

Ruidoso Skaters May Lose Sidewalk Priviledges

by Doris Cherry

Ruidoso skateboarders' honeymoon with the MainStreet sidewalks was short lived. Ruidoso Village Council Tuesday, voted to begin the process of creating an ordinance to prohibit any type of skate sports equipment on the newly reconstructed sidewalks, and voted to build a skateboard park at North Park at the north end of the Links golf course to provide a paved public location for the skaters.

The ordinance process takes about six weeks. During that time, council will conduct hearings to allow public comment on the proposed ordinance.

Some 20 Midtown merchants returned to the village council and requested an ordinance because of problems with skateboarders. The merchants had requested the ordinance on May 9, but failed to convince the council of the severity of the problem. At that time, police chief Lanny Maddox said he had received very few complaints about the skate boarding kids. And about 40 kids were present to support their right to use the sidewalks.

Then councilors chose not to pursue an ordinance to prohibit use of the midtown sidewalks, but they asked that skaters do their sport after hours, and be courteous when merchants ask them to leave. But apparently empowered with their influence on the council, some of the skaters have abused their right to use the MainStreet sidewalks.

Ann Bolton who owns J. Roberts shop in the MidTown area, made the written request for the ordinance. She said the problems have worsened since Memorial Day.

"We didn't live through the sidewalk construction to open them up to skateboarders," Bolton said. "We've got to figure a way to solve the problem, because its hurting people downtown." Her statement elicited applause from the supporting merchants.

Bolton said the kids not only created problems on the sidewalks with their skateboards, they loiter on and litter her patio, damage flowers and flower pots, use obscene language, discolor the expensive colored concrete with skateboard tracks, and generally discourage tourists, and customers.

Another merchant, Jay Ross, said a woman was injured recently by a skateboarder who ran over her foot.

Student TV Program On Closure Of Fort Stanton Is Nominated For Emmy

Capitan Asks People To Please Conserve Water

by Doris Cherry

Please conserve water in Capitan.

The village is asking residents water with sprinklers only in the evening and early morning hours from 6 p.m. until 8 a.m.

During the Capitan Trustees meeting Monday village supervisor Terry Cox reminded everyone about conserving water.

Cox said there is too much evaporation if watering by sprinkler is done during the day. Watering with a hose during the day, for trees or gardens, is permissible because the water is directed and not subject to as much evaporation.

Residents are being requested to follow the water conservation measures because of the prolonged drought. A drier than normal winter, and spring, has resulted in a higher than normal demand for municipal water. In May the village pumped 1.5 million gallons more than it did in May 1994, Cox said.

With that extra pumping, the village may overdraw on its legally owned, or leased, water rights. In the last few years and last year especially, village water use exceeded the amount to which it is legally entitled. Subsequently, the village has had to lease the use of water rights and has been pursuing purchase of water rights.

The village owns half, with Ruidoso, of the water rights to Eagle Creek, in Alto. But it has no way to bring that sur-

Capitan School Meal Prices Will Increase

by Doris Cherry

Meals at Capitan Schools cafeteria will cost more this fall.

Capitan Board of Education approved the increase for full paid breakfast and lunch tickets. Starting this fall, the price of a full paid breakfast will increase to 75 cents. Lunches will cost $1.25 for elementary students (K-5), $1.50 for secondary students (6-12) and $2.50 for adult meals.

The price increases are estimated to bring an additional $4,896 to the cafeteria budget.

Capitan School superintendent Diana Billingsley said the major reason for the increase was the $26,943 subsidy for the cafeteria from the district's operational budget this year. Also this next school year, salary and benefit increases for cafeteria personnel will cost the district an additional $2,048.

Board member James Hobbs commented that he would have rather used that money to pay a band director, instead of subsidizing the cafeteria.

It has been four years since prices were increased in the cafeteria.

Diabetes Program At Senior Citizens Center On Monday

Martha C. Luna, R.D.,L.D., will present Session II of the diabetes update at the Zia Senior Citizens Center in Carrizozo Monday, June 19 at 10 a.m.

Session II will be timing of medications with meals, prevention and treatment of hypoglycemia/hyperglycemia, exercise, sick days-complications, and one on one consultations.

The price increase will not affect the price of the federally reduced, or free meals to qualifying students. The maximum price of reduced meals is set at 40 cents, and maximum price of reduced breakfasts is 30 cents.

The cafeteria will have enough funds to begin this fall. Billingsley said the ending balance of $14,254.88 from the cafeteria from this school year is enough to begin the new school year.

Conley's Nursery in Ruidoso Downs will install a sprinkler system and plant drought tolerant grass on the Capitan schools practice field. The board accepted the $18,690 bid from the nursery as the most responsive to the specifications sent out by the district. After discussion the board rejected the only other bid, which did not totally meet specifications. The district sent invitations to bid to

Democrats Are Honored At Appreciation Dinner

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Democratic Party hosted an appreciation dinner to former governor Bruce and first lady Alice King, representatives John Underwood, Dr. Wayne Townsend and Mario Torrez at a dinner in Ruidoso June 8.

Also honored at the dinner were newly elected state democratic party chairman Earl Potter, state senator Pete Campos, and Speaker of the House of Representative Raymond G. Sanchez.

Attended by approximately 115 party members from Lincoln and Otero Counties, and a few Republicans, speakers encouraged the members to know that they can make a difference in the future. Rep. Underwood reminded those present that the state also wanted to close Fort Stanton in 1990, when he was first elected to office. But through his extensive discussions with then governor Bruce King, the Fort facility was not only kept open, plans were made to turn the facility into a long-term medical care facility, primarily for geriatric patients.

Those plans were invalidated when new governor Gary Johnson's first official act was to close the Fort Stanton facility for good. Underwood said that was when Lincoln County needed someone with experience. "It shows how important local politics are," Underwood said. "If we people take charge of our own lives it makes a difference."

Underwood said that the new governor is serving only seven percent of the people of New Mexico. "That is not what being governor is all about," he said. "We need to take our state back with people who care."

While Underwood would not commit to seek re-election to the District 56 representative seat, former Otero County Rep. Mario Torrez threw his hat into the race and announced he would seek re-election. Torrez said he felt he had let his constituents down by losing the last election. "I'm not giving up," he said.

Torrez said there needs to be more communication for better protection of the environment and children.

Party chairman Potter encouraged the democrats to organize at the grass roots level, to "victory in 1996."

Speaker Sanchez was introduced by Underwood as "I think the next governor of New Mexico." Sanchez however would not commit to seeking the gubernatorial seat. Instead he said that candidates should seek election to do something good for the people of New Mexico.

Sanchez expressed concern about the Fort Stanton situation, and the importance of having a representative or senator with experience. "Knowing the system is so important," Sanchez said.

Senator Campos in his sixth year in the state senate said Gov. King, Torrez, Townsend and Underwood were the kind of leadership needed in New Mexico. "They're not out to pasture," he said.

Work Day At Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Campgrounds Set

Saturday, June 17 will be the first work day at the Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Campgrounds. Everyone is invited to bring a basket lunch and help clean the grounds of fallen branches and debris.

The 56th year of the non-denominational Camp Meeting will be held July 19-23. Follow the sign on U.S. Highway 380 between Carrizozo and Capitan or turn off state road 37 at Nogal Lake.

Fire And Smoking Restrictions Are In Effect For All Land

High temperatures, high winds and low humidity continue to keep wildland fuels in the southeastern half of the state at a hazardous point and stringent fire and smoking restrictions are being enforced.

An order issued by the Lincoln National Forest Supervisor effective June 10 states that NO CAMPFIRES ARE ALLOWED anywhere in the Lincoln National Forest and smoking is permitted only in vehicles or enclosed structures. The order will remain in effect until rescinded.

The New Mexico State Forestry has placed fire restrictions on all state and private non-municipal lands in Lincoln County as well as Otero County and Chaves County. Other counties under the fire restrictions are De Baca, Roosevelt, Eddy and Lea.

The state forestry issued the following Level II restric-

Ruidoso Skaters May Lose . . .

The woman, however, made no formal complaint about the incident. Maddox said there have been a few more formal complaints about skateboarders. He presented the council with a summary of recent complaints made to the police department, and a summary of the various ordinances and state laws that could cover some of the complaints the merchants were making to the mayor and councilors. Some of the ordinances that could apply included obstructing pedestrians, loitering, littering, verbal assault and so on. State law prohibits skating equipment to be used on highways and streets. Police have written some citations and Maddox told of a recent incident of property damage, reported by a merchant, that resulted in the juvenile being found, and who admitted to doing the damage. Maddox said merchants need to make formal complaints to his department if there are problems. "I will pursue charges if they apply to the ordinances." Then Maddox turned to the skaters. "You young people, you know I can be your best friends, or your worst enemy if you break the law."

Mayor Jerry Shaw was concerned that merchants were not making complaints to the police, and instead were calling herself and the councilors. But a merchant said she had called the police, and was told they could do nothing about the skateboarding, because there was no ordinance about the activity.

Councilor J.D. James, who had supported the skateboarders during the May 9 meeting, had a different opinion Tuesday. He said he went down to midtown at 5:30 p.m. after getting a complaint from a merchant. There he found two groups of skaters, on each side of the street. He said they were nice enough but the kids said they had the right to be there because they voted 44-7 to allow skating. James said he instructed the kids on civics, because only the council had that power to vote in that situation. Then James said a skater deliberately jumped his board up on a bench, "to spite me."

"I'm still for the kids, but there are some who are abusing it," James said. "This council never said do what you want," Mayor Shaw said to the skaters present. "We did not give you the license to go downtown and do what you want."

Councilor Joe Gomez was very concerned about the safety and welfare of the young people and merchants. "I don't want to see anybody hurt," he said.

At the May 9 meeting, some of the skateboarders asked the village to make a skate board park. The mayor then appointed a committee consisting of village staff, kids and a councilor to look into such a project. The committee met twice and has identified the North Park area for the skate park. Village deputy manager Alan Briley said it will take about a week for street crews to make the flat asphalt pad, on which skaters can construct jumps.

Maddox said that even if a park is constructed, MainStreet will probably continue to have problems from the "bad" skaters, since the "good skaters" will probably be the ones to use the skateboard park. He urged the merchants to file complaints under the existing ordinances to curb the problems.

Councilor Frank Potter made the motion to pursue the ordinance prohibiting skateboard, bikes or roller blades on the MainStreet sidewalks in Ruidoso. At first Potter added a section in his motion to direct the skaters to the civic center parking lot at night, since it is lighted, and unused. He dropped that portion of the motion, however.

Potter also first added the authorization to construct the skateboard park to the original motion, but split it out separately with a motion from Councilor Leon Eggleston.

On the motion to begin the ordinance against skating in MainStreet, all councilors but Eggleston voted yes. Eggleston voted against such an ordinance.

All councilors voted for the skateboard park, although some considered skateboarding a "fad" that will soon diminish in popularity. If so, the park could be converted to another use.

Public hearings will begin after notices of the proposed ordinance are advertised for two weeks.

Highways In County Are Designated As Billy The Kid Loop

by Doris Cherry

On June 8, Lincoln County Highways 70, 380 and 48 were officially designated as the Billy the Kid Scenic Byways Loop by the New Mexico Scenic and Historic Byways Program.

With the designation, the area becomes eligible for federal highway grants to construct visitor/interpretive centers, or funds for promotion.

Village of Ruidoso will become the administrative agent for the byways. Village council Tuesday authorized application for a grant to obtain funds to conduct a mandatory corridor management plan, collection of data on demographic and attitudinal profiles of visitors from targeted markets, construction of an interpretive center along the route and printing of brochures to promote the route.

The Billy the Kid loop officially begins on Highway 70 in Ruidoso, goes east to Hondo, where it turns west onto Highway 380 through historic Lincoln and on to Capitan where it turns south on Highway 48 past Rio Bonito, Sierra Blanca and ends in Ruidoso.

Democrats Are Honored . . .

King, Campos said they continue to serve all of us.

Campos commended Rep. Torrez who worked with the corrections interim committee to develop a plan for prisons. He also commended Dr. Townsend, who worked for the people of Otero County.

Dr. Townsend continues to serve on the state constitution revision committee, which recently held a meeting to which Gov. Johnson was invited. Although several former Democratic governors came to the revision meeting, Johnson did not, Dr. Townsend said.

Dr. Townsend said it is imperative to have a Democratic governor in charge of this state, who is ready to win. "Most of the Republicans (who won) were not ready, because they did not know how to lead the state." He also commended Gov. King and Mrs. Alice King for their deep care for the state, and for the Children Youth and Families

Dept. created mostly because of Mrs. King.

Governor King said that winning seven out of eight elections for governor wasn't too bad, and he considered it a great honor. He joked that "if we held elections like some of our neighbors, I might have been in office."

Gov. King referred briefly to a current news report about him using the state owned aircraft to campaign last year, and how it cost the state $30,000. King said the article gave a "misleading impression" he was traveling just for campaigning. He explained that in 1994 all state airplanes were put into a usage pool, and the legislature transferred $30,000 for use of those planes by state officials, including the governor. He further said that he was on official business during all the flights, but sometimes he did campaign after conducting official state business on the same trip.

Mrs. King said that she hopes that anyone who comes to office loves the state and has hopes to improve it. She thanked Speaker Sanchez for his support in establishing the Children Youth and Families, which is now disappearing under the new administration.

Master of Ceremonies, Lincoln County Commissioner L. Ray Nunley also read a message from U.S. Senator Jeff Bingaman. Nunley said that Democrats need to lead the state and nation into the 21st Century by reestablishing family and moral values, reducing the size of government, respond to the needs of the working people and protect the poor and underprivileged.

Ruidoso Mayor Jerry Shaw welcomed everyone present and commended the group for representation from all areas of the county.

Lincoln County Democratic Party chair and 2nd Congressional District vice-chair (over 17 New Mexico counties) Cece Griffin also introduced local elected officials and precinct chair persons.

The Lincoln County Democrats will meet tonight, at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Thelma and Bob Stephens, on Birch Lane about 1.5 miles west of Capitan off Highway 380.

 Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce will host an Open House at Mountain View Ceramics, at 503 8th St., Fri., June 16 from 4 to 6 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend and meet Susan and Greg Hancock, owners.

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Ignoring violations

By Ruth Hammond

Sunday is Father's Day and my original plan for this column was to send best wishes to all fathers. We need to honor our fathers not only on Father's Day but every day as well. And we need to tell our dads that we love them before it is too late.

Then it was brought to my attention that the New Mexico State Agency on Aging released some vital information that should be of interest to many people, but not the governor.

The press release from Tim Covell, New Mexico Long Term Care Ombudsman, New Mexico Agency on Aging, was a list of nursing homes with the most and least violations. The list was compiled on annual inspection surveys conducted in 1994 by the Health Facility Licensing Bureau of the Department of Health (Licensing and Certification) and provided a snapshot of care at a fixed point in time over the past year.

Needless to say, nursing homes are an extremely important part of our lives. Elderly people quite often need the care that can only be provided in a nursing home regardless of how much the family wants to keep the elderly person at home.

Those of us faced with the responsibility of providing the best care possible for an elderly person want only the best possible nursing home when one is needed. Those of us faced with the responsibility of providing around-the-clock care for a person who needs constant supervision are aware that we often have to depend on state inspections to make certain the nursing homes we select can and will provide the care necessary.

There were 17 nursing facilities with NO VIOLATIONS of the MINIMUM care standards inspected in 1994 by Licensing and Certification. Fort Stanton Living Center nursing facility was one of the 17 found to have NO VIOLATIONS. The other 16 with no violations included six in Albuquerque, four in Santa Fe and one each in Las Cruces, Las Vegas, Los Alamos, Springer, Carlsbad and Truth or Consequences.

There were 15 nursing facilities with the highest number of violations of the MINIMUM care standards ranging from eight to 26 violations. Two nursing facilities were rated very serious with "level A" violations. There has been no announcement from Governor Gary Johnson's office explaining why he chose to close one of the best nursing facilities in the state and at the same time allow others with serious violations to remain open.

The surveys conducted by licensing and certification are not quick in and out inspections. A team of surveyors spends three to five days evaluating care in the facility. The survey reports are public record and are available to consumers at the long term care facility or from licensing and certification. There has been no announcement from Gov. Johnson's office as to whether he has seen the report or even cares to see it. Probably not.

State health secretary Alex Valdez said care for the elderly is increasingly being provided in the home but he is ignoring the fact that there comes a time when the quality care needed can not be provided at home. It is at those times many of us must rely on nursing facilities. It would be nice if our governor would have allowed one of the best nursing facilities in the state to remain open right here in Lincoln County. He didn't.

Apparently Gov. Johnson is willing to accept violations of the MINIMUM care standards. Don't know about you but I believe at the very least, the MINIMUM care for our elderly should never be less than excellent, never be sub-standard.

My dad died at the age of 49 the day before my 19th birthday. His health was not good but he did not need nursing facility care. If he had I could not have lived with myself if I had not worked to provide the very best care possible. Gov. Johnson has denied that type care to many fathers today in Lincoln County.

Elderly need excellent care.

Ruidoso Special Events To Be Promoted By Chamber

by Doris Cherry

Lodgers taxes are collected every time someone stays in a lodge in Ruidoso.

Those taxes, by law, are then converted for the use of promoting the community. In Ruidoso, a large portion of the lodgers taxes were set aside for a contract with the chamber of commerce to provide promotions. The remaining portion was then put into a "special events" fund, which was administered by a Lodgers Tax Committee appointed by the mayor and council.

Traditionally, Ruidoso's Lodgers Tax Committee approved funds to many special events groups, after the groups made an application indicating how the event will benefit the community. Once approved, the group would expend its own money, then return to the lodgers tax committee with proof the money was spent on promotions (usually advertising). Lodgers' tax committee would then again vote to reimburse the group for its promotional expenses.

But Ruidoso Village Council's approval of the Convention and Visitor's Bureau (CVB) contract with the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce will change the way the Lodgers Tax Committee will deal with special events.

According to the contract special events groups will still come to the Lodgers Tax Committee, which will have to adopt the request before sending it to the contractor (chamber) which will work with the organizers to promote the event. The intent is to give the "purchase power" to be advertised in larger publications like Albuquerque Journal by going through the CVB.

Events at the civic center will also be promoted by the CVB.

No money figure was disclosed for the contract, however, council voted to authorize a budget amendment to pay the contract.

Lodgers Tax Committee chairman Bill Chance asked the council what procedures his committee should follow, since there are no guidelines. He invited the mayor and councilors to meet with the Lodgers Tax Committee at their next meeting, to give the group direction.

Inside The Capitol
by Jay Miller

SANTA FE--National columnist Jack Anderson says General Accounting Office investigators have determined that information given by the Air Force to Rep. Steve Schiff about the Roswell Incident was "very wrong" but they may not call it that way.

Schiff says he understands the GAO report will be released late this month, but he doesn't want to speculate about what it will say.

A possible UFO coverup is a very unusual probe for an accounting office to undertake, says Schiff, but it seemed like the best approach at the time. He says he told the GAO he realized such an investigation would not be a priority so he didn't give it any time limit for completing the task.

So what happens if Anderson is correct that the GAO won't go public with its suspicion that the Air Force tried to lead everyone astray about what happened at Roswell in early July of 1947?

Schiff doesn't seem anxious to continue being known as the only member of Congress willing to look into a possible UFO coverup. He is now chairman of the Basic Research Subcommittee of the House Science Committee and doesn't want to jeopardize his credibility in that position, which is so important to New Mexico's national laboratories.

Since he requested the GAO investigation, Schiff says several members of Congress have come to him with stories of asking the Air Force for its information on the Roswell Incident. They all were referred to the National Archives, as was Schiff, only to learn that no one has ever sent anything on UFOs to the archives.

None of these congressmen took their inquiries any farther at the time, but Schiff hopes they will come forward once the GAO report is released. One of those members of Congress sits on the House Intelligence Committee and has indicated he may be willing to ask for hearings on the matter.

Schiff says the GAO probe has caught the interest of the media more than other initiatives to which he has directed more energy. Besides network TV stations he has been interviewed by British television and recently turned down a request by French TV to fly him to Paris for an interview. No one from the Pentagon has asked Schiff to back off his inquiry into why the Air Force has no record of something that was rather remarkable at the time. And the Air Force isn't beyond applying pressure to head off scrutiny. Immediately after two U.S. helicopters were shot down by friendly fire near the Iraqi border, Schiff says he called for congressional hearings into how so many safety procedures could break down.

He said he had a visit from Pentagon officials, who expressed complete agreement that the massive failure was shocking and that it would be fully investigated -- making congressional hearings unnecessary.

Schiff withdrew his request but assured the military officials he would be watching the situation closely since he had flown in an AWACS surveillance plane in that same area during his National Guard service and was aware of all the safety procedures.

When the Air Force ended up deciding the entire tragedy could be blamed on a captain in charge of radar monitoring, he knew the Pentagon had not fulfilled its promise of a full investigation in order to head off congressional scrutiny.

It's impossible for one captain to cause that much of a breakdown in safety procedures," says Schiff. "He just doesn't have that kind of authority."

So Schiff has renewed his call for congressional hearings by the Government Reform and Oversight Committee's subcommittee on National Security, on which he serves. Schiff has asked that the hearings begin as soon as the captain's court martial trial has ended.

We'll soon know whether Jack Anderson's speculation about the GAO report on the Air Force's handling of the Roswell Incident is accurate.

The GAO is intended to be a government watchdog. A clean bill of health, as Anderson says the Air Force is predicting, will make conspiracy theorists even angrier.

Cibola Fire Restrictions Go In Effect Tomorrow

Cibola National Forest Supervisor Jeanine Derby has decided to implement fire restrictions starting tomorrow, Friday, June 16.

"Many areas on the forest are already dry and, with the forecasted weather calling for high temperatures and no moisture, we feel it is necessary to take these precautions," Derby said.

Fire restrictions will limit the use of fire, campfire, and stove fire to developed campground and picnic grills on the Mount Taylor, Magdalena, Mountainair and Sandia Ranger Districts. UL approved gas stoves are allowed in developed sites. These restrictions will allow smoking at developed sites, buildings and cars only.

Call your local Forest Service office for more information or the Cibola National Forest Supervisor's office at 761-4650.

Practical Knowledge Needed In Order To Use New Technology

By RICK BUSH

There is an amazing amount of technology available at the fingertips of today's farmers. And there is a tremendous interest in precision farming systems on the part of farmers.

Technology can provide a farmer with information about soil moisture, fertility, productivity, diseases and pests. Computers and satellites can be used to precisely apply chemicals and fertilizers based on the needs of plants. Yields can be charted for every square yard, or even every square foot of a farm.

For livestock producers, there are microchips that identify individual animals. Feed can be allocated based on each animal's needs and productivity can be charted from birth to slaughter -- even across several generations.

Technology can give producers minute-by-minute updates on prices, weather and international news.

Applying all the information that technology has gathered is the tough part. The global positioning satellites, computers, yield monitors, sensors, digital field maps and expert analysis can provide a farmer with more details about a farm than he or she can digest.

A report by the American Farm Bureau Federation GPS/GIS Task Force found that the technology of gathering information is far ahead of the understanding of how to use it to help farmers make decisions. Systems need to be developed to allow this technology to fulfill its promise.

Nothing helps put information in perspective like a little practical knowledge. Many young farmers have learned that lesson from an experienced father or neighbor. Just because a computer says you should do something, doesn't mean you should always do it.

Farming continues to be an occupation and an avocation where the producer and product are tied closely together. Farmers care about what they produce and the land that helps them produce it. There is a knowledge that comes from walking across a field and feeling the soil that a soil sensor can't match. There is a knowing that comes from watching the sky that a weather computer can't equal.

Perhaps in addition to developing our new technology and information systems, we should be working on connecting farmers of many generations. Think of the database of knowledge a group of retired farmers could provide to those just starting out. Let's not forget the resource we have in experienced farmers as we apply the new technology to farming.

Horse Adoption Cancelled Due To Viral Disease

The New Mexico State Veterinarian has advised the Bureau of Land Management to cancel the wild horse and burro adoption scheduled for June 17 at Beavers Area in Ruidoso Downs. The cancellation is a precautionary measure to prevent the spreading of vesicular stomatitis, a viral disease affecting livestock.

Although BLM horses are not in any of the quarantined areas in New Mexico, the state does not wish to create a potential problem by congre-

For the Love of Gregory

by JoAnn Rice

Fame and Fortune

Editor's Note: This column relates a five-year-old's conversations with his grandmother.

On Monday Gregory came over with a kerchief on his head, beads, bracelets, bangles, and earrings. He sat at the table and stared at me for a minute. Then stuck out his hand and said, "Cross my palm with silver, Queen Mother, and I'll tell your fortune. I can see all here in my trusty crystal ball." And he reached in his pocket and pulled out a clear marble.

"Kind of small, isn't it?" I asked.

"Oh no! It's small because it's portable. I can carry it wherever I go. I couldn't do that with a big one, see."

"So what do you see in my future, ah mighty soothsayer?"

"I am the king of the gypsies! And after I tell your fortune, I'll do you a dance, and play on my tambourine. See I have it on this string around my neck. Want to hear it jingle?"

"Not particularly. But I do want to know what you see in that marble."

"It's a crystal ball, Queen Mother! Try to get with the program. Concentrate! Besides you haven't crossed my palm with silver."

"I'll give you a quarter." I said putting it in his hand.

"OK," he said staring into the marble, "I see something spectacular. But what is it? Is it fame? Is it fortune? It's hazy. It's fading. Now I see it!

Queen Mother, you are going to be... Sorry its gone."

"I'm going to be what? Tell me the rest of it! You can't just leave me hanging, Gregory."

"Well, what do you expect for a quarter? Cheap skate!"

"Alright! Here's two more quarters. You're worse than a slot machine. Now tell me what you saw, King of the Gypsies."

"Later, Queen Mother. I feel a dance coming on." He began shaking the tambourine.

"Can it, Gregory. Or give me my silver back."

"You owe me another quarter, first, Queen Mother?"

"What ever for?"

"The music, of course. Nothing comes free in a gypsy camp."

I glared at him.

"OK, OK! I'll consult my portable crystal ball again. Ok. Now it's getting clearer. Yes I see a truck and two men in uniforms. Oh, and a third man. He looks familiar. I've seen him before. But where?"

"Let me see," I said.

"You're not a gypsy king, Queen Mother. You don't have the power to read a crystal ball. Get away from the marble! Now where was I? Jumpin' catfish, Queen Mother! Its Ed McMahon! You won the sweepstakes!"

"Oh happy days! What luck! And I didn't even enter."

"You didn't enter? Hmm. I see something else. Yes it's very clear. They're going to the house next door."

CORONA NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steele hosted a picnic supper on the ranch veranda Saturday evening, June 10. They were assisted by longtime Albuquerque friends, Jean and Roy Ater. This was the regular Crown CowBelle June meeting to honor their Man of the Year. Guests were spouses and others including Tyssa and Ryan Davidson, Gayle May, Corona; Sherrill Bradford, El Paso; and Todd Carroll, Roswell. Ranchers represented raise cattle, sheep, emu's and llamas.

After hamburgers and salads, president Wanda Duke called the meeting to order, and announced the State CowBelle mid-year meeting to be held in Ruidoso June 28. That same day at 1 p.m. there will be a beef ambassador cookoff to be held in Capitan at the high school home ec department for youths ages 14 to 19. Each contestant will prepare and explain their own dish.

Mrs. Duke appointed

"Although the Ruidoso Downs adoption will not be rescheduled, BLM wild horse adoptions will return to New Mexico this year," said Jack Albright, BLM Wild Horse and Burro Specialist. "An adoption will be held in Santa Fe on August 12 at the Terry Berg Training Stables."

For additional information on upcoming adoptions in New Mexico, Oklahoma or Texas, please contact BLM's Oklahoma Resource Area Office at 221 Service Road, Moore, OK 73160-4100 or call them at 405-790-1000. Horse adoption information packets may also be obtained by contacting your local BLM office in Carrizozo and Roswell.

Loretta Proctor and Lanita Rasak to run the Crown booth at the Corona Festival the last of July.

Look for the Beef for Father's Day box at Corona Trading Co. The drawing for the lucky winner will be Saturday, June 17 when Darny Luera and the Crown president will supervise the drawing of the lucky name.

A letter was read from Boys/Girls Ranch suggesting that CowBelle locals buy back any 4-H county winners at the State Fair and donate it to the ranch.

The high point of the evening came when the president turned the meeting over to the Man of the Year committee. Lee Sultemeier stated that the man to be honored was chosen because of his lifetime hard work in the ranching business and his willingness to help his neighbors at all times. She presented a plaque to Jack A. Davidson, man of the hour. The plaque read Crown CowBelle Man of the Year 1995 Jack A. Davidson with his brand, an up and down spur. The plaque was made by Bill McVeigh. Everyone then enjoyed his cake made by Brenda Marshall and hearing the legend "Moon-nouncing the Crown Man of the Year Jack A. Davidson".

Congratulations, Jack Allen. The next meeting will be at 11 a.m. Thursday, July 6 at the Crown Cafe unless otherwise notified.

Sheriff's Report

Extreme fire danger exists in the county. Lincoln National forest has issued no campfire restrictions for all forest areas, including established campgrounds. Smoking is permitted only in vehicles or enclosed structures. Violators will be fined.

The following information was taken from dispatch records at the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office in the courthouse in Carrizozo.

June 5:
7:05 a.m. an ambulance was requested at a residence on 8th Street in Carrizozo. Carrizozo ambulance transported the patient to Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital in Alamogordo.

Background information was requested on a subject. The sheriff was assigned. 8 p.m. an ambulance was requested at a residence on Lake Shore Drive in Alto for a man possibly having a seizure. Alto ambulance transported the patient to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso.

9:03 p.m. a 911 caller reported negligent use of a firearm in Loma Grande Estates. The caller's first call advised who he was, then he mumbled something else and left the phone off the hook. The dispatcher was trying to yell at him to come back to the phone and give more information, with no response. Not knowing the location, the dispatcher had Capitan police check the Capitan area. Then the dispatcher heard the sound of one shot fired in the background of the phone. Then dispatch received another 911 call from someone in Loma Grande regarding the shots fired. Dispatch contacted a deputy to respond. At this point, the first caller made another 911 call who said he needed assistance, then left the phone off the hook, and the dispatcher heard about four more shots fired in a row. Dispatch then advised other deputies to respond as backup. New Mexico State Police were also contacted to serve as backup. A subject was arrested for negligent use of a firearm.

9:15 p.m. a man walked into the sheriff's office and reported a red bull on the highway about 1.3 miles west of Carrizozo on Highway 380. Dispatch contacted the owner, Stirling Spencer, who said he would check it out.

10:10 p.m. two head of cattle were reported on Highway 380 at mile marker 105. Dispatch contacted the owner in Roswell, who was coming to take care of the livestock.

11:46 p.m. animal control was requested at a residence in the Alto area for a dog weighing about 120 pounds standing at the caller's door and won't let them in the house. The case was turned over to state police because the animal control officer was not available for at least 1.5 hours.

June 6:
A detention center officer requested background information on a prisoner.

A deputy requested background information on a subject, there was none.

9:51 a.m. an ambulance was requested at a motel in Carrizozo for a woman with glass in her eyes. Carrizozo ambulance and police responded.

11:01 a.m. Capitan Shell reported a gas skip of $11.01 by someone in a blue pickup. Capitan police responded.

3:59 p.m. a fuel spill from an 18 wheeler was reported on the street near Norwest Bank in Carrizozo. There were about three gallons spilled. A Town of Carrizozo employee responded.

6:39 p.m. Ruidoso police advised of a party attempting to locate a family driving a burgundy van, and staying in a house on Timber Lane in the Gavilan Canyon area. The responding deputy advised that he checked every road in the area of Timber Lane and Alto and found no burgundy van.

June 7:
1:32 a.m. a red bull was reported on Highway 380 at mile marker 64. It was the second incident on the road for the same red bull. Owner Stirling Spencer was contacted at 1:44 a.m. and advised he would take care of it.

8:24 a.m. a suspicious vehicle was reported in Agua Fria. The caller advised that a suspicious vehicle was in the driveway of a residence where no one was home. The responding deputy made no contact with the vehicle.

2:22 p.m. illegal dumping was reported in the Capitan area. The responding deputy advised of a subject.

June 8:
A deputy requested confidential background information on a subject for Hondo Schools.

A battery was reported in Palo Verde Slopes. The caller requested a report to be on file only. A deputy responded.

4:36 p.m. embezzlement/fraud was reported at an RV park in the Alto area. A deputy responded.

6:07 p.m. an ambulance was requested at a residence on Main Road in Capitan for an elderly man having a hard time breathing. Capitan Ambulance transported the patient to LCMC.

9:54 p.m. an ambulance was requested at a residence on G. Ave. in Carrizozo to transfer a patient to Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital in Alamogordo. Carrizozo ambulance responded.

June 9:
3:26 a.m. an officer and the fire department were requested at an accident at the corner of 4th and Stanton Streets in Capitan. Capitan police arrested three people, and a wrecker responded.

The detention center requested background information on three subjects.

12:17 p.m. a deputy was requested at a structure fire at an RV park on Highway 70 near Ruidoso. Ruidoso police requested the deputy to the scene, there was a kid who had started the fire. Glencoe Fire Dept. and a deputy responded.

1:57 p.m. animal control was requested at a residence on Timber Court in Alto for a raccoon under the house. The case was turned over to the Dept. of Game and Fish.

2:19 p.m. a 911 caller reported an accident without injuries on Highway 70 at San Patricio. State police responded.

A deputy reported an accident without injuries on Highway 54 south of Carrizozo. State police responded.

3:20 p.m. a civil property dispute was reported by a resident west of Capitan. A deputy responded.

Waste Authority To Buy Property

by Doris Cherry

By the time a new manager comes on board at Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA), the authority will soon be responsible for collecting trash for all of Lincoln County.

Carrizozo Town Council and Corona Village Council recently awarded bids for trash collection to LCSWA, starting the first of August. Carrizozo residents will be offered cart containers. Corona will have a compactor. Revenues from Carrizozo are estimated to be $55,960 and Corona revenues are estimated at $12,000 in the 1995-96 LCSWA budget.

LCSWA also collects trash from Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan and the County of Lincoln, with revenues estimated at $1,139,635.

LCSWA was organized in 1990 by the mayors and county commissioners in Lincoln County. The LCSWA board is comprised of representatives from each municipal government and the county. Board members receive payments for mileage to attend meetings, costing an estimated $7,405 a year.

LCSWA was shaped into the current organized trash collection and recycling agency under the guidance of manager Joe Lewandowski. An expert in the field of solid waste, Lewandowski recently resigned as manager to pursue private interests.

The budget shows an estimated $1.7 million in revenues, and $1.6 million in expenditures, including lease purchase agreements for existing equipment and purchase of cart containers for Carrizozo and a compactor for Corona. However, it does not reflect funds to purchase a residential collection truck, semi-tractor for the transfer trailers, computer upgrade, or funds to purchase the recycling center/administration facility/yard property. LCSWA has rented the main facility in Ruidoso Downs from Texas New Mexico Power Company on a lease/purchase agreement since 1990. This year the power company advised LCSWA it wanted a decision on purchase by June.

With the lease payments made to date, only $77,000 is left on the purchase price. Members unanimously approved purchasing the property, appraised at $135,000, and authorized the acting manager to seek financing options.

Lewandowski said he did not include the purchases in the budget because he wanted to wait until the actual ending cash balance from this current fiscal year was known. The fiscal year ends on June 30.

The new budget includes payroll for 20 full time employees at the transfer station and payroll for other employees and administration, including $35,000 for a new manager, for administration and recycling. Five seasonal employees will be put on special pick ups, pine needle pick ups, brush chipping and bear clean ups.

Overtime is figured to pay for collection work, especially on holidays.

Recycling revenues are estimated at $89,917, but expenditures are estimated at $126,711. Lewandowski said the recycling revenues may exceed the estimate because volumes of recycled materials will increase, as well as the price paid for the materials. He said the price paid for cardboard and newspaper may reach $250 a ton by mid-summer.

The budget also does not reflect any possible grants for LCSWA. Lewandowski said there will be grant money available from the state Energy Minerals and Natural Resources division (EMNR), but he was unsure how much. LCSWA has received more than $200,000 in the last four years from EMNR, more than any county in the state.

LCSWA plans to apply for a grant to purchase a $90,000 tub grinder which will pulverize construction trash. With the grinder, Lewandowski said LCSWA can eventually close the Capitan Landfill which is now used for construction trash, brush, old furniture and appliances or white goods. Some construction trash can be used as clean fill and does not need to be land filled. Brush and wood products could be chipped by the tub grinder, which will be located at the Gavilan Canyon Transfer Station in Ruidoso. LCSWA already recycles 99 percent of its white goods, so Capitan landfill could be used just to store the white goods for recycling. Large items would be disposed of at the transfer station, or a roll off container provided by LCSWA.

LCSWA currently has no permit from the state to operate the Capitan landfill, however it is near last on the state's list of landfills needing permits. But Lewandowski

CAPITAN NOTES

Greetings again from Omaha, Nebraska. First let thank all you wonderful folks from Capitan and points east, south, north and west of Capitan that asked my son Tom about me and when I was coming home. It is most gratifying to know that you are missed and I sincerely appreciate your taking the time to ask about me. It made me a bit more homesick than I am already. The fly in the ointment, so to speak is transportation. I had planned to fly to Denver and drive to Capitan with my very special grandson Brian Sullivan and his lovely new bride Kim. However, as in everything else, plans have a way of changing at the last minute. So, like the old saying up a creek without a paddle, describes my situation at the moment. The weather here has been wonderfully cool, nice breezes during the night and plenty of rain and sunshine to maintain the gorgeous flowers and lush green grass. Being around my granddaughter Katie is a constant delight and never ending surprise. There never is a dull moment and I might add never a quiet moment unless she is engrossed in a book or a movie and I will certainly miss her. This is a very, very busy household. Both my daughter Trish and my son-in-law Jason are involved in so many things business wise and otherwise the best thing for me to do is be wise enough to stay out of their way and not to answer their telephone when it rings. The other day Jace began "Maureen, do you know where...?" and before he could add another word to the question I replied, "No, I don't," and he laughed. And he has a nice laugh. But I have finally reached the point that whatever it is they are looking for, I know from nothing. What did you did with? I can't remember. Where did you Put? Search me. I can't find (?) do you know where? Of course not, why do you ask? Where shall we put? I don't know. What shall I do with? Have no idea. When I first came tried to be so orderly and nifty and put away nicely. No more. All available room is taken and then some. But I do marvel at all they accomplish and wish I had just a wee bit of their energy. But at the old 80 mark, I still maintain that just breathing has become a full time occupation. And so on with a bit more of Ila Mae's story.

"When spring came we moved near Pa Payne's and Vernon started work on a big dirt tank. We lived in a tiny, little house just big enough for a bed, and the old chuck box, which held groceries, dishes, cooking utensils, etc. When you let the lid down, that was the table. The cookstove took up the rest of the room and you had to have the table up before you could get around the stove. I think the pay was a dollar a day. It rained a lot and the roof leaked so much as we could hardly stay dry to sleep at night.

We were right at the edge of the canyon that would sometimes have a big headrise, taking everything before it. Sure enough one day it did it. We had a few chickens and their favorite range was out there in that lush grassy draw, among the sacatone, which grow as high as my head. There wasn't much warning, but the draw was wide where we lived, so was spread out enough that the water wasn't deep or swift by the time it got to us. Still it surprised the chickens to do was try to hang onto the sacatone, and we'd wade out and get them, wet, and chilled. We would wrap them up and dry them back to normal. When the tank was finished we moved to what they called the Old Place. This was where the family lived for the first few years after filing on the homestead. There were corrals, sheds and lots of good pasture near. So we decided to milk cows and sell cream for a little money. Vernon had bought several cows from Clardy's Dairy while working for them. We got an old cream separator, and would feed the calves separated milk. Also feed some dogie lambs we had collected, since it was lambing time. Someone would go into town once a week and we'd send the cream via the old train that was still coming to Capitan each week." And more of Ila Mae's interesting story of the great depression next week.

Just for the record how many of you readers out there know what a Scripphologist is and no fair running for the dictionary. Well a Scripphologist is a collector of vintage securities and even thousands of dollars for beautifully etched financial certificates of yesteryear. (Wish I still had some of the ones my father hung onto for so many years, that were worthless finally.) According to the Omaha World Herald dealers are scouring old company files and estate sales for documents signed by the likes of John D. Rockefeller, J.P. Morgan and other old captains of industry. Also cherished are papers decorated with motifs from oil wells to Confederate generals and even voluptuous women such as an early Playboy Enterprises certificate adorned with a nude centerfold model. (Now gentlemen, stop your salivating, get off your duff and start digging through your archives and see what you can discover. Who knows one or two of you might hit the jackpot. Good luck to you. Haley Garrison, owner of Antique Stocks and Bonds said, "It's a nice combination of history and art. And like Calvin Coolidge said, the Business of America is Business."

I enjoy receiving The Lincoln County News even though when I receive my copy, the news is already a week late, but that doesn't matter, it is still interesting news to me. Ruth, I, too, am beginning to believe that our newly elected governor needs to bone up on his state geography, especially bone up on Lincoln County boundaries. In case you are too busy, your Honor, Lincoln County is in New Mexico, at least it was when I left and I have not heard of its seceding from the state. But I am usually a bit behind on a lot of things, so pardon me if it happened and I missed it.

And so to my farewells to my favorite folks and my favorite town. Syanora and Adios and May the Good Lord keep his eye on you all. And again thank you for the kudos. They made my day.

 We sell alot of Patty Melts at Smokey Bear and have done so for years. We would take a hamburger patty and grill it between two slices of white bread and American cheese. We also spread a little Green Chili on it before we grilled it. It is good and people liked it, but we have expanded it a bit. The classic patty melt is made with Frys bread, Swiss cheese, and grilled or chopped onions. We will be glad to fix that version if you wish. Now, our menu doesn't mention the variations (I haven't gotten around to updating the menu), but we have them. If you order a patty melt, be ready to be interrogated by the waitress as to your preference in bread - white, wheat or rye and your choice of cheese - American or Swiss and she will get into things like onions, green chili or whatever else you may wish. We have so many variations and options that you can eat a patty melt for several days and never eat the same one twice. I don't know if that is good or bad but it does give you a chance to choose. By the way, we serve all of the versions with chips and a spear of Kosher Pickle. Some guy asked me what makes that pickle kosher. That's easier! It says it is kosher right on the bucket.

face water to the village, and a new pipeline would cost about $500,000. Also, Eagle Creek water is available only when it flows, and the stream often dries.

The village also has an agreement with the City of Alamogordo to purchase up to three million gallons of Bonito Lake water a month. But Capitan has no way to treat that surface water, which is not fit for human consumption in its untreated form. Overall surface water is more difficult to filter and treat to current drinking water standards, than is groundwater pumped from a well.

Cox said it will cost an estimated $500,000 to upgrade the old village water filter to treat any surface water. And the village has insufficient storage for the Eagle Creek and Bonito Lake water.

Recently, Ruidoso has offered to purchase Capitan's half of the Eagle Creek water rights. Ruidoso has storage capacity in Alto Lake, and has ability to treat the surface water. However, even Ruidoso's treated water has been found to not meet drinking water standards.

If Capitan sells its water rights to Ruidoso, it will have funds available to pursue acquisition of water rights for the closed basin in which the village's only source of water, it's well, is located. Cox assured the trustees his crew is prepared to deal with any problems with the well, with an extra pump and other parts on hand. However, if the well develops a prolonged problem, Cox said the village has enough storage to last two days, if residents only use water in the household.

As the village continues to pursue acquisition of water rights, the state engineer's office has indicated Capitan must develop a 40 year water plan to show why it needs more water rights than it currently uses. During a special meeting held last month, the trustees considered various water issues, including the 40 year plan recommended by the state engineer's office. Lacking the technical expertise to develop such a plan, trustees requested the village clerk draft a request for proposal (rfp) using models from other entities which have done similar water plans.

Clerk Deborah Cummins offered the draft rfp Monday, which was based on one from Otero County. But discussion about the rfp bogged down on the exact wording of the rfp, how to finance the 40 year plan, and what type of water system the village wants to commit to—groundwater, surface or a hybrid of the two.

Mayor Norman Renfro wanted to refer the draft rfp to the village water advisory board, but acting chairman Dave Cummins said the water board needs to know what the trustees want. "We need all of you (to attend)," Cummins said, "so we can have a dialogue during our meeting."

Trustees discussed various finance options for the water plan—apply for a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), sell its Eagle Creek rights, or use the extra revenue from the recent water rate increase. However, they made no decisions. Renfro was to attend the Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Users Association board meeting Tuesday.

As for the recent water rate increase, done by ordinance, trustee L.C. Cozzens wanted to amend that ordinance to add specific guidelines for the use of the extra revenue. He asked that the issue be on the next month meeting agenda. Justification of the water rate increase on the ordinance was for long term water planning, purchase of water rights and construction of water facilities.

A question was asked about a practice field seeding project at the school. Clerk Cummins said she spoke with school officials who agreed to follow the village water conservation plan of watering. Also the field grass will be Spartan Fescue, which is more drought tolerant and requires much less water after it is established.

Residents who want to disconnect a water tap will soon be charged for the service. Trustees approved a resolution establishing a $225 disconnect fee for water meters. Recent requests for the disconnections prompted village officials to establish the fee, which is half of the cost to install a meter. The fee will cover the cost of the time spent by village crews to remove the meter and "kill" the water line.

Stray and unwanted animals in Capitan may soon find themselves in the Lincoln County Humane Society in Ruidoso. Trustees agreed to contract with the society to provide impoundment facilities for village animals. Humane society manager Jim Riggins said that animals brought to the humane society facility would have a better chance at a adoption than those in a more rural facility. The society keeps its animals much longer than the 72 hours for most small facilities.

Trustees had budgeted $5,000 to construct a kennel and holding facility for animals. Police and animal control officer Johnny Parker said that the $5,000 was just for construction, and there will be additional cost to feed and care for the impounded animals, as well as the time required for him to do upkeep. Riggins invited trustees to tour the society facility on Gavilan Canyon in Ruidoso. "It's a far cry from an over tasked municipal employee trying to do it all by himself," Riggins said.

Riggins said the society will impose any type fees set by the village, such as licenses or breeding permits, on pet owners who reclaim their impounded animals.

Riggins said the society's goal is to remove surplus animals from the community, and to prevent pets from breeding, which leads to the unwanted surplus animals. "Our goal is to put ourselves out of business," Riggins said.

The village will pay the society $4,440 this year for impoundment services. The amount was figured by the number of Capitan animals at the society facility last year, 7.71 percent of all impounded. The village of Ruidoso will provide $40,000 and Lincoln County $12,000 for the impoundment services.

Riggins said his staff and conditions at the shelter are "above reproach." He also said that contrary to rumor there is no fee to bring unwanted animals to the society shelter, and they will refuse none.

In other business, trustees: --Accepted the low bid of $11.25 a yard for road gravel from Bonnel Sand and Gravel of Glencoe. Two other bids were received.

--Approved the only bid for diesel of 72 cents a gallon, subject to refinery fluctuations, from Wakefield Oil Co.

--Discussed an updated village limit map, and requested it be double checked and verified with the county treasurer's office.

--Approved appointment of Gilbert Montoya to the Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Company board, to replace resigning member Norman Renfro.

--Heard that the CDBG project to upgrade Fourth Street is finally progressing.

times they visited here in Corona were Rick, Rocky and Andrew Bagley. The 12 cousins had a good time together, taking time out to go to Red Cloud for picnics. Joseph Brazil, Tasha Kiefer and Andrew Bagley attended Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church during that week. Wayne's brother, Clay Brazil and his two children, Tiffany and Gage from Estancia and Wayne's dad, Joe J. Brazil, from Mountainair were here a couple of afternoons doing some interior work on the house. Also, Luciano Chavez came by with his hammer to help out. Luciano and Steve graduated together from Corona School. We appreciate all of the help and the prayers of people in the Baptist Church. There were no accidents or injuries except for a cactus or two.

The Dwayne Kibbes were here last week to help the Holleymans with branding.

Mrs. Loretta Proctor spent Saturday with two Londoners and a film crew. The two from London represent a British Film company. A crew from Colorado did the actual filming. A US film company is expected in August and there are rumors of a movie being contemplated.

Mrs. Joanne Washburn is at NMSU this week for studies. Re: Ag in the Classroom.

Mrs. Bernice McCord and Cathy Yancey attended a Roper-Steelman family reunion in Tucumcari Saturday.

Shawn and Lori Perkins are moving to a ranch near Estancia where he has accepted a position with the Morfor Land and Cattle Co.

The Baptist Bible School last week was pronounced a success with an ADA of 32. They presented a delightful program preceded by a supper Friday evening.

The Kesslers attended church with friends in Belen Sunday and brought home a load of hay.

Mrs. Lucy Lueras, Sandra Alford and Shelly Frost attended Aglow regional meeting in Denver last weekend.

All women of the area are cordially invited to attend an Aglow meeting at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 17 in the school board room. Deloris Paas, Los Alamos, will speak.

recommended LCSWA not apply for a permit for the landfill, mainly because of the expense for a location that is too limited on space and is surrounded by developed properties. The budget shows estimated revenues from the Capitan Landfill at $101,079, but the lease on the bull dozer used there is $2,000 a month.

One of the problems of the Capitan landfill is the traffic on the access road. In March, Lincoln County Commissioners got complaints from residents along the road that excessive dust was causing ailments to animals and nails from the trash were causing flat tires.

The landfill supervisor is running the large magnet over the road, but he is not picking up many nails, Lewandowski added. The supervisor's truck has gotten only three flats in a year on the LCSWA truck which travels the road five days a week and also drives around the landfill site.

Since LCSWA began the roll off container service for construction sites the problem with nails on the road has lessened also. Many nails come from trailers leaving the landfill that are not swept out, and remaining nails bounce out on the gravel access road. Dust is coming from traffic traveling too fast.

Lewandowski recommended the county commission get the sheriff to enforce the speed limits on the road for now. "The real goal is to shut down the Capitan Landfill, but it won't be done overnight," Lewandowski said. "It should be very well planned to educate the public where to go with large items to prevent illegal dumping."

LCSWA board also: -- Approved the Otero/Lincoln Regional Landfill budget. Tipping fees charged to dump trash there will continue at $13.90 a ton. LCSWA owns half of the regional landfill located south of Orogrande in Otero County. The landfill budget estimates revenues of $814,400, transfers of $285,875 and expenses of $532,295 to result in an ending balance in June 1995 of an estimated $70,195, up considerably from the estimated beginning cash balance of $7,570 as of July 1, 1995. --Awarded the audit contract to Du'Aun Willoughby CPA from Melrose.

five other nurseries and landscaping companies.

Conley's will install a sprinkler system around the middle school and at the practice field. A sprinkler "gun" will be used to water the practice field, which will be planted with Spartan Fescue grass, which requires less water and maintenance than the grass in the Tiger Stadium field. Once established, the grass will need to be watered every 10 days, and mowed less frequently.

Billingsley said she met with the village about the school's increased use of water for the field, and received permission to do so.

The practice field should be ready for minimal use this fall, Billingsley said.

The sprinkler and seeding project will be financed from capital outlay funds, not operational school funds from which salaries and benefits are paid.

The board sent back some draft changes to the high school discipline hand book, wanting tougher penalties for cheating than proposed by the discipline policy committee. In the existing section dealing with cheating, the committee proposed adding a definition of cheating to include tests, and homework. The board accepted the punishment for cheating on, or copying, homework with the student receiving a zero on assignment and punishment will be up to the teacher and may include in school suspension (ISS). However, the board did not think the punishment for cheating on tests was severe enough with its one day of ISS for the first offense, three days for second offense and six days for third offense. Instead the board wanted the penalty to be three days ISS for first offense and expulsion the second offense.

The board however agreed to send the draft back to the handbook committee, made up of high school students, teachers, parents and a board member, to redraft for consideration at the next meeting.

The cheating policy did not apply to final exams. A committee will be organized to develop rules and procedures for cheating on final exams.

Other changes to the discipline policy include the section on weapons on campus. The board approved the weapons policy separately, but added it to the handbook to educate students about the weapons-free campus policy is mandated by the federal government for the district to qualify for certain programs funds.

Also added to the policy is a section on penalties. Neither students, or their parents will be allowed to choose a swat, or spanking, instead of serving ISS. Only the teacher will determine that, if the parent has signed a form permitting the school to administer corporal punishment.

The board also accepted resignations from elementary principal Jerry Newsom, who has accepted an elementary principal position in Ponca City, OK; fourth grade teacher Amy Riddle who will be enrolled in a graduate program at the University of Wisconsin; music instructor Dolores Earwood who has accepted a position with Carrizozo Schools; cook Patricia Richardson.

The board approved employment of Dionne Harden-Lewis as mid-school language arts teacher and girls basketball and track coach and Buddy S. Little as high school math and junior high football and boys basketball coach. Both are first year teachers with degrees from Eastern New Mexico University.

Also employed was Elizabeth Montes as cafeteria director.

A proposed change to the school bus feeder route reimbursement was postponed. Letters about the proposed change, and invitation to respond, will be mailed to all affected parents. The board will consider the proposed reimbursement change from the current 35 cents to 25 cents a mile at the July meeting.

The tentative 1995-96 budget was approved. The tentative budget had been reviewed and approved by the Dept. of Education in Santa Fe on May 31. The department made no changes to the tentative budget.

The board also heard from parent Craig Whipple who was concerned about the testing policy of a high school English teacher. He said students in the teacher's classes consistently make poor or failing grades, often ruining the students grade point average. He asked the board to consider the situation and talk with the teacher.

Barrel Races At Zozo Arena Are Postponed

The ZoZo Arena series barrel races in Carrizozo have been postponed at the request of the United States Department of Agriculture because of the mouth-blistering virus currently being found in some New Mexico livestock. The races will be re-scheduled as soon as possible.

Vesicular stomatitis is carried by insects and may be transmitted through contact with equipment or infected animals. Livestock owners are advised to not congregate animals and to use measures to control insect populations. The disease usually runs its course in two weeks.

The last time the disease was found in the United States was in 1985 but is endemic in Latin America.

Livestock owners are being encouraged to keep their animals on their own property and to stay away from competitions and shows.
