

Ruidoso Approves $15 Million Budget

By Doris Cherry

Ruidoso Village Council said goodbye to former mayor Victor Alonso by presenting him the keys to the village and approved the 1993-94 preliminary budget at its meeting Tuesday.

Mayor Pro Tem Barbara Duff presented a plaque of appreciation and the keys to the village to Victor Alonso, who resigned as mayor of Ruidoso May 5. Alonso said he leaves knowing those on the council are capable and dedicated. He also found his former office as clean as when he found it, which goes to show that no one is indispensable.

Alonso said he was humbled by leaving the job before it was completed, but time will tell. Alonso said he resigned to devote more time to his business and family.

The $15,164,704 preliminary budget will be sent to the Dept. of Finance and Administration in Santa Fe for review and adjustments. After July 1, the village will review the 1992-93 budget to allow for ending cash balances in all departments. Those ending balances will then be applied to the preliminary budget which will be adjusted to a final document to guide the village departments for the next fiscal year.

The $15 million budget is more than the $14,619,436 in estimated revenues for the upcoming fiscal year. To balance the budget, the coverage will be taken from the unaudited cash balance from the 1992 fiscal year. That will leave the village an estimated ending operating cash balance of $4,917,774 less the required bond reserves of $1,657,090, bring the estimated budget cash balance for the 1993-94 fiscal year to $3,260,684.

Councillors spent all last week in budget meetings working on the preliminary budget.

"The preliminary budget was developed through long and tedious hours last week," said village manager Ron Wicker.

The preliminary budget also does not provide longevity increases for employees. However, Wicker emphasized, the final budget can be amended once the 1992-93 budget is closed out after June 30.

Wicker also noted a cover page in the budget document in which finance director Leeann Boswell explains why the airport budget request differed from what councillors had considered. Boswell had contacted councillor Ron Andrews about the matter, and Andrews gave her permission to adjust the document to account for operating adjustments of $52,298 in order to keep from laying off employees.

Councillor J.D. James complimented Boswell for the excellent budget format. "We have a jewel there (in Boswell)," James said.

Last year the village won second place for its budget format from the New Mexico Municipal League. Boswell hopes to win first place this year.

A special meeting will be held June 2 to discuss a resolution to amend the 1992-93 budget.

With great reluctance, councillors unanimously approved an ordinance reducing liquor license fees to just one $250 fee for all establishments serving alcoholic drinks. The $250 fee was imposed on Ruidoso and all other state municipalities by the New Mexico State Legislature during its last session.

Formerly Ruidoso charged fees ranging from $300 to $900 for different classifications of liquor licenses. It was

Merchant Marines Honored At Fort Stanton Cemetery

By Doris Cherry

Dark clouds hung over the panorama of the Capitan Mountains. The flags on the cemetery pole flapped in the wind as they were raised to the sound of Taps.

A crowd of more than 150 persons gathered at Fort Stanton Cemetery Saturday morning for the 4th Annual Merchant Marine and Military Memorial Service.

The service was organized by Skipper Victor Schaerer, U.S. Merchant Marine retired of Ruidoso, in honor of Merchant Marines, many who died because of a formerly-fatal disease—TB. Schaerer has devoted many hours to upgrading the cemetery and bringing attention to those men who were buried there.

Skipper Vic opened the services by expressing his sadness over the fate of those laid to rest in the cemetery. Many were serving in the military or Merchant Marine when they were struck down with TB, Schaerer said. In many instances they might have served with distinction and been buried elsewhere with Military honors.

Michael D'Arco, director of New Mexico Veterans' Service Commission, represented Gov. Bruce King and spoke of the cemetery as a "special place." He said he had a special kinship with the Merchant Marine since his two sons serve in the Coast Guard.

It has taken the U.S. Congress 50 years to recognize the Merchant Marines with veteran status, D'Arco said. He praised Skipper Vic for rebuilding the cemetery with almost no money and with the help of Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School and Camp Sierra Blanca minimum security prison.

D'Arco also invited the crowd to view the new veteran's auto license plates which thanks to State Rep. John Underwood can be obtained by veterans for a one time fee of $15 over the normal registration fees.

Joe Sandoval, representing U.S. Senator Jeff Bingaman, read a letter from the senator who praised the services as a commitment to Merchant Marines all over the world.

Rep. Underwood praised Vic and Jean Schaerer for their work at the cemetery and the memorial service. "The day to day effort with the dedication of a few people has built this into a major event," Underwood said.

He told of how he has carried bills in the last two state legislatures to get funds to help with the cemetery, with no success. He attributed the success of the memorial service to Schaerer's "faith—as great as a mustard seed."

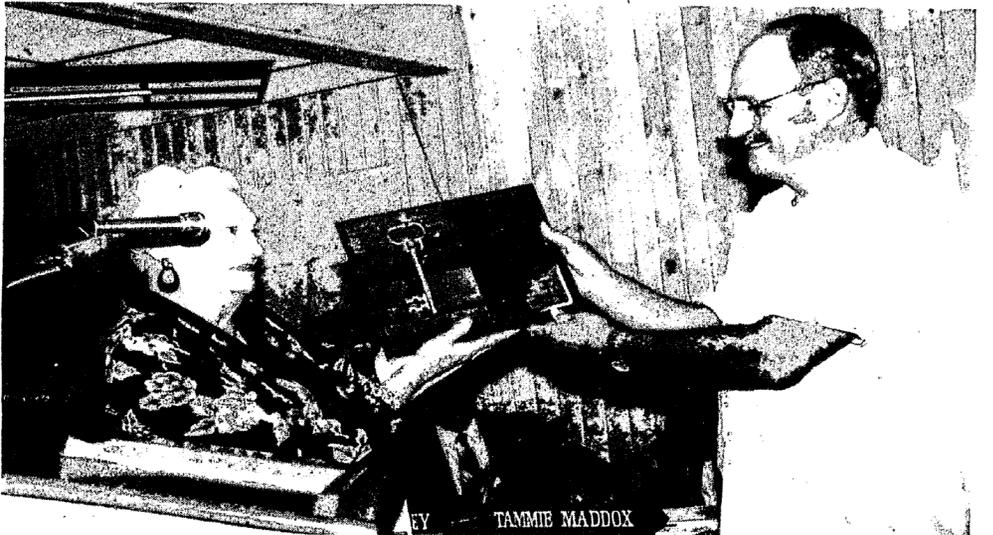

Credits were given to Nick Skogland and the Camp Sierra Blanca crews who got the cemetery in shipshape condition for the Memorial Service.

Skipper Vic also announced that letters were received from U.S. Senator Pete Domenici and Congressman Joe Skeen expressing their regrets at not being able to attend the Memorial Service.

A special presentation was made to Ervin Aldaz, administrator of Ft. Stanton Hospital and Training School from Carol Jones of Albuquerque. Jones has compiled a set of records of Merchant Marines buried at the Fort Stanton Cemetery in alphabetical and chronological order. What was first thought to be about 1,000 buried there has turned out to be more like 1,400. The records will be kept at Fort Stanton.

Activities will include storytelling, arts and crafts, cooking, computers, and field trips, and picnics.

Last summer's program was a wonderful success, and teachers Lynda Montoya, Porfiria Zinn and JoAnn Ortiz are looking forward to another great program this summer.

Memorial Day Mass Will Be Held May 31

Surprise Appreciation Dinner Honors Alonso

By Doris Cherry

Some 40 friends and family of former Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso gathered at his restaurant Don Victor's Thursday evening to express their gratitude for his years of service.

The dinner was a surprise for Alonso, until he arrived at the parking lot—full of familiar vehicles.

Genevieve Sewell opened the dinner by expressing appreciation to Alonso for his honesty, integrity, dedication and commitment to making things better for Ruidoso and Lincoln County. Mayor Pro Tem Barbara Duff expressed similar sentiments.

Alonso thanked Sewell and the group and told a few anecdotes. Running for mayor was his wife's idea. And it also was his wife's idea for him to get out of the political arena. "My business gave me the money and time for me to be mayor," Alonso said.

But a fire destroyed that business, the original Don Victor's Restaurant. "What gave me the freedom is gone, so now I need to quit," he estimated Ruidoso will lose $10,000 in the liquor license fees this year because of the state-imposed reduction.

The fee made councillor James angry. "The state does not understand...they're gutless! They are taking away funds from the municipalities which need the money!" James said. "I don't like it. We've got to speak up or they'll (Santa Fe) keep nipping at us."

Councillors also amended the municipal code with an ordinance to allow Lodgers' Taxes to be also used for welcome centers, tourist information centers, museums, and performing arts centers in operation before 1989. When the amendment was first considered, at the request of MainStreet Ruidoso, there was some confusion whether the "in operation before 1989" applied to welcome centers, museums and performing arts centers. Research by village attorney Pat Ortiz indicates the in operation before 1989 applies only to performing arts centers because of the placement of the comma. The 1989 provision was added to the lodgers' tax codes in the state statutes in 1989 and has not been challenged in district court.

Councillor Andrews pointed out that the problem with allowing lodgers' taxes to be used for the centers is there is no money in next year's budget for such facilities. He also worried that such use of lodgers' taxes would cut into the necessary advertising funds.

However, councillor Jerry Shaw agreed such language should be included to provide for such facilities in the future. Tom Batten, director of MainStreet Ruidoso clarified his group's motives as not wanting immediate money for such facilities, rather to open the door for future projects funded by lodgers' tax money.

On June 8, councillors will consider renaming the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport to include the name "Ruidoso." The renaming had been a pet project of Victor Alonso, Airport manager Lloyd Wayne said the only problem with a name change is the paperwork with the Federal Aviation Administration. He suggested something like Sierra Blanca Ruidoso Airport, which will not change the call letters now used.

In other business, councillors:
-Directed staff to pursue a lease of Ruidoso School District property at White Mountain Schools now used for the Lincoln County Youth Soccer Association. Such a lease, or joint powers agreement, will allow the village to place the soccer fields under village administration in order to provide water to the playing fields. A group of parents requested the village provide a water line upgrade and free water. However, such a donation will violate the state anti-donation clause. By leasing the land, the anti-donation clause will not be a factor.

-Approved a zone map amendment for the John Brown tracts to change the C-1 to C-2 zoning.

-Accepted a 1.8 acre parcel of land in Block 6, Airport West Subdivision, as a park, with the provision White Mountain Development Co. Inc. remove trash, debris and dead trees from the property within 60 days.

-Approved the vacation of right of way on Chaparral Drive to provide for a carport, with the provision applicant Windsor Laceywell pay $128.40 for the area.

-Authorized the village manager to negotiate with the sole bidder for the village owned Mark Condo unit to get full appraised value. The single $16,500 bid was $1,500 under appraisal. Councillors also rejected the single bid of $2,500 for the village owned lot in Deer Park Woods in Alto, appraised at $15,000 and authorized the lot be listed with a real estate agent.

-Approved the mayor pro tem's appointment of Shelly Streck, of S&S Charter, to the Transportation Board.

-Awarded bids for water pipe fittings and accessories to Baker Utilities, Utility Supply and Waterworks Sales.

-Approved the consent agenda which set public hearings to amend the dedication of the gross receipt tax on June 8; public hearings to repeal several ordinances including increase in sewer rates and septic tank fees for the June 29 meeting.

New Spirit Singers Concert In Ruidoso

First Christian and First Presbyterian Churches of Ruidoso announce a special musical concert by the NEW SPIRIT SINGERS. The 'New Spirit Singers' is a 43 voice choir made up of junior and senior high students from the Village Presbyterian Church in Kansas City, Missouri.

The 'New Spirit Singers' will perform in concert at the Sanctuary of First Christian Church, 1211 Hull Road, on June 8, at 8:00 p.m. The concert will be free and the public is invited.

Musical selections will include classical, Broadway, and spiritual numbers. The choir also has a boys quartet and a madrigal group that will perform selected pieces.

Village Presbyterian Church is one of the largest Presbyterian Churches west of the Mississippi. Its 'New Spirit Singers' is on tour in the Southwest and will visit Ruidoso as a result of the choir's director, Larry Dean, having familiarity with the area from his student days at UTEP. The 'New Spirit Singers' is made up of junior and senior high students who are members of Village Presbyterian and audition for the choir. The choir has a reputation for excellence of performance and program selection throughout the Midwestern states.

Pastor Scholes and pastor Kennedy encourage the public to attend this concert. "What a refreshing treat is in store" says Kennedy, "To see junior and senior high young people with such commitment". According to Scholes, "Sometimes all we hear is bad news about young people when in reality the vast majority of our youth are valuable members of society".

CAPITAN NOTES

By Pauline McGarry Whittaker

If you have read the measurements of Solomon's Temple of God you will find the building was very large indeed! The inside was overlaid with pure gold and the main hall was paneled and covered and decorated with palm trees and chain designs. He adorned the temple with precious stones and overlaid the ceiling beams, door frames, walls and doors of the temple with gold, and he carved cherubims on the walls. How beautiful the Temple of God was that Solomon built! All this beauty does not compare with the beauty of just one of our Capitan graduates and especially all 29 of our Capitan graduates.

Our board of education members Tom Trost, Tim Wortell, Beverly Payne, Jack King, and Russel Schear and the administration David Lock, Darrel Stierwalt, Jerry Newsom and Annie McKay looked so distinguished in their academic dress, which contributed to the colorful pageantry of commencement.

In my research I found the gowns had their origins more than 700 years ago. They were usually monks or priests who wore the robes. The cap and the hood were needed for warmth. The color, trimming or binding of the hood designated various degrees.

In the case of Capitan graduates, the National Honor Society members (honor graduates) wore the white mantel; Kelly Cox, Laurie Griego, Justin James, Tammy Payne, Kyle Traylor, Stacy Wall, and Celeste Wilson.

First Lady Alice King of the state of New Mexico delivered a most inspiring Keynote Address.

The valedictorian, Tammy Payne opened her speech with a prayer in part, "Lord, please watch over us as we go along our way, give us strength to overcome obstacles and the ability to learn from the lessons of life." Her humor with the quote, "Now is the time to try anything, Kyle, how about flute lessons? Stephanie, have you thought about auto mechanics? Christopher how about driving a tour bus across America? Kelly... bungee jumping? All of us can find something to try. Don't find yourself saying, 'That's one of the things I never got around to. We came, we saw, and we move on. I'm outta here!'"

The salutatorian speech by Kelly Cox said, "Life is filled with so many joyous moments. —Where we are today we could have not been without the help from our parent's support behind us, our friends who have always stood by our side, and for our teachers who have taught us and helped us to become better individuals. And most importantly, our God above for all the glorious things he's blessed us with. I would like to leave with the class of 1993, "We have grown so much, and yet, we will grow forever."

The Commencement address by Kenneth Crenshaw, Athletic Director-Atlanta Braves, stressed perseverance and sportsmanship.

David Stierwalt presented numerous scholarships. The special music and songs of "Letting Go," completed a wonderful afternoon for all of Capitan. Dick Valenzuela, director of the Capitan Music Department did a beautiful job, as always.

May 28 at 10 a.m. Melba Robertson, activities coordinator for Tularosa Senior Citizens Center, is starting an exercise class at Capitan Senior Citizens Center. The class is designed for all senior citizens including those with any physical handicap.

The Capitan Extension Club will meet Wednesday, June 9, 9:30 a.m. at the ZIA Senior Citizen's Center. Hostesses will be Jerry Rice and Juanita Magnone. Mollie Mason will present a program on Consumer literacy. Please bring fabric scissors, fabric glue, needle and thread and one-half yard of red bandana material. We will be making the yo-yo/concho necklaces for the District meeting scheduled in 1994.

found in Tampa Bay, Florida, shipped to Texas and trucked by a Navy flatbed to Taos, then to Fort Stanton. At the cemetery, Lincoln County Road Manager Bill Cupit offloaded the anchor in the pouring rain. The anchor's entire journey was completed by the regularly scheduled starting time. "Something unheard of in the military," Hufford laughed.

Pat Brinkley, past president of the American Merchant Marine Veterans, Inc. also briefly spoke.

The story of the anchor was a tribute of cooperation that has exemplified the work done at the cemetery.

"The fine spirit of cooperation demonstrated on this cemetery project reminds me of the invasion of Sicily during World War II," Schaerer said in an earlier interview with The News.

"The entire operation was carried out successfully and the admiral in command of all naval operations complimented all hands, particularly the American and British Merchant Mariners for their quiet determination, competence, and courage during the safe landing of the troops, tanks, trucks, jeeps, ammunition, fuel and tons upon tons of K-Rations."

"The spirit of cooperation demonstrated on this cemetery project has been just as enthusiastic and competent if not on quite as large a scale," Schaerer said.

The services also include a message by Cleston Pritchett, U.S. Air Force veteran from Ruidoso who reminded all that the Military Forces fought, and in many cases died, to protect our freedoms. It is up to the rest of us left alive to work hard to preserve those freedoms, Pritchett said. His theme was taken from Chronicles of the Bible.

Another inspirational message and prayer was delivered by the Rev. Bill Kennedy, pastor of the First Christian Church of Ruidoso and a U.S. Air Force veteran. He shared an experience he had during the Vietnam War when he was flying with an Army sergeant who had lost both his legs. Kennedy wondered how many of the folks back home appreciated the sacrifices being made to protect their freedom. Kennedy took from the Bible that "loving God and country above oneself is the price of freedom."

Two memorial services were conducted after the speeches—one for military and the other for Merchant Marine. Dick Mounds of Ruidoso played Taps on the bugle as Phil Keller, director of general services at Fort Stanton, assisted Skipper Vic in raising the U.S. and New Mexico flags.

Sye Feldman, former British Royal Air Force pilot, dressed in full plaids played Amazing Grace on the bagpipes while members of the audience placed roses on the anchor in memory of the Merchant Marine veterans and those buried at the cemetery.

The memorial services concluded with three long blasts of a ship's whistle, which unanswered signifies the death of a Merchant Marine.

Betty Lou Joiner, Postmaster at Fort Stanton, operated a branch office at the cemetery with a special cancellation stamp.

Services are planned again next year on May 22, Merchant Marine Memorial Day.

Al's Musings

BY AL STUBBS

Dexter, New Mexico, 17 miles south of Roswell, doesn't have too many claims to fame, but the town scored big when a native son, jockey Mike Smith, won the Preakness at Pimlico aboard Prairie Bayou.

We were visiting with Earlene Smith, Mike's grandmother and former Chaves County clerk, last week. She was as proud as a peacock over Smith's victory. The jockey has lifetime winnings of some $30 million we understand. His cut of that is $3 million. Not bad for any young man.

Dexter has a couple of other claims to fame, at least. One is the National Fish hatchery located there. Another is the said. "Life is not the same as the day before the fire."

Councillor Ron Andrews, at the dinner with his wife Jill, jokingly said, "It was the budget that put you over the top." The council has spent some 30-40 hours in budget work sessions to figure how to provide five percent employee increases and operate the village on a $12 million budget.

"My wife was right to put me up to run," Alonso continued. "And right when she said to quit. I appreciate knowing and working with you. It was a privilege to be mayor, it was a high point in my life. I am humbled not to be able to finish, but I am a better person having recognized my own limitations."

Corrine Swearingin paraphrased a statement made by a former mayor years ago, that "problems with the village of Ruidoso will always be here."

"You will be missed in the village council chambers," she told Alonso.

"I wish I could say I'll miss that," Alonso replied.

A plaque of appreciation was presented to Victor and his wife Virginia.

Among those who attended were Mayor Pro Tem Duff, councillors Frank Cummins and Andrews, former councillor A.J. Junge, and many friends.

The group enjoyed Don Victor's Mexican specialties and were treated to cake and frozen yogurt.

Memorial Day To Be Observed

Memorial Day will be observed jointly by the American Legion Robert J Hagee Post 79 and Auxiliary, Disabled American Veterans Coe-Curry Post 23, and Veterans of Foreign Wars Jerome D. Klein Post 7072 and Auxiliary at Forest Lawn Cemetery on North Mechem Drive in Ruidoso at 10 a.m. May 31.

All veterans and their families and the public are invited to attend.

Veteran poppies will be available during the Memorial Day weekend. The poppies are made by hospitalized veterans.

annual milk carton boat race at Lake Van each year. Any town that boasts a lake has one up on other towns, anyway, in our book. Ruidoso qualifies with Grindstone Lake, Carrizozo with a lake in the park.

Neither is big enough for motorized boating, however. Water skiing is popular at Lake Van.

Speaking of Grindstone, John Van Tussenbroek is foot loose and fancy free right now after retiring as QTE manager here, Friday. John spends a lot of time fishing; he uses extraordinarily tiny hooks he has to special order. They have no eye, the hook and the leader are continuous. Quite a few fish stories originate around the coffee table at Sun World Savings. In fact coach Doyle Howell (retired) is down in Texas this week chasing giant catfish. He seldom comes up short. Horseman Elwood Gradine and Pinky Jones have their own fish stories to relate.

Handicapper Bronko McGugan says he always fishes from the same spot at Grindstone, with excellent results. He's trying out Von Tussenbroek's miniscule hooks. He claims he's taking a college course called Fillet 2.

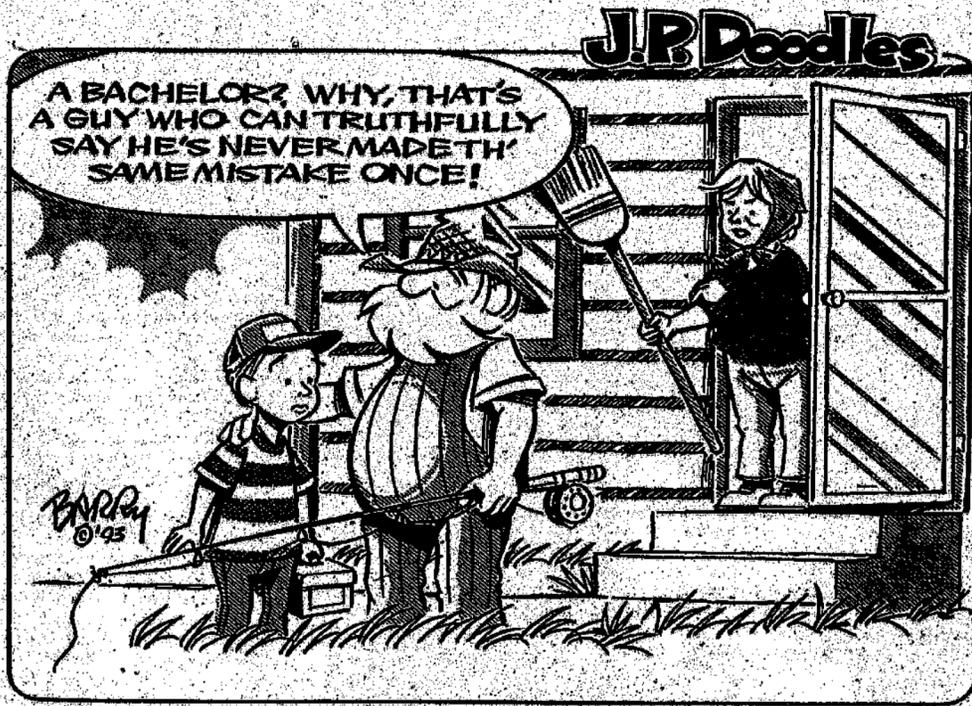

Many people who reside outside New Mexico's borders have an erroneous perception of New Mexico. It's rattlesnakes, arid desert, cactus and little else, they believe. But consider just the lakes (albeit relatively small) just in this area. The beautiful lake at the Inn of the Mountain Gods is one of the crown jewel lakes in the area; Bonito Lake is the other, nestled in the high country among the tall timber. Eagle Lake is a good fishing lake. Nagal Lake used to be a good fishing lake. Alto Lake is heavily fished.

In New Mexico, Navajo, Conchas and Elephant Butte are the biggies. We have Colorado and its snowpack to thank for much of our water.

Then there are smaller bodies of water. Alamogordo Lake out of Fort Sumner isn't too small. It's great for water sports and fishing. Las Vegas has its Storrie Lake. There are numerous small fishing lakes in northern New Mexico. Eagle Nest has one of the best. Carlsbad has Brantley. Ute at Logan is heavily fished.

Bottomless Lakes State Park is located 17 miles or so east of Roswell off U.S. 380. It boasts a series of lakes with Lea Lake being the largest and most used. Some of the lakes are stocked with trout, but the critters can't reproduce because of the alkalinity. One lake, Cottonwood, is a fresh water lake. It's the only one. It's too small for much fishing; and it has high cliffs on three sides. Lea Lake allows paddleboats and also swimming, either in the lake or giant swimming pool. The story is that Bottomless Lakes were so named when cowboys in the early days tied several lengths of lariat together and still couldn't get to the bottom of Lea Lake. Some people believe the lakes are connected underground. Lea Lake nearly always stays full, while some of the other lakes at times do not.

Anyway, check them out. We do have water in arid New Mexico.

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—The guy on the street has known it for years.

"Figures don't lie, but liars figure. There are three types of lies: lies, damn lies, and statistics. Garbage in; garbage out." These are some of the favorite ways we common folk greet the release of "authoritative" studies.

Recently we've been getting a rash of studies about New Mexico's economy. After a quick scan, it can authoritatively be said that New Mexico is either the best or worst state in the nation. At least there weren't any "in-between" rankings.

In April Financial World Magazine rated New Mexico among the nation's poorest performers in long-term economic planning and suggested that anything our state gets in terms of economic growth is due more to luck than long-term planning.

Then came the Corporation for Enterprise Development that evaluated New Mexico and other states on our economies and our capacity to grow. We came out third in the nation in "business vitality," whatever that is.

magazine published an article on New Mexico saying it's a great place to visit, but you wouldn't want to do business there. Our business climate was ranked as "dismal." The article concluded that "Politicians in impoverished New Mexico are working overtime to scare new businesses away from their state."

So, should we shoot ourselves, or have a party?

The answer is neither. Politicians out to prove a point or researchers with nothing better to do like to make up abstract measures and start collecting data. Indices for long-term planning, business vitality, and quality of life somehow gain credibility when numbers are tied to them. Former White House drug czar Bill Bennett has come up with an Index of Leading Cultural Indicators. And who can forget the Misery Index of the Carter years?

But just because researchers present us with a page full of numbers doesn't signify they mean a thing.

Economists, however, have lived off the ruse for years. Former Gov. Garrey Caruthers, a Ph.D economist himself, is fond of observing that contrary to popular belief, economists have a sense of humor. "How else can you explain why they carry their calculators to the fourth decimal place?" Caruthers asks.

Last year the U.S. Labor Department revealed it had overstated the number of jobs created during the late 1980s by over a half million. It seems that no one noticed that employees who received separate paychecks for regular time, overtime and bonuses often were counted as three separate employees.

Thus various leading economic indicators were thrown off.

And we all remember the 1990 census, whose director admitted to missing some 5.3 million Americans. Her efforts to revise the figures were rejected by her boss, the Secretary of Commerce. Thus every ranking and comparison using those data will be flawed—despite being carried to four decimal places.

The point of this diatribe is not to besmirch every new index that is devised to tell us something about our economy, but to keep them in context.

When we see figures showing that New Mexico's job growth in 1992 was 2.1 percent compared with 0.5 percent nationwide, we know what that means, and it should give us cause for celebration.

And if we see that New Mexico is in the bottom five states in poverty, crime, and teen pregnancy, we know what that means, and it should give us reason to look for solutions.

And maybe just a common sense look around will tell us more than the fancy studies. When Gov. Bruce King is asked to comment on the latest survey findings he often says he prefers talking with people as he works a room.

"If they all want to shake hands with me, I figure we're doing pretty good," King says.

EDITOR: People who follow Jesus and are true believers in him show respect and love for all people including Jewish, Islamic, Buddhist, Hindu, Atheist, Agnostic, irrational environmentalists and homosexual people along with used car dealers and Elvis impersonators. When Christians realize that they have failed (as we all do) to show respect and love for another person then they repent. There are times that God requires Christians out of love for others to try to show them that their behavior and philosophies are sinful and destructive. Then others often claim that Christians have acted out of hate and bigotry. God through his word helps us to have a right perspective with such verses as 1 Timothy 5:8—"If anyone does not provide for his relatives and especially for his immediate family, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever (atheist)."

Buddhist, Islamic, Hindu and atheist-dominated countries do not have the freedom and economic strength that America does. Is not the primary reason for this their destructive philosophies? Yes!

Practicing homosexuals and promiscuous heterosexuals have often destroyed themselves and others by spreading disease: "Love always protects" — 1 Corinthians 13:7. Obviously one reason God told humankind to restrict sex to heterosexual marriage was his desire to protect us because of his love for us. Advocating condom use has solved neither the physical safety nor the morality problem. The young, daring, forgetful, drug-influenced or undisciplined people often don't use condoms. Love protects totally. Condoms don't. Advocating condom use as a solution likely increases promiscuous behavior. Promiscuous heterosexuals and homosexuals can receive salvation if they accept Jesus and therefore reject the destructive philosophy that their sexual behavior is right.

Some "environmentalists" possess destructive philosophies in that they place animals or plants or the earth itself above humankind. Is it going too far to say that some of them worship the earth? I think not. In Matthew 10 we find that God knows when a sparrow dies and that "...you (people) are worth more than many sparrows." Thus we should have respect for all life but make human life top priority. When

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

I had always wondered what it would be like to have a William F. Buckley type in the White House. I am of course referring to the practice of hypergargantuan word selection and not to any similarity in political persuasion, because he and Clinton are certainly not similarly persuaded. Absolutely no one could accuse Old Bill of sharing a similar view with the other Bill in any context or about any subject. Buckle would say, "I am convinced that the problems with America today are found in the arcane and dilatory practices of our chosen professionals and our only available remedy will entail a retrograde change in course toward revival of the peccadilloes and unmitigated chicanery of our forefathers, who had the practice of political deception refined down to the point that it was commonly practiced without discovery by those who had an interest in preventing the finer things in life." To which Clinton would say, "Huh!", right along with the rest of us.

The old story about Bill Buckley was that he hit his finger with a hammer and very obscenely uttered several fourteen letter words. This is what we seem to be getting out of the Clinton administration lately. What with Stephanapolous and Communitarianism and such other pretensions, it will soon be that our Webster's will have to be published on a saddle blanket. Stephanapolous is the surname of President Clinton's press secretary, which will guarantee more volume of press coverage than usual if his name is banded about a bit. I can't for the life of me recall his first name, but it must have been so insignificant up against his last that it was completely obscured by the size of the tail holding that dog up. Maybe it was Bill or Pat or Ed or something which wouldn't stand a chance being paired up with the other one, which is sizeable even by Greek standards.

Most people I have known who were of Greek extraction have pared their names down to a single line in the telephone book, but I guess Stephano didn't appeal to him. Or Stepha. Or Step. But maybe it is fortunate he didn't have a Russian grandfather because that might have produced

All of this brings to mind the truth stated in a few old undiscovered proverbs that avow, "No matter how long it takes you to spell it, it still means the same." Or, "Verbosity does not contribute to content." (Where have I heard that before?) Or, "The right wing knowest not what the left wing doeth." (As is readily apparent, quoting these proverbs discloses why they have remained undiscovered.)

However, the concept of communitarianism is a more troublesome issue.

Communitarianism is a very new philosophical theory (two years or so) that holds that individual rights must be balanced by communal responsibilities. (Where have I heard that before?) In an Associated Press article this week, it was reported that President Clinton is intrigued by this theory and approves of its concept. This is surprising because the doctrine contains the seeds of totalitarianism, which should be anathematic to a liberal. It was supposedly developed by a self-described "centrist" political group, but they know not where they tread. The function of government is to promote community, and if it is justified in demanding the curtailment of individual rights to accomplish its communal goals, we are in trouble. The organization will always sacrifice those of its components that stand in the way of its survival and one of the first rights to be diminished will be that of dissent because it interferes with the accomplishment of the goals of the community, which will soon result in the organization demanding more authority to determine its own goals. This ain't very democratic.

OTHER SIDE

Positive Summer Activities Help Children Fight Boredom

by BETTY McCREIGHT
Lincoln County Home Economist

Summer and after school activities for school-age children. Throughout the school year, and especially in summer, parents face the problem of what their children can do to occupy their time. If children aren't given positive activities to fight boredom, they will find something else to do that may be negative. Although each child is unique and every family situation is different, the following boredom busters may work to keep your child occupied during his/her free time. Post this list of activities on the refrigerator or write each suggestion out and put in a box to be picked out when the child needs something to do.

1.) Make a scrapbook. Staple blank paper together to make a book. Then tape or glue in anything that has special meaning to you - souvenirs, postcards, movie tickets, awards, pictures and so forth.

2.) Get a state map and trace the route to some location you think would be fun to visit. Use a yellow crayon or marker so the highway numbers will show. Plan what you would need to take on your trip, and what you would like to see on your trip.

3.) Be a pen pal and have fun learning about other people and other places. For possible pen pals write these places: Around the World Friends, 550 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10036; American Friends Service Committee, 160 North Fifteenth St., Philadelphia, PA

19102; International Friendship League, 40 Mount Vernon St., Boston, Mass. 02108. Or write the United Nations, 405 E. 42nd St., New York, NY 10017.

4.) Try chalk painting. You will need colored chalk, paper towels and a pan of water. Dip the chalk in the water and use it to draw anything you want on the dry paper towel. Experiment with different colors and designs. Allow the pictures to dry before you hang it up. Have a special place in your house to display your art.

5.) Make up a funny song, pantomime, story or jokes to share with your family at supper.

6.) What's in the future? Design clothes, cars, houses and so on, whatever you like for the year 2020.

7.) Make a bird feeder. Mix bird seed and peanut butter together. Stuff the mixture between the petals of a pine cone. Tie a string or a piece of yarn around the top of the cone to hang it up. You can also string raisins and popcorn. Hang the bird feeders on a tree branch facing a window of your house so you can watch the birds each day.

8.) Plan a dinner for the president. What would you serve?

9.) Write a story for your favorite television show.

10.) Make a puppet. Paper bags, an old sock, a mitten or a glove with yarn hair and button eyes or a painted face works fine. The easiest puppet to make is simply to draw a face on the palm of your hand and wrap a fabric scrap around your hand and arm for a costume. 11.) Make a puzzle. Glue a picture from a magazine on a piece of cardboard or posterboard. Let it dry. Use a black ink pen or marker to mark the picture into sections. Cut along the black lines to make the puzzle pieces.

12.) Make your own greeting cards. Create messages, verses and pictures with markers, crayon or paints on plain or solid-colored paper. Make different sets of cards to give: birthday, get well, thinking-of-you and so on.

13.) Do you have a question for the president, or something you would like to tell the president? Write him: The President, The White House, Washington, D.C. 20500.

14.) Try fingerpaint art. Press your fingertips on an ink pad then press your fingertips on paper. Draw lines and other details to make fingerprints into bugs, monsters, animals, people and other objects. Be sure to clean your hands when you finish.

15.) Draw a picture of an animal, shape, person or any other item. Glue yarn around the outline of the picture. Then fill in the inside area of the picture with small rocks, leaves, bottle tops or paper scraps that you glue in place.

16.) Pretend you are a radio disc jockey. Make up your own commercials or some disc-jay chatter. Tape it along with some songs to perform for your family.

17.) Pretend you have your own restaurant. Make up your own menu. What would you serve? How much would you charge for your food? What would you name your place?

These suggestions work for some children on a temporary basis, but many children need to be in supervised programs that can meet their needs. 4-H clubs and school-age child care programs can be developed by community groups including parents, school personnel, employers and local government officials.

Nine Lincoln County People Complete EMT-B

An emergency Medical Technician Basic training course was recently completed at ENMU in Ruidoso. The 140 hour course teaches the basic skills of the emergency care and transportation of the sick and injured.

Devil Bill Adams of Capitan was instructor for the course which prepares the students to license as EMTs in the state of New Mexico and at the same time, earn college credits.

Andy Wynham, Alfred Medina, Sammy Roper and John Maxwell from Carrizozo; Mike Long, Lanell Hale, Chris Hurrill and Wyona Brazel from Capitan, and Roger Marshall from Alto were among the students who completed the course.

Some of these graduates already volunteer with Lincoln County Emergency Medical Service in their community as 1st Responders or Emergency Drivers.

Another EMT-B course, taught by Mr. Adams, will begin on August 31, 1993, in Capitan. For more information, contact the Eastern New Mexico University in Ruidoso at 1-800-934-ENMU (3668).

Carrizozo Masonic Lodge Open House June 12

Carrizozo Masonic Lodge will hold an open house on Sunday, June 12, 1993 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The Lodge is located at Masonic Temple in Carrizozo, E Avenue.

The public is cordially invited to attend and view the lodge room and its unusual furniture and equipment, much of it looking exactly the same as it looked when Masonry came to New Mexico in the early 1850's. Light refreshments will be served during the open house.

Carrizozo Masonic Lodge was founded in 1909, and has been in its present location since 1909. The Lodge has a membership of 62.

Many local area leaders have been members of Carrizozo Masonic Lodge over the years. White Oaks lodge chartered 1892, closed 1901, many of their members joined Carrizozo Lodge and Carrizozo Lodge still uses some of the White Oaks furniture.

Although it is impossible to determine exactly when the first Masons came to New Mexico, we do know that a lodge was chartered in Santa Fe by the Grand Lodge of Texas in 1841. While that lodge only lasted a few years, many Masons remained in New Mexico Territory.

During 1847 a number of Missouri Masons were located in Santa Fe with the Missouri Volunteers and a lodge was formed at Santa Fe known as Missouri Military No. 86. The lodge was closed with the Mexican War.

In 1851 the first permanent lodge in New Mexico was chartered by the Grand Lodge of Missouri and was known as Montezuma Lodge No. 109, located at Santa Fe. From 1860 to 1875 several lodges were started in New Mexico by the Grand Lodge of Missouri. These included Chapman Lodge No. 96, Las Vegas; Aztec Lodge No. 108, Las Cruces; Union Lodge No. 480, La Junta; Silver City Lodge No. 465, Silver City; Bent Lodge No. 204, Taos; Kit Carson Lodge No. 326, Elizabethtown and Cimarron Lodge No. 348, Cimarron.

In 1877 four of the New Mexico Lodges met together and formed the Grand Lodge of New Mexico with the first lodges being known as Montezuma Lodge No. 1, Chapman Lodge No. 2, Aztec Lodge No. 3 and Union Lodge No. 4. During the early years one lodge was chartered in Arizona Territory and was known as White Mountain Lodge No. 5 at Globe.

The Grand Lodge of New Mexico has met in many places in New Mexico over the years and was ultimately and permanently located in Albuquerque.

There are presently 65 lodges located throughout New Mexico with some 8,900 members.

Grand Master, Kenneth K. Klentschy, has stated that Freemasonry can be best described as:

"Basically, it is a society of friends and brothers, banded together, for their common good and the good of mankind - men who want to become better men. It's a voluntary organization and does not openly solicit membership but any man can make his interest known, and if he believes in God, and is basically a good man to start with, he can become a Mason.

"Freemasonry developed from the stone masons of the Middle Ages, and although Masons do not work in stone, they work on the lives of men, and use the stone mason's tools as symbols to teach Masonic philosophy. The terms 'acting on the square' and 'being on the level' are purely Masonic terms that have crept into our every day language.

"Although old by modern standards, Masonry isn't nearly as old as some would claim. The oldest Masonic document dates to just before 1400 A.D., or about 600 years. Early Masonry struggled for some 300 years, and then, in 1717, in London, several lodges met together and formed the first Grand Lodge. That was actually the true beginning of Masonry as we know it.

"Today, Freemasonry works very hard to help people of all races and creeds. The Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital; the Burns Institutes; the Knights Templar Eys Foundation; the Scottish Rite Learning Centers for dyslexic children; the many, many scholarships given by local Lodges and Masonic Charities of New Mexico providing housing for cancer patients and their families while receiving treatment - all contribute to a better life for everybody.

"Some of the world's greatest men have been and are Masons: George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, Norman Vincent Peale, Gerald Ford, Mark Twain, Astronaut Buzz Aldrin, Christopher 'Kit' Carson, Ceran St. Vrain - many, many others. And each of them would say, 'Masonry has but one aim, the improvement of mankind.'"

AROUND CORONA

Mike Kessler spent last week in Socorro where he attended training sessions in Forest Service law enforcement.

Mrs. Zanta Waldon has returned from the hospital and is recuperating at home from pneumonia.

The Dukes and Rasaks have had a busy six weeks with guests and travel. Dorothy Reimer, Denver, is spending this week with her friend, Lanita Rasak. Mrs. Rasak and Wanda Duke were initiated into the DAR at a recent meeting at the Spencer Ranch. At the next meeting Mrs. Duke will be installed as historian.

Two weeks ago Jerry Rasak's daughter, Lisa, came from Chicago for a weekend at the ranch. Tuesday was Mr. Duke's birthday, his daughter, Lavern and granddaughter Stephanie Rodriguez came from Gallup with the birthday cake. The parties started with Mrs. Duke's birthday last month when Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rodriguez, daughter Stephanie, and his mother, Lena came to celebrate. Mr. and Mrs. Duke then left by car for a vacation that took them to visit relatives in Houston. Recently the family met in Albuquerque for a picnic and greeted Paul Rodriguez and his family on his return from Somalia.

Monday afternoon Gail and Phil Hooker from Ada, OK stopped by for a quick visit with the Gibbs. The Hookers taught here two years. They retired after 18 years in Alaska where their daughter still lives. The hope to return for the Summer Festival, August 14.

Crown Cow Belles met Thursday, May 5 for lunch in the school cafeteria. President Shelly Frost was ill and VP Sabra Davidson presided.

Members chose two quilt tops from five patterns offered. The wedding ring will be given to the person receiving the most contributions before it is awarded during the Corona Festival.

Three applications for the scholarship were examined. The $200 scholarship was given to Bill Post and was awarded at the Academic/Athletic banquet. $50 book scholarships went to Jennifer Patterson and Orlando Chavez.

Robin Pfeiffer announced that nominations for Man of the Year should be in her hands by June 1.

The next meeting will be covered dish at 11:00 a.m. June 8 at the ranch home of Lanita Rasak.

Thursday Mrs. R. L. Sharp went to Portales for a Heisch family reunion on Saturday.

Mrs. Bernice McCord was called to Tucumcari Thursday by the death of her brother, Gene Roper. Mr. Roper died suddenly Wednesday. Mrs. McCord is spending a few days with the family. Among those attending the Monday services were Mr. and Mrs. Byron Yancey, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Porter, John Tracey and Earl Roper.

The Corona Presbyterian Church celebrated its 45th birthday Sunday, May 23 with a pot luck and services presided over by Rev. Tom Hart. The choir, with members from other churches in Corona sang beautifully. A special solo was performed by Charles Hughes.

Rev. Tom Hart gave an inspiring sermon urging the congregation to build on the foundation they have made. He spoke to the children, giving them a sense of future responsibility to the church.

Bill Post was recognized by the church as a graduating senior and was given a Bible. After services all went downstairs to enjoy a wonderfully tasty pot luck dinner.

Martha Garza made a great cake that gave an idea that she can do more than just decorate. From a pencil sketch, she made a picture of the church on the cake that was very realistic.

The church was pleased to have the following people from out of town come and celebrate together: Mr. and Mrs. George Bagley, Dimmitt, TX; Mrs. and Mrs. Ernest Sultemeier, Albuquerque; Mrs. and Mrs. G. S. Kimball, Albuquerque; Mrs. and Mrs. William Harelson, Los Alamos; Mr. Joe Frank Reeves, El Paso, TX; Mrs. Sherzil Bradford, El Paso, TX; Mrs. Blanch Marlow, Las Cruces; Mrs. Crystal Luera, Roswell; Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lightfoot, Las Cruces; Katie Hightower, Ancho; Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, Estancia; Mrs. Martha Bond and daughter Mary Beth Bond, Ancho; Mrs. Barbara Sultemeier and daughter Dulcie, Duran; Mrs. Connie Torres, Eagle Nest; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hightower, Ancho; Bryan and Pat Hightower, Ancho; Mrs. Glenda Sue Sullivan, El Paso, TX; and Mrs. Sharon Hecker, Carrizozo. The church was decorated with flowers from Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Kimball.

The Corona High School graduating class had their commencement ceremony on Saturday, May 22. Orlando Chavez, Jennifer Patterson, William Post, and Michael Herod were sponsored by Kay Sultemeier. Ushers were Claude Brown, Ace Swift, Callie Gnatkowski, Melissa Johnson, and Sandra Proctor. The class salutatorian is Jennifer Patterson, the class valedictorian is Orlando Chavez. Both these students will be on KOAT TV's Best of the Class. State Senator Pete Campos was the guest speaker. Melvin Johnson and Beatrice Chavez presented the diplomas. The benediction was given by Michael Herod. The seniors are now enjoying their trip to Florida, after a hearty breakfast served by the Presbyterian and Baptist Churches. Congratulations to our graduating class, the future belongs to you.

Bob Burton had a cozy retirement party at the cafeteria, Monday the 24th. There were lots of well wishers for Bob and for other teachers that won't be returning next year. Bill Bryan gave a blessing and Ms. Coy handed out some gifts and cards that were on the head table under a bouquet of yellow roses, to Bob and other teachers, Ms. Cindy Herod and Ms. Devra Post. Martha Garza made yet another great cake. This one was in the shape of a tool box and it had some people fooled. Everyone enjoyed the food and visit. We wish Bob the very best in his retirement.

Funeral services were held Monday for long time resident, Gene Roper. Born October 16, 1916 in Montague, TX he lived in Corona off and on for most of his life.

He was preceded in death by his wife Dorothy Roper (Steeleman) and their son Charles. Gene is survived by his sister Bernice McCord, of Corona and four daughters. He is also survived by 16 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

The pall bearers were all his grandsons. Gene Roper was buried at Tucumcari Memorial Park Cemetery, services were held at Dunn Memorial Chapel. Gene Roper was 76 years old.

Congratulations Graduates!

CAPITAN HIGH SCHOOL graduation keynote speakers Kenneth Crenshaw (right) and New Mexico First Lady Mrs. Alice King congratulate valedictorian Tamela Payne as board of education member Ken Schear and Tim Worrell look on from the background.

Capitan Graduates Are Challenged To Succeed

A picture perfect afternoon was the setting for the Capitan High School Graduation Saturday. Along with a few tears, a few drops of rain fell on those gathered on Tiger Field.

Graduates were challenged to succeed by speakers Mrs. Alice King and Kenneth Crenshaw.

Mrs. King, wife of Gov. Bruce King, said she was honored to speak to a small class (29), which was like it was when she was in school. "It brings back fond memories," she said.

Graduation is a three-fold privilege, she said—a sharing of accomplishments, pride in perseverance to achieve a goal and a challenge for the future. "Too many young people are without drive and ambition," she said.

She attributed the graduates' success to their teachers and parents. "The foundation for the future has been laid. Plan your future, but don't be afraid to alter your plans. Graduation is the beginning of the education process...all of life is a learning experience."

She told the seniors that hard work pays off, but graduation is not the end of education. "Commencement is not an end, rather a beginning. You hold the keys to your future, if you fail, only you are to blame. If you succeed, take the credit. Learn from your mistakes."

"Be diligent, honest, trustworthy and loyal, be happy in what you are doing. Education has its own objective-formation of character. Let's chose education and go for it."

Mrs. King said she was sorry she had no magic wand to wave to create jobs. But she said New Mexico is beginning to prosper and her husband, Gov. King, as well as the new president are aware of problems and are deeply concerned about unemployment.

She said Gov. King wants to change the number of young people leaving the state. "New Mexico's pastures may be greener than others. Don't surrender to despair, we need you in the New Mexico work force."

Crenshaw, a 1986 Carrizozo High School graduate, was a trainer with the Pittsburg Pirates for three years and is in his second year as trainer with the Atlanta Braves. This school year he helped with the Capitan basketball teams and became a very positive influence for the students.

Crenshaw honored the future leaders of our society and told them there is no secret to success—the bottom line is hard work. He encouraged them to have sincerity in reaching their goals and quality in their work. "Life is a challenge, and the big thing is how you handle life's challenges."

He encouraged the graduates to know where they are coming from—the reason why they studied history.

Valedictorian Tamela Payne and salutatorian Kelly Cox briefly said their farewells to the class, which made its last of high school memories that day.

Graduates were given diplomas by persons of their choice, during which time their scholarships and future intentions were announced.

NOTICE is hereby given that on April 21, 1993, the New Mexico Environment Department/UST Bureau, 4131 Montgomery N.E., Albuquerque, New Mexico 87109, filed application No. H-2297 with the STATE ENGINEER for permit to divert 32.0 acre-feet per annum of the shallow ground waters of the Honda Underground Water Basin by using an existing well located in the SE¼ SE¼ SE¼ of Section 33, Township 10 South, Range 18 East, N.M.P.M., for the purpose of recovery and treatment of ground water contaminated by gasoline, located as follows:

SUBDIVISION	SEC.	TWSP.	RGE.
Parts	34	10 S.	18 E. (Lincoln County)
Parts	3 & 4	11 S.	18 E. (Otero County)

Production from the subject well is anticipated to be 20 gallons per minute. Pumping will continue until it is established that the contamination has been remedied. Following treatment of the ground water, the ground water will be discharged to the subsurface via an infiltration gallery. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity objecting that the granting of the application will be detrimental to the objector's water rights shall have standing to file objections or protests. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity objecting that the granting of the application will be contrary to the conservation of water within the state or detrimental to the public welfare of the state and showing that the objector will be substantially and specifically affected by the granting of the application shall have standing to file objections or protests. Provided, however, that the State of New Mexico or any of its branches, agencies, departments, boards, instrumentalities or institutions, and all political subdivisions of the state and their agencies, instrumentalities and institutions shall have standing to file objections or protests. families have obtained food, clothing, a place to live and health care then they can concentrate on obtaining and keeping clean air and water for our future.

When jobs and businesses are lost to protect endangered species then people may be endangered. A reduction in health care, nutrition or an increase in alcohol usage because of business failure or job loss may cause loss of human life.

At the grazing fee hearings in Albuquerque some argued that ranchers whose animals graze federal lands are a subspecies so small in number and production that they are not worth saving. Yet they have consistently advocated spending vast sums of money to try to save endangered plants and animals because these species are small in number and production. History shows us that some of these species will become extinct because of natural changes in the environment no matter how much money is spent on them.

Many of these so-called "environmentalists" are urban people who have seen many laws passed and much money spent to attempt to restore U.S. cities. For the most part the cities have not been restored. Yet they have tackled the infinitely harder task of saving all the endangered plant and animal species.

Are You Ready for a Medical Emergency?

National Emergency Medical Services Week, May 23-29, is a great time to check your emergency IQ.

- Are the emergency numbers posted on your phones at home and at work?
- Do all of your children know how to call for help in an emergency?
- Have you replaced items in your first aid kit that have been used or expired?
- Is your house number clearly visible from the street?

You can count on your local EMS team to be ready whenever an emergency strikes. But remember — the most important member of our team is you.

Have An Enjoyable and Safe Memorial Day!

Search and rescue teams are still combing the north east side of the Capitan Mountains, looking for a 40 year old man reported missing since Thursday, May 20.
 The search was organized Tuesday for Steven Summersgill, 40, Roswell, whose truck was found on Forest Road 64 near the Boy Scout Camp in the Pine Lodge area of the Capitan Mountains. Summersgill's father reported the man missing since May 20. His truck was found, but the man was not around. Summersgill is described as a white male, six feet tall, about 175-200 pounds, with a short beard. He has a heart condition and is on medication.
 New Mexico State Police initiated the search and rescue.
 Numerous auto accidents were reported in the county within the last week, including a head-on accident east of Capitan on Hailey's Hill, which sent five people to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso on Monday and one on May 20 east of Ruidoso Downs involving a semi-truck and trailer loaded with cattle and Ruidoso Realtor Karon Petty. Petty was injured in the accident where she attempted a left turn off Highway 70 and the semi-truck driven by Kenneth Adrian from South Dakota broadsided Petty's van.
 The following information was taken from dispatch records in the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office in Carrizozo:

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS CLIPBOARD

A weekly school column from Carrizozo Municipal Schools that serves as a bridge to parents, business and community groups who welcome knowing more about their school. News about student, staff, and board members will be highlighted.

YEAREND TREATS

People for Kids (PFK) served 80 ice cream floats on May 20 to students in grades 1 through 4. PFK president Mary Ann Bingerman said the occasion was to reward the students for their school year work. Bingerman's assistants were Cynthia Morales and Carol Zumwalt. Student helpers were James Smith, Joanie Bingerman and Steve Ortiz. PFK also hosted a teacher appreciation on May 18.

OPEN HOUSE

Students in grades 5 and 6, their parents and other relatives met for a potluck meal last week. The purpose of the meal was to show the students' latest achievements in the classrooms. Teachers Bryan Wetzel and Ruby Armstrong and teacher art aide Polly Chavez were on hand to tell of the projects. The dining area in the multipurpose room was decorated with palm trees, tiki masks, tropical fruit and bamboo. The students made some of the tropical paradise props. Earlier in the day the students danced to the music of high school disk jockies D.J. Vermillion and Chris Gonzales.

Following the May 17 meal, the parents viewed classroom exhibits. Several microscopes were set up for viewing leaf cells, bread yeast, skin cells and parts of flowers. Math manipulatives were available for parents to see how they help in teaching. A project of hydro-electricity was displayed. The art room included the students' lessons on oragami, crayon resist, sewing (patchwork), mosaic, cutting, folding and drawing. The third classroom had dioramas, posters, photographs, miniature replicas to describe historical events and persons. The subjects included the Civil War, a farm cottage in France, the California Gold Rush, a guillotine, the transcontinental railroad, the Gulf War, the Erie and Panama Canals and Beethoven.

FIELD TRIP

On May 8 and 9 students from Biology II class went to Carlsbad to visit the underground potash mines. The students went over 1000 feet underground and were exposed to all phases of this type of mining. Potash is a fertilizer used by farmers all over the world. Students who went on the field trip were Anthony Archuleta, Nathan Portillo, James Smith, Cory Collins and Renee Roper. Science teachers Mariann Patterson and Bryan Wetzel were sponsors for the overnight trip.

LEADERSHIP ASSEMBLY

An assembly on May 14 was organized to share some of the skills and information students learned while at a Glorietta Peer Leadership Conference in April. Some of the exercises build trust or remove barriers. At the Assembly at Carrizozo Schools the role playing and skits illustrated specific ideas and made it easier to share ideas and feelings, CASA coordinator Dorsey Glover said. Students who attended the Glorietta conference and who were involved in the local assembly were Amber Pierce, Jim Brown, Natalie Chavez, D.J. Vermillion, Jennifer Narvaez, Jasmine Chavez and Jeff Maynard. Helpers with the assembly included Scott Brown and Chris Gonzales.
