

Ruidoso Considers Annexation By Petition

Covering much business in a short space of time, the Ruidoso Village council met for a regular session Feb. 28.

Cleatus R. Richards, the village planning administrator, presented a color-coded map of proposed annexations to the council. These areas were prioritized by color and included areas which comprised areas surrounded by the village but not yet a part of the village.

Richards indicated annexation by petition would be the preferred means of annexation, taking less time and providing for a more personal approach to individual land owners within the proposed areas. He stated the use of a Boundary Commission appointed by the Governor would be more time-consuming and perhaps prohibitively more costly.

Village attorney John

Underwood indicated the need for a clause in annexation by petition which would limit the potential outlays for the village, where such costs would not reflect an equitable value to the Village of Ruidoso.

The council approved the Ad Hoc committee's recommendations with the map indicating order of priorities and allowing for exemptions from annexation and zoning fees for target areas. One plus for persons considering annexation would be decreased water and sewer bills (currently these areas pay double the normal rate). Additionally, Lincoln County would no longer be the primary provider of police, fire and ambulance services, as these would be provided by the Village of Ruidoso.

Mayor Jerry Shaw asked for recommendations for upcoming vacancies on the parks & recreation and library boards. She requested interested individuals contact the Village Hall at 313 Cree Meadows Drive and is particularly looking for people who will actively work to improve current community services related to these valuable village resources.

Shaw reported Senate Bill 1052 includes all pertinent aspects of the old Senate Bill 526. She requested everyone's support of this gaming bill. She also indicated that Governor Johnson did not seem very responsive to concerns voiced by municipalities during "Municipalities Day" in Santa Fe.

Village manager Gary Jackson summarized House Bill 371, similar to House Bill 381, creating civil and criminal

Campos Says Santa Rosa Is The Best Site For Prison

The competition among New Mexico cities and towns for a new prison is heating up.

Senator Pete Campos says, "Unfortunately, the numerous benefits of Santa Rosa, the prime candidate, are sometimes forgotten as discussion shifts to the late entrants in this race."

The New Mexico Senate recognized the advantages of building the new prison in Santa Rosa a year ago when it approved a legislative memorial starting the process. The community recognized the same advantages when it held a town meeting a few months later on the topic. No one spoke against the idea at the meeting.

"Everything else being equal, there's nothing wrong with making the site selection based on political considerations," Campos said. "But everything is not equal. Santa Rosa is the best site for at least three major reasons:

- 1.) The Corrections Department already evaluated Santa Rosa as a site and found that it scored very high and is the ideal location for the state's next prison. The other sites now being talked about haven't undergone similar evaluation, a requirement that costs both time and money, but that saves money and trouble in the long run.
- 2.) The four-county area that would be impacted by a Santa Rosa prison needs this economic boost more than other areas of the state. Guadalupe County alone struggles with an average unemployment rate of 10 percent compared to the state-wide average of 6.3 percent. Unlike most other regions of New Mexico, northeastern New Mexico does not currently have a state correctional facility.
- 3.) The Santa Rosa prison, despite its rural location and its economic impact on rural New Mexico, would still be easily accessible from Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Las Cruces. It is situated along one of New Mexico's major interstates, I-40, just like all of New Mexico's other medium and maximum security pris-

Carrizozo School Considers Changing Football Program

People in Carrizozo were surprised Thursday, Feb. 23 to find the above notice, printed on yellow paper, at the Carrizozo Post Office.

The notice says that Carrizozo Schools are in the process of examining options for revising the football program for next year.

The football situation was not discussed during open session of the Carrizozo School Board meeting Tuesday, Feb. 21, which caused even more of a surprise for those who attended the school board meeting. Several people questioned whether the school board had been informed about the notice in advance of its being placed at the post office.

The school board did go into closed session during the Feb. 21 meeting to discuss limited personnel matters. Coaching and teaching personnel would qualify as a personnel discussion, but it appears, according to the open meetings act, that the football program itself would not qualify.

Dragsters Rev Up For Racing In Carrizozo

by Ruth Hammond

The Carrizozo Board of Trustees listened to debates about the pros and cons of allowing drag racing at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport for one hour and 45 minutes during their meeting Tuesday before making a decision.

Those against allowing drag racing at the airport were concerned about the condition of the 24-year old runway which was built in 1971, the noise, and the possibility of an airplane needing to make an emergency landing on the airstrip.

Those in favor cited the economic impact it would have on motels, gas stations, restaurants, and grocery stores.

Bob Curtiss was opposed because of the noise factor and said he lives over the fence from the airport.

Dale Goad was opposed and said drag racing at the airport would be an indication of a dying airport and said he would regret to see anything jeopardize federal money for the airport.

Officials from the state aviation department said the airport would have to be closed during the races and wondered about what would happen if a plane needed to make an emergency landing.

Gordon King, an official from the Drag Racing Club in Alamogordo, said the airstrip could be cleared within 15 minutes.

King also presented a petition to the board of trustees with signatures of people in favor of drag racing in Carrizozo. King said, "As I walked in the door I was handed this petition with around 300 names in support of drag racing in this area."

Russell Griswold said the town really needs drag racing and wondered if there was any way they could use the Industrial Park. None of the streets are long enough for a drag strip.

Mayor Cecilia Kuhnel noted that Carrizozo stands a good chance of getting money to surface the runway in the next federal fiscal year which begins Oct. 1. She also mentioned that Congress has cut back funding 25 percent.

Stirling Spencer noted the terrible cracking problem on the runway and said the main runway was in pretty bad shape.

Roundhouse Report

by DORIS CHERRY

State Capitol, Santa Fe - Hello Lincoln County. The Legislature has only two and a half weeks left to finish its business.

Last week, the House of Representatives passed, 41-23, Rep. Dub Williams' House Bill 678, allowing judges to carry concealed weapons, after completing a course of firearm instruction. Rep. Williams said he introduced the bill because judges often find themselves in violent situations within the courtroom. The bill now goes to the senate public affairs committee.

Friday, March 3, in the Senate Public Affairs Committee, Senator Pete Campos will speak on behalf of his Senate Bill 1002, Fort Stanton Substance Abuse Facility. A conservative estimate shows that 75 percent of the state's prison inmates have drug and alcohol histories. Currently, there is no treatment available except counseling. The bill seeks to convert the use of Fort Stanton to the drug facility.

Rep. Williams House Bill 1082 seeks a $150,000 appropriation to develop and implement a plan to utilize Fort Stanton for an early intervention counseling and supervision program for grades 6-8. The funding would go to the Children, Youth and Families Dept. for expenditure in fiscal year 1996 which begins July 1, 1995.

Lincoln County Manager Carolin Cooney was in Santa Fe this week, working for the Fort Stanton projects and sitting in on committee hearings on the various gaming bills.

Also going on is the Constitutional Revision Commission. Tuesday, Lincoln County attorney Dan Bryant spoke on constitutional issues related to county government. The commission will make recommendations about the state constitution to the legislature.

Resident of the Corona area who get telephone service from the Eastern New Mexico Telephone Cooperative may be interested in House Bill 934, introduced by Rep. Wesley Grau from Grady. The bill will change the present statute concerning cooperatives and the method of voting. The bill will allow members of cooperatives with more than 5,000 members to vote by mail. It also requires that each voting member resides in the district in which he or she votes. This would eliminate duplication of votes, or from members who live in other districts from voting inprop-

THE GAMBLING EQUALITY ACT took several people from horse racing tracks in Ruidoso Downs, Albuquerque and Sunland Park to Santa Fe Feb. 22 for a rally. All were dressed in red. The rally was to encourage the state to give race tracks a level playing field for gambling with the Indians.

The bill was heard in the consumer and public affairs committee Tuesday, and received a do-pass recommendation. During the meeting, representatives of the phone cooperative spoke against the bill. But committee members questioned the current way of voting and discovered that some votes are made by members who just hold a phone credit card and do not live within the voting district.

Roundhouse Report . . .

House Bill 934 now goes to the floor for a vote of the full house. Anyone wishing to comment on this bill concerning voting representation of cooperative members should call Rep. Dub Williams office at 505-986-4233 or Rep. Grau's office at 505-986-4221.

House Bill 621, declaring the "Song for New Mexico" as the official state western song was debated on the house floor Wednesday. The song was written by James Hobbs, famous for his Flying J Wranglers in Ruidoso. It and three other songs passed from the Ag and Water Resources Committee on a vote of 6-1. Committee members said they couldn't decide which they liked the best, so they sent all four to the house floor for debate, and reasoned that if other states have more than one official western song, so could New Mexico. The songs brought a tear to the eyes of Rep. Barbara Casey, of Roswell who is on the committee. Rep. Casey has a beautiful singing voice herself.

If passed by the House, the bill will go on to the Senate. Rep. Williams has several other bills in the till, some of which have no committee schedules as yet.

House Bill 1083 seeks a $50,000 appropriation to provide technical and legal services for a water-user association in Lincoln County participation in adjudication of water rights in Lincoln and Otero Counties.

House Bill 1090 is a lengthy document that has a short title of "Economic Development and Gaming Control Act." The bill seeks to make it legal to have all forms of gambling at the state's horse race tracks that are allowed on Indian Reservations. The act creates licensure, fees, regulation and penalties for gambling. Under this bill, gambling will be legal for people 21 years or older. The bill will first be heard in the business and industry committee, but has not been scheduled yet.

House Bill 1114 will amend the Forest Conservation Act to give the New Mexico State Forestry Division more power over Christmas tree tags, and will allow the forestry division the power to go on to private land during emergency wild-fire suppression or prevention.

House Bill 1141 amends a section of the public school code pertaining to school discipline policies. It adds language to the existing section to allow, as part of the school discipline policy, a local school board to provide for the placement of police officers on campus, for the required participation of students in supervised community services programs and for the use of trained behavioral specialists on campus. The bill first goes to the house education committee, but has not yet been scheduled.

House Bill 1142 authorizes video amusement games for fraternal or veteran's organizations. The games include pull tabs, video machines. No one under 21 will be allowed to play the games, no more than 25 video games under one license, at least 50 percent of the net proceeds will be devoted to the organization. Pull tabs will not be allowed where alcohol is served. Gross receipts will be paid on the gross amount of money played on the devices, less the cost of prizes, cash or credits. This bill will be heard in the house business and industry committee.

One interesting note, businesses on Indian reservations do not pay gross receipt taxes to the state, if the business is owned and operated by a certified member of that tribe or pueblo. A business owned and/or operated by someone from another tribe or pueblo, or who is non-Indian must pay gross receipt taxes to the state.

Time is running low on the session. Letters of support to the representatives are most effective, be sure to include the bill number. Calls of support also are acceptable.

Citizens can also contact Gov. Gary Johnson, State Capitol Building, Santa Fe, NM 87503, to indicate support or opposition to any bill.

Hasta la vista till next week.

ons located in Los Lunas, Grants, Las Cruces and Santa Fe. Such easy access cuts down on transportation costs and logistical and supply problems."

Campos added, "Many people are seeking a location for the new prison based upon which city offers that state the best deal. But I contend that it isn't a question of whether Santa Rosa is giving the state the best deal, but rather whether Santa Rosa is the best deal for the state. Revitalizing Santa Rosa and the entire Guadalupe, San Miguel, Quay and De Baca counties area is good not just for the area, but for all of New Mexico."

"As rural New Mexico goes, so goes the rest of the state," Campos said.

"Something else is being overlooked in this competition for a prison and the jobs it will bring: long-range, deliberative consideration of our state's construction needs. The legislature has received testimony that a 1,200 bed medium security prison would be full the day it opens. Think carefully about that statement. As soon as we finish building this 1,200 bed prison, whether we build it in Santa Rosa or somewhere else, we will again be out of prison space," Campos said.

"If we change New Mexico's good time laws as expected, we will be even further behind in the race for enough space for criminals. The prudent course of action now is to begin the site evaluation and selection process for a second and third prison while the prison at Santa Rosa is being built. By the time Santa Rosa prison opens, and immediately fills to capacity, New Mexico will be prepared to build another prison in another location."

"Competition for prisons should be replaced with planning for prisons," Campos concluded.

Capitan Celebrates First Seatbelt Week With Proclamation

Last week Capitan celebrated its first seatbelt week with the help of the village council and mayor Norman Renfro. After a unanimous vote from the village council, Renfro proclaimed February 20-24, Safety Belt Awareness Week in Capitan.

Students Sabrina Honeyfield, Jennifer Brockman and Amber Rini planned and carried out seatbelt awareness activities such as handing out fliers to the middle and high schools and the community, hanging up posters, and an elementary contest. On March 8 the elementary class whose students wore their seatbelts the most will be given a pizza party for lunch.

A visual survey of the community revealed that only 40 percent of the 80 surveyed wear their seatbelts. A visual survey of the student-teachers revealed that 55 percent of the 100 surveyed wear their seatbelts.

Safety facts: airbags only protect in head-on collisions, three out of four crashes occur within 25 miles of home, and two out of five fatal crashes occur on roads where speed limits are 45 mph or less.

penalties for illegal transportation and dumping of materials such as nuclear waste. He talked about how each of us needs to be interested in this legislation.

Jackson reported that due to the village's use of monetary incentives for employees who maintain a good safety record, a cost savings of $29,000 is attributed to this program alone. He quoted a modifier (a multiplier used to determine Worker's Compensation rates assessed to the Village) of .79 versus a rate of .94 for 1993. Finally, he indicated that there were three municipalities that he knew of that used this means of cutting Worker's Compensation costs and that modifiers ranged from a low of .67 to 1.45.

Alan D. Riley reported the Grindstone Water Treatment Plant project is 35 percent complete and that the building would be "dry" by the end of the week. The village received quotes from three appraisers regarding the Grindstone properties. Thompson Appraisals should have appraisals to Riley by March 20.

Ruidoso State Bank has provided information pertinent to prospective land swaps, raw land for developed land. Riley indicated he requested the MainStreet committee to reconvene. He also said the MainStreet project was about $100,000 over budget but that he expected to offset this by cost under-runs in other budget items, by requesting additional grant monies and, if needed, to pursue private funding sources to finish the project.

The village has not received $2,500 in grant monies for signs to be made by Candice Garrett, part of a matching funds grant program operated by the state for main streets within municipalities.

The council approved a land lease agreement workshop for March 7 at 9 a.m. concerning the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. On the advice of attorney John Underwood, a rewrite of current land-lease agreements will be discussed. In lieu of a final village "philosophy" regarding land-lease agreements the council temporarily put off a decision on a 40 year land-lease agreement with a private party.

Ordinance 95-02 was passed amending liability insurance requirements for aircraft from a minimum of $100,000 to $1,000,000, an amount equal to that required of vehicles which are allowed to operate in the ramp areas of the airport. This requirement will be included in all future lease agreements which includes the T-hanger and Sunshade Lease Agreement Standard Form.

Ronny Enfield reported results of state required lodger vending audits for fiscal year 1993-94 ending June 30, 1994, stating the audit revealed some minor accounting errors and both under and over reporting. Also, one lodging vendor under paid taxes. All audit findings were accepted by the lodger vendors audited.

The consent items, routine agenda items, were approved which included past meeting minutes, airport budget transfers, a new vehicle for the police department, a water department bid award and approval for out-of-state travel to Washington D.C. for Mayor Shaw, though Mayor Shaw could not say whether or not she would be able to make the trip.

Riley told the council an agreement to undergo the expenses and work for "Relocation Design" was necessary prior to the September '95 start of construction on Highway 48. He recommended the village contract the services of a company currently doing similar work on these same roadways, which would result in an appreciable savings over using another firm that did not already have required studies and maps prior to beginning the work. The council approved the recommended agreement.

A partial vacation of right-of-way at a cost of $1 per foot was approved by the village for Dr. Beechie's office and a piece of property directly west of his office. This after the County Commission had approved the request for vacation of right-of-way. Two proclamations were read by Mayor Shaw. The first was for March 10 Arbor Day. A member of the Forestry Service was present to receive the proclamation and said there would be a public activity at Fire Station #2 off White Mountain Road. The second proclamation supported a National Mid-level Education Month (March). This proclamation dealt with the need to be aware of the special needs of adolescent children and a request to support those involved in their educational process. Finally, there will be activities in the middle schools dealing with the theme of the National Mid-level Education Month proclamation throughout the month of March, to which the public is invited.

Local Cowgirls To Speak At Ruidoso Club

The Ruidoso Woman's Club will host Cindy Goodloe Smith of Nogal and her sister, Sherry Goodloe Underwood of Capitan, on Wednesday, March 8 at 1:30 p.m. The program is entitled "Modern Ranching Women of Lincoln County."

These two well-known cowgirls will tell of their experiences in everyday ranch life working cattle, as well as training cutting horses, driving a multiple horse hitch and Hollywood show business.

The girls come from a long line of pioneer ranchers. Their mother, Shirley Goodloe, former Lincoln County Treasurer, is foreman of a Louisiana ranch. Cindy and Sherry's children will also appear on the program.

The public is invited to attend. The Club is located at 111 Evergreen.

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Bitter Pill For Governor

By Ruth Hammond

Governor Gary Johnson got a taste of his own medicine this week and from what we hear, he doesn't like it. Apparently Johnson is upset because federal cutbacks at Kirtland Air Force Base in Albuquerque will cause loss of jobs. Johnson was not concerned when he cut jobs at Fort Stanton but now that the federal government is doing the same thing he said he was doing, trying to save money by cutting back and spending less money, he doesn't like it. Now maybe he will know how we feel.

Johnson said there was "misinformation" about the situation at Kirtland and he is trying to get the state legislature to agree to spend $50,000 for a lobbying campaign to fight the cutbacks that would result in military personnel being transferred to other bases and cause other people to lose their jobs.

It is interesting that we have said Johnson was "misinformed" about the situation at Fort Stanton and we (the residents of Lincoln County) have tried a lobbying campaign to fight the closing of Fort Stanton that has resulted in loss of jobs and workers being transferred to other locations but Gov. Johnson has refused to listen.

The major difference between the two situations is that the Defense Department has proposed the cutbacks at Kirtland but will not make a final decision until July 1. Gov. Johnson made the announcement to close Fort Stanton and within two weeks the state health department was preparing lay-off notices. The federal government seems to be willing to allow everyone time to make the adjustment of leaving Kirtland while in contrast the state (Gov. Johnson) dropped the bomb and didn't allow time for the dust to settle before clearing away the bodies.

When 202 jobs are lost in Lincoln County the results are not the same as Albuquerque losing 4,000 to 7,000 jobs. It was reported just yesterday that the number of jobs in Albuquerque have increased in the past year. The same is not true in Lincoln County where the job situation has not changed until this year when Fort Stanton was doomed and one-tenth of the total county population was forced to consider moving away from the area.

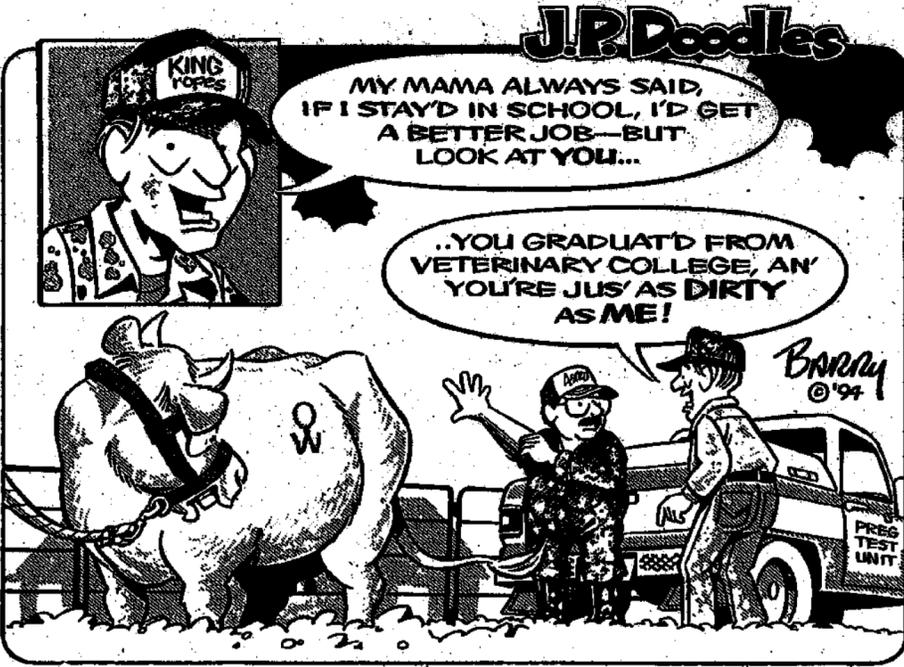

Cost-savings, according to Gov. Johnson when he was talking about closing Fort Stanton, were the most important thing. Now that closing or cutting back is proposed at Kirtland, Johnson is questioning the validity of trying to save money in a method which could cause cost increases in other areas. That is what we have been trying to tell Gov. Johnson about Fort Stanton.

The number of people who have moved out of Lincoln County in the past few weeks and those who will be moving continues to grow. Betty Lou Joiner reported in her column "Fort Stanton Facts and Fiction" that the final farewell is when these people come to the post office to change their mail. It is sad that as people close their post office boxes and move away it signals the end of an era. As more people move there will be less need for the Fort Stanton post office and if it is closed it will cause Fort Stanton to be removed from state maps.

The state is SUPPOSED to save $3 million by closing Fort Stanton (or so Gov. Johnson says) and the federal government may save BILLIONS by making the cutbacks at Kirtland.

Gov. Johnson has been a successful businessman and knows the importance of saving money. He says that is why the state (Gov. Johnson) chose to close Fort Stanton. Maybe someone can tell me why Gov. Johnson objects to the federal government saving money by copying the method Gov. Johnson used to save money. Maybe someone can tell me why Gov. Johnson wants to spend money to help preserve one municipality while doing everything he can to destroy not only a municipality but an entire area known as Lincoln County.

To Save or not to save? Ask Gov.

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE--The Capital City's unseasonably warm winter has brought out the demonstrators like never before.

In my 30 years on the scene, this is the warmest weather ever for a legislative session. The snow banks and icy sidewalks are gone. The precipitation has turned to rain.

The balmy weather has been very inviting to groups wanting to catch the attention of lawmakers, who unfortunately stay holed up in their basement chambers.

On the day this column is being written, three large groups demonstrated for several hours outside the Capitol while numerous classes of school children performed inside in the rotunda.

The largest of the outdoor groups promoted what supporters called "the Gambling Equality Act." They carried large signs saying "Citizens for a level playing field." In other words: people who want casinos at racetracks.

There were vets, trainers, horse owners, realtors, feed store owners, and farmers carrying picket signs. Several placards read "Farriers for 526," a reference to the Senate Bill number.

A lifesize statue of a horse decorated the east entry to the Capitol. "Lucky, the Talking Horse" conducted a press conference. Former state lawmaker John Underwood, now a lobbyist for Ruidoso Downs, did the translating.

A stick horse waited at the desk of each House member. When roll call began the day's session, a bugle tooted the familiar "post time." Speaker Raymond Sanchez warned members to be careful where they stepped.

The Senate, which doesn't like its theatrics upstaged by such nonsense, required the stick horse be delivered to each member's office.

Outside a "Roundhouse Futurity" was run on the stick horses. But since it was people supplying the "horsepower," the ideal circular track around the Roundhouse was shunned for a shorter race around the trees at the east entrance. My tipster says it was fixed. The winning steed had been juiced with a margarita.

Amid this frivolity, supporters of the Hispanic Cultural Center conducted a rally to convince Gov. Gary Johnson not to veto their money request -- originally set at $26 million but scaled back to $18 million.

Loretta Armenta, of the Albuquerque Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, told the crowd her group was having "very positive dialogue" with Johnson. But after a flowery introduction, the governor deflated the supporters by saying he was glad the center got $12 million last year because the state can't afford any more. Twice he called it the "Cultural Hispanic Center."

Afterwards, Armenta and her group, which included Ed Lujan, former Republican state chairman and brother of Manuel Lujan, met with Johnson and his top aide Lou Gallegos. Armenta emerged from the meeting proclaiming "a real feeling of euphoria."

My tipster says that means Johnson committed to no more than $2 million -- and probably less. At least it meant the governor changed his mind again.

The meeting did have better results than Johnson session with racetrack supporters later. The governor said he'd leveled the playing field when he signed gaming compacts with the Indians and if the tracks get video gambling, the field will be tilted back in their direction.

R.D. Hubbard, owner of Ruidoso Downs and several other tracks around the country, said he'd have to sell if that was the deal. Johnson said to keep him posted because he might like to buy.

On the same day, Gov. Johnson announced that Michelle Lujan Grisham was reappointed to head the State Agency on Aging, after submitting her mandatory letter of resignation at the beginning of the Johnson administration.

In case you're thinking Grisham, who recently added "Lujan" to her name, might have a connection to the Lujans who convinced the governor to change his mind on the Hispanic Cultural Center, you'd be right.

In case you're thinking that's the only thing the young lady has going for her, you'd be wrong. Lujan Grisham is an able administrator.

Congress Must Practice What It Preaches

by JACK FARIS

New Law: Congress Must Practice What It Preaches

America's fourth president, James Madison, wrote that "Congress can make no law which will not have its full operation on themselves and their friends, as well as on the great mass of society. This has always been deemed one of the strongest bonds by which human policy can connect the rulers and the people together."

Despite these words by one of the country's greatest leaders, somewhere along the way Congress began acting as if it was above the law. But the revolution that took place in the November elections apparently reminded lawmakers that the general public is wary of an institution that imposes rules and regulations on Main Street firms and individuals while exempting itself.

Hopefully, that practice will change now that lawmakers have come to the commonsense conclusions that members of Congress should be covered by the same laws and regulations affecting all other Americans.

Congress recently passed the Congressional Accountability Act and President Clinton signed it into law. For the first time, congressional employees will have the right to sue in federal court over complaints arising from 11 different labor, safety and worker-rights laws, as well as have their cases tried before juries.

This is good news for small business owners who have been telling Congress for years that many of the laws it passes are anti-business. As far back as 1988, a survey conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business, the nation's largest advocacy group for small business, showed that a majority of NFIB members did not want Congress to be exempt from labor laws.

Besides recognizing the arrogance of exempting themselves from the laws they enact, the new law requiring Congress to cover itself may give lawmakers a sense of the collateral damage they inflict when passing sweeping laws to "fix" society's problems.

And while it's doubtful that this law will ever mean that individual members of Congress will fear the threat of fines and penalties imposed after an unannounced inspection by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration or the Environmental Protection Agency, perhaps the symbolic threat of such action will at least give lawmakers a sense of what it must be like to run a small business.

OSHA is a perfect example of an agency that started out with good intentions but has ended up terrorizing small business owners. While small farms live in fear of being fined or required to make costly changes to comply with the burdensome regulations OSHA slaps on them, Congress was exempt from making similar modifications in the House and Senate office buildings.

Along with OSHA, the other laws that will now be applied to Congress are: the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Civil Rights Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Federal Labor Management Relations Act, the Rehabilitation Act, the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act.

LETTERS to the editor

EDITOR--Congress is presently introducing legislation which will restrict the United Nation's ability to deploy our armed forces.

As a retired combat veteran, I feel that our troops should not be deployed, during conflicts in foreign countries (except to protect Americans, abroad), unless Congress gains public support and declares war. Unlike WWI and WWII, Congress did not declare war during the Korean, Viet Nam and Persian Gulf Wars. Consequently, we killed and maimed hundreds of thousands of innocent people, whom were oppressed, by their own government and left the evil governmental leaders, unscathed.

The majority of our people, including combat veterans, initially supported the U.N.'s, and our President's actions in each, of the above, incidents. The best way, to support our troops, is to ensure that they are not sacrificed, for nothing!

We all know the fiasco that the U.N. and our Presidents caused in South Viet Nam; however, the Korean War has always been equally mind boggling to me. We knew, prior to WWII, that the Russians were communist and could not be trusted. In fact, at the beginning of WWII, Russia was an ally of Germany. President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee (U.K.) allowed Russia to occupy North Korea in 1948, as agreed upon, at the Potsdam Conference (1945). The Russians established a communist government in North Korea and in 1950, the North Koreans attacked South Korea; surprise, surprise! The U.N. and Truman immediately sent American troops into Korea without Congressional consent. The Russians did not assist us, as promised, in our war against Japan; therefore, why did we allow them to occupy North Korea?

If the U.N. gains control of the World's armed forces, it will be able to impose its will upon the United States. Contact your elected officials!

Note: "The conflict between the communist and noncommunist powers, at the Yalta and Potsdam Conferences, marked the beginning of the "Cold War".

FRANKLIN L. BOREN, Tinnie.

EDITOR--Hats off to Senator Jeff Bingaman for his decision to oppose the Balanced Budget Amendment. Evidently Senator Bingaman saw it for what it was -- the first step in an attempt to get the working people of our country to pay for Ronald Reagan and George Bush's corporate welfare programs of the 1980s. That four trillion dollar deficit was run up for corporations and corporations should pay it back, not the hard working people of America.

Hold your ground, Jeff. We are proud of you for seeing what Newt and Company's Contract ON America is really all about.

For the Love of Gregory

by Joann Hen

Editor's Note: This column relates a five-year-old's conversations with his grandmother.

Lords, Ladies, Princes and Kings

Gregory told me on Thursday, that they had been reading fairy tales at kindergarten all week.

"I specially like the ones where the knights rescue the fair maidens in the distance," he said.

"I think that's 'in distress', Gregory," I said.

"Oh. Ok. But I like the Kings too, who keep sayin' 'off wif their heads!' Oh, an' Queen Mother, you should see the pictures of all the beautiful princesses. They wear ribbons, an' satin, an' jewels around their neck. They have earrings on their ears, an' rings on their fingers. Some eben have rings on their toes. But I think that's pretty silly. It could make it kinda hard to walk in shoes."

"Yes, it could put one in a bit of a pinch, I guess."

"Oh, brother," he said burying his head in his hands. "Queen Mother, you sure come up wif some doozies."

"Sorry. Get on with your stories."

"Well, actually, I didn't come to tell you fairy tales."

"Oh what a shame. I'm disappointed," I said.

"Knock it off, Queen Mother, or I'm goin' home!"

"Ok. I'll behave, Gregory."

I came to ask you if I'm royal ty. You know, like the Queens an' Kings."

"Why do you ask that, Gregory?"

"Cause the teacher said I wuz royalty. Actually her ezac words wuz, 'You are a royal pain!'"

"Why did she say that," I asked.

"I don't know. All I did wuz ask her how old she wuz. Really, I tol' her she wuz real old, an' tired, an' maybe she oughta go take a nap."

"Well I don't think anyone will be calling you King Gregory."

"Oh darn. I wanted to say 'off wif their heads'. I don't the Employee Polygraph Protection Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, and the Veterans Re-employment Act.

The Congressional Accountability Act is but one of the legislative measures passed under the new leadership's banner of "institutional reforms." But the most significant reform may be the apparent record number of freshman lawmakers who are small-business owners. Let's hope the "real world" experience of these freshmen, along with the symbolic threat of "congressional coverage," will mark the turning point in the efforts to stem the tide of government growth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(Con't. from P. 4)

EDITOR—At the half way point of the session, we are now reading about shortfalls in revenue. I got to thinking about that in light of my worries over the race horse industry. I believe a way out for the revenue picture is to look for more revenue sources.

Full gaming at the racetracks will keep whole communities tied to the race horse industry alive and still paying into the state treasury.

Strengthening the tracks equalizes the loss of tax revenues full Indian casinos will have on the state. I use the word loss because, as the big hotels come to the state and locate on the reservations you will see some real loss of sales taxes on purchases for food, lodging and boutique items.

All of these purchases will relocate to the full casino-hotels on the reservation. Taxes once paid to the communities where the food, lodging and boutiques were located will decrease sharply. Overtime, businesses now providing these services will decline, also.

A study on the expenditures by tourists connected to the horseracing industry found that tourists spent $106.2 million on food, lodging and related matters in New Mexico in 1992. Part of this makeup is also transportation and general retail. When this money is spent in the state, the state the profits. When this money is spent on the reservation, the state doesn't see any of it.

The James Hayes study on the economic impact of horseracing to New Mexico found that the estimated gross receipts revenues from 1992 involving tourists at horseracing tracks was $86.6 million. The state received 5 percent of that, the local government received one percent.

Tax free tourist activities on the reservation won't help the revenue shortfall.

Total entertainment at the tracks lets the tourists and tracks contribute to the state treasury.

MICHAEL WEATHERLY,
Mesquite, N.M.

EDITOR—In 1968, Alabama's governor George Wallace, took a run at the presidency. He went down in flames running as a third party candidate under the auspices of the American Independent Party. He was an impressive speaker even to those who disagreed with him. He caused listeners to think. Over and over the Alabama Governor charged: "There is not a dime's worth of difference between the Republican and the Democratic party." Voters were beginning to believe it.

Here were are a quarter of a century later. George Wallace was right then, and his charge is still true today. Congress passes the NAFTA, the GATT, and more recently the 40 billion dollar Mexican aid package.

In every instance Republicans have provided the Democratic administration with the margin of victory. The Clinton administration could not have passed any one of the three without the seemingly dependable Republican vote.

We are reminded of the words of an Alabama governor who was a Democrat all his life. We should be reminded of George Wallace's observation, "There's not a dime's worth of difference in those two old parties." And there isn't. The politicians have fooled the American voters for decades now. Wallace was waking up voters all across the country when the assassin shot him.

Corona FFA Members At Two Day MFE Seminar

Ten members of the Corona FFA Chapter attended the National FFA Organization's Made for Excellence (MFE) seminar in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The two day MFE personal development program helped students learn techniques for dealing with peer pressure and on how to set and achieve goals. The conference also featured a self discovery workshop designed to help members find their own success in life. This year's theme is "Voyage of Discovery-Excellence Marks the Spot".

Corona participants in FFA's made for excellence (MFE) conference were: Rick Ragley, Lindsey Bonds, John Gnatkowski, Shayla Marshall, Kimberlee Riley, Amy Bonds, Rocky Bagley, Chris Daniels, Craig Painter, sponsor, and Janice Bonds, sponsor.

MFE conferences, which began in 1987, will be held in 39 states during the 1994-1995 school year. Forty-three conferences have been scheduled. More than 6,500 junior high and high school students are expected to attend.

"Made For Excellence is an exceptional opportunity for many FFA members to participate in a national conference without the expense of leaving their home state," said Scott Stump, MFE Program Manager. "These conferences bring out the very best in the students who participate."

MFE program staff members are college students who are former state or national FFA officers. Many staff members have also worked as counselors for the Washington Leadership Conference, FFA's national leadership seminar held in Washington, D.C. each summer.

FFA is a national organization of over 427,000 members in over 8,000 local chapters developing each student's potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agricultural education. Local, state and national activities and award programs provide opportunities for students to apply knowledge and skills acquired through agricultural education.

CORONA NEWS

Kathy Williams was in town Tuesday morning to check on Life Line for some seniors. She reminded us that the clinic first opened for business 16 years ago. The staff organized Feb. 13th and received the first patient on Feb. 14. For the first five years the clinic was staffed by volunteers. It has been a big help to the whole community.

Killer Bees

The name, African killer bee, definitely has threatening implications. It portrays high toxicity and sparking, white, long, pointed canines. That is not true. The toxin of killer bees has the same potency as the introduced European bee, more commonly known as the ordinary honey bee, which have inhabited the Americas for many years. Both the African killer bee and the European bee are similar in appearance. One difference, among others, between these two species is that the killer bee is a recent arrival to the Americas.

The story behind African killer bees begins in Brazil in the 1950's. Brazil's honey industry had become dissatisfied with the productivity of honey from European bees. Therefore, the Brazilian ministry requested assistance from Warwick Kerr, a university professor, to improve beekeeping in Brazil. He imported African bees and began breeding experiments. In 1957, 26 African bee queens escaped from his experiments. They bred with European bees, producing Africanized hybrid offspring referred to as the Africanized bees. In 1964, military forces took over the government of Brazil. Kerr was critical of this government. To discredit Kerr, the military blamed him for all insect stinging incidents by stating that these incidents resulted from bees which escaped from Kerr's experiments. Military personnel named the escaped bees, killer bees. Brazilians soon became aware of Africanized bees, as well as people from countries outside Brazil where these bees were invading.

Africanized bees moved northward across Central America, and they have now entered North America. They travel about 200 miles per year, and they breed with European bees along their way. All people in their path are concerned, and they have good reason.

Africanized bees have a different behavior than European bees. When compared to the European bees, Africanized bees lay more eggs per queen, swarm more often, develop into adults quicker, begin pollinating earlier in the morning, continue to pollinate later in the evening, produce more honey per bee, are more resistant, and are more disease resistant. Because of their nasty dispositions, they tend to be disturbed easier, will pursue in swarms rather than as individuals, will pursue for much greater distances, and are more apt to sting than the European bee.

It is obvious that only experienced bee keepers should handle Africanized bees. Any unexperienced individuals who suspect the whereabouts of Africanized bees should keep their distance. The aggressive behavior of these bees could cause serious injury and even death. That is the bad side. On the good side, the behavior of killer bees could be an important attribute.

Authorities indicate that the arrival of the Africanized honeybees may eventually be one of the best things that has ever happened to American beekeeping, mainly because of their disease resistance and general improvement of resident European bee stocks. After all, Brazil ranked 47th in the world for honey production before Kerr introduced African bees. In one generation, with Africanized bees, Brazil now ranks seventh.

CAPITAN NOTES

BY MAUREEN SULLIVAN

Greetings from my old house by the side of the road to your house.

At this moment I seem to be stuck between the young and the restless and the old and the senseless. First I try to remember that I am in the Here and Now, but thoughts of wonderful and happy times of long, long ago keep crowding and shoving the thoughts I am supposed to have today, to the back burner, so bear with me. You see it is getting close to St. Patrick's Day and I don't think I ever missed a dance on the 17th of March until my later years. In fact would still go if I had someone to go with and, of course, if there was a St. Patrick's Dance anywhere close. We used to think nothing of driving 50 or 60 miles to a big dance, especially if there was a good band playing. Of course, we had to start a little earlier and we were sometimes quite late arriving home, but oh golly, oh gosh, what fun we did have.

Back to the here and now, I think.

Congratulations to Tony and Mae Padilla. They just became brand new grandparents today. Contributors of the handsome grandson are Melanie and Troy Padilla.

Congratulations to each of you from each of us.

Jackie Bandy will be leaving for Apple Valley, California on Friday to spend time with her mother, Elsie Davis. Mrs. Davis is to have serious surgery and Jackie wants to be with her. Jackie, we will all miss you at the store, your nice manner, your pleasant smile, your pretty face and your smart and stylish clothes. We will be praying for you and your Mom and we look forward to having you back with us real soon.

Mrs. Shanks was explaining to her students in the second grade that they must not spend so much time in the rest room, playing and wasting time. She stressed to them that they must go to the bathroom take care of their needs, wash their hands, and return to the class room like they are supposed to. Yeah, "piped up Courtney Cummins". It's not a museum in there you know. What is the old adage "Out of the mouths of babes?"

Announcement. Wednesday, March 8, monthly meeting of Capitan Association of Family and Community Education (Extension Club). Place: Zia Senior Citizens Center, 9:30 a.m. Program: Recycling of Hazardous Wastes. Bring some hazardous waste items from home as oven cleaner, aerosol cans, hairspray can, leftover medicine, used flashlight batteries, anti-freeze container, old paint and paint thinner. Presenter: Mollie Mason. Guest Speaker: Joe Lewandowski from Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority. Hostesses: Angie Provine and Nina Ross. Crafts: Make centerpieces of orange and apple. Supplies will be provided.

How many of you read the PowerGram that was sent with your last electric bill? The paragraph about Cloudfrost being the home base for New Mexico Rails-to-Trails Association, which was formed one year ago in order to convert abandoned railroad beds into trails usable by hikers, mountain bikers, horseback riders, cross country skiers, and some motorized vehicles. This will be a new tourist attraction and will certainly do wonderful things for this area. If you are interested in joining the association, or would like to get additional information about its activities, write to New Mexico Rails-to-Trails, Box 44, Cloudfrost, N.M. 88317 or better yet, just call your Otero County Electric Cooperative. Sounds like a great idea for you younger folks, a bit strenuous for we "over the hill crowd."

How much hair do you have to lose to be designated as "bald"? I do not know, but the record compilers say 45 percent of all men can be so classified at age 45.

Do any dolphins live in the Amazon River? You bet. Pink ones with long snouts. They enjoy special privilege. Amazon tribes people hold them in very high regard. Worship them even. Protect them certainly. Those dolphins eat Piranhas.

What's corn pone? Cornbread without milk or eggs.

The common nick name "red" goes all the way back to "Eric the Red." Scholars say, however, it goes back even further for there were certain Egyptians that were known as "Red". It is one of the oldest nicknames in history. (Really thought you would be interested in that one.)

Ran into our "Globe Trotting Angie" and she had just returned from Los Alamos and remarked she was so tired she couldn't die, she still had not traveled to the moon yet.

Did you hear about the old horse barn outside of town that is soon to be remodeled and made into a fancy western restaurant and will be having its grand opening soon? If it's anything like some I have visited in Omaha, Nebraska, that utilized the former horse stalls for secluded tables, it will be a big drawing card for this entire area. Ran into the owner last week in the market and I hope he wasn't just kidding me.

Abraham Lincoln had difficulty getting his education -- What do you expect from a fellow who didn't play football or basketball?

A dictionary is a guide to the spelling of words -- if you know how to spell them, you can find them.

Oranges are among the oldest of cultivated fruits. Christopher Columbus brought oranges to America in 1493, seeds that is.

During an entire lifetime a person spends a lot of time with some pretty boring activities.

Many fans find that the most brutal thing about football is the price of the tickets.

Although Bermuda is only 22 miles long and a mile wide, it has more golf courses per square mile than any other country.

Gambling is a sure way to getting nothing for something.

People in England observed Valentines day as early as 1446. But this romantic holiday is now celebrated in many countries.

While Washington was president, the first ten amendments to the Constitution were adopted, the mint was established, and Kentucky, Tennessee and Vermont joined the Union.

The emergence of Ping-Pong as a popular activity at the turn of the century resulted in hundreds of poems being written about the game. And the first world championship was held in London in 1926 with seven nations competing. Today the figure is about 100.

Nothing is more upsetting to a child than to study the wrong lesson and have to learn something extra.

Saw Mozie Sparks the other day at the post office and she is getting ready for spring.

Also saw Marjorie Hall and she looks younger every time I see her. Take note Valden, she is far too pretty to be out alone.

I understand the new owners of the shopping center are from Las Cruces. Hope to interview them for next week's copy.

And a tip of the Irish hat to Mike, our handsome postmaster, who is such a tonic for we old ladies. Am sure he is Irish, or where else would he inherit his charming gift of gab and blarney.

And speaking of Blarney, did you ever hear this one about the little mouse on the barroom floor? You said no, didn't you? Well here goes.

Some Guinness was spilt on the Barroom floor

When the pub was shut for the night.

Out of his hole crept a wee brown mouse.

And stood in the pale moonlight.

He lapped up the frothy brew from the floor.

Then back on his haunches he sat.

And all night long you could hear him roar.

"Bring on your goshdarn CAT".

Perhaps I should close on that note and quote Senator Sam Nunn in regard to his fellow Georgian, Newt Gingrich. "Perhaps most of his remarks should remain unspoken."

And so for another week, keep happy, keep your unpleasant thoughts to yourself, be a good neighbor and remember if you think that no one likes you, remember that God loves you. That thought can get you by some rather rough times. I know. I've been there.

So may God keep each and everyone of you in His care. Adios.

County 4-H Council Cancels Legislative Trip

 "Can't rescue any ladies in the distance?"
 "Not if they are in a castle tower, and you're on a horse," I answered.

FORT STANTON FACTS & FICTION

By BETTY LOU JOHNER

When I arrived at work this morning I had no idea what was in store for me. A brand new typewriter was in the lobby. I put up the mail, did my books, and then opened this piece of wonderful equipment. Accidentally, I pushed a S key which said self-demo. Doing this I was surprised to see when it said what is your name? I wrote my name and then it wrote a whole page to me, telling me what all it could do. This day and age is scary to see what typewriters, copy machines and computers can do.

As I writing this Gene Luna's trailer is leaving the Fort. Shala and him hope to be able to stay around our area instead of moving away. Dr. Hidaka had been gone for a week and he too left for his new residence in the state of Washington on Friday. It is seemng like I am the final step in this sad experience. Everyone finds a job, or other measures of life, moves their trailers or rents another house, and then comes in and changing their mail is the final farewell.

Lisa Annala stopped in for a minute. Always am glad to know what her Kaitlyn and Scott are doing.

Erin Keller also stopped in and will be going to a branch of Texas A&M to work towards her master in marine biology in the fall.

Going to bring in the flag on Friday, Frieda and her sister had taken a detour by the Fort on her way to Carlsbad. She said to tell everyone hello and her and Mike were praying for each of their friends.

A baby shower was held for Melanie Wood on Sunday. Lots of presents were received by the guest of honor.

Family members and friends enjoyed the games and refreshments. Unemployment people were at the Fort all day Monday trying to help the ones who will choose this route. Evelyn Garvey traveled to Las Lunas over a week ago to find a trailer space. She has a job, but there were no trailer spaces at all. The best she could find was a lot for $23,000. She lucked out when arriving home and calling her son-in-law who helped locate one space that will be available on March 15. She is supposed to report to work on the 13th. Evelyn said several nursing positions are open there but she knows why with no living quarters.

Gloria Padilla has left us to go north also. Her trailer was pulled out on the 24th, headed for Buena Vista.

Called Connie Whipple to get some dates on the Lincoln County Rodeo Club. She was secretary but chose to resign with too many other irons in the fire.

Debbie Bird has offered to take her place as secretary. I didn't get to talk to Debbie. Debbie if you read this, will you send me some dates, president, etc.

As this is being written two funerals of loved ones of my friends are taking place in Roswell and Ruidoso. We all send our deepest sympathy to the Posey family and Beverly and Billie in this time of great sorrow. Two sons lost in our small town of Ruidoso Downs.

Audrey and Eddie spent a few hours roping with Phil Piper on Sunday. Guess who stayed with me? The first two guesses don't count. We played with the puppies, ate banana, wore hats, made a million and one steps and took a nap. Really felt I had accomplished something as this was the first time anyone but Mom had been able to get Kersti to sleep.

Lenard Hall has been under the weather in North Dakota. Cannot find time to send a card so know you read this Lenard and hope you are 100 percent well. Lenard has been postmaster at Trotter's for many a year and will have to retire in May due to a few aches and pains. Best to you and the family Lenard.

Not too much news this week, have been stitching on the first of my Fort Stanton quilts. Hope to have this one done by the 24th. Many are closing out their boxes, dread it more and more as I watch each move on.

Looking through a 1945 New Mexico magazine I found at the ranch I came across a poem about New Mexico. Think you might enjoy it.

Gold in New Mexico

There's a murmur abroad, a secret afloat.

Conveyed by each passing breeze.

There is treasure untold, there is gold, shining, gold.

On the hillsides on bushes and trees!

It whirls in the path that ascends the steep hill;

We see it adrift in the air;

It is falling in showers with the days fleeting hours,

Gold, shining gold, everywhere.

Would you have all the treasure, a gift without price

To carry wherever you go?

Seek the forests that rest on the cool mountain's breast.

The mountains of New Mexico.

THE CARRIZOZO INN at the intersection of Highways 54 and 380 in Carrizozo has a new four foot by 16 foot neon motel sign that was installed Feb. 25. Mac and Sunny McDougal, residents of Ruidoso for 32 years, are the new owners of Carrizozo Inn and are making several improvements to the facility. A new roof has been completed, rooms are being painted and have new carpet, and the office area will be renovated with a southwestern decor. The McDougal's also own Sierra Blanca Cabins in Ruidoso. Mac said he is excited about Carrizozo and any new activities that will improve the economy of the local community. Mac (lower left) watches as the sign is lowered into place. Signs by Smith of Ruidoso installed the sign which has a hail screen to help prevent damage in bad weather.
