

Capitan Mayor Breaks Tie On Annexation Issue

by Doris Cherry

An action to ease the total moratorium on annexation, begun in August 1998, got finalized by the Capitan Village Trustees at their meeting Monday, July 12.

But the vote was tied between the four trustees, with Leroy Montes and John Whitaker voting no and Benny Coker and Debra Ingle voting yes. Mayor Norman Renfro broke the tie in favor of allowing properties that have at least three sides bounded by the village of Capitan to petition for annexation.

In August 1998, village planning commission recommended the trustees allow owners of five tracts surrounded by village lands at least on three sides to petition for annexation. Village planning commission members said the annexations would not create an excessive demand on the village water supply or infrastructure. Only two of the five property owners expressed any desire to be annexed however.

One of the properties is owned by Tracey Phillips. In August 1998 Phillips requested her land be annexed because it was surrounded by village properties on three sides and because the village water line ran on the back side of her lot. Primarily she wanted village water, but she was willing to be part of the village and pay village taxes. Phillips also said she has a hardship because her husband has a disability.

Even though a motion was approved to consider a resolution to ease the restrictions, a motion was never made to approve the resolution at the September 14, 1998 meeting. At that time some residents objected to annexing any lands because they could not do outdoor watering whenever they wanted and because the village water system was inadequate.

Once again Monday, July 12, trustees considered a resolution to allow owners of county properties bounded on three sides or more by village lands to petition for annexation. "So we pick and chose?" Montes asked. "If we allow annexation, then we should do it completely."

Whitaker said he thought it was discriminatory to limit the annexation to properties that were bounded on three sides or more and if they were going to ease the moratorium they should open it to all properties adjoining the village. Montes had similar thoughts.

Resident Vivian Crosno, who objected in 1998, again objected. She said this was the fourth time Phillips was trying to get water. Crosno said Phillips bought her property knowing it did not have water. "If we hand out our water that we paid dearly for and we are on water restrictions, don't give our water away or you'll be giving water to people from here to Carrizozo," Crosno said. "I can't understand your reasoning, you represent us. This is not Christmas and you are

by Barbara Culler

The Town of Carrizozo Board of Trustees met Tuesday, July 13, for their regularly scheduled meeting. At the meeting, the trustees approved a proclamation proclaiming August 1, 1999, through August 31, 1999, as Carrizozo Centennial Month. All through the month of August, with many different celebrations, the town is going to celebrate the El Paso and Northeastern Railway reaching this location and the town site of Carrizozo being named. Items also discussed were the bowling alley, fire hydrants, and announcement of a new water operator.

Items that were approved by the trustees were: the use of Fred Chavez Park and the closing of Third Street next to the park for the Santa Rita Fiesta on July 31 and August 1; the Carrizozo Centennial Parade on July 31 route Birch Street from the Fire Department substation to 380 Hwy; resolution for the 1999-2000 fiscal year budget; allocation of gasoline road funds for street project by Armstrong Construction Company of Roswell; and to publish for a public hearing on July 22 to adopt amendments to the zoning ordinance and planning and zoning commission.

Barbara Ward, a resident of Carrizozo, asked the trustees about the resurfacing of the bowling lanes at the Carrizozo Recreation Center and when this was to be done. She wondered if the resurfacing was going to be done, the machines fixed, and if they were going to be able to start leagues or have to bowl in Ruidoso. Mayor Manuel Hernandez told her that the funding is available and right now they do not know if the people who are to do the resurfacing have been contacted by Christina Full, manager of the recreation center. He said that the council will check

Ruidoso Council To Set Criteria For Septic Tanks

by Doris Cherry

In a short 20 minute meeting on Tuesday, July 12, Ruidoso Village councilors approved a preliminary and final plat for subdividing a tract of land along Highway 70, and considered rules for requiring property owners with septic tanks to tie into the village sewer system.

During the village manager's report, manager Alan Briley discussed a memo he sent councilors about the response from property owners with septic tanks. Recently the village sent notices to property owners with septic tanks that the village is now enforcing its 1986 ordinance that requires properties that are within 200 feet of village sewer lines to tie into the village sewer system. The village responded to concerns from the New Mexico Environment Department about inadequate septic tanks that allowed raw sewage to seep above ground.

Of the letters sent, five property owners responded that hooking into the sewer would be costly and possibly a hardship. But the ordinance states that properties 200 feet from the sewer lines must hook up within 30 days of notice and provides no way to appeal that requirement.

"There is a process (of appeal) through the plumbing code," Briley said. The plumbing code does require properties that are 200 feet from a village sewer line to hook on, but also gives the council authority to hear appeals. Briley said the council can determine criteria for a waiver to Ordinance 86-32 based on cost, financial hardship and condition of existing septic tank.

Mayor Robert Donaldson said he talked with most of the five people who responded and at least one said it would cost $4,400 to hook into the village sewer system. Donaldson said the village should consider waiving the requirement if there is great cost, and the septic system is in good condition, based on a contractor's estimate and a septic system inspection. "If the septic doesn't work, then they have to tie in," Donaldson said.

However, Donaldson was concerned for low income property owners who can't afford to tie into the sewer system. He said he had asked village planning attorney Charles Rennick to research whether the village could waive the requirement until the property title was transferred to another person, but

by Dorothy Guck

The evening of Wednesday, July 21, Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Camp Meeting will begin the 60th encampment in Lincoln County.

Very few of the original ranch people who organized that first gathering on the wooded mesa overlooking the Tularosa Basin are left to carry on, but their children and grandchildren and newcomers serve in their place.

In the Spring of 1940, mine possible sites for a circuit riding minister gathering of families Ralph Hall, Texas cowboy ranching in sparsely populated areas of New Mexico. Joe Evans, Forrest and Roger Sherman, and Rev. Everett King met to ex-secured a lease for a summer encampment, and the enthusiastic help of New Mexico ranch families.

That first year, a large tent was set up among the cedar and juniper trees, with wooden bench seats for the families gathered there to listen to a preacher's inspiring words, sing oldtime hymns, and share neighborly thoughts and cares. The people attending brought beans, beef, garden vegetables, eggs, and coffee from home to cook over open fires. Bedrolls, small tents, and tarps dotted the 23 acre grounds, and enthusiastic plans were made for the next years of encampment.

The services began and continue to be non-denominational. All is financed by free-will donations, not attendance charges. Food is still cooked over pits of woodfires, served on tin plates by men, with cowboy coffee available all hours of the day.

A wooden tabernacle, kitchen and dining area, and registration booth make camping more convenient now for the larger crowds, with water faucets and electricity available to families camping in their own vehicles.

Today, there are 11 Ranchmen's Camp Meetings in the Southwest. Esther Van Soelen has long been their legal advisor and each year mails plans for the Nogal attendants. This year, she is unable to do so.

The preachers for Nogal Mesa will be John Barrett, Midland, TX, and Harmon Schmelzenbach, Bonita Park, NM. (Barrett has not Santa Claus. I can't figure how you can change an ordinance for one person."

Renfro said that they were not changing an ordinance, rather amending a resolution on the moratorium and it would only apply to five tracts of land surrounded by the village. Village attorney Dave Thomsen said it also applied to those who petition for annexation. Thomsen said the new paragraph in the resolution creates an exception for those tracts of land surrounded on at least three sides.

Crosno also asked how Phillips and her husband could have a hardship when they bought 10 acres and were building a multi-thousand dollar home.

Resident Al Barton said that the same thing happened with the trailer park. "If someone comes here enough they'll get what they wanted," Barton said. "Who's next?"

Phillips responded to the comments. She said they were building a one bedroom, one bathroom house and her husband is mentally disabled was why she asked for the hardship. "I'm an island and my neighbor is completely surrounded by village lands," she said. "The (village) water line is 50 feet from my front door and due to a clerical error this property was not annexed (when the others in the subdivision were)."

As for opening the village to annexation by anyone wanting water, Phillips said she was not opening a flood gate. "I will pay the $1,250 for a water tap and that makes up for a lot of taxes paid by others in this village."

Phillips also said she talked with the Governor's Commission on the Concerns of the Handicapped and found that under the law her husband is entitled to equal access to services. "You gave the ball-park water," she added.

The ball-park is not located within village limits. There is no water tap at the ball-park now, Renfro said.

Village resident and former Bobbie Shearer said the village violated its own moratorium resolution by moving water to the ball-park.

Crosno said the ball-park should be given water, then went on to challenge Phillips' claim to be surrounded by village properties.

Village resident Lonnie Lippmann who had objected to the trailer park because of its impact to the village water system and the "aesthetics" of it, supported the exception in the moratorium, especially for Phillips. Lippmann said there is perception among the public that the village government is not "citizen friendly". He said he thought it was hypocritical of the village to claim that a trailer park with 25 units would not harm the village water infrastructure, then deny one woman and her husband ability to annex in order to obtain water.

Another audience member said she thought the request by Phillips was legitimate even though many in the village were upset about the water. "How long will she (Phillips) have to wait for an answer?"

Resident Pearl Tippin asked if the five tracts of land surrounded by village property were metes and bounds and could they or their descendants use the properties for trailer parks or other commercial situations. Trustee Jerry said that some of those five tracts already have village water meters. Montes said there are some people who live outside the village who have outside water and they pay triple the rates, but they got the water before the moratorium was put in place in 1994.

"This is a humane issue," Lippmann said. "I think it is one of the functions of government to be humane and the humane thing would be to grant water to these two people." Ingle then made the motion to adopt the amendment to the moratorium resolution to

Ruidoso Council To Set

Rennick had not come back with any information. If that is allowed, then the council would have to determine what is low income.

"We need criteria to balance what is available," Donaldson said. "This is not Roswell, what is 200 feet in Roswell is not the same here."

Councilor Bob Starchi suggested the council set a dollar amount of how much would be a hardship to tie into the sewer and other criteria such as septic condition, then have staff review and request for waiver and make a recommendation for the council to act upon.

"We can't be so hard nosed to not consider the property owner's economic situation," Donaldson said. He suggested a hearing be held on the July 27 meeting to incorporate criteria into the ordinance allowing a waiver based on the cost of $1,500 to hook into the sewer and good septic system.

"We know the problems with septic," Briley added, "And we would rather have people on the sewer. But are we such bad guys to say that regardless of cost, they have to hook on?"

Donaldson said he did not want to put off setting the criteria for waiver because some property sales are on hold until the owners know what the village is going to require on their septic systems.

Briley said if the properties meet the criteria he will bring them back to the council for review and approval.

Councilors also approved the preliminary and final plats of a 2.96 acre tract to be allow the owners of lands surrounded by at least three sides to petition for annexation, Coker seconded the motion. On a roll call vote, Coker and Ingle voted yes, Whitaker and Montes no. Renfro broke the tie vote with a yes.

Ingle said that the resolution only allows the property owners to petition for annexation which is done by ordinance that includes a public hearing. "If we allow her annexation, then she can apply for a water tap," Ingle concluded.

subdivided into two tracts. The property is located along Highway 70, west of the new post office near Camelot. The village planning commission recommended approval if the developers met conditions that all utilities sign the plat, obtain necessary permits prior to site development, provide water and sewer lines to each tract, provide a hydrant to each tract as necessary, apply for permit for development in a Flood Plain according to FEMA rules, submit soils report, submit schedule and costs to construct utilities or cost and financial guarantees.

Plans for development of the properties were not included in the request for subdivision.

Councilors also recessed to closed session to discuss threatened or pending litigation, discussion of purchase, acquisition and/or disposal of real property and/or water rights.

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Annex or Exclude Property

By Ruth Hammond

Annexation is a controversial topic in Capitan and Carrizozo. There are some people in favor of annexing all surrounding areas and others who want to keep things the way they are. It could be interesting at the public hearings when property owners petition to have their property annexed. Some people want to exclude all other potential community residents while others want to annex all the property in hopes of getting extra property tax for the municipality.

Getting everyone to agree will be difficult, if not impossible. If you do attend one of these public hearings, please listen to what is being said and try to make your own decisions as to whether it would benefit or harm the municipality if property is annexed. Don't be led by "mob rule" and emotional forays. Ask for the facts. If you want to know how much additional property tax will be paid to the municipality, ask the Lincoln County Assessor what is now being assessed and if there will be any change. If you want to know how much property tax the county is now getting versus what the municipality will get, ask the Lincoln County Treasurer. All these figures are public record. All you have to do is ask to get answers.

Reacting to emotions is not the way to make your decision. At a public hearing many years ago a woman cried and wept tears from her cheeks as she made her presentation. Needless to say many of the audience members were sympathetic to her theatrics and changed their minds, even though they knew their decision was not in the best interest of the situation involved. Few people saw how this acted woman after the public hearing. She was laughing and acting as if she had put on the greatest show, and she had. At a later public hearing she duplicated her performance for what she assured would be a new and different crowd. She didn't know that we had recorded her scene and it was word for word the same as her first performance. And it was a performance, just as plays and movies are performances put on by memorizing lines and actions.

Even though you may have definite feelings about annexation, listen to the other side. There are valid points to be made for and against annexing certain properties. After you have heard all the facts, asked questions and gotten answers, make your decision. Don't be misled into thinking that your way is the only way. The other person probably thinks the same thing. While we don't want to get in the middle of a heated debate about annexation, we will say that it is reasonable for property owned by the municipality to be inside the town limits and village limits. There will be no gain in property taxes but property owned by the municipality should be in the legal jurisdiction of the municipality, not Lincoln County.

Expect to hear differing opinions during the public hearings. Some people may discuss situations you hadn't considered. Others could repeat your thoughts. And attending a second public hearing is also important because people have had time to reconsider their previous comments and could add to what they said before. Or they could have more information to affirm their previous statements. Or they could change their mind. If you attend the second public hearing you will know what is said and which statements were refuted and which statements were emphasized as being important.

Don't assume that just because the majority of the people are in favor of annexation the elected officials will agree. Don't assume that just because the majority of the people object to annexation the elected officials will agree. The public hearing is for input but the elected officials will make their decision with or without input.

Input is important!

Inside The Capitol

SANTA FE - Imagine the New Mexico Legislature with almost a third of its members ineligible to run next year because their term limits kicked in.

That's the situation now in 18 states around the nation, including Colorado and Arizona, in which some 400 legislators are barred from seeking re-election in 2000.

By my count, 35 New Mexico legislators will reach the point of being in office 12 or more years in 2000. Twelve years is usually the maximum state term-limit laws allow legislators to serve. In some cases, the limits are shorter for House members, who run every two years.

New Mexico will never have a term-limit law because the public can't initiate legislation in our state. Initiative and referendum were a trendy populist concept at the time New Mexico was admitted to the Union, but Congress was fearful of laws being "made in the streets" by New Mexicans, mostly because of our highly-minority population. It wasn't because we were a "Wild West" state, because Arizona had more than its share of gun-slingers, bordellos and gambling halls when Congress approved its constitution at the same time.

Some lawmakers support term limits, but it would be difficult in any state to find a majority who want to impose such a restriction on themselves. Constitutional amendment proposals have been introduced in New Mexico providing for voter initiative and for term limits but they never get far.

The closest New Mexico has ever come to term limits was this year when Sen. Billy McKibben of Hobbs tried a back door approach by tying term limits to a legislative retirement formula that maximized at 12 years and fell off rapidly after that. To get the votes of old-timers, he eliminated the penalty for those retiring in 2000.

McKibben covered every base in order to get his pseudo-term limit bill passed. He convinced Senate Republican Whip Stuart Ingle of Portales to put his name on the measure as the prime sponsor; he got GOP endorsement for the bill and he talked state GOP Chairman John Dendahl into not going after Democrats who voted for the legislation.

But there were two other unexpected hurdles. The bill sped through the Senate 30-2 and was on its way to doing the same in the House when Rep. George Buffett, the Albuquerque Republican who publishes a newsletter with a 9,600 circulation, vowed to print the name of every Republican who voted for the measure. The bill passed the House with only a 35-28 margin.

The other problem was Gov. Gary Johnson, who announced he would need a lobotomy before signing a bill increasing legislative retirement benefits. At that point, Dendahl withdrew GOP support of the bill, and although he said nothing about it at the time, he also canceled his agreement not to go after Democrats who had voted for the bill.

In the special session, the Senate overrode Johnson's veto 25-6 but House Speaker Raymond Sanchez never scheduled an over-ride vote in that chamber.

Ruidoso Agrees To Settle Suit With Mescalero Apache Tribe

by Doris Cherry

Ruidoso Village Council after a short closed session in its regular meeting Tuesday, July 13, agreed to the conditional terms of settlement of a lawsuit with the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

Several years ago a company called C-Net that had purchased the old Carrizo Inn had agreed to provide the village of Ruidoso several water rights in exchange for being put on the village water and sewer system. The village installed the water and sewer lines and the Inn was hooked on to village service. But before the exchange took place, C-Net donated the Carrizo Inn and condo property to the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

The Village of Ruidoso protested the property being placed in trust before the water rights were transferred. The village filed a lawsuit in federal court against the Federal Department of Interior Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) intent to put the Carrizo Inn properties under trust on behalf of the Mescalero Apache Tribe because of the pending water rights transfer. However, the BIA then protested and filed suit against the village of Ruidoso over the transfer of the C-Net water rights to the village.

After many years of negotiations between the BIA attorneys and village attorneys Charles Hennick and John Underwood, they agreed to certain conditional terms to settle the suit.

Underwood said that within the month it will be up to the Mescalero Apache Tribal Council to also approve the concept of the settlement and conditional terms before it is finalized. Underwood did not state what the settlement terms are.

EDITOR: By now, most New Mexicans know about the state's Lottery Success Scholarship, which has opened doors for many students who otherwise might have been unable to afford a college education. However, some of this year's high school graduates might be unaware of one important aspect of this scholarship program: Students who wish to take advantage of the Lottery Success Scholarship must enroll in one of the state's public colleges or universities in the first regular semester following high school graduation.

The Lottery Success Scholarship is available to recent graduates of New Mexico high schools who earn a 2.5 grade point average in their first semester at a New Mexico public college or university. As long as the students maintain that grade average, the scholarship will pay their tuition for up to eight semesters, beginning with their second semester in college.

With rare exceptions, students who put college off for just one semester will lose this remarkable opportunity that the state of New Mexico has made available. I encourage all college-bound members of the high school class of 1999 to keep this in mind. If you expect to take advantage of the Lottery Success Scholarship and have not yet enrolled in college, don't delay!

Capitan Hires Police Officer

by Doris Cherry

Capitan village trustees hired Robert L. Sheppard as the newest police officer during their regular meeting Monday, July 12.

Trustees also held public hearings on the priority projects on the village Infrastructure Capital Improvements Plan (ICIP) with intent to apply for a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG). After discussion trustees agreed to make improvements to subdivision roads Main, Mount Capitan, Long, part of Aspen and Valley View as the first priority; water improvements the second priority; remodeling of the old police and fire station with intent to sell it to a nonprofit entity, drainage, and make sidewalks and street lights as a lower priority. Sidewalks and lighting had previously been listed first priority.

Also a public hearing was held for the 1999-2000 fiscal year budget. The $1.6 million total budget included $491,217 in the general fund, which included an estimated $241,125 in revenues from gross receipt taxes. Mayor Norman Renfro said the increase in gross receipt tax revenues over the last few years was almost unbelievable.

During discussion, Renfro said the trustees voted to table the ordinance that would allow the village to hire an administrator at this time. Instead he asked that raises be given to clerk Kathryn Griffin, and Department of Motor Vehicles and assistant clerk Kateri Hicks. As for salary increases for the other employees, Renfro asked permission to pay the group health insurance premium as a salary increase. This way, no social security or other taxes will be imposed on the increase.

Trustees will finalize the budget at a special meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, July 19.

In other business, trustees:

-Awarded the annual gravel bid to Pat Huey who offered immediate availability and delivery via belly-dump trailer to work sites.

-Approved the mayor's appointment of Van Shamblin to the village planning commission.

-Okayed the mayor's appointment of Lennie Lippmann, Rita Crawford, George W. Tiffin, Herman Otero, and Al Barton to the new Citizens Advisory Committee.

-Discussed the three bids offered for a new phone system. They will award the bid at the special meeting.

-Discussed purchase of a public address (PA) system for the village meeting room. Griffin said she obtained a quote from Radio Shack for a microphone, amplifier and recording system for $600. Lippmann said at that price he would take up a donation. Resident Gordon Jones said a PA system would be the best

Carrizozo Discusses

and find out if they have been contacted. Ward said that if the lanes get fixed there would be more bowlers. Stuzi Fern, secretary of the Wednesday Night Mixers at the bowling alley, also spoke on resurfacing of the bowling lanes. She said she hopes the resurfacing gets done as there are great plans for the bowling center. Fern said that Ward and she want very much to have the county qualifying rounds for the State Senior Olympics held in Carrizozo rather than Ruidoso.

Walter Hill, representing the Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department, gave a list of fire hydrants that were not working and asked if the town could check into getting the fire hydrants into working order. Hernandez asked Jim Payne, the town foreman, to check the six fire hydrants that are on the list. Hill said the fire department is willing to help if needed. Hernandez told Hill the council would like to have someone representing the fire department at every regular meeting so the council could correspond with them and know where they stand.

The trustees received a special plant report from Marcos Parra, field specialist for the New Mexico Rural Water. The New Mexico Rural Water has been checking the water treatment plant since Carrizozo has had no water operator and is not charging for this service. This report was on the water treatment plant operation's for the month of June 1 through the 22. The report said that the water plant has been doing good with the turbidity with levels between 0.052-0.129 NTU and chlorine between 0.5-1.2 ppm at the plant.

Hernandez said that Carrizozo's new water treatment operator, Stephen Sale, will start July 19.

Payne also discussed the fact that Kelly Construction Company never made a final inspection of the water filtration plant. There have been several things that need to be fixed. The new operator said that Payne and he should be able to handle these things. Payne said that when he contacts Kelly Construction they are always busy. Hernandez said that every project needs a final inspection. Payne says that the town has always been denied a final inspection. Hernandez said that the town would get with the town attorney, David Stevens, about the situation and find out why the final inspection was not done.

Harvey Payton, a resident of Carrizozo, asked the trustees about the intersection at C and 12th Street where he says there is a high rise of about three to five inches at the intersection. Trustee Wesley Lindsay said that he and Payne would come and look at the intersection as Payne said that the intersection was fine. The trustees gave their approval to allocate gasoline road funds of $20,000 for a pilot street project by Armstrong Construction Company of Roswell. The streets chosen were First Street by the Post Office, 9th Street by the City Hall (the dirt section), and 2nd Street between Hwy 54 and 12th Street. They will be starting on First Street. Hernandez says that normally it would cost $20,000 for just one of the three streets and Carrizozo will be getting the three streets done. This is a pilot project which will be using a new pavement. Armstrong will level the streets and do whatever is necessary to pave them. Armstrong wanted to pick streets that are well used as the state will come and look at the streets to see if it meets state and federal specifications. Armstrong wants to use this new pavement on Hwy 380 East. If Carrizozo had not accepted the project, they would have gone to Capitan.

Hernandez read a letter from Dale Goad, a dentist at the Carrizozo Health Center, which asked the town to put fluoride in the town's water supply. He said that he has been contacted by the New Mexico Public Health Division (NMPHD) in regard to the lack of fluoridation in the Carrizozo water supply. The letter said that the fluoridation equipment at the water plant was not being used and disconnected. He said that he understood that the NMPHD would supply the fluoride to Carrizozo at no cost and that the monitoring required minimal time for an employee. His letter stated that fluoridation of the water supply has important benefits that will improve the town's dental health. He stated in the letter that many children in early years had carious primary teeth are now free of any decay or restorations in their permanent teeth when fluoride is used in the water supply. Goad asked that the trustees direct the water department to begin fluoridation as soon as possible.

Hernandez told the trustees that he understands that fluoride treatment is good for the young children, but that with anyone over the age of 40 fluoride treatment has a tendency to make the teeth brown on the edges. Payne says that the machine is not broken; it has been disconnected and if the council wants fluoridation of the water that is fine. Payne said that from the technical assis-

McKibben could introduce his measure as a constitutional amendment next year and let voters, rather than the governor decide if they are willing to buy term limits at the cost of higher legislative retirement benefits.

Meanwhile, expect to see some interesting developments in states where term limits kick in next year. Term limits are normally favored by minority parties as a way of getting rid of entrenched members of the majority, thereby improving their chances of gaining control. That's why the now-Republican Congress has lost interest in its term limits promise to voters.

In Indiana, Democrats took over the House last year when term limits went into effect. In Arizona Democrats have a shot at gaining control of the Senate by winning three seats next year.

And what happens to lawmakers whose legislative careers are ended term limits? They run for other offices, of course.

He spoke about being an actor and making dreams come true. Raymond, a resident of Carrizozo off and on for the past two years while he was a truck driver, does stand-up comedy. His stage name is "Wolfman". Raymond has performed in Albuquerque, Tucson, Colorado Springs and Lubbock. He said he appreciated the encouragement he received from the people in Carrizozo. Also performing at UFO Encounter was Ethan Phillips who played Neelix on Star Trek.

Ranchmen's Camp Meeting

been a Camp preacher before. Harmon was raised by missionary parents in Africa. Music director will again be John Walker and Jon Thompson will lead the youth group.

Daily services in the tabernacle will be at 11:00 a.m., 3:00 and 8:00 p.m. Meals are served chuck wagon style at 6:00 to 9:00 a.m., 12:30 and 6:30 p.m.

Camping space is available at no charge for your own campers or tents. Restrooms are provided. All children must be sponsored or accompanied by adults. The altitude is 7,000 feet, so rain wear and jackets are essential for comfort. If you are unable to camp, come for as many services and meals as you wish.

Please sign up at the registration booth where directions are given to camping space, each day's schedule, simple rules, and help or information given. All forms of volunteer participation is welcome, but no selling or un-Christian propaganda hand-outs. Games and recreation activities for all ages are provided.

A Memorial Service under the direction of Glenda Armstrong and Renee Grant, for those who passed away during the year, will be held Saturday afternoon. Turn in any names you wish remembered at the registration booth. A business meeting will be Sunday afternoon. The last service will be Sunday night, July 25.

There is no more satisfying way to spend vacation days than at Nogal Mesa Camp Meeting, away from all the problems of our modern world. Your heart will sing along with all the voices, laugh in joint camaraderie with fellow campers. Teenagers may help clean and dry dishes without a dissenting word, and laugh and participate in the antics at nightly bonfires.

The camping days make life-long friends who pass the word to bring newcomers the next year. When we are looking for ways to combat the ills in our society, especially in our schools, try the inspiration of Camp Meeting, where everyone is a friend. Renew and revitalize moral values in the comradeship of our fellow man.

One of the preachers ended his last sermon at the last yearly service by saying, "I apologize for being so long winded. I know that you all must have religious indigestion by now."

For 60 successful Camps, Nogal Mesa has been a place to bring beauty and peace to the heart and soul of all who came to participate.

For 50 years I have been writing stories for publication in newspapers and magazines about the people and experiences of the Nogal Mesa Camp Meetings, and three books of its history. In one magazine, the editor asked me to tell how a family, parents and two children experienced Camp Meeting. Joe Evans read the article and told me, "Introduce me to those folks, I sure want to meet that family." I hated to tell him they were not real, but fictional. Only their experiences were real.

Every afternoon segregated meetings are held—the women in the tabernacle, young people in a large tent, and the men squatting on the ground under the limbs of a rugged juniper tree. In the rough trunk of the tree is carved "1940", Bob Peebles, a young neighbor of mine, took my old camera one day back in the early 50's and got pictures of the tree and the men there. They opened their hearts to discuss problems and joys outside the ears of their family members. This was their "man's" world and the tree their "Heavenly Hitchin' Post". As one man remarked, "We got us a church that grows bigger and better every year. We never have to fix the roof or lift a paint brush, and I reckon when you come down to facts, there couldn't be a prettier temple any place, cause God made this Hisself." One old man told me after Services, as he wiped tears from his cheeks, "I was a little tyke when my grandparents brought me West in a wagon train. We all had prayers every evening like this."

If you are enjoying our New Mexico summer, come to Camp. Signs are posted on U.S. 380 west of Capitan and east of Carrizozo, and on State Road 87 at the Nogal Lake turnout, to reach the campground. Watch the beautiful sunsets from the Mesa!

LEGAL NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION
SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY FOR DELINQUENT PROPERTY TAX

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of 7-38-53 thru 59, NMSA 1978, the Lincoln County Treasurer will offer for sale at public auction beginning on August 2, 1999, at 10:00 a.m. at the County Courthouse in Carrizozo, New Mexico, the following described personal property, the sale to continue until all the described property has been offered for sale.

THE TERMS OF THE SALE ARE AS FOLLOWS:

1. A sale property made under the provisions of 7-38-53 thru 59, NMSA 1978 constitutes full payment of all delinquent taxes, penalties and interest that are a lien against the property at the time of sale, and sale extinguishes the lien. The property is sold subject to the lien for property taxes for the year of the sale, provided those taxes are not yet delinquent. The buyer at the public auction, or his successor in interest will be liable for those property taxes when they become due.

2. The description of the following personal property is designed to permit the identification and location of personal property, by potential purchasers, or taxpayers. The Lincoln County Treasurer warrants no title to properties purchased at public auction sale.

3. Section 7-38-74 NMSA 1978, prohibits officers or employees of the State of ANY of its political subdivisions engaged in the administration of the property tax from directly or indirectly acquiring an interest in, buying or profiting from any property sold by the County Treasurer for delinquent taxes, except that an officer or employee may purchase property sold for delinquent taxes if he is the owner of the property and was the owner of the property at the time the taxes became delinquent. Any officer or employee violating Section 7-38-74 is guilty of a fourth degree felony and shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) or imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than five years, or both; and he shall also be automatically removed from office or have his employment terminated upon conviction. A personal property sale in violation of Section 7-38-74 is void.

4. Successful bidders are required to make payment in full of the amount bid before leaving the premises on the day of the sale. Payment is required to be by money order, certified check, cashier's check or personal check which is accompanied by bank letter of credit for the amount of or in excess of the amount of the personal check drawn to the order of the Lincoln County Treasurer.

5. Upon receiving payment of the personal property sold, the Lincoln County Treasurer shall execute and deliver a certificate of sale to the purchaser. The certificate of sale transfers all the former property owners interest in the personal property as of the date of the sale. The purchaser takes the personal property free of any unrecorded or untitled interests unknown to him at the time of the sale.

6. The sold price of the personal property at this public auction sale is not to be taken or considered as being the value of the property for property taxation purposes.

7. All persons intending to bid upon property are required to register and obtain bidders numbers from the auctioneer and to provide the auctioneer with their full name and address. Certificate of sale will be issued to registered names only. Conveyances to other parties will be the responsibility of the buyer at auction. Persons acting as "agents" for other persons will register accordingly and must provide documented proof as being a bona fide agent at the time of payment for property.

8. The auctioneer reserves the right to withdraw from sale any of the properties listed below; to sell any of the properties listed together; or to sell only a portion of any of the properties listed below. If any dispute arises between or among the bidders, the auctioneer's decision with respect to the dispute is final, and the auctioneer may auction the property again, in his discretion. The auctioneer reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The personal property listed below may not be sold for less than the listed minimum price.

(More) Carrizozo Discusses

tance he has been getting from Las Cruces and the Rural Water Association it is not advisable to use fluoride in the water. He said that there is natural fluoride in the water. Payne said the trustees should talk to an expert not him on the subject. Payne said that the new water operator said he would have no problems at all with it. Payne says that there is a new pump and everything necessary there except that they would need to get some new fluoride as what is on hand is probably out-of-date. He said that fluoride dust has to be strictly controlled. Payne said professionals have advised him not to put it in. Hernandez said that the town used it back in the 1980's and he feels that if the operator knows what he is doing there should be no problem.

Trustee Eileen Lovelace asked the audience at the meeting what their opinions were. One resident of Carrizozo, MaryLou White, said that the New Mexico schools do fluoride treatment in the schools from kindergarten and she thinks through the twelfth grade and it is an excellent program. White said that the only problem is that some parents, not understanding the program, sign saying that their children are not supposed to have it. She suggested talking to the school to see what they are doing. Another resident suggested that the trustees check with the school and also with the state and federal government as to what their recommendations are. Hernandez suggested to the trustees that they check with some of the professionals and see what they think about it.

Payne said he would show the trustees the reports from last year where fluoride was in the water naturally. He said that if you already have fluoride in the water and add more to it you could go over the maximum detection limits.

The trustees tabled this item to the next agenda and they are going to check for more information.

The trustees tabled the request from the chamber of commerce for the 6th annual street fair parade on 12th Street until their next meeting.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Town of Carrizozo Town Council will be Tuesday, July 27.

investment the village could make. "How can you take care of village government when the audience can't hear what the trustees say?" Jones asked.

Discussed the annual contract amount with the Humane Society of Lincoln County for kenneling of stray animals. Renfro and chief of police Carroll Durbin met with the humane society and found that Capitan people bring in eight percent of the animals at the facility and the $6,800 annual charge is eight percent of their annual budget. During discussion Lippmann said a local vet is willing to provide a small holding facility for stray animals. Lippmann also offered to transport the animals to the humane society if the village provide him a truck or paid him mileage to use his own truck.

Municipal Judge Jack Johnson said the village needs a part time animal control officer. He said he wants to discuss the village dog license situation at the next meeting because many people are not licensing their dogs. He contended that if the village enforces the $25 fee to reclaim dogs and purchase of licenses that revenue would pay for the animal control officer.

Capitan Residents Injured In Accident

A Capitan husband and wife were airlifted to Albuquerque in critical condition after they were involved in a head-on crash on State Road 48 on the south side of Capitan Sunday, July 11.

According to a state police spokesperson Ben Benally, 47 and his wife Cynthia Benally, 51, both of Capitan, were transported to Lincoln County Medical Center (LOMC) by Ruidoso Advanced Life Support (RALS) then airlifted to UNM Hospital in critical condition. Capitan ambulance transported Charles Summer, 45, Capitan, and another unnamed person to LOMC where they were treated. The accident report was called into the Lincoln County Sheriff's office dispatch at 11:36 a.m. According to the police report, Ben Benally was driving his 1991 Ford Ranger pickup northbound when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel causing his vehicle to cross over the double yellow line and crash head-on into the 1984 Ford Bronco driven by Summer who was southbound. Citations are pending as the accident is still under investigation, the state police spokesperson said.

have been concerns about the way city hall looks. Although the false front was popular with tourists and some locals, the exterior wood siding is so decayed with termites it will not support another false front. Renfro said he wants the village to consider some way to enlarge city hall and improve its exterior.
