

No Money For Private Parking Lots

by Doris Cherry

Ruidoso MidTown merchants were slated to take a hard look at the MainStreet project this morning.

The MainStreet Board mailed invitations to the Mid-Town merchants to attend the meeting and air their concerns about access, parking and the project as it moves into Phase Two.

Tuesday night, Ruidoso Village Council also took a hard look at the MainStreet project. While the midtown parking situation remains unanswered, councilors agreed to now focus on phase two and its potential problems. Phase one is scheduled to be completed within a week, except for landscape plantings.

"Let's really focus on the MainStreet project and not give up on it," said councilor Frank Potter after considerable discussion.

But earlier in the discussion, Mayor Jerry Shaw announced that the village cannot go with the suggested alternative for parking—using the $150,000 in severance tax funds for phase two for leasing private street level parking lots to be used as public lots. The designs, which left out handicapped parking spaces along the street, indicated the handicapped parking could be placed in street-level parking lots. Unfortunately all street level parking lots in MidTown are privately owned.

The project was sold to state and federal highway agencies as a way for the commercial district to upgrade its sidewalks to meet ADA guidelines for handicapped access and to create a pleasant landscaped pedestrian area.

The severance taxes however cannot be used for upgrading private property, only for acquiring or upgrading public owned property. However, any private funds from the Mid-Town merchants could be used for providing the public lots. MainStreet director Don Miller said the MainStreet

Board has not addressed that, because there is no design program. Miller said now is the time to start a dialogue with parking lot owners.

But for now there is no money for parking lots.

With a request the council be informed of any changes to the MainStreet project before they occur, councilors moved from the parking problem to what to do with the remainder of the project.

"I have a hard time focusing on parking until we find out where we are (with the project)," Potter said.

Briley said when the first phase is done will be a good time to step back and look at it, then decide if the design is proper and what the village and merchants want. The first phase is expected to be basically completed within two weeks.

"The first phase was a fiasco," Miller said. "But we learned a lot."

Negotiations To Begin For Industrial Park

by Ruth Hammond

The Carrizozo Board of Trustees made arrangements to begin Phase V of the street improvement project during their regular meeting Tuesday.

Hubert Quintana of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District (SNMEDD) reported that Phase IV is complete except for problems with final payments. The contractor has been slow in paying his suppliers and one supplier filed a claim against the surety bond company.

Quintana said Phase IV must be closed out before the town can proceed with Phase V. He has made several phone calls concerning the slow payments being made by the contractor.

Quintana received permission from trustees to begin the paper work for beginning Phase V which is scheduled to start in February this year and be completed by the end of January 1995.

Quintana said the town needed to have an engineer "on board" by April 1994 for Phase V in order to qualify to apply for grant money next year.

Trustees agreed to give permission to the mayor to sign the contract from the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program when it arrives. Quintana can then prepare the RFP (request for proposals) for an engineer. Quintana is to bring the RFP to the February meeting.

Trustees also agreed to designate United New Mexico Bank as the depository, and decided there would be three people who could sign the necessary papers during the project. The three signatures will be those of mayor Cecilia

Academics Nosedive At Carrizozo School

by Ruth Hammond

The scholastic level at Carrizozo Schools is the lowest it has been in 11 years according to Carrizozo teacher Mariann Patterson.

Patterson made her comments during a special school board meeting Saturday where the board of education rescinded their action concerning the eligibility rule.

The school board took action Jan. 18 to adopt a policy requiring students to maintain a C or better average in every class weekly in order to participate in extra-curricular activities.

On Jan. 19 the school board scheduled the special meeting to rescind the action concerning the eligibility rule.

More than 20 people attended the special meeting and several voiced their opinions for and against the policy.

"I do support that we do something about academics," Mariann Patterson said. She

New Adjudication Begins For Hondo Basin Water Rights

The New Mexico State Engineer's Office is beginning new court proceedings in the Hondo Basin adjudication of water rights in the Rio Ruidoso, Rio Hondo and Rio Bonito areas.

In 1975 the State Engineer Office filed an adjudication naming the owners of all the known water rights as defendants, except for persons using underground water exclusively for non-commercial domestic or stock purposes. Then in 1981 and 1983 Special Master Kastler held hearings on priority dates for all the surface water rights. After the hearings he filed a Final Report which contained his findings from the evidence on the priority dates.

The State is now sending copies of the Final Report to all known water rights owners in the Rio Hondo Stream System. Any water right owner who does not agree with the priority date for their water right must file objections to the Final Report with

Ruidoso Council Votes To "Share The Trail"

by Doris Cherry

Unsure where the "no bicycles" signs came from on the path around the Links of Sierra Blanca golf course, Ruidoso Village Council unanimously voted to take the signs down immediately.

The council voted to implement a "Share the Trail" signage program which encourages everyone to be courteous with all users of the municipal trail. A group of bicycling children, parents and adults attended Tuesday's village council meeting. While they did not speak about their displeasure with the prohibition against bicycles on the path, councilors and the mayor spoke for them.

Signs prohibiting bicycles went up on the path, which averages six to eight feet wide, is 2.8 miles long and has an elevation change of 73 feet from the north to south end, Jan. 10 and 11. Since, the mayor and councilors have received complaints from users.

Councilor Frank Potter, an avid jogger, said the trail is wide enough, even though original plans called for a pathway up to 50 feet wide to accommodate joggers, bicyclists and dog walkers. He said in the many cities where he has jogged the width of the trails is quite narrow. In Albuquerque most trails are only three feet wide, yet are shared.

Signs prohibiting bicycles were ordered by the street department on August 26 under direction of the former village manager. But the matter was not taken to the council for a vote. When the signs recently arrived they were installed at the trail by Parks and Rec. Department personnel. Major concerns about the trail were the safety aspects of having a multi-use trail, and whether the village has coverage under the self-insurer's fund.

Village manager Gary Jackson said the village attorney John Underwood's major concern was the insurance. Jackson said he was advised by the village's insurance carrier that the village was covered for two years when there were no signs on the trail and coverage would continue if bicycles were allowed.

The village's safety consultant recommended the village continue the multi-purpose if the share the trail signs requesting the users to practice common courtesy are installed. The consultant recommended the area where the trail adjoins White Mountain Road be better marked with reflectors, and the speed on the street reduced.

While most comments made to the mayor and councilors about the trail supported the

Friends Of Smokey Finalize Plans For Smokey's 50th

Only you can help Smokey Bear celebrate his 50th birthday in 1994. Exciting activities are set to celebrate the nation's most famous fire prevention bear in the village of Capitan, which is the home of Smokey Bear and home for Smokey Bear Historical State Park and Smokey Bear Museum, and in Ruidoso and other Lincoln County locations.

Friends of Smokey, a non-profit organization formed to plan the events for the famous fire prevention bear's 50th anniversary, met recently and set times and dates for the many activities surrounding the celebration.

The 50th anniversary activities will be focused during the July 4 holiday weekend, but the fun begins earlier in the year, when Friends of Smokey hold their annual dinner on May 14. The dinner begins at 6:30 p.m. and will feature entertainment and an auction held at Capitan High School, in Capitan.

On May 21, Smokey Bear will be honored with the first annual Smokey Bear Open Golf Tournament at The Links of Sierra Blanca Golf Course in Ruidoso. The tournament will begin at noon at The Links. Following the tournament, a barbecue and dance will be held at the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center. Contact The Links for more information.

June 11 is set aside for the Ruidoso Woman's Club Volksmarsch in honor of Smokey's 50th anniversary. The volksmarsch will be held on the same course as the Smokey Bear Fun and 10K run. A volksmarsch is a fun walk which allows the participants to set their own rate of walking, with the goal being that to complete the course, with little emphasis placed on the speed of the walker. The volksmarsch will begin with registration at 9 a.m. at the intersection of Smokey Bear Blvd. (Highway 380) and State Road 247 in the heart of Capitan.

Smokey Bear will be the guest of honor on July 1 at Ruidoso Downs Race Track in Ruidoso Downs. Smokey Bear Day at the Races will feature a race dedicated to the fire prevention bear. Friends of Smokey will present the winning horse with a special blanket. Smokey Bear himself will be at the races that day. Friends of Smokey volunteers and personnel from the New Mexico State Forestry will be on hand to distribute fire prevention educational information.

On the evening of July 1, the 39th annual Smokey Bear Stampede and Rodeo will begin with a performance at 7 p.m. at the Lincoln County Fairground in Capitan. A dance will follow in the fairgrounds exhibition hall at 9 p.m.

On July 2 and 3, the U.S. Forest Service special shape Smokey Bear Balloon will lift off in Capitan. Ascension is set for the early hour of 6 a.m. On July 2, following the ascension, the Capitan Senior Citizens will serve breakfast, at the center in Capitan. The pancake breakfast will begin at 6:30 a.m. The seniors will also serve breakfast on the morning of July 4, beginning at 6:30 a.m.

Also on July 2, the 14th annual Smokey Bear Fun Run will begin with registration at 7:30 a.m. at the intersection of Smokey Bear Blvd. and State Road 247. The 10K run course will follow the state road north of the village, and will feature a two mile run course along the same roadway.

The Saturday performance of the Smokey Bear Stampede and Rodeo will start at 7 p.m., at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds.

A country/western concert and dance will be held at 9 p.m., also at the fairgrounds.

Sunday, July 3, special events begins at 6 a.m. with the hot air balloon ascension. Then at 10 a.m. the Smokey Bear Wildfire Chili Cook-off begins when cooks fire up their pots and begin preparing their famous chili at Smokey Bear Park. The event this year will be CASSI sanctioned. The public will have a chance to taste the various

No Money For . . .

Design problems and resulting cost and time overruns have plagued the first phase. And councilors have blamed the design firm Bohannon Huston for its over built "Cadillac" design.

"What is done in the first phase is done," said deputy manager Alan Briley, and village MainStreet project director. "We do have four foot sidewalks, no better than before," he added.

Briley recommended the project continue. He already has addressed some design problems in phase two, including the high maintenance culverts. He adjusted the design to less expensive PVC downspouts to go under the sidewalks. He also thought the sidewalks needed to be six feet rather than the four feet designed. But he suggested that be determined for phase two once everyone can take an actual look at the finished phase one sidewalks.

"Fortunately Alan recognizes the technical problems," said Miller.

Village manager Gary Jackson said the future phases could be done in conjunction with each other, to speed up the project, if the bugs are worked out. He summarized the project to date as the first phase being a learning experience, the second phase as a way to see what has been learned and in the third phase "we can let them (contractor's crew) go."

Along with narrow sidewalks, the other problems with the designs are the 70 percent fewer parking spaces and no street side handicapped access parking places, and benches and planters which crowd the walkways.

Briley suggested the narrow sidewalks be widened by paving the dirt planters with interlocking blocks. Benches and planters could be moved onto the dirt areas, off the sidewalks.

Several suggestions have been made for parking, including a multi storied parking structure, with ramps to provide a level access to the MidTown sidewalks.

"We all thought we had a good set of plans and specs, but that's not the case," Miller said.

The entire project is scheduled to be completed by June 14. Phase one was delayed because of an order to stop work during the busy Christmas week, and because of cold weather. While there was criticism about limited access to affected businesses along phase one, Briley said the contractor provided carpeted bridges over the excavations to businesses at his own cost.

On Jan. 14 Federal Highway Administration and New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department inspectors from Santa Fe and Roswell audited the MainStreet project. They commented the village was on track with the project, and made recommendations such as using a licensed testing lab and the need to keep barrels and warning lights cleaned, Briley said.

Overall, Briley said he thought the auditors gave the project a "glowing report."

Briley said the state and federal agencies want to be more involved with the project in the future.

County Approves Mid Year Budget

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Commissioners, at a special meeting Jan. 12, approved mid-year budget adjustments as proposed by the county manager, and the various elected officials and department heads.

The bulk of the special meeting was devoted to a review and final approval of the mid-year budget revisions. As promised by the elected officials, almost all departments showed decreases or no increases for their departments, even with the six percent cost of living raise for all county employees approved by commissioners in December. However, some department had few areas to decrease.

Despite the need for additional dollars to balance out the law enforcement department, commissioners approved the sheriff's request to make the temporary part time administrative assistant's position full time. The sheriff has requested the full time position to help in the Carrizozo office, and he justified it as a way to help him prepare and administer his department's budget.

In the budget adjustments, the commissioners' department had a decrease of $1,345, taken from mileage and dues. General county government had a decrease of $31,500 mostly in the insurances which had budget surpluses after the yearly payments had been made. Attorney fees were also decreased by $20,000, because only a third of the total budget had been spent.

In the manager's department, $8,467.33 was cut from the total. A major decrease was due to a vacant position not being filled. Data processing also decreased by $2,896, due to a part time position not being filled. County planning department decreased by $4,879, mostly in postage, supplies, vehicle fuel and P&Z mileage.

The Ruidoso suboffice had no change in its $24,258 budget. Lincoln County ambulance took a cut of $160.61, even with an increase in payments to the volunteer EMTs. The department is developing a rate structure and will approach the commission for a rate increase. "Our rates are so low, our bills are lower than the expenses on some runs," Wynham said. The county has six units and better coverage than all of Otero County, Wynham said.

Emergency management had no total change, the salary increases balanced by cuts in other areas. Maintenance increased by $3,876, mostly due to an increase in the cost of water. A major water leak in the jail, and standby water charges on the county-owned Alto properties accounted for much of the increase. The increase for the employee salaries was balanced by cuts in equipment maintenance and janitorial supplies. The Soil and Water Conservation District and RC&D increased by $755 to reflect the employee raise.

The County Clerk's budget decreased by $57, due to cuts in supplies, telephone and equipment maintenance. Bureau of Elections also decreased by $262 because of miscellaneous cuts.

Probate judge had no change. The assessor's office balanced its salary increase to the penny with cuts made in several areas. The county treasurer had a decrease of $514, even after salary increases, made by cutting several areas including equipment maintenance. Spencer cautioned the elected officials to not cut too much on equipment maintenance, but Wynham said the cuts all reflected an honest evaluation of the needs for the next six months. Law enforcement had the largest budget increase, mainly because of a revamping of the pay matrix for deputies. Also, on the advice of the county manager, commissioners approved sheriff James McSwane's request for a full time administrative assistant to help with office reception and budget. The assistant will be located in the sheriff's office in Carrizozo and will be at a grade 13. The position will be advertised. With the cost of living increases, the pay matrix adjustments and the addition of the full-time assistant, the law enforcement department budget increased $41,681 for the next six months.

Road department decreased $12,100 by reducing one

Negotiations

Kuhnle, trustee Harold Garcia, and trustee Eileen Lovelace. Town clerk Carol Schlarb will attest to the signatures.

Quintana is to have the signature cards prepared by Friday.

In other business trustees gave permission for the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce to hold their "Arts in the Park" in McDonald Park June 11 and 12. Chamber president Mary Lou Webster told trustees the event last year was People's Market and that McDonald Park would be a better location this year.

Trustees/also gave permission for a small trailer to be parked on 12th Street the night of the 11th to be used by husbands who will provide security for the crafters who leave their wares in the park overnight.

The chamber will be required to provide insurance for the event. When Webster said the chamber does not have much money it was suggested she contact Roswell to get information about how they insure their events under an umbrella insurance.

Webster invited the municipal candidates to attend the Feb. 8 chamber meeting at United New Mexico Bank at noon. There will be a format for questions and answers for the candidates.

Glen Ellison spoke to trustees about his request to State Rep. John Underwood for state money to renovate the old city hall on Central Ave. Ellison said he was told the building could be renovated for $20,000.

The town had a special meeting with Rep. Underwood earlier this month and requested funding for streets, the swimming pool and airport as well as a building for the police department.

Mayor Kuhnle said she will be in Santa Fe Feb. 4 for Municipal Day and would discuss the matter with Rep. Underwood.

Trustees were in closed session for more than an hour and a half to discuss purchase, acquisition or disposal of real property or water rights.

After the closed session trustees agreed to enter into contractual negotiations for all 54 acres of the Carrizozo Industrial Park with a private party for acquisition of all 54 acres. James McSwane was the private party. No other information was given concerning the matter.

Ruidoso Council

continued multi-use, at least one fax to the manager dealt with a conflict between joggers, bicyclists and people walking dogs.

Village Parks and Recreation director Debbie Joe Almager said she is working on a Land and Water Conservation grant to get funds to construct more bike trails in Ruidoso. She asked that all residents who support the need for more bike trails send their names and addresses to her office.

Mayor Shaw said this is the first year for the village to seek state money from the legislature for parks and recreation projects.

Councilors heard a report that State Representative John Underwood introduced House Bills 398, 399, 400 and 401. The bills will ask for state funds for improving the village sewer, parks and recreation, remodeling to meet ADA codes and signs. Underwood felt good about the bills, but told the mayor this is a very strange session.

Mayor Shaw invited Ruidoso businesses and individuals to donate money for the Ruidoso legislative reception, set for Feb. 9 in Santa Fe.

In other business, the council:

-directed staff to draft wording to clarify the village sewer ordinance concerning sewer stand by charges and extension fees, after a discussion of a complaint by a property owner who pays the fees, but receives no sewer services.

-Accepted a schedule for the 1994-95 fiscal year budget with March 25 set for a preliminary budget to be distributed to mayor and council, and a series of workshops to be held during April 4-15. May 10 is set for the council's approval of the preliminary budget. Deadline to be in Santa Fe is June 1. July 12, the council is scheduled to adopt the final budget.

-Approved the mayor's appointment of Bill Wooley to the Parks and Recreation Committee; and appointment of Dr. Paul Worth, Ruidoso police chief Richard Swenor, Jim Stover representing service clubs and EMS, Bill Chance representing business, John Duncan, Corey Burford and Val Maldonado as Ruidoso High School student council representatives and councilor Joe Gomez to the executive committee of the joint Ruidoso Village and Ruidoso School Board. Mayor Shaw heads that group.

-Accepted the consent agenda which includes the appointment of poll workers for the March 1 municipal election with Sunny Bond Hirschfeld presiding judge, Calvin Cowden judge, Florance Maul judge, Betty Bennett clerk and Michele Taylor clerk/translator; a grant agreement with the State of New Mexico for herbicide at the airport; awarded bid for water pipe fittings and accessories.

-Grant agreement with the State of New Mexico, Keep New Mexico Beautiful for $3,000 for various park, median and rights of way maintenance programs.

-Heard a complaint from resident Steve Smith who was seeking recourse from a neighbor who blocked the end of a public utility access road, which is being used as a neighborhood drive. The village planning director and deputy manager were directed to meet with Smith about the problem, which may be a civil matter.

The next regular meeting of the village council will be held at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 7, to allow councilors to go to Santa Fe to prepare for the legislative reception.

The council also will meet in workshops at 9 a.m. on Feb. 15 to discuss convention and visitors bureau/advertising/promotions and March 15 to review the emergency medical services contract and operations.

ER-ER-EARTHQUAKE

By MICHAEL MCKIM SWICKARD

Two types of people watched the television reports of the Los Angeles earthquake this last week--those who have been in an earthquake and those who have not. Those people who have not personally experienced earthquakes find the reports interesting but not emotional.

I spent a couple of years in Los Angeles. As soon as friends heard I was moving to Southern California they started telling earthquake stories. I put on a brave front. "I'm not worried," I told them, "I can handle earthquakes."

As I drove toward California I tried to put earthquakes out of my mind. Of course whatever you don't want to think about is usually foremost in your mind--earthquakes.

The first week in town I was sitting at a bus stop reading the newspaper when the ground started shaking. I jumped up in a panic and yelled, "EARTHQUAKE!"

A person next to me smiled and said calmly, "Truck." I looked where he pointed. A big truck driving by was what caused the ground to shake. I was caught being an out-of-town hick. I vowed it would not happen again.

A month later at a party I noticed the host's apartment moving. Then I realized it was an earthquake. No one else seemed to take notice. I intended to stand in the safety of the doorway. Instead my right foot hooked an end table. The host was amused by my fall. "Impressive dive for cover, but that was just a little roller. Hey, mellow out, you are now in California."

So I was further embarrassed. I vowed to become as mellow in an earthquake as these California people.

Then one morning I was in a coffee shop. There was only one other customer--a distinguished looking older man in a suit. The waitress came out from the kitchen from time to time to freshen our coffee. Three tables apart, we were both reading the Los Angeles Times.

The room started shaking. First I noticed the waves in my coffee and then the salt shaker tipped over. I started to jump up but the other man was still reading his paper like nothing was happening. He held his coffee cup in his right hand and took a sip. I forced myself to not move--I wasn't going to do anything until he moved. I was going to be "California mellow" even if it killed me.

Dishes started falling but he did not move. It was like a moving train--a rolling rocking motion. Then the building trembled. He didn't look up so I sat mentally composing my obituary.

He set his coffee cup down while he turned a page. The coffee cup bounced off the table. He looked at the cup doing a poika on the floor and went back to reading. I decided that when and if the earthquake ever stopped, and if we were still alive, I was going to go over and beat the ever-loving California mellow out of him.

Then the picture window shattered sending pebbles of glass over the tables. That got his attention. He stood up, pulled out his wallet, left a couple of dollars on the table and headed calmly for the door while whisking dust off of his suit coat. He still didn't look concerned.

I jumped up, relieved to be able to leave. The rolling and shaking had lasted 45 seconds which is a very long time to be intensely thinking about death while acting mellow.

Out in the parking lot he didn't seem to be a bit concerned while I was hyperventilating. He turned to me and asked, "Shay Shunny, what time is it?" A thick vapor of alcohol came out with the words. It finally dawned on me that I was sitting there in a 6.8 magnitude earthquake with a man who was blind drunk. I'm not even mellow watching earthquakes on television. MS

THE OTHER SIDE

I was surprised a few times this week. First, the Lorena Babbitt trial ended with a not guilty verdict by reason of temporary insanity. Then Bruce Babbitt (no relation to Lorena in spite of what some ranchers may think) fell off a rock and skinned his head. Then Joe Montana got his bell rung and Kansas City lost to Buffalo. And San Francisco slept through their game with Dallas. And Troy Aikman had the bed next to Joe Montana. And Steve Schiff decided to get into the UFO business. And L. Ron Hubbard surfaced in Trementina. And President Clinton had to wrestle with the Inman controversy. And Rush Limbaugh did more of whatever it is he does. And then in the middle of all this, there was the earthquake in California. And all of this happened while I was out of town. Maybe if I would stay home once in a while, things would not get so out of hand.

I must compliment the defense lawyers in the Lorena Bobbit trial because the outcome seems to be getting the maximum mileage out of the rabbits in their hats. It must be close to miraculous to be able to win an acquittal for a defendant who was caught with the corpus delicti in her hand. If she had been found guilty, we might have seen the next step in the process in the forthcoming asset forfeiture proceedings, which would bear the caption, "The United States of America vs. An Inch and a Half". (Oh, I'm sorry, that obviously couldn't happen because she has already made restitution, but it was worth a comment anyhow.)

Was Inman "Deep Throat"?

"Work in process" is an interesting term used by individuals of artistic inclinations to indicate that they do not intend to rest on their laurels but really have more to do in their chosen profession. It also means "when I get around to it, I may do something else." This is sort of a foreign term to me since my work is always in process until I get it done. There are, however, some chores that seem to be perpetually in process because I never seem to get them finished. Maybe I should profess some artistic tendencies so I can blame my unfinished projects on something besides whatever that word was my father used to use when I hesitated on the way to the woodpile. (To chop wood, of course! There are things that go on in woodsheds other than corporal punishment. Or is that "corporeal"? I will never understand how the relationship between sites for fuel storage and getting your tail wholoped originated unless it had something to do with choice of weapons.)

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE--The '94 Legislature may set records for the most bills introduced and the fewest passed.

The sudden abundance of money in state coffers has produced a corresponding abundance of bills introduced. Lawmakers already have come up with hundreds of great ideas for using all that extra revenue. Most of the measures appropriate funds for construction projects and major purchases--commonly referred to as pork.

But before the legislative process ends in mid-February, lawmakers will have consolidated all the pork into three big bills. One measure will tap most of the $300 million surplus that surprisingly appeared following the '93 Legislature. Another bill will use about half the state's yearly income from severance taxes on minerals that are "severed" from our land.

The third bill will contain projects to be put before voters next November in the form of a general obligation bond issue. Most of them are public school and higher education projects, although numerous senior citizen appropriations have been included in these bonding proposals following defeat of a measure four years ago that was blamed on the senior vote.

There has been talk that lawmakers might not put a statewide bond issue before voters this year, since the budget surplus and severance taxes will produce much more revenue this year than all three sources have for the past decade. It would result in a tax cut since many bonds that were approved during the past several years will soon be paid off.

But don't bet on lawmakers leaving a bond issue off the general election ballot. Pork projects are legislators' favorite appropriations. They fund buildings, highways, land purchases and major equipment that voters can see. Every lawmaker, even those in the greatest disfavor with legislative leaders, gets at least one slice of pork to take home to constituents at election time.

Rolling several hundred pork bills into one, two or three "Christmas Tree" measures will cut back significantly on the extra large number of bills introduced this session. But there is another force at work that could mean very little legislation will make it through the '94 session.

Gov. Bruce King is extremely upset at the Senate for calling back all the body's bills that were vetoed following the '93 session. King says he invited House and Senate leaders to identify bills they felt he had been mistaken in vetoing last year. If he could be convinced of the bills' merits, he said he promised to expedite their passage and signing this year.

Bills of a non-fiscal nature require a message from the governor during short sessions. During the past several months King promised numerous lawmakers and interim legislative committees he would give them the message they needed.

But only one message has come down from the governor's office. In his message urging lawmakers to straighten out the election calendar, he called the problem "the one thing we absolutely must do" this year.

King has decided all those other promised messages can wait until the Senate decides not to override the vetoed bills that appear every day on its calendar.

The governor says he isn't bothered in the least by charges that he is holding up needed legislation by his refusal to make non-fiscal subjects germane this session. King says he thinks lawmakers introduce far too many bills as it is. He claims not to enjoy vetoing bills but says most of those vetoes are because drafters and legislative committees have too many bills to consider.

King and House Democrat leaders seem to have worked out their differences on vetoed bills, but as of this writing, the governor is not sending any messages to the House either. He figures his leverage increases if Speaker Raymond Sanchez and other House leaders apply pressure to Senate President Pro Tem Manny Aragon to quit threatening veto overrides.

Meanwhile many bills are sitting in the House Rules Committee and the Senate Committees' Committee waiting for a governor's message to make them germane. It is very possible neither Aragon or King will give in.

Schools To Receive Additional Revenue

Alan D. Morgan, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, announced that the current year program unit value will be increased from $1,927.27 to $1,934.51 per program unit. This increase of $7.24 per program unit will complete the distribution of the $1 billion appropriated by the Legislature and signed by Governor Bruce King for school year 1993-94. Local school boards will be setting priorities for the additional revenue.

The State Department of Education utilizes final membership counts to project needs for the coming year. Superintendent Morgan said

Registration For Heavy Vehicles Extended Again

Due to the extensive flood damage to the Montoya Building over the Thanksgiving holiday, the New Mexico Taxation and Revenue Department is extending the deadline for registration renewal for heavy vehicles (those weighing more than 26,000 lbs.) a second time.

The Department will honor 1993 credentials for heavy vehicles through March 2, 1994.

This new extension does not apply to passenger vehicles. Registrations for passenger vehicles that expired Dec. 31, 1993 must be renewed by Jan. 31, 1994.

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR--In our cities today, gangs of heavily armed, alcohol and drug-crazed youth roam the streets, day and night, looking for someone to rape, rob or kill, sometimes inflicting all three on the same unfortunate victim. Some of these "youths" are now in their 30's and 40's and this is the only lifestyle they have ever known. In addition to our cities, the activities of these sociopaths have already spilled over into our towns and rural areas. My sense is that we haven't seen anything yet since the root causes remain unaddressed. Among these causes are: the breakdown of the family (characterized by single or no parent homes), the existence of a large and ever-growing underclass, perpetuated and subsidized by the government, over-population, poverty and racism, the widespread availability of drugs and the enormous profits to be made in that trade, the glorification of violence, the breakdown of all moral standards and contempt for all authority, failure of society to execute violent criminals (anyone old enough to kill in cold blood is old enough to be killed.)

So what is the reaction of many of our dim-bulbed leaders to this growing madness? To try and disarm the law-abiding citizens of the U.S., leaving them to the non-existent mercy of these criminals. Surely, that way lies madness.

Granted, some of our leaders are motivated by good intentions, but you will recall the old saying that, "the road to hell is paved with good intentions." Others have more sinister motives and want to turn the American People into helpless sheep, the better to control and exploit them.

What can you do to resist the ever-growing assault on our 2nd Amendment right to keep and bear arms? Join the National Rifle Association, the only lobby in the U.S. with the resources to counter the rising tide of anti-gun hysteria we see today. I have problems with some of the NRA's policies but I am in agreement with their defense of all our fundamental constitutional rights.

You don't have to own a gun to join or be in favor of hunting (I outgrew that activity over 30 years ago). All you have to do is believe, as I do, that when one of the first 10 amendments to our Constitution (The Bill of Rights) is threatened then all are at risk of being repealed or regulated out of existence.

Wholoped: v. A word I just made up which is phonetically similar to the correct form, whatever that may be.

I heard the other day that the Betty Ford Clinic has now developed a rehabilitation program for those who are "hooked on phonics," but I haven't yet confirmed it because of the linguistics contained in the literature.

It was interesting to discover that neurolinguists have determined that poor spellers process information auditorily, and good spellers are generally "visual." That makes me feel like what I see don't sound like what it looks like. If that statement makes sense to you, I can spare one of the white

I decided the other day to pursue a socially and politically correct course in the future and ordered one of those artificial non-alcoholic beer substitutes, which convinced me of the truth to the rumor that the manufacturer had finally succeeded in capturing Tony the Tiger.

Aatrocious: adj. The best part of the description of my use of the King's English.

And so it is again time for me to climb into my Stretch-Subaru and instruct my resident automotive technician and fry cook to head on out into the sunset. "On, James!"

CAPITAN NOTES

Greetings from my little old house by the side of the road to your house wherever! This beautiful weather is utterly unbelievable for January—keep thinking it will end real soon and the winds will blow and the rain will come down and the streets will again be covered with snow and the snow plow will pile the snow up against my fence and I will have to dig myself out to get to the store and the post office. Each morning I am prepared and gingerly pull back the curtain and, half hoping and half dreading what I am going to view. Then the sunshine, the forecast for another one of the beautiful but unusual gorgeous days and the stormy weather that I have anticipated relegated to the back burner again. But folks it is coming, it has to arrive some time and if you are a bit like me you would prefer getting it over with, as it were, right? I want to welcome Virginia Watson-Jones and her husband Lionel W. Lippmann to our nice little village of Capitan. Virginia is a ceramic sculptor and Lonnie is, by training, an archeologist and self taught photographer of many years. Lonnie worked for the New Mexico Park Service years ago and has had a life long interest in New Mexico, its people, history and culture.

"We were attracted to Capitan by the mountain and the quality of life in the town. Apart from the people whose energies and abilities run the businesses which make Capitan a desirable place to live: the bank, school, grocery, hardware and feed stores, beauty and barber shops, gas stations, the automotive and gas companies, Village Hall, a Bed and Breakfast, several restaurants, the motel and the most significant tourist attraction, Smokey Bear State Park and Museum. Capitan has a growing number of artists.

You might say Capitan is, an Art Center. Many artists live in the environs of Capitan, in Ruidoso, Tularosa, Carrizozo, White Oaks, Alto, Nogal, Lincoln, Hondo and San Patricio. The presence of the Eastern New Mexico University, the fine Museum of the Horse and the Civic Center in Ruidoso further stimulate the interest of people in the region. Capitan's Smokey Bear and the historic district of Lincoln, attract visitors from all over the world who see the business and creative potential in Southeastern New Mexico and appreciate the beauty of the landscape. Newcomers and old timers in our area should consider the kind of community life they enjoy in Capitan now and desire in 20 years and work together toward their shared goals.

Capitan welcomes you Virginia and are looking forward to meeting your fine husband. Thank you for deciding on Capitan. We love it too!

Art and Jo Blazer have started out the New Year on a sad note. On Dec. 31 they were in Oklahoma City, Okla., burying one of Jo's uncles. On the way home they stopped in Chickasha, Okla., to visit Jo's step-daughter, Jan Mayberry and granddaughter, Shawna. They are frequent visitors to Capitan. They had a new home, and was glad to have the opportunity to visit them. They were home only two days when Art had a call that his uncle, Dr. Alton Pruitt in Fredricksburg, Texas, had two massive heart attacks. Art and 'Doc' were raised as brothers and were very close. So off again on another sad trip. While there Jo got to go visit another uncle in Victoria, Texas, who was dying. After returning home they had a call that Jo's uncle passed away, and two days later, 'Doc' died. Dr. Pruitt was a very prominent OB GYN doctor in the 1960's and 1970's in Roswell. He was born and raised in Mescalero, N.M. After his retirement, he renewed and expanded his love affair with the world of ideas, literature and writing. He was in the process of publishing a book written by Art's great grandfather. Hopefully the rest of the year will be a bit more cheerful.

The Open House at the Pizza Parlor last Saturday was a huge success, I am told. I was unable to attend and regret that, but heard by the well informed "grape vine" that it was not only well attended, but that the food was delicious. Our best to you folks and continued success!

I watched and listened to two things on television that left an impression on me; one very good and the other very bad! It was gratifying to learn that some of the schools in Albuquerque are collecting pennies for the homeless and they are doing very well. Congratulations to our fine youth for doing something charitable for others. On the other side of the coin, listen up for my disgust, about the why or why not the young men should or should not be allowed to wear those terribly baggy trousers. I would suggest that they be allowed to wear them, BUT, first when entering school they must file through a metal detecting device and at the end of that disrobe and file through another lien with about half a dozen big, burley guys waving wooden paddles. You get the picture, they get the sweat! Kind of like years ago when we were initiated into fraternities and sororities.

A few funny things that I have heard in my time:

You are so square they should build a town around you!

I don't know where you are coming from, but wherever it is, there is no transportation from there to here or here to there!

People do not change just because other folks think they should.

People are born, then they die, and in between they do a lot of dumb, crazy things—some meaningful and a lot meaningless, but who really gives a darn?

And so for another week, remember to call 354-2591: if you have any news you would like printed. Yesterday is gone forever, today will soon be gone and tomorrow will soon be today and so for now have a happy week and fill it with a few happy thoughts and try a bit of kindness to your neighbor!

BONNIE MCEUEN (center) is shown with Carol and Bennis Peterson, new owners of P&G's Pizzeria and Subs (formerly B&L Pizza in Capitan.) Bonnie and her husband owned B&L Pizza for 20 years and sold the business to Carol and Bennis Jan. 6. P&G's grand opening was held Jan. 22. They are open Monday thru Saturday 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

ORATORICAL CONTEST-The Optimist Club of Ruidoso is again sponsoring an oratorical contest. In past years Carrizozo students have participated and won in this speaking contest. The theme this year is "Optimism! The Right Stuff." To compete a student writes an original speech, four to five minutes in length on this topic and presents it to the Optimist Club. The contest was developed as an activity that would foster self-improvement of the contestants. Students are judged on poise, content of speech, delivery and presentation and overall effectiveness. Parents or guardians have until March 4 to sign their student's entry form. Michael Gaines, counselor has additional details.

ELEMENTARY ASSEMBLY-Kay Patterson, elementary principal, held an awards assembly Jan. 24. The students who last week were named Students of Month for December (see last week's school column) were recognized. The students were awarded certificates and pencils or other school work tools. The students who made the Honor Roll were applauded. All the students who participated in the recent Geography Bee were each given a certificate. Robert Shafer received a certificate for placing first in the event. Patterson also announced that the art work of Katie Ventura has been selected for an art exhibit at UNM beginning Feb. 20.

STATE GOAL--Robert Shafer, sixth grader, in winning the school-level competition of the National Geography Bee last week, has a chance at a $25,000 college scholarship. At the first round of the event, students answered oral questions on geography. Shafer has taken a written test which has been sent to Washington, DC. Up to 100 of the top scorers in each state will be eligible to compete in the state bee on April 8. The winners from that event will tackle the national finals. Kay Patterson, conducted the school contest. Jackie Moffett, sixth grade teacher, and Mela

Herrera, educational assistant, helped. The National Geographic Society has as its mission the "increase and diffusion of geographic knowledge."

ATTENDS WORKSHOP--Alamogordo's Space Hall of Fame was the site of teacher in-service workshops. The science/art sessions were conducted by Santa Fe artists who incorporated their area in art with the scientific world. Preschool teacher Cheri Goad was among the 20-25 teachers from this part of the state who signed up for the classes. On Jan. 14 artist Lorene Schecter showed participants how to use folded or scored paper sculpture in designing science-related objects. On Jan. 21 artist Jim McGraph went over the New Mexico art competencies for grades 1-8: (1) create art; (2) exhibit sensory awareness and problem solving through art; (3) respond to art and aesthetic judgments; (4) experience historical and cultural art; and (5) appreciate and produce visual arts independently. McGraph instructed on how natural vegetation and artifacts could be used to create collages. Natural and artificial sponges were used to print various designs in paint.

STUDENT AID--Do you have a fear of forms or hate to prepare forms? Counselor Michael Gaines is making plans to hold a financial aid workshop for parents and seniors. He will line up experts in the application filling business to guide parents and students. Meanwhile representatives from various colleges have made plans to visit with interested students. Seniors interested in technical schools discuss with Gaines financial aid, admissions and ask pertinent questions. Whether a student is college bound or seeks a vocational school, Gaines will find answers for students interested in continuing education goals.

FREE THROW--Carrizozo Municipal School students have an opportunity to compete in a freethrow championship. School counselor Gaines has the sign up sheet in his office. The competition is for boys and girls ages 10 through 14. The event will be held Saturday, Jan. 29 at 1 p.m. at Ruidoso Middle Gym. Ruidoso Knights of Columbus is hosting the event.

Lady Grizzlies Go 2-1 In District

The Lady Grizzlies traveled to Mountainair Friday night and lost a heartbreaker in the final three minutes.

The first half ended with Mountainair leading only by two, 13-11. With 3 minutes left in the game Zozo trailed by only 4 points. However, freethrows (or lack of) made the difference. The Lady Grizzlies were 8 for 26 in the game. Zozo's defense, again, played an outstanding game. Scoring for the Lady Grizzlies were--Rachel Archuleta with 5 points, Lynette Hernandez 2, Jessica Estrella 15, Lori Gibson 5, and Naomi Vallejos 1.

The Lady Grizzlies play Capitan tonight (Thursday) in Carrizozo. Hondo at Hondo Friday...and then on to Fort Sumner Saturday. Coach Moffett thinks that Capitan and Fort Sumner are perhaps two of the best class A girls' teams in the state.

Saturday night the Lady Grizzly basketball team surprised Vaughn in the Zozo gym. The Lady Grizzlies controlled the tempo throughout the game. Final score, Carrizozo 32, Vaughn 25.

The Lady Grizzlies did cut down on their turnovers. However, are continuing to have a difficult time at the freethrow line. For the game, Carrizozo hit only 10 of 27 for 37%.

The defense did an outstanding job. Vaughn had scored 60 points the night before vs a good Mountainair team. Jessica Estrella led all scorers with 10 points. Also seeing scoring action was Rachel Archuleta 6, Lynette Hernandez 1, Lori Gibson 4, Katie Hightower 2, Naomi Vallejos 5, and Keri Shafer with 2.

Through 3 district games the Lady Grizzlies have averaged 35 points per game. Defensively, the Lady Grizzlies have only allowed an average of 28 points per game. "I am so very proud of our girls states Coach Moffett! Their attitude is great, all work extremely hard in practice...we cry together after a loss--and cry together after a win! That's what it's all about! Amen!"

FORT STANTON FACTS & FICTION

First off the weather report says we just might have a little moisture before the week is out. A rain shower Monday afternoon was welcomed by all and produced a beautiful rainbow. This is always one of my favorite scenes. The two colts, "Chappo" and "Silky" were really showing off after having a good bath. I was so happy this morning after working patiently for over six months. Chappo finally stepped up in the covered trailer. I had almost given up on him. Everyone should be lucky enough to have animals like these that bring so much joy!

Betty Ann and Mac Bell called to tell us that they are the proud grandparents of a new baby girl, named Mykala Marie, who was born on Jan. 22 to Beverly and Clifford Gunn. Johnny Bond, the great-grandmother and the grandparents visited the new arrival and reported little sister Kaitlyn was happy to have a playmate. We are still waiting for our "little one." Monday was supposed to be the day, but we are still looking. I predict the full moon will have something to do with the time.

Many friends of Bennie and Carol Peterson enjoyed the open house at the Pizza Place in Capitán Saturday. The pizzas they are making are really good. Stop in and try one. Carol always makes you feel welcome, with her big smile and friendly hellos.

Francis Saiz is very proud of her son Rudy Saiz. He recently attended the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center in Artesia, completing the DARE Program in Class #402. He was there for two weeks and graduated on Jan. 14. We are all proud of you, Rudy.

Carmen Burch is glad to have Spencer home and on the road to recovery after he had a couple of heart attacks. He was taken to Albuquerque and had the surgery to open up his blood vessels. The problem now is he is feeling so good he wants to do too much. Take care Spencer and we are glad you are doing so well.

Patsy Racher left for Iowa last Sunday where she will spend a week with her youngest sister, Edie Lawrence. Edie was the victim of a drive by shooting over a week ago. She was in the hospital for over a week, but is now home and doing fairly well.

Ronald and Teresa report they are very busy in Kansas. Ronald's company gives their employees a free trip each year. This year he got to go on a skiing trip to Frisco, Colorado for the weekend. Twenty-five other employees enjoyed the skiing also. The only bad thing was Teresa had to stay home and keep the homefires burning. Ronald will be coming to New Mexico on Feb. 9. Ron and another employee will be going to NMSU to try and get interested students to go to work for them in Kansas. We hope to get to see him on this two day visit.

Ronald said he had heard from Mike Lunn and he was in an automobile accident in Dallas around the first of the year. He had a dislocated shoulder and a mile concussion but was doing better.

Stay and Kelvin Reynolds were a very handsome couple at their wedding Jan. 15. The bridesmaids in their bright pink dresses and the groomsmen in their wranglers and white shirts with vests made a beautiful wedding party. Two special people who were very proud of the couple was Pauline Whitaker and her boyfriend Alton. Pauline was dressed in a royal blue outfit and looked like a bride herself. The Graham Brothers made the music for the reception held in the fair building, and they were even coordinated with pink western shirts and black wranglers. Joyce, you and Kenny and Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds did a super job in helping plan the special day. Congratulations to all of you.

Chris Peralta and Shane Carpenter were another year older on Jan. 15. Happy birthday to both of you.

"Cookie" Harris of Gallup has been visiting her sister Janice Herd and Barry for a few days. Know she is enjoying the new nephew, Sever, who is growing like a little weed.

Liz Sambrano is back working after breaking her leg. She is still in a cast but is keeping us all straight. Glad you're doing better Liz.

Janet Delgado and Carol Luna took Carol's son to have a checkup in Albuquerque last week. Everything was ok with him.

Nigger Britton walked to town last week to get a hair cut. This was his first long walk after having hip surgery. He is doing very well. Know all your friends are happy to hear this.

Two thoughts for the week: "Frustration is when the same snow that covers the ski slopes makes the roads to them impassable." "The worst prison would be a closed heart."

The 39th annual Smokey Bear Parade begins at 10 a.m. This year's theme will be Happy Birthday Smokey. The parade is sponsored by Capitán Chamber of Commerce.

Immediately following the parade there will be a barbecue and the Old West Ranch Rodeo at the fairgrounds. The July 4 festivities will culminate with the final performance of the Smokey Bear Stampede and Rodeo at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds in Capitán at 7 p.m. The final dance of the weekend will be held at 9 p.m. at the fairgrounds also.

Friends of Smokey will sponsor the Mutton Bustin' and Calf scramble events during the Stampede performances.

Smokey Bear's birthday will not end with the July 4 weekend however.

On August 3-9, Friends of Smokey is sponsoring a reenactment of Smokey Bear's original flight to Washington D.C. Pilot Ed Wach will fly his Piper Cub aircraft along the same route which took the original bear cub on his way to the National Zoo in Washington D.C. The flight is coordinated to arrive in Washington D.C. on August 9, the official day for Smokey Bear's 50th anniversary. Smokey Bear was first unveiled to the public by the U.S. Forest Service on August 9, 1944, on a poster promoting fire prevention. Friends hope to coordinate the flight with the Washington D.C. activities.

On August 6, Friends of Smokey will hold their second annual Smokey Bear Trail Ride to the living Smokey's rescue site in the Capitán Mountains. The ride begins at 9 a.m. Participants in the trail ride are invited to ride in the Old Lincoln Days parade held the following day, Aug. 7, in Lincoln.

Mid Year Budget . . .

position, telephone funds, and insurance. The actual insurance payment was less than the amount budgeted, as was the case in most of the other departments.

The special roads projects department increased by $342,728, because of several changes made mid-way in the projects. The funding however, is a flow-through account, with money coming from the state.

No changes were reported to the budgets of the Farm and Range predatory project, and recreation for Carrizozo swimming pool. Special programs increased by $2,500 because of a one-time payment to the Village of Ruidoso for the Ruidoso Care food program for the elderly.

Bonito Fire Department budget increased by $225, mainly because of per diem and mileage payments. Commissioners questioned the large amount in light of a controversy with the fire chief over questionable travels charged to the department. Wynham said that in the next budget cycle the five department budgets will be reviewed. In the past the county commission accepted the fire department budgets with the belief that they had no control. However, they learned the county has final say over how fire department funds are spent. All fire department funds come from the state and are administered by the county.

Fort Stanton Fire Department had no change in its budget, as did Hondo, Nogal and Glencoe/Palo Verde Fire Departments. Lincoln Fire Department showed an increase of $10,000 to reflect the loan from the county for the pumper tanker. Glencoe is currently constructing a substation which, once completed, will result in the department receiving more money from the state for the department.

Mill Levy Capital Outlay department decreased by $1,695, even after additions of $10,500 for furniture for the treasurer and detention and a computer and printer for detention. The major savings in the department came in bids for the new ambulances which came in $10,000 less than was budgeted.

The mill levy funds for Lincoln County facilities did not change, nor did the budget for the lease purchases made with the gas tax fund.

Lodgers' Tax fund increased by $232.89, which was a reimbursement made to a lodger who overpaid the tax.

Corrections increased by $5,682.33 because of the salary increase. Commissioners expressed concern over the $2,000 increase in the budget for telephone to the jail. Wynham said he has asked the jail administrator to get a handle on the telephone costs, however, some attorneys for prisoners are making long distance calls on the jail phone.

Drug Enforcement had no increase, because the salary increase was offset by a decrease of $3,789 in a line item named "drug enforcement."

Sheriff's Seizure did not change. The department provides contract services for a drug dog, confidential funds and so on. The revenue for the seizure fund comes from money and items forfeited from persons arrested on drug possession/distribution charges.

The re-appraisal fund decreased by $1,875, even with the increase in wages for the employees. Assessor Patsy Serna said the re-appraisal fund is supposed to be used for just capital outlay items.

No changes were made in the EMS grant, the Hospital Fund, the Lincoln County Medical Center and Alto Paving Assessment District.

The Chapter 96 fund for police equipment balanced evenly because of cuts made in vehicle and radio equipment purchases.

Senior Citizens, Carrizozo increased by $2,675 because of increases for salaries, worker's compensation, office supplies, telephone, heating, equipment maintenance and mileage. Capitan Senior Citizens increased by $782 due to increases in salaries, telephone and electric. Equipment maintenance was decreased. Corona Center balanced perfectly by cutting departments to offset the salary increases. San Patricio also balanced, due to a reduction in the staff.

No changes were made in the Alto Debt Service fund, the Solid Waste Authority Environmental Gross Receipts payments, Enhanced 911 fund and board, and the Community Development Block Grant fund.

Budget adjustments were made in the following areas: $2,538.50 from the mill levy for Economic Development Corporation to the general fund; $10,902 from Lincoln County Development fund to the general fund; $218,705 from the general fund to special programs; $900 from the general fund to the E-911 board.

After adjustments were made, the county's budget mid-way in the 1993-94 fiscal year was shown to be some 45 percent expended. In all departments the general fund is the most prudent, expending some $927,000 less than what was received in revenue. Road, Special programs, Capitan Outlay, facilities improvements, corrections, drug enforcement and Zia Senior citizens were the most costly, all requiring transfers to balance their budgets.

Ruidoso Manager Compliments Lewandowski For Transition

by Doris Cherry

From nails to money, Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority members conducted a gripe session Monday.

School Road (the road that leads to Capitan Landfill) resident John Wilson requested payment for tires ruined because of nails on the roadway. Wilson, and some 18 other residents signed a petition calling for closure of the construction landfill, as did school bus contractor Frank Silva.

But closing the landfill is not an option, since it has several years life left, and there is no other location for the county's construction trash. However, LCSWA manager Joe Lewandowski told Wilson that the landfill supervisor Ronnie Montes will begin a program of sweeping the road with a large magnet every Monday. And the landfill supervisors will advise haulers to sweep out their trailers and trucks after they dump at the landfill, to prevent any nails from bouncing out on the road.

Wilson presented the board a bill of $790 for flats fixed, and purchase of new and used tires, and asked LCSWA pay him for the damages. But LCSWA attorney Bob Beauvais recommended Wilson file a claim with the LCSWA liability insurance carrier.

LCSWA vehicles have also gotten flat tires, but not as frequently as Wilson.

LCSWA member Wilton Howell recommended getting the sheriff to police the road to slow down the unsecured loads. Lewandowski agreed saying haulers would soon get the word out if they are fined for unsecured loads.

Lewandowski said his office also has mailed out letters to LCSWA commercial accounts that use the landfill, advising them of the new hours—8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, with closures on Sunday and Monday, effective Feb. 1. Also the letter advises haulers about the Lincoln County ordinance against littering, and possible fining for violations. The letter asks haulers to be sure nothing is falling through the bed of the trailer or truck onto the road.

LCSWA member Bill Schwettmann suggested building a side road just for trash haulers to prevent any future nail problems, or pave the existing road.

Lewandowski said another solution would be to purchase a tub grinder that pulverizes construction trash and separates nails and metal with a magnet. The tub grinder would be located at the transfer station. But the $70,000 price tag for such a unit puts that option in the distant future.

A question of how to enforce the littering ordinance on securing loads led Lewandowski to ask the county commission representatives Howell and Schwettmann to consider revising the ordinance to give LCSWA manager or designated representative enforcement power to cite violators. Beauvais said the immediate solution is to drag the magnet over the road as often as is needed to prevent the nail problem. By doing that LCSWA and the county (which owns and maintains the road) would show they are making good faith efforts to remedy the problem.

"We take the position that we are acting responsibly," Beauvais said.

A revised midyear budget presented by Lewandowski came under scrutiny by member Howell before it was approved by the board. Howell, who voted no on the budget revision, questioned why the salaries for the transfer station were adjusted to be $46,000 higher than the original budget. Several other items were also adjusted to a higher amount than the original budget approved in June 1993.

Lewandowski said he moved an employee from recycling to the transfer station because the employee was writing permits and other work with the transfer station.

Other LCSWA members reminded Howell that this budget was made with no history, since LCSWA began actual collection operations in spring 1993.

Also some $130,000 in unpaid bills for workers compensation, FICA, PERA and so on from the former year and former manager had to be paid out of this year's budget. And such operational costs as the landfill were higher than budgeted.

Howell said he had approved a salary increase for cost of living last year only if it did not mean a mid-year budget increase. He also wanted monthly financial statements that showed the actual expenditures/revenues and budget for each department, not just overall figures. He and other members also wanted the actual expenditures and revenues listed on the budget.

Members Schwettmann, J.D. James and Jerry Shaw supported Lewandowski because of the lack of history for LCSWA. "The budget figures were wrong," Schwettmann said. "As a board we came up with the budget with Gene Green (former manager)."

"It looks like he's (Lewandowski) being penalized for something which happened last year. You've got to have experience to come up with an educated estimate (for budget). This was a new company operated very loosely," James said.

Shaw said LCSWA hired a manager with no public background. "I feel like Joe is getting unnecessary heat," she said.

After considerable discussion about the budget, Lewandowski said that the budget shows the cost for the level of services now being offered.

"If that's what it takes, Shaw said, "I'll go with this."

New Ruidoso village manager Gary Jackson made some comments as a spectator. He complimented Lewandowski for what he is doing during the transition. He recommended giving the board all financial statements for all items for a few months. Once a new budget is made, then go back to the recaps. Also he reminded that the payments made for the prior year impacted the budget.

The budget does reflect a cash balance of 1/12 of the total budget amount as required of municipalities.

Finally, after Howell questioned the amount for legal fees being adjusted up, the board voted to approve the mid-year budget revision which will be sent to the state Department of Finance and Administration. All members present but Howell voted for the revision.

Eagle Creek Summer Home owners will not receive a break on their trash bills just because they can only occupy the houses for six months. For several months the Eagle Creek homeowners asked they be exempted for paying for trash year round because the Forest Service, on whose property the houses are built, allows habitation for only six months.

Last month, LCSWA had voted to allow the homeowners association bill each home owner, then pay the trash bills on a six month basis in one lump sum. But Schwettmann said that would create problems with the Alto home owners, many of whom are at their houses less than six months in a year. Yet they are paying for trash service year round.

Howell said he was told by a propane delivery man that gas is delivered to some of the homes even in the winter, disproving a claim last month that the owners cannot access told about a simple assignment she gave her students in home ec class where each student could easily make an A but only seven out of 17 students turned in the assignment.

"I have got to have some help," Patterson said. "I sent out over 80 deficiencies and maybe six or seven parents came to talk to me." She told about how in previous years the students in Biology II received all As and Bs and now "some As and Bs" are earned by the students.

"I want some help. Tell me how to get some help," Patterson said. "I've got to have some help from the parents, community and kids."

Teacher Kay Patterson said in her 27 years in education she had watched the expectations of the students lower. "I think we as educators would like to see it put in proper perspective. The biggest percentage of kids do not go past the 12th grade."

Parent Steve LaBelle said he thought the first thing lies in the teachers themselves and mentioned some students going outside the school for tutoring.

LaBelle said he thought if the school board does pass the eligibility policy that many students will go to Capitan to school.

School board president Jan Barham explained there had been a rule in the school for several years about grades except for the past couple of years.

When asked why the policy had been stopped if it was a good policy, school board member Nick Serna explained that when a coach left the new coach did not follow through with the policy.

Parent Mary Funk asked about the school making it a rule and not a policy.

Parent Allen Langley said he thought grades needed to come first.

One student said if the policy was slapped on more kids would cheat and some would move. He thought it would be better to phase in the policy.

Parent Cheryl LaBelle asked if the eligibility policy would only be for sports and was told it would be for all extra curricular activities.

Some parents believed that if the school board does approve the eligibility policy during the Feb. 15 meeting it will penalize some of the students who do keep their grades up but will not be allowed to play because there are not enough players who do keep their grades up.

Barham said, "It is not our intention to penalize."

Mariann Patterson said she had asked counselor Mike Gaines if the school could have some former students, "come back and tell the kids to get busy."

Barham said she believed kids will be kids and will get away with what they can. She agreed with Mariann Patterson that academics are taking a nosedive.

"The goal is for everybody to be successful," Barham said.

The issue will be on the Feb. 15 school board meeting agenda.

the houses in the winter months.

Unanimously the board voted to not approve a commercial account for the homeowners on a six month charge.

Alan Briley, Ruidoso representative, was elected vice-chairman and appointed to the LCSWA variance committee.

The new Otero/Lincoln County Regional Landfill opened Tuesday, and already LCSWA has received a reimbursement on its environmental gross receipts taxes (EGRT). The landfill was financed with a revenue bond which used the EGRT from all six LCSWA and four Otero County Solid Waste Authority members as collateral.

With tipping fees for trash coming into the landfill, it is expected that those revenues will pay off the bond and the EGRT pledged will be 100 percent reimbursed to LCSWA and OCSWA. Once returned to LCSWA, the EGRT will be used to pay off the entities' assets purchases, which were made on a 15 year basis. Anything above those asset payments will go into the LCSWA general fund to be used where needed.

LCSWA members also commended Dr. Bernie Reimann for his excellent site assessment documents for the Capitan construction landfill. A certificate of appreciation will be presented to Dr. Reimann, who has also given his volunteer time toward the Capitan Wetlands project, the county 911 emergency phone project and a current undisclosed project. He did all work for LCSWA with no payment.

Member James also requested that all Village of Ruidoso logos on LCSWA vehicles be replaced with LCSWA logos, and that all LCSWA vehicles be kept in a clean and presentable condition. He had received complaints about the appearance of the LCSWA vehicles which bear the Ruidoso Sanitation logos.

The board accepted the recycling audit which showed few problems, except the need to have different staff handle accounting, banking and handling of funds as a safe guard.

A problem with unnecessary chatter on the LCSWA radios was pointed out. The FCC plans to visit the area soon to audit the area radio frequency. Briley asked that LCSWA look into its own frequency, but Lewandowski said it will cost about $15,000.

The board met in an executive session for personnel and pending litigation for about 10 minutes. No action was taken after the session, and it was announced the litigation was not needed.

The meeting ended with member Bill Allen congratulating Lewandowski for his work in turning LCSWA completely around. After a short applause from most members, the meeting was adjourned.

The next LCSWA meeting is Feb. 12, at 10 a.m.

The Original . . . Sheriff's Report

Lincoln County Sheriff's Office is investigating a series of fires, suspected to be arson, in the Hondo valley last week. County fire departments were also busy with several other fires last week. Dry conditions throughout the area warrant extreme caution with any fire. Care should also be taken when disposing fireplace/wood stove ashes.

Anyone wishing to conduct a controlled burn should contact the New Mexico State Forestry Office in Capitan, or their local fire department.

The following information was taken from dispatch records at the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office in Carrizozo:

9:25 a.m. a grass fire was reported one-half mile west of Tinnie at mile marker 289 on Highway 70. Hondo Fire Department responded.

10:45 a.m. a grass fire was reported on the old Fort Stanton Road. Bonito Fire Department responded. New Mexico State Forestry (NMSF) responded with two units, U.S. Forest Service also responded.

1:09 p.m. Hondo Fire Department advised of a grass and orchard fire at mile marker 284 and half on Highway 70.

3:10 p.m. Corona Ambulance advised it was in service on a run to Alamogordo.

6:43 p.m. a possible drunk-on driver was reported on Hale Lake Road. A brown and beige pick up had gone off the road, and the driver was possibly passed out in the drivers' seat. New Mexico State Police (NMSF) responded.

6:52 p.m. damage was reported to school property at Capitan High School gym. The complainant, an employee at the school, requested an officer at the gym because the Hondo School bus had a windshield busted. Capitan police responded.

Jan. 19:
Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority reported property damage at a convenience store in Alto. Damage was done to the trash bins. A deputy took a report.

6:29 p.m. an ambulance was requested at Capitan Village Hall for a 19 year old male with a possible stroke. Capitan ambulance transported the patient to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso.

9:08 p.m. a grass fire was reported on Highway 37, just north of Nogal. By 9:41 p.m. Nogal Fire Department had the 30 foot wide fire put out, and advised it would stand by for hot spots.

Jan. 20:
1:39 p.m. an ambulance was requested at a Carrizozo area residence for a cardiac patient. Carrizozo ambulance transported the patient to LCMC.

4:18 p.m. two juveniles were reported missing in the Ruidoso area. The complainant reported her 14 year old daughter and her 12 year old son were involved in a school walk out regarding a protest and they had not come home. The identities and descriptions of the children were entered into the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) and a deputy responded.

9:45 p.m. Nogal fire department advised of a grass fire. At 11 p.m. the fire chief advised they were on route back to the shed, the fires were out.
Jan. 21:

11:24 a.m. an ambulance was requested at a residence on Smokey Bear Blvd. in Capitan. Capitan ambulance transported the patient to LCMC.

A stray dog was reported by a lower Eagle Creek resident. The animal control officer responded and later advised he set a live animal trap at the location and caught the dog. He put the animal to sleep due to the fact the animal had been a stray for about six months. No one could catch the animal, and it was starving and chasing livestock. The black female chow had a red collar with a 1991 rabies tag from a Hobbs veterinarian clinic, and the owner's name.

5:46 p.m. a black dog with a blue collar was reported running loose dog by the railroad tracks in Carrizozo. Carrizozo police were notified.

Jan. 22:

2:35 p.m. harassment was reported by a resident on Birch St. in Carrizozo. The complainant didn't want a subject coming to his house and bothering him. The subject came to the complainant's house a few nights ago and said he was state police. Carrizozo police responded but found no one at home.

3:06 p.m. an animal bite was reported. The bite occurred at the Humane Society and the victim was at LCMC. The responding deputy made the initial report and was to turn the case over to the animal control officer.

4:49 p.m. a theft of skis at Ski Apache was reported by a complainant staying at a Ruidoso area hotel. A deputy advised the complainant to meet him at Ruidoso Police Department.

8:48 p.m. a grass fire was reported at mile marker 278 on Highway 70 in Glencoe. The fire was between the highway and the river. Glencoe Fire Department responded with four fire fighters.

10:19 p.m. a grass fire was reported at the same location as the one reported at 8:48 p.m. The complainant suspect-

Eating A Diet With Fiber Is Important

by BETTY McCREIGHT
Lincoln County
Home Economist

Eating a diet that contains sufficient fiber is important. The beneficial effects of dietary fiber—including preventive and therapeutic roles—have been shown by numerous studies.

The American Dietetic Association (ADA) recently reaffirmed its position that the public be encouraged to increase consumption of dietary fiber from a variety of foods. ADA and numerous professional health care organizations recommend diets that emphasize increased complex carbohydrates and fiber, and decreased fat as a way to prevent certain diseases.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Guide Pyramid encourages consumption of 6-11 servings daily from the bread, cereal, rice and pasta group; 3-5 servings from the vegetable group, and 2-4 servings from the fruit group. These contain generous amounts of fiber along with other vitamins and minerals. Although a recommended dietary allowance for fiber has not been established, the current evidence suggests that high-carbohydrate, low-fat diets containing 20 to 35 grams of dietary fiber per day from a variety of food sources may be beneficial for health promotion and disease risk reduction in the healthy adult population of the United States.

The American Academy of Pediatrics does not advance the inclusion of dietary fiber for infants less than 1 year of age and cautions that diets emphasizing high-fiber/low energy foods may be inadequate in energy. However, children and adolescents should consume dietary fiber from a wide variety of sources in servings and amounts appropriate for their age.

Food, not dietary fiber supplements, provides the best means of increasing daily consumption of both soluble and insoluble dietary fiber to the recommended levels. Foods high in fiber are also good sources of additional nutrients. Taking fiber supplements in place of high-carbohydrate, nutrient-dense foods is not recommended.

Both soluble and insoluble fiber help to normalize bowel function. Insoluble fibers have a laxative effect, speed intestinal movement, increase fecal bulk and reduce gastrointestinal pressure.

Dietary fiber plays both a therapeutic and preventive role in the management of gastrointestinal diseases and is used to treat constipation. The effects of dietary fiber may also be beneficial in the treatment of diverticular diseases and related disorders, including hemorrhoids.

Dietary fiber is known to be beneficial in the management of certain diseases, including cardiovascular disease, diabetes and obesity. Soluble fibers have been shown to improve glucose tolerance and serum lipid profiles.

Dietary fiber may be helpful in improving blood sugar control in individuals with diabetes. Since higher fiber diets are lower in energy, they are also less likely to contribute to the development of obesity. High-fiber diets containing generous amounts of complex carbohydrates and limited amounts of fat exert a triglyceride-lowering effect.

Dietary fiber is material from plant cell walls that is resistant to digestion by human digestive enzymes. Water-soluble fibers (pectins, gums, mucilages and some hemicellulose) delay intestinal transit, delay gastric emptying and glucose absorption, and decrease serum cholesterol concentration. Water-insoluble fiber (lignin, cellulose and the remaining hemicellulose) increase intestinal transit, increase fecal weight, slow starch hydrolysis and delay glucose absorption.

Soluble fiber is found in generous amounts in oats, legumes, apples and citrus fruits. Insoluble fiber is found in generous amounts in wheat bran and other whole-grain breads and cereals.
