

Tax $$$ To Be Spent For Sales Barn

by Doris Cherry

Emotions ran high when Lincoln County Commissioners discussed the future of the Glencoe Rural Events Center (GREC) during their meeting in Ruidoso on Tuesday.

On a 3-2 vote, commissioners approved a resolution to accept a $130,000 grant from the federal Farmers Home Administration to construct a roping arena at the county-owned center in Glencoe. While commissioners Monroy Montes, Wilton Howell and Ray Nunley voted for the resolution, commissioners Bill Schwettmann and Stirling Spencer voted against it.

Schwettmann and Spencer were concerned about the county's obligation to the grant, which will be done with "in-kind" services including grading the site for the arena behind the existing building. Schwettmann was concerned the $130,000 would not be enough to construct the arena, and a project to build an indoor arena could cost into the millions.

Also Schwettmann was concerned about the new $91,000 budget for the center, of which $30,000 will go to promote the yet un-built arena. "Why promote something that's not there," he asked.

County manager Frank Potter said he wanted to incorporate the new budget for the facility as the grant money is received. Potter said $30,000 is not much for advertising, some of which must be done a year in advance.

Schwettmann continued his protest of putting more county money into the rural center. He said the center has cost more than $445,000 in taxpayers' money, yet has only earned $17,000 from events held there. He said the people should vote whether they wanted to keep and expand the center, or sell it.

Reactions with the citizens at the meeting were mixed. While citizen Wayne Williams was strongly against spending any more taxpayers money on the facility, citizens Patty Reynolds, Gary Mitchell, Sid Alford and Glen Barrow supported the roping arena at the rural center. Reynolds, whose family was involved with horses, said people are willing to help promote the facility for free. "The thing needs promotion, it's a wonderful idea."

"This will be a Lincoln County economic event. A good, clean industry," Mitchell said. "Whether you like it or not, (roping) would help bring in more Texans, and the Glencoe Center is the perfect location."

When Schwettmann offered to give the center to him,

Mountain Men Urge Saving Fort Stanton

Lincoln County Long Rifles Club, a pre-1840 mountain man re-enactment group, wants everyone to cooperate to save Fort Stanton as a living history Fort.

Ron Cecil, president of the club, spoke to the Lincoln County Commissioners during their meeting in Ruidoso on Tuesday, to ask that all groups join together to save the only complete Indian-era fort—Fort Stanton. "Let's band together to get Fort Stanton turned over to Lincoln county to make it a living history museum," he said, "Instead of fighting."

He said his group with more than 200 members could utilize the Fort for a rendezvous site, which could attract 3,000 to 5,000 people twice a year. He said the mountain men groups are highly regulated with strictly enforced rules. Currently the club is using the firing range at Fort Stanton for target and turkey shoots.

Cecil also said the Lincoln County's Sheriff's Posse has offered to rebuild the horse corrals at Fort Stanton to promote trail rides at its expense.

Lincoln County Commissioners Ray Nunley and Bill Schwettmann suggested Cecil's group meet with both Sally Burkstaller and Virginia Jones who have groups who are working for the same result. They invited Cecil and his club to attend a meeting at 7 p.m. October 10 at the Ruidoso Convention Center where volunteers who favor turning Fort Stanton into a living museum will discuss options on how to accomplish their ideas.

Cecil said his club is behind the county commission in its effort to acquire Fort Stanton for a living museum and maybe for a resort.

CITIZEN GARY MITCHELL lobbies the Lincoln County Commissioners to approve the $130,000 grant from Farmers Home Administration to construct a roping arena at the Glencoe Rural Events Center. ## County Asked To Build Road To Ruidoso Sports Fields

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Commissioners approved an agreement with the village of Ruidoso to allow a joint use of county land south of the sub-office located next to the Ruidoso village hall.

Ruidoso is planning to construct a new library between the existing village hall and the county sub-office. In order to better utilize the area between the new library and the county offices, Ruidoso village manager Gary Jackson and deputy manager Alan Briley said the county offices could utilize parking in the lot, if the county allowed the village to construct the parking lot on county land with village bond proceeds.

Commissioners were receptive to the agreement, and voted to approved it, if Ruidoso will provide a space for the juvenile probation office (JPO) without charging rent. Currently the county pays the rent on the JPO housed in the Ruidoso Police Department. Jackson said he would take the recommendation back to the Ruidoso council.

Commissioners hesitated when Ruidoso officials asked the county road department to construct an access road to the soon-to-be-constructed million dollar sports fields complex for soccer and baseball between White Mountain Schools and Hull Drive, which is being financed with bond money.

Commissioner Stirling Spencer was concerned about the cost of the aggregate that will be needed for the road, because of the type of soils in the area. Also he was concerned the county road department will not have the time to start the road until December, because the flooding and heavy rains in September put the road department behind schedule on some of its co-op highway department projects.

Briley and Jackson, and some of the members of the Ruidoso School Board who were at the meeting, said the fields will be used by children and adults from the county, as well as Ruidoso residents. Also the high school hopes to begin varsity baseball practice in February.

Commission Chairman Monroy Montes said if the county can do the road on its own time, and not be required to "fast track" the project, it might could be done. Commissioner Bill Schwettmann suggested the county road department do a rough grade road for access now.

Because there were some doubts about the amounts of materials needed for the project, Montes sent county road supervisor Albert Hernandez and Briley out to the location to look at what needed to be done. Later in the meeting, Briley and Hernandez came back with a proposal that the county contribute $10,000 in materials and provide the labor for the access road. Commissioners approved the proposal, with the provision that the road department could construct the access after co-op projects are completed.

RUIDOSO SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS (from center to left) Susan Lutterman, Ronnie Hemphill and Karen Anderson watch with concern as Lincoln County Commissioners discuss whether the county will help with a million dollar sports complex by building an access road. Commissioners finally agreed to build the road, after the county fulfills its obligations to highway co-op projects.

County Gives Manager $4,000 Salary Increase

by Doris Cherry

Despite tough questions thrown at county manager Frank Potter about problems in the county finance department, Lincoln County Commissioners voted to keep Potter, and to give him a $4,000 a year raise.

During their meeting in the Ruidoso Convention Center on Tuesday, commissioners conducted their six month evaluation of Potter as county manager, in open session.

Commissioner Bill Schwettmann had questioned Potter about double payments made on insurance (one of which was returned on the same day of the September commission meeting where it was questioned), and IRS penalties, of which all but less than $200 will be returned to the county. Schwettmann declined discussing his evaluation of Potter in open session, saying such discussion about personnel should only be held in closed session.

But the other commissioners commended Potter for his abilities to work with five individuals with differing opinions. Spencer wanted Potter to continue and finish work on a long term capital improvements plan and the wage and job descriptions. Spencer said he was pleased with how Potter has dealt with the elected officials and county personnel, but he wanted the absolute foundation on job descriptions and fair compensation for employees.

Ray Nunley acknowledged the many improvements around the courthouse, especially the air conditioning. He also encouraged continued work on the restructuring and job descriptions. He especially like Potter's open door policy for employees, elected officials and the public.

Howell joked, "Maybe if we brag enough we won't have to give him a raise." Then said Potter is doing a good job on managing 81 employees, lots of elected department heads and five "ego maniacs." "He's done a pretty good job," Howell said.

Montes echoed the sentiments of Spencer, especially for the capital improvement plan for 10-15 years in the future and prioritization of needs, and the evaluation and classification of employees. Montes commended Potter for his effort to work with the Sheriff's Department. He also said he was not concerned about the "problems" in the finance department because these were not deliberately done, and he had found no negligence.

After a closed session to discuss personnel and pending litigation, commissioners returned and voted to give Potter a $4,000 a year raise. Potter told THE NEWS commissioners did not further discuss his evaluation in the closed session, rather only talked about the raise, which they voted to approve when they returned to open session.

Early in the meeting, Potter had discussed the changes he had made in the purchasing department. He has centralized county purchasing to monitor purchases by requiring all departments to submit detailed purchase requests, instead of issuing purchase orders, which are basically like contracts for purchase. All purchase order forms have been taken from all departments and replaced with the purchase request forms. This way each department budget can be monitored.

Potter also clarified a question from Schwettmann about the possible illegality of approving warrants that have already been mailed. He said he checked with the state Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) and had not found any violation of the state procurement code with this practice which is done by many governmental groups.

Potter works "at will" for the county commission and is not a classified employee. Classified employees have certain protections and rights to hearings if they are terminated. Potter also does not have a contract with the commissioners, although managers in the past have worked under such arrangements.

Tax $$$ To Be Spent . . . (Continued from Page 1)

Mitchell said the center needs to be a county-wide cooperative endeavor because it would not succeed as a single-person endeavor.

Alford said a roping arena would benefit not only the businesses in Lincoln County, but could mean the survival of the Glencoe Post Office. Since open hours at the post office are based on the revenue it receives, the rural center's mailings could boost Glencoe Post Office revenues allowing it to be open longer hours.

But Spencer said the purpose of government is to make sure its programs do not detract from the private sector. (There are at least three private owned roping arenas along Highway 70 in Lincoln County.)

Barrow, who works for the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium which holds its annual event in the Glencoe Center in October, said the symposium has a proven economic impact on all business services in the county. As for a vote of the people, Barrow said the people did vote for the county commissioners. "We voted for you guys," he said. "You discuss issues on every item, do you put up those for vote?"

Barrow encouraged all commissioners to look at the economic impact the center will have on the area once the arena is constructed. "The county should provide facilities to help bring in additional money," Barrow said. "Counties all over the country spend money on economic development."

In the resolution with Farm Home Administration, the county will "not sell, transfer, lease or otherwise encumber the facility or any portion thereof, or interested therein, or permit others to do so without the prior consent of the Government."

When county attorney Alan Morel asked if commissioners wanted to delete that provision, Montes said they couldn't, then said such agreements only last three or four years.

Other provisions require the county to operate and maintain the facility in good condition, to provide adequate service to all persons and if the county fails to provide service to a person, the person shall have the right of action against the county. Morel said this would apply to ADA requirements for providing access to handicapped individuals.

Later in the meeting, commissioners accepted on the same 3-2 vote; a resolution which adjusted the 1996-97 budget. The adjustments included a $22,799 decrease in the county manager's office from full time salary and benefits (Linda Wallace salary deleted because she is leaving the county manager's office and will return to work at the Rural Events Center); the $85,899 increase for the Rural Events Center, which will include $18,226 for full time salaries, plus FICA, PERA, workers compensation, group insurance, medicare; $500 for postage; $30,000 for printing and publishing; $1,500 for office supplies, $6,000 for telephone; $8,000 for electric and $2,000 for mileage and per diem; $1,000 for dues/conferences/registration; $7,000 for professional services; $1,500 for janitorial supplies; $5,000 for capital outlay for 50 tables and $600 for capital outlay for 30 conference room chairs.

Other adjustments to the budget include increases of $4,000 for Bonito Fire Department maintenance; $10,000 for the Arabella fire station from capital outlay; $3,400 for Nomex clothing and portable pump for Nogal Fire Dept.; $100,000 to the facilities expansion/improvements in the Mill Levy for Facilities fund; $5,222 for the DWI grant; $180 to Bonito Fire; $22,241 from a grant extension for renovations at Carrizozo Senior Center; the $130,000 grant for GREC with $29,200 for bleachers, $30,000 for lighting, $50,000 for pens/fencing, $15,000 for dirt/fill, and $5,800 for contingency.

Helpless suffer for Barn

By Ruth Hammond

Ropers could be very happy. Three of our Lincoln County Commissioners have agreed to spend thousands of dollars for a roping arena at the Sales Barn. Two of our Lincoln County Commissioners didn't agree but they were out-voted.

Yes, we are aware that $130,000 came from a grant from the federal Farmers Home Administration to construct the roping arena but that still leaves thousands of our tax dollars being spent for a roping arena that only a select few people will use. The county's share will be "in kind" services that will take our county road crews away from their other work. While it may sound like it isn't costing the county any actual money the fact remains that county employees will be paid for doing work that will benefit those select few ropers instead of the entire county.

We certainly don't mind money being spent for worthwhile causes but when two entire groups of helpless people are cast aside while our elected officials cater to one select group there is something wrong; very, very wrong. And the county spending this amount of money while being in competition with private businesses is also wrong; very, very wrong. We thought there was a law against governmental entities competing with private business but it appears that this venture will continue.

Reports are that Lincoln County has spent $445,000 on the Sales Barn and only earned $17,000 from events held there. It doesn't take a math genius to be aware that the county has spent more than $425,000 of our tax dollars for the Sales Barn and from all indications that $425,000 could balloon into millions of dollars of our tax money being spent for a roping arena.

We have no complaint with ropers but it seems the county commissioners should use the same amount of energy for other expenses that will benefit even more people. If that $425,000 had been spent trying to keep the geriatric facility at Fort Stanton there would be many happy people, not just ropers. If that $425,000 had been spent trying to convince governor Johnson that closing Fort Stanton abruptly was not cost-efficient, we wouldn't be seeing elderly people being deprived of their homes. If that $425,000 had been spent trying to help elderly people not able to help themselves many of us would be happier.

Yes the roping arena is "supposed" to bring Texans to the area but just how many Texans have come to Lincoln County because of the three privately-owned roping arenas? Are these private roping arenas turning away people because they don't have room for them? Are these private roping arenas making enough of a profit that there is room for more roping arenas or will the county roping arena force them out of business?

What will the three Lincoln County Commissioners decide to do next? Will they decide to open grocery stores near the roping arena and compete with our privately owned grocery stores? Will the county decide to open service stations near the roping arena and compete with our private-owned service stations? Will the county decide to open clothing stores near the roping arena and compete with our privately owned clothing stores? After all, we don't want those Texans to be inconvenienced and we must have everything they might possibly want as close as possible.

If the Lincoln County commissioners had been as willing to spend our tax dollars for helpless people as they are to spend our tax dollars on roping arenas Fort Stanton would not be sitting empty for more than a year and a half. If the Lincoln County commissioners would only have stopped to consider that the Sales Barn didn't pay for itself before the county bought it they would know it won't pay for itself now. If the Sales Barn was going to bring in Texans it would have long before now.

It's time we spent our tax dollars on people, not Sales Barns.

GO, BIG TEAM, GO!

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Surveys have revealed that newspaper readers are the best informed and most likely voters. I know you'll like that information because we're talking just among ourselves right now.

A certain radio talk show host likes to proclaim that his listeners are the best informed people on the planet, but "most indoctrinated" might be a better descriptor.

The nice thing about newspaper readers is that they're independent people. You're the boss when you read a newspaper. You read what you want and skip what you don't want. You can read rapidly or slowly, skimming until you find the nuggets you can study closely or that you want to enjoy at a snail's pace.

It doesn't matter when you are ready to read a newspaper, it will be waiting for you. There's no need to watch the clock, waiting for an electronic media report. And there's no need to twiddle your thumbs while waiting for the announcer to get to a subject in which you're interested.

If the phone or doorbell rings, if baby cries or junior needs help with homework, no matter what the interruption, you won't miss the part that matters. Your newspaper will always be there waiting for your return.

Sure, you have to take the initiative to do the reading yourself. Nobody's going to spoon feed you the news while you sit there like a blob. But think of the quality experience you get. There's no worry about a fleeting mention of your favorite subject on the air waves. There, before you, is much more information on a far wider range of topics than radio or TV could ever hope to offer.

And it's all yours. You can save it, re-read it, copy it, frame it, enlarge it, or mark it up with stars, underlines and highlighting pen. And when you're finished, you can file it, send it to a friend, or stick it in your pocket to back up an argument at your office or club.

Personally, I like to spread a newspaper on a table in front of me. None of this leaning back on a sofa, reading a section at a time. I want to get the total feel of a page layout. That's not for any intellectual exercise. I never took Journalism 101 or any other such course. I do it for the esthetic experience. Since I read many newspapers a day, I like to compare styles, fonts, layouts and editorial page placement from a purely eye-pleasing point of view.

It is unfortunate that politicians and their highly-paid consultants haven't realized the advantages of newspaper advertising. A few candidates have gotten the idea.

Mike Foster, a long shot who recently won the governorship of Louisiana, ran a series of newspaper ads formatted and sized as opinion columns. While other candidates were investing heavily in television, Foster enjoyed a direct and unfiltered access to average voters, as well as political, civic, business and media influentials.

Some candidates also buy newspaper space so they can run the full text of the statement announcing their candidacy. That way they don't have to worry about a reporter and various editors deciding what they will and won't print.

Other candidates even go so far as to buy space to print their entire campaign platform. Three candidates have spent much time and effort writing a detailed platform and they want to be sure as many people as possible read it. And there are people who read such things; people who have grown weary of sound bites and want some substance.

But perhaps the biggest advantage of newspaper advertising is for timing last-minute messages to voters. Typically, candidates try to do that with direct mail, but the vagaries of the Post Office mean the message will not hit in a uniform or timely manner. Many candidates and all consultants have stories of catastrophes inflicted by the U.S. Mail.

With a newspaper ad, a candidate can decide the exact date voters will read that final appeal—even on a Sunday, when mail isn't delivered.

Ruidoso Adopts Lodgers Tax Membership Policy

by Doris Cherry

Ruidoso Village Council adopted a policy to define the qualifications for membership on the Lodgers Tax Advisory Committee.

Councilors unanimously adopted the policy which requires residency of certain members of the lodgers tax board during their meeting Tuesday. During the September 10 public hearing on the amendments to the Lodgers Tax code, councilors discussed the need for a policy for Lodgers Tax Advisory Board membership which would require residency in Ruidoso.

With the new policy the five member advisory board must have two members who are owners or operators of lodgings within Ruidoso which pay lodgers tax, two members who have businesses in Ruidoso which provide services or products to tourists and one member at large who is a Ruidoso resident and who has no affiliation with tourism or lodging and represents the general public.

Donaldson said the intent of the policy is especially to define the "at large" position.

While the council unanimously adopted the policy, mayor Jerry Shaw objected to it, and wanted to allow at least one member to be a non-resident. She said she knows a couple who are interested in building a hotel next to the convention center, however the people live in Alto.

Despite the mayor's objections, councilors adopted the policy unanimously. The policy states that the mayor will appoint lodgers tax advisory board members, with consent from the council. The advisory board's job is to advise the council on expenditure of funds for advertising, publicizing, and promoting tourist attractions and facilities in the municipality and surrounding area. And the council takes final action to approve or reject the board's recommendations.

There also were concerns about a current member who works for one of the lodgers represented on the lodgers tax board.

Two positions have expired on the current board—Bill Herschfeld and Frankie Jarrell, but Mayor Shaw wanted to re-appoint the entire five member board.

County Asked To Build

Gunn to vacate the west 121.2 feet of Lane one located in the A. N. Runnels subdivision.

Approved the preliminary plat review of Kokopelli Subdivision, after public hearing during which commissioners were satisfied with information from the state engineer's office that the water supplier for the subdivision, Alto Lakes, has sufficient water rights for the development.

Accepted the summary review plat of the DJJ Tract, which is the process for land that will divide 10 acres into lots with private access roads, as required for type three subdivisions containing five or less parcels. The summary review is done by the county manager and county planning officer and approved by the commission.

Heard an update from Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee chairman Joe Bonnell who said the Comprehensive Land Use plan is still not done, and the contractor who was to have done the plan is now committed to another job. The contractor did compile the surveys sent to county property owners, of which 18 percent were returned, and had summarized the information in 100-page document. Commissioners requested the Ag committee work on the plan itself, using the Mora County plan as a basis. Also commissioners recommended the committee work with someone at a state university.

Authorized the mailing of three draft Memorandums of Understanding between the county and the U.S. Forest Service in Lincoln and Cibola National Forests and with the BLM. The MOUs are intended to establish a more productive planning relationship between the federal agencies and the county by addressing how and when each agency participates in forest and county planning processes. The MOUs will be sent to the separate entities for response in 30 days. The MOUs were drafted by western states rights lawyer Karen Budd.

Requested the Lincoln County sheriff's deputies get together and reorganize their collective bargaining association, because records were found that the group did not vote to become a collective bargaining group, instead had just voted to go to a different retirement fund. "This commission did not create this event," Spencer said. The situation was discovered by the county's hired negotiator.

Approved resolutions authorizing reimbursement to the county from the New Mexico Finance Authority loan proceeds for the purchase of the Glencoe-Palo Verde Fire Department truck and authorizing the county to enter into a loan agreement with the New Mexico Finance Authority for the vehicle.

Appointed C. K. Stribling as member at large on the Lincoln Historic Preservation Board and Wayne Townsend to the District 3 position on the Public Land Use Advisory Council (PLUAC).

Approved calling for public hearings to amend county ordinances to disband the Zia Senior Citizens Advisory Board, to reconsider the organization of the Lincoln County Fair Board; to disband the Regional Monitored Retrieval Storage (MRS) Information Committee, the Public Lands Use Committee, Committee to Research the Impact of Amendment 8 (Gambling); and Water Defense Association.

LETTERS to the editor

EDITOR: "Our" military personnel desperately need more friends like Ruth Hammond! Unlike many of our governmental officials, most of the public, war protesters and the silent majority, I feel that she is genuinely concerned about the welfare of our troops.

By listening to our presidents and observing their actions, I have arrived at the following phrase: "We cannot be the policemen of the world; however, we must police the world?" Typical political rhetoric.

"Old men send young men into war to die." The average age of our Viet Nam combatants was 19 years. Many of our young, naive soldiers eagerly await their first combat; however, their attitudes quickly change once they come under fire. We have learned very little from the Korean and Viet Nam Wars??

We have spent billions upon billions of dollars protecting the people and borders of foreign countries. It is time we begin protecting our own people and borders!

Ramah Wears Down Grizzlies 47 to 20

Ramah, last year's 6-man football champions, wore down a valiant group of Grizzlies in the latter part of the game last Saturday, as they downed Carrizozo by the score of 47-20.

Grizzly head-coach Gerald Horacek stated that his team played their best game of the year, but just didn't have the manpower to stay with Ramah. Carrizozo suited up just nine players, and the lack of bodies finally caught up with the game Grizzlies in the last quarter and a half. The Grizzlies kept the score close, although they didn't get on the score board until the third quarter — Ramah put up 12 points in the first stanza and added six more in the 2nd to lead 18-0 at halftime.

Carrizozo got its offense in gear in the third quarter and put up 14 points on two scores when running back Willie Silva connected with receiver Justin Serna for the first Grizzly score, later in the quarter Bud Maynard found the end zone for the Grizzlies on a 6-yard run.

Midway through the 3rd quarter the Grizzlies were still in the hunt as they trailed by only 25-14, but also started running out of gas. Ramah added 12 more points to their total and led 30-14 at the end of three quarters of play.

In the fourth quarter Ramah added 17 more points and Carrizozo could only manage one more score to their total when Willie Silva hit paydirt with a 3-yard run. For the game Silva completed 4 out of 8 passes for 100 yards; Justin Roper, freshman QB, completed 10 of 18 pass attempts good for 60 yards; Justin Serna caught 3 passes good for 84 yards, including one reception good for 60 yards; Bud Maynard rushed 5 times for total of 24 yards. Coach Horacek said the coaching staff was proud of the effort put out by the team against a tough bunch from Ramah, and complimented the Grizzlies on the heart they had shown throughout the game.

This coming Friday (tomorrow) will be homecoming for the Grizzlies as they host another tough opponent, Floyd, but coach Horacek thinks the Grizzlies match up pretty well against the visitors. Coach Horacek did mention the Floyd was a big, strong, physical team, that brings a 3-1 record with them, with their only loss being to Ramah. This will be a very important game for Carrizozo and Floyd, because of it being a district game, both teams are 1-0 in district and the winner will be in good shape for making the playoffs.

Coach Horacek is hoping for a large crowd Friday night to support the Grizzlies. Senior quarterback Cash Spanhanks is prob'ly out for the season due to a rotator cuff injury suffered in the Mountainair game, as is sophomore Patrick Hansell, out with a broken hand. Freshman Ryan Roper will handle the quarterback duties, with some help from Willie Silva, doubling as running back and quarterback.

CAPITAN NOTES

By MAUREEN SULLIVAN

Greetings from my old house by the side of the road to your house.

I want to give top billing to Louie's fund raiser at the Capitan Senior Citizens Center Oct. 3, 4 and 5. Donations for the fund raiser may be taken to the center from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Call the center for more information.

This is a worthy cause, we senior citizens being the cause. Seems our government has to start cutting back on some programs and naturally they had to begin with the old folks first. Just read the other day that millions are spent on the fully equipped broadcasting room that the Democrats in the Congress use and an equal amount is spent for the same fully equipped broadcasting room that the Republicans use. Reason we have never heard either side complain about that extravagance that is being swept under the rug is that the Democrats and the Republicans are too busy sweeping and neither can call names of the other to task. Just another case of the pot calling the kettle black or something like that.

The Center is most fortunate to have Barbara Stewart as our voluntary secretary. She and her husband have made the Capitan area their home for the past several years. They were formerly residents of Florida and Barbara's mother has just recently moved to Capitan to make her home with them. Her name is Frances Lays and I had a chance to visit a bit with her last week. She is a lovely lady and a most pretty one. Welcome you folks to Capitan.

Mollie, bless her heart, gave me the following news item on the senior citizens 25th pool tournament. There were 22 senior citizens that came to participate and some just to watch. Senior citizens from Tularosa, Ruidoso Downs and San Patricio arrived at 9 a.m. and played pool 'til 3 p.m.

Jim Tully of San Patricio won first, Dick Thompson from Tularosa won second and our own Dick Beck from Capitan won third. And our congratulations to each of you.

And not to be out-shined one bit by the illustrious gentlemen just mentioned, our Bessie Jones won first in the ladies pool games with Mary Duran of Tularosa coming in second and our own Mollie Mason won the third honor.

All participants ate their dinner at the senior center and seemed to enjoy immensely the delicious meal of enchiladas, Spanish rice, and beans along with a good salad, etc.

Hope you readers enjoy a bit of mystery, because the following letter was left in my storm door and I do not have the foggiest idea who wrote it and who delivered it.

The positive side is that the writer or writers, shall I say, do read my column and that is a big, big plus. I have been bitchin' (I think is the appropriate word to use) about folks not bothering to give me their news and every time I get downright disgusted and threaten to quit, someone comes along and makes my day so read on and, I hope, laugh and enjoy. Maureen Sullivan, Capitan Reporter for Lincoln County News (?) Times (?) Re: Sept. 26 Plea for News. Dear Maureen: Funny you should mention the Rajah and Ranees - we had them over for dinner only last week.

We had a scrumptious repast featuring marinated bear cutlets prepared in a madeira wine sauce served with assorted succulent green cacti veggies. They were truly impressed. (The said Rajah and Rani, I presume.)

The conversation over dinner was unusual to say the least. Raj (as he prefers to be addressed) was mainly interested in acquiring some ponies for his polo team and a lifelong supply of old moustache wax. Rah Ni (as the Ranees wished to be called) was mostly concerned about the "Woman's Condition" in her country. She expressed much interest in "breast implants" and the Wonder Bra.

'Twas a truly scintillating evening and we are looking forward to future visits -- in our dreams.

Yours truly (?) The Capitan Leprechauns.....????? and your guess, my readers, is as good as mine. I haven't a clue, but will say this to the Capitan Leprechauns; Thank you, thank you and again thank you.

And I sincerely hope the readers out there get as much of a "charge" as I did. Felt like I had new cells implanted in my battery. It was stimulating and much appreciated and will look forward to more of your accounts of your visitors in your dreams, even from Outer Space. Hope to hear from you again next week, O.K.?

Ty Paul, son of Lucille and Albert Paul of Austin, Texas, was a visitor last week at his parents home. And they brought their ten month old son, Christopher. Ty is foreman at a large housing project in Austin; and Ginny, his wife, travels to supervise all inventory for the Foxworth stores chain. Ginny is from Albuquerque but she and Ty met in Las Cruces.

The Pauls gave them a welcome party and quite a few of Ty's school friends came along with their families. And to top it all off, Christopher took his first steps and walked proudly for everyone, especially for his parents, but even more especially for his bursting with pride grandparents.

And so for another week, hope it is a good one for all, even the Leprechauns!

And a thank you to our Emmett Downes for the beautiful Irish song he dedicated to me last Saturday mornin'. I quick-like dialed the station to assure him that I did and I do (most of the time, that is) listen. So here is a bit of a thank you to Mr. Emmett (two m's and two t's and D O W N E S if you please.) And... May you be blessed with the strength of heaven-- the light of the sun and the radiance of the moon the splendor of fire-- the speed of lightning-- the swiftness of the wind-- the depth of the sea-- and the stability of earth and the firmness of rock--

From the breastplate of Saint Patrick.

Adios Amigos and God bless those who take the time to read my ramblings and even those who don't.

Ruidoso Adopts Lodgers Tax

(Con't. from P. 4)

Donaldson was concerned about finding members who would attend.

Donaldson later told THE NEWS that lodgers tax board should represent the local Ruidoso view. Now the Ruidoso lodgers tax goes to advertise things outside Ruidoso also. Donaldson said he thought that events outside Ruidoso should be promoted with county lodgers taxes, or if in a municipality, that entity's lodger tax. (Carrizozo and Ruidoso Downs have lodgers tax ordinances, and their respective lodger tax advisory committees.)

Mayor Shaw was unavailable for additional comment to THE NEWS.

CORONA NEWS

The American Legion Beaver Bond Post No. 35 hosted a covered dish dinner Sunday, September 29 honoring Corona's Girls and Boys Staters.

After a delicious meal Commander Nolan Vickrey opened the meeting and flags were presented. Following the prayer by Chaplain Bob Burton the meeting was turned over to Johnnie Erramouspe, auxiliary president who introduced the speakers. Anna Garza told of her appreciation for the opportunity to meet so many girls and to learn more of the government process. She was in Portales at ENMU.

Philip Lueras and Rusty Reid attended Boys State at NM Tech in Socorro. Rusty was elected State Representative while there. All expressed a desire for more public speaking and government in their high school classes. They said they were surprised at how much they did not know.

Mrs. Cindy Reid accompanied her son to the meeting. Mrs. Erramouspe thanked the students and promised cooperation in urging more support for these projects, so important to the youth of our nation.

Family members joining Mr. and Mrs. Byron Yancey for a very special Sunday were Mrs. Bernice McCord, Troy and Theresa Yancey, Crystal, Charlie, and Russell Lueras.

A postscript to the Legion meeting Sunday evening: Lee R. Owen and Robin Pfeiffer are in their 50th year as members of the American Legion Post and Auxiliary here. Congratulations! They have been active members.

Crown CowBelles will meet Monday, Oct. 14 at the Corona Senior Center. Mrs. Muriel Pounds, hostess, has invited Dr. Shockey of Mountainair, formerly of Albuquerque, to tell of his experiences on expeditions in Turkey to search for the Ark on Mount Ararat. Members will bring their favorite dessert and meet at 1 p.m. for coffee and dessert, to be followed by Dr. Shockey and to close with a brief business session which will include the report from the nominating committee.

Thomas and Angie Husband, Yucca Valley, CA spent a few days with his mother Ruth Davidson, and Jackie. Thomas accompanied Jack Davidson on an antelope hunt and both were successful after a few hours.

Ruth Davidson is planning a celebration for her father Raymond Lackey for his 92nd birthday October 14.

Fred Lackey is looking forward to a visit from his first great grandson, Ryan Lee Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Meadows, Mountainair.

Gloria and Donnie Billa were called to Socorro Saturday evening by the horrible accident that claimed Mrs. Billa's daughter, Francine, as one of the five victims. Francine and her brother, Faustino, attended school here last year and were expected next semester where Francine would be an eighth grader.
