

Friends Of Smokey Coordinator Proposal Causes Many Concerns

by Doris Cherry

Friends of Smokey will conduct a special meeting at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 28 to again consider a coordinator's proposal by Ruidoso News.

Ten people attended the regular Friends meeting September 13, held in Capitan. The major business considered was a coordinator's proposal offered by Ruidoso News. Some concerns were raised about the proposal, mainly the $350 a month for a part time person from January to August 1994, plus expenses; the coordination by the newspaper for the entire advertising budget might leave out other local media, such as the Lincoln County News, which has given FOS support since it began; the focal point would be in Ruidoso, not Capitan, where the Smokey Bear celebration will be held; and the filling of Friends product orders, which a newspaper could not do.

Friends of Smokey will have access to the $10,000 appropriation from the New Mexico State Legislature for the Smokey Bear celebration, and recently received $5,000 from the Ruidoso Downs Lodgers' Tax committee. Some of the lodgers' taxes have already been committed. The Village of Capitan received and signed the contract from the state for the $10,000 for advertising and promotion. FOS will submit canceled checks through the village for reimbursement. Other restrictions will also apply on the state funding.

FOS treasurer Gordon Ross suggested an alternative to the Ruidoso News proposal was to contact Teresa Engelking who has contracted the village owned Smokey Bear Museum in Capitan to act as a reception and information person, then leave the publicity and advertising to the FOS volunteers. That would keep the focal point in Capitan, would provide a location from which to package and ship FOS products and also would lend support to the museum.

Discussion was all advertising costs could come from the $14,000 available, and possibly the cost of the coordi-

Capitan Board of Trustees appointed Tony Cano as chief of police at the regular village meeting Sept. 13.

Cano comes to the village from his retirement as chief of security at Western New Mexico University in Silver City.

Trustees also approved two ordinances, after conducting public hearings prior to the regular meeting. Ordinance 93-14 amended a 1991 ordinance which created three large tracts of land in Mesa Verde Acres and prohibited the subdivision of the tracts. Ordinance 93-14 will allow Tract 3, specifically lots 11 and 12, to be replatted for Glen and Betty King.

Village planning and zoning commission recommended the property be allowed to be subdivided because of hardship to the owners. The property included a mobile home, which had been placed over a lot line that was not physically marked on the land. As a result the Kings could not get a clear title to the property.

Village attorney Bob Beauvais said the ordinance which will re-establish lot 7 was for a "good, specific reason, and not a replat of all lots."

Ordinance 93-15, annexing Tracts 66, 67 and 68 of Mesa Verde Acres, also was ap-

State Considers Roswell A Lincoln County Community

By RUTH HAMMOND

When residents/clients with developmental disabilities are forced to leave their home at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School several things are SUPPOSED to happen, including having a case manager to try to help make the attempt at community living successful.

The New Mexico Health Department promised parents of children with developmental disabilities that case managers would be in every community where a client would live and work.

According to the letter sent to parents of children with developmental disabilities from the New Mexico Health Department, the case management agency must be selected from the community to which the client will be moving. A seven-page list of case management agencies is included with the letter.

The list has only one case management agency to serve Lincoln County, and that case management agency is in Roswell.

Perhaps the New Mexico Health Department has changed county lines.

According to the New Mexico highway map printed in 1992 and issued by the New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department and New Mexico Department of Tourism, Roswell is in Chaves County just east of Lincoln County.

A picture of Governor Bruce King with his "Welcome to the great State of New Mexico" message is printed on the reverse side of the map.

Perhaps Gov. King should explain to the citizens of Lincoln County how Roswell can be considered a community in Lincoln County even though it is shown on the map as being in Chaves County.

This situation is causing problems for parents of children with developmental disabilities. The promise made to the parents was that case managers would be in the community where the client would live, in order to be close enough to handle the emergencies which WILL happen when the client cannot adjust to community living.

Another promise the state made to parents is that all costs of the transition to community living will be paid by the state.

Perhaps Gov. King and New Mexico Health Department secretary Michael Burkhart could explain how the state will pay all costs when it is the parents who must contact the case management agency in another county.

Canyon CowBelles Host Legislative Ranch Tour

The Canyon CowBelles hosted a Legislative Ranch Tour Sept. 11 in Lincoln County. The event was a joint effort with Corriente CowBelles of Capitan providing the ditty bags filled with ranching information, and Crown CowBelles of Corona furnished the door prizes.

The Ranch Tour was to lend an insight to the issues concerning New Mexico lands, and the impact on cities and surrounding areas.

Senator Ann Riley of Albuquerque was the only state legislator who attended. Other officials attending were Poe Corn from US Senator Pete Domenici's office in Roswell, Lincoln County Commissioners Stirling Spencer and Ray Nunley, Carrizozo Trustee Eileen Lovelace, and state CowBelle president Inez Marrs.

The day began with registration and a welcome by CowBelle president Rosemary Shafer and Carrizozo Trustee Eileen Lovelace.

The first stop of the tour was the Cox Ranch on Nogal Mesa. Visitors heard presentations regarding forest land use, soil conservation practices, and protected animals on range land.

After lunch prepared by Canyon CowBelles, presentations were given regarding the importance of agriculture to Lincoln County.

Stirling Spencer spoke about the importance of agriculture to the economic base of Lincoln County.

He explained that agriculture had made a tremendous impact on Lincoln County. The people who purchase Lincoln County products are

Street Paving To Begin This Week

by Ruth Hammond

Carrizozo Trustee Harold Garcia has been appointed by the town of Carrizozo to serve on the Capitan Carrizozo Natural Gas Association board of directors. The decision to appoint Garcia was made at the Sept. 14 Carrizozo Town Council meeting.

During the meeting trustees also discussed the street improvement project. Steve Williams and Alan Rose, from Dennis Engineering, said paving is scheduled to begin this week.

Hubert Quintana, of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District (SENMEDD) in Roswell, gave suggestions for change order requests to be submitted to Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) officials.

The street improvement projects are being funded by CDBG and a state legislative appropriation. Lincoln County agreed to pay for the paving of Third and Fourth Avenues next to the courthouse. The town is paying its share with gasoline tax money.

Aspenfest In Ruidoso Begins Next Weekend

The first weekend in October has traditionally been a weekend to welcome fall and visitors to the Ruidoso Valley mountains. This year, in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the "birth" of Smokey Bear found in the Lincoln National Forest in 1950, the theme will be "Smokey and the Nifty-Fifties." It begins on Friday night, Oct. 1 with a Street Dance at Schoolhouse Park on Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso. Designed for the whole family, there will be food and soft drinks, as well as live music.

Saturday, Oct. 2, there will be a parade down Sudderth Drive from the intersection of Mechem Drive with our own Smokey as this year's Grand Marshall. There will be many Shrine Club entries, floats, school bands, kids with their pets and riding bikes, and plenty of horses!

Activities throughout town will include Ruidoso Gymnastics Arts & Crafts Fair, the New Mexico State Chili Cook-off, Run to Ruidoso Hot Rod & Classic Car Show, the Marching Band Festival at W. D. Horton Stadium (1 p.m. Saturday) as well as a street festival with various vendors up and down Sudderth.

For further information call Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, 257-7395 or 1-800-253-2255.

Carrizozo Chamber Of Commerce Office Is No Smoking Area

No smoking will be allowed in the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce building. Members made the decision at the Sept. 14 meeting. Members were also told that Doris Cherry resigned as corresponding secretary.

New officers will be elected in October. The nominating committee will be chamber president Mary Lou Webster, Aileen Lindamood, Rene Burton and Ruth Hammond. Nominations will be presented at the October 12 meeting.

Fun And Fitness Walk In Ruidoso

America's fastest growing sport - fun and fitness walking - is coming to the Ruidoso area this coming weekend with the Ruidoso Mountainmarchers non-competitive, Fun and Fitness Walk, September 25 and 26 at the Westlake Campground on the edge of Bonito Lake.

Walkers, joggers and runners will be coming from all over the southwest to cover the 6.2 mile "Volksmarch" trail on the banks of the west fork of the Bonito River.

The Bonito area is particularly spectacular as the colorful aspen leaves near their peak on this lovely late September weekend.

The walking event lasts from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on either day, and registration will be held at the ENMU-Ruidoso office prior to Saturday, or on the days of the event at the Westlake Campground.

Wildflowers, changing aspen, old orchards and wildlife are but a few of the delightful sights walkers will be able to enjoy. For more information, call 257-2120 or 257-3168.

Coordinator Concerns

nator. Tami Montes, advertising representative for Ruidoso News commented on the concerns. She would coordinate the publicity aspect of the celebration from now until January. Then a part time person would be hired, and Montes would oversee that person who would have general reporting skills. The coordinator would have use of the Ruidoso News' facilities, but would be an FOS employee and only do FOS work.

While Ruidoso News would coordinate the ad budget, FOS would have the final approval on where advertising would be placed. Montes said with Ruidoso News' expertise, ads would be camera ready. Also she would ask for nonprofit advertising rates for FOS, and make sure the publication has the circulation to warrant spending advertising money.

Mainly, Ruidoso News would be able to get the ads to the appropriate media on time.

After discussion about where the money would come from to finance the coordinator salary, Montes said she would meet with the Ruidoso Downs Lodgers' Tax committee to find out if the grant could be used toward the coordinator's salary.

Another comment about the coordinator position was FOS needed to solicit proposals from other sources. Montes was questioned whether the Ruidoso News coordinator would speak before groups, but Montes said that was not part asked of the proposal.

FOS members voted on a motion to have Montes represent FOS at the Lodgers' Tax Committee concerning the coordinator's position funding, then meet at 1 p.m. Sept. 28 to review the Ruidoso News proposal and make a decision. Members agreed FOS could not afford to wait more than 30 days to get the paid publicity out for 1994 events. Already many requests are coming into the Smokey Bear Park from magazine and newspaper writers requesting information on Smokey and his celebration. Modern Maturity, the AARP magazine, also made a written request for information. Members seriously joked about getting Smokey inducted into the AARP, since he will meet some of the AARP criteria, including being 50 years old.

Members also voted to seek bids on the various FOS items such as t-shirts, patches and so on, now being produced by Noisy Water Artwear in Ruidoso. The bids will request a price amount per item.

Noisy Water proprietor Rick Riddle, who is president of FOS, expressed interest in stockpiling the FOS items, since he has a larger location now. No one in Ruidoso is selling Smokey Bear items, even though Smokey's 50th is the theme of this year's Aspenfest Parade and Smokey is grand marshal, Riddle said.

FOS members agreed that FOS items need to be stockpiled, especially before next year. However, the FOS budget will limit the items kept on hand. The state funding, nor Lodgers' Tax are permitted to be used for items for retail sales.

Members also unanimously voted to put $500 into t-shirts to be sold during the Aspenfest activities the first weekend of October. A new design will be reviewed at the special Sept. 28 meeting.

Howard Shanks was put in charge of some type of entry for FOS into the Apescade Parade Oct. 2.

Members also voted to have a FOS booth, with FOS items for sale, at the 1994 Engine Operators Workshop to be held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods in Mescalero after Easter in 1994.

FOS was to be represented at the State Fair in Albuquerque at the New Mexico State Forestry Booth. No sales items, however, were permitted in the booth. Post cards, featuring the original Smokey artwork commissioned for Friends of Smokey and a list of Smokey 1994 activities nationwide, was distributed by the U.S. Forest Service.

All FOS members are urged to attend the special September 28 meeting to vote on the coordinator's proposal.

State Considers

People without a telephone are at a distinct disadvantage. Parents who have a phone but limit their long distance calls because of the expense are at a disadvantage. Even though the state promised the state would pay all costs for the child's transition to the community, this is not happening.

Perhaps Sec. Burkhardt could explain why his department promises one thing and delivers another.

Parents are notified they have 20 days in which to select a case management agency. One parent called the case management agency in Roswell on Saturday evening and was told the agency would return the call on Monday. At press time Wednesday evening the agency had not returned the call.

Perhaps Sec. Burkhardt could explain why the only case management agency serving Lincoln County refuses to return calls to parents of children with developmental disabilities.

Perhaps this is another way the state can take away the rights of the parents in making decisions that will affect their child's life because the letter sent by the New Mexico Department of Health states that if the parents do not make a selection, the state is authorized to make the choice for you.

Clients with developmental disabilities need the best care they can possibly get and Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School provides this care. Now the state is forcing these clients to leave Fort Stanton and move to the community.

Perhaps Burkhardt could explain why the state is breaking promises made to parents. Perhaps Burkhardt could explain why the state feels it has the right to make choices for clients which are against the wishes of the parents.

Perhaps this is the next step toward the state taking away the rights of not only parents of children with developmental disabilities but taking away the rights of all parents.

Spencer said sheep and cattle country is better than it was before due to management, fencing, rotation of use of the land, and learning about the land.

Spencer also told about the need for coyote control. When coyotes were not controlled the number of antelope decreased. He stressed that coyote control was not the same as eradication.

Scott Shafer, president of United New Mexico Bank in Carrizozo, spoke about the value of agriculture to the financial community in general.

Shafer said an increase in grazing fees would affect the ranchers and have far-reaching effects.

He explained how the grazing fee formula changes in relation to other costs.

Shafer also said if the ranchers cannot afford to continue it will effect other businesses in the community such as feed and hardware store, grocery stores, equipment stores, etc.

Senator Riley mentioned that the coyote is considered a symbol of New Mexico. It was explained that it would be impossible to eradicate coyotes but there is a need to control them.

The next stop on the tour was the Black Hills Ranch (BLM Land). Presentations there were economics of BLM vs private land use, animal damage control, and wolf reintroduction.

Refreshments were served to visitors when they returned to Carrizozo for a question and answer period.

Shafer also said if the ranchers cannot afford to continue it will effect other businesses in the community such as feed and hardware store, grocery stores, equipment stores, etc.

Senator Riley mentioned that the coyote is considered a symbol of New Mexico. It was explained that it would be impossible to eradicate coyotes but there is a need to control them.

The next stop on the tour was the Black Hills Ranch (BLM Land). Presentations there were economics of BLM vs private land use, animal damage control, and wolf reintroduction.

Refreshments were served to visitors when they returned to Carrizozo for a question and answer period.

Transportation to the tour sites was provided by the CowBelles.

usually out of the county while the money is brought back to be spent in Lincoln County.

Spencer said sheep and cattle country is better than it was before due to management, fencing, rotation of use of the land, and learning about the land.

Spencer also told about the need for coyote control. When coyotes were not controlled the number of antelope decreased. He stressed that coyote control was not the same as eradication.

Scott Shafer, president of United New Mexico Bank in Carrizozo, spoke about the value of agriculture to the financial community in general.

Shafer said an increase in grazing fees would affect the ranchers and have far-reaching effects.

He explained how the grazing fee formula changes in relation to other costs.

proved. P&Z also recommended the approval because of the hardship to the property owners. During P&Z's review members thought the owner had been misled by realtors who said the lots included city utilities. While P&Z did not favor annexation, members felt this time was a hardship case, said village clerk Deborah Cummins.

Trustees put limitations on the annexation, and allowed only one water tap for each tract. The owners agreed to that stipulation, since they planned to have only one mobile on each tract.

The final 1993-94 village budget was approved, with changes made to the village's tentative budget by the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration. One significant change was due to a "goof" which mayor Frank Warth said he made on the wastewater line item. "I just put in the wrong numbers," Warth said.

Teresa Engelking's contract for lease of the Smokey Bear museum was finalized. The negotiated lease language was acceptable to both Engelking and the village. It protects the village with specific terms and addresses problems, Beauvais said. The beginning date for the contract was set retroactive to September 2, at the former contractor's request. Trustees unanimously approved the amended contract.

St. Theresa Fiesta Is October 2

The annual Fiesta of St. Theresa in Corona on Oct. 2 will feature the Santa Rita dancers of Carrizozo and the singing of Mariposa Sanchez from Vaughn.

The Fiesta Mass will be at 2 p.m., with Mike and Josie Alirez, Melvin and Ester Johnson, Michael and Mitze Alirez, and Henry and Beatrice Chavez installed as Major Doms for the coming year. The choirs of Corona and Encino will sing at the Mass.

Following the Mass there will be a Fiesta Dinner at the Corona Schools, $4 for adults and $2 for children. The Santa Rita dancers of Carrizozo and the singing of Mariposa Sanchez from Vaughn will follow the dinner.

The Fiesta Dance from 8 p.m. to midnight in the Corona High School gym will feature music by Abe and the Playboys.

Once again the liquidation of the village's old coop building is on hold. Warth had solicited proposals for sale, lease or rent of the building which was advertised. Warth, holding a bunch of unopened proposals in his hand, asked the trustees to reject all unopened and readvertise soliciting proposals for sale only. The proposals then would be opened September 27 during a special meeting.

Warth said he had solicited the original proposals to see what he would get, but realized it would not be a fair comparison. Beauvais said any amount would have to be fair market value.

Then trustees had a discussion about the fair market value of the building, since it is under a transmission electric line. If the building is torn down, another cannot be constructed on the lot. Beauvais suggested setting the price based on realtors' advice. Normally a property would be appraised to determine the fair market value, but the cost of an appraisal could cost as much as the building was worth.

Finally, trustees voted to reject all bids and readvertise the property for sale, with a minimum price. "We've been through this before and been turned down," trustee Gilbert Montoya said.

Karen Kopp, executive director of Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County asked trustees if the village would provide any incentives to a potential business. Incentives include waiving of property taxes or lease of village property. While Warth would give no "carte blanche" financial commitment from the village, he and the trustees agreed to be open to the idea.

Final inspection on the constructed wetlands project, financed by Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds, was made by the engineering firm. The wetlands, an alternative waste water treatment system utilizing plants which clean wastewater as it travels through a trench system, is filling up. The wetlands will be fenced.

The other village CDBG project for installation of fire hydrants is going well. Some 20 of the hydrants have been installed in the subdivisions with eight left. After those are completed, the hydrants downtown will be replaced. Village water supervisor Terry Cox said Hideaway Hills subdivision will be without water one more time.

The subject will be discussed at the September 27 special meeting, at Montoya's request.

A resident complained about the fire hydrant project tearing up recently improved village roads. Also she asked that advance notice be given to residents about the water being shut off.

Trustee Gordon Ross was reappointed to the Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Users Association. Dr. David Rouleau was reappointed to the Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association Board.

The village trustees will conduct a special public hearing at 6:30 p.m. Monday, September 27, followed by a special meeting at 7 p.m. to consider an ordinance to repledge the village's special environmental gross receipts taxes toward the financing of a regional landfill.

Trinity Site Will Be Open Sat., October 2

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M.—Trinity Site, where the world's first atomic bomb was exploded in 1945, will be open to the public on Saturday, Oct. 2. The National Historic Landmark is open twice a year, on the first Saturday in April and October.

Trinity is located on the northern end of the 3,200-square mile White Sands Missile Range, N.M. between the towns of Carrizozo and Socorro, New Mexico. For the upcoming Trinity Site tour there will be ways of entering the restricted missile range.

Visitors can enter through the range's Stallion Range Center which is five miles south of Highway 380. The turnoff is 12 miles east of San Antonio, N.M. and 53 miles west of Carrizozo, N.M. The Stallion gate will be open from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Visitors arriving at the gate between those hours will receive handouts and will be allowed to drive unescorted the 17 miles to Trinity Site. The road is paved and marked.

The second way of entering the missile range is by travelling with a caravan sponsored by the Alamogordo, N.M. Chamber of Commerce. The caravan forms at the Otero County Fairgrounds in Alamogordo and leaves at 8 a.m. Visitors entering this way will travel as an escorted group with military police to and from Trinity Site. The drive is 170 miles roundtrip and there are no service station facilities on the missile range. The caravan is scheduled to leave Trinity Site at 1 p.m. for the return to Alamogordo.

Cameras are allowed at Trinity Site but their use is strictly prohibited anywhere else on White Sands Missile Range.

Trinity Site consists of ground zero where the atomic bomb was placed on a 100-foot steel tower and exploded on July 16, 1945 and the McDonald ranch house where the world's first plutonium core for a bomb was assembled. The crater resulting from the explosion has been filled in and a small monument now marks the spot. The missile range provides historical photos and a Fat Man bomb casing for display at ground zero. There are no ceremonies or speakers.

Limited food and drink items will be on sale at the site as well as a variety of mementos.

For information contact the missile range Public Affairs Office at (505) 678-1184/1700.

Looking Through The Fence

Something Funny In Lines

By MICHAEL McKIM SWICKARD
Lincoln County News Columnist

Recently I was standing in a line. It was the usual kind of line. No one was speaking—each person barricaded in their own world of misery, crunching antacids, trying not to snarl too viciously at the other people in line, but secretly wishing the other line-standers would all have a massive heart attack so the survivors could step carefully over the fallen bodies and move to the head of the line.

The air conditioner in the building had "gone south" and the temperature hovered a hundred degrees above the human sweat point. Standing in line had all of the charm and enjoyment of mucking out a goat shed on a hot humid summer afternoon.

It was Friday, 4:45 p.m. The sign said closing time was 5 p.m. For the first minute I just stood watching. You would think that with the computer age, lines should be a thing of the past. But I guess no matter what happens to our world, we will still have two things—lines to stand in and cockroaches to step on.

While standing there someone walked up, looked carefully at a piece of paper and then stared worriedly at the sign in front of the line. He started to leave, wavered, almost spoke aloud to himself and finally stood looking at the paper again. He felt uncertain as to where he should be and fearful of being in the wrong line. Also, he seemed angry that whatever he wanted to know was not easy to find.

At last, with an air of complete hopelessness and resignation, he stuck the paper in his pocket, sighed heavily and stepped into line having decided it was the wrong line but he was going to have to wait until he got to the front of this line to find out which line he really should have been standing in, and that 5 p.m. would find him in the correct line, but they were going to close the window.

I felt a trickle of sweat run down the small of my back. It was more than hot. I turned to him and said, matter-of-factly, "I wouldn't mind these lines if it wasn't for all of this waiting."

The effect on the people in line was immediate. They smiled. It was probably the first smile seen in that line all day.

It was an important smile because I also smiled and my need for a combination aspirin/antacid/valium was relieved. Like the air rushing out of a punctured balloon, the tension in the line vanished and people started talking to each other. It was an important lesson.

There are some universal truths about sane existence.

The first truth is that you cannot stand in line with people that are on edge, ill-tempered and full of anger without having them affect you. Likewise, if person after person steps to the front of the line surly, grumpy and full of bile, it has to rub off on the person behind the window until they become surly, grumpy and full of bile—they are no less human than we are.

Soon rather than later, they will hand that mouthful of bile right back to someone in the line, forming a very destructive cycle that follows those involved into their personal lives in the form of dog-kicking, aggressive driving and bleeding ulcers.

The way out of this dilemma of destructive behavior is to talk to the people around you in line. It's as simple as that. They aren't doing anything else anyway and it is a tension reliever.

Try a little humor if you like: I hear the Governor just flew in from Santa Fe to talk to the County Commission. I'll just bet his arms are tired."

Or, "Take my kids—please!"

And, "How many psychology students at college does it take to change a light bulb? One, but the bulb has to want to change."

I've always thought a business that would go over well would be a good-humor service. Several times a day someone would step into each office and jolly everyone up with a few snappy comedy routines from one of Bob Orben's latest books. It would lower the stress levels and we would all live happily ever after or until the next time we have to file income taxes, whichever came first.

Seriously, while standing in lines to pay bills, get loans, ask simple questions, ask hard questions, ask those unanswerable questions; just whatever you are doing in lines, take your sense of humor with you. Be gentle, I may be in the same line.

Also if you can't bring yourself to laugh, then at least smile, even if you have heard my newest joke, like: "I understand the NMSU football team is so tough that when they play horseshoes, they don't bother taking the shoes off of the horses." MS

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—When the state is rolling in dough, it's not as easy to collect every last dollar that's due. But tax boss Dick Minzner is going to try anyway.

Minzner, cabinet secretary of the state Taxation and Revenue Department, has been a strong advocate of strict enforcement of tax laws since the days when he chaired the House Taxation and Revenue Committee. Rep. Minzner asked a lot of questions in those days about why the state's tax collectors didn't get tougher.

So it seemed logical for Gov. Bruce King to tap Minzner for the thankless job back in December of 1990.

The Albuquerque attorney has tackled his assignment with enthusiasm—going after one sacred cow after another with no apparent concern about his own future in politics. Minzner left the Legislature in 1990 to seek the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

Soon after assuming his tax post, Minzner went after non-profit organizations that raised money for charitable work in their communities. Collection of gross receipts tax from such groups seldom had been pushed because the earnings from bake sales, car washes, etc. were plowed back into community services that probably would have consumed state tax money otherwise.

But Minzner noted it was the Legislature and not the tax department that was in charge of making such judgement calls.

The personal property line on property tax forms soon became another Minzner target. Appraisal of such items was difficult so no great effort had ever been made to enforce collection. But Minzner promptly began sending notices to businesses estimating the value of their office furniture, etc. and allowing them to provide more accurate appraisal, if desired.

Since Inside the Capitol's assets are relatively modest, I didn't bother adjusting Minzner's figures on my form. A few months later, my taxes were automatically adjusted downward anyway. But I'm now paying a tax I hadn't paid before.

Next it was a collection of gross receipts tax on vendors at Santa Fe's annual Indian Market. Minzner was told the political and tourism implications would be devastating. But he pointed out that vendors at Santa Fe's Fiesta, Albuquerque's Balloon Fiesta, Deming's Duck Races, and every county fair in the state comply with the requirement. It took him a year, but this summer Minzner's troops made Indian Market collections.

Then Minzner took on the compensating tax. That's the sales taxes owed on transactions such as mail order purchases from out of state and purchases of items to be resold but which later are converted to business use.

Lawmakers clipped Minzner's wings a little on the mail orders—something that doesn't bother him much since individuals have no form on which to file such taxes.

But businesses fill out a gross receipts tax return every month. And that form has a line on which to list items bought with non-taxable transaction certificates but which subsequently are not used for resale.

Examples Minzner lists are restaurants that feed their employees food bought for resale, computer firms that pull a machine out of the warehouse to use for keeping track of inventory, or a hardware store that pulls a light bulb out of stock to use in the business.

Minzner grants that some of these items may be pretty small, "but they all fill out a form every month that asks for such information."

How is Minzner going to catch firms that ignore the line on their monthly gross receipts tax report? He'll look at other companies in the same business. If one firm lists ineligible transactions and pays a compensating tax but another in the same business doesn't, Minzner's minions will be asking questions.

As Minzner sees it, it isn't much, but every little bit helps. The cumulation of all these little extra collections may be one of the factors leading to the excess revenue situation in which the state currently finds itself. And Minzner is glad to take credit for that.

The Other Side

By OWEN RUSSELL

I was gratuitously given an article out of some medical journal last week which from a tongue-in-cheek point of view told a story about a doctor who had adopted the format used by lawyers for billing. His lawyer had received a doctor bill from the author of the article for a proctoscopy examination in the amount of something over $1,500, and he was explaining to his patient how he arrived at the amount through using techniques developed in the legal profession. He first had decided since the lawyer charge $150 per hour and since he had four years of medical school as opposed to only three years of law school, his hourly rate should be $200. Then he listed the things he charged for, including reading a medical magazine (Reader's Digest?), discussing the procedure with a colleague, attending a seminar in Atlantic City, rubber gloves expenses, conferring with the nursing staff, entertaining the administrator of the hospital, and 25 hours for preparing the bill. He then suggested to the lawyer that the procedure made so much sense that he ought to copyright and franchise it, and asked the lawyer for an appointment to discuss the details. Apparently they don't teach you in medical school that when you steal the chocolate pie from Aunt Nellie's window ledge, you should take it all and not just the whipped cream. His request for an appointment at that juncture was a clear violation of Principle Number Six of the Code of Forensic Economics which provides that upon the trading of professional services, thou shalt not determine your price prior to discovery of your opponent's charge. This triggers the employment of the concept of compensating balances in a manner only your banker would understand. "Let he who intends to provide the free service cast the first stone."

I have a friend who is in the extermination business, and I am proud to say that our conversation at lunch is somewhat more palatable than that which I used to experience when I ate lunch with the man who serviced septic tanks for a living. A blow-by-blow account of his latest escapades in the effluent industry was not particularly encouraging to the appetite. Oh, well, I guess I should be thankful fate hasn't handed me a forensic pathologist for a culinary associate. Talking about bugs ain't so bad as long as you don't pay too much attention to the raisins in the pudding.

If you think this isn't an educational column, please note that I have already used the word "forensic" twice and I don't even know what it means.

Forensic adj. characteristic of, or suitable for a law court, public debate or formal argument. In other words, it describes the technique of placing one duck directly in front of or behind the others. If the conversation is of a forensic nature, the sum total of the knowledge required on the subject is shared in the minds of those who participate. (i.e., Bill knows about biscuits, John knows about gravy, Fred can handle a salt shaker, and Pete lifted the cherry pie from Aunt Martha, and the combination thereof produces a culinary nightmare, or as they say in California, "a shared experience". Aunt Nellie's chocolate pie was the subject of an earlier conversation and

Grazing Comments Due Next Month

Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt announced today that he has extended for an additional 30 days the scoping period for the draft environmental impact statement (EIS) that will accompany regulatory changes for livestock grazing on Bureau of Land Management public lands. "I am making this second 30-day extension of the scoping period because of a request from Governor Bob Miller of Nevada, on behalf of the Western governors," Secretary Babbitt said. "My friends the Western governors feel that their constituents haven't been given enough time to evaluate the specifics of the reform proposal. I hear their concerns and the concerns of Western members of Congress on this same issue."

The 30-day extension would become effective on the date it is published in the Federal Register, and will end about October 17, 1993. Following analysis of all scoping comments, the Bureau of Land Management will publish draft regulations and a draft EIS, which will trigger another public comment period. Public meetings will also be held in each affected state during the comment period on the draft regulations and EIS. "Rangeland reform is too important to ignore the legitimate concerns of those who will work to implement it," Secretary Babbitt said. "I believe that once people read and understand this proposal, they will see that it is a fair deal for ranchers and for American taxpayers who own the public land."

At the same time, U.S. Department of Agriculture Assistant Secretary Jim Lyons announced that the Forest Service will also extend the scoping period on their Advanced Notices of Proposed Rulemaking for another 30 days, concurrent with the

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR—Free air fare by Uncle Sam is a bigtime status symbol in the nation's capital. The government owns 1,200 planes for uses of all sorts. These are civilian planes, but they may be used by military brass. The fleet cost more than $2 billion. Upkeep costs $800 million per year. Additionally, government agencies lease over 5,000 private planes each year at a cost of $100 million. Alas, there is more: The government operates its own airline, the 89th Airlift Wing. The 89th has some 6,000 employees servicing 25 planes and 19 helicopters. It costs more than a half a billion dollars per year. That's almost half a million a flight, or at least 20 times what it costs to travel by commercial airlines. The 89th is probably the most expensively operated airline in the world. The government won't release the figures revealing the number of passengers the 89th carries, but it is estimated to be around 10,000 per year. That would mean that cost per passenger is a soaring $25,000. This is one service that our bureaucrats can get along without. Let them fly coach like the rest of us. Better yet, let them stay home.

Community Action Proposals Sought

The New Mexico Community Foundation, an advocate for community work since 1980, is interested in learning about community projects. The Foundation is particularly interested in projects which reach underserved constituencies, which encourage community participation, and which are foresighted and responsible.

For criteria and guidelines, an application form or further information, contact the New Mexico Community Foundation, P.O. Box 149, Santa Fe, NM 87504 or call Sue Rundstrom, Program Director at 952-9521. The application deadline for the next grantmaking cycle is October 31, 1993.

Grants are open to non-profit organizations or community groups that are sponsored by a non-profit organization. First-time grant-seekers are encouraged to apply; individuals are not eligible to apply. Grants are generally small, in the $500-2,000 range, depending on the availability of funds and program needs. Grants for this next cycle will be awarded in January, 1994.

Areas of the Foundation's interest include, but are not limited to: community-based education and leadership development, community building and community concerns, collaborative efforts, cultural heritage, and rural economic development projects. The Foundation is looking for projects which assist communities in addressing issues in new and imaginative ways that will strengthen and enrich the quality of life of individuals and their communities.

Former Carrizozo Resident Asks For Family Information

Charles and Janet Greer Barnum of Sparks, Nevada were in town this past weekend visiting Everett and Linda Greer of Nogal. Charles and Janet are 1952 alumni of Carrizozo High School.

Charles is a genealogist who searched the Nogal, Angus, and White Oaks cemeteries for data of Bragg, Goats, Corn and Hinley families from 1880 to 1920.

Many families, including Zumwalt, Cain, Corn, Skinner, Greer, and others migrated from Texas to Lincoln County. Their children married to create a large pool of related families.

Charles needs any information of all these early Lincoln County families, including stories. "Even tiny amounts of information is valuable," Barnum said. Information can be sent to C. W. Barnum, 1068 Pinewood Dr., Sparks, NV 89434.

Barnum recently published a book about the Barnum, Greer, Rogers and Skinner families of Lincoln County. A copy is at the Alamogordo Library.

Short Fuses At School Board Meeting

by Doris Cherry

Carrizozo Board of Education meeting Tuesday, was short in duration, but contained short fuses on two different topics.

Bus contractor Everett Greer, frustrated with the rescheduling of his bus routes, submitted a letter of resignation. Greer recently took over the bus route from his wife Linda, who drove the Nogal route for a number of years.

And immediately after the board adjourned the 50-minute meeting, a concerned parent asked if the public would be allowed time to make comment. The meeting agenda did not include a specific item for public comment, board president Jan Barham noted. And according to new state laws, the board cannot add anything to the agenda at the meeting.

"We were told not to talk except during a certain section (of the agenda)," said parent Barbie Roper. "We did exactly as we were told."

Member Gary Hightower also questioned why there had been no public input on the agenda.

Wednesday Barham told THE NEWS that no one asked to be recognized during the meeting. "They have to at least raise their hand," Barham said.

Barham said for the last few meetings the board has been following its standing policy which says the public may address the board any time before adjournment. However, the public must asked to be recognized. "I can't read your mind," Barham said.

To be included on the agenda as a topic, a person must make request two weeks prior to the meeting. "They failed to (request)," Barham said.

The public comment section of the agenda was tried by the board for about two months, during a different superintendent's administration. "We tried the public input (as an agenda topic), but it was met with negativity," Barham said. As a result the board returned to the standing policy.

As for Roper's issue, Barham said Mrs. Roper will have to follow the chain of command.

Roper said Tuesday she followed the chain of command for her complaint. She filled out forms and talked with the appropriate school officials.

Roper told THE NEWS Wednesday she was surprised when she was not given time to speak during the meeting. She said she thought the issue would be either on the agenda or would be discussed during the public comment section. Roper said the issue has to do with the girls athletic program.

Also attending Tuesday's meeting was a Carrizozo High School student and two other parents who wanted to comment on the issue. They remained after the meeting to ask various board members why they were not heard.

Hightower defused the situation somewhat when he advised Mrs. Roper to request to be on the agenda of the September 29 special work session, Wednesday, Mrs. Roper said she has not decided if she will ask to be on the special work session agenda.

During the Tuesday meeting, the board scheduled a special work session for 7 p.m. Wednesday, September 29 to draft a transportation handbook that will serve as a guide for bus drivers. The policy will also set time frames for arrival and departure of buses. The board agreed to an arrival time beginning at 7:45 a.m. and the departure time at 3:40 p.m. The times will be incorporated in the draft of the transportation handbook.

The State Dept. of Transportation asked that the board develop the policy to let drivers know what is expected of them, said Barham.

Another short fuse burned out with Everett Greer, the Nogal bus contractor. The scheduling problem for the overcrowded Nogal bus route was discussed at the last board meeting, with no solution. Bayless sent the board a letter about a meeting he had with Greer and other bus contractor Steve Gore, where they tried to straighten out the bus scheduling situation. Suggestions were to have Gore transport some of the Greer bus students, or have Gore take over Greer's route and bus mortgage. At one point Greer had indicated he would resign.

Since then, Bayless said he found out that Greer did not want to resign.

But after Bayless said that, Greer slapped his letter of resignation on Bayless' table. "Steve (Gore) can just pay the note off on the bus and solve his problem and mine," Greer said.

Bayless replied that he was working with the state department on other options. "So not to force Everett to resign," Bayless said.

"You're the one with the problem of how the bus is run," Greer said to Bayless.

Bayless said he spoke with the state department transportation specialist who said Greer could "farm out" some of his passengers to another bus contractor.

"You can't farm out enough," Greer said. He went on to say that he had no hard feelings for the board, but he did not want to argue about the situation anymore. Then he left the school grounds.

In the Carrizozo District the individual bus drivers are also contractors, and must finance the purchase of their own buses. The district administers the salaries for bus contractors, which come from the New Mexico Department of Transportation, and are based on the number of miles the bus is driven to transport students.

Greer's bus routes had become so crowded he had to make two runs. By the time Greer's bus delivered the first group of students on the southeast side of Carrizozo, and then returned to school to pick up the Nogal students it was 3:40 p.m. A staff person must remain at the school until all children board the bus.

Bayless said the situation came about by not knowing what to do with the extra half hour of time of supervision for the kids on the Nogal bus. "I had no reason to force him to resign," Bayless said. "I was just trying to work out management problems."

The board, however, did not go along with Greer's intended resignation. Unanimously

Tigerettes To Host Volleyball Tournament

by Doris Cherry

The Capitan Lady Tigers varsity volleyball team lost its first match of the season, when it took second place in the Texico Roadrunner Tournament last weekend.

The Capitan girls lost to Dexter in the championship match, but made the Lady Demons play five games to earn the first place trophy. Scoring was 11-15, 13-15, 15-9, 15-8, 5-15.

Lady Tiger senior Anita Aldaz had 13 serves that ended in points during the championship match. Trycie Traylor served nine.

The girls defeated the Tatum and Loving varsity teams to get to the championship final Saturday. The Tatum match went four games: 12-15, 15-8, 15-11, 15-7. Amy Cline had 11 service points in the match, Traylor nine, Alma Lively five.

In the match with Loving, the Lady Tigers won in three games: 15-7, 15-13, 15-2. Amy Cline served 14 straight points in the final game, shutting out the Loving ladies. Stacy Gowen served the other point in the final game. Traylor had six total service points in the match.

Coach Pam Allen said the loss to Dexter has put the girls' record at 4-1. "We lost to a fine volleyball team," Allen said. "But we were more than capable of winning."

Allen said the girls are getting along real well, and are technically sound. But they need to mature as individuals and as a team to reach their goals as an organization.

"As they mature, their concentration will improve."

Capitan will host varsity volleyball teams from Carrizozo, Roy, Elida, Magdalena, Clouderoft, Grady and Hatch this Friday and Saturday.

Allen said the teams attending are all very good, and will provide some exciting volleyball action this weekend. Three of the teams were at the Class A volleyball state playoffs last year.

Short pool play beginning at 1 p.m. Friday will determine each team's position on the tournament bracket. Regular volleyball matches will begin at 5:30 p.m. The next round will begin at 7 p.m.

On Saturday, volleyball action begins at 10 a.m. The championship is set for 7 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place teams, one for sportsmanship and 12 all-tournament players will be named.

Tigers rated #1 after 47-0 win over Hagerman

by Doris Cherry

The Capitan Tigers football powerhouse remains undefeated with its 47-0 win over the Hagerman Bobcats at home Friday.

And keeping to a sort of tradition, the Tigers had three touchdowns called back, for a total of 12 so far this season. One was a 87-yard scamper by senior Damian Roybal. Holding and clipping were the penalties called on the scrappy Capitan boys.

Even with the call backs, Tigers Coach Ed Davis ran in his subs for a big part of the second half. "We played everybody but the trainers," coach said Tuesday.

The Tigers racked up a total of 521 offensive yards, with 347 yards on the ground and 174 passing. Quarterback Michael Fish covered 137 yards in rushing offense, Justin Weber 101 yards, Wes Mitchell 59 yards, Damian Roybal 56 and Orlando Baca 21. Fish totaled 85 yards in punt returns, Roybal 56. Fish's two punts averaged 48 yards.

The Tigers made 18 first downs, the Bobcats made four. The Tiger had two turnovers, as did the Bobcats.

Along with the team's rushing/passing success has been the strong defense. The Tigers allowed the Bobcats only 45 yards total offense, and that was mostly in their first drive of the game.

So far this season, the Tigers defense has gone 14 quarters without allowing a single point. "Their goal is to not get scored on," said Davis.

"The offensive line did an exceptional job of firing off the ball and blocking," said Davis. "They've done a super job."

"This is a very unique group of young men," Davis continued. "They've worked hard to get where they are, and they understand what is ahead," he said.

The Tigers will have to keep focused in order to maintain their momentum for the final four of the season—district games with Reserve, Clouderoft, Loving and Carrizozo. So far it appears the Tigers stand a good chance to defeat any of those four, but Davis is working to keep the boys' focus on one game at a time. Reserve will come to Capitan on Oct. 8 for the district opener.

Homecoming will be Friday night with Belen JV. Last year the Tigers had a promising season that slacked off to nothing after homecoming. "Now keeping forward will be the worst problem," Davis said.

The Tigers opened the game with some dramatics when Orlando Baca fumbled a long pass from Mike Fish in the end zone. Trevor Cox scooped up the fumble for a touchdown. The extra point try was no good, score 6-0.

The first called back touchdown came on a play by Weber midway in the second quarter. Despite the call back the Tigers scored on the next play. Ernie Trujillo grabbed a 23 yard pass to the end zone to make the score 12-0. The 2-point PAT was good and the score was 14-0.

The second called back touchdown was made on a pass from Fish to Trujillo. A penalty on the Tigers for holding brought the Capitan boys back to their 26 yard line.

But Trujillo wasn't to be held back. With only seconds left in the first half, Trujillo in the end zone connected with a 23-yard pass from Fish as the buzzer sounded. Fish's kick was good and the score at the half was 21-0.

In the very first play of the second half, the Tigers again had a touch down called back. Damian Roybal caught the Hagerman kick, fumbled it, recovered it and ran for 80 yards to make, what he thought was another touchdown. Referees thought otherwise and called the ball back to the Tiger 39 yard line. The penalty was clipping.

The call back was like a prod for Weber, who took a passoff from Fish and ran 40 yards to make a touchdown. Fish's kick was good and the score at the half was 21-0.

Grizzlies Win Homecoming Game 20-12 Over Estancia

Carrizozo Grizzlies senior Blas Herrera caught a 5-yard pass from junior Billy Sheehan in third quarter to beat the Estancia Bears 20-12 for Carrizozo's first win of the year.

Carrizozo was led by senior Jon Vallejos who had 181 yards of total offense (124 yards rushing and 57 yard receiving) as the Grizzlies run & shoot offense produced 270 yards of total offense.

The game did not start well for the Grizzlies as Estancia ran the opening kickoff back 90 yards to put Estancia ahead 6-0. The extra point try for two was not successful.

On the Grizzlies first-possession they marched 70 yards on 9 plays as they mixed in passing from Sheehan (7-19-0 for 104 yards) and running from Vallejos to tie the game at 6. Herrera (7 rushes, 26 yards, 2 catches, 16 yards) finished the drive by running the ball in from one yard out. The extra point kick was wide.

In the second quarter Sheehan was sacked deep in Grizzly territory. He fumbled and Estancia picked up the ball and ran 10 yards for a Bear touchdown. The extra-point run was stopped by junior D. J. Vermillion (7 tackles) to make the score 12-6 in favor of Estancia.

The Grizzlies responded again by scoring on their next possession as they moved the ball 74 yards on 8 plays. On the drive Sheehan passed to Vallejos for 28 yards to put the ball out at the Bears 12 yard line. On the next play Sheehan kept the ball on an option, and behind the blocking of seniors Fernando Medina and Jacob Portillo scored to even the score at 12. The extra point was dropped in the endzone.

"We showed great composure tonight by overcoming many mistakes. We had four or five dropped passes and just did not play well," said head coach Ken Butts.

The Grizzlies last score was set up by the defense when on fourth down senior Daniel Graham tackled Estancia's punter on the Bears 9 yard line. On third down Sheehan hit Herrera on the run for a five yard touchdown pass. Sheehan ran in the extra point to finish the scoring 20-12.

"Our defense is getting better and better weekly. Coach Tom Moffett has done an outstanding job as the defensive coordinator. He has the kids believing they can stop anyone," said coach Butts.

The Grizzlies defense which played well in the game was led by Graham (11 tackles) and Herrera (9 tackles).

The Grizzlies host Loving 7:30 this Friday in the district opener for both teams.

"Our kids want to be the first Carrizozo football team to beat Loving. This team believes they can do it and with the support we have been getting from the Carrizozo community the time may be right," commented coach Butts.

Carrizozo junior high plays their first game of the year today at Clouderoft at 4 p.m. 1991 Carrizozo graduate Kevin Sheehan makes his coaching debut for the Grizzlies.

Sheriff's Report

All Lincoln County Sheriff's Office deputies were on duty over the Ruidoso Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally weekend. The officers stood by to assist Ruidoso Police and also manned roadblocks at various locations in the county.

Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane said his officers wrote quite a few citations for no insurance, DWI and other offenses as a result of the roadblocks. Overall, the motorcycle crowd behaved real well, McSwane said Tuesday.

In Ruidoso, village police had help not only from sheriff's deputies, but from New Mexico State Police officers called in to help during the four days of the rally. "Things were very comfortable," McSwane said. There were some 15,000 additional people in the county during the rally.

McSwane said his officers did acquire comp time during the rally.

The following information was taken from dispatch records in the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office:

The other campers were trying to sneak up on the subject, but they didn't know how heavily armed he was. Short Fuses members voted for Nick Serna's motion to not accept Greer's resignation until the matter could be studied further. "I don't want to leave the impression we are forcing anybody out," Serna said.

This summer Carrizozo school board reorganized its bus routes, which resulted in shortened miles, and subsequent decreased salaries for bus contractors. The board spent numerous hours in special work sessions trying to come up with routes acceptable to the state.

The state, however, has not sent a final written acceptance of the routes, although the drivers are currently using them.

School bus highway signs have not been installed, either. Barham said she talked with the local highway supervisor, who in turn referred her to the Roswell highway district office.

The board adjusted its 1993-94 budget to allow for an increase of $1,584 to provide funds for the bus feeder routes. The budget was also adjusted to include a $31,000 increase from the newest Writing to Read grant for a computer lab which will be installed next month. Candie Aguilar has been hired for a full time position in the Writing to Read program.

The school budget was decreased because of the bus route reorganization.

School enrollment was 223 in K-12 on the 20th day of classes.

Open House for grades 7-12 is set for 6:30 p.m. October 6, in the school cafeteria. Parents who attend can pick up their children's report cards, and have opportunity to speak with teachers in the cafeteria.

Non-students will be allowed to eat in the cafeteria for $2.50 a plate. There will be no take outs however.

The old gym and stage floors will get refurbished this fall. The board accepted the only bid for the work, submitted from Stout Enterprises. The company will refinish and restripe the playing floor and refinish the stage floor for $8,949. The bid specifications require a finish that is hard enough to do anything on the floor without a special cover.

New basketball backboards will be installed in the old gym so it again can be used for the sport. The Carrizozo PPK-parent group will finance the purchase of a new curtain for the stage.

Several other projects financed by the SB9 and bond funds are underway.

Instructional equipment and the media center have arrived or are on order.

VoAg teacher Dale Mitchell reported on the well and greenhouse projects. The wells on campus near the ag room have been cleaned out and recased. The wells are producing 26 and 23 gallons per minute. Another well was drilled by the ag farm and a pump installed. The water will be used for a greenhouse. The greenhouse will be constructed as part of a Vocational class.

Mrs. Mariann Patterson was nominated by the school for the New Mexico 1994 Teacher of the Year award.

Stacey Weyeremuller, yearbook sponsor, presented the 1992-93 annual to the board.

The principals made good reports about the past week's homecoming activities.

The board hired Martin Bond as part time educational aide and Carol Kluff was hired as pre-school instructional assistant.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS CLIPBOARD

A weekly school column from Carrizozo Municipal Schools that serves as a bridge to parents, businesses and community groups who welcome knowing more about their school. News about student, staff, and board members will be highlighted.

ASSISTANCE TEAM-Student Assistance Team (SAT) contact person is teacher Bryan Wetzel. SAT assists students, teachers, and parents in dealing with a variety of concerns including learning problems, drug/alcohol abuse and behavior problems. Wetzel attended a morning SAT meeting on Sept. 14 at Ruidoso High School. At the meeting, sponsored by Region IX Cooperative Center, the contact people reviewed the SAT manual and procedure for filling paperwork. Referrals to SAT may be made by the student, staff or parent. Reasons may include several referrals to the office; failure to master the essential competencies; and falling below a C average. SAT will analyze and consider certain factors, then develop appropriately designed intervention strategies and recommendations for programming and/or evaluation.

JOINS STAFF-Martha Bond was recently hired as part-time special education teacher. She received her Bachelor of Science degree at New Mexico State University. She has taught school eight years, at Corona and at Pecos, N.M. Bond has lived in the Corona and Carrizozo area for the past 21 years. She and husband, Lerry are parents of two daughters Debbie, a sophomore and Mary Beth, a 5th grader. Bond was born and raised in Roswell. She has served as substitute teacher in Carrizozo for kindergarten through 12th grades for the past 15 years.

ATTENDS WORKSHOP-Supt. James Bayless, on Sept. 15, attended an annual workshop for superintendents who are new to their position and/or are new to New Mexico. The New Mexico Association of Schools Superintendents and the State Department of Education hosted the workshop held in Mabry Hall in the Education Building in Santa Fe. Among the new superintendents at the workshop were Diane Sonnamaker, Capitan, and Gilbert Candelaria, Hondo. Bayless traveled to Santa Fe with Sonnamaker and Supt. Vernon D. Asbill, Cloudercroft. Asbill is president of the New Mexico School Superintendent Association. The various topics covered included Consolidating Initiatives for Tomorrow's Education (CITE). The power of CITE lies in sharing a common vision of desired end results. CITE empowers the local, community and the citizens of New Mexico to join with the State Board in finding new and better ways for students to reach their potential.

ARTWORK ON CUP-Jim Huggins, district supervisor for four Ruidoso Allsup Stores and one in Carrizozo, expresses a special thanks to Polly Chavez in this week's Allsup's ad in Lincoln County News. Chavez, school art facilitator, was recognized for the Grizzlies artwork on the store's 32-ounce plastic refillable fountain cup. The design was chosen from three that Chavez contributed when Huggins was seeking a cup design.

CHORUS AND BAND-The chorus and band are raffling a cord of wood. The cord is cedar and will be cut to order. The drawing will be held on Oct. 17 at 3 p.m. in the band room. To buy a ticket contact a chorus or band member. The two groups performed at the homecoming game.

FUN-FILLED WEEK-The 6th graders were praised by their teacher Jackie Moffett for their mature and responsible behavior and a job well done during homecoming week. In their class competition Holly Schlarb placed first in her 50's and 60's attire; Mollie Hightower won the wierdest hat contest; Carlos Garcia had the best NFL wear. The 6th graders boosted the football team with individual spirit cards and a sign in the locker room. The class rode on their float in the parade.

NM EDUCATION-Alan Morgan, State Superintendent of Public Instruction was the guest speaker of the White Sands Press Club dinner meeting held at the Holiday Inn in Alamogordo. Supt. James Bayless was among the Region VII District Superintendents invited to the Sept. 15 event that evening. Morgan, former resident of Alamogordo addressed his audience on "The Future of Education in New Mexico." Bayless and fellow educators heard Morgan say that even though schools are getting better, they are not getting better fast enough to help children meet the challenge presented to them on the outside. To make the changes needed, Morgan believes parents, educators, business and government must come together at the school level to make the changes happen.

PLANS UNDERWAY-People for Kids (PFK) met Sept. 14 at the library. It was agreed that the group will sponsor the Halloween Carnival this year. The event will be held Oct. 30. PFK will make more carnival plans at their Oct. 12 meeting. Meanwhile, three recycling cans have been placed around the campus. With profits from aluminum cans, PFK has a goal to purchase new curtains for the stage in the old gym. Vo-ag classes were in charge of painting the recycling cans needed for the PFK project.

Polly Chavez is the Carrizozo Municipal Schools news coordinator.
