

Capacity Crowd Attends Hazardous Waste Hearing

by Doris Cherry

With three state and village police officers present, a capacity crowd filled the Ruidoso Village Council chambers to hear from the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission representative who spoke before the New Mexico legislative interim committee on Nuclear and Hazardous Waste September 22.

But no one in the audience, except Ruidoso Mayor Jerry Shaw as chairman of the MRS

Regional Monitoring Committee and Shean Bjoralt of the Prairie Island Coalition Against Nuclear Storage of Minnesota, spoke. Legislative committee chairman Senator Tom Rutherford said there was little need for the public to speak at the hearing, since the committee knew the position of most of those present—against the proposed Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) nuclear waste facility on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

The Mescalero Tribal Council is negotiating with a consortium of private nuclear power companies to construct a privately operated MRS on tribal lands. The council has said the MRS will provide economic incentives and employment for the tribe which has high unemployment. The preferred site for the MRS is in the Three Rivers area on the western side of the reservation, which committee members toured after their lunch Thursday.

The committee, consisting of Rutherford, Senator Virgil Rhodes, Representative Robert Light, Senator Patrick Lyons, Rep. Wesley Grau, Rep. Ramon Huerta, Rep. John Underwood, Rep. Blake Curtis and Senator Gary Don Reagan, heard a report from Charles Haughney chief of the Storage and Transportation System Branch of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) concerning Spent Fuel Storage Technologies and Licensing Requirements.

Haughney said the NRC will have an active role in the licensing process for any private MRS venture. Currently, the NRC has no license process underway for an MRS, Haughney said. However, if any license process begins, it will involve several public meetings in this area and in Washington D.C. and the completion of numerous design plans and site studies. Rep. Underwood (from Lincoln County and parts of Otero County) was concerned that the Mescalero's claim to sovereignty as a tribe might be used as an argument to bypass the NRC licensing requirements. "Absolutely not," Haughney said. "The tribe may be sovereign but it still is property of the United States. They (Mescaleros) can't do this alone." The rapidly approaching limit to storage of the used (SEE PAGE 2)

Election Ballots Include Fourteen Constitutional Amendments

The General Election is Tuesday, November 8. This year, voters who are unable, or who merely just wish to do so, can cast their ballots during the Early Absentee Voting period which begins today Thursday, September 29. From today until November 6 any registered voter can cast an early absentee ballot by going to the county clerk's office in the courthouse in Carrizozo and requesting the early absentee ballot. The voter must cast the ballot at the courthouse. Voters can also cast ballots by the traditional absentee ballot method, which requires the voter to request an application for the ballot, which is returned to the voter either in person, or by mail. Absentee voters, whether early or traditional, need not specify a reason for requesting the absentee ballot. For those who do not vote by absentee, election day will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday, November 8. Along with candidates for US senator, US representative, governor/lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general, commissioner of public lands, corporation commissioner, Judge of the Court of Appeals, state representative, district judge, district magistrates (two divisions), county commissioner in some districts, county clerk and county treasurer the ballot will include 13 constitutional amendments and five bond questions. This week THE NEWS will review the 13 constitutional amendments, as listed in a short form on the ballot, and as further explained in the resolutions calling for the vote on the amendments. Other comments are derived from the Arguments for and Against the Constitutional Amendments Proposed by the Legislature from the New Mexico Legislative Council Service in the state capitol building. The 14 constitutional amendments on the ballot were proposed by the 41st New Mexico State Legislature during its 1993 and 1994 sessions. On the ballot, the amendments are written in both English and Spanish. (SEE PAGE 10)

Capitan Says Lots Must Be Legal To Get Water

Owners of any illegally subdivided lots or tracts in Capitan will not be eligible to receive water unless the lots are approved by the village planning and zoning board and the village trustees. Capitan Village Trustees, during a special meeting Monday, approved a resolution which requires owners of illegally subdivided property to petition the village Planning and Zoning Board (P&Z) for a replat to bring the subdivisions into compliance with state law. The illegally subdivided lots will not be eligible for water unless the owners have petitioned the village P&Z for approval of the replat and final approval is given by the Trustees. The resolution also authorizes a proposed ordinance which will set requirements for the replatting of lots or tracts, with the primary consideration for approval or disapproval being the availability of water which will be determined by the Water Advisory Board and P&Z. The resolution was prompted by a request from property owner Randy White who was seeking to get water on a subdivided lot in Mesa Verde subdivision which was never properly recorded with the village. The lot was formed when a larger subdivision tract was annexed into the village, then later divided into two separate lots without village approval. The new lots were recorded as such in the county assessor's office and were taxed. Further research at the county assessor's office showed that several large tracts in the village had been divided, without P&Z and trustee prior approval. The village, unable to provide water to all legally platted

Carrizozo Council Closed Session Is Not Publicized

The posted agenda for the Carrizozo Town Council meeting Tuesday listed routine business and indicated the meeting could be concluded in record time with no closed sessions. At the beginning of the meeting the board of trustees agreed to add a closed session for contractual negotiations, even though there was no closed session publicized as is required by state law and the town of Carrizozo's Resolution 94-02 concerning meetings of the governing body and public notice required. According to number 6 in the resolution: If any meeting is closed pursuant to exclusions contained Section 10-15-1, Subsection H, NMSA 1978, such closed meeting called by a policy-making body shall not be held until public notice, appropriate under the circumstances, and in compliance with Section 1 through 4 of this Resolution, has been given. In addition, such notice shall state the exclusions in Section 10-15-1, Subsection H, NMSA 1978 of the Open Meetings Act, under which such closed meeting is permitted. Resolution 94-02 was passed, adopted and approved by the board of trustees at the January 11, 1994 meeting. The closed session at the meeting Tuesday was held for contractual negotiations. Action taken by the board after the closed session, none of which were listed on the publicized agenda, were: approval for the town to stop contractual negotiations with Dr. Duley for the airport, to advertise for a joint venture operator at the airport, and to (SEE PAGE 3)

Ruidoso Council Sets Hotel Lease Hearing

Ruidoso Village Council will give the public opportunity to comment on a lease agreement between the village and ALLHUB Investments for lease of the old airport property for a resort hotel. The negotiated lease agreement was presented to the village council just before its meeting Tuesday. Terms of the agreement provide for a lease period of 50 years, with rental of $5,000 a year to be paid to the village. The village will receive gross receipts and lodgers' taxes from the rent of rooms, and gross receipts from the restaurant (except sales of alcoholic beverages.) The lease will allow ALLHUB the right to conduct gaming activities at the hotel premises without prior written approval of the village, if the gambling becomes legal within the state of New Mexico. Also in the lease is an article which gives ALLHUB the right to rescind the lease, any time prior to the beginning of construction of a hotel. Construction, according to terms of the lease, must commence within two years after the signing of the lease. Other specific terms of lease are spelled out in the agreement. (SEE PAGE 2)

Village manager Gary Jackson, who was involved with the negotiations, said the $10-15 million improvements (hotel) represent a substantial investment in the Ruidoso community. "The package was a very workable situation," Jackson said of the agreement. The agreement calls for a hotel of at least 150 rooms, to be located between the Links of Sierra Blanca Golf Course and the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center. A copy of the agreement is available for review at Ruidoso Village Administration Center. The council scheduled a public hearing concerning the proposed lease to be held during the regular council meeting Tuesday, October 25. The public will have opportunity to express comments on the lease at that time, after which the council will either approve or reject the agreement. Mayor Jerry Shaw said the staff and agreement committee are real excited about the lease. "We're on a roll now in Ruidoso," the mayor said. The council also heard a glowing report about the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally which attracted some 15,000 people to the village. (SEE PAGE 2)

County To Consider Land Use Ordinance At Meeting Tuesday

Lincoln County Commissioners will consider the first reading of a proposed ordinance to establish a public land use advisory council (PLUAC) at their regular meeting Oct. 4. The proposed ordinance concerns reclaiming public lands from federal government as provided by the United States Constitution.

nuclear power plant fuel rods at nuclear power reactor sites has created an urgency in locating an MRS. Federal plans for a permanent storage facility for the fuel rods, which are highly radioactive, have been stalled for various reasons. Nuclear power plants, and at least one state, Minnesota, are against storage of the rods at the reactor sites.

Haughney said, "The NRC is neutral regarding whether rods should be stored on or off site (reactors)."

Haughney did say that in his opinion it will be better to concentrate the materials in fewer number of storage sites, mainly because there is a dwindling supply of federal nuclear regulators to monitor the facilities.

With the help of graphs and slides Haughney showed how fuel rods, which are kept in bundles 9 inches square by 10 feet long, must be "cooled" five years after leaving the reactor before they can be stored because of the intense heat. The most dangerous time in handling the fuel rods will be when the materials are lifted from their water filled cooling tanks and placed into the dry storage casks. It is at that time the rods could theoretically start reacting and generating radiation and heat again. However, Haughney said that type of situation has never happened, and no accidents have yet happened in moving the fuel rods to dry storage.

Since none of the fuel materials can be handled directly, a crucial element of storage will be shielding. Haughney said NRC is close to certifying two designs of casks that will allow both transport and storage of the nuclear fuel waste. The designs will minimize handling of the radioactive materials. The casks for railroad transport will be about 125 tons, mainly because of the lead, steel and concrete shielding and will hold 24 bundles of fuel rods. That caused concern with the committee members because of the 50,000 pound weight limits for New Mexico highways. Haughney said most truck cask designs would hold only one fuel rod assembly, which would meet most normal weight limits for highways. However there are some designs which would hold up to four rod assemblies.

Thousands of fuel rods are now waiting to be placed in some type of storage. With the limit on how many rods can be transported at a time, committee chairman Rutherford said that, "Trains will bring them here day in and day out for years and years."

Haughney also reviewed some of the basic design criteria for the transport/storage casks; the site design criteria; and site specific licensing procedures. The licensing process provides opportunity for public hearings, if requested, and an appellate process. Some of the process can be litigated in the federal court system.

Rutherford said that the NRC should expect some agency of New Mexico to ask for hearings if the licensing of a MRS should come up against state law.

The State of Minnesota recently enacted legislation forbidding the storage of nuclear fuel waste at the reactor sites in the state. If the fuel company does not find an alternative site out of state, Minnesota says it will close down the power plants. Underwood said because of this urgency, the power companies are "looking to New Mexico to store their waste."

Haughney also showed pictures of storage facilities located at nuclear reactors, and drawings of proposed MRS facilities.

Mayor Shaw said, "We collectively believe the MRS would not be good for our economy in Ruidoso. We believe it would be harmful psychologically if no other way."

Bjoralt with the Minnesota Prairie Island Coalition against Nuclear Storage in Minnesota also spoke on that state's efforts to prevent storage of spent nuclear fuels.

Bjoralt, Dennis Banks of the American Indian Movement, Joe Campbell of the Mewakantan Community in Prairie Island, MN; Dorothy Purley of the Laguna Pueblo in New Mexico; Mary Olson with the Nuclear Information Resource Service in Washington D.C. and Rufina Marie Laws, with Humans Against Nuclear-Waste Dumps of Mescalero held a press conference at Plaza De Oros in Ruidoso in the afternoon while the legislative committee toured the proposed MRS site. The group provided information about the hazards of nuclear waste and what is being done about the issue on a state and national level.

Lincoln County May Be Added To List Of Disaster Declarations

Senator Pete Domenici expressed support to adding three more counties to an agricultural disaster declaration request made by the state of New Mexico.

In a letter sent to Sec. of Agriculture Mike Espy, Domenici said that since New Mexico's last request was made, damage assessment reports have related that severe damage was also suffered by producers in Lincoln County as well as Mora and Torrance counties.

New Mexico had requested an agricultural disaster declaration for Chavez, Curry, Quay, Roosevelt, DeBaca, and Harding counties. The state has asked for an inclusion of the additional counties to the request.

Organizer Ron Andrews thanked the council for its support of the event, and the community cooperation. He also thanked the civic center staff for their help in making the rally, which celebrated its 20th anniversary, a great success.

The council also set a public hearing on October 25, for a proposed ordinance which will implement Shoplifting into the Municipal Code for citation into municipal court.

The council also awarded the bid for a new street sweeper to R&M Enterprises with the low bid of $78,571. The highly maneuverable sweeper will accommodate the curving parking areas and curbs of the MainStreet. The council approved the bid of $55,000 for Conley-Lott-Nichols for a used 63WD Gradall excavator for the street department.

The council set a hearing on October 11, to consider an appeal of a Planning and Zoning decision to deny variances for the side and rear lot requirements for Lot 6, Block 1, as requested by owner Flavio Vigil. Vigil was cited for not having a building permit for an addition, and for not complying to side and rear lot requirements.

The week of October 9-15 was declared by the mayor as Fire Prevention Week.

contact the town attorney concerning the negotiations.

Before the closed session, Dr. Duley spoke to the board in open session about the airport. He said a letter he had sent to the town would explain, "how far apart we are" (in negotiations) and added that it would make the Grand Canyon look small. He said there was 15 pages of "legalese" written in the contract.

Dr. Duley also said it was unrealistic for the town to expect someone to be at the airport 24 hours a day seven days a week. He said there had to be at least two people there. He also said it would entail some expense by the town.

The closed session began at 7 p.m. Dr. Duley was called into the closed session at 7:22 p.m. When he returned from the closed session at 7:50 p.m. he said, "We agreed to back off."

The closed session ended at 8:05 p.m.

If other action during the meeting, the board accepted the only proposal for a qualified experienced operator interested in leasing the Rec Center. The proposal was submitted by Tom and Forest Hansell.

The Hansells are presently operating the Rec Center for the interim period until a proposal was accepted.

The town attorney is to be contacted to begin contractual negotiations with the Hansells. A meeting with the town attorney, the Hansells, and the board of trustees is to be scheduled for negotiations.

Forest Hansell presented the only bid she received for repairs to be made to the bathrooms at the Rec Center. The board of trustees declared the situation of the bathrooms as an emergency and gave approval for the mayor to handle the matter administratively.

Resolution 94-12 for increase in 1994-95 budget was approved. The town is to receive money for sale of two vehicles that were in the police department. The money received will go into the law enforcement fund for uniforms, telephone, etc.

Police chief Charlie White presented a preliminary report on the old city hall building that is to be renovated for the S.M. Ortiz Police and Courthouse Complex.

The report noted the condition of the building where a wall has fallen out, and the need for immediate attention. Town crews are to "shore up" the wall/roof to help avoid damage to adjacent property.

White said the engineer is to compile a complete report on the building.

Action was tabled on golf cart fees and the draft resolution for a beautification committee.

The board agreed to reprint 25,000 color brochures for the town, as recommended by the Lodger's Tax Committee.

The town is to research who has physical control, liability, and responsibility for sidewalks.

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Do You Have A Mouse?

By Ruth Hammond

Years ago it was considered in bad taste to mention if you had a mouse in the house, or at work, or inside any building, with the possible exception of a barn. Even then it was not the ideal situation to have a mouse in the barn unless you had a cat and/or cats to help keep the population of mice to a minimum.

Cats were usually found around barns, apparently because of the milk that was often found there, and cats had the same knack for increasing in numbers as said mice did which meant there were always cats and more cats to help eliminate the mice.

Mouse is defined in the dictionary as one of various small rodents frequenting human habitations throughout the world; especially, the common house mouse. The dictionary does not mention there are also field mice, most of which would rather live in a house and often do if they can find an entry.

When most of us find a mouse in our homes, work place, or other building, we might object. Some of us have been known to scream loudly when startled by the little varmints.

Not so today. More homes have a resident mouse than had a telephone at the turn of the century. People consider their resident mouse to be an important part of their lives.

Businesses have also accepted the presence of a mouse in their establishments. Quite often a mouse in a business is not just a fixture, it is a necessary part of their occupation, trade, and/or profession. These people know their mouse is important.

As you may have guessed, the mouse referred to here is not the animal type rodent that at one time was responsible for causing the plague to spread across Europe killing millions of people. The poor mouse was not the culprit that carried the plague. Fleas carried the plague and the mouse carried the fleas.

But the stigma of the mouse being the object that caused the grief back then continues today. The only difference is that today's mouse is not a living thing. It is an electronic gizmo that is attached to a computer and is supposed to help make it easier to work with said computer. This is true only if said mouse will cooperate and there are times when the mouse will refuse, whether willingly or by chance, and the mouse dies.

The death of a mouse should not cause sadness but in a work place it can cause confusion, distress, and annoyance. When the mouse dies it can bring all work to an immediate halt. It is at this time the person responsible for said mouse tries to find a suitable replacement, which should be an easy task.

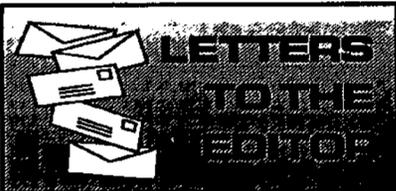

The reason it should be easy to replace a mouse is because it is a component of the computer and any number of the critters should be able to provide the desired effect. If your tire goes flat on your car you can get it repaired or buy another tire. If your clock stops working you can have it repaired or buy another clock. If your typewriter won't type you can try to adjust it and then take it to a typewriter repair specialist. Sounds easy.

Not so with the lowly mouse, the creature that works only if you hold it correctly. Not so with the lowly mouse, the rodent that cats away at your time when it refuses to roll across the mouse pad in an orderly fashion. Not so with the lowly mouse, the seemingly innocent non-animate object that is admired by the electronic world but can cause grief when it does not work.

Having a mouse repaired is possible but it certainly is not an easy task. Experienced computer technicians must perform the necessary surgery (replacing components inside the mouse.) And replacing a mouse is almost impossible. Each mouse has its own unique connections that must be matched properly and exactly.

Years ago when a person searched for a mouse the necessary items were a mouse trap or a cat. Today the necessary person to find the correct mouse is an electronics wizard.

BLM Customer Service Plan Is Available At BLM Offices

WASHINGTON—Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Director Mike Dombeck announced the BLM's Customer Service Plan, which describes the agency's commitment to reinventing government by improving service to all of its customers, such as recreationists, ranchers, miners and environmentalists, as well as the general public.

"We are reinventing the way the BLM does business, as called for by Vice President Gore's National Performance Review," Dombeck said. The BLM Director made his comments on Customer Service Day, which highlighted Federal agencies' efforts to be more responsive to their customers' needs.

The BLM's Customer Service Plan says the agency "will seek out the best business practices and measure performance against them." The plan states, among other things, that customers making telephone or written requests for information about recreational uses of campgrounds will receive a response within five business days.

Dombeck also announced that two BLM teams of employees have received Vice President Gore's "Hammer Award" for their efforts to reinvent government. The teams are the BLM's Branch of Reservoir Management in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and the agency's Idaho Ecosystem Management Project Team in Boise, Idaho. Both teams were cited for improving service to customers while saving money.

The "Hammer Award" is given to Federal employees who have engaged in a team effort that has achieved at least one of the four objectives of the Vice President's reinventing government initiative. Those are: to improve customer service, cut red tape, empower employees or get back to basics. The Vice President's hammer, which costs less than $6 -- unlike the old $600 government hammers -- is a symbol of Federal employees' effort to build a government that works better and costs less.

A copy of the BLM's Customer Service Plan can be obtained from any of the BLM's State Offices in the West.

Book Includes Information On Locating Vital Records

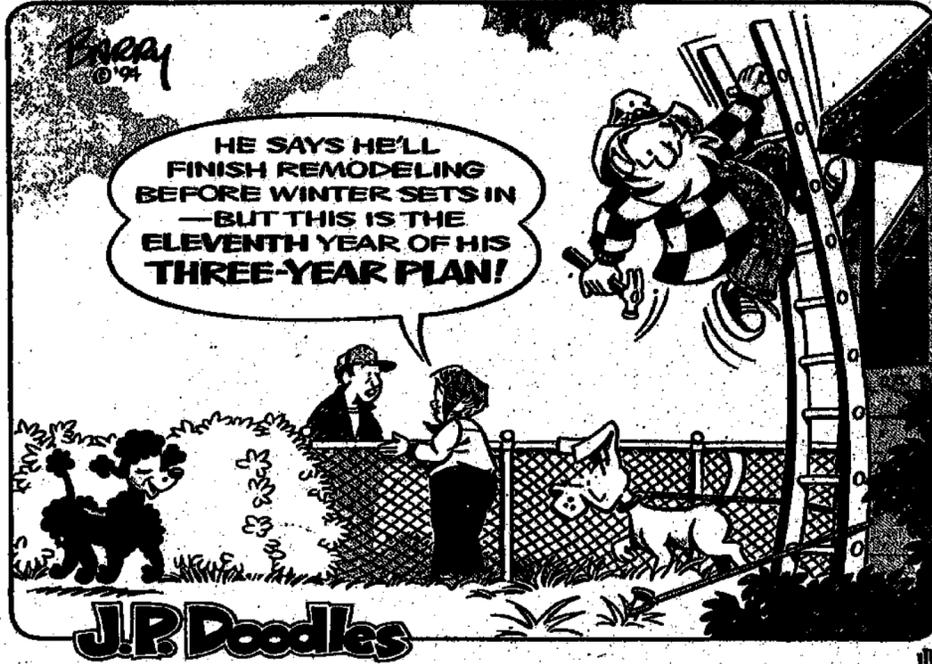

Vital records are just that...vital. We need access to them.

In this age of bureaucratic documentation, everyone has need of copies of records of birth, death, marriage or divorce. An application for benefits from the Veterans Administration or Social Security, a passport or marriage license requires not only the information in the records but usually copies of the records themselves.

All these records are stored permanently by municipalities, counties, states and the Federal government. We all know this, but where each

SANTA FE—Early voting ends today.

Under a new state law, voters can begin casting their ballots in person at the county clerk's office on September 29. Many of those who prefer to vote by the traditional absentee ballot process through the mail, have already started voting—as soon as their county clerks had ballots ready to send out.

During the primary election, 30,000 people, about 10 percent of the total, voted early. Of those, 72 percent voted in person. Nearly 21,000 of the early voters were Democrats; 9,000 were Republicans. There are 1.7 times as many Democrats as Republicans. In addition Democrats had a slightly higher percentage of early voters.

State Bureau of Elections Director Hoyt Clifton expects at least 10 percent of general election voters to cast their ballots early. Democrats may not have the lead in absentee voters this time around. Republicans have notoriously low turnouts in primary elections -- because there aren't many contested races -- but those numbers improve significantly in general elections. And many of those are absentee votes.

If the primary election experience is any indicator, not many of us will vote quite yet. During the first five weeks of voting only about five percent of the total early vote turned out each week. Three weeks out from the election, the turnout picked up to 15 percent. And in the week before election day, nearly 40 percent of those voting early cast their ballots.

Remember, you aren't required to have an excuse any longer for voting early. You can do it just because you want to. Nine other states are trying basically the same thing this year. Texas got the ball rolling in 1991 and early voting has spread, mainly west, since then. Arizona, Colorado, Nevada and California also have early voting.

Earlier this month, I reported that early voting crept up on candidates, campaign consultants and the media during the primary election campaign. National news stories indicate that phenomenon was not confined to New Mexico. The winning candidates will be those who wise up in the general election.

So what if you're not registered to vote? Is there still time?

The good news is that for the next 12 days -- until Oct. 11 -- you can visit the county clerk's office, register and then vote, all in a matter of minutes. After that, voter rolls are closed until after Nov. 8.

Before long, early voting by mail or in person won't be your only alternatives. Telephone, computer and even television voting are all being studied. And New Mexico is in the forefront.

Two years ago 1,600 students at five high schools in Albuquerque and Santa Fe telephoned their votes in a mock presidential election conducted by Sandia National Laboratory.

In the 1993 Legislature Sen. Marty Chavez tried to get money for Sandia to perfect the process. For some reason state lawmakers turned state lawmakers turned Rep. Bill Richardson is trying to get Congress to appropriate the money.

Last week New Mexico's Secretary of State Stephanie Gonzales testified before a U.S. House subcommittee in support of Richardson's "televoting" bill.

Among the technical challenges tackled by the Sandia scientists in 1992 were problems of guarding the security of voting results and insuring the individual voter's right to a secret ballot.

Gonzales is anxious to unleash New Mexico's scientists on the vote-by-phone process once again. The Sandia security team that got the process started are the same people charged with guarding our nation's nuclear secrets. They say they feel up to guarding a "televoting" system against any type of fraud our state's creative minds can devise.

Richardson's bill would direct the Federal Election Commission to make a funding grant to a consortium of one state government and the national laboratories.

Since we have two national labs and an election bureau that is primed and ready, we should have a jump on the competition. And the technology will be worth a lot someday.

THE OTHER SIDE

Can you believe that I am commencing Volume 6 with this column? That doesn't make any sense to anyone but me, but when I started this column, I stored what I was getting published on floppy discs, and I am starting out on Disc Number 6 this week. Why, I know people who have used up less discs than that and are totally disabled. (Oh, theirs were lumbar discs which were floppy from spasms experienced in preparing for the next personal injury claim. I'm sorry, I misabused the thought.)

Phooey!: desc. word, also spelled phooey or foey, depending on individual ingenuity. A substitute for the discriminating individual who might get his block knocked off for saying what he really meant. (c.f., @&%!). A minced oath, which goes well with whipped cream and a cherry. (I wondered why they called profanity an "oath" until I realized it was an act of swearing. "@&%!", and that's the truth!")

The reason I said "desc. word" is that when I started thinking about phooey, I couldn't decide how it could not be used. It might be a verb, such as I'm going to phooey on you, or it could be an adjective such as he is a phooey person, or a noun such as I spent last night making phooey, and it might fit into some of the other verbal categories if I knew what they were. Enough of that!

The latest entertainment appliance on the market is the voice-activated television set. When a local entertainment center executive was demonstrating its features to his first prospective customer recently, the following happened:

"This is our newest technology, he said. "This television set is completely voice-activated." "All you have to do to select the program you want to watch is speak into this grillwork on the side nearest the refrigerator, he continued." "To demonstrate, if you want to watch the news, just say 'News', (whereupon CNN appeared on the screen), or if you want classical music, just say 'long-hair', (and the format switched to the educational channel), or for a soap, just say 'Guiding Light', (and the appropriate signal appeared)." "Now, isn't that nice!"

His customer replied, "well, @&%!". (and the selector surfed through the channels to the Rush Limbaugh Show.)

I was later told that the most effective method of turning the set off was to say "entertainment".

(No, child! I can't tell that story in public.)

The bear stories just won't stop. My son up in Union County discovered one in his kitchen about 3:00 a.m. the other morning at the sink washing dishes. (The bear, not my son, who prides himself in his manly abilities to perform only those tasks which are appropriate for the man around the house, which tasks do not include those of a domestic infuse, which is why the bear felt the need to do so.) The consequence of this adventure was that he now had to close his windows at night, and they have been suffering from the heat ever since.

Do you think I, we or they can survive six more volumes of this?

ASVAB Career Planning Tests Offered At Corona High School

Today's high school students are faced with many important decisions as they plan their future in a complex and ever changing world. One of the most difficult decisions they face is which path to follow after graduation; college, work, technical training or perhaps the military.

Many young people make their post secondary school plans based on how well they are doing in high school. While high school grades can be a good indicator of academic ability, aptitudes and interests are also important components of the career exploration process.

One of the best ways to measure aptitudes is through the use of multiple aptitude battery; a test that measures a broad array of abilities and knowledge from vocabulary and math to mechanical comprehension. Most educators agree that the results from these batteries explore various career options.

The most widely used multiple aptitude test in the United States today is the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB). The ASVAB consists of ten separate subtests that provide measures of aptitude for general academic areas and for career areas that encompass most of the civilian and military worlds of work.

The ASVAB will be administered at Corona High School on Oct. 12, 1994 at 8:45 A.M. Students in grades 10, 11 and 12 can sign up for the test by contacting their counselor.

A few weeks after taking the test, students will receive their test results along with a copy of Exploring Careers: the ASVAB Workbook. The ASVAB Workbook, which contains an interest inventory, will help students understand their test scores, explore their interests, skills and values in relation to a wide range of occupational areas, and make tentative career plans for the future. Students can also use their ASVAB scores in a number of computer based career exploration systems. Last year over a million students took the ASVAB in schools throughout the United States.

The ASVAB is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Defense and is offered at no cost to participating students or schools.

Lincoln County 4-H Exhibits Win At NM State Fair

By Betty McCreight
Extension Home Economist

Lincoln County 4-H was well represented at the 1994 New Mexico State Fair. Thirty-two 4-Hers from the county exhibited 58 indoor projects they had made during the 4-H year.

The 4-H year is not over because the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners from the Lincoln County Fair are eligible to enter their projects at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair in Roswell October 4-9, 1994.

The Lincoln County Extension Office is proud of the 4-H members in the county and of the organizational leaders who are in charge of clubs in Cupitan, Carrizozo, Corona, Honda and Ruidoso Downs and would like to thank the project leaders who spend countless hours helping the 4-H members with their projects and the dedicated parents who help their children with the projects.

Lincoln County 4-H members exhibiting their livestock at the New Mexico State Fair were: Dustin Sultemeier (lambs and swine), Ashley Miller (lambs), Joe Burchett (swine and dairy), Julie Barham (swine and beef), Neil Montes (swine and lambs), Jason Montes (swine and lambs), Casey Cunningham (lambs), Andrew Bagley (swine), Court Franklin

Court Franklin made the Junior Livestock Sale with his champion Hampshire Lamb and Julie Barham made the sale with her 2nd place Hampshire Pig.

Most of these exhibitors and many more Lincoln County 4-H members will exhibit their animals in the Eastern New Mexico State Fair in Roswell October 4, 5 and 6.

were available and the costs. In some states, birth records are kept by the city and in others by the county or state. To further complicate matters, often older records are held in different places than current ones. In addition, the addresses where the records are kept are changed quite often.

The consumer group found many people had difficulty in locating the records they needed. Often, it was necessary to make expensive long distance calls just to find out where to write, what information was required and how much money to send. For that reason CERC has been publishing a book entitled Where to Write for Vital Records which contains a state-by-state listing of the addresses and telephone numbers of the archive where each record can be found, the cost of a copy of the document and sample form letters containing all the information needed to get these and other vital documents.

CERC has just released an updated edition. For those needing information from foreign countries, the book contains a list of government offices where you get help in locating vital records kept in almost every country. Even U.S. citizens born overseas, on a ship or aircraft can locate the place where their records are kept.

The organization found that many people have used previous editions to locate their family trees or roots. For those, the book includes information on the Family History Library of the Mormon Church. This library contains over 200,000 volumes of family history records and a list of almost a quarter-million people who are willing to share information to help you find your family roots.

To get a copy of this useful book, send $6.50 (Plus $2 s&h) to Consumer Center Documents, 350 Scotland Rd., Orange, N.J. 07050 or call 800-872-0121 with credit card.

Robert L. Berko, executive director of CERC says that originally the book was published to satisfy the needs of persons applying for various benefits but many others have found it useful. He has received letters from libraries, coroners, law enforcement, social agencies, credit grantors, collection agencies, stock ownership tracers, lawyers, persons searching for missing heirs and even those interested in searching their family roots. All these and others have found use for a book that helps them locate and prove the status of individuals.

Many times documents can be used to prove things other than what they record. For instance, one woman wrote to the group telling them that a birth certificate for her child proved her residence at that time in the United States and helped her become eligible for legal residence and citizenship.

mity on where the records document is kept is frequently unknown.

The Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, found there was little uniformity

UNM Medical Student To Assist Dr. Rouleau

University of New Mexico fourth-year medical student Lynne Frey, who attended high school in Tucumcari and received her B.S. from UNM, will assist David Rouleau, M.D., in Capitan.

Frey will benefit from the Capitan physician's professional experience during a preceptorship, an apprentice period that the UNM School of Medicine requires of all students seeking an M.D. degree.

Rouleau joins more than 260 doctors around New Mexico who contribute their time and expertise in the instruction of medical students in this critical part of their medical education.

During her preceptorship, which runs from August 19 to September 15, Frey will gain skills in patient management, taking medical histories, conducting examinations and analyzing symptoms to reach a diagnosis.

Frey will also participate in community health projects during her preceptorship. Projects typically range from conducting a free community-wide health screening to preparing health information in order to help residents make informed medical treatment decisions.

In addition, the program gives future doctors personal ties with people and communities throughout the state, thus encouraging them to set up practices in New Mexico after graduation.

Groups Will Host Child ID Program

K-Bob's Steakhouse in Ruidoso, in conjunction with the Lincoln County 4-H Clubs and the Ruidoso High School FFA group, is hosting a Child Identification program on Saturday, Oct. 15, 1994 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the K-Bobs Steakhouse located at Highway 70 in Ruidoso.

All families are invited to bring their children to the restaurant for fingerprinting, photographing and recording vital statistics which will complete a complimentary Child I.D. kit. It is estimated that the kits will be ready for families in approximately two weeks after the identification.

CAPITAN NOTES

By MAUREEN SULLIVAN

Greetings from my old house by the side of the road to your house.

Another month is almost gone and next week's column will appear in the October edition. Just a year ago I began writing this column and I have enjoyed every minute of it. Let me thank each and everyone of you that have taken the time and effort to write or telephone me expressing your appreciation. I love hearing from you and must admit that without your welcome input, in all probability I would have thrown in the towel long, long ago. It isn't the time involved that is trying, but the deadline as it approaches and you swear that you just sent a copy the day before and here it is time for another. All the things you had planned to accomplish between deadlines, somehow come up on the short end of your accomplishments. But, like I said, I iterate and reiterate doing the column is a pleasure and like my son Tom says, "It gives you something to do, Mom." Oh well on to the news.

First and definitely at the top of this week's list is the American Legion Annual Picnic which will be held on Saturday, Oct. 1, at 11 o'clock at the lovely home of Art and Jo Blazer. The menu will consist of plenty of hamburgers and hot dogs—all Legion members or anyone interested in the American Legion are invited. So please call Thelma Stevens at 354-2329 or Jo Blazer at 354-2829 for what dish to bring and for directions or just follow signs starting at mile post marker 18 on Highway 48, (going toward Ruidoso). So please go and join them for an afternoon of fun.

Emmeline and Dick Beck finally returned from the State Fair in Albuquerque. I thought they would never come home. I miss them like the dickens when they are gone and I told Emmeline that the next time they left, I was going with them, did not care where it was they were going. Emmeline just dropped in with Sassy, Sassy being the cute little dog that does go every place that Emmeline goes. Said they enjoyed the fair and bought loads and lots of beautiful things back with them for their shop.

Carol and Bennie Peterson just returned from a glorious trip to Hawaii. Carol promised a play by play description, but did not get it ready for this week's paper. They also attended the wedding of Bennie's daughter, the report of that also to be forthcoming.

This week we are profiling Beverly Payne, the lovely office manager of Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Company. She promised long ago to give it to me, but know she has been busy and with the new granddaughter taking up every spare thought, was so pleasantly surprised when she came to my door and asked me if I still wanted her story. It was worth waiting for so here it is.

I first moved to Capitan in 1971 to raise my family and returned in 1974 to raise our family here. My three children Lee, Guy, and Tammy, all attended kindergarten through graduation in the Capitan Schools.

Capitan was a wonderful place to raise my family and all three talk about returning someday and having their homes here. Lee and his wife Jeannie and new daughter TyLynn live in Portales, Guy is also living in Portales and is engaged to Linda Johnson, they plan to be married in October, and Tammy is a sophomore attending New Mexico State University in Las Cruces.

In 1978 I went to work for the Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association, and am going into my 17th year as the office manager for the association. I am also a member of the Capitan School Board, Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse, Corriente CowBelles and Lincoln County Fair Association.

We sponsored the Capitan Jr. Rodeo Club from 1977 through 1984 and I really enjoyed working with all of the parents and kids at the monthly playdays. It was started in 1971 by Ronnie and Janice Eldridge, Tommie and Butch Allen, the Englekings, Joyners, and other parents wanting to have a local rodeo club for the Capitan kids to compete in. Today the Rodeo Club has expanded to include the entire county and is a very large organization.

I love working with the people here in Capitan and Lincoln County and am proud to call Capitan my home.

And thank you Beverly and am sure that folks here in Capitan enjoy being around you and seeing you.

Lee and Jeannie Payne of Portales are the proud parents of a baby girl, born Sept. 16. TyLynn Rae Payne weighed in at 9 lbs. 5 oz. and 21 1/2 inches long. Proud grandparents are Beverly Payne of Capitan and Curtis Payne of Capitan and great-grandparents Bud and Dorothy Payne of Carrizozo.

Winston Churchill said that: We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give.

Happiness is not a state to arrive at, but a manner of travelling.

All work and no pay makes a perfect housewife.

To err is human, but to forgive is sometimes out of the question.

Remember we cannot get what we want if we ourselves do not know what it is we want.

The time is running out. Must get this to Mike before five and am pushing five already. So for another week, be kind, be helpful to your neighbor, do not carry a grudge it only weighs you down and half the folks that you are mad at are not even aware of your hostility. It is later than we all think. Only the good that we do will count in the next life. However, they say Socrates was a famous Greek teacher that went around giving people advice and they poisoned him. I guess I had better be careful.

Adios, Syanora and hope to see you next week.

Tigers 5-0 After Win Over Loving

Last Friday night the Capitan Tigers were at home against the Loving Falcons.

This was only the second time the Tigers were on their home field. Once again the Tigers came out on top with a score of 24-14.

The Tigers and the Falcons were pretty healthy with penalties, both teams having been penalized 50 yards or more.

It has been eight years since the Tigers last beat the Falcons.

Tiger Coach Ed Davis commented, "They were a very physical team."

The Tigers had 428 total offensive yards and 560 total defensive yards.

With the win, the Tigers remain undefeated. In the newspaper polls this week, Capitan is still tied with Fort Sumner for first place ranking in Class A football statewide. Capitan is first in its District 5A, the only team in the district with no losses.

The Tigers play the Texico Wolverines on Tiger Field in Capitan on Friday. Kick off is at 7:30 p.m.

Scoring by Quarters:
Tigers 10 0 8 6 24
Falcons 0 14 0 0 14

Capitan Classic

The Capitan Lady Tigers volleyball team won its own Capitan Classic by defeating Grady for the championship Saturday.

On the first day of the tournament, Friday, the Lady Tigers played in pool play to determine their seeding on the tournament bracket. Capitan Coaches Pam Allen and Ron Becker said the girls played extremely poor, had no organization and their confidence was low.

Friday night, the Lady Tigers met the Fort Sumner Vixens in the first round. Allen said, "The girls played somewhat improved, and were reorganized in their play." Capitan beat Fort Sumner in four games. Capitan lost the first game 14-16, then won the next three games 15-4, 15-5 and 15-7.

Saturday the Lady Tigers met the Roy Longhorns in the semi-finals. The performance the Lady Tigers gave against Roy blew Coach Allen's mind. Coach Allen was very inspired by the girls' performance. Allen said, "Roy obviously was a one class team in the tourney and in the state." Capitan beat Roy in four games. The Lady Tigers won the first two games 15-10, 15-9, lost the third 16-18 and won the fourth game 15-7 to win the match.

The Lady Tigers met Grady in the championship Saturday night. The war against Grady was long. Allen thought the girls played very fatigued but they pulled it through with their extreme confidence.

Capitan beat Grady in four games. The Lady Tigers won the first two games 17-15, 15-12, lost the third game 13-15 and won the fourth game 15-10 to win the match.

Capitan players chosen for the All-Tournament team were senior Jessica Cline, juniors Sheryl Dockery, Catherine Sidwell and Elaine Pichiliani.

The Lady Tigers travel to Hagerman on Thursday, September 29. They also will travel to Dexter Saturday October 1 to begin district play. —Capitan High School students Michelle Payton and Amy Cline.

lots with the village limits, had no policy concerning the subdivision of platted lots which results in adding more lots eligible for village utilities.

White had approached the trustees at the regular meeting Monday, September 12. As instructed at that time he went to the Water Advisory and Planning and Zoning Boards, which heard his situation and recommended his property be connected to the water. As part of the recommendation, White must get signed approval of the drawn replat of the property and file it with the county.

White had bought the lot with the understanding it had village water available since it was within the village limits.

Another similar situation arose with Harold Dickerson who wanted to put another water tap onto his property for a second mobile home. P&Z and Water Advisory Board recommendations were to approve Dickerson's request, with the contingency that he get signed approval of the drawn replat of the property and file it with the county.

Any property owner now seeking to replat large lots into separate smaller lots within the village must first go before P&Z and the water advisory board, then get final approval from the trustees. Water Advisory Board chairman Dr. Bernard Reimann had recommended a moratorium to providing water to properties which are subdivided without the consent of the trustees.

Water occupied most of the agenda of the meeting, as trustees unanimously approved an agreement to pay the Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Users Association $18,000 down and three yearly installments to purchase six acre feet of water rights for the village. The agreement now goes back to the Eagle Creek Board for final approval.

Village attorney Robert Beauvais also reported on the water rights transfer from properties in the Lincoln area. The transfer is still on hold because of a protest filed with the state water engineer. Beauvais said the Bureau of Land Management may have some water rights for lease.

Dr. Reimann presented a set of by laws for the Water Advisory Board, which was accepted by all members of that board. Trustees approved the bylaws unanimously.

Trustees also endorsed an Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District application for a grant to provide funds to construct entrance ways into the village.

The next regular meeting of the Capitan trustees is Monday, October 10.

and are the short version of the actual resolutions for the amendments.

A positive vote for each constitutional amendment will change the wording in the corresponding constitutional article and section.

A negative vote for each constitutional amendment will be a vote to not change the constitutional article and section from its current wording.

AMENDMENT 1: Proposes to amend Article 12 of the Constitution of New Mexico by eliminating the recall of local school board members.

If approved, the amendment would make it so the voters could not petition for a recall election of any school board member. School board members currently serve four-year terms.

AMENDMENT 2: Proposing Amendment to Article 2, Section 14, to increase the minimum number of signatures required on a grand jury petition to the greater of two percent of the registered voters of the county, or 200 voters.

If the amendment is approved, a grand jury petition will have to contain signatures of at least 200 registered voters if the two percent of registered voters in the county is less than 200. If two percent of the registered voters is more than 200, such as would be the case in populous counties like Bernalillo and Dona Ana, the petition must contain that higher number.

In Lincoln County there were 6493 registered voters for the June primary. Two percent of that would be about 130. Under the terms of the proposed amendment, a petition calling for a grand jury in Lincoln County would still require the minimum 200 names.

As the constitution reads now, at least 200 signatures of registered voters or FIVE percent of registered voters in a county, are required on a petition calling for a grand jury. In Lincoln County the five percent is about 325, however, only the minimum 200 signatures are required on a petition calling for a grand jury at this time.

AMENDMENT 3: Proposes an amendment to Article 12, Section 13 of the state constitution to add a student member to the Board of Regents at each public institution of higher education.

The amendment proposes to change the article so that one of the members of each institution's board of regents be a MEMBER OF THE STUDENT BODY of each institution, except for the boards of regents for the New Mexico School for the Deaf, New Mexico Military Institute, the Northern New Mexico State School, or the New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped. The boards for those four institutions have five members, who must be qualified electors of the state (registered voters).

Boards of regents consist of five to seven members. If the amendment is approved, one member of each institution's board of regents will be a selected from the student body by the governor from a list provided by the president of the institution. The governor's selection and nomination must then be approved by the state senate. The president of each institution will be required to consider recommendations of the student body president in making the list for a student regent member. Student members will serve two-year terms.

Boards of regents consist of five members for all New Mexico public high education institutions except University of New Mexico, which has seven members. All members of the boards of regents are nominated and appointed by the governor, with approval from the state senate.

AMENDMENT 4: Proposing to amend Article 5, Section 14 of the state constitution to change the name of the State Highway Commission to the State Transportation Commission.

The only proposed change in this article and section is to replace the word HIGHWAY with TRANSPORTATION. Members of the state transportation commission are appointed, and have powers and duties, provided by law.

There will be no AMENDMENT 5, which was proposed by the first regular session of the 41st Legislature. The proposed amendment was withdrawn and will not appear on the ballot.

AMENDMENT 6: Proposing to amend Article 9, Section 10, of the state constitution to authorize counties to borrow money to repair public buildings and to acquire real estate for open space and other public purposes.

If approved, the amendment would add the words "REPAIRING" and a subsection F "acquiring necessary real estate for open space and other public purposes."

Counties can incur indebtedness only after a majority vote in a referendum (special election).

AMENDMENT 7: Proposing an amendment to Article 14 of the state constitution to change the name of the New Mexico State Hospital at Las Vegas to the NEW MEXICO CENTER FOR GERONTOLOGY AND PSYCHIATRY. The amendment will only change the name of the Las Vegas hospital in Article 14, Section 1 and all other wording would remain the same. The proposed change would make the article and section read: "The penitentiary at Santa Fe, the Miner's Hospital at Raton, the 'New Mexico Center for Gerontology and Psychiatry at Las Vegas', the New Mexico Boys' School at Springer, the Girls' Welfare Home at Albuquerque, the Carrie Tingley Crippled Children's Hospital at Truth or Consequences and the Los Lunas Mental Hospital at Los Lunas are hereby confirmed as state institutions."

AMENDMENT 8: Proposing to amend Article 20 of the state constitution to ADD a NEW SECTION to permit a statewide Lottery and Certain Games of Chance. The new Section 20 which will read:

"A. A state operated lottery to be conducted statewide and wagering on video machine games of chance to be conducted statewide shall be lawful from the first moment of the 90th day following the adjournment of the next regular session of the legislature (March 17, 1995) subsequent to any general election or special election in which a majority of voters, voting on the question, vote in favor of the adoption of this amendment.

"B. The legislature may enact such laws governing the conduct of the lottery and games of chance as deemed necessary and in the public interest, including imposition of taxes, wagering limits, restriction on the hours of operation and limitations on the locations and facilities where wagering on the locations and facilities where wagering can occur."

If approved, the amendment will make a state operated lottery, and wagering on video machine games of chance legal statewide. The proposal also authorizes the legislature to make regulations for the lottery and games of chance.

AMENDMENT 9: Proposing to amend Article 9, Section 14, of the state constitution to permit public support of economic development opportunities when authorized by law.

The amendment proposes to amend the section often referred to as the "anti-donation clause." Currently this clause prohibits the state and its political subdivisions from lending or pledging credit or making donations to persons, associations or corporations.

Several exceptions now exist which authorize expenditures for the sick and indigent and certain scholarship programs.

If approved the amendment would allow the state, county or municipality to provide land, buildings or infrastructures for facilities to support the development or expansion of businesses. The amendment also requires the passage of implementing legislation.

The implementing legislation will be required to include adequate safeguards to protect public money or other resources. The implementing legislation will also provide that: each specific county or municipal project providing assistance has to be approved by the county or the municipality, and each specific state project providing assistance must be approved by law.

AMENDMENT 10: Proposing to amend Article 6 of the state constitution increasing the number of votes required for judicial retention elections.

If approved the amendment would change the article to require a positive vote of at least 57 percent to retain an incumbent judge.

Judges of the supreme court, the court of appeals, district or metropolitan court must be elected by a partisan election (with opposing candi(dates) before they are eligible for the nonpartisan retention election.

AMENDMENT 11: Proposing to amend Article 7, Section 1 of the constitution to change certain voter qualification restrictions.

The amendment proposes to change the legal voting age for the 21 years as now listed in the constitution, to 18 years. Passage of a US constitutional amendment in 1971 mandated the voting age of 18.

If approved the amendment would also remove the residency requirements of one year in the state, 90 days in the county and 30 days in the precinct and authorizes new laws to set residency requirements. The amendment would also change the wording about those who cannot vote from the "idiots and insane persons" as now listed to "persons found by a court to be incapacitated."

AMENDMENT 12: Proposing to amend Article 8, Section 10 of the constitution to increase the severance tax permanent fund by requiring the earnings of the fund to be deposited in it and providing for the limited distributions from the fund.

The amendment proposes to change the method for distributing money from the severance tax permanent fund. Currently, all interest and dividends earned from the severance tax permanent fund are distributed to the general fund for state government operating purposes.

If approved the amendment would add all dividend and interest income to the fund, then distribute 4.7 percent of the average value of the fund from the previous five years. The amendment, if approved, would require the annual distributions to be at least two percent higher than the preceding year's, and would allow it to exceed the prior year's amount up to eight percent.

AMENDMENT 13: Proposing to amend Article 12, Sections 2, 4, and 7 to increase the Land Grant Permanent Fund by requiring earnings of the fund to be deposited to the credit of those funds and providing for limited distributions from the funds.

The proposal would also add "forfeitures" as a source of funds to the permanent school fund. The school fund is derived from lands granted in trust to the state by the federal Ferguson Act of 1898.

If approved, the amendment would require all interest and dividend income from the permanent fund to be added to the fund, and each year's distribution would be 4.7 percent of the average five-year value of the fund. The amendment, if approved, would require the annual distributions to be at least two percent higher than the preceding year's, and would allow it to exceed the prior year's amount up to eight percent.

If the amendment is approved, it would also change how the fund is invested. It would allow investment of up to 50 percent of the fund in corporate stock, instead of the current 50 percent for corporate stocks and bonds combined. It would not limit investment in authorized stock to those only on the national exchange as required now. And the amendment would permit the legislature by a three-fourths vote to authorize investment in stock from foreign companies.

If the amendment is approved, it will not become effective until U.S. Congress amends the Enabling Act of New Mexico.

The permanent school fund consists of proceeds from the sale of state lands, royalties from mineral and other natural resource production on state lands, and five percent of the proceeds from sales of federal public lands in the state. Income from the fund is distributed to the beneficiaries which are the public schools and 19 other specified state institutions or purposes.

For the 1992-93 fiscal year, the interest and dividend income distributed to beneficiaries totaled more than $261 million. The current market value of the fund is about $4 billion.

AMENDMENT 14: Proposing to amend Article 4, Section 10 to provide legislative per diem and mileage and other expenses at an amount not to exceed rates adopted under the Internal Revenue Code.

If approved the amendment would raise the per diem rate and the mileage rate to Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rates and would allow legislators to receive mileage reimbursement for traveling to and from the capitol up to once a week while the legislature is in session.

Currently, legislators receive $75 per diem and 25 cents a mile. If the amendment is approved, the per diem and mileage rates would increase to the IRS per diem and mileage rates of $114 a day for Santa Fe and 28 cents a mile at this time. The IRS rates, however, are subject to fluctuation.

If approved, each legislator also will receive each month the sum of one day's per diem for official expenses when the legislature is not in session. Members who represent multi-county districts will receive each month the sum of two days' per diem. Whip and caucus chairmen would receive each month the sum of three days' per diem, floor leaders will receive four days' per diem each month and the speaker of the house and the president pro tempore would receive each month the sum of six days' per diem.

The amendment will also provide the IRS per diem and mileage rates for legislators who are required to attend interim committee meetings and authorized out-of-state meetings when the legislature is not in session.

The amendment applies to per diem and mileage for legislators only, and not for state employees.

Copies of the complete constitutional amendments and the resolutions which include the complete wording of the amendments can be obtained at the Lincoln County Clerk's office in the courthouse in Carrizozo. A copy of the New Mexico Legislative Council Service Arguments for and Against the Constitutional Amendments Proposed by the Legislature in 1993 and 1994 can be viewed at the clerk's office.

Beef Equal To Chicken In Reducing Cholesterol

Checkoff dollars invested by Lincoln County cattle producers were used to help fund a new study from Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, which shows people concerned about their diets don't have to eat chicken instead of beef.

The study confirms that beef and chicken that are equally low in fat have virtually the same effect on reducing cholesterol levels in the body. According to the research, selection, preparation and portion sizes are what makes the difference.

The 13-week study, published in a recent issue of the Journal Archives of Internal Medicine, put two groups of men with high blood cholesterol on a heart-healthy diet with 30 percent of daily calories from fat. The only difference was that one group of study participants ate chicken as their source of meat, while the other group ate beef. The meat portions were the same and the amount of fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol in the two test diets were very similar.

Both the chicken and beef entrees for the test meals contained only 6 or 8 grams of fat per 3.5 ounce serving and were low in saturated fat. The study participants made other lower-fat changes in their overall diet, like substituting part-skim mozzarella cheese for cheddar.

Both test diets produced significant decreases in average total blood cholesterol and low-density lipoprotein (LDL) cholesterol levels. Both beef and chicken lowered "bad" (LDL) cholesterol levels nine to 11 percent.

The study found that when beef and chicken have comparable amounts of fat, they are virtually interchangeable in regard to their effect on cholesterol levels. The important thing is how the products are prepared.

For more information on this study or the beef checkoff, a $1-per-animal investment collected each time cattle are sold, contact the New Mexico Beef Council at (505) 841-9407.

Women Today Need Financial Know-How

by Betty McCreight
 Lincoln County Home Economist

Today more women than ever are the sole breadwinners and financial managers for their families. With increased responsibility comes the need for financial knowledge and independence.

Whether a woman is married or single, in her 20s or 50s, she needs to know how to manage money and how to understand her personal legal matters in an increasingly complex world.

The first step in developing an understanding for financial and legal business affairs is to conduct a legal and financial review of the state of the family.

Begin by organizing valuable papers and documents. Determine what they are and what their purpose are.

The next step of a financial review is to make an inventory of all property. Estimate the fair market value of each asset and list any mortgage or debt against it.

Often times you need credit to get credit-so, the first attempt to get credit may be frustrating.

It is important for women to establish and maintain a good credit history in their own names. There are several ways to begin to build a credit history, and the first step is to open a checking and/or savings account.

A bank account does not begin your credit file, but it may be checked as evidence that you have money and know how to manage it.

Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane reported the weekend of the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally in Ruidoso went well. McSwane said his officers conducted roadblocks Friday, at the intersection of Highways 380 and 38, east of Carrizozo and Thursday and Friday nights at the intersection of Highways 380 and 70 in Hondo. Several citations were written for such violations as open container, driving with suspended/revoked license. Undersheriff Jimmy Miller reported good response from the public concerning the roadblocks.

McSwane said New Mexico State Police and Ruidoso Village police were present inside bars in Ruidoso.

Sheriff's officers assisted with traffic at Flying J in Alto, and at an accident scene at the top of Angus Hill, both on Highway 48.

McSwane said he kept his officers to minimal compensation hours by reassigning officers. "Undersheriff Miller did a great job of scheduling," McSwane said.

Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse assisted during the weekend by accompanying deputies on patrol. About eight members helped.

Sheriff McSwane and members of the Sheriff's Posse will be in the Aspenfest Parade, Saturday, October 8 in Ruidoso.

Women Today . . .

(Con't. from P. 12)

Someone could co-sign your application if you don't qualify for credit on your own. If you are turned down, try to find out why, make corrections and try again.

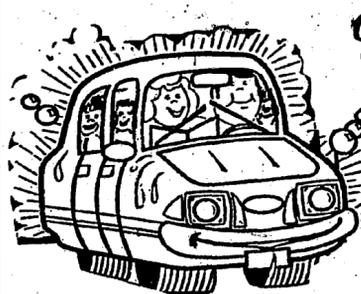

Another way to start a credit history is to apply for a department store card. These are generally easier to get than other cards, and paying your bills on time is a plus on your credit report.

Women who are divorced or widowed might not have individual credit histories because all past credit account were listed in their husband's name. However, they can benefit from this record. By law, creditors must consider the credit history of any account a woman held jointly with her husband.

If a woman has never had any financial planning experience, she can organize her financial and legal matters with the help of a professional.
