

Capitan School Board Wants Policy To Control Enrollment

by Doris Cherry

Capitan Board of Education wants a policy that lets the board control who will be allowed to enroll in their schools.

This year, the state legislature approved, and the governor signed into law, the Open Enrollment Act. The act requires that school districts allow any student into their schools, regardless where that student lives.

Faced with a burgeoning student population, Capitan school board realized they needed a policy that establishes maximum classroom enrollment, creates a priority of enrollment, and provides for a waiting list, and transportation issues—in other words gives local control over who is allowed in the school. "The state can't dictate if we set our own policy," said Capitan school board member Jack King at the board's regular July 14 meeting. "We can set classroom size to the state maximum or lower." King helped work on the draft enrollment policy.

King said the board can set the class size according to what the community wants, and according to the law. School superintendent Diana Billingsley said the community always supported the small class size. "But this new act will force us to have a big class size, unless we limit it."

The proposed policy sets maximum enrollment in kindergarten classes at 14 students, Grades 1-3 at 20 students, Grades 4-5 at 24 students, grades 6-12 English at 25 students and other subjects in grades 9-12 at 30.

Billingsley said the reason for the 25 maximum students in English classes is to help teachers more who say they cannot keep up with grading more than 25 students' papers, and to help students with their English skills. Billingsley said Capitan students are testing very low in writing skills. Also next year, at the high school, teachers will be required to have students answer some test questions with short answers, instead of the multiple choice question tests that can be graded by computer, popular with the high school teachers. High school competency exams show that Capitan students lacked in grammar skills.

School board president Beverly Calaway was concerned of a possible challenge to the maximum class size rule. Billingsley said she would send the proposed draft to the school's attorney for review.

Billingsley said the Act is the only one of Governor Gary Johnson's 11 proposed educational reforms to pass the legislature. The act came about after a parent, whose child was refused enrollment in a school that was out of district, went to the governor.

In the proposed Capitan policy, it establishes a first, second and third priority in enrolling students. First priority is for students who live

County Commission Holds Jail Hearing And Other Business Tomorrow, July 24

Lincoln County Commissioners will meet at 6:30 p.m. Friday, July 24, in their chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse.

The original intent of the special meeting was to hold a public hearing on proposed jail locations. That will be the next to the last item to be considered at the special meeting.

Two resolutions, the first for the final budget adjustment to the Lincoln County budget to close out fiscal year 1997-98, the second adopting the final 1998-99 fiscal year budget for Lincoln County as reviewed and/or changed by the state Department of Finance and Authority, the DFA.

After the resolutions commissioners are scheduled to discuss and possibly take action on request for proposals 98-99-001, to manage the Lincoln County Glencoe Rural Events Center. At the July 14 regular meeting held in Ruidoso, the commission authorized chairman Ray Nunley and commissioner Monroy Montes to negotiate with the Museum of the Horse for the management of the Glencoe Rural Events Center and report back to the commission at the special meeting.

The final open to public discussion item in the meeting is the public hearing to discuss the location of the new Lincoln County Detention Center.

An executive session ends the meeting as commissioners close the doors to the public in order to discuss personnel, threatened and/or pending litigation, acquisition and/or disposal of real property.

Another public hearing on the jail location is set to be held on July 31, in Ruidoso.

Carrizozo has lobbied the county commission heavily offering free land, water and sewer at the Industrial Park to build the new facility there. Carrizozo Mayor Manuel Hernandez urged everyone interested in keeping the jail in Carrizozo to attend the public hearings.

COUNTY RETIREES Wayland Hill (right) and Russell Beckley accept plaques of appreciation for their years of service to the Lincoln County Detention Center. Hill, who took a medical retirement, was administrator of the jail facility for a number of years before he suffered a stroke in November 1997. Beckley also worked in the jail and was assistant administrator after Hill's stroke. Hill and Beckley were honored during a pot luck luncheon held at the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.

County Responds To Fire Marshall's Letter

Lincoln County has responded to a letter from the state fire marshal's office received on June 25 that ordered the county to do something about the fire violations in the jail or close it within 30 days. During the July 14 Lincoln County Commission meeting held in Ruidoso Village Hall, commission chairman Ray Nunley said he and commissioner Rex Wilson traveled to Santa Fe and visited with state fire marshal George Chavez about the significant life safety issues found in the jail during an on-site inspection in February 1998. The inspection found 18 different areas in which the facility does not meet the minimum code requirements in design and capabilities to protect inmates and outside public. Also the report indicated the county facility cannot be renovated to comply with the Life Safety Code on egress, fire barrier and fire compartmentation, smoke barrier and smoke compartmentation and fire suppression capabilities.

Nunley said they asked for some latitude from the fire marshal because of the county's efforts and plan toward a new jail. He said some things can be done to alleviate the fire safety issues in the jail—remove the wood cabinets in the kitchen, conduct hourly fire watches, revise the emergency exit plan, house no inmate with mental or physical disabilities, no electrical appliances in the cells, survey and eliminate all ignition sources and have three guards on duty at all times. "My major concern is the three on staff at all times, that's a $100,000 pop for three more," Nunley said.

New Ruidoso Council Member Is Sworn In

by Doris Cherry

Ruidoso Village Council got a new member.

At the beginning of the regular July 14 Ruidoso Village council meeting, Mayor Robert Donaldson appointed Linda Flack to fill the vacancy on the council. Her appointment was unanimously approved by the council.

Following the appointment, and swearing in by village clerk Tammie Maddox, the council took only 30 minutes to conduct their meeting. Main reason the meeting was so short was the withdrawal of an appeal on a re-plat and variance, and postponement of the fourth quarter budget review. The review was postponed until the July 28 meeting.

Village manager Alan Briley reported on the water and fire situation in the village. Phase One of the water contingency plan was back in place due to the recent rains and runoff into the reservoirs. Briley reminded that even with Phase One all outdoor watering is on an odd/even basis with homes and businesses with odd addresses watering outdoors on odd numbered days and those with even numbered addresses watering outdoors on even numbered days.

The same rains that have put Ruidoso back onto Phase One of the water plan have also caused the village fire chief to lift the fire restrictions to Level One, which allows charcoal grills but prohibits campfires or open flames outdoors within the village of Ruidoso.

Councilor Bob Sterchi requested the water contingency ordinance be reviewed and possibly amended, especially in Phase Two. Sterchi said he thought there should be no watering during the day even under Phase One. He suggested the Phase One continued the odd/even watering, with the times allowed at 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sterchi recommended a workshop be held in September to discuss the water contingency issues.

Briley also reported that the village is advertising for a solid waste department director to be filled in mid-August. This would give the person time to prepare for the September 1 take over of collection and disposal of village trash from Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

Speeders in mid-town are getting a reprieve until the radar is repaired. Briley reported that the traffic radar in midtown was vandalized. Crimestoppers is offering a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest or magistrate bind-over of the subjects who committed the crime.

Councilors approved a Zone Map Amendment for Lots 8 and 2B, Block 11 of Cree Meadows Country Club Subdivision. Open to public hearing, the public had nothing to say about the change from R-1

WALLY FERGUSON, BEEF COUNCIL PRESIDENT. Ferguson was recently elected as 1998-99 president of the New Mexico Beef Council. He and his wife Anne, raise English cross calves and heifers on a ranch near Carrizozo. A 1959 graduate of New Mexico State University with a BS in Agriculture and Education, Ferguson is also a member of New Mexico Farm Bureau, a member of the board of directors of the New Mexico Cattle Growers, a representative at Federal Lands Commission meetings and New Mexico CowBelle Man of the Year in 1994. Other leadership positions include past president of the Soil Conservation SW District, past president and member of Carrizozo School board for 17 years and president of the White Sands Missile Range Ranchers. The New Mexico Beef Council promotes beef and beef products in New Mexico through national and state programs.

County Responds To

kitchen could be relieved by preparing meals at the Zia Senior Citizens Center in Carrizozo. Nunley said he talked with the state Agency on Aging about cooking the jail meals at the senior center and was given an okay. "If we move the kitchen out of the jail it eliminates a major ignition source, gives up more storage and opens the corridor to the outside in case of a fire," Nunley said.

Wilson said the state fire marshal was kind and worked with them.

In the county's 12 page response letter it was noted that the commission is committed to building a new detention center and on May 29, the commission formed a jail committee to study and make recommendations. The committee recommended that the existing jail not be remodeled and the commission make plans to construct a new facility. On March 10, commissioners voted to proceed with construction of new facility.

The main issue now is where the new detention center will be located, the letter states. It goes on to state that two public hearings are scheduled for input on location. Once a site is selected request for proposals will be issued for design, building, financing and operation of the new jail. The response letter also outlines 30 items done in the jail in the last year to improve safety issues and gives response to all 18 safety issues.

Nunley said during the meeting that some of the things noted in the inspection have already been done to alleviate part of the problem, including surveillance cameras to the cells.

County attorney Alan Morel said he was not certain if the county could meet some of the items listed, such as 60 square feet per inmate. "If they say we can only have 20 people, it may not be feasible to keep the jail open," Morel said. As for the kitchen, he said a metal fire door could be installed at the kitchen doorway. As for combustible material in the kitchen, the walls, floor and ceiling are concrete. Other questions were asked about the jail's emergency generator and the cell locks that must be individually locked or unlocked.

But Nunley said he was most concerned that the state fire marshal was "bent out of shape" about nothing to do recently. "The state fire marshal sent the same letter about a year ago, telling the county we had 30 days to close the jail and it was ignored. It never got out of the county manager's office. We never saw it," Nunley said.

Commissioner Bill Schwettmann said he was shown a copy of a response letter of July 13, 1997. "The letter (from the state fire marshal) was responded to," Schwettmann said. "I read the letter."

Commissioner Rex Wilson said he remembered a conversation with the manager about the response. But commissioner Wilton Howell said he never read the letter but knew the county had problems with the jail.

Howell said two years ago he attempted to start a program to cook meals for the jail in the senior center, but understood then that the area agency on aging objected. But Nunley said the AAA advised it would be alright if the senior center recovers all the costs. "We have to consider every option," Nunley said. "We're not operating under the assumption we have to close the jail kitchen but the state fire marshal is calling the shots."

Morel said after the state fire marshal receives the county's response letter, the marshal has 30 days to respond and could issue a "cease and desist" order within 10 days after a response. However, the county has two outlets of appeal, to the state fire board and to district court.

Wilson said he and Nunley were instructed to submit a formal response and then the state fire marshal's office will come for another inspection.

"I feel the state fire marshal will work with us," Nunley said.

Commissioners accepted the response on a four to one vote, with Howell casting the no.

Nunley asked private jail administrator Mike Borrego to work with the state fire marshal's office on the fire safety issues.

Ruidoso resident Holly Johnson, whose husband was an inmate in the county jail, questioned the surveillance camera that was supposed to be pointed to the bull pen cell. She said the camera was pointed down the hall when a man was attacked in the left bull pen. She said the man is fearful of filing charges against the inmates who attacked him for fear of retaliation. She said the inmate was not transported to the hospital until about 12 hours after the incident occurred.

She said that since June 16, six more inmates have said they were denied medical treatment.

Howell tried to get discussion with Borrego about the incident, and asked if someone was transferred as a result of a fight in the jail. Borrego said he has incident reports from the jail but would not elaborate.

Commissioners also approved agreements with the Village of Capitan, Town of Carrizozo, Villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs for housing of prisoners. Howell discussed then made a motion to not charge the municipalities to keep their prisoners in the county jail. But the motion failed on a 3-2 vote with only Nunley agreeing. Wilson then made the motion to accept the agreements with the $50 a day charge. Schwettmann seconded and the motion passed 3-2 with Nunley and Howell voting no.

Howell also discussed the $10 correction fee collected by the municipal judges on every case. Carrizozo Town Clerk Carol Schlarb said that money is not generated by the taxpayers and is kept in escrow for the municipalities to help pay for those daily jail fees to house municipal prisoners.

Schlarb was at the meeting to represent the town of Carrizozo and to monitor the jail discussion. Carrizozo has offered land at the Industrial Park, water and sewer to the county to build the new jail.

Commissioners also approved a contract agreement with Chaves County to house Lincoln County prisoners on a space available basis.

ROB SHAFER OF CARRIZOZO is the state 4-H record book winner in Leather Craft. Shafer was recognized at the State 4-H Conference July 13-16 at NMSU. Shafer will represent New Mexico at the National 4-H Congress in Atlanta, GA this fall. The 4-H and youth development program is part of NMSU's Cooperative Extension Service.

One Person Dies In Single Car Accident On Highway 54 South

by Doris Cherry

Old Highway 54 has claimed a number of lives on its long lonely stretches across Lincoln County.

Tuesday, the old highway claimed another.

At mile marker 108, just north of the Lincoln County line south of Carrizozo, 21 year old Sarah Acevedo of El Paso fell asleep at the wheel of her 1990 Chevy Corsica. Northbound on the highway, her vehicle left the roadway, airborne for at least 60 feet, according to state police information provided to THE NEWS.

The vehicle flipped in the air and landed on its top crushing and killing Sarah's 17 year old sister April Acevedo who was riding in the back seat. Police records show that April was not wearing a seat belt, but Sarah and her other passenger Andy Perez, 22, El Paso, were wearing belts.

State police reports show no other contributing cause to the accident other than falling asleep at the wheel.

State police officer Maurie Leg and Carrizozo ambulance and fire department responded to the scene. April was pronounced dead at the scene by OMI Linelle Hale. Sarah Acevedo and Perez were transported to Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital in Alamogordo.

Highway 54 at that location has narrow substandard shoulders.

single family residential to C-2 community commercial. The lots adjoined a C-1 commercial zone along Mosheim Drive and complied with the Village Master Plan. Village planning officer Cleatus Richards said no objections were made by adjoining property owners who were notified of the proposed change. Marc Stewart, owner of the property, wanted to use his 1200 square foot shop for a commercial operation.

The issue had been before the village Planning Commission that recommended approval with conditions that the variance is granted for the lot frontage proposed and the site development is requested by the applicant and approved by the village prior to use of the shop as a business. After no discussion from the public or by councilors, they approved the zone change.

Councilors dealt with two more planning issues. The first was a request for vacation of public right of way on Lot 4, Block 2 in Town and County North, Unit II Subdivision. On July 7, the Planning Commission considered the request to vacate 1,087 square feet of public right of way to cure an encroachment by a driveway and deck. Planning recommended approval with conditions that a release of right of way agreement be signed within one month, application for re-plat incorporating vacated area within one month and payment of $533.50 (50 cents per square foot of area vacated). Richards explained that the request for the vacation was filed before the adoption of the village resolution which increased the amount of money owed for vacated right of way. Councilors unanimously approved the request.

Councilors also unanimously approved the vacation of plat of Country Club Village Subdivision, a failed development located across from Cree Meadows Country Club. The subdivision was originally approved on June 30, 1994 and carried a bond of $487,063 to guarantee improvements would be constructed. That same month, Village Country Club, Inc. (developer) and Carl Kelly Contractors entered into an agreement with the village to begin construction within 18 months. But three extensions later, construction had not begun and on October 23, 1997, the council declared the development to be in default. The development, which had sold no parcels, was in foreclosure.

Richards told the council that vacation of the plat would release the bond and terminate the agreement with the village to construct subdivision improvements. The property will be returned to a single tract and available for development at the choice of the owner Roy Crocker. Richards went on to say that the owner had obtained Planning Commission approval for conditional use to develop the property for a church. Councilor Bill Chance made the motion to approve vacation of the plat with the conditions that the owner reduce visibility of utility outlets within 60 days of approval of the vacation of plat and all utilities sign the plat.

During discussion village attorney John Underwood said the bond would end with the vacation and he asked if the bond should end before the conditions are met or after. Richards said the conditions are that all utilities must sign off on the vacation of the plat. The motion to approve the vacation of plat was unanimously approved.

In other business, councilors:

-Awarded bid for cab and chassis trash collector truck to low bidder Sunland International for $79,478 with delivery date December 1.

-Approved resolution 98-19 amending the 1997-98 village budget that was a clean-up for the last fiscal year. Village finance officer Lorri McKnight said she would be making final closure on the 1997-98 fiscal year in the following week and would present the fourth quarter review of the 1997-98 budget at the next meeting.

-Rescheduled public hearing on proposed increase of Lodger Tax to provide funds for an events facilitator until August 11 to allow mayor Donaldson to attend and to allow more time for the organizing Lodgers Association to meet and discuss the proposed increase in tax. The hearing has been set for July 28.

-Recessed into short closed session to discuss threatened or pending litigation.

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Jail hearing Friday

By Ruth Hammond

Friday evening will be the first of two public hearings for the Lincoln County Commissioners to receive public input regarding location sites for construction of a new Lincoln County Detention Center. The county commissioners are determined to build a new county jail, even though there are other alternatives. It seems some of the county commissioners are determined to build the new jail in an area other than where the Lincoln County Courthouse is and it also seems some of the county commissioners want to locate some of the other county offices in the new jail facility. Do these county commissioners have a grudge against the present location of the Lincoln County Courthouse? Are these county commissioners really trying to do what is best for Lincoln County residents?

There have been problems at the county detention center for many years and when former jail administrator Wayland Hill asked for help in correcting the problems the county commissioners did not agree to his requests. Some of the jail problems were corrected when Frank Pomeroy was county manager, but there were no official announcements made which probably offended some of the county commissioners. If the deficiencies had not been corrected the state fire marshal could have demanded the jail be closed. Apparently there are more deficiencies that need to be corrected, but there might be another solution than building an entire new facility.

There are several options that need to be considered before the county decides to build a new jail. One suggestion is to use the space where the sheriff's office and dispatch is located. The sheriff's office and dispatch could be located in another area either in the Lincoln County Courthouse or on property near the courthouse. The county could remodel the area now being used by the sheriff and make that space into a jail. The prisoners would not have to be moved to another jail in another county while the remodeling work was being completed. When the remodeling was completed the prisoners could be moved into the new area and the present jail area could then be remodeled. The cost would be much less than building an entire new jail in another location, and the other county offices, magistrate court and district court would be accessible.

We have been told this suggestion is not practical because the courthouse is 30 years old and the specs have changed. Does that mean all buildings more than 30 years old should be demolished?

If a new jail is to be built we hope the county commissioners will listen to what the people have to say. The Town of Carrizozo has offered property in the Industrial Park for a new jail. We have not been informed of any other municipalities offering land for a new jail. Carrizozo residents have said they want the new jail to be built in Carrizozo, if the county does build a new jail. We have not been informed of people in other municipalities telling the county commissioners they want the new jail to be built in their area.

When the jail committee met in Ruidoso Downs early Sunday morning several months ago the majority of the people attending were from the Carrizozo area. These people showed their concern by attending and stating their opinions. Many of these people will probably attend the public hearing tomorrow night in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo and voice their opinions again.

If the county commissioners won't consider an alternative to building a new jail, we hope they will listen to what the people want and where they want it located. The first public hearing will be in the Lincoln County Courthouse tomorrow night at 6:30 p.m.

Do we need a new jail?

SANTA FE: Hey, Darren, be careful who you're picking on.

Darren White, Gov. Gary Johnson's secretary of Public Safety, let a report slip by him that not only unfairly characterized many ranchers and other New Mexicans, it took on some of his boss' biggest political supporters.

Recently White commissioned a report on potentially violent groups that could cause problems for state and local law enforcement authorities. The report was split into two parts, one on right-wing extremists and another on left-wing extremists. The right-wing part came out first and was mailed to 300 law enforcement agencies statewide.

To the surprise of ranchers, loggers, miners and others involved in the Wise Use movement, the report lumped them in with white-supremacists, militias and separatists. And it even went further. One section read: "Wise Use groups, anti-environmentalists and land grant activists may prove to be the most volatile and pose the greatest threat to law enforcement."

Maybe I missed it, but the only violence I remember from any of these three groups was the Tierra Amarilla Courthouse raid by land grant activists 30 years ago this summer. I can name plenty of violence by other extremist groups on the right and the left.

Ranchers were incensed. We've complained plenty about the government, they said, but never have we resorted to violence or even talked about it. They could have added that they have had violence committed against them — and haven't retaliated.

In response to the outcry, White clarified the report with a memorandum stating that the majority of groups identified with the Wise Use movement pose no threat or danger. In this writer's eyes, that was an even greater insult. White might have wiggled off the hook by saying he hadn't reviewed the report thoroughly enough. But not after he put in his own words the assertion that some Wise Use groups pose a threat of violence.

Five days later, White retracted the entire report, saying that because of the one error, the credibility of the entire report must be called into question.

As this is being written, the report on the extremist left hasn't been released and we don't know who prepared either or both reports. With New Mexico's long history of violence and New Mexico links to violence in other states, it is important that law enforcement authorities throughout the state have as much knowledge about extremists groups as possible.

We don't want our law enforcement authorities being as clueless about potential violence as our CIA was about the nuclear capabilities of India and Pakistan.

The idea of the reports was good. They shouldn't just be tossed on the shelf where so many government reports languish. After a good review and necessary clean up, they

(LCSWA) To Expand Roll-Off Operations

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) expanded its roll-off operations with the order of eight new containers.

A roll-off is a 30 cubic yard, bright blue container, usually seen near construction sites and at other locations where large amounts of throw away materials are generated. LCSWA makes money with these large containers, but has competition with Southwest Disposal, Inc. of Alamogordo.

During the LCSWA meeting Tuesday, members accepted the low bid of $20,850 for the eight new containers from Galbreath Inc. of Mansfield, TX. LCSWA now has 13 roll-off containers. Although the roll-offs make money for LCSWA, manager Jerry Wright said that with the new ones it will be all they can do to keep up with dumping the containers with the two trucks LCSWA now owns. Wright said if the roll-off use grows LCSWA could expand to another truck.

Another use of the roll-offs is for community clean ups. At the request of the board, Wright presented a proposed roll-off schedule that sets a large container in several areas of the county on a routine basis. However, Cedar Creek was not included. LCSWA member Robert Donaldson said Cedar Creek needs a roll-off because there are so many homes in that area. He and LCSWA member Monroy Montes wanted the schedule to be more consistent, to better educate the public.

Wright proposed a container be located at different locations on Saturdays. He proposed beginning the first Saturday of August with a container in Capitan, then to Hondo, San Patricio, Smokey Bear Vista (south of Capitan on Highway 48), Nogal, Lincoln, Airport Road. However, Lincoln and Airport Road would get a large container only once in the next five months. Wright said he would add Cedar Creek and modify the schedule to be more consistent before he issues it to the public. He had hoped to begin placing a roll-off on Saturdays on August 1.

Ruidoso, which plans to assume collection and disposal of its own trash beginning September 1, does not plan to have roll-off containers, said Donaldson, who is also mayor of Ruidoso. Montes said that LCSWA should expand its roll-off operations even further, instead of letting the private company take the market. Wright said any further expansion will require another new truck to haul the large containers.

LCSWA Members also approved the 1998-99 fiscal year budget that includes a five percent salary increase for employees. The budget also projects an ending cash balance of $379,788 of which $191,953 must be set aside as a state required 1/12th reserve. However, the budget will undergo some major changes after September 1, when Ruidoso takes back its collection and disposal.

Wright said they are looking at a 17 member crew once Ruidoso moves out of collection. Currently there are 26 to 30 employees, some of whom are temporary seasonal.

"How are we going to decide who leaves or stays?" Montes asked.

Wright said Ruidoso will make that decision and is currently looking for director of solid waste to have a board before September 1. Donaldson said the transition will take place fairly quickly. But Montes said it is the responsibility of LCSWA to have a plan for employees. He suggested a special meeting and workshop to restructure "what's left." "Two or three weeks is not enough," Montes said. "We have several obligations and some workers are uncertain of their future."

LCSWA chair and Ruidoso, Downs Mayor Joe Hayhurst said this could happen once Ruidoso has hired its solid waste department director. Donaldson said he would talk with the village manager and make sure the manpower issue is discussed first.

"We have to decide if Plan B fits the county," Montes said.

Later in the meeting, during the manager's report, Montes asked that the manager report at the next meeting on employees, costs, budget and the final plan for Ruidoso's transition. Wright said he had hoped to have such a plan for this meeting, but was waiting for Ruidoso to hire its director. Donaldson said the village is "fast tracking" and will try to expedite the situation with employees as a top priority.

Montes was also concerned the representatives from the other entities were not at the meeting. Carrizozo representative Cynthia Morales, Capitan representative Debra Ingle and Corona representative Ernest Lueras were not present. The county's other representative Elbert DuBois was late.

"I ask that for the next meeting we discuss the future make-up of the authority," Montes said. "We will be faced with new problems."

Donaldson said the village has a commitment to the employees who came from Ruidoso at LCSWA's formation in 1990.

Montes said he would like to see a preliminary report from the manager before the next meeting.

Commissioners Want Fireworks Ordinance Despite State Laws

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Commissioners want an ordinance that bans fireworks in the county.

But such an ordinance is contrary to state law.

County commissioner Wilton Howell during the regular July 14 meeting which was held in the Ruidoso Village Administration Center called for a public hearing in August to address a fireworks ban in the unincorporated areas of the county. "I don't want to wait until July 1 next year to address this," Howell said.

County attorney Alan Morel said that by state law the county cannot ban all fireworks. It can restrict the use of certain fireworks 20 days before an event like July 4 due to high fire danger. But Howell questioned how the state could keep counties from passing such fireworks bans.

"This would be a good challenge to the state," Howell said. "Assume we pass an ordinance that addresses as much as we can in banning fireworks, then challenge the state. I want some ordinance."

Commission chairman Ray Nunley said that each county should be allowed to determine its own legislation on fireworks.

Commissioner Rex Wilson said the first step is for the commission to outline its options, then hear from the public on what to do with these options.

Despite Morel's advice about the legality of such a county ordinance banning fireworks, Howell insisted Morel draft such a proposed law.

Commissioners had passed a resolution restricting all open flame or fires, including fireworks, in the county in June because of the extreme fire danger. On July 3, commissioners called an emergency meeting to reconsider the resolution, mostly because of request from the Spencer Theater to hold a private fireworks display at the theater. Commissioners did not rescind their resolution at that time because conditions were still dry.

Also Tuesday, July 14, commissioners spent considerable time in discussing the Parliamentary Procedure used to appoint the county's representative to the Eastern New Mexico EMS Region III board of directors. Montes and Howell were concerned that only one nomination was taken without consideration of other nominees. EMS director Jim Stover had requested to be appointed to the board about a week after current representative to the board member EMT Kathy Williams had submitted a written request that she be reappointed. Howell said he did not want the people in his district to suffer due to Parliamentary Procedure. "I don't feel the county won't be represented by the person selected," Wilson said. Wilson made the motion to reappoint Williams, who is an employee of Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC). Ruidoso EMS that administers the county's EMS ambulance system is also operated by LCMC.

In other business, commissioners:

-Authorized the county manager to contact the Sonora Institute of Economic Study for a proposal on a demographic, economic study of the county's future growth.

-Approved the agreement and resolution with South-eastern New Mexico Economic Development District (SNMEDD) that provides $3,500 in annual dues from the county in exchange for assistance with community development block grants and other services offered by the district.

-Approved the cooperative agreements between the State Highway Department and the County to provide funds for road projects on Alpine Village Road and Muskethall Road in the Cedar Creek area; double penetration chip seal on various roads; and patch and seal county Road D006.

-Approved a lease agreement with Carrizozo Municipal Schools for a parcel of land and water well for $1 a year.

-Approved expenditure of funds from the Lincoln County Lodgers Tax for $1,500 for Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium; $2,545 for Trailer Enterprises, Inc. travel trailer group meeting; $500 for Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally.

within the district, second priority is for students who reside outside the district but who attended the school the previous year and third priority is all other applicants. Under the policy, second priority students will be entitled to enroll when the maximum allowable class size is not met or exceeded. Third priority students will be enrolled when maximum allowable size is not met or exceeded and there are not existing second priority students waiting to enroll.

A waiting list of second and third priority students will be maintained with priority on the list based on the date of a completed application and attachments. Any second or third priority student must provide to the district completed enrollment application, official transcript from previous school, official attendance record from previous school, three references and an essay explaining why the student should be enrolled into the school district.

The proposed policy also states that any student who has been expelled or placed on long-term suspension from another school district will not be admitted to the school district. Transportation is addressed by stating the district is not responsible for transporting second and third priority students. Bus transportation from the closet bus stop will be provided on an available basis on each bus.

Students coming from out of district and their parents or legal guardian must sign the "Priority Student Enrollment Contract" before the first day of attendance.

When classrooms get too full, the proposed policy provides that the district can "disenroll" a second or third priority student.

District transportation contractor Frank Silva asked how the policy will work in reality on a bus with 20 out of district students, when one in district student moves in. Who will he kick off? "The same for the classes," Silva said.

King suggested the district "grandfather" the out of district students who were enrolled last school year.

The proposed policy will be discussed again at the August meeting. Billingsley said she will need the enrollment application by August 1, when students begin enrolling for the school year.

The board also accepted eight proposals sent in response to the district's request for proposals for architectural services. The school sent out 26 rfp's (request for proposals) and had gotten back eight. To review the proposals, the board approved a special meeting on June 20. At that time the board selected Gregory T. Hicks and Associates; ASA Architects/Ted Shelton; Nims, Calvini & Associates; Fanning Bard Tatum Architects and Greer Stafford Architects. The five architectural firms will be interviewed at a special meeting on August 4.

A special meeting will be held on July 29, at 5:30 p.m. to develop interview questions for the selected firms. Starting at 8 a.m. on August 4, the board will interview the firms in an open to the public meeting, held in the open at the board's request. Members of the public will not be allowed to ask questions, but can pass written questions to the board members to ask of the firm representatives. The final selection will be made at the August 13 regular board meeting.

Once a firm is selected, the firm will conduct community meetings to answer public questions.

At the June regular meeting, Capitan School Board approved the request for proposal for an architectural firm to provide information about the firm and its qualifications. At that meeting Billingsley informed the board that in September a resolution must be published for a bond election. The board had concerns at that time that they were seeking an architectural firm before they had decided to build a new high school. King said a firm could help come up with options to solve the district's growth problems.

At the July 14 meeting, the board also:

- Approved a Capitan-Hondo School Districts boundary agreement that allows four students who live in Hondo school district to attend Capitan Schools this fall. The students live in the northern portion of the Hondo School District that has no transportation for those students.
- Went on a walk through review of the elementary remodel and installation of the fire alarm system.
- Approved hiring of Sherry Gowen as library instructional aide, Bethlene Micaner as library instructional aide, and Charlotte Smith as special education instructional aide.

(LCSWA) To Expand

LCSWA members also approved a motion to take action at the August meeting on a proposed sticker to be placed on dumpsters outlining county solid waste ordinances. They also approved a motion to place on the next meeting agenda a proposed policy requiring residents to purchase Poly Karts in Capitan and Ruidoso Downs. Montes made the request after Wright reported LCSWA would have to buy 30 additional carts, which are often used for oat storage and are stolen or damaged.

Wright also reported a good response from crowds to the LCSWA equipment in the Smokey Bear Parade on July 4 in Capitan, and reported on a meeting with the Ranches De Soterra Home Owners Association. More than 100 attended the meeting in the development which is expected to have 150 more new homes constructed within two years. Currently there are about 50 homes in the 400 lot development. Wright said the entire airport area is turning into an urban/metro area.

Another area with growth is Capitan, where LCSWA is having a hard time keeping enough service. Especially troublesome in the Capitan west area. Wright said LCSWA has added containers but these are still not enough.

The next regular LCSWA meeting is Monday, August 17 at 2 p.m. in the LCSWA offices in Ruidoso Downs.

May be this is an affirmation that the Johnson administration isn't political. But some political acumen is wise. White's first press secretary, when he took office was Dan Hill, a smart young man who had headed John Dendahl's GOP gubernatorial primary campaign and then worked Johnson's general election campaign. Hill quickly moved up to the governor's office and was Johnson's chief spokesman until seeing more opportunity in the private sector.

If Hill had still been with White, the fiasco likely never would have occurred.

should be distributed. It will be interesting to see if the left wing report is as badly flawed.

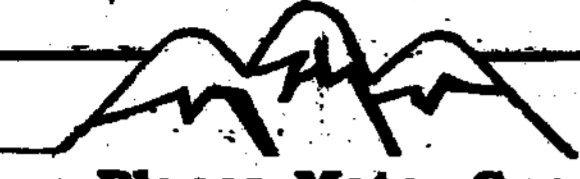

But it will be even more interesting to see how this plays out politically. Many ranchers supported cowboy Bruce King over Gary Johnson four years ago. But this year, with two city boys running against each other, it was likely Johnson would pick up the vast majority of the state's land users.

A rush to the camp of Marty Chavez seems unlikely, but there is a possibility ranchers and others will need some convincing that the Johnson campaign is worth much of their time or effort. And White, the fiasco likely never would have occurred.

The village has had two rains this last week, one 0.5" and the second 0.9". The whole area is praying for a good general one.

Plans are going full speed for the festival, Saturday and Sunday, July 25th and 26th. Friends of the Museum have been working hard to get it ready, and there is much enthusiasm for the class reunions.

Franklin King has been located in Texas and Ruth Bello in Roswell. Bill Wieland expects to be here, and the Harrell Fullers are to arrive Thursday and Friday. It is getting exciting.

Jean Cape Flowers was visiting friends here Tuesday but found it necessary to return home and husband in Bakersfield, CA before festival time.

When our friend Woody Korges died his family preferred that memorials be sent "To our favorite little mission, the Corona Presbyterian Church. Later the family requested that memorial monies be used to purchase new flags for the church. Sunday morning the congregation saw the new U.S. and Christian flags in place on either side of the memorial cross that hangs on the wall in the front of the nave behind the choir pews. Atop the standard for the U.S. flag is a gold American eagle, and atop the standard for the Christian flag is a gold cross. The flags and standards are a memorial to Woodrow Wilson Korges (USAF Ret'd). These will be dedicated at a later date, perhaps when the church gets a resident minister.

The parade Saturday may be a short one but will be cheered by many on the sidelines.

June Tyree has received another printing of the Corona Book Volume One. Now both volumes are available for those who have been asking for them.

Crown CowBelles a sponsor of the Cream of the Crop project has mailed out over 60 requests to ranchers and others asking for support. This is important to the kids who own and show their own stock and certify that they own the breeding stock and do not make the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bradford were here from El Paso Saturday and left early Sunday morning for CAMT. This year the Conference for the Advancement of Math Teachers is at San Antonio and lasts from Monday through Friday. If Sherrill gets a flight out at the right time she will fly in to Albuquerque Friday night and be here for the Corona Festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hillger and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Glenn and daughters, Cassie and Whitney stopped by Monday afternoon. They were returning home to Las Cruces after a weekend with relatives on their ranch at Roy. They reported the usual heat and lack of rain.

By Tuesday morning nine teams had registered for the 1st Annual Corona FFA Ranchers' Rodeo Sunday afternoon. This should be a fun way to end the Corona Summer Festival weekend.

Calls are coming in to confirm the date of the Summer Festival, Saturday, July 25th. Helen Toland called Tuesday from Portales and plans to come.

A homemade Ice Cream Social was attended by about 50 people at the Cocarvale Community Center, July 14.

Homemade ice cream and other goodies were provided by those attending. Thanks to all who brought refreshments: A good time was had by those attending. The Cedarvale quilting ladies are trying to make this an annual event. So watch your calendar next July - there will be another one.

Hazel and Bob Burton went to Albuquerque to pick up their granddaughter, Jamie May and a friend, Shawn Neal, from Dallas, TX. They all went to Clovis the next day for a family reunion at Ned Hank Park, on the Running Water Draw. Over 100 family members and friends enjoyed a catered bar-b-que lunch at noon, a cook out in the evening. A family homemade quilt was auctioned to make money for the reunion in the year 2000.

Ellis Hodge and Loretta Proctor attended the wedding of Loretta's granddaughter, Radna Proctor in Portales on July 18. Also attending the wedding from Corona was Denise Byrd, her daughter Candice Roberts was a bridesmaid in the wedding. Radna married Mike Running of Portales.

Rick Gage, volleyball coach at Corona High School recently took the following girls to camp in Socorro for three days. Delia Gonzales, Laura Gonzales, Rhiannon Alirez, Courtney Perez, Sarah Stewart, Megan Romans, Maryhah Romans, and Marilee Bryan. Assistant coach Shannon Lightfoot attended as well as board member Kathy Muniz.

Kathy Muniz and Janetta Stewart took six girls to basketball camp in Durango, CO last week. They were attending Sky Hawk Basketball Camp. Sarah Stewart, Delia and Laura Gonzales, Rhiannon Alirez, Megan Romans and Courtney Perez are the girls attending. Travis Lightfoot, girls basketball coach will be picking them up on Wednesday.

Next week Shannon Lightfoot, cheerleading sponsor will be taking the cheerleaders, Rhiannon Alirez, Monique Johnson, and Megan Romans to cheerleading camp in Hobbs.

On May 19 several Corona high school students were inducted into Corona's Ramsey-Dean Chapter of the National Honor Society. The students were selected by the high school staff based on criteria including honor, leadership, citizenship, and academics. The new members of the National Honor Society from the sophomore, junior and senior classes are: Brandon Biebelle, Courtney Perez, Charlie Tully, sophomores; Monica Alirez, Dustin Gay, Maryah Romans, juniors; Logan Marshall, John Gnathowski, seniors. Students must maintain a 3.0 grade-point average and exhibit these qualities to continue their good standing in National Honor Society. The sponsor for the National Honor Society is Rhonda Tully.

Several young cowgirls and cowboys from the Corona area have been competing successfully in the various rodeo circles around the state. Many of these young competitors travel hundreds of miles to ride, ropo, tie goats and chase barrels and poles in rodeo organizations like the New Mexico Junior Rodeo Association, Lincoln County Rodeo Association, 4-H Rodeo and American Calf Roping Association.

Feel free to congratulate these all-around hands for their strong showing at these competitions; Brandon Biebelle, Jed and Casey Sisk, Jordan and Toss Muncy, Victor Perez, Riley and Charlie Tully. Be sure to watch for their names as they tally up points to win big at the end of the year finals in these different rodeo organizations.

The Rev. Bill Turner of Ruidoso will bring the message to the Presbyterian Church here Sunday morning, July 26th.

Territorial Theater Brings New Life To Old Building

by Doris Cherry

The old stone building in Capitan that many old timers know was the Blondie Lane grocery store is again serving the area—in a theatrical way.

Virginia Jones and Lonnie Lippmann have transformed the old edifice that has been a grocery store, thrift store, wood shop, photo studio into a small intimate theater. Productions by The Lincoln County Players began last year.

This month's production is "The Authentic Life of Billy the Kid" a comedy in two acts by Lee Blessing. The story involves Pat F. Garrett at 57 played by Larry Wimbrow, Ashmon Upton a frontier journalist in his 70s who was ghost writer of Garrett's book, "The Authentic Life of Billy the Kid" played by Glen Pinnock, Billy a man in his 40s played by John Richards and Jim P. Miller, rancher, church deacon and hired killer played by Rance Price.

The story takes place in Garrett's ranch house east of Las Cruces, in the Organ Mountains. It is the evening of February 28, 1908, the day before Garrett was ambushed and killed on his way to Las Cruces. The story has some surprises as it evolves. Upton tells Garrett that his drunken driver is BILLY THE KID himself. He convinces Garrett to come join him in a Wild West show featuring Billy the Kid and Garrett in a shoot out.

Billy explains that Garrett did not kill him in Fort Sumner, rather it was another man who looked similar to Billy whom Garrett killed. Billy goes on telling of his life in hiding after Garrett had supposedly "killed" him, of how he ended up as a bartender in Cimmaron, of how he himself doubted he was the kid. Garrett, hard on his financial luck, agrees to join Upton, but tells him to wait until after he makes a deal with this Jim Miller who wants to buy the ranch.

In the second act, Miller appears, still alluding to Garrett that he wants to buy the ranch, but also warning Garrett of the dangers of the road to Las Cruces. This reporter will not reveal the ending, rather will let the audience find out. Production of this comedy, which is not a TV type comedy, rather full of irony and innuendo, was well done, especially for such a small budget set up. The acting was good, and the discussion and interaction with the audience by the actors about the life of Billy the Kid after the play ended was very interesting and added more life to the story.

The play is directed by Deane Bailey, who has worked on many plays in New Mexico and who worked on plays and musicals in California where he lived before.

Performances of "The Authentic Life of Billy the Kid" continue on Friday, July 24 and Saturday July 25. Because of audience response, performances have been extended to July 31 and August 1. Curtain is at 8 p.m. at the Territorial Theater on Lincoln Street, one block north of the Lincoln County fairgrounds in Capitan. For more information about the current production, ticket prices, and future productions, call 354-2316.
