

$1 Million For Sales Barn Improvements

by Ruth Hammond

The next phase of improvements for the Glencoe Rural Events Center (former Sales Barn) will cost more than $1 million of taxpayer money. Glencoe Rural Events Center (GREC) manager Linda Wallace has projected program income at GREC to be $26,000.

This information was presented to Lincoln County Commissioners during a special meeting Saturday, March 1 in Ruidoso. Wallace asked for approval from the county commission to apply for a Rural Business Enterprise Grant, for federal assistance to build the proposed enclosed arena at GREC.

The grant application for $920,000, requests $700,000 from the federal government with Lincoln County to pay $200,000, and other funding in the amount of $20,000 for total of $920,000 to be spent for construction of the indoor arena.

Additional documentation in the grant application: budget information-construction programs listed $50,000 as architectural and engineering fees; $10,000 for project inspection fees; $100,000 for site work; $830,000 for construction; $20,000 for equipment; and $50,000 for miscellaneous for a sub-total of $1,060,000.

Costs not allowable for participation, which would be the county's share to pay: $50,000 for land, structures, rights-of-way, appraisals, etc; $50,000 for architectural and engineering fees; $10,000 for project inspection fees;

$100,000 for site work (probably county road department labor and equipment); $130,000 for construction; $20,000 for equipment; $50,000 for miscellaneous; $40,000 for contingencies, for a total of $440,000 the county must pay less the projected $26,000 program income for a total $414,000 of county money that must be paid to qualify for the federal grant.

Exhibits attached to the grant application include economic impact examples, phase cost projections, job and business growth due to present expansion, examples of competition for New Mexico, and letters of support. The grant application also lists organizational officers and the GREC budget.

The annual budget for GREC for the fiscal year from July 1, 1996 to June 30, 1997 is $85,899. Line items are: $18,226 for full time salary, $1,130 for FICA, $1,276 for PERA, $131 for worker's comp., $1,772 for group insurance, $264 for medicare, $500 for postage, $30,000 for printing and publishing, $1,500 for office supplies, $2,000 for telephone, $2,000 for fuel heating, $2,000 for electric, $2,000 for mileage and per diem, $1,000 for dues-conference-registra-

BOUNDHOUSE RUMBLES

by Doris Cherry

State Capitol, Santa Fe — The legislature is counting down the final three weeks of this 60 day session, and still several major issues — gaming, prisons, welfare/Medicaid reform — have not been resolved. Adjournment is set for noon Saturday, March 22.

The House gaming bill (399 very amended) sponsored originally by our Rep. Dub Williams was heard in the House Tax and Rev. Committee. The major point of conflict is the amount of revenue sharing with the state. As the bill went to committee Wednesday, it contained the 15 percent for the state. The amended committee substitute for the bill still includes video slots at horse race tracks, video slots at fraternal and veterans organizations, but does not allow it at charitable organizations. "It's a good bill," Williams told this reporter. "It covers all the changes that needed to be addressed."

Some of the fine points such as the days and hours of opening were changed from the original.

Our Senator Pete Campos gave his personal thoughts on gaming, he said the question of whether to approve gambling can only be answered after thorough discussions of the economic and social impacts that gambling will have on the entire state. "This is not as simple as deciding to legalize what is already going on or what was going on at a certain date," Campos told this reporter. "In order to provide a legal foundation for Indian gaming, and in order to properly balance the economic and social benefits and costs, we must first decide if we are going to allow gambling in the rest of the state and under what circumstances."

Currently the only legal gambling in New Mexico is the state lottery, horse and bicycle races and bingo and raffles. Under federal law, Native American governments are allowed to offer gambling that is allowed elsewhere in the state after executing a compact with the state. In New Mexico the compacts the governor signed in 1995 have been declared by the courts as invalid because the governor exceeded his authority by trying to legal in the compact, something the legislature had not declared to be legal. "In order to make casino gambling legal on Indian land, we need to first make it legal somewhere else in New Mexico," Campos said. "For legal reasons, for economic reasons and for social reasons we need to consider allowing gambling machines at the horse racetracks and fraternal and veterans' clubs, and casino-style gambling at resorts," Campos said. "But we cannot vote to legalize more gambling until and unless we are convinced it is good for New Mexico in the long run."

(Campos' district does not include the Mescalero Apache Reservation, which is included in Senator Tim Jennings' (D-Roswell) district.

Most of the work on gambling legislation has been done in the House, although there have been several gambling bills introduced in the senate, Campos added. It is possible the senate may take up the issue if the House doesn't take floor action soon. "We don't want to find ourselves pressed by the adjournment deadline," Campos said.

A major complement to any successful gambling legislation will be provisions ensuring proper oversight and regular review of the costs and benefits of gambling. "I am concerned that if gambling is legalized, some individuals and families will be hurt by the negative consequences associated with it," Campos said.

He suggested that Las Vegas Medical Center and New Mexico Highlands University are well suited to provide programs for New Mexicans who gamble irresponsibly because the facilities have a good number of social workers, psychologists and psychiatrists.

Aside from gambling, Campos said there are several significant issues still on the table.

COUNTY ROAD CREWS WORKED DAYS MOVING TONS AND TONS OF DIRT while digging out an area for the indoor arena that is to be built at the Glencoe Rural Events Center. The next phase of the "improvements" will cost more than $1,000,000 of taxpayer money. The Rural Events Center manager has projected revenue of $26,000 for this year.

Ruidoso Solid Waste Hearing Set For 10th

by Ruth Hammond

Ruidoso residents having concerns about solid waste will have the opportunity to be heard during a special meeting Monday, March 10 at 6 p.m. in the Convention Center. The public is encouraged to attend.

Dr. Jim Miller of ENMU-Ruidoso and Gene Simmons of the Small Business Development Center are working on phase II (operations phase) of a study for the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) and have requested that the results of the public hearing be determined before March 20.

The Ruidoso Village Council met Feb. 25 and scheduled the public hearing on solid waste at that time.

During the Feb. 25 meeting councilors also approved transfer of a dispensers liquor license to be used at the business known as Che Bella. The license was transferred from Albuquerque.

The village authorized to obtain bids for the removal of an unsafe building - Lot 10, part of Lot 11 and part of Tract J, Hull Re-subdivision of part of Block 2, McCarty Sd. The building was inspected Sept. 23, 1996 and red-tagged as unsafe building.

The owner of the property was contacted by letter and by phone during the following three month period without result in abating conditions. A criminal complaint was filed with municipal court Jan. 17, 1996. On May 6, 1996 a stipulation for entry of plea and judgement and sentence was filed with Municipal Court allowing the owner to either obtain a building permit and complete improvements to the partially complete building or obtain a demolition permit and remove the building. The owner has not obtained a building permit or a demolition permit.

Results of bidding for removal of the unsafe building will be reported to the village council with request for authorization to award bid and proceed with demolition and/or removal of buildings.

Ankle Bracelet Program For Prisoners Explained

by Barbara Culler

With the county jail getting close to capacity, District Attorney Scott Key presented information on the Electronic Monitoring Program to the Lincoln County Commissioners at the March 1 special meeting held in Ruidoso.

In his presentation he stated that all counties in New Mexico have access to this program and that Otero County has been using it for two years.

The program, upon the recommendation of the judge, would allow some people to spend their pre-trial or sentenced time at their home. They would be attached to an electronic monitoring ankle bracelet. This monitoring bracelet would be electronically attached to the telephone and would make periodically pre-programmed calls out to a detention officers unit. The monitored person would have to stay within a certain distance of the phone, except for work, community service, or pre-approved appointments.

The detention officer would have a special Drive By Unit which he would be able to use to drive by and check to make sure the person is where he is supposed to be. This can be done day or night. If the ankle bracelet is damaged, removed, or the wearer has left the set bounds the unit will alert the detention officer. The wearer will immediately be picked up, taken off the tion, $7,000 for professional services, $1,500 for janitorial supplies, $5,000 for capital outlay for 50 tables, $600 for capital outlay for 20 chairs, for the total of $85,999 for the year for GREC.

Phase cost projections for GREC: Phase one 1994-95 expenses, $250,000 for facility acquisition, $185,000 for improvements of painting, electrical upgrade, addition of heating, sitework and cleanup for a total of $435,000 for phase one.

Phase two 1996-97 expenses, $150,000 sitework, $130,000 arena for arena, lighting, seating surface, office, $2,500 for concessions, $7,000 for professional services, architect, electrical engineers, soil scientist, civil engineers, and $20,000 for stalls for a total of $309,500 for phase two.

Phase three 1997-98 expenses, $100,000 for sitework, $600,000 for building (250x400), $100,000 for lighting, $20,000 for 40 stalls, $50,000 for restrooms, $50,000 for seating, $50,000 for equipment, and $15,000 for professional services for a total $885,000 for phase three.

Phase four, $50,000 for sitework, $20,000 for stalls, $75,000 for heating, $50,000 for seating (625), $50,000 for restrooms, $100,000 for land acquisition, and $10,000 for professional services for a total $355,000 for phase four.

Job and business growth due to present expansion includes the names of three businesses that have not been built at this time, and projected services that may or may not be provided. A total of seven new jobs are listed if three of the businesses are built as projected.

Economic impact examples attached to the grant application state that visitors will spend $91.50 a day in Lincoln County.

Examples of competition for New Mexico include sales in Illinois, and an arena in Oklahoma.

The letters of support are from businesses which have received advertising money from GREC as well as business people who have increased their business because of GREC and individuals. Two of the letters are not dated.

During the special meeting when the grant application was presented to the county commissioners, county manager Frank Potter explained that in grant applications there are sometimes "large" numbers. The grant application is for $1,034,000. County commissioner Monroy Montes asked how much was applied for in the last grant. Wallace said she applied for $130,000. Then she said the grant was $250,000 and, "we got $130,000."

The phases were explained as phase one purchase and phase two arena.

County commissioner Bill Schwettmann asked about the $414,000 Lincoln County has to pay. "Where will we get the money?" he asked.

Wallace said the way to do it on paper.

Potter said the county has equipment to do lots of things. He said we (the county) has $100,000, that is just a number to get money for the program.

Potter also said, you never know in a project like this, use their (the federal government) form.

County commissioner Wilton Howell made the motion to apply for the grant. The motion passed with a vote of three to two. Commissioners L. Ray Nunley, Montes and Howell voted for the grant application and commissioners Schwettmann and Rex Wilson voted against.

Two other agenda items during the special meeting were related to the GREC. Ray Sanchez presented a request for easement and a services agreement, and commissioners were asked to authorize to publish and schedule a public hearing to consider a proposed ordinance creating a board for the GREC.

Commissioners agreed to schedule public hearings for the proposed ordinance for a board for GREC.

Sanchez presented his request for an easement for electric service. The easement would be across or under county owned property.

As for the services agreement, county attorney Alan Morel explained that the fence on the east side of the GREC property is not on the property line. "We need to move some dirt," Morel said, and added, "Mr. Sanchez has agreed to let us put dirt on his land."

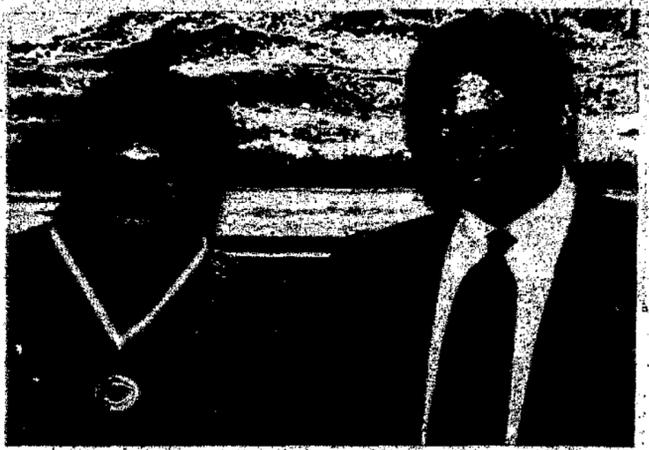

Morel said that county road foreman Albert Hernandez had placed a value of 50 cents a cubic yard on the dirt. Morel was concerned about the anti-donation clause and also questioned whether the county would have any responsibility for compaction if the dirt was sold to Sanchez.

When Montes asked what the county would get in return, Sanchez said he would upgrade the fence.

Howell said he would like to see a services agreement at the next county commission meeting.

Schwettmann questioned the total value placed on the dirt. He said the amount of cubic yards of dirt that had been removed from the area where the indoor arena is to be built was 13,330 cubic yards which would be $6,700.

"Why can't we stockpile the dirt and use it?" Schwettmann asked. He was concerned about the figures presented.

EDDIE TUDOR OF CAPITAN was presented the medal of valor from governor Gary Johnson for actions that saved the lives of two people who were struck by lightning two years ago. The presentation was made in Santa Fe Feb. 26.

Ruidoso Solid Waste

reported on the lodging vendor audits for the year ending June 30, 1996. Seven lodgers were selected as required by the state statutes for municipalities that collect more than $250,000 dollars annually in lodgers tax. Total receipts from lodger's tax for the year ending June 30, 1996 were $373,978.

Field examination included sample tests of sales, cash receipts and other records to substantiate the tax reports. The audit report will be sent to the state department of finance administration (DFA) as required.

Findings included: three lodgers audited resulted in no exceptions or no significant findings, three lodging establishments didn't have sufficient and/or adequate records to support the lodgers tax paid, and one lodger audited resulted in the detection of under-reported revenue in the amount of $15,385.

The under-paid lodger's tax on this revenue was $615 and under-paid gross receipts tax was $1,048. In addition the lodger had over-paid the lodgers tax for one period in the amount of $1,252. Penalties and interest on the under payments totaled $994. The net amount due from this lodger is the underpaid lodgers tax of $615 and the related penalty and interest in the amount of $994 less the over paid tax of $1,252 for a net amount due of $357. The lodger agreed to the findings of the auditor.

The cost for the audit services was $1,180.59.

The resolution amending the revenue and expenditure budget for the village was approved. The resolution brings the village in compliance with DFA and state regulations.

The airport fund expenditures decreased by $2,122 in the electric bill line. The CIP airport improvements revenue was increased by $6,000 for state grant money to be received for purchase and installation of antenna for a non-directional beacon and expenditures were increased by $8,122. The additional savings from electric utility were used for the difference.

A public hearing will be held March 25 for consideration to amend the municipal code concerning term limitations for boards and commissions. It has been recommended to change the terms of service from two terms to three terms.

A public hearing for the ordinance to amend the water contingency plan has been scheduled for March 25.

No action was taken on an appeal from the utility dispute board regarding water leaks at private residences.

The Utility Dispute Board had met Feb. 4 to hear complaints from three water billing customers. The customers all had excessive bills and were requesting that water credits be given.

The Utility Dispute Board recommended that water credits be determined on a case by case basis and that the three customers be allowed to speak at the next council meeting on Feb. 25.

The motion to not take any action on the appeals was approved. The village attorney said the water contingency plan supersedes water credits.

Councilors reconsidered their previous action regarding rejection of bids for sanitary sewer rehabilitation. During the Feb. 10 village meeting councilors rejected the bids primarily due to a question from a bidder on the wording in the bid documents regarding the award of the alternate bid. It was determined it might be in the village's best interest to reconsider the previous action of rejecting all bids.

The base bid was awarded to low bidder Cook Construction in the amount of $515,734.

The council authorized to re-bid the alternate bid only.

Action on the proposed amendment to ground lease with the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce was tabled to the next meeting.

The bid award for water softener/conditioner and reverse osmosis units for the convention center was tabled to the March 11 meeting.

The council approved the lodgers tax committee recommendation for an amendment to the convention and visitors bureau budget. The changes will provide appropriate allocation for the balance of the fiscal year staying within the approved budget.

A public hearing for zone map amendment, lots 7 and 8, block 3, White Mountain Estates, Unit 4, will be held March 25.

After a closed session to discuss threatened or pending litigation, discussion of the purchase, acquisition, and/or disposal of real property and water rights, councilors moved to accept the offer from the state highway department for land acquisition near the cemetery off Highway 48 for widening the highway.

Commissioners asked if all the ambulances were new. EMS coordinator Connie Hopper said all were new except for Carrizozo. Commissioners asked if Carrizozo would like to have this new one.

Commissioners said the county can't afford 162 miles of paved roads.

County commissioner Wilton Howell quoted from a law of 1908 about the county being able to vacate roads. He suggested the county vacate the ski run road and let Wendell Chino get the governor's attention. "He has before," Howell said.

Commissioners also discussed the bill presented by Sen. Pete Campos which would require the state to provide funding for the roads IF the state does give roads to the county.

Commissioners asked county manager Frank Potter to send a letter to Campos con-

THOUGHTS

From the Editor's Desk

Clarification accepted

By Ruth Hammond

Last Saturday was interesting for several reasons. One was that we loaded snow shoes in the car when we went to Ruidoso for the Lincoln County Commission meeting because we wanted to do everything possible to attend that meeting. These were actual snow shoes, not snow boots. Snow shoes that have a wood frame around the outside and are nearly five feet long and are used for cross country travel in deep snow. We have used these snow shoes before and will use them again if necessary.

Another reason Saturday was interesting was the comments made by county commissioner Monroy Montes when he took the time to clarify statements made in an editorial. We assume he was talking about the editorial in this column even if he did call it the Carrizozo News. We assume he was talking about the editorial in this column because he said he would like to assure Mrs. Hammond or whoever wrote it the reason for the meeting was to accommodate Representative Williams as relates to the issue discussed (whether county owned hospitals should comply with the open meetings act and the state procurement code); and to obviously take care of business as needed. He said it was never the intent to get away from the regular meeting. He also said it may or may not be underhanded as it relates to the Glencoe Rural Events Center and said people are here for input and he found the comments in this column a little misleading.

Thank you for that clarification commissioner Montes. We would like to clarify a few things that many people may or may not know: this is The Lincoln County News and has been for many, many years. As for "whoever wrote this column" there should be no question about that because the name at the top of this column is there to let readers know precisely who wrote this column. We believe that editorials should include the name of the author. It is confusing to read an editorial and not know if it was written by the editor, publisher, staff writer, or someone else. Page four in The Lincoln County News is the editorial page and anytime opinions are expressed we believe the author should be willing to include their name, just as in letters to the editor. The last thing we want to clarify is that not once in last week's editorial was the term "underhanded" used.

If anyone thinks the Glencoe Rural Events Center situation is "underhanded" it might be because something isn't quite right about the entire project. The grant application total for the phase projections is more than $2 million with an annual budget of $85,899 and for that $2.1 million of taxpayers money the county projects income of $26,000. It doesn't take much to figure out that the taxpayers are paying a tremendous amount for what appears to be piles and piles and more piles of horse manure. The projections made in the grant application are inflated and the businesses that are being promoted are getting a lot of free publicity while their competitors are being discriminated against.

As for the meeting being to accommodate Rep. Williams, he wasn't at the meeting and there was no reason given as to why he wasn't there. If the county commissioners knew in advance Rep. Williams would not be at the meeting it could just as easily have been held on another day and in another place.

Once again we would like to clarify that if a public hearing concerned Ruidoso residents then it might be better to hold that special meeting in Ruidoso but the regular business items that did not need to be handled quickly should have been on agendas for regular meetings held in the Lincoln County Courthouse.

One of the nicest things about the meeting Saturday was that we didn't have to arrive on show shoes but we will keep the snow shoes ready in case we need to wade across those piles and piles of horse manure that we are paying millions of dollars for.

What is underhanded about barn?

The budget bills have been passed from the House to the Senate. On Monday, the House passed out House Bill 2, 4, 6, 9 and House Bill 3. HB 2 is the major state budget measure which finances operation of state agencies. HB 3 is the education funding bill.

Campos said he expects at least 1,000 amendments to be added to the budget bills. The deadline to submit amendments to House Bill 2 is today. Once the amendments are written and ready for review, they will be sent to the senate finance committee which is expected to begin review by next Tuesday. The finance committee has been meeting all week, plus Saturday and Sunday to clear its calendar to make way for HB 2.

There are $130 million "new" dollars in revenue, but with more than $1 billion in requests it appears only the most needy projects affecting the health safety and welfare of the citizens will be considered for funding.

One thing cut in HB 2 which concerns Rep. Williams is the WICHE program which finances students studies in out of state universities which offer subjects not available in New Mexico, such as dentistry, and veterinary science. The Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education was cut in half. Williams debated this on the floor and offered an amendment for full funding but it was defeated 36-26. He said now he will try to get an amendment submitted on the senate side. "I don't believe it is right to leave these students out there when the state made the commitment," Williams said. The cut will affect some students who are from District 56 (Lincoln County).

HB 2 includes funds for Camp Sierra Blanca for the juvenile camp for next year.

HB 2 and HB 3 are now in "conference committee" which is made up of three senators and three representatives. Rep. Williams is one of those three from the House who will meet with senators to work out compromise on the budget bills. This will be the first time Williams has served on a conference committee. "I'm sure I'll find it educational and productive," Williams said.

HB 3 provides an extra $40 million to be put into the funding formula which is translated to an amount per student, about $2500. "Education got a good shake this time," Williams said. "It got an excellent share of the money."

The extra $40 million in funding is estimated to provide an extra $61,000 to Capitan District; $36,000 to Carrizozo; $5,962 to Corona; $21,150 to Hondo; and $612,575 to Ruidoso. The amounts are based on the 1996-97 membership at the districts.

On the House side, education will get about 50 percent of the general fund. However, that may change after concurrence with the Senate.

Williams said he was pleased education received the extra $40 million. The Education Funding Formula Task Force, of which Williams is a member, had requested $50 million. With the extra money, Williams said many superintendents said the extra project requests may not be needed.

Senate floor action on HB 2 is expected by March 13, with conference committee action expected by March 16, SANTA FE—Welfare reform is not moving quickly in the 1997 Legislature.

Actually no major programs are moving. Gambling has lurched ahead a couple of times but still has many committees to go. Prisons looked to be moving quickly when officials found evidence of a planned riot and escape, but slowed again when further scrutiny cast some shadows. Medicaid is stalled badly. Human Services chief Duke Rodriguez is the whipping boy. It brings back memories of Carla Muth eight years ago during the administration of the last Republican governor, Garrey Carruthers.

The truth is that all these major programs will continue to bob in the water, waiting for the final three days of the session when the current starts moving them toward a solution.

But welfare reform could hold the most promise. Pres. Clinton got the issue moving a year ago when he embraced many of the reform ideas from the Republican Congress. The resulting law helped both the president and a GOP congressional majority get re-elected after showing they could work together on something all knew needed fixing.

Clinton was criticized harshly by party liberals for his action, but they were a decided minority. That's not so much the case in the New Mexico Legislature. Even with a federal law staring them in the face, legislative leaders continue to resist. But it doesn't seem to be as entrenched a fight.

Labor Secretary Clint Harden, who is spearheading welfare reform for the Johnson administration, is a likable guy and isn't getting the personal attacks being experienced by Rodriguez. His good-natured mention of the fact that the new Department of Workforce Development, combining Labor and Human Services departments, will put him out of a job, seems to help his cause also. If lawmakers could have an offer like that from some of Johnson's other cabinet heads, we might see this session wrapped up tomorrow.

The claimed success of a work-related pilot program in southern New Mexico, centered in Carlsbad, is helping the sale of Johnson's reform plan. But there are obstacles. The Senate, which is conducting hearings on the bill now, wants more information on the pilot program than department officials say they are allowed to reveal. And lawmakers want the governor to come downstairs and talk to them about it himself.

Unfortunately, Gary Johnson is not a detail man. He doesn't want to get into discussing the nitty-gritty and lawmakers are tired of talking to lieutenants who have no power to bargain.

The availability of sufficient jobs for those being moved off welfare is the biggest problem welfare reform is facing. But many contend that another major step in making welfare work is a new emphasis on volunteerism. Arianna Huffington talked about it at the New Mexico Oil and Gas Association meeting in Santa Fe last October.

Huffington argued for a community-oriented, decentralized, people-focused approach in which Americans take responsibility for their own communities through personal involvement and donations. Jack Kemp talked about the same thing until he became a vice-presidential candidate last summer and went back to explaining supply-side economics.

The two Americans who have boosted community service the most are Colin Powell and George Bush, with his Points of Light Foundation. Pres. Clinton has snared them, along with Huffington and all former presidents, to help him host a Summit on Volunteerism, April 27-29 in Philadelphia.

I hope we start hearing more about this soon, because it holds great promise. Personally, I would like to talk about it more myself. Compassion can't be measured in the amount of government spending. The good in America must come from people in every community and not depend on Santa Fe or Washington.

Skeen Diagnosed With Parkinson's Disease

Washington, D.C.—Congressman Joe Skeen (R-NM) was recently diagnosed with Parkinson's Disease, a slowly progressing medical condition that affects certain motor skills. According to the National Institutes of Health, there are about 50,000 individuals diagnosed annually with Parkinson's Disease.

"My physician advises me that this disease is not life-threatening and will not adversely affect my ability to continue functioning in my capacity as Congressman," Skeen said. "In fact, through proper medication diet, and exercise, I can slow down the affects of Parkinson's Disease."

"I take seriously my responsibility to effectively represent New Mexicans in Congress," Skeen said. "During my tenure in Congress, I have aggressively represented and responded to the needs of New Mexicans. We have many accomplishments to point to and I believe I can do more for New Mexicans especially now that I serve with the majority party in Congress. I currently hold a senior position with one of the most influential committees in the House and I am committed to continue serving New Mexicans in this capacity."

Skeen said that he is planning to seek re-election in 1998. He said Parkinson's Disease has not diminished his enthusiasm for maintaining a busy congressional schedule and looks forward to proceeding with the same working approach as in the past. Skeen noted that individuals who have been diagnosed with Parkinson's such as Rev. Billy Graham, U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno, Kathryn Hepburn and others have continued to maintain active schedules and live very productive lives.

Hondo Eagles Win District, Host Regional Tournament

The Hondo Eagles, behind a furious 2nd quarter defeated the Hagerman Bobcats 75-66 Saturday night to capture the Dist. 5A championship, and improved their season record to 17-6.

The Eagles won all of their regular season district games to earn the top seed and home court advantage in the district tournament. Hagerman had advanced to the championship game against Hondo by earning the #2 seed and defeating Mesilla Valley Christian on Thursday.

Hondo will meet District 3A runner-up Mountainair at 7:45 tomorrow (Friday) following the Hagerman/Fort Summer game that is scheduled to begin at 6:00 p.m., also at Hondo.

The Eagles outscored the Bobcats 30-7 after trailing 13-12 after one quarter. Key steals, layups and the outstanding inside play of senior point guard Jared DeBaca coupled by the outside shooting of soph. Josh Candelaria and junior Adam Herrera were instrumental in the 2nd quarter blowout.

The Eagles led 42-20 at the half, following a half-court shot by Herrera. They continued to build the lead to 27 points before the scrappy Bobcats mounted their desperation charge to come within 4 points midway through the 4th quarter. Bobcat Isaac Acosta sank six 3-pointers to lead the Hagerman charge and ended up with 24 points, while Juan Trevizo added 12 and Todd Barela also chipped in with 12 points for the Bobcats. Hondo senior Anthony Hernandez and sophomore Kevin Slocum provided the inside play after post Jeffrey

Sanchez left during the 1st quarter with an ankle injury.

With approximately 2 minutes to go, DeBaca and Slocum fouled out and the Eagles were able to ice the 75-66 win with excellent free-throw shooting from Josh Candelaria, who went 8 for 9 for the game. Sanchez made a brief appearance in the 4th quarter and is expected to play Friday if his injury improves. The Eagles were paced by DeBaca's 28 points with Herrers scoring 19 and Candelaria 14. The win avenged last year's come-from-behind win by the Bobcats for the District Championship at Hagerman.

Four of the Eagles made the All District Team as did three Bobcats. The District 5A coaches named coach Omar Barragan "Coach of the Year" and the Hagerman Bobcats won the Sportsmanship Trophy.

Players named to the All District team include, from Hondo: seniors Jared DeBaca and Anthony Hernandez, junior Adam Herrera, and soph. Joshua Candelaria, Jeff Sanchez made all district honorable mention; from Hagerman, Isaac Acosta, Juan Trevizo, and Todd Barela; from Lake Arthur, Lonnie Mesquita and Chad Harney, and from Mesilla Valley, Gabe Jensen.

Wins by both Hondo and Hagerman Friday night will place both teams into the State Tournament and will provide another exciting rematch of these two District 5A teams for the Region D Championship which is scheduled to be played at 5:00 p.m. at Hondo on Saturday.

Roundhouse Rumbles

the report adopted by March 18 and the bill to the governor by March 19.

Last Thursday, several mayors from Lincoln County testified in the Appropriations Committee on their bills which make money requests. Williams said he hopes the most needy of the projects on the needs list will be funded, especially Corona water system and Hondo School heating system. He said he expects maybe one project per district will be funded.

Today, about 150 newly elected school board members will be sworn in by Supreme Court Justice Patricio Serna. The board members will also be attending the school board association meeting in Santa Fe.

William's HB 579, Open Meetings Act Exemption/as amended, passed the floor last week; 63-1. It has been sent to the Senate Public Affairs Committee. The amendment requires boards of directors of public owned hospitals which are privately operated, to pass an Open meetings Act resolution annually which spells out exemptions allowed by the group.

Another bill Campos is carrying is of great interest to the counties — SB 894. The House companion bill HB 1164, is being carried by Rep. Ron Gentry (D-Belen). The bills require the state highway and transportation department to forward a percentage of the prior year's state highway department budget to the counties to maintain the roads which the state wants the counties to assume maintenance of. The bills set a funding formula per mile, estimated at $40,000 per mile based on last year's highway department budget. The concept behind the bills is if the secretary of highway and transportation department orders these state roads be turned over to the counties for maintenance, then the state better pay for it. HB 1164 is expected to go to a House floor vote today, or Friday.

Other highway issues include funding. Campos anticipates some kind of gasoline tax to come over from the House side. Tuesday, three highway financing bills which all include gasoline taxes, were heard in the House transportation committee and all three were tabled. The committee asked the three be rolled onto one committee substitute bill that will include the gasoline tax. Most favored was one sponsored by Rep. Michael Olguin (D-Socorro) which increases the gasoline tax by five cents, but raised one cent a year over five years. The bill specifies all funds from the gasoline tax be used toward bonding for highway projects.

But as the end of the session nears, many of the major issues are unresolved, and legislators are working day and night and weekends to clear as many bills as possible.

"It's unfortunate so many big issues still need work, here so close to the end of the session," Campos told this reporter. "I'm always concerned for my health and the health of my fellow legislators during these days and nights of committee hearings and floor sessions," Campos added. "It takes it's toll on individuals."

On welfare reform, Campos believes the state should not take away any welfare or Medicaid in favor of welfare and managed care reforms before there is something viable to replace them. "If we take people off the benefits then we need to assure there will be means of employment, so there won't be a double standard," Campos said. "If people are unable to find a job, what do they do? We need to make sure there are checks and balances, so we at least provide for families."

Hasta La Vista! Until next week!

CAPITAN NOTES

By MAUREEN SULLIVAN

Greetings from my old house by the side of the road to your house!!!

At 2 p.m. on March 4th I sat down to begin this contribution for this weeks column. It is now 5 a.m. on March 5th, which incidentally is my late father's birthday...and as Walter Matthau would quip, "And what's your point?"

The point is that I misplaced all the info that I had at my fingertips. I searched and searched, but to no avail. Time was slipping by and still I could not remember past a certain point what I had done with my notes. Small wonder though, as I am in the throes of re-doing my little office and I just did not realize fully just how little my office really is until I found myself smack dab in the middle of a sea of boxes sans labels. Also sans even a bit of remembrance as to where they originally came from and some of them I was amazed that they were even in my possession. They were that unfamiliar. Need I go on?

Now to the point. At five o'clock I called dear Louie Padilla at this home and asked him if he possibly had another copy of what he had so generously submitted to me on March 3rd. He did and would bring it over pronto. As it was already too late to even think about getting them mailed to Carrizozo on March 4th, I took a deep breath and relished the thought of procrastinating and putting the column off until tomorrow.

Well tomorrow just arrived, in fact it arrived at 3 a.m. but I turned over and pretended to go back to slumber land. Not a chance. The thought of not getting this written and ready for delivery when Tom comes by, and incidentally Tom does not even know of his poor ole mother's dilemma as yet, kept me from going back to dreamland.

I roused, made my bed before I was fully awake so I would not slip back in, dressed in a hurry, sort of kinda that is, stumbled (literally I might add) down the stairs and pushed the ON button for my coffee. Correction, thought I pushed ON but when I went back into the kitchen to get a nice steaming cup, the OFF button was still in place. So how was your week?

Also had a pleasant surprise which resembled a shock more than a surprise. Surprises, I can handle most of the time. Shock is hard on the equilibrium and that equilibrium hasn't been anything to brag about the last few months.

I had a telephone call from my grandson that I had not seen since he was three months old. He is now 30. I won't go into the whys or the why nots, but it was wonderful hearing from him and am looking forward to his promised visit this summer.

Perhaps that explains a bit why my office not only has shrunk in size but for the complete disarray that appears every time I glance in any direction. I began a search for photographs of David's relatives. David is my newly discovered grandson, and found notes, cards and photographs of my other grandsons that I had forgotten about, so the search has been most rewarding.

However, I am still searching for serenity and tranquility and keep wondering at what age serenity and tranquility appear? If you have any answers, I am all ears.

And so with a vote of gratitude for Louie Padilla will get on with the bit of news from our very special senior center.

Greetings from Capitan Zia Center

"Seems like the end is near, the end of Old Man Winter that is. It is spring that turns our thoughts to anticipation of warmer weather, tulips and digging in the garden. Welcome back spring!

Also a warm welcome to new participants: Nita Morris, Alasia Freeman, Rosemary Hezmall, Mary Schultz, Vernon Johnson, Edna Johnson, Colin Walker, Edna Walker, and others whose names escape me at the moment. Also a warm welcome to new participant/volunteer Bea Smith. Sometimes it's Bea's voice you hear when you call the center.

If anyone can spare an hour or two per week, the center needs volunteers to call on the home-bound elderly. If you would like to donate some of your precious time call Louie at the center.

Senior Olympics tryouts are coming up soon. Regional sports clinic and tryouts will be held in Roswell. Events include volleyball, tennis, discus, javelin, shotput, plus more, golf, team bowling, swimming are also on the tryout schedule. This tryout clinic will be on Tuesday, March 11. For more information and registration forms call the center.

Here at our center the eight ball qualifications will be on Wednesday, April 2. Adults age 50 and older are eligible to compete in these events. I am exhausted just typing this info. Any participation on my part would be D O A, otherwise known as Dead on Arrival. O.K. on with the final participation. That will be held in Albuquerque sometime in August. Plan to participate. Its healthy and a lot of fun.

Keep in mind that transportation to Dr. appointments and other medical trips are available to seniors 60 years and older. Call the center to schedule.

To the seniors who are ailing, we wish you a speedy recovery, and to the seniors who are fit and healthy, we are happy for you and hope you continue that way.

The Capitan Zia Center meal site serves a delicious, nutritious lunch at 12 noon. The service is very important to some seniors in the community. We thank you for your continued support.

We just heard from the Ritches, Wade and Lucille are spending the winter in Denver with their daughter. But they will be moving into their new home in Lincoln in a week or so. Lucille and Wade, we have missed you and we welcome you back.

And a warm welcome back also to Albert Paul. Albert was discharged from the Roswell Hospital and is now recuperating at home. That is good news to all of us and we wish you a speedy recovery.

And so Hasta the next time. And be positive and stay healthy. See you at the center soon and often, O.K.?

And so for another week, wish me luck on getting some sanity out of this chaos starting me in the face at this moment and time here in my little cubicle I call an office.

And may the Good Lord take a likin' to each and everyone of you. Sayonara and adios.

CAPITAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Treasurer Kay Strickland told the Capitan Chamber of Commerce Monday that 8,500 Capitan brochures and 5,000 Smokey Bear brochures have been ordered.

Chamber members discussed the roof situation on the chamber building. Chamber members then decided to have a work day April 19 at the second street location. Be at the chamber of commerce building at 9:00 a.m.

It is a custom of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce to give new businesses in town a potted flower. Plants were presented this week to Jay's Shop and the Farmer's County Market. Both are located on Smokey Bear Boulevard.

The chamber welcomed new member Alice Traylor, and announced there will be election of officers at the April 7 meeting.

The following was received from postmaster Mike Currin. "Once again Smokey Bear, postal workers, and third graders will have a pictorial cancellation on May 9 in the foyer at the Capitan Elementary School and would like to invite you to attend. A stamp exhibit, quilts made by this year's and previous fourth grade classes of 1993-1996 will be on display from 8:00 to 5:00.

"The cachet envelope will be the same as the one used for Smokey's 50th with a different sticker and the Georgia O'Keefe stamps. These envelopes which are in a limited number will be sold for $2.50. Two postcards drawn by this year's third graders will be sold for $100 and will have the Bugs Bunny stamp on them."

Currin is assisted by clerks Betty Joiner and Robin Armenta. The third grade teachers are Betsy Peralta and Ruby Johnson.

All Capitan Chamber of Commerce meetings are open to the public.

Enjoy bingo on Thursday nights at the 2nd Street location.

Ankle Bracelet Program

program, and will be taken to trial for a felony attempted escape.

People who might be eligible for this program are those with misdemeanors, DWI, juveniles, and some who are awaiting trial.

It was stated that it costs the county approximately $51 per day to keep an adult in the county jail and approximately $75 per day for the care of a juvenile. With this program, each wearer of the monitoring ankle bracelet could be charged between $5 and $10 per day. The initial cost per unit to the county could be approximately $1600 for the receiver unit, $600 for the transmitter, and $10 for the bracelet. The wearer of the unit would be responsible for the cost if the equipment is damaged, lost, or stolen.

The program also will require the hiring of one person to implement the program. This person will interview those eligible, check their background, home, job situation, and make other household members aware of the requirements of the program. This would then be reported back to the court to be considered in making the decision whether the person would be put on the program.

Advantages mentioned of the program are: opening up room in the jail for the people who really need to be contained; will save money; and allow eligible people to continue to work and support their family.

Disadvantages of the program that were mentioned are: some people might destroy the equipment (an example would be cutting off the ankle bracelet); the need for the wearer to have a phone at their home; and collection of the fees from users. Answers to the above disadvantages were: if equipment is destroyed that becomes another crime for the wearer and he would end up in jail with no bond, and if the person couldn't pay the daily fee it was suggested they could do community service.

Key recommended that if the commissioners want to put this program in place it should be adopted before District Court Judge Karen Parsons takes her seat.

The commissioners have asked the county attorney to have a service agreement and some more information at the next commissioners meeting, March 11.

Apply For Forestry Camp

Lincoln County youth between the ages of 13 and 18 with an interest in the outdoors have until Tuesday, April 1 to apply to the New Mexico Forestry Camp. The camp will be held June 1-6.

Forestry Camp is a five day workshop for New Mexico youth to learn how New Mexicans use, care for, and appreciate our forests. Campers learn first hand how professionals measure trees, track animals, fight fires, evaluate range conditions, study ruins, and manage natural resources. Campers are exposed to orienteeing, radio telemetry, story telling, wildlife calling, forest and fire ecology, wildlife biology, geology, recreation, law enforcement, and archaeology.

Students learn "how" to think rather than "what" to think about forest issues. Students develop the skills to take responsible action for protecting and managing New Mexico's forests.

The camp is sponsored by the Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District and the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District and co-sponsored by more than a dozen federal and state natural resource agencies and non-profit organizations with a natural sciences orientation.

The camp is located at the Rancho del Chaparral Girl Scout Camp in the Jemez Mountains near Cuba. Campers are selected through an application process to represent a cross section of New Mexicans.

The brochure/application forms have been sent to mid schools and high schools. For more information contact Sue Stearns at 648-2841 or 354-2220.

Historical Society Book

The Lincoln County Historical Society announced the recent publication of its latest book, A Stroll Thru Old Lincolntown, a collection of sketches by Walter R. Henn.

Most of the sketches were done 30 years ago and published in a portfolio called A Walking Tour of Old Lincoln Town, which has been out of print for several years.

The new publication is in a different format, with the original sketches and the addition of a few sketches not included in the original. The sketches are accompanied by copy which reflects the current status of each historic building.

The Historical Society decided to re-print the sketches in book form because, with the passage of 30 years, they are now a comprehensive historical record of how Lincoln looked at that time and an indication of how the village has changed in the intervening years.

Walter Henn and his wife Nora first moved to Lincoln in 1965. Through the years Henn has sketched or painted most of the old buildings of Lincoln County and his work can be seen in many public places in the county.

Girl Scouts

In November, Monnetta Shaw accepted the position of Service Unit Manager for Ruidoso. Monnetta has been involved with Girl Scouts for many years and served in different positions.

March 12 marks the 85th anniversary of the first meeting of the first Girl Scout troop founded by Juliette Low in Savannah, GA.

A commemorative exhibit Girl Scouts Through the Years, depicting the history of Girl Scouts USA, Zia Council and Camp Mary White will be displayed at the Historical Museum in Artesia. March 15 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. will be the open house and kick-off. The display will continue through the end of April.

Zia Girl Scout Council issues a special invitation to all alumni, current Girl Scouts and the general public to view the display. Admission is free.
