

Ruidoso To Discuss MRS Situation

By Doris Cherry

The Ruidoso Village Council has invited a representative of the Mescalero Apache Tribal Council to attend a meeting and discuss the tribe's most recent correspondence with the Dept. of Energy.

Dr. Bob Walters, chairman of the Ruidoso Village MRS Advisory Committee, told the Ruidoso Village Council at its regular meeting last week, that the Mescaleros have expressed their desire to host the Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) for nuclear waste in a recent letter addressed to the Dept. of Energy.

Walters encouraged the council to invite Mescalero Tribal Vice President Fred Peso to an upcoming meeting.

Walters and five other Ruidoso representatives recently attended the International High Level Nuclear Waste Management Conference in Las Vegas, NV.

At that conference, Walters said, the Nevada governor pledged to continue his state's fight against the Yucca Mountain permanent nuclear repository. The Nevada governor, and other western states governors, are working together to keep the West from becoming a nuclear dumping ground.

Walters said it is clear that the DOE is currently in disarray, and indications are the department will experience a policy review before implementing any new radioactive waste depository policies.

"DOE has most projects on hold or slow speed," Walters said. However, that does not mean all policies will be changed.

Until some decisions are made about storage of spent nuclear fuel rods, licenses to store the rods on site at the nuclear power plants were extended.

While "DOE-bashing" was a favorite topic at the conference, Walters said, the nuclear industry representatives were exercising "psycho warfare" on how to sell nuclear projects, especially dump sites.

Industry officials made presentations on how communities will be favorably impacted economically.

Also, references were made to the reason the Mescaleros have so much opposition is because of "historical animosity and racism."

A recent survey was conducted in the Ruidoso area by the Keystone Center which stated the opposition to the MRS project is due to mistrust, lack of effective communication and lack of awareness.

Councillor Bill Karn, a member of the MRS advisory committee, said the Keystone report stated the neighboring communities have had a negative reaction. "Not wanting to be a nuclear dump zone is negative," Karn said.

Ruidoso Councillor Ron Andrews called the Keystone report an "eye wash" and waste of time.

Karn said he overheard comments at the Las Vegas conference expressing incredul-

State Team To Give Overview On MainStreet

The New Mexico Economic Development Dept., Community Development team, will be in Carrizozo at 1 p.m. Tuesday, June 15 in the county commission chambers.

The team of Julie Johncox, MainStreet New Mexico director and Mary Maul, community development representative, will be in town to give an overview of MainStreet and other programs the Economic Development Dept. has to offer.

Boosters Plan Reorganization

Carrizozo High School's fall athletic schedule will include many distant out-of-town games.

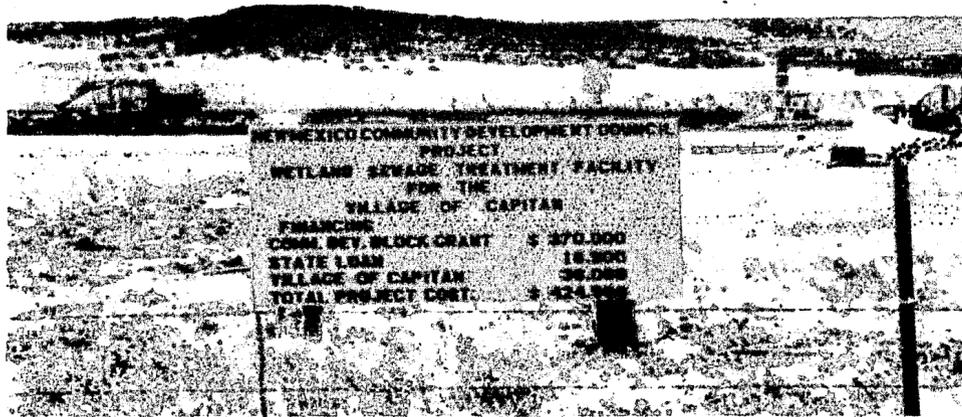

The out-of-town games will require overnight stays for athletes and their coaches and adult chaperons. Traditionally, the Carrizozo Grizzly Athletic Boosters have financed such stays.

The Boosters plan to reorganize and are desperately searching for new members to raise money to help defray expenses.

Anyone interested in helping raise money to help the athletes can call Anne Serna at 648-2546 after 6 p.m.

CAPITAN WETLANDS PROJECT is underway just east of the village. The project is, as the sign reads, financed by a Community Development Block Grant, and funds from the state and village. The constructed wetlands will treat sewage by running waste water through troughs planted with various aquatic plants which will purify the water. The purified water will be used to fill a small lake, located where the heavy equipment is working behind the sign. Dr. Bernhard Reimann of Capitan is largely responsible for the wetlands project which is an alternative to traditional waste water treatments.

Liquor License Fees Are Rescinded In Carrizozo

By Ruth Hammond

Carrizozo Trustees took action at the May 25 meeting that will eliminate additional town charges for liquor license fees. The town had been charging $400 each year for liquor licenses in addition to the $25 annual business registration.

The state legislature this year passed laws that allowed municipalities to charge no more than $250 a year for liquor license fees.

James W. "Willie" Silva, of the Four Winds Lounge and Restaurant, called the fees "unjust" and asked the town to rescind the fees. He presented a petition to town trustees requesting the additional fees be eliminated. Many business people in town signed the petition.

Trustees Harold Garcia, Eileen Lovelace and Patsy Vallejos and mayor Cecilia Kuhnle discussed the matter. Trustee Doug Whittaker was not at the meeting.

Trustees agreed to allow Garcia to vote in the matter. The vote was unanimous to rescind the addition fees. Liquor license fees in Carrizozo will no longer have an additional charge.

In other business trustees approved the proposed budget for the next fiscal year. Changes will have to be made in the budget to reflect the $500 liquor license fees the town will not receive.

Trustees approved paying $500 to the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County (EDC/LC) for their work in trying to bring industries and business to the town.

Action was tabled on approving the ordinance pertaining to the open meetings act. This will give time for the town attorney to recommend what changes should be made.

The resolution designating personnel under the records retention and destruction schedule was approved. Town clerk Carol Schlarb and police chief Charlie White are the designated personnel.

Ordinance 136 was approved enacting a new section for the collection of $1.00 for judicial education.

The town will request an extension from the state auditor to accept a proposal for the town audit for 1992-93.

No applications were received for the position of life-guard. The town will advertise again. A certified life-guard must be hired before the swimming pool can be opened for the summer.

Police Chief Charlie White reported the town was quiet graduation night. When asked about progress at the dog kennels and animal control White said he will have a report at the next meeting.

Permission was given to Santa Rita Catholic Community to close F Street between the church and Fred Chavez Park during the Santa Rita Fiesta July 18.

Chamber Wants More Positive Attitudes

By Ruth Hammond

Scott Shafer, president of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County (EDC/LC) was the guest speaker at the June 1 meeting of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce.

Shafer explained how EDC/LC is working to bring businesses and industries to all communities in Lincoln County, including Carrizozo.

EDC/LC also has a retention committee which works with existing businesses throughout the county.

"In economic development," Shafer said, "The greatest success is in expanding existing business." He said EDC/LC will work with businesses to help expand their business and increase numbers of employees.

Through the six years EDC/LC has been in operation, they have brought four or five businesses into the county with more than 45 steady jobs being provided in these businesses.

Shafer said prospective business and industry people show a preference for locating their business in the tall pines, mostly in Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, and Capitan areas, even though these areas lack the level space necessary for some industries.

Carrizozo has sites of level space available in the Industrial Park with 24-hour airport service, the railroad, and highways 54 and 380.

EDC/LC has printed brochures which promote the Carrizozo Industrial Park. Shafer suggested the chamber refer all inquiries about economic development in the Carrizozo area to EDC/LC.

A recent self-assessment of Carrizozo revealed the people are friendly and it is a nice place but needs to be cleaned up. Shafer said the first impression people get when coming to Carrizozo is a lasting impression. Newcomers are critical of what needs to be done in Carrizozo.

The positive attitude of business owners in Carrizozo is evident while people working for a salary need to be more positive when talking with others.

"People are affected by what the average guy says," Shafer said.

Chamber members discussed ways to stop negative attitudes in Carrizozo and asked Shafer to present his information to the Carrizozo Town Council at the June 8 meeting.

Several people are going to request the town enforce the ordinance pertaining to buildings falling down and needing repair.

Chamber members also discussed incentives to help get the town cleaned up such as "Adopt-A-Block" programs, summer youth programs for painting curbs and fire hydrants, and recognizing businesses and residences for cleaning and improving the looks of their property.

All public input is welcome and the chamber asks those interested to contact chamber members with suggestions and/or attend chamber meet-

The Village of Ruidoso is seeking a design for a logo and flag.

A contest to chose the best design is now underway and has a deadline of July 2.

The contest is open to anyone, but the village is especially soliciting entries from American Indian tribes, reservations, community organizations, colleges, schools and youth organizations. The Village of Ruidoso is particularly interested in providing an opportunity for young people in the Lincoln County area to participate.

Grand prize for the winning design is a $150 Savings Bond.

Logo entries must be no smaller than 11 inches nor larger than 24 inches in any dimension and must be done in black and white. If the logo is to be colored, specify the colors on a separate sheet with the entry.

Multiple entries by artists are acceptable. All entries become the property of the Village of Ruidoso and cannot be returned. Other guidelines may be obtained at the Village of Ruidoso Administration Building or Civic Events Center, or by calling the Center at 1-800-223-6424 or 258-5445.

The artist of the winning design will be invited to participate in a special ceremony before the mayor pro-tem and village council in July.

The winning design will be reproduced and distributed nationally.

The contest is open to all individuals without limitations of age, sex, citizenship, race, color, religion, handicap condition or national origin.

Grand Jury To Reconvene June 14

By Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Grand Jury convened in the 12th Judicial Courtroom in Carrizozo, Monday.

Qualifying of two panels of 14 jurors from the more than 250 called to appear began Friday and was completed Monday morning. The first panel got to work as soon as the jurors returned from lunch. The grand jury recessed late Monday with no decisions made. It will reconvene June 14, said a district clerk's office spokesperson.

Assistant Attorney General Richard Cline from Santa Fe presented evidence on allegations of political corruption against state representative H. John Underwood, Democrat from Lincoln County, and Ruidoso Downs police chief Will Hoggard.

District Judge Richard Parsons called the grand jury at the request of the AG's office, which has alleged that Underwood used the influence of his political office to alter the outcome of a DWI case he was handling for a client in Ruidoso Downs in February.

The AG's office chose to have the hearing done in the closed forum of the grand jury, which will ultimately decide whether the evidence on Underwood and Hoggard is sufficient to hand down indictments.

Early in April Underwood disclosed the investigation by the AG's office on his handling of the DWI case which involved a revocation hearing with the Motor Vehicles Dept. Underwood and Hoggard acknowledged they worked to have the arresting officer in the case not attend the hearing, causing a dismissal of the license-revocation proceeding. Both men have said this was done out of compassion for Underwood's client.

At the same time of the revocation hearing, Underwood was presenting a bill in the legislature requesting funds to construct a new Ruidoso Downs administration center and was unable to attend the revocation hearing in Ruidoso Downs. Underwood called Hoggard from Santa Fe to discuss the case. Investigators in March told Underwood he could be charged, possibly with bribery.

Underwood called for a separate investigation by the Legislative Council and the New Mexico State Bar Disciplinary Board when the allegations were first made by the AG's office.

The AG's office chose to put the allegations to Underwood's constituents in the closed hearings of the grand jury, however.

Underwood and Hoggard have denied any wrongdoing in the situation.

Underwood was co-sponsor of the governmental Ethics Bill which passed both the state house and senate unanimously during the last session.

According to the Albuquerque Journal, the Legislative Council, made up of legislative leaders and other lawmakers, appointed Underwood to the new Governmental Ethics Oversight Committee on May 21. Underwood's appointment was recommended by House Speaker Raymond Sanchez, democrat from Albuquerque.

Part of the work of the 12-member committee will be to oversee the implementation of the ethics in government law.

lity over the village and surrounding communities actually thinking they can stop a $2 billion project.

The MRS committee had copies of three letters from the tribal council to DOE, in which it appears the tribal council is trying to move the project forward. It appears the tribal council has intentions to pursue the project to conclusion if DOE will commit to support and funding.

In the letter to the Special Assistant to the Secretary of the DOE Dan Dreyfus, Peso asks for a meeting in Washington, D.C. the week of June 7. He desired to talk with Dreyfus and Lake Barrett, acting director of the Office of Civilian Radioactive Waste Management for the DOE, to discuss a Phase 2, Stage 2 Mescalero grant application filing with the Nuclear Waste Negotiator's Office.

The tribal council also is asking for money to be provided to communities surrounding the reservation to analyze the possible impacts of an MRS on their social, economic and civic infrastructures. "It appears to us that such self-directed participation is essential to public acceptance of the fairness of the MRS process. This conclusion is highlighted by the Keystone assessment," read the letter to David Leroy, US Nuclear Waste Negotiator from the Mescalero Tribal Council.

Walters did not actually know at what point the Mescalero MRS proposal is at. Peso and MRS project coordinator for the Mescaleros Miller Hudson attended the Las Vegas conference but did not speak.

With Walters' recommendation, the Ruidoso Village Council voted to invite Peso to a meeting to discuss the MRS situation.

Peso also sent Mayor Pro Tem Barbara Duff a letter offering to meet and discuss the progress of the tribe's MRS investigation.

Councillors also discussed the June 29 public hearing to formally annex the Carrizo Lodge, C-Net Resort properties. C-Net has a joint powers agreement with the village to help finance installation of water lines to the lodge area. The construction is set to begin June 4.

The annexation of the balance of the Carrizo canyon properties will also be considered at that June 29 meeting. Village departments will prepare papers regarding the village's ability to serve the area once annexed.

It will be up to the state Boundary Commission to set a public hearing on the Carrizo Canyon properties annexation. The village must present evidence to the Boundary Commission to justify the annexation.

The next pocket of county land surrounded by the village of Ruidoso to be considered for annexation will be the Financial Center area.

Recipients For Award Are Selected

Lincoln County Heritage Trust, Diamond A Cattle Company, and Hondo Oil & Gas Company have been selected as the recipients of this year's Ralph E. Twitchell Award by the Historical Society of New Mexico. This annual award recognizes a significant contribution to NM history. The three organizations have pooled resources for the past four years to provide annual heritage education field trips for the Roswell Independent School District's 1,000+ fourth graders. All three organizations have philanthropist and businessman R.O. Anderson in common.

Each fourth grade class has a fall and spring field trip. The destination for the fall field trip is Roswell's South Springs Ranch, once owned by cattle baron John Chisum. The spring destination is Lincoln, focal point of the notorious Lincoln County War. The South Springs trip concentrates on regional and local ranching heritage, historic personalities, and cultural borrowings. The Lincoln trip focuses on regional violence and cultural awareness.

Al's Musings

BY AL STUBBS

Hagerman is the Hay Capital of the World; Grants is the Uranium Capital of the World. Los Alamos is the Atomic Capital of the World. Albuquerque is the Hot Air Balloon Capital of the World. Hobbs is the Sailplane Capital of the World.

Deming, we suppose, is the Duck Race Capital of the World.

Las Cruces is the Giant Enchilada Capital of the World.

Dr. Goddard made Roswell the Rocket Capital of the World. Now, New Mexico may have another claim to fame.

Dozens of hang glider enthusiasts congregated on a field between Corona and Willard on the holiday weekend. The sky was full of the flimsy looking machines.

Even cattle were intrigued by men and women and their machines. We spotted one hang glider pilot standing amidst a whole herd of cows, looking rather nervous and forlorn while waiting for his "pickup crew" to arrive. We didn't see any bulls with blood in their eyes trying to gore him, so guess he or she made it through the weekend okay.

So now Corona may become the Hang Gliding Capital of the World. Actually the action was closer to Cedarvale.

That village certainly could use an economic shot in the arm. Imagine Cedarvale with a McDonald's or a Long John Silvers.

We won't make the mistake of calling Cedarvale a ghost town. We called Claunch a ghost town in print once. Irate citizens of that area let us have it with both barrels. Seems as if there are many ranch families who claim Claunch as home.

Anyway, many entities are helping put New Mexico on the map.

The mountains of Tennessee and Kentucky have nothing on Lincoln County. We have our own version of the Hatfields and McCoys feuding right in Ruidoso. Course, Lincoln County has a history of earnest feuding. There was something called the Lincoln County War back in the last century. Bullets were flying then; now it's mostly hard looks and rough words.

Hope the feuding stays on that plane only.

Our good friend, Ruidoso weatherman Bill Hostetter, was a weatherman to the very last—and beyond. Bill died unexpectedly in May.

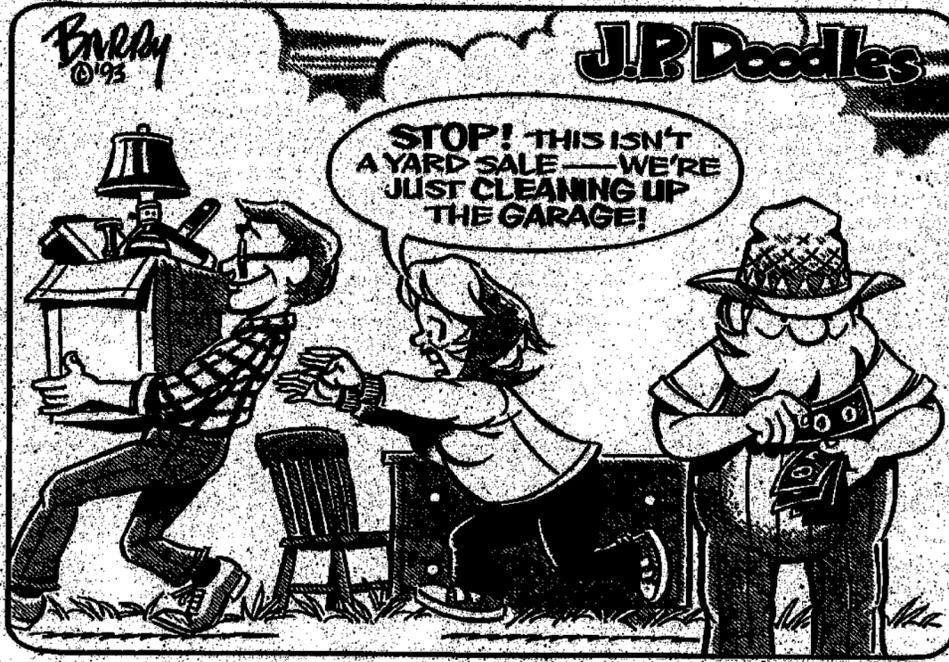

To meet one of his last requests, his family arranged a rather unique ceremony for May 26 at the Hostetter home in Ruidoso.

Bill wanted his ashes to be hoisted aloft via weather balloons, and this was accomplished with the help of friends and fellow Ruidoso Noon Lions Club members Frank Grayley, Duane Jensen, Jack McNeil and Stan Thomas, who made the preparations. Two of his daughters participated in the disposition of the ashes, too. They are Sandra Lumkley-Leuders and Karol Schreiner. A third daughter couldn't be present. The daughters and other family members were in Ruidoso earlier for a "packed church" memorial service for Bill.

Robert Batton, of the Episcopal Church of Lincoln County was celebrant for the "Celebration and Disposition of Ashes" event. Bill's wife, Lois, was a perfect hostess as always, along with her daughters.

"O God, whose mercies cannot be numbered: Accept our prayers on behalf of your servant Bill; and grant him an entrance into the land of light and Joy, in the fellowship of your saints; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and forever... Into your hands O Merciful Savior, we commend your Servant Bill. Receive him into the Arms of your mercy, into the blessed rest of everlasting peace, and into the glorious company of the Saints in light." Father Batton said. A number of close friends from Ruidoso and elsewhere were in attendance at the most impressive ceremony.

Bill would have like the celebration. We can imagine he was looking on from "up there."

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

Although I know I am supposed to be timely and remember that newspapers count their days ahead, sometimes I forget. Anyhow this past week was Memorial Day Weekend, which is the commencement of the visitor season in Ruidoso, and the town was full to the brim with people, at least so it would appear if you consider the number of vehicles on the street, and assuming that there are at least as many people in town as there are cars driving down the street. If there are more cars than there are people, we really should contact our residents palm reader to see if we are getting the straight scoop. At any rate, I thought I would say a thing or two about Memorial Day.

Memorial Day is the day we select each year to honor our departed servicemen, and to distribute dead flowers to dead people. It is also a day to vent our patriotic spleen and beat our breasts over how tough we are.

President Clinton was not very well received by some of the veterans because of his opposition to the Vietnam War. These are some of the same arguments we heard during the campaign, but they still deserve a comment or two. I have a hard time figuring out why bloodthirstiness is a desirable trait for a president. I would think people generally would be more comfortable with a leader who was not so prepared to sacrifice our youth for General Motors, or Standard Oil, as the case may be. Of course we need to be prepared to protect our interests in the world, but all too often those interests are confused with economic benefits that aren't really related to the general welfare of the American public. Sometimes we need to take a second look before we jump. As for the argument that Clinton's opposition to the Vietnam War interfered with our efforts and caused additional casualties, I think the true picture is that it was people like Clinton who caused the public to finally become convinced that we should get out, or we might still be there. That sounds like rather than causing casualties his efforts may have saved a lot of lives, but don't try to convince Rush Limbaugh of that.

I do not intend to belittle the honors bestowed on our soldiers because they earned every one, but I do worry about the attitudes that support armed conflicts as being something to look forward to demonstrate our maleness. (In view of recent developments, I may have to revise that statement to include femaleness and ambiguity. The old statement that goes, "Your mother wears combat boots!" may be becoming more relevant in today's world.)

There have been a series of developments in the study of the functions of the brain that may finally lay to rest the old argument over "Nurture vs. Nature". The latest reports seem to indicate a correlation between IQ and childhood training, i.e., the better the bringing up, the higher the IQ. This idea has been around a long time in the sociological context but we are now beginning to see evidence of it in the physical area, and as soon as we can adjust our attitudes to accept the concept, it will probably work out to be true. I need to do a little more thinking about this before I get in so deep I disclose the limitations of my nurture.

Why is it that some days things turn out the way they do. (SEE PAGE 5)

Inside The Capitol

SANTA FE—Will we have a special legislative session this summer?

Senate Republican leaders are pushing for a get-together in the wake of announcements by the state's financial wizards that revenue is coming into the treasury at well above expectations. The latest guesses suggest the state could end up the fiscal year on June 30 with $65 million to $85 million extra.

Most Republicans in both houses are urging repeal of the six-cent gasoline tax increase passed by the '93 Legislature. That tax hike would raise about $51 million for school transportation and road construction. Supporters of its repeal argue that the new revenue estimate easily exceeds the amount that would be raised by the additional gasoline tax. And perhaps a similar amount will be available for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

A poll of lawmakers by the Albuquerque Journal showed all 15 Senate Republicans being joined by 7 Democrats in support of repealing the gasoline tax hike. Eight Democrats were opposed and five were undecided in the 42-member body.

In the House a coalition of 14 Republicans and 18 Democrats favored a gasoline tax repeal. Fifteen undecided votes in the 70-member body make the outcome less sure.

But the poll's figures are soft. Many of those who favored the gasoline tax repeal said they would prefer to wait until next January's regular session. Also not taken into account is that the "no" votes in the poll were cast primarily by Democratic leaders in both houses. Somehow, after they have a talk with their troops, many wayward votes have a way of coming into line.

The final decision on calling a special session is left to the governor. Bruce King is still pondering his call. In the past few weeks, New Mexicans have seen him waver both ways. Soon after the new estimates were released, King seemed to think a special session to vote on a repeal of the gasoline tax was a pretty good idea. Then he cooled off.

The following week King visited Roswell. After making appearances around town for a day, King urged a crowd to encourage their lawmakers to push for a special session. Then he returned to Santa Fe and cooled off again.

The following week King toured several states with the New Mexico Amigos, a group of business people who serve the state as volunteer ambassadors. It was expected that King would return from that trip leaning in the direction of calling a special session.

State economists were called before the committee to explain what happened. They reported that the major surprises were in personal income tax and natural gas. But they couldn't say why. That led committee leaders to express caution about acting on new figures that might be no better than the original ones.

Rep. Max Coll of Santa Fe said that although this year's seven percent underestimate isn't as bad as the 13 percent overestimate in 1982, it is still unacceptable. James Jimenez, the committee's economist, said the state's econometric model is expected to be accurate within three percent on an 18-month estimate and produce less than a one percent error six months out. It was that six-month forecast that appears to be seven percent off this year.

Coll asked what help the Legislature needs to provide so that forecasting can be improved. The answer was that economists are conservative by nature. "You'd rather have us underproject than overproject," said Jimenez.

But Sen. Ben Altamirano of Silver City said that wasn't necessarily true. He recalled the ire of conservative Rep. Colin McMillian of Roswell 15 years ago when revenues were consistently underprojected, thereby defeating the tax cuts he wanted to push through.

Finally the Legislature passed a hefty tax cut. And the next year was when revenues fell 18 percent below estimates.

Until supercomputers come up with foolproof estimates, it appears it will always be a roll of the dice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR—Another myth disproved! After a 25-year absence, we found that you can "go home again."

In 1965, we started teaching in Corona. We learned to love the people and the environment. When we left in 1968, we knew we'd miss everything about this community that had become our home.

On May 24 of this year, we drove into the parking lot of the Corona Schools. We spent the next three hours reminiscing with former friends and former students.

It would be impossible to explain how wonderful it was to remember and to be remembered. We would like to thank Kay Sultemeier (a fellow teacher), Dan Luetras and Jeanne Flores (former students) and Callie and John Gnatkowski, (children of Pete, another former student) for spending time with us.

But, most of all, we thank Jeanene Gibbs for filling us in, for catching us up and for being just plain wonderful. We miss you Corona; we always will.

GAIL AND PHIL HOCKER, Ada, Okla.

EDITOR—On Thursday, May 10, 1993, my family experienced a very personal tragedy when the main headquarters home at the Valley of Fires ranch went up in flames just 10 days after we purchased it. The late Ed Siddens and his wife, Fran, had invested countless hours and untold sweat to make the ranch a showplace.

In the years since Mr. Siddens' death the ranch has been waiting for someone to commit the time and resources to bring it back to life. My family and I were up for the challenge. The fire last Thursday was a devastating setback. My wife, Julie, and I have deep roots in Lincoln County. Three generations of my family have lived in the county at one time or another. We were married at the old Lincoln County Courthouse in 1982 and our daughter, Alexandra, was born in Lincoln County in 1986. The ranch, for us, is a homecoming to an area we have always loved.

Our relatives, friends and acquaintances have been very sympathetic over the past few days. Their support has reminded us of the meaning of the word "community": a group of people with diverse backgrounds and interests who are bound together by a sense of place and a desire to make that place better.

OTHER SIDE

More than my share of times today, when I have pushed the desired buttons on this computer, I have received the message "bad command or file name", or "Please press Y to retry access", or "Disc full", or soon. It must be a software problem, since I know the data input function is operating very well, thank you.

I wonder if nurture is relevant to the operation of this piece of machinery, or if cultural heritage has anything to do with some of the desires I have felt without expressing them today. I must remember that the forceful insertion concept is no longer considered appropriate behavior.

I want to thank the men and women of the Carrizozo Fire Department for their efforts to save the house. I want to thank Jack Hefker for calling the fire department in the first place. Thanks also to the Sheriff's Department, the fire marshalls, and the people from PNM for doing their jobs with compassion. We especially appreciate Jim Shelby, Tommy McWilliams, and the Najar brothers—Cookie, Lee Roy and Albert—for helping us to make the Valley of Fires ranch a better place.

We are committed to rebuild in the near future and we are anxious to meet our neighbors on less stressful terms. The events of last Thursday will add a new dimension for us to the name Valley of Fires.

Telephone Technology Explained

CUB SCOUT TROOP 153 attended the US West Open House at the US West Central Office in Carrizozo May 13. Frank Reed, community affairs manager for US West for the western half of the state, explained to the boys the changes being made at the Central Office. Several people from the community toured the building during the Open House. Carrizozo Scout Troop 153 leaders are Susan Hightower and Carol Cluff. The 18 boys in the troop learned about telephone technology during the tour.

Large-Scale Test Set For White Sands Missile Range

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, NM—Preparations are underway for a large-scale, above-ground, high explosive test in the northern portion of White Sands Missile Range.

The test, known as MINOR UNCLE, is scheduled for sometime in June. It involves the detonation of 2,440 tons of a mixture of ammonium nitrate and fuel oil in a 72-foot diameter fiberglass hemispherical container.

The purpose of MINOR UNCLE is to expose U.S. and foreign civil and military equipment and structure to an air-blast and ground-shock environment to test their vulnerabilities. MINOR UNCLE is sponsored and conducted by the Defense Nuclear Agency, a joint-service Department of Defense organization headquartered in Washington, D.C.

The Defense Nuclear Agency is responsible for developing nuclear weapons effects technology, expertise and testing capabilities. Although the end of the Cold War has significantly reduced the likelihood of a massive nuclear exchange, a future regional conflict could involve U.S. military forces with an adversary that possesses a nuclear capability and who has the will to use even a small nuclear weapon. MINOR UNCLE will simulate the nuclear effects of a small nuclear weapon.

No nuclear materials will be used.

The MINOR UNCLE test site is in the northern portion of the missile range, about 34 miles west of Carrizozo, and 38 miles southeast of Socorro. An environmental assessment for the test has determined there will be no significant environmental effects.

Maj. Michael Lambrecht is the Defense Nuclear Agency Test Group Director. The White Sands Missile Range program sponsor is Robert Wright of the range's Nuclear Effects Directorate.

Hondo Students Appreciate New Mexico History

According to history and Spanish instructor, Lynda Sanchez, two recent trips taken by her New Mexico history and Spanish II Honors classes have given students a deeper appreciation and perspective about their state's multi-cultural history.

7th graders visited the Oliver Lee Memorial State Park near Alamogordo. A special guest speaker, Karl Laumbach, President of Human System's Research, Inc. (A Contract Archaeology Corporation) presented a variety of fascinating material for students. First, a flint-knapping demonstration (how to make arrow heads and spears from flint or volcanic glass) was given much as the Indian people did in the ancient past. He also showed students how to use the atlatl or spear thrower, an invention of the Aztecs.

A hike up Dog Canyon and a tour of the impressive Oliver Lee Ranch house topped the trip.

The return trip included a stop at the incredible memorial to veterans of World Wars I and II, the beautiful mission of St. Joseph at Mesalero, New Mexico.

Spanish II Honors students visited Santa Fe touring the State's Capitol Building and Governor's Office. A walk from the state capitol down winding streets to the main plaza included stops at the Oldest Church in the U.S., the Cathedral built by the famous French Archbishop, Lamy in the mid 1800s. After a traditional lunch the students headed for Chimayo. Other museums were also visited, such as the Palace of the Governors. Internationally known, the Santuario de Chimayo is a destination for thousands of Pilgrims during Holy Week.

While in the village of Chimayo the class learned how the Chimayo weavers produce their famous rugs and woolen cloth. It is all done by hand or by handmade looms. Some of these family-owned shops have been in business for more than two centuries.

The May meeting of the Canyon CowBelles was attended by State President Inez Marra. She reported on all activities of the State CowBelles.

Canyon is trying to get a local CowBelle Chapter started in the Ruidoso area. An organizational meeting was held at Caren Bremmers home June 1. For more information, please call Donna Cox at 354-3313.

The "CONSERVATION ROUNDUP" newspaper was distributed to 3rd-6th graders in the Carrizozo school district and also Capitan, T or C, Ruidoso, Corona and the Yucca CowBelles. The newspaper highlights agriculture, environmental tips and informs readers of the importance of conserving this great land of ours.

Anne Ferguson reported on the Beef Cook-off held in Las Cruces, the upcoming state fair booth and the recent grazing fee hearings with Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt in Albuquerque. Anne and Knellene McDaniels will be representing Canyon by attending the seminar in Albuquerque in October. The seminar helps learn more about beef facts, public speaking, and how to dispel the many myths that beef is bad for you.

Canyon will sponsor Ruby Armstrong, the Carrizozo 5th and 6th grade teacher for a one hour credit at NMSU for continuing education in Ag in the Classroom.

Canyon will have a booth at the Smokey Bear Stampede July 3 in Capitan.

The next meeting was held at Knellene McDaniels' home on June 2 at 11:30 a.m. Ginger Shafer co-hosted the meeting. THINK BEEF!!!

ENMU-R Students Tour Back-Side Of Lincoln

As a finale to the spring semester, Lynda Sanchez's ENMU-Ruidoso American History 102 class toured the historic Patron home in Lincoln and were treated to music, style and history from the 1860s to the present.

As owner Cleis Jordan explained much of the music popular at the time of the Lincoln County War was also popular all over the nation. Several pieces were performed on both piano and organ by this accomplished musician. This gave students an idea of the music that Billy the Kid might have heard during his visits to Lincoln.

The Patron home, now transformed into a Bed and Breakfast, is one of the original houses from the Lincoln County War era and Juan Patron and family played a major role during Lincoln's early history. He was also the youngest speaker of the House in the Territorial Legislature. Furnishings reflect the time.

Students were exposed not only to the popular (folk) music in America's early history, but the kind of church and classical music that prevailed at the time. The musical portion of the field trip concluded with a stirring composition by Beethoven.

Afterwards, a visit to Dr. Woods museum, staffed by Lincoln County Historical Society members, presented an excellent opportunity for the class to appreciate the life of a late 1800's doctor and family.

Instructor Cinches also showed students the "back-side" of Lincoln-that is, places most tourists never see. Some of these sites are more interesting than the usual.

A final stop was made at the Cinches home for refreshments, reflection on the trip, the semester and the future.

As Cinches noted, "With small classes you can do this sort of thing. It is like your family or friends dropping by. Larger universities don't offer this kind of opportunity until you get into Grad School. That is why ENMU-Ruidoso is unique!"

CAPITAN NOTES

By Pauline McGarry Whittaker

Easy In English by Mauree Applegate, Wisconsin State College. La Crosse, Wisconsin, 1980 Harper & Row, publishers. "A poem, like an actor can play many parts. Some poems make us see pictures of places and people as clearly as if we touched them with our hands. Some poems tell stories; others are conversations between things that may have no language; some laugh, some cry, and some do both at once, like an actor or a baby. A poem usually says everything better in fewer words than we can possibly say it ourselves. Poems are word magic, and we must get acquainted with all the magic we can; magic keeps a shine in the eyes and in the world."

This quote leads up to a poem I was commissioned to write for Amy Knight, who spent many happy childhood years visiting her grandmother Marjorie Whittaker and her grandfather Alton Whittaker in Nogal when they were the administrators of the Lincoln County Hospital in Carrizozo. I am privileged to be Amy's surrogate grandmother now. Her mother, Patty Knight, asked me to write a poem for Amy's wedding shower.

Knight To Appleby
Two months before the wedding did you know
Twelve parents-friends from childhood

Two big parties did throw
The Andersons, the Aurburgs, and Billings
The Bussings, the Cawthons and Fosters
Amy Knight is changing her name to Appleby.

The twenty-four parents
Who had watched her grow
Were so happy their love to show

The Hunters, the Jordans, and Knights
The Lassiters, the Paulings, and Pfeiffers.

Amy Knight is changing her name to Appleby.

Hard to believe the years went so fast

All are so happy a beautiful match
Total 36 parents, friends from childhood
Did you know
Two parties did throw

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY
FEDERAL INSURANCE ADMINISTRATION
Proposed Flood Elevation Determinations

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency
ACTION: Proposed rule.
SUMMARY:

Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed modified base (100-year) flood elevations (BFEs) shown on the preliminary revised Flood Insurance Study (FIS) and Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) for your community. These BFEs are the basis for the floodplain management measures that your community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). The proposed BFEs modify the BFEs shown on the presently effective FIRM for your community.

DATES:

The period for comment will be 90 days following the second publication of this proposed rule in a newspaper of local circulation in your community.

ADDRESSES:

The preliminary revised FIS and FIRM showing the proposed modified BFEs and their delineations are available for review at the Village of Ruidoso, Village Hall, 313 Creekmeadows Drive, Ruidoso, New Mexico.

Send comments to:

The Honorable Victor Alonso
Mayor, Village of Ruidoso
P.O. Drawer 69
Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. William R. Locke
Chief, Risk Studies Division
Federal Insurance Administration
Federal Emergency Management Agency
Washington, D.C. 20473
(202) 646-2767

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the proposed determinations of modified BFEs in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Public Law 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Public Law 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128; and 44 CFR Part 87.4(a)).

These BFEs, together with the floodplain management measures required by Section 60.3 of the NFIP regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean your community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their floodplain management requirements. Your community may, at any time, enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State, or regional entities. These proposed BFEs will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Administrator, Federal Insurance Administration, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the proposed BFE determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A BFE determination under Section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a community, will govern future construction within the floodplain area. The BFE determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the community voluntarily adopts floodplain ordinances in accord with these BFEs. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the BFEs prescribe how high of build in the floodplain and do not prohibit development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirements; of itself, it has no economic impact.

Proposed BFEs along flooding sources studied by detailed methods are shown on the preliminary revised FIS and FIRM. Lessees and owners of real property in the Village of Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico, are encouraged to review the FIS, FIRM, and related materials at the address cited above. The flooding sources studied by detailed methods are:

Simple Ways To Improve Diets

By BETTY MCCREIGHT
Lincoln County
Home Economist

Here's a few simple ways to improve your diet:

1. Eat whatever you want. There are no good or bad foods, only bad diets.
2. Forget "dieting" to lose weight quickly. If you want to shed pounds and trim your figure, focus instead on developing healthful eating and exercise habits.

3. Drink your milk - or eat yogurt, low-fat cheeses or dairy products to insure that you take in plenty of calcium. We recommend two or three servings on a daily basis. Other sources of calcium include broccoli, kale, canned salmon and sardines with the bones, and calcium fortified orange juice.

4. Ask your doctor or pharmacist if any medication you take has nutritional side effects, or if certain foods interfere with the effectiveness of the drug. It is particularly important if you are taking the drug for a long time, if you take two or more medications concurrently, or if you are poorly nourished to begin with.

5. Figure out how many grams of fat you should average on a daily basis to stay within the recommended limit of 30% of calories from fat. To do so, first determine the approximate number of calories you take in every day. Then, multiply that number by 0.30. Last, divide the results by 9. The table gives the already calculated answers for a variety of calorie intakes.

Calories/Day	Grams of fat
1500	50
1800	60
2000	67
2400	80
2700	90

6. Go for a walk. You'll not only burn fat but also feel more energetic and improve your cardiovascular system. You'll also increase your "good" HDL cholesterol even if you just stroll rather than walk at a fast clip.

7. Drink six to eight glasses of water daily whether you're thirsty or not.

8. Eat a variety of fiber-rich foods, including whole grain breads and cereals, fruits and vegetables, beans and nuts. A high fiber diet helps prevent and treat constipation and may also ward off gastrointestinal disorders.

9. Check the ingredients lists on food labels for sodium-containing items such as baking powder, baking soda, monosodium glutamate, sodium benzoate, sodium caseinate, sodium citrate, sodium nitrite, sodium phosphate, sodium propionate, and sodium saccharin. The higher they are on the list, the more sodium a food is likely to have. Processed foods contain 80% of the sodium in our diets.

10. Pump iron. Physical fitness as well as weight maintenance. Combined with aerobic exercise, strength training builds considerable amount of muscle, which requires more calories to sustain itself than body fat. Iron pumpers burn extra calories and therefore can eat more without gaining weight.

Sheriff's Report

It was a bit like the Old West.

People in Lincoln were a bit worried Memorial Day about a man who was walking around town carrying a gun. A deputy responded and the situation was handled.

The following information was taken from dispatch records in the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office in Carrizozo.

May 26:
 4:46 p.m. Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority reported six dumpsters in Palo Verde Slopes subdivision were full of building materials and the same person was dumping similar materials in the nearby forest. A deputy responded, but was unable to make contact with the subject. An investigation continues.

5:50 p.m. a grass fire was reported on the I Bar X ranch, near Water Canyon. Carrizozo Fire Dept. responded and extinguished the fire, about 1 and a half acres in size. New Mexico State Forestry (NMSF) was advised of the fire.

May 27:
 10:47 a.m. Corona ambulance advised it was making a run.

5:10 p.m. search and rescue teams requested the sheriff's department generator.

5:12 p.m. trespassers were reported about one-half mile from White Oaks. The responding deputy talked with the trespassers and advised all was okay. The deputy ran the five subjects' license numbers.

5:40 p.m. an audible alarm sounded at an Alto area residence. The responding deputy ran the license plate of the vehicle at the house, and it turned out the people were the family of the owner and all was okay.

10:05 p.m. items were reported stolen from a vehicle parked at Fort Stanton campground, while the owner was at the falls. An investigation continues.

11:21 p.m. an accident without injuries involving a deer and vehicle was reported at the intersection of Hull Road and Gavilan Canyon. The responding deputy advised it was no accident, instead involved a four-wheeler and pick-up and old mattress under the truck.

May 28:
 12:58 p.m. an alarm sounded at a San Patricio residence. At 1:25 p.m. the responding deputy advised the house was secure and the alarm was reset.

1:43 p.m. a three-vehicle accident was reported about five miles north of Carrizozo on Highway 54. The first report was three of five people were possibly injured. When Carrizozo police arrived he advised there were no injuries.

2:17 p.m. a breaking and entering was reported in Sierra Vista Estates. A deputy took evidence to the county sub-office.

4:53 p.m. someone broke into a house off Highway 37, about milepost 4. Nothing was apparently missing.

10:25 p.m. a minor accident without injuries was reported at an auto parts shop in Capitan. The car had lost a tire and the owner needed a report.

11:45 p.m. a person walked into the sheriff's office with her very sick son and wanted the local physician's assistant. The person was advised to take the sick child to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso.

May 29:

12:35 a.m. trespassers were reported in the Arabella area. A woman returning home found a pickup with a man and woman in her driveway. The complainant got the couple's attention and requested they move onto forest land and advised them they were trespassing on private land. The subjects did leave but were very rude and used extreme profanity.

11:53 p.m. a loud party was reported at an RV park near Ruidoso. A warning was given to tone it down, which they did. The owner of the mobile home was notified of his responsibilities.

May 30:

Capitan Fire Dept. responded as some 75 gallons of gasoline spilled during the accident. NMSF and a deputy also responded.

2:56 p.m. a shot antelope was found on Carrizozo golf course. The responding deputy advised that the Game and Fish officer requested a Carrizozo police officer come to the golf course concerning the antelope and the officer had authorization to put down the animal if necessary.

3:04 p.m. a person reported her brother missing. The subject was entered into the National Crime Information Computer, but was taken off when he was located at Organ Pass.

6:58 p.m. a fight was in progress at a convenience store in Carrizozo. A drunken woman, Rita Baldonado, 36, was arrested.

9:12 p.m. an ambulance was requested to come to the Ancho area where a small girl was injured from a fall from a horse. The people called back and advised they were taking the girl to Mountainair. Later they called again and advised they were in Carrizozo. Carrizozo ambulance met the people and transported the girl to LCMC.

9:22 p.m. a loud party was reported in the Alto area. Two callers from different locations reported the same loud party, but were unable to determine the location of the party because the sound was reflecting off the lake. "We can hear it, but can't get to it," advised the responding deputies, who were still looking for the party. The officers never located the party, but by 11:22 p.m. all was quiet.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS CLIPBOARD

A weekly school column from Carrizozo Municipal Schools that serves as a bridge to parents, businesses and community groups who welcome knowing more about their school. News about student, staff, and board members will be highlighted.

ADVICE TO UNDER-CLASSMEN

Bryan Turnbow, valedictorian at the May 21 commencement exercises at Carrizozo Schools, gave his speech in the form of a letter to his brother, Cody, who begins high school in the fall. He tells his sibling what to expect in coming school years. Turnbow's advice was made public, he said, so that other underclassmen might benefit from it also. Turnbow went on to tell students of Carrizozo High that they will go far in the world and have happiness in it, if they have the desire to achieve their goals, and work towards them while being a good person along the way.

Turnbow graduated with a 4.1 grade point average, was active in National Honor Society and Student Council and was treasurer for his class. He was a USAA All American Scholar, and a Who's Who recipient in academics and sports. He played basketball and golf all four years, receiving many honors. He plans to continue his education at the University of New Mexico and hopes to become a pharmacist.

'Heart' was the message Scot Brown, salutatorian addressed to underclassmen. "Heart will get through the bad times and Heart will make you strive for perfection.

Heart will let you love, and Heart will keep your spirits up." He told his fellow classmates that they have accomplished many goals, however, they still have many more goals to set and reach. Brown graduated with a 4.08 grade point average. He was president of the Student Body and National Honor Society, received recognition in Who's Who and placed second in the state science fair. Brown will continue his education at the University of New Mexico in the field of nuclear medicine.

The seniors chose Gabriel Papponi, history and special education teacher as their guest speaker for graduation. He was born in a town outside of Venice, Italy. He came to the U.S. when he was six years old, attended public schools and college in New York City. He graduated from the City College of New York in 1964 and later received his masters in social studies education. Papponi has been teaching for 30 years, three in Carrizozo.

BAND BOOSTERS

This past Tuesday, the Band Boosters held a bake sale at United New Mexico, with proceeds to be used for a July 20 trip. Band members have made plans to attend the Enchantment Brass Drum Corps Show in Albuquerque. May 22 band director Richard Brown was in Alamogordo to meet with area directors to discuss upcoming festival dates featuring large groups, solo and ensemble performances.

PROGRAM UPDATE

The summer program sponsored by CASA which was to begin this week will begin June 21. The hours, according to Dorsey Glover, are on a come and go plan which means that children do not have to be there for four hours. They can show up during the time set for the program (10 a.m. to 2 p.m.)

and leave after completion of the activity of their choice.

MORE AWARDS

Teachers Bryan Wetzel and Ruby Armstrong gave all 5th and 6th grade students certificates for accomplishment in their particular area of strength. The following students also received the following recognition: Most Improved 5th-Cody Whitfield, James Vermilion; 6th-Elizabeth Avila. Citizenship Award 5th-Tara Cluff, Bryan Hightower; 6th-Briton Goad, Eli Avila. Academic Awards: 5th-Molly Hightower, Robert Shafer, Renee Rael, Tara Cluff, Libby Sambrano; 6th grade-Cara Baker, Andrew Wynham. Best Listener Award-Ryan Roper.

SENIOR TRIP

Sponsors going on the senior trip with 18 graduates were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Serna, Superintendent Jimmie Banks, Bryan Wetzel and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luecke, parents of German exchange student and graduate, Kerstin. The group went to California where they visited Six Flags Magic Mountain, Corona del Mar Beach, and the Hard Rock Cafe with its collection of rock and roll memorabilia and down-home American food. A highlight of the trip was a visit to Catalina Islands. Activities included a scenic bus tour, shopping and snorkeling. Disneyland by day was enjoyed.

A tour of Universal Studios provided amazing scenes from 'Backdraft' where they felt the heat as a firestorm exploded; faced the wrath of a 30-foot King Kong; experienced a flashflood, an earthquake, avalanche and accompanied E.T. on a bike ride. Seniors James Smith, Cory Collins and Chad Patterson boldly went where no classmate had gone before. They starred in a live Star Trek adventure and brought home a video to prove it. Fair maidens and knights in shining armor were seen at a Medieval Times banquet and tournament.
