

Capitan Plans For Great Independence Day Party

by Doris Cherry

For the 43rd year, Smokey Bear will preside over the biggest party of the year in Capitan--Independence Day weekend when a parade, rodeo, fun run and music festival offer plenty for everyone to do.

The excitement begins on Thursday, July 2 when at 7 p.m. the first performance of the 43rd Smokey Bear Stampede rodeo and calf scramble begins in the Fletcher Hall Arena at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds. This year's Stampede is dedicated to the memory of Royce Washburn who contributed countless volunteer hours to the Smokey Bear Stampede. Washburn died this year from injuries received from a horse accident.

Admission to the rodeo is $5 a person. The Smokey Bear Stampede was established to finance the Lincoln County Fair held in August, and that tradition continues today. Lincoln County youth groups will have concessions at the rodeo and dance.

A dance with music by "Back to Back" begins at 9 p.m. in the exhibit hall at Lincoln County Fairgrounds. Tickets cost $5 at the door.

On Friday, July 3, Smokey Bear will be the guest of honor at Smokey Bear Day at the Races at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Racing action begins at noon.

Back at the fairgrounds in Capitan, at 1 p.m. the 6th Annual Old West Ranch Rodeo begins. The rodeo features working ranch cowboys competing in team penning, team branding, team tying, horse catching and wild cow milking events. Anyone who has never seen someone try to milk a wild cow should not miss this event held at the Fletcher Hall Arena at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds. Admission is $5 a person.

At 7 p.m. the Smokey Bear Stampede begins. Dance to "Back to Back" starting at 9 p.m.

Independence Day, Saturday, July 4 is packed with activities. Starting early at 7 a.m. is registration for the 18th Annual Smokey Bear 10K and 2 Mile Run at the Ruidoso State Bank parking lot at 100 Smokey Bear Blvd. The race begins at 8 a.m. with runners heading north to the five kilometer turnaround point on Highway 246 where water will be available. Prizes will be awarded after the finish of the 10K race. All entrants will receive a t-shirt and refreshments. Plaques will be awarded to the overall male and female in the two mile fun run and 10K races. The top three finishers in each age group will receive medals. Age groups are 10 and under, 11-18, 19-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59, 60+. Entry fee is $10. The race is sponsored by Friends of Smokey. For more information call Jean Stoddard at 257-4043.

At 10 a.m. the 43rd Smokey Bear Parade begins. This year's parade theme is Smokey and the Constitution: Protecting Our Rights and Resources. Lifelong resident Frankie Silva is Grand Mar-

COLUMNIST JAY MILLER speaks to the Lincoln County Democrats at their annual dinner in Ruidoso on Thursday. Miller, whose column appears in the Lincoln County News and 18 other publications in New Mexico, spoke about the fall elections. Other guest speakers at the dinner included Democrat candidates E. Shirley Baca for Congress and Diane Denish for Lt. Governor (at Miller's right). Among the guests at the dinner were State Senator Pete Campos and his wife Lori.

Water And Trash Rates Will Increase In Ruidoso

by Doris Cherry

Ruidoso trash and water rates will increase beginning in July.

In anticipation of the village taking over collection of residential and commercial trash in September, Ruidoso village council considered and approved an increase of trash rates for residential customers beginning in July and increase of trash rates for commercial customers beginning in September. Councilors held a special meeting on Tuesday to conduct two public hearings on the water and sewer and trash rate increases. A group of about 25 people attended.

Despite complaints from several full time and part-time residents about residential trash rates still subsidizing commercial rates even with the increase, councilors unanimously approved the $2.75 increase per residential household and $3 increase per commercial container emptied once a week.

Ruidoso Mayor Robert Donaldson and village manager Alan Briley explained that the $2.75 is needed to cover the cost of picking up yard waste and other large items at the customer's property and to continue recycling. Two dollars of the increase will go to pay for the special pick up of yard waste and large items.

Councilor Bob Sterchi, who is a member of Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA), said that customers have indicated they would pay extra for pick up of yard waste. The $2 extra charged on each of the 6,400 residential trash accounts are estimated to generate $153,600 for yard waste pick ups. The other 75 cents increase will be charged on both residential and commercial accounts to pay for recycling, which operated at a deficit of $55,000 last year. The recycling charge is estimated to generate $60,825 from residential and commercial accounts.

Carrizozo Endorses Barrel Horse Races

The Town of Carrizozo Board of Trustees held their regularly scheduled meeting June 23. Mayor Manuel Hernandez and trustees Cynthia Morales, Wesley Lindsay, Eileen Lovelace, and James Silva were all present. Several of the items covered by the trustees were review of the contract to Starwell Enterprises, Carrizozo Action Team Carrizozo golf course lake project, and adopting the final budget for fiscal year 1998-99.

Rene Odom, the director for District 5 National Barrel Horse Association, asked trustees to give an endorsement of the First Annual Billy The Kid Classic Barrel Races that will be held August 1 and 2 at the Mesa Ranch Indoor Arena on Nogal Mesa. Odom said that the National Barrel Horse Association is trying to get $5,000 in awards and she said this will bring in approximately 250 to 300 member contestants per day. These members will be directed to honor businesses to the Carrizozo and Capitan area for motels and restaurants.

Odom did not ask the trustees for any money. She said the Village of Capitan has already given their endorsement. Hernandez directed Town Clerk Carol Schlarb to write a letter of endorsement for this event.

Christina Full spoke for the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce to ask for permission to use the ramada at the Carrizozo golf course for the Fourth of July barbecue which is open to the public. Last year the event was held near the Carrizozo Country Club and when it rained people and food got wet. Hernandez told Full he could see no reason why they could not use the ramada for this year's event.

Lindsay asked if there has been a decision on whether there will be fireworks this year. Schlarb said that there are plans for fireworks and the town will know if they have been approved by the state forestry department in the next few days.

Trustees gave Schlarb permission to publish for the final hearing on the amendment to the animal ordinance concerning fees. The new animal tags are for two years (1998-1999) and the fees will change to reflect the two year period. The cost for the two year tags will be $6.00 for spayed/neutered and $10.00 for un-spayed/un-neutered.

Final action was taken to amend the ordinance concerning court automation fee to increase the court automation fee from $3.00 to $6.00.

Carrizozo Chief of Police Angelo Vega gave the police department general report.

Vega and the trustees discussed purchase of five uniform pants for each of three officers (Vega included) for a total of $450.00. During the discussion, it was agreed that Vega and his present officer (Duane Vinson) will purchase uniform pants with the remaining $111.00 clothing allowance per officer in the present budget (1997-1998). Trustees approved a motion for the purchase of five uniform pants for the new officer, yet to be hired, in the fiscal year 1998-1999 budget which goes into effect on July 1, 1998. Renting uniform shirts from American Linen, in Roswell, for $1,780, was also approved. American Linen will also maintain the uniform shirts and pants.

Hernandez said that after going through the applications for police officer the council decided to hire one applicant. Trustees gave approval of Vega hiring a new officer of his choice. Vega requested the hiring of Duane Vinson. Trustees approved a motion to hire Duane Vinson on a six-month probation period. At the end of the six months, Vega will do an evaluation on Vinson and give his recommendation on hiring Vinson permanently.

Christian Full gave the trustees a report on the Carrizozo Recreation Center. Full told the trustees that last month (May) the revenues were down; however, the center's revenues for June have exceeded last month. Full said that up to now the center has made more this

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County got a message from the state fire marshal this week: correct 10 fire code deficiencies in the jail in 30 days, or the marshal will recommend the jail be closed.

Lincoln County Commission chairman Ray Nunley told THE NEWS on Wednesday that he received a call from the New Mexico Association of Counties risk management division officer Peter Ennons on Monday afternoon about the situation with the fire marshall. Nunley said that Ennons informed him that the fire marshal's office had sent a registered letter to the county stating that the office made a second inspection of the jail, and found that the fire safety issues detected in the first inspection in January had not been corrected. Unless the 10 issues are corrected, the fire marshal's office is recommending the jail be closed within 30 days.

Nunley said he went to Santa Fe on Wednesday to meet with Ennons and the fire marshal, but Fire Marshall George Chavez was not available. Nunley said Ennons is working on a package of information about the county's progress toward building a new jail. Nunley and Ennons are to meet with Chavez next week in Santa Fe to discuss the situation.

Nunley said he believes there is a lack of communication between the county and the fire marshal's office because in some recent corre-year than it did all of last year. She said she plans to have some contests and prizes to get some activities going for the summer.

Final action had been taken at the June 9 town council meeting on increasing water, garbage, sewer and business registration fees. Trustees approved the increases, however, they needed to approve through a roll call vote. The increases were put back on the agenda for this meeting and the trustees again approved the increases, this time by a roll call vote.

A draft of a contract between the Town of Carrizozo and Starwell Enterprise, of Alto, was reviewed. At the June 9 meeting, G. S. Styartyr, from Starwell Enterprises made a presentation to the trustees for helping Carrizozo apply for grant funds. He gave the trustees a copy of a contract that his company uses to contract with the clients to research and apply for grants for projects that the clients would like to develop. At that meeting the trustees approved showing the contract to town attorney Stevens for his opinion.

Hernandez read part of a fax he received from Carrizozo Town Attorney David Stevens concerning the contract. Hernandez read two points Stevens bought up for the trustees to discuss: 1) the agreement did not define the words master grant; 2) Stevens suggested that all new grant work, other than grants prepared entirely in-house, will be directed to Starwell for their processing.

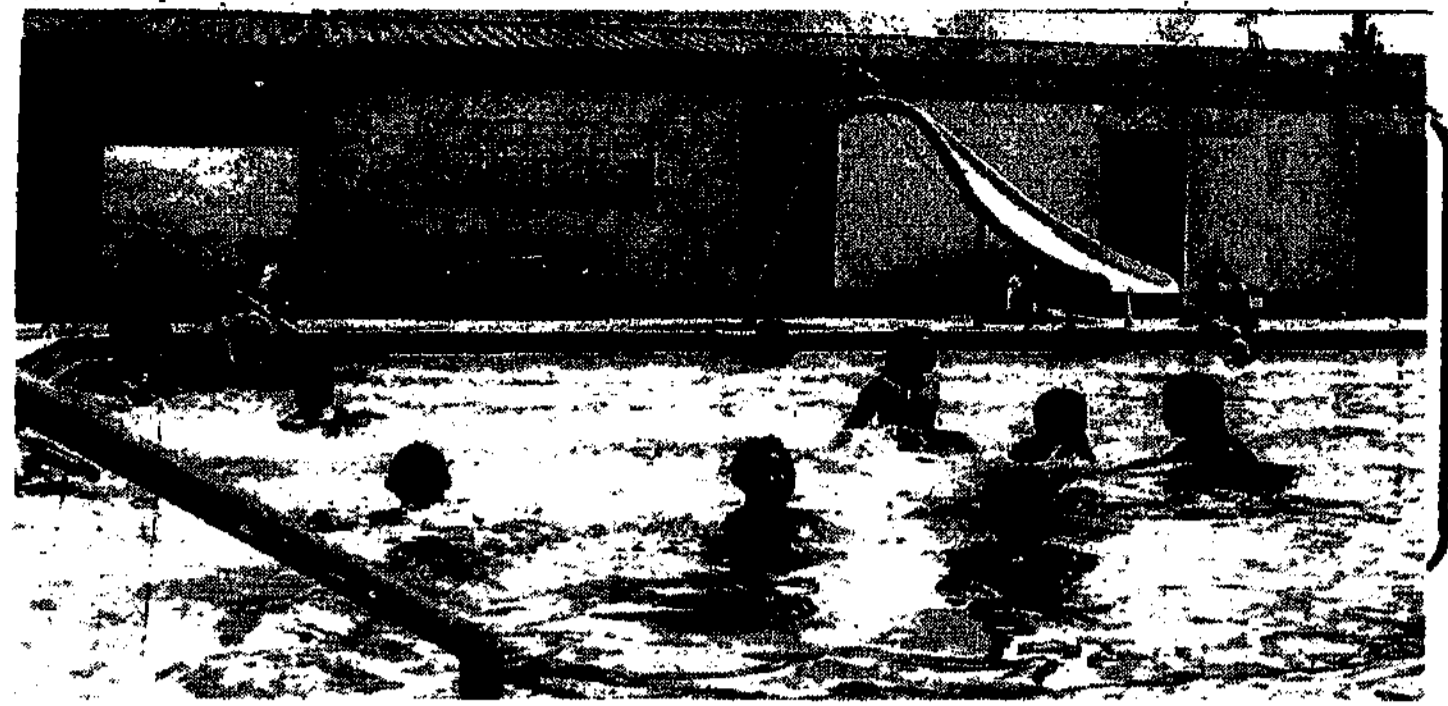

Lovelace said that she felt the town should negotiate Starwell's 20 percent fee. She said that she felt it might be a little high. Lovelace also wanted it clarified that payment to Starwell would be made three working days after the town receives the awarded funds. Lindsay said he would like the attorney to make the changes, both Stevens' and Lovelace's, and then the trustees each receive a copy to study before signing.

A motion was approved to have Stevens make both his and Lovelace's changes, send the contract back to Starwell, and then have the trustees look the contract over again.

Rene Burton, representing the Carrizozo Action Team, bought the trustees up-to-date on the street lighting on Central. She said the group has agreed to wait to start the lighting project until the paving is finished which should be no later than July 12.

Burton presented another project that the Carrizozo Action Team would like the town's approval for to see if it is possible to seal the big lake at the Carrizozo Golf Course and put water in it again. They want to get the money for this project from United States Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) funding.

At the last Carrizozo Action Team meeting, Lindsay Smythe, from the USFWS in Albuquerque, went to the golf course and met with Jim Payne and looked at the dry lake bed. Burton said Smythe was enthusiastic about sealing it and said the best way to seal it is with bentonite, a clay substance. The bentonite is expensive; however, if the team receives funding from Partners For Wildlife, a program under USFWS, they would pay for the bentonite. Burton said that Carrizozo may have to do some in-kind service, perhaps clearing of the lake or grading it.

Burton said that the group would ask the town for funds for a new pump for the well for the lake project when required. Smythe, Burton said, seemed to feel that expense could also be applied for. If the town wants to pursue this project, some of the things needed are: an agreement for Partners For Fish and Wildlife (not a contract, but a partnership arrangement) signed by the town, maps, and descriptions on size of the lake. Smythe suggested that if the town is interested to go ahead and send the application in to USFWS who will set up an account with the town if approved. Burton said the lake would enhance the golf course and make a place for wildlife.

Burton gave the trustees a copy of the application for Partners For Fish and Wildlife. She said that the application needs to be gotten in so that the town can get on the list for when funds are available, as most of the funds have been committed already, so it could be a year or more down the way. Hernandez said he could see no reason not to pursue the project. It will need to be approved by the town and signed by the mayor, Lovelace said. Schlarb said she could fill out the agreement. Lovelace made a motion to have the application approved by the town. The trustees approved the motion.

Hernandez asked Schlarb to write a letter thanking the Carrizozo Action Team for all their hard work, and that the town appreciates them, and wished they had more people like them getting involved.

Christina Full asked the trustees to approve a Carrizozo Action Team project to place a Frisbee golf course of three holes at the Carrizozo Recreation Center. Frisbee Golf is a game played all over the world by both adults and children which combines frisbee and golf. A frisbee takes the place of the golf ball and is thrown into a hole (which is a basket about four feet high) within so many throws. The closest Frisbee golf course is at the Nazarene Church in Bonito which has 18 holes.

Full said that the Carrizozo Action Team will pay for the three holes which cost $500.00 each. If the players bring their own frisbees there will be no charge. The recreation center will also have frisbees available. According to Full the idea behind this is to give people something to do. If it takes off, Full said, a full course can be put in and there is the possibility of inter-city tournaments. There is an association that handles the rules and tournaments. The course at the recreation center has been designed with a few obstacles. One of the holes is 450 feet away.

Full asked the trustees to approve $354.00 for felt (this amount includes the shipping) to refurbish three pool tables at the Carrizozo Recreation Center. She will supply the labor. She has refurbished one table already and three others need to be done. With the pool tables having new felt, she feels this will bring in more adults and children to play. Full said that the center has been getting tourists and construction workers using the facility. Trustees approved the $354.00 for the new felt.

Approval was given for Morales to attend a policy committee meeting June 27 in Albuquerque. She will attend the sessions on community and on public relations. Trustees also approved her mileage.

The final budget for fiscal year 1998-99 was adopted.

The town's uniform traffic ordinance relating to unlawful riding was reviewed. Trustees also reviewed the Roswell ordinance relating to unlawful riding. The town will issue a notice of intent to amend the ordinance at the July 14 regular meeting. This section concerns unlawful riding in a portion of a vehicle not designated or intended for the use of passengers.

During reports from the mayor and trustees, Hernandez told the trustees that he has been talking to a sewer plant professional about Carrizozo's sewer plant.

Fire Restrictions In Lincoln County

Fire danger is extreme in Lincoln County parched by continued dry hot windy weather. Fireworks are not welcome in the county and are illegal in Carrizozo, Ruidoso and the Lincoln National Forest.

Last Friday, New Mexico State Forestry Division issued fire restrictions on all non-federal, non-municipal lands, including private property. Open burning, such as burning of crop land, fields, rangeland, debris burning, slash piles, weed burning or prescribed burning, is prohibited. The State Forester may allow exceptions to the open burning restriction upon receiving and approving a written request for an exemption. Call the New Mexico State Forestry Office in Capitan at 354-2231 for more information.

Smoking is restricted to designated areas, within structures or within vehicles equipped with ashtrays. Open fires and campfires are restricted to developed campgrounds or areas designated in writing by the landowner.

Charcoal broilers, and wood and coal stoves used outside dwellings are classified as campfires and are prohibited except in areas designated in writing by the landowner or in developed campgrounds.

The State Forester will allow UL approved cooking or heating or lighting devices that use kerosene, white gas or propane as a fuel.

 Tomas Vigil, local classical guitarist, will perform Sat., June 27 at the Museum of the Horse at 6:30 p.m. The performance is sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society and the public is invited. Also performing will be violinist Pat Brimberry.

Masonic Picnic A Success
 More than 150 Lincoln County Masons, their families and friends enjoyed the 7th annual public picnic at Lincoln's center park June 13. Proceeds will be used for local college scholarships.

Lincoln County Masons consist of Carrizozo Lodge No. 41 and Ruidoso Lodge No. 73, with more than 150 members. Master of ceremonies was Tim Rich of Ruidoso. He was assisted by Herman Price of Alamogordo. The program included Lanny Maddox of Ruidoso playing the guitar and singing, Mike Shivers of Carrizozo playing the bagpipes, and Tim Rich singing.

At noon an authentic Lincoln County style opening was enjoyed when John Maxwell of Carrizozo carried in Old Glory on his trusty mount and recited A Toast to the Flag. Marshall Conover of Ruidoso led the Pledge of Allegiance. Invocation was by Delmar Sanders of Alamogordo.

Carrizozo Lodge served the ranch style brisket dinner. Ruidoso Lodge took care of the ancillary duties. Honored guest Dan F. Irick, New Mexico's Masonic Grand Master, addressed the gathering. Others attending included Masons and non Masons from Deming, Hobbs, Albuquerque, all in New Mexico and from out of state visitors were from Virginia, Illinois and California.

Winners of the Carrizozo athletic passes for the 1998-99 school year were Rusty Silva, and Adrienne, Jaelyn and Sofia Ortiz, all of Carrizozo, and Vernon Garcia of Albuquerque.

Keith Greer Wins Trophy
 Keith Greer won the trophy dash in the street stock class of stock car racing at Sertoma Speedway Friday night. This is his second year to compete in stock cars. Previously Greer had been involved in drag racing.

Josh Hammond placed fifth in the main event and Allen Fitzpatrick placed sixth in the main event, both in the street class.

Masons To Be In Smokey Parade
 Lincoln County Masons from Carrizozo Lodge #41 and Ruidoso Lodge #73 will participate in the Smokey Bear parade July 4 in Capitan. The float will feature the three fundamental tenants of Freemasonry, brotherly love, charity and morality. The float will contain Master Masons, Scottish Rite and York Rite Masons and Eastern Star Masons. They will also be serving a barbecue dinner at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds after the parade.

Rabid Skunk In Lea County

The Scientific Laboratory Division of the New Mexico Department of Health confirmed rabies in a skunk from Lea County. A 16 month old male child was bitten by the skunk and is undergoing treatment to prevent rabies. Health officials are advising people to avoid contact, no matter how insignificant, with wild animals and to vaccinate their dogs and cats against rabies. People who come into contact with a potentially rabid animal should report it immediately to the local health office and animal control. This includes pet dogs and cats as well as stray animals, and is especially true for contact with bats and skunks, which comprise the highest number of reported cases of animal rabies in New Mexico.

Using Scare Tactics

By Ruth Hammond

Have you ever noticed how some people use scare tactics to get what they want? That appears to be what is happening with the Lincoln County Detention Center situation. It seems the county is to receive a registered letter from the state fire marshal stating that the county has 30 days to correct 10 fire code deficiencies in the jail or the state fire marshal will recommend the jail be closed.

What we don't understand is why some of the deficiencies have not been corrected. Apparently the state fire marshal gave a list of the deficiencies to the county after an inspection in January. It seems five months is enough time to make some of the corrections. The main thing we want to know is if the county has even started correcting any of the deficiencies. Even though the Lincoln County Commissioners are determined to build a new jail and courthouse facility, probably in the Ruidoso area, the present jail needs to be brought up to code. The only alternative is to close the detention center and send the prisoners to another jail at a considerable cost.

Some of the county commissioners are insisting a new jail be built immediately even though the majority of the people are not in favor of a different location. It will take time for the architect to prepare a study on the location, design, construction and financing for a new jail. And it will take time to determine what funding is available for building a new jail. It will also take time for the county to obtain the property, prepare bid specifications, advertise for bids, and award the bid for construction. All these things must be completed before actual construction can begin and there is no way a new county jail can be built immediately. The process might take less time if some of the county commissioners already know where they plan to build the new jail. Perhaps some of the county commissioners have made their decisions behind closed doors.

It makes us wonder if some of the county commissioners have decided the only way they can convince the public there is a need to build a new jail immediately is to use scare tactics. There is the scare that the present jail might be closed by the state fire marshal and prisoners would have to be sent to another facility, and cost the county lots of money. There is the scare that the prisoners are not safe in the present jail and could sue the county, again at a cost to the county of lots of money. There is the scare that the people working in the detention center at this time might lose their jobs suddenly if the fire marshal decides to recommend closing the jail.

Scare tactics can be used to get people to agree to do things they would never consider otherwise. Scare tactics can be as simple as using misleading words or as complicated as devious schemes. One example of scare tactics is when the jail committee met and there was much talk about the need for a juvenile facility instead of concentrating on the issue of the Lincoln County Detention Center. Another example of scare tactics is the emphasis on the possibility of workers losing their jobs suddenly, even though some of the county commissioners seem unconcerned that it will be a hardship on the workers if they have to drive 45 or 50 miles to their jobs when a new jail is built in the Ruidoso area. These scare tactics have been used and the public should demand answers instead of being coerced into agreeing to what some commissioners want.

One thing is certain, there won't be any scare tactics when the Smokey Bear Stampede activities are held next week in Capitan and at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds. There will be rodeos, fun runs, music, horses, and the parade complete with bicycle riders.

Jail issues are scare tactics

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE: "Richardson Tapped for Energy," the Albuquerque Journal headline proclaimed, referring to his nomination by Pres. Bill Clinton to head the federal Energy Department.

But that wasn't what I was thinking — and it may not have been what the president was thinking when he lauded Richardson for his experience, energy and tenacity, saying when he thinks of Richardson the one word that comes to mind is energy.

The 50-year-old Richardson's boundless energy is well-known to New Mexicans. On his many trips back to the state as a member of Congress, Richardson went from early morning to late night throughout his sprawling district — and occasionally strayed into the districts of his Republican colleagues.

Richardson's energy also was known to people at the United Nations and the State Department as he shuttled between Security Council and General Assembly meetings in New York and meetings at the White House and his State Department office in Washington, sometimes making two round trips a day. The day before Richardson's early-morning appointment ceremony, the ambassador took a 24-hour trip to Rome for a meeting.

The boundless energy was a necessary part of Richardson's ambassadorial duties, but maybe the president wanted to apply it to solving problems at the Energy Department, which is known for a troubled past. Clinton's first Energy secretary, Hazel O'Leary was refreshingly candid with reporters but often was in trouble.

Frederico Pena seemed more of a caretaker during his stint at the Energy helm. Richardson, with his diplomatic and problem-solving skills, could be an excellent choice for straightening out the controversial agency.

Much has been made of Richardson being more suited to the Energy job and of his unhappiness with his United Nations post because of restrictions placed on him by the White House and by his boss, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright, an impression that Richardson strongly denies, calling it the "best job in government."

It must be remembered that Richardson was an international child, born of a Boston-banker father and a mother who lived in Mexico City. He grew up in Mexico, went to finishing school in the United States and received bachelor's and master's degrees in international diplomacy from the prestigious Tufts University. Before coming to New Mexico, he worked in Washington for the State Department and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But Richardson is well-suited for the Energy post also. He was a member of the House Energy and Commerce Committee and represented a state with two of the nation's three national laboratories and the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant. His well-known peace-making skills could help speed WIPP through its final regulatory and legal hoops and his diplomatic credentials may help in dealing with Russia on nuclear proliferation and the sensitive diplomatic squabbles surrounding Caspian Sea oil development.

Every news report on Richardson's appointment has included comments about its positive effect on his gubernatorial and vice presidential ambitions so we don't need to go into that. A major reason for his selection may have been that the president needed someone at the Energy Department who understands the issues and can guide it through difficult times. A suitable successor was available to take over Richardson's U.N. post in Richard Holbrooke, the architect of the Bosnian peace accords who finished second to Richardson a year and a half ago.

Richardson says he looks forward to dealing with New Mexicans and New Mexico issues again. He will be welcomed with open arms. Officials at the national labs and at WIPP issued rosy statements. New Mexico's oil and gas representatives said it is good to have someone who understands their problems. And the environmental community, although realizing Richardson will not try to stop WIPP or reduce the labs' roles, knows he will assist on making them safe.

Fire Restrictions In County

Fire restrictions remain in place in the Lincoln National Forest. No campfires, charcoal fires or wood or coal stoves are allowed anywhere in the Lincoln National Forest. Possession or use of fireworks is illegal in the National Forests.

Smoking is allowed in Lincoln National Forest only in a building or vehicle equipped with an ashtray. As with the state, Lincoln National Forest allows the use of UL approved kerosene, gas or propane stoves, heaters and lanterns. In Ruidoso, fireworks are illegal by village ordinance, and no open fires are allowed. In Carrizozo fireworks are illegal by town ordinance.

In Capitan and areas of the county, fireworks are very discouraged because of the extreme fire danger, and fire chiefs have ordered no open burning because of the fire danger.

Lincoln County Commission by resolution imposed restrictions on all open burning for all county areas, except for commercial burning facilities. Cibola National Forest, which includes the Red Cloud Campground area in the Gallinas Mountains near Corona, imposed fire restrictions as of Wednesday, June 24. Use of fire, campfire and stove fire is limited to developed campgrounds with picnic grills on all lands in the Cibola National Forest. Smoking is allowed at developed sites, in buildings and cars. Gas stoves or lanterns are allowed in areas outside of developed sites and picnic areas.

Motorists need to be careful in parking vehicles with catalytic converters in tall grasses or weeds because the converters can start a fire in the dry materials.

Lincoln County and its forests have received about a half inch of rain since April, which quickly evaporated with high winds and hot temperatures.

Fire restrictions will remain in place until adequate precipitation eases the fire danger.

LETTERS to the editor

EDITOR: I recently received an urgent communication from the U.S. Humane Society, an organization of which I am a member, requesting my help in alerting the public to the connection between animal cruelty and violence against people.

This communication was prompted by the recent tragic event in Portland, Oregon, where a teenage boy walked into a crowded high school cafeteria, armed with three firearms, opened fire and killed two students and wounded 22 others. Hours before he had also murdered his parents.

It has since been learned from his classmates that prior to this tragedy he had boasted of murdering his cat and blowing up a cow. This is only one of a growing number of high-profile cases across the country of violence by children and teens against classmates and/or parents.

I first learned of the connection between animal cruelty and violence against people over 40 years ago in my psychology 101 class (psychology is the study of human behavior). Yet animal abuse is still considered a minor crime. It is time for the general public and especially educators, judges, prosecutors, law enforcement officers, legislators, etc. to be aware (if they aren't already) that children who abuse animals are deeply troubled "time bombs" who can just as easily turn their anger and violence against people.

Those of you who wish to learn more on this subject should contact your local humane society or the U.S.H.S.

shall. Parade categories includes antique or classic vehicles, carts or buggies, equestrian, fire departments, floats, pedestrians, tractors, best dressed cowboy and best dressed cowgirl, and Smokey's bicycle brigade for children under 8. This year the parade is sponsored by Friends of Smokey. A traveling trophy will be awarded to the entry best representing the parade theme. All entrants must be in line on Highway 48 south of Forest Ave. by 8:50 a.m. to be judged. Deadline for entries is June 30. Entry forms are available at village hall and Smokey Bear Historical Park.

Just after the parade, at 11:30 a.m. the 2nd annual Music Festival begins one block north of the Fairgrounds on Highway 48. No admission is charged for the festival which features music by Lou Ann Ellison and Cold Shot, The Usual Suspects, Catch-22, Jam Sandwich, Bone Daddies, Servant Heart, Kiko, Marcella, Leta Doyle, Kerry Allen, Elliot Topper, Tad Osborn, Sue and Joe Martines, Paul Adamian, Richard Erhard, Michael Byars, Gary Meyer, Agatha Long and Others. Music goes until 7 p.m. The festival will be held also on Sunday, beginning at 11 a.m. with an invitation for musicians to participate. For information call Virginia Watson Jones at 354-2316.

Also at 11:30 a.m. the Masonic Lodge of Lincoln County starts selling barbecue at the Fairgrounds. The meal is $5 a plate.

At 1 p.m. is the Old West Ranch Rodeo at Fletcher Hall arena at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds.

Smokey Bear Stampede begins at 7 p.m. with the crowning of the new Lincoln County Fair Queen. Also that night, a buckle will be presented to Royce Washburn's family, in his memory. Again at 9 p.m. the dance with Back to Back will be held in the exhibition hall.

While fireworks are not welcome in Capitan on July 4, Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department is holding a public fireworks display at the Carrizozo Golf Course, beginning at about 8:30 p.m. or dark. There is no admission to the display but donations will be accepted.

The Spencer Theater for the Performing Arts on Airport Road in Alto may also have a fireworks display, if dry conditions are relieved by rain before July 4.

Weekend activities continue on Sunday, July 5. At 7:30 to 9 a.m. Cowboy Church and Gospel singing will be held at Fletcher Hall arena at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds.

At 9 to 11 a.m. Cindy and Wes Smith are presenting a free Cutting Horse exhibition in Fletcher Hall arena at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds.

The Music festival begins again at 11:30 a.m. and lasts until 7 p.m. one block north of the Lincoln County Fairgrounds.

At noon, a sanctioned senior steer roping begins at the fairgrounds with a $5 per person admission, there will be free admission for senior citizens presenting the valuable coupon in this issue of THE NEWS.

The weekend's activities wind down with the final performance of the 43rd Smokey Bear Stampede that begins at 7 p.m. There will be no dance on July 5.

So shine up those boots, put on that hat and grab an umbrella and sun shade for Smokey Bear's biggest party of the year in Capitan July 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Family Crisis Center Offers Help For Victims

by Doris Cherry

The Family Crisis Center was organized about 12 years ago by several Lincoln County health professionals and other volunteers who wanted to help victims of domestic violence.

But the group works with a limited budget, and has no building or shelter facility of its own. Instead, the group provides victims and their families temporary shelter at local motels, and provides emotional support and advocacy.

"The Family Crisis Center is a stopgap for victims," Dr. Birgit LaMothe told THE NEWS.

"We are doing everything we can to give victims (of domestic violence) a break with our limited budget," she added.

But presently nothing is being done for the perpetrators of domestic violence. Dr. LaMothe said there is concern among the volunteers with the Family Crisis Center that no one is doing anything for the perpetrators to help them with their domestic violence problems.

Dr. D.R. Blanks has requested the Lincoln County Commission give financial support in "seed money" to a proposed intervention center for persons with alcohol, drug and domestic violence problems.

"Dr. Blanks' proposal is a likely project to fill that need," Dr. LaMothe added.

At the June 16 special Lincoln County Commission meeting, Dr. LaMothe told commissioners that the Family Crisis Center group would like to see an entity to deal with offenders. "The women get scared when their men go jail," she said.

Presently Family Crisis Center is not involved with Dr. Blanks' proposal. "We know what needs to be done for the victims, not the perpetrators," Dr. LaMothe told THE NEWS.

Any victim of domestic violence or abuse can call the Family Crisis Center by calling Ruidoso Police at 257-7366 and asking for the center. The caller will be immediately connected to a Family Crisis Center volunteer who will talk to the victim. Volunteers never go to the victim's home, rather volunteers meet the victims at the hospital emergency room, police department or other neutral and public place. Volunteers also arrange for temporary shelter for the victims at local motels that have agreed to discount the cost of the rooms.

Dr. LaMothe has had a victim's support group for 12 years. The group meets every Monday from noon to 1 p.m. at Dr. LaMothe's office at 1401 Mechem Drive. The group is sponsored by the Family Crisis Center and individuals.

For more information about the Family Crisis Center, or to volunteer call Ruidoso Police Department.

Nine Percent Raise For Carrizozo School Staff

by Doris Cherry

Carrizozo Board of Education approved its 1998-99 tentative budget that includes a nine percent salary increase for all employees during its meeting on June 16.

The $2,498,203 total budget reflects the nine percent salary increase that was mandated by the state legislature this year. The budget was based on a projected enrollment of 222 students for whom the state will provide $1,333,065. Other operational revenue comes from cash carryover from this school year for a total of $1,426,886. Added to the operational revenues are funds from federal and state grants, bond money, food service and athletic gate receipts for the grand total budget of $2.49 million.

On the spending side in operational salaries make up the largest expenditure: for the 19 full time teachers, the district budgeted $803,712 in salaries and benefits that includes the nine percent raise; for the contract support staff of diagnosticians and occupation and speech therapists and psychologists and supplies and materials for their programs the district budgeted $196,677.

Administration, that includes the nine percent raise in salaries and benefits for the superintendent and administrative secretary, and travel and registrations expenses for the board of education, was budgeted $123,199. The business office with salary for one employee and supplies was budgeted $38,649.

Operation of the physical plant will cost $208,771 for the three full time custodians, property insurance, utilities, water and sewer, telephone, maintenance and repair of furniture, buildings and grounds, vehicles and buses.

Food service (cafeteria) will get $6,000 from operational for purchase of food. The cafeteria also gets funding from federal and state, plus fees.

Athletics is budgeted $30,630 for athletic salaries and benefits, contract services, $2,000 for student travel.

Non-instructional student support (music, student council and other non-athletic programs) was budgeted $3,742 for salaries and benefits, $750 employee travel and $900 student travel.

An emergency reserve of $19,306 brings the total operational expenditure budget to $1,426,886.

Non operational expenditures include: pupil transportation of $175,671 for bus driver salaries and benefits, driver substitutes, contractor payments, insurance, rents and leases and training.

The district budgeted $14,893 for instructional materials to bring the grand total general fund expenditures to $1,617,250 with 35 full time staff.

Expenditures in the special revenue funds include $74,956 for food service salaries and benefits, $37,039 for food, $2,800 for non-food supplies, training; $7,013 for athletic contract services, supplies and another $1,000 for student travel ($3,000 total budgeted for student athletic travel next school year.)

Federal flow through grants of $136,235 will be used for three and a half employees, supplies and materials, etc.

Capital projects were budgeted a total of $460,786 with $265,730 from the special bond building fund; $50,000 from the special capital outlay funds from the state to be used on capital projects (building, maintenance or purchase of equipment or furniture); $800 to the county for collecting the SB-9 money; $25,000 from SB-9 money for buildings and grounds, $77,000 of SB-9 for capital outlay.

The last budgeted expenditures are bond payments of $199,244 for a grand total in expenditures of $2,498,203 for 35 total employees, and a projected enrollment of 222.

State Department of Education made only very minor changes to the tentative budget the district submitted. The budget, the school board approved on June 16 was the adjusted version. The final 1998-99 budget will not be approved until after the 40th day of school. The money the school actually receives from the state will depend on the enrollment on the 40th day. Also audited ending cash reserves from the 1997-98 school year will be known at that time.

D'Aun-Willoughby will audit the district's books for the next three years as the board approved a three year contract with the accountant. Willoughby's audit proposal was rated highest of proposals received based on criteria from the state auditor.

Two of the employees budgeted for next school year will not be returning. The board accepted the resignation from teacher/coach Julian Romero and resignation from custodian Willie Archuleta.

Some of the expenditures that will be funded with bond money include upgrades of heating and cooling and new fire alarm systems. Cliff Spohn from Allstate Mechanical, Inc. presented proposals for heating and cooling in the administration building, old and new gyms, boys and girls locker rooms in the new gym; state mandated fire protection in the custodial closets; new fire alarm system in the new gym complex and shop areas, Clegg Hall, cafeteria, high school, Manire Building and elementary.

The board had some concerns about the high cost of the fire alarm system. But Spohn said the fire alarm system will have to be replaced throughout the school because he could not modify the existing old system. "I propose a system that meets or exceeds the Life Safety Code," Spohn said. He said it would be cheaper to do all the buildings at the same time, but he proposed a phased program that would show the state fire marshal that the district has a plan to improve its system and that would relieve the high cost each year. However a phased program could raise the total cost about five to eight percent.

School board president Steve Harkey wanted to complete the fire system now, instead of over three years, but outgoing superintendent Paula Papponi said the district could invest the bond money to have more to use later. As for the janitorial closets, the state requires them to be fire-proofed with sprinklers, so plumbing will have to be installed to the seven janitorial closets. Papponi said the district will know late this summer if it will receive any additional capital outlay funds from the state to help pay for replacing the fire alarm system.

Ruidoso Water, Trash Rates

cerned about the disparity of commercial to residential costs. Briley said commercial trash accounts for 60 percent of the waste stream; yet commercial accounts are paying only 40 percent of total cost for trash pick ups.

Donaldson said the intent is to continue to increase commercial rates, after a detailed study is made of the commercial waste stream to determine the tonnage. While Donaldson was not advocating a "pay as you go" method of charging for the actual weight of the commercial trash, he did advocate increasing the commercial rates to stop the residential subsidization.

Commercial trash is not all alike. Donaldson said pizza restaurants produce the most trash, while a small office like his produces maybe two bags a week. "We want to make sure they pay their fair share," Donaldson said about the commercial accounts. "In the end we would like the commercial accounts to support themselves."

Briley said Ruidoso's commercial rates are low compared to other communities. Commercial rates vary from a high of $82 a month in Belen to $64 a month in Grants. Ruidoso currently charges $19 a month for a once a week pick up, but the new rate will be $22 a month per container for a once a week pick up.

Part time resident Bill Denny said the village was "going at it backwards" and needed to raise commercial rates to cover at least half the cost. "I can't see residents subsidizing commercial accounts," Denny said.

Donaldson said to make it a 50-50 ratio between residential and commercial the council would have to increase rates to $28 minimum for commercial accounts. "I'm not prepared to do that today," Donaldson said. "But if a study shows that is needed, I will consider it as I will have information to back up the rate increase."

Resident Arthur Miller said charging commercial accounts by weight would open a can of worms. But Donaldson said that was not the intent, rather to conduct a study to determine what categories of businesses produce the most trash then charge accordingly. He said it was not fair for small businesses that produce small amounts of trash to be charged the same as large grocery stores.

Sterchi said that residents will see a "few bumps in the road" in the first year after assuming trash collection. But after the transition period, Sterchi thinks that everyone will be pleased and proud of the village again and not have the litter like now.

Ruidoso made the decision to pull out of the collection portion of LCSWA because of complaints of trash not being picked up, and because LCSWA would not provide special pick ups of yard waste and large items from residences. After soliciting proposals from private companies for collection of trash, councilors decided the village will do the residential and commercial trash collection.

However, the transition will not happen until September. Until then LCSWA will continue to pick up trash and to bill commercial customers in Ruidoso. Residential customers are billed by the village.

In order to create a start up fund for the village solid waste department, councilors agreed to begin the residential rate increase of $2.75 a month in July. Briley explained that the increase will generate about $17,000 by September. The money will be spent to hire a supervisor in mid-August who will establish routes and procedures and help hire 12 employees so it will be a fully functional department by September 1.

Commercial rates will not go up until September when the village takes over trash collection from Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

Water rates will go up in July also, the first time since 1983. And large volume users (more than 350,000 gallons a month) will find drastically higher rates, intended to force them to conserve water, or seek some other water source.

The many years of low water rates in Ruidoso barely paid for the cost of operation of the water department, leaving little or none for improvements. "The drought of 1996 opened our eyes," said Briley. "We need millions of dollars to fix the water system."

Without the rate increase, the village has no money to do improvements. The village has indebted itself at $1 million a year until year 2003 and cannot bond itself any more. "We're playing catchup now," Briley said. But even with the water system improvements approved by voters in 1996, the village still has 22 miles of two inch lines leaving many neighborhoods without adequate water pressure for fire protection. Also in 1996 voters turned down a proposal to allow the village to impose a supplemental gross receipt tax to pay for more water improvements. That would have raised an estimated $1.6 million a year for water improvements.

"It will take 40 years to replace all the two inch lines in the village, by then the old four and six inch lines will need replaced," Briley said.

Donaldson said the village needs $1 million a year for the next 10 years to catch up with capital improvements needs in the water department.

During discussion about the commodity charges for water used over the minimum amount of 4,000 gallons month, councilors agreed to impose larger charges on customers using more than 45,000 gallons a month. Currently the village produces 5.5 million gallons of treated water a day.

Donaldson cited an example of one residential customer who was using one million gallons of water a month. "That's obscene," Donaldson said. "Such customers should be paying more." Donaldson recommended commodity rates that are four to five times more for use of more than 100,000 gallons a month. "If someone waters that much they should drill a well," Donaldson said. "We are telling them we want them off the system."

A resident thought that residents should be encouraged to water to create a more pleasing atmosphere for the tourism industry and he also was concerned that commercial customers were not being charged higher commodity rates than residential customers. But Donaldson said the intent of the high commodity rates is to curb excessive use of water by residents. The new commodity rates charge residential customers $5 per 1,000 gallons for water usage in excess of 35,000 gallons but less than 55,000 gallons; $6 per 1,000 gallons on water used from 55,000 to 75,000 gallons; $9.75 per 1,000 gallons for water used in 75,000 to 100,000 gallons; $10.50 per 1,000 gallons for water use of 100,000 to 125,000 gallons; $14 for 125,000 to 150,000 gallons and $18 per 1,000 gallons for water use in excess of 150,000 gallons.

Briley said that commercial customers use substantially less water than residences. Basic commercial rates are higher than residential rates, but commercial rates do not have the high commodity charges.

Donaldson said the commercial customers such as car washes use about 35,000 gallons a month or about 64 gallons per car. Motels and laundries use larger amounts of water. He said it is important from an economic standpoint to not charge commercial customers high commodity rates. Resident Ross Dingman suggested motels and hotels be encouraged to use low flow water fixtures and lobby guests to not use excessive water. A motel owner said his business does request guests to use less water and he has installed low flow fixtures.

Others questioned if the village could limit businesses that treat and sell water outside the community.

Sterchi suggested amending the ordinance to charge commercial accounts that use more than 500,000 gallons a month an additional $1,000 a month. But Donaldson wanted to wait until the village could do a study on water use.

"In a good situation we want to sell water," Donaldson said. "In phase 4 or 5 (the most extreme phase of the water contingency plan) the village should charge double or triple for those using more than 300,000 gallons a month."

Bill Smith, a 19 year resident, objected to the 31 percent increase, especially for people on fixed incomes.

Donaldson said the increase was needed because in the past 20 years the bond issues passed by voters provided money to increase the capacity of water in the village, not to fix lines. "We should have done both," Donaldson said. "It will take a long time to improve water transportation, because we ignored it for a long time."

Nine Percent Raise

will get a refrigerated air conditioning/heat pump unit to replace the noisy evaporative coolers now on the building. Spohn twice had to ask the board to speak up because he could not hear over the noise from the evaporative cooler in the board conference room.

Heating in the locker rooms will be forced air, because of the cost of radiant heating. The board accepted the proposals and work will begin this summer.

Each member of the class of 1998 will get $24.60. The board approved a request from the class to evenly disperse all remaining student funds.

In other business, the board:

-Approved changes to the school policy concerning class rank to reflect the changes from six to nine class periods authorized at the beginning of the school year.

-Approved changes in the transportation policy to conform to state changes.

-Met in closed session to discuss personnel and personally identifiable information regarding a student.

-Approved budget transfers to pay for reappraisal fees, inspection for asbestos, and to pay for the professional services for the bond issue.

CORONA NEWS

What a week this was! Crown CowBelles will meet at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, July 2 at the Corona senior center. Wanda Duke and Lanita Rasak will present a program on Early American Quilts. Do remember the mid-year conference to be held July 28 and 29 in Ruidoso.

Dorothy Kerr is about to wind up the European tour of three weeks that she is making with some family members.

Naida and Al Clouse and Norma and Pete Cooper were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony fifty years ago in the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Albuquerque. Mr. Clouse retired from the State Police, and Mr. Cooper from the US Armed Forces. Both couples returned to the area. Clouses to Moriarty, Coopers to Stanley.

Saturday evening their children honored them with a reception at Moriarty Community Center. There was a sitdown dinner followed later by cake cutting and punch and a dance. Attending from Corona were Steve and Mollie Mulkey and children, Lee and Patay Mulkey, and Byron and Cathy Yancey.

Joseph Erramouspe brought Mrs. Erramouspe and baby, Haleigh Marie home from the hospital Friday. Mrs. Tony Gable came home with the family.

Connie and David Gay and their three children are moving to Wyoming about July 1st. Mr. Gay has been with the NMSU Ranch and Mrs. Gay taught business at CHS.

The McGuires with their two children have returned to their former home in Montana, and the Felix Noriegas have moved to Chicago.

Russell Lueras was here from Fort Sill, OK and Tom Perkins here with his truck for Father's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bryan and Marilee spent three days in Lakeside, AZ at a Rovey mini family reunion. Mrs. Bryan said that this was a trial run for about twenty. Her father and his twin brother are 86. More generations will be invited next year for a total of 50 or 60 Marilee's sopapillas were well received, with meat sauce for the entre and with honey for dessert.

Cammie and Billie Davis and two sons were here for the wedding of Cammie's brother, Dale McConnell and Margaret Holleyman on Saturday evening.

Sherill Bradford of El Paso is home and recuperating from hip surgery Wednesday. Geraldine and Rand Perkins were with the Bradfords on Wednesday and part of Thursday.

Justin Washburn came home Sunday after about two weeks on the rodeo circuit. It rained everywhere except in New Mexico; as much as 10 hours at a time, Nebraska, Canada, and back through California. He won first in Livermore, CA, second in Pleasantville, Utah, and Silver City.

Roxanne Erramouspe was honored by family and friends with a baby shower on Sunday, June 7 at the Corona Senior Citizens Hall.

Hostesses for the shower were Roanne Lightfoot, Sandra Alford, Trish Cox, Crystal Bell, Edie Porter, Sabra Davidson, and Alana Brandenberger. The hall was decorated with pink and white paper streamers and balloons. The refreshment table was covered with a white tablecloth, holding silver trays of peanuts and homemade pink and green mints. The hostesses served a strawberry flavored sheet cake that had been decorated in a baby girl novelty motif. Fruit, sherbert punch was served from a silver punch bowl that was surrounded by a silk garland of pink sweetheart roses and greenery. The hostesses gave Roxanne a baby novelty silk corsage and presented her with a gift of a Graco travel play pen.

Special family guests were Roxanne's mother-in-law Johnnie Erramouspe and sister-in-law Sherry Lueras from Corona, Roxanne's mother Fran Gabel from Tucumcari, her sister Toni Nelson, niece Brittany and nephew Braden from Hart, TX. Other guests from out of town were friends Ann Ferguson from Carrizozo and Mary Jane Cooper from Tinnie. The shower was enjoyed by over 40 local and out of town guests. Roxanne and her husband Joseph Erramouspe received many beautiful and practical gifts for their beautiful new baby girl that has been named "Haleigh Marie".

Mrs. Helen Toland and her friend, Margie Williams of Portales stopped overnight in the Toland cabin at Cedarvale.

The entire Corona community was shocked and grieved with the sudden death of Mike Alirez Tuesday afternoon. Mike was a lifelong Corona resident, the second son of Mollie and Librado Alirez. He worked for a time for El Paso Natural Gas and for the State Hwy. Dept., before starting with the Village about 30 years ago. He often worked day and night. He would do everything possible for a friend. He leaves big shoes that will be mighty hard to fill.
Miguel, adios amigo!
