, Mary Lou Webster, Evelyn Sidwell, Albert LaFave, Glenn Ellison and Juanita Vallejos. The Medina family will feature prelude music beginning at 6:30 p.m.

YEARBOOK—Last week five graduating seniors on the yearbook staff were in Alamogordo on the yearbook's final ad selling trip. The team included yearbook editor James Smith and Amy Funk, Fabienne Michel, Raymond Najar and Jennifer Luna. This concluded the advertising moneymaking function of the yearbook. The 1992-93 yearbook will have more pages and include some color. "Cruising Down Memory Lane" is now on sale. Veronica Baca, yearbook sponsor and Polly Chavez, yearbook photography accompanied the students to Alamogordo.

INDUCTION—April 29 four students were inducted for membership in the Carrizozo Chapter of the National Honor Society. They were sophomores D.J. Vermilion and Lynette Hernandez and seniors Kerstin Luecke and Fabienne Michel. President Scot Brown wel-
