

Carrizozo Parents Upset About School Discipline

by Doris Cherry

Carrizozo Board of Education will hold a special meeting at 6 p.m. Thursday, October 26 to discuss the recently imposed anti-gang style dress code and school discipline policies. The meeting will include a presentation by Ruidoso Police Sgt. Robert Achterberger who is trained in gang intervention.

The board set the meeting as a result of open discussions with several upset parents who crowded the board conference room during the regular school board meeting Tuesday night. Parents were upset about the inconsistent discipline imposed on students involved in two recent incidents, and a new strict dress code which had several students going home to change clothes.

Carrizozo school superintendent Paula Papponi said the new dress code prohibiting gang style clothing which feature certain sports teams was imposed after a young man from Alamogordo dressed in gang attire was in the high school saying he was looking for a friend. "Carrizozo does not have a gang problem," Papponi said. "But the young man presented a threatening potential."

Papponi said the school is obligated under Goals 2000 to create a safe environment for all children.

Several parents said the new dress code imposes hardships on families who cannot afford to replace the jackets and other items. But another parent said she talked with Papponi about getting help to families who cannot afford to buy new clothes. She said Papponi gave her child permission to wear his sports team jacket until the family can afford to buy another.

Papponi said the dress code was never intended to create hardships for families, rather it was to protect children. She invited parents to talk with her about any hardships the dress code might create.

Two parents said their child was sent home for wearing

Carrizozo School Gets Ready For State Visit

by Doris Cherry

Carrizozo Board of Education hired Chris Ventura as the new maintenance supervisor during its regular meeting Tuesday.

Ventura will fill the position vacated by retiring supervisor Nat Chavez. The board honored Chavez for his 26 years of service to the district with a plaque of appreciation, which his wife Polly accepted on his behalf during the meeting.

Custodial crews have been busy sprucing up the campus for the state department of education visit in December. Staff have painted offices in the administration building, and new carpeting has been installed. New furniture for the K-2 grade classes also arrived this week, reported school superintendent Paula Papponi. New chalk boards will also be installed.

The new gym will get a new floor thanks to the board's approval of the sole source purchase of a high impact suspended synthetic floor. The floor will be red and grey for the school colors and will cover the playing court and sidelines. The bleachers and other areas in the gym are being painted with help from students and parents.

The accreditation team also will look at the District Self-study, which includes surveys of the district's strengths and weaknesses. A workshop was held involving all teachers, members of the student council and parents selected by the People for Kids association. Part one of the survey lists the strengths and needs of the district, part two will be related to standards of excellence and how the district can achieve them.

Part one of the survey showed the district's greatest need is for technology to bring the district up to the same standards of surrounding districts. Papponi estimated it will take a total of $112,400 to provide up to date middle and high school computer labs, a library media center, school-wide networking and current software. Papponi said there are few grants available for such funding, and because the district is not bonded to capacity it cannot qualify for critical capital outlay from the state to purchase the technology.

Other district needs include more inventory control, more

PLUAC Objects To Restrictions On Cutting Wood In Nat'l Forest

by Doris Cherry

Individuals will be able to cut fuel wood on the Lincoln National Forest until November 30. In order to remove wood from the forest, individuals must obtain a fuel wood permit from the Smokey Bear Ranger Station in Ruidoso.

Commercial fuelwood permits from the forest service have been restricted in the Lincoln National Forest because of an injunction issued by a U.S. district judge in Arizona requiring the forest service to conduct studies on the impacts of logging on the Mexican Spotted Owl.

The restriction prompted the Lincoln County Public Land Use Advisory Committee (PLUAC) to write a letter of response asking how commercial fuelwood cutting in the pinyon-juniper areas of the Lincoln National Forest would impact the spotted owl and what interpretation of the ruling the forest service has enacted to shut down the fuel wood operations.

"Many of the county residents rely on the commercial utilization of the pinyon-juniper component of the forest as a means to support their families either wholly or in part," PLUAC wrote in a letter addressed to Gerald Hawkes, Lincoln National Forest Smokey Bear District Ranger.

PLUAC presented the letter to the Lincoln County Commission at its meeting October 3, to comply with an order that PLUAC get approval from the commission on all correspondence dealing with public land use issues. Commissioners said they were pleased PLUAC brought the letters to them for review before forwarding them to the forest service. Commissioners made no change to the letter regarding the fuelwood restrictions.

PLUAC also presented a letter to the forest service

LCSWA Plans To Apply For Grants

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) took care of business in 35 minutes at its meeting Monday in Ruidoso Downs.

The board approved two resolutions for grant applications. LCSWA will apply for $310,000 from a $10 million pool of funds from the New Mexico Environment Department (NMED) to finance the closure plan for LCSWA's Capitan landfill and purchase a tub grinder and transfer trailer to deal with the construction and yard waste and old furniture now being buried in the Capitan landfill. The grant application was presented by former LCSWA manager Joe Lewandowski who was contracted as consultant on the grant proposal.

LCSWA plans to close the Capitan landfill by July 1996. Construction waste will be taken to the Gavilan Transfer Station where it will be pulverized in a tub grinder, then hauled to the Lincoln-Otero

Capitan School Enrollment Is Over Projected Numbers

by Doris Cherry

Capitan Schools are no longer small. Enrollment at Capitan Schools is higher than last year, and exceeded the number of students the school administration had projected by 64.

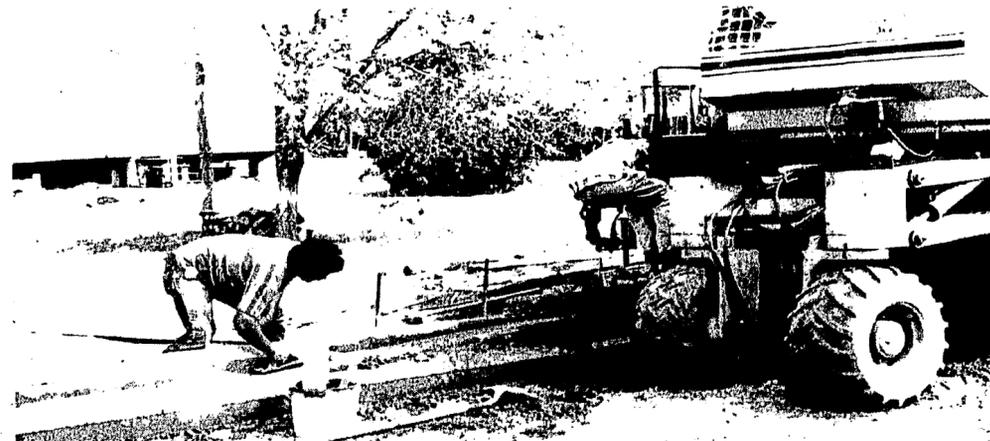

When Capitan school administration prepared the 1995-96 school year budget last spring staff made a very conservative projection of 531 students for this school year, 20 lower than the enrollment for 1994-95, because of the closure of the state hospital at Fort Stanton.

When enrollment was taken on the 40th day, which was that day, the count was 595, reported school superintendent Diana Billingsley to the board of education at its meeting Thursday.

Because the district met its projected enrollment, it will receive all funding listed in the budget which was prepared in May. The district will receive additional funds for the 64 students over the projected enrollment; however those funds will not be available until February after the governor and state legislature decide how much will be pro-black shirts with rodeo poetry and other rodeo symbols. They and another parent asked if certain colors were banned.

Papponi said the dress code does not ban specific colors. She and principal Randall Earwood said there was no record of the child being sent home for the rodeo shirt, and they had no problem with the style.

Papponi said she would rather have a differing of opinion about the dress code than have any child hurt. "The addendum we will go by now is to protect children," she said.

Papponi said the gang issue was discussed during a meeting at Carrizozo Schools conducted by a Ruidoso police officer trained in gang intervention. That meeting was sparsely attended however. Also students were given copies of the new dress code.

Another discipline issue was discussed when a parent of a student suspended from school for participating in a theft at the school book fair called for resignations from the principal and superintendent for losing control over the discipline within the schools.

She read a letter in which she and her husband expressed their outrage about the punishment their son received for being "unsupervised in the halls" (he was involved in the theft) and for a fight he had defending himself against a 16 year old boy. She said her son returned everything he took. She read the administration staff had lost face in the community for their actions. The parent asked the superintendent to overturn the punishment imposed on her son and provide more discipline on the older boys.

After the parent finished reading the letter, school board president Gary Hightower said he did not appreciate the parent discussing the issue in the open public meeting. "I can only see that you've opened yourself up to slander by discussing this in an open meeting," Hightower said.

Other parents expressed similar concerns about the charges of students being unsupervised in the halls, and asked if the halls will be monitored to prevent future incidents. Principal Randall Earwood said a new duty schedule is being prepared so the halls will be supervised during class and lunch.

Another parent challenged how the halls could be unsupervised if a teacher or staff member was present.

The issue concerning an incident involving the volleyball team at an out of town game was also discussed. A parent asked how a student could be suspended for "watching the door" when several members of the volleyball team knew about a theft yet only one was suspended for watching the door.

Papponi said the volleyball girls involved in the theft will be suspended. She also said both incidents were investigated, every child involved received due process and punishments imposed based on the investigations. "The facts were carefully gotten and considered," Papponi said.

Another parent requested students be punished with in school suspension (ISS), which he said is better than out of school suspension (OSS) because many of the parents work and cannot supervise the children who are at home.

Hightower told parents specific discussion about any child would have to be done in a closed session. Then he instructed parents how to get on a meeting agenda by calling the superintendent several days before the meeting.

To better address the issues, Hightower called for the special meeting to allow parents and the community to express their concerns about inconsistent discipline, discipline in general and the new dress code. He suggested any parent wanting to comment at the special meeting get copies of the school discipline and dress code policies in order to make specific comments.

planning time for elementary teachers, more in class time for high school students, cleaner better maintained facilities, consistency in the math program, to keep the two mill levy to provide funds for needed facility upkeep and purchase of new equipment, and other needs.

District strengths included support from the school board, quality teaching staff, bright students, open minded administration, good facilities, small class loads, certified music teacher for 5 & 6 grades, caring staff, consistent discipline, teachers who are inspired and creative, high comfort level for students and others.

The second phase of the survey will be conducted during workshops this week.

In order to implement some of the needs listed on the survey, principal Randall Earwood reported he will now be doing inventory control by sending forms to teachers at the beginning of the year and the end of the year. Earwood also reported on security at games. He said the football and volleyball coaches are working with him and teachers to establish a security procedure at games.

Earwood also reported he has begun a once a month locker clean-out to prevent the accumulation of trash.

Teacher Alice Day was congratulated for being named Staff of the Month of October.

FFA Advisor Randall Robbins asked for permission to make some changes in the VoAg and FFA programs, especially the meats lab and the annual FFA trip to the National FFA Conference in Kansas City. Robbins said he wants to close and winterize the meat lab after the October 26 Field Day, because the students have had plenty of experience in cutting meat. "This is an instructional unit, not a business," Robbins said. "People are wanting me to cut up animals on my day off."

Robbins said he needs to teach the students some other animal related program such as rational balancing instead of cutting up meat.

Robbins also asked the board support his proposal for a point system under which FFA members can earn the right to attend the national conference. He said he will present the proposal to the FFA chapter members.

Robbins said that this year he wants to send two students to the conference with the Ruidoso FFA chapter. He pointed out the high cost of the trip, and the time involved.

Four Carrizozo FFA students who won the state wool judging contest will attend and observe a national collegiate competition held in Denver, since there is no wool judging category at the national FFA conference.

In other business, the board:

--met in closed session to discuss personnel.

--approved Amy Hefker and Angelo Vega as substitute activity bus drivers.

Regional Landfill.

LCSWA will cooperate with the City of Alamogordo and the Otero County Solid Waste Authority to pursue a grant from NMED to purchase a scraper to open a new cell at the Lincoln-Otero Regional Landfill. LCSWA had previously approved the purchase but the resolution is needed for the entities to apply for the grant.

Village of Ruidoso will continue to bill its residential customers on behalf of LCSWA. The board renewed the annual agreement with the village for administrative services, at a rate of 25 cents a customer. Ruidoso will also be responsible for collecting delinquent payments and filing liens on accounts more than one year overdue.

Board member Gary Jackson also discussed purchasing equipment through the New Mexico Finance Authority. Members agreed to instruct the new manager to meet with Jackson about the proposal.

New LCSWA manager Cortis Dobson will begin November 6.

Clothing Sends Messages To Employees And Others

By Betty McCreight
Lincoln County
Home Economist

Whether you are employed full-time, part-time or receive no paycheck for your efforts, the way you dress influences how others feel about you and often tells others how you feel about yourself.

When you look good, you feel good. You appear more dependable, more capable and more organized to others. It also makes you feel more self-confident.

So where do you start? Your first consideration should be clothes appropriate for your job, your age and your body build. Start with clothes you already have. Try them on to see if they meet these guidelines:

- Fit - They should not be too tight nor too baggy. Clothes are too tight if the lines of underclothes show or if they fabric pulls in cross-wise folds.

- Style - Discard out-of-date styles. Faddish items aren't popular long. Avoid them unless your clothing budget is large enough for the added expense. Simple designs and tailored clothes are best, both for your image and your pocketbook. Purchase basic pieces in a neutral color that can be worn with other clothes to add flexibility and variety to your wardrobe. Fussy, frilly clothes are not wise choices for business. Save them for social occasions. And if you work around machinery, frilly clothes could be dangerous.

If you want to move up in your career, you may need to change your clothing selection. Most highly successful, powerful people in the business world usually wear conservative clothing styles, clothes that look good over several wearing seasons.

- Color - Solid, restful colors are less jarring than loud colors and flashy fabrics. Blue, gray and brown are standard blouses, scarves and ties can add interest to an outfit. If your job is not an office job, you'll still be able to pull together a neat appearance by mixing and matching your wardrobe around one or two basic colors.

- Condition - Whatever your job, your clothes should be wrinkle-free. Missing buttons, dangling hems, frayed collars and cuffs don't make a favorable impression. They make people think you're careless and not interested in doing a good job.

shoes and outdated footwear reflect an "I don't care" attitude that may cost you a raise or promotion. Shoes should be simply styled and dark. Brown, black and navy are good choices for shoes, handbags and belts. Jewelry should be simple.

If your employer doesn't have a dress code, look at your co-workers. Pay special attention to the kind of clothes worn by people who get promoted.

- Grooming - Don't neglect grooming. A neatly groomed person who wears fresh-looking clothes is an asset to an employer. Out-dated hair styles can be as big a liability as out-dated clothes. Poor posture, untrimmed beards, unshaven legs, chipped nail polish and broken or dirty nails can cost you a well-paying job. Remember, it's part of your responsibility to look as good as you can on the job.

Amoruso has wanted to return to Lincoln to do a show specifically about the Lincoln County War.

In addition to old Lincoln, film crews will be shooting on location in White Oaks, Fort Stanton, Roswell, Fort Sumner, Stinking Springs, Blazer's Mill, John Tunstall's Rio Feliz Ranch, the Shed Ranch, John Chisum's former South Springs Ranch, Mesilla, Las Cruces, and other significant locations.

The one hour television special "War in Lincoln County" will air nationally in the spring and summer of 1996.

supporting the re-issuance of the Block-Canning, Capitan Gap-McDaniel, Bar-W English and Nogal Lake-Brazeal grazing allotments to "maintain the economic stability and the cultural and social diversity of Lincoln County."

Commissioners objected to PLUAC endorsing specific allotments, and asked that the letter of support be more generic in support of all grazing allotments in Lincoln County.

As for the wood permits, according to a spokesperson in the Smokey Bear Ranger Station, it is uncertain whether non-commercial fuel wood cutting will be restricted in the future.

For now, fire wood cutting permits for individual fuelwood cutting are good for 30 days, and range in cost depending on the type of wood.

Will Gov Talk To Us?

By Ruth Hammond

Last week this column reported on governor Gary Johnson's bicycle ride across the state, better known as his trek-for trash. Several people have said there is no connection between riding a bicycle 500 miles and cleaning up trash on highways. What was not explained is that people could make pledges of money for each mile the governor rode and that money could be used to help clean the state's highways.

Pledging money is not a new idea. Children get pledges for their annual St. Jude's bike-a-thon, math students get pledges for their math-a-thon, and other worthy causes get pledges for their walk-a-thons. The money is used for many different things such as to help find cures for life-threatening diseases, or for burn hospitals, or for college scholarships. And of course there are the tel-a-thons on TV each year that bring in big money.

Maybe the pledge idea would work for talk-a-thons to get the governor to spend more than five minutes with a person. People could pledge a certain amount of money for each minute over the designated five minutes governor Johnson has allowed to be allotted to people on that one designated day of the week.

The money could be used for a special purpose, and that special purpose should most certainly be determined before the talk-a-thon was actually taking place. It would give the people an opportunity to help decide where the money should be spent.

The same advantages would apply. The governor could be available for photos and smile. The extra minutes could be used either in the governor's office or in a more public location where more people would see the governor and his smiling for photos.

A contest could be held to name the talk-a-thons. The winner could be the grand recipient of an additional five minutes of the governor's time. Just in case the idea catches on, here are a few suggestions for names for the proposed talk-a-thons. All of these names would be rejected because the initials of each name are currently being used as brand names, and would not be allowed.

ABC for Always Being Conversational. NBC for Nothing But Conversation. AT&T for Always Talking and Talking. TWA for Talking Without Action. IGA for Intercommunication Gains Acceptance. CBS for Conversation Brings Satisfaction. OTE for Governor Talking Easily. TRW for Talking Really Works. CCC for Chatting, Communicating, Conversing. ICC for Information Conveyed Conversationally. MGM for Mountains Get Moved.

Then there is one that could be the favorite of many people; STP for Spend Time with the People. None of the above can be used and as has been indicated by the governor, he would rather smile and make personal appearances than try to work together with the people who look to him for leadership.

Refusing to listen to the people, refusing to talk to the people, refusing to be available when problems arise appears to be the way governor Johnson will continue to run the state.

While this may be humorous to some people, it is not funny to those of us wanting what is best for our state. While this may be humorous to some people, it is not funny to the people who lost their jobs at Fort Stanton and learned the promises of jobs made by the governor did not materialize. While this may be humorous to some people, it is not funny to the people who asked for answers about help caring for their elderly family members who were kicked out of Fort Stanton. While this may be humorous to some people, it is not funny to those of us wanting answers as to why the promised services for persons with developmental disabilities are not being delivered.

The initials used most often here in the news office are LCN for Lincoln County News. Maybe we could use LCN to mean Let's Communicate Nicely. What do you think?

Communication is Necessary

Alternative Leasing Program Is Suggested For State Trust Land

Commissioner of Public Lands Ray Powell said New Mexicans are interested in alternative uses of state trust land and pledged that an alternative leasing system will be in place within the year.

"We are responding to the desires of more and more New Mexicans to use the state trust lands in new and interesting ways, including recreation, education, scientific research, wildlife viewing, urban parks and open space, trails and green belts," Powell said.

Powell began alternative leasing research more than a year ago. Since last spring, hundreds of New Mexicans with a stake in trust land management: lease holders, environmentalists, livestock industry representatives, experts in wildlife and land use, and others, have been invited to participate in the alternative lease study process.

"With a carefully thought out program, we can protect the livestock industry and the rural communities that depend on it, we can protect and restore the environment where it is called for, and we can accommodate new and exciting uses of state trust land that will become a part of our social fabric in the 21st century," Powell said.

Powell anticipates an increase in alternative leasing proposals and competitive grazing lease bids. The alternative leasing program will result in a framework that avoids litigation and benefits the trust.

Nine alternative grazing lease bids were submitted by the Sept. 1 deadline for 1995 grazing lease renewals.

"For now, we will evaluate these bids under our existing grazing lease system. In the future we will have a lease system that provides opportunities for alternative uses to complement the grazing lease system.

The present leasing structure, in place for decades, was designed primarily for oil, gas and mineral production, agriculture and livestock grazing. The business leasing system, which has evolved in recent years to handle commercial activities, is also being revised.

The State Land Office manages about 8.5 million acres of surface trust land and about 13 million acres of minerals.

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—After spending two weeks outside the country, I returned to find that nothing has changed concerning a special session to address state budget woes.

The only new piece of information was that Gov. Gary Johnson has decided he wants to hold the session on the weekend of November 18 and 19.

But lawmakers continue to tell Johnson that nothing can happen during those two days unless the governor comes up with a plan and works it out with lawmakers ahead of time.

Johnson isn't completely devoid of ideas. He has arbitrarily made three percent cuts in agency budgets. But legislative leaders say that's not a plan. They don't want across-the-board cuts. They want specifics.

The governor asked his cabinet secretaries for suggestions and received a few. The Human Services Department proposed furloughing its staff one day a pay period and cutting back the number of children eligible for Medicaid. The Tourism Department proposed cutting back its marketing efforts. And the Motor Transportation Division said it could cut its enforcement.

But lawmakers didn't like those ideas any better. Sen. Joe Carraro, R-Alb., said he was for cutting salaries, but not if it meant furloughs. He said employees should still work the same amount of time. The Medicaid cuts, of course, set off an emotional firestorm.

An anonymous state employee distributed a bogus memo on the governor's stationery making suggestions about how mandated travel expense cutbacks could be implemented. The ideas included hitchhiking and test driving cars from automobile dealers while on state business.

But Gov. Johnson didn't like those suggestions. He distributed a reply memo saying the writer's creative energies would have been put to better use coming up with serious suggestions. And besides, the governor asked, how did someone get hold of his stationery? The answer to that just might lie within Johnson's own office.

Since I'm not a state employee, I don't need to worry about wasting taxpayer time and money. My time is my own and I can waste it any way I want. So herewith are my suggestions. Unfortunately I don't have any of the governor's stationery. Gov. Johnson says he won't consider tax increases to solve the state budget problems, but he has expressed willingness to look at "tapping revenue sources." Democrats see that as a contradiction, but that's because they're not very creative. (Neither are Republicans.)

My suggestion is to raise additional revenue, not by cutting back on marketing as one cabinet official suggested, but by doing more marketing.

My proposal is for Gov. Johnson to enlist the help of marketing wizard Jerry Jones, owner of the Dallas Cowboys football team. Jones is currently being sued for $300 million by the National Football League because he's been signing contracts with Nike, Pepsi-Cola and other companies to promote their products. If the other NFL owners were smart, they'd drop their suit and ask Jones to help them figure out how to make more money.

And if Gary Johnson is smart, he'll do the same. The precedent has already been established in New Mexico and every other state: Albuquerque just hosted the Kodak Balloon Fiesta. Rio Rancho soon will have Intel High School.

So why not find big corporate sponsors for state properties and events? Sell sponsorships of the state Capitol Building to the fat-cat lobbyists. There's plenty of wall space, indoors and out, for corporate signs and logos.

The state Republican party says it has $300,000 to put the legislature in GOP hands after the '96 elections. How about spending some of that on sponsoring the '96 Legislature. It could be the "Republican New Mexico Legislature" even before winning another House or Senate seat.

Instead of naming state office buildings after dead politicians, Johnson could sell sponsorship to rich candidates like Ross Perot, Steve Forbes — and himself. And how about a fleet of state cars plastered with ads like Indy racers? Our state parks and museums could find sponsors.

The possibilities are endless. Let's see some creativity.

Disregard Duplicate Vehicle Registration Mailed By MVD

Due to a processing error, vehicle re-registration notices that were mailed in September for October renewal were duplicated statewide to New Mexico drivers. Customers when receiving the duplicate notice should disregard the second billing.

Customers should make sure when they receive the second notice, they do not issue a second payment to the Motor Vehicle Division by mistake. Motor vehicle employees in all field offices have been notified of the error and have been instructed to verify the customers account before possible acceptance of a second payment.

"The processing problem has been identified, brought to the attention of those responsible and corrected so further errors of this nature will not continue to occur. We apologize for the inconvenience this may cause our customers," said Gary A. Montoya, motor vehicle division director. For additional information about any duplicate billing call the local MVD field office for assistance.

Rangeland Management Resolution Is Adopted

A rangeland management reform resolution proposed by Frank A. DuBois, director/secretary of New Mexico department of agriculture, was adopted last week by the national association of departments of agriculture at the annual meeting of ag leaders in Portland, OR.

The resolution, developed in New Mexico this summer, says central to any proposal for the management of livestock grazing on the federal rangelands is the concept that management objectives must be based on the philosophy of multiple use and sustained yield.

The resolution contains 11

Reform Of Free Legal Assistance Is Long Overdue

by SHERRY KIESLING

The Legal Services Corporation (LSC) was established in 1974 to provide free legal assistance to the poor. But two decades later, the LSC is an example of a good idea gone bad.

The agency appears to have abandoned its original mission, in favor of an anti-business, pro-labor agenda, all subsidized by the American taxpayers. Consider the examples:

An LSC-funded attorney filed a Social Security Disability claim on behalf of a convicted burglar who suffered a broken back while attempting to enter an automobile dealership through a skylight. After serving his sentence, the burglar claimed he should be eligible for disability because his injury occurred while he was "on the job".

A legal services attorney represented a 14-year old client who was seeking custody of his infant daughter. The child's mother, who was 13 at the time, had been stalked and beaten by the 14-year old, who was later jailed. Ultimately, a judge ruled against the father after a psychologist treating the young man said he was a threat to his children.

These are only two out of the hundreds of government-funded legal aid cases that were used to help ineligible individuals obtain public benefits, represent fathers trying to avoid child support, represent drug dealers fighting eviction from public housing, and filing bankruptcy claims in landlord/tenant disputes to delay evictions.

Farmers have also been targeted. LSC-funded attorneys have shut down entire farming operations by bringing suit on behalf of migrant and seasonal farm workers claiming violations of worker protection and minimum wage laws.

But the United States Congress is on the verge of shutting down the Legal Services Corporation. Legislation has already passed the House Judiciary Committee that would replace the LSC with a block grant program, allowing states to set up their own legal assistance programs to help poor Americans.

The fear-mongers are already hard at work trying to convince Members of Congress that this bill will do away with legal services for the poor. But just the opposite is true. In fact, this legislation would set up a competitive bidding process so that more attorneys could become involved in providing legal services to the poor.

What's more, this legislation would remove the waste and fraud that is inherent in the current legal services structure. It requires time keeping for legal aid attorneys, and payment ONLY after services have been rendered and legally documented. As it is now, legal aid attorneys receive payment UP FRONT before any work is carried out.

The pending House legislation would meet the emergency legal needs of poor Americans while eliminating a costly federal bureaucracy.

Capitan School Enrollment

vided per student. "The governor could lessen the unit value," Billingsley said.

The governor has instructed all state agencies to cut their budgets by 2.5 percent. There is some question whether that will apply to school districts.

Billingsley told THE NEWS that the funds for the additional students come from a pool that is distributed to districts with similar enrollment boosts.

With the higher enrollment Capitan will no longer be eligible for "small schools" extra funding. The middle school enrollment of 162 was well over the 150 count for the special funding. "We'll lose some units on the small school," Billingsley said. "But we'll make that up by the number of extra kids."

Elementary enrollment was 241 and the high school had 192. The enrollment in the 11th grade was six lower than projected as well as two less in special education and one less in the three year old special education program. The 10 student gain in the 9th, 13 gain in the 7th, 15 in the first and 16 in Kindergarten made up for the losses.

A program that suffered because of the conservative projected enrollment was music, which had the second music instructor position eliminated for this school year. Capitan Music Boosters requested the board reinstate the second position next school year, or for the remainder of this year if possible.

"The district has three campuses yet you ask the music director to provide classes from elementary to high school marching band and choir," said booster president LeeAnn Longbotham. "Because of the many responsibilities for one teacher, the music boosters think the district will continue to have a turnover of teachers. We'd like to keep Wayne (Ellison)," Longbotham said. "He has the enthusiasm which is refreshing to have. The kids and fans are excited."

Additional support for the music program was voiced by 5th grade teacher Tiffani Menix who said that Ellison was willing to work with coaches, grandparent Jack Johnson who was concerned about the choir program which he said is suffering the most without a second music instructor and student Travis Jaquess who said Mr. Ellison was ill because of exhaustion.

Board members James Hobbs and Freda McSwane also commended the band program. McSwane said she was impressed by the band at the Texico football game. "I was so proud of them for providing so much spirit and pep," McSwane said. "I'm not sure the football team would have done as well if the band hadn't been there."

"I wish we could get you to more games," she added.

Longbotham also asked the board to purchase more band uniforms for the next school year. New uniforms were purchased last year, but the district approved 10 less than were requested by the boosters. This year the band is four uniforms short and next fall Longbotham estimated the band will be at least five short and some students will outgrow the uniforms they have now. She asked for 10 additional uniforms, estimated to cost about $5,000 total.

Billingsley said the district cannot commit to the purchase because of the uncertainty of the remaining school funds. The uniforms cannot be purchased from the mill levy funds which are set aside for school equipment and materials. The band is on a uniform replacement schedule and slated to get uniforms in six years.

McSwane suggested the boosters raise funds to help purchase the additional uniforms. She said the football team and boosters raised funds to purchase additional football uniforms and equipment by selling sponsor boards which are located around the football field. Board members Hobbs and Russell Shearer agreed to be fair to the other programs the band should raise funds to at least help purchase the additional uniforms.

On the second music instructor, Billingsley and board president Beverly Payne said they will consider the position when they review the budget after the additional funds are available.

In other business, the board:

---Accepted the State Fire Marshall's inspection report which showed several violations around the schools. Billingsley said the violation involving plumbing, such as sprinklers in heater closets, are being resolved. Many of the violations deal with burned out light bulbs in exit signs and emergency lights. The district has 30 days to resolve the problems.

---Congratulated high school teacher Jan LaRue for the $7,100 award to her School-to-Work program presented by the New Mexico School to Work Advisory Board.

---Heard that the district will no longer allow the use and possession of skate boards or in-line roller skates on campus during school hours and weekends. Students will be warned on their first violation, on second violation school staff will confiscate boards or skates and on the third offense the student will be put on one day out of school suspension.

---Heard that the high school will try a program of Saturday in school suspension, to lower the number of repeat students.

---Congratulated teacher Menix for receiving a Keep New Mexico Beautiful grant and for her garden programs.

---Approved hiring Lori Roberts as first grade aide, Bill MacVeigh as mid school special education teacher and Kristin Sultemeier as 5th grade teacher, and accepted the resignation of Deborah Marcum as mid school special education teacher.

CAPTAN NOTES

Greetings from my old house by the side of the road to your house.

The days, weeks and months are going by like greased lightning. Doesn't seem possible that two weeks from today, yes today, it will be the last day of October, then just November with Thanksgiving to anticipate, then Christmas with all its joys, memories of past holidays and then the Happy New Year, which heralds another brand new year. I sincerely hope you are all ready for the following and not lagging behind like I am, with last year's Christmas greetings still in their little plastic bag that I carried to Omaha last year to answer and returned same little plastic bag in my "Still to be answered" file. I then will make another new set of resolutions and promptly stash them in the "To be done someday" file and try to get on with what is left of my life for 1996. I know there are several names for people like me, but frankly I do not want to hear them. I have heard them already yet.

Today started out like any other day, sat on the side of the bed, darkness still hanging overhead and asked the Good Lord if I was getting up or was I going to bed. Groggy as I was could have settled for either. It dawned on me about mid morning that this was Tuesday and my column was due and so dialed one of my favorite persons, Emmeline Beck, and asked her if she and Dick were going to Senior Citizens for lunch. "What day is it?" queried Emmeline. "Tuesday I think," I answered, really not sure but hoping. "Yes, we'll pick you up same time, same station. O.K."

"O.K.," I answered. Now same place and same station is their back yard that I reach by the alley behind mine. I looked at the time and same time meant I was to be there at 11:30 sharp, not 11:31, not 11:32, but 11:30. I thought I was right on target and was surprised that neither Dick or Emmeline were anywhere in sight, so I moseyed here a few steps and moseyed there a few steps and then glanced in the direction of their garage and the garage was "car less" (new word). I then started yelling for either Dick or Emmeline and scurried toward their big gate. As I received no answer I dashed across some of their fence that was not as high as it used to be, thinking that probably they had driven around to the front of my house. Not there. I then went back to my house and called Senior Citizens. Was Emmeline and Dick there? "Sure, do you want to talk to them?"

They thought that I had decided not to go when I was not at the same station at the same time. Upshot, Emmeline came back and retrieved me, and so, how was your day?

The monthly meeting of the Extension Club (Capitan Association for Family and Community Education) met on October 11 at Zia Senior Citizen's Center. Hostesses were Mollie Mason and Pauline Purvis. The dining room was decorated most attractively in October themes. The program was presented by Betty McCraight, our Lincoln County Home Economist, on the 4-H programs during the year and all their achievements. I made one wish to be back in those days and was very pleased that we experienced year after year.

Jo Blazer presided at the business meeting. Members were elected as follows for officers: president Angie Provine, and secretary Bonnie Thelford. The two officers still holding office are Alice Phelps as vice president and Edith Malcolm as treasurer.

After a delicious lunch, Mollie Mason presented the craft session on making Christmas light ristras. A string of 35 red chile pepper lights. They were just beautiful, in fact they were a sight to behold.

By Sarah Ewoldt

One week ago yesterday Karen Butaud called me and asked if I would honor her with my presence the following day at four in the afternoon. Karen teaches dance to pupils of all ages. She especially wanted me to see what the littlest ones were capable of and wanted me to write about them in the column. Her husband would pick me up just before four o'clock, if that would be alright. I must admit I was not particularly enthused. Four o'clock in each afternoon is my sitting down with my feet propped up facing the boob tube time. I might as well admit that it is a time I anticipate all through the day. I do not even like to answer the telephone. I refer to it as my time for the day. But the next morning I awakened and decided to bake a few peanut butter cookies for the few(?) little ones that would be there for me to watch. Was I in for a big surprise or was I in for a big surprise? I was in for a big, big surprise.

Tigers Will Face Animas In District Play Saturday

The hardest test of the season will be given to the Capitan Tigers football team on Saturday.

The Tigers travel across the state to Animas Saturday to play their last district game of the season. And it will be a contest.

Animas, which has a 6-1 record this season, is ranked second in the state on the Class A football poll. Capitan with its 7-0 record is ranked third.

Tigers coach Ed Davis said the Animas team is a very good ball club. "We know we have our backs up against the wall. We have to make a long trip to play a good team to hold on to our standings."

Tigers maintained their undefeated status by beating long-time rivals Cloudford Bears 38-20 last Friday at Tiger Stadium. Both teams put on a good showing for the fans.

The teams were keyed up for the rival game and it showed in the first quarter. Tiger Neil Montes made the first touchdown and the Tigers two point run was good. Then the Bears took the lead when they scored two touchdowns, but were unable to make the extra points. A Tiger touchdown and two point run late in the first quarter put the Capitan team ahead, a place it stayed for the rest of the game. By the end of the first quarter the Tigers were 18 to Cloudford's 12.

Second quarter action was defense. Neither team scored until 40 seconds were left in the period. Tiger half back Alan Hazel made a long run to the five yard line setting up the touchdown for quarter back Joan Peralta. The score was 20-12 at half time. The Capitan Tiger Guard Band entertained during the half, under direction of drum major senior Nathan Longbotham. It was the last regular home football game for Longbotham and other seniors Renee Smith and Shannon McGrath. Wayne Ellison is music instructor. The Bears were able to score only once more early in the third quarter. Tiger Mon-

Carrizozo Coach Says Grizzly Fans Are Great

Carrizozo Grizzlies football coach Sid Wright thinks the fans are great.

"Carrizozo had a bigger crowd than Lake Arthur," Wright said about the game in Lake Arthur last Saturday where Carrizozo lost 58-12.

Wright said he wished the team had played better for the fans. "Our offense was just bad," he said.

Coach said going into the game he thought the team was the best prepared mentally and physically with no one sick, injured or on suspension for grades or discipline. Despite this, the team turned the ball over eight times, six times within its own 20 yard line.

Carrizozo held the Panthers to two touchdowns in the first quarter. But in less than two minutes of play during the second quarter, the Panthers pushed the score to 34-6.

"Lake Arthur was really ready for us," Wright said. "But I thought that with so many things going wrong in the first quarter, my players would come back more focused in the second," Wright said. But it wasn't so. The Grizzlies scored only one more time in the game.

"We did some good things and made some good yardage," Wright continued. "We did some things we hadn't done all year."

The Grizzly junior high team beat the Lake Arthur junior high team 54-6, with the game called in the third quarter.

Wright said the Grizzlies didn't get their 6-2 record for not being a good ball club. And had the team been able to participate in the district play offs it would have been 3-1. "We can feel good about ourselves," Wright said. Coach said the team needs to play a good football game, win or lose, Friday when the Grizzlies take on the state's top ranked six man football team from Mesrose for their 1995 Homecoming. The junior high team will play at 4 p.m. Kick off for the variety game will be at 7 p.m. in Laabs Field in Carrizozo.

The 1995 Homecoming queen and king will be crowned during half time ceremonies. The Grizzly Band is also scheduled to play at the game.

Grizzlies Celebrate Homecoming Week

The 1995 Carrizozo Schools Homecoming was off to a wild start Monday with the initiation of the "Class of 99" - the freshmen.

While the rest of the student body donned the traditional "Dooms Day" colors of red and black, the seniors led the freshmen up C Mountain to paint the C and learn the manner necessary for high school life.

Tuesday's activities included "Mute Maiden Madness" when the girls were not allowed to talk to the boys, and the senior slave sale (with auctioneer "Lefty" Robbins) which was a chance for all underclassmen to buy the senior of their choice and own them for a day. Two Teachers, Alice Day and Coach Ron Wright were also sold.

Wednesday was pajama day, followed by a "Burn the Buffaloes" bonfire at the old football field.

Today, Thursday, is "Cross Dress" Day when the Lady Grizzlies volleyball team will play the Corona Lady Cardinals at 6 p.m. in Corona. At school students get to dress like the opposite sex.

"School Colors" is the theme of Friday. The 1995 Homecoming Court will be presented during an 11 a.m. Pep Rally in the old gym where cheerleaders will perform.

Homecoming Parade is set to begin at 1:30 p.m. at the school. The parade will go northeast on 12th Street, turn on to Central Ave. and end up back at the school.

Smothered bared dinners will be sold beginning at 4:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

In the Homecoming game, the Grizzlies six man football team will kick off with the Mesrose Buffaloes at 7 p.m. at Laabs Field.

The Homecoming queen will be crowned during half time.

Carrizozo PFK Makes Plans For Halloween Carnival October 31

A costume contest will be held for preschool and elementary children.

Booths planned include a haunted house, marriage booth, fishing pond, jail, sponge throw, and cake walk. Food items will include snow cones, hot dogs, and Witches Brew. Cash prizes will be awarded to the three best booths.

PFK's October meeting included a report from school superintendent Paula Papponi regarding improvements being made at the school. New stage curtains, front and back, are being ordered, the new gym floor will be replaced soon, and painting and re-carpeting is being done.

and short dancing attire, I was about to refer to them as tu-tus but I do not believe they could be referred to as such. They were adorable. They were enthusiastic and so well behaved that I was almost in a state of shock. Thirteen little bitty girls behaving and keeping quiet and being very attentive to what their teacher Karen was doing and saying.

I immediately became more alert and shook myself from my original lethargic state and watched every minute and every movement. I felt like I had been propelled back into another time capsule. Years, or should I say eons ago, I too was considered a dancer with some talent, through grade school, into high school, and even into my only year at the University of Iowa. And so the point, slide and close, now other foot, point, slide and close brought back a lot of memories and most of them very, very pleasant memories. So Karen Butaud, let me thank you for your kind invitation and accept my congratulations to you and my best wishes for your continued success with the little ones shown in the picture in this issue of the NEWS.

When you realize how many little girls and boys too, that go home to an empty house and immediately turn on the boob tube, dash for the fridge, then settle in to wait for whatever parent or parents come home. With the above activities being offered for these little ones, then we do not need to be too concerned about what the tube is offering at that time of day. These little ones are our future and if the ones I met are any example, we do not have anything to worry about. And so again congratulations Karen Butaud, thank you for moving to Capitan and may God bless you and all the little ones you touch with your artistry.

Incidentally, Karen has a real nice husband too. You will hear about him later.

Tigers Will Face Animas . . .

(Con't. from P. 6)

tes thrilled the crowds with a 65 yard kick off return for a touchdown. The two point try was good. At the end of the third quarter, score was Capitan 38, Cloudercroft 20.

Fourth quarter play was all defense and no points were added for either side.

Montes scored three touchdowns, Peralta scored two. Jayson McSwane and Kali Bagby intercepted two Cloudercroft passes. Montes passing game was 4 for 4 for 117 yards. Montes had a total of 136 yards rushing, Peralta had 88 yards, Wayne LaBelle 66, Bagby 61 and McSwane 33 for a total of 501 offensive yards. Tigers made 15 first downs.

Cloudercroft had 16 first downs with 253 yards rushing, two for seven passing for 15 yards for a total of 268 yards most of which were made by Bear Neil LaSalle.

The Tigers play Animas at 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 21.

Capitan rounds out its regular season Friday, October 27 when it travels to Estancia for a make up game.

Since every room in my old casa has suddenly become an obstacle course, have started doing a few little exercises that I picked up from Karen. Only problem am afraid that if I get too enthused, may end up on the bar room floor. Excuse me, I mean the living room floor.

Was sitting out on my front porch last week and saw Bob Ray and his ever present little spaniel disembark from a pickup truck parked in front of the bank. Seeing Bob with his little dog is nothing unusual, but they are usually walking. Pretty soon Bob came back down the street from the post office with his little faithful partner following. When they came to the parked pickup, Bob kept right on walking, but the little dog stopped in his tracks and refused to budge. Bob tried to change his mind, but the little dog was most obstinate. One more try. Bob began walking toward home again and called to the little dog, but the little dog was adamant and refused to move. Bob then walked back to give him a nudge or something and then the light bulb in his head turned on.

He had driven to town. He then opened the car door, the little dog jumped in and Bob followed. The moral of that story is your call Bob.

I haven't told a soul Bob, but remember folks, you read it here first.

The joys of a little town. You see Bob and I were raised less than 20 miles apart back in Iowa, but never met until we both moved to Capitan. Of course, must admit we went in different circles, age circles that is.

On Friday the 13th I promised myself I would not venture outside my door until the day had safely passed. Then I walked to my back room to enjoy the view, now that part of the old adobe barn has been removed. And what to my wondering eye did appear but Gerald's beautiful, big black cat sitting under one of my trees as big as life and twice as natural, as the saying goes. That did it. Any other day I welcome the pretty cat, but on Friday the 13th, it was just toooooo. Naturally all day I was on the lookout for some catastrophe to befall me and finally breathed a sigh of relief when my head hit the pillow and my body parts were all intact.

And how was your day?

So will close with the following from Ecclesiastes 3: 1, 2 and 4:

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heavens:

A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;

A time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance;

Hope the next week is a good one for you and God bless all who read this and of course the ones that don't. Sayonara and adios amigos.

FACTS & FICTION

BY BETTY LOU JOINES

6th ANNUAL LINCOLN COUNTY SYMPOSIUM BIG SUCCESS

As Pat and I hurried around to go hang his chandeliers at the Glencoe building, we both wondered what the weekend would be like. Now that it has come and gone, we can say it was one of the best yet, with the weather cooperating for the chuckwagon cook off, the trail rides, the horse presentation, and the general crowd's enjoyment.

David and Della Bonnell brought his big loader in the building and lifted us up to the ceiling. This was a lot easier than those big long ladders. The tables for the vendors, the food booths and the tent were all in place for the crowd to begin arriving early the next morning. When we arrived on Thursday many were all set up and people were viewing the things for sale. The music and poetry was already beginning in both places. Everyone and everything is good but one or two are always just a little better. This year there were eight fiddlers that played together once or twice each day of the symposium. This and the Flying J Wranglers playing and singing the song "How Great Thou Art" and the Graham Brothers gospel music on Sunday morning were just a little extra special.

The trailride was on schedule and left from the race track on Tuesday morning. Eighteen riders with ten women and eight men riding enjoyed the overnight stay. They rode into the symposium on Thursday afternoon about two o'clock. All reported it was a lot of fun. Gene Melton and Buck Reams did a good job leading the group.

The Montes food booth had some of the best hot tamales, burritos, and chili I have eaten yet. They sold out every evening just about 4:30. You couldn't have had better food anywhere!

The hot peach, blackberry and cherry cobbler is always so tasty, along with the barbeque and beans. All was delicious.

Craig Cameron was drawing bigger crowds than ever. At two of his presentations I counted more than 300 people. None can believe what he does with a horse in that short of a time. I learn something everytime I watch.

The chuckwagons were dotted all over the Bonnells land. Growing from six to seven to 14 and this year 26 is wonderful. And it still is not enough to feed the large crowds that attended. We were lucky enough to find someone who had bought too many tickets and sold the extras. They were with the Stegall Wagon, and was the food good. We went back for seconds and were stuffed all evening. The meat was so tender, the beans seasoned just right, the mashed potatoes really good, the bread always a feast and the cobbler a great dessert.

The lucky winners were: the Flying M Wagon from Memphis, TX. Others entered were: Bird Ranch South, Midkiff, TX; Brooks Ranch, Sweetwater, TX; Champion Land and Cattle, Artesia; The Chuckwagon Gang, Richmond, TX; Circle Diamond Ranch, Picacho; Clem Wagon Works, Poteet, TX; Cow Camp Cattle Co, Ft. Davis, TX; Diamond A Chuckwagon, Roswell; Diamond D Ranch Wagon, Lincoln; Diamond I, Abilene, TX; Ericksdahl Cattle Co, Stamford, TX; Fish Hook XIT Chuckwagon, Ruidoso; Lee Hammond Ranch, Clovis; Long Track Chuckwagon, Snyder, TX; LVS Chuckwagon, Collbran, CO; Nance Ranch Wagon, Haslet, TX; Palo Duro Ranch, Spearman, TX; Poderosa Mule Ranch, Bryson, TX; Red River Ranch, Hollis, OK; Rocking P. Cowboy Chuckwagon, Bernalillo; RS Chuckwagon, Azle, TX; True Grit, San Antonio, NM; W Bar S Chuckwagon, Lubbock, TX; Walking F Ranch, Hereford, TX. Cow Camp Cattle Co., Poderosa Mule and Hammond Ranch were also winners. Lots of good cowboy cookin' was served to many.

A few that have been gone for a while or live out of our great county were Margaret Taylor Watson, Joe Spiller, Loretta Proctor and family, and Stan Thomas. Sure there were many more I never talked with or saw in the crowd of more than 7,500.

You just can't help but get a lump in your throat when talking of some of your dear friends that have passed on. As the music played "Farther Along", I can remember that being Pauline Britton's favorite song, and Joe Spiller was very sad to hear that Chalk Norton was no longer with us. He had rode and worked with Chalk, and learned a lot from him. He was telling me of the presentation of the bits and spurs he made to Chalk when they had him as one of the legends several years back. I think that is the only part of the symposium I would change. Just bring that part back. Jo sang three songs to us in memory of Chalk, and I just know he took that hat off and grinned that big grin up there in heaven, as he heard that music.

From jewelry, paintings, western wear, and metal cut-outs, you could find almost anything you were looking for. The Museum of the Horse had small replicas of the large horses out front in cases on display at the symposium and added a lot.

Tommy and Karewn All-

sup, J.B. Allen, Kim Blakely, Curt Brummet, Johnny Gimble, Bobby Koefer, Clay Lindley and the Fiddler's Two were a few of the performers who entertain all every year.

The roping up at Tully's arena was another big success. I never made it up here but think over a hundred teams were entered. Hope to have results of this next week.

Shipping is in full swing once again and til next week — "Get Along Little Doggie!"

Historical Society Publication Is On Frontier Parishes

The Lincoln County Historical Society has announced the release of its latest publication Frontier Parish by Billy Charles Patrick Cummings. The book is a pioneering work into the little known Catholic history of Lincoln County. It will focus in detail on the early Hispanic families and traditions of Lincoln and San Patricio.

The book chronicles the careers of Lincoln County's earliest priests, from 1860-1884, including Father Don Jose Sambrano Tafoya who served as parish priest from 1876-1883.

Frontier Parish is the fourth in a series of studies on Lincoln County history published by the Lincoln County Historical Society and is available by mail from the Society.
