

Vote Tuesday, November 7

by Doris Cherry

Tuesday, November 7, voters will go to the polls to elect a new president and 16 other officials in various federal, state and county offices.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. throughout the county for voting. If unsure of what precinct to vote in, call the Lincoln County Clerk's office at 648-2394 for information.

When voters get into the electronic voting machines, they will be faced with the General Election Ballot. Voters have 16 to 17 elected federal, state and county positions and two New Mexico judge retentions to consider.

Along with the candidates, all ballots in all precincts have five questions asking voters if they are for or against:

-The 3.0 mill levy for operation and maintenance of Lincoln County Medical Center and clinics in Carrizozo and Corona and Hondo;

-Two amendments to the New Mexico Constitution the first asking to allow Albuquerque and Bernalillo County to become one government unit, the second to remove term limits on county elected officials.

-Three separate statewide bond issues for senior programs, state higher education institutions and for various state projects. (See related article.)

THIS IS HOW WE VOTE says Lincoln County Clerk Martha Proctor to 4th and 5th graders in Sidney Tregembo's class in Capitan. Proctor spoke to the students about the election process, then allowed them to vote on an electronic voting machine. The students had requested they be able to vote for the candidates and questions as they will appear on the voting machines for the general election on November 7 general election. Results of the student "mock election" will be revealed next week.

Constitutional Amendments And Bond Issue Questions

By Doris Cherry

Voters in the upcoming general election will not only have the candidates to consider, they will have to decide on two constitutional amendments and three bond questions.

The following information was taken from the 2000 General Election Voter Guide published by the office of the Secretary of State Rebecca Vigil-Giron, and developed by the staff of the Legislative Council Service. The guides are available at senior citizens centers in Lincoln County and from the Lincoln County Clerk's office in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.

Constitutional Amendment 1, proposes to amend Article 10 of the New Mexico Constitution to permit Bernalillo County to become an urban county with governmental powers and to further permit Bernalillo County and incorporated municipalities within Bernalillo County to choose to be governed by a Single Urban County Government. The amendment will add two new sections to the state constitution Article 10, to provide a mechanism for Bernalillo County to become an urban county and a mechanism to merge with the City of Albuquerque to form a single urban government.

The amendment provides that initially an election must be held in Bernalillo

County before January 1, 2002 on whether the county should become an urban county. The amendment then calls for another election to be held for county voters before January 1, 2004 on whether the county should merge with the City of Albuquerque to form a single urban government.

The amendment provides for the Bernalillo County Commission to appoint a charter commission to draft a proposed urban county charter, which will be submitted to the voters of the county.

Arguments in favor of the amendment include how such an urban county can work better provide services to everyone in the fast growing Bernalillo County; how it will give residents of the county a choice to consider creating a "home rule" county and whether to merge Bernalillo County with Albuquerque into a single urban government.

Arguments against the amendment state the amendment unfairly poses two independent questions in a single amendment; that it should not limit the proposed home-rule powers to address the needs of a growing population just to Bernalillo County; the wishes of the residents in the unincorporated areas of Bernalillo County will be overwhelmed by voters statewide and in Albuquerque; power is taken away from voters by giving the charter commission the power to determine which elective offices should be changed to appointed offices; both the amendment and process are confusing, and other arguments.

Constitutional Amendment 2 proposes an amendment to Article 10, Section 2 of the New Mexico Constitution to eliminate term limits for county elected officials.

Currently elected county officials can only serve two consecutive terms before they must sit out at least two years before seeking county office again. The amendment proposes to remove any limit on the number of terms that elected county officials may serve.

Arguments for the amendment state the term limits violate democracy's basic premise that voters have the ultimate power to select who represents them; terms limit artificially limit the pool of available and qualified candidates for elective office; term limits don't work because elected officials often exchange offices with deputy clerks until the term limit is passed, then run again; term limits removes elected officials who have valuable experience and knowledge through their seniority; term limits create a "lame duck" incumbent thus removing some accountability for actions; the section has been

County Asks LCSWA To Refund County Customers

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Commissioners, on a 3-1 vote, approved changes to County Ordinance 2000-5 "Providing for the efficient and sanitary collection of solid waste" that gives up the county commission's authority to set trash rates for county residential customers to the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) and reflects an increase in residential trash rates set by the LCSWA board. But LCSWA will have to credit all county customers who paid the increased trash rates prior to the approval of the new county ordinance that allows the rate change.

Meeting October 19 in their chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, county commissioners Rex Wilson, Ray Nunley, Bill Schwettmann voted in favor of adopting the ordinance that changes the mandatory county residential trash collection fee from $5.25 a month to $6.75 a month and gives rate setting abilities to the LCSWA board. County commissioner Leo Martinez cast the only no vote. During discussion he voiced concern about the county's liability for placing liens on behalf of LCSWA for unpaid county residential trash bills, and the accountability for the environmental gross receipt taxes (EGRT) that now go back to LCSWA.

During the introduction and public hearing portion on the ordinance, county attorney Alan Morel said the changes to the ordinance were needed to remove the conflict between the rate increase approved by LCSWA in August and the fees listed in the ordinance that was passed in 1998.

One of the major changes in the ordinance is how LCSWA had determined its board could set rates without having to go to each entity for approval. "In my opinion," Morel continued, "those (rate setting) powers

Private Doctors Not Reimbursed For Indigent Coverage

by Doris Cherry

When Lincoln County Commissioners went through the public process to establish an indigent health care fund that is financed with a one-eighth gross receipt tax, the intent was to help cover unpaid bills incurred with the hospital and local doctors by poor patients.

But last legislative session, two separate and different bills signed by the governor caused a great deal of confusion about who can be reimbursed from the county indigent health care funds (IHCF). Similar in content, the last bill the governor signed however did not include private doctors and other such private medical providers as eligible for the indigent health care funds. Dr. Arlene Brown of Ruidoso is concerned about the situation and corresponded with the county about a state attorney general opinion that supports the reimbursements of individual doctors from the IHCF.

At the Lincoln County Commission meeting October 19 in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, Dr.

Brown said three counties in the state requested the AG opinion on whether to allow physicians to get IHCF. Requested by State Senator Tim Jennings of Roswell, the opinion was issued in September by AG deputy Stewart Bluestone.

But county attorney Alan Morel said his recommendation was to let the legislature fix the program in the upcoming session in January. If approved, the county can start taking applications from medical providers to participate in the IHCF even before the state measure takes effect. "There is a liability if you approve the indigent fund payments and the legislature does not enact the changes," Morel said.

Dr. Brown said the current system of IHCF payments to only the hospital is an unfair burden to medical practitioners in Lincoln County. She said a lot of providers are not able to be on the list of those eligible for the IHCF reimbursements.

Dr. Brown said State Senator Tim Jennings is to introduce a bill to clarify the IHCF. County commission chairman Rex Wilson said he was reluctant to change the county policies for the IHCF before legislation is approved. "We (commissioners) could be personally liable if we pay out the IHCF to ineligible providers," Wilson added.

Morel said if the legislature fixes the problem at its next session, then his concerns are deleted and the commission could expand its list of medical providers eligible for the IHCF then. "If you rely on the AG opinion and it's wrong, you will be liable," Morel added.

County commissioner Leo Martinez said the intent of the bills were to include doctors for reimbursement from the IHCF. He recommended the county start taking applications from private doctors and medical providers now, in anticipation of new legislation.

Morel agreed and recommended the county take applications from all providers.

IHCF coordinator Teresa Montoya said another major concern is the outcome of the hospital mill levy election. "If we have to pay the sole community provider payment out of the Indigent Health Care Fund, there will be no money left for indigent care," she said. Currently Presbyterian Health Services (PHS), that leases and manages the county owned Lincoln County Medical Center, pays the sole community provider payments from the hospital mill levy on private properties.

Wilson said he preferred to wait and see what the legislature will do with the issue.

Alto resident Michele Restock said the perception among medical providers is the county does not support the sole community provider fund. She questioned whether the issue could be a constraint of trade concern.

Commissioners receive and approve reports on IHCF claims on a monthly basis, mostly contained within the consent agenda.

Commissioners also: -Heard Morel say Hondo Valley Schools agreed to the language about indemnification in the joint powers agreement for the Hondo Health Clinic. Once the finalized language is sent to the state Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) for final approval, the county will sign over the agreed $180,000 from the hospital mill levy fund, for the Hondo Clinic. A grand opening for the clinic was held on Friday, October 20.

-Heard a request from the Lincoln County Maternal Child Health Council to become the fiscal agent for the group. Council chair Genevieve Phelan said the county will have no conflict of interest such as a private fiscal agent could. She said the council needs a partner for an upcoming request for proposals (rfp) process of a Maternal Child Health Coordinator with state funds.

County commissioner Ray Nunley asked if this would require the county to hire another employee and where funds will come from. Wilson said the next step is to involve the county attorney to begin the process of changing the fiscal agents for the council.

New County Ambulance Somethings To Brag About

Lincoln County Emergency Medical Services has a new highly sophisticated ambulance to brag about.

According to the director of the program, Jim Stover, the ambulance is really a "rolling ICU." The ambulance has room for up to three patients and equipment such as ventilators, chest tube set ups, cardiac monitors and IV pumps.

As a rolling critical care unit, the ambulance has three sources of power—one primary and two back ups. The patient care area is separate from the truck because it has its own power and heating systems.

"The truck itself is pretty impressive too," Stover said in a release. The truck is a year 2000 model four wheel drive with a 454 engine. "This pretty much allows it to go wherever it is needed, including the more rural areas of Lincoln County," Stover added.

The sophisticated ambulance is mostly used for transporting patients to and from Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso. "As a rural community we have to have a much more sophisticated emergency medical system because many times we have to transport patients hundreds of miles."

VOTE NOVEMBER 7TH

Pd. for by Committee to Re-Elect Sheriff Tom Sullivan. Tim Rich, Chairman. Rene Burton, Treasurer.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF LINCOLN COUNTY

Dear Citizens,

With the November 7th general election only days away there are three candidates seeking the office of Lincoln County.

I have served three terms as Lincoln County Sheriff, from 1983-1986, and from 1997 to present, and would like for you to consider some of the issues.

Realistically, no candidate can guarantee you a "crime free community" wherein everyone will live happily ever after if he is elected.

However, a sheriff should possess certain qualities and skills in order to conduct a successful crime prevention program and maintain an effective law enforcement agency.

He should be a leader, a manager, an administrator, a planner, an organizer, a trainer, a mediator, a problem solver, a confidant, and above all use good judgement and common sense.

I feel that my broad overall career in law enforcement, which includes 6 years as a Texas State Trooper, 8 years as a narcotics agent and supervisor over a 31 county West Texas district, 8 years as Lincoln County Sheriff, and 10 years as an administrator in the New Mexico Corrections Department, uniquely qualifies me to once again serve as your sheriff.

I am proud of my record of accomplishments during my three terms as your elected sheriff and would like to serve you again. My main concern has always been for your personal safety and that of your children.

I pledge to do the best job I can with the resources available and to seek additional funding resources, (i.e., grant money to supplement the budget) to make the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office a professional, effective law enforcement agency that you can be proud of. I would only ask that, prior to casting your vote, you carefully examine the credentials and accomplishments of the candidates seeking this office. Hopefully your vote will be to reelect Sheriff Tom Sullivan. Lincoln County needs an experienced Sheriff.

Without neglecting my responsibilities as your elected Sheriff, I have made a sincere effort to contact as many as you as possible in person to ask for your vote. If I haven't had that opportunity, I am asking for your vote now.

Sincerely,

Tom Sullivan

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Your Vote Does Count

By Ruth Hammond

Very often people complain about government and how it is being run. Tuesday will be an excellent chance for everyone to have a say as to which candidates will be elected to run various governmental offices. Most of the publicity is about the presidential race, but there are other offices that will also be filled during the election Tuesday. As usual, The NEWS will not endorse candidates or predict winners in the races, with a possible few exceptions. The NEWS is confident that Pete Campos will be the winner in the race for State Senator District 8, Scot Key will be the winner in the race for District Attorney 12th Judicial District, John Langford will be the winner in the race for State Board of Education District 8, and Rex Wilson will be the winner in the race for Lincoln County Commissioner District 1. Anyone willing to bet against these predictions?

Other issues to be decided Tuesday will be three bond questions, two Constitutional amendment questions, and the Lincoln County Medical Center Mill Levy question. Each of these questions are explained in articles in this issue of The NEWS. If you need more information refer to the 2000 General Election Voter Guide published by the office of the Secretary of State Rebecca Vigil-Giron, and developed by the staff of the Legislative Council Service. The 2000 General Election Voter Guides are available at senior citizens centers in Lincoln County and from the Lincoln County Clerk's office in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo. It might take a while to read the portions you have questions about, but it will be worth it.

The main thing to remember is that your vote does count and you should cast your vote for the candidates you truly believe will do the best job for everyone, not just a select group. Being a politician can be difficult and it takes dedication to thoroughly research the issues before making a decision that could have long-lasting effects on the general public. Even small, seemingly unimportant issues can affect other issues. There are no small issues in the government process. Whether it is deciding which streets should be paved or where a new county facility should be built or what the criteria should be for newly proposed legislation, all issues are important. When one person is affected by governmental decisions, ALL people will eventually be affected one way or the other. Try to remember this when you cast your votes next Tuesday.

Election processes are changing. This year it will be difficult for candidates to analyze the votes by precinct because of the large number of Early and Absentee votes that have been cast around the state, not just in Lincoln County. If other states have Early and Absentee voting it could affect the results of all the national races. One thing we find especially annoying is the national predictions that will be announced when a small number of precincts have tallied and reported their results. As usual, the Lincoln County Courthouse will be filled with people watching the results on the computer terminals. We are fortunate to have this opportunity, provided by the elected officials and their staff members here in Lincoln County. Election Day is Tuesday, November 7th. Please VOTE!

Which Candidates Will Win?

Candidates Run It Down To The Last

Hot Commentary

by Doris Cherry

Candidates in the three way race for Lincoln County Sheriff are running it down to the last minute.

Incumbent Tom Sullivan is doing his job and speaking on behalf of his past experience and his hopes for the future of the Lincoln County SO.

Libertarian Tony (James A.) Seno is hitting the campaign hard on the basic Libertarian premise of slowing the war on drugs, and making county inmates learn a work ethic by work release programs in the woods.

Independent Ray Merritt has military police and private police/security experience. He worked for the Lincoln County SO and has some definite thoughts on the hiring and organization of the office.

A three way race is often difficult. A few votes one way or another can affect even a major party candidate.

The next president will appoint at least two new U.S. Supreme Court Justices, with a possibility of four others, as the current justices retire, age or fall ill. The next president will appoint many, many federal judges throughout the country. These judges have final say on the interpretation of laws and how they are applied.

The next president will appoint new secretaries of the different cabinets, including defense.

The next president will have to decide on what to do with expensive defense projects, and how to modernize our military.

On the county level, we have a sheriff's position, two county commissioners, as-essor and probate judge. They will make decisions affecting everyone who lives in the county for the next four years.

Regardless who is elected on November 7, there will be a massive reprinting of letter heads, changing of offices and staff, reorganization on all levels.

A few of our local candidates have the luxury of having no opponents. State Senator District 8 Democrat Pete Campos is unopposed. District Attorney 12th Judicial District Republican Scot Key and State Board of Education District 8 Republican John R. Lankford are also unopposed.

Having competition in an election is good for the public. It is also good for the candidates. Their pocketbooks and accountants may not agree. While it is more expensive to run a challenged campaign, such campaigning is good for the voters because it makes the officials seeking re-election and their opposing candidates get out, shake hands and touch base with the very people who will put them in these elected positions.

The electoral process has been modified in this country many times. From its origins among a highly selective group of voters, to the wide open ability to register anyone, the electoral process in the United States has evolved into an incredible thing. Let's make sure we take advantage of this process, because it is our privilege to have this ability.

If voters are unsure of where to go on Tuesday, November 7 election day, call the Lincoln County Clerk's office at 648-2394.

SANTA FE

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

SANTA FE - It's almost over. New Mexico has been courted by presidential candidates of all stripes as it has never been before. Even though we so often are the forgotten state, no place reflects the face of America better than the Land of Enchantment.

We may be unique in many ways, but somehow all our idiosyncrasies fit together to make us a bell-weather state. Will the rest of the nation follow our lead and pick the same president we do Tuesday? It will be close either way.

The presidential race has stayed close and the two major candidates seem to have grown from the experience. But they are still not quite ready for prime time. Their final debate was so much better than the first two, but I kept thinking, as I occasionally took a peek at the Yankees-Mariners baseball game, that a seven game series might have been about right for the debaters also.

Neither George W. Bush nor Al Gore approaches the verbal and personal skills of President Bill Clinton. Say about him what you may, and I've said most of those things too, he has a way of relating to the public that won him two presidential elections that no one would have predicted a year earlier. His address at the memorial for the sailors of the USS Cole was a masterful performance, saying just what should be said with a beautifully polished delivery. That sort of thing is important to us, and I cringed at the thought of either of his successors being in that spot.

But one of them will be. It will be close, as will many other races throughout the ballot, so get out there and vote. You don't have a right to complain if you don't do your duty.

Much hangs in the balance. Democrats could take over both houses of Congress and Republicans might do the same in New Mexico. Most likely both will further close the gap and make for some very evenly-matched battles in both bodies. Republicans, who never have fared well in New Mexico's judicial elections, have some strong candidates this year, some of whom could prevail.

The Legislature has a large number of incredibly hard-fought match-ups, the Sanchez v. Sanchez race to depose the House Speaker being the marquee bout. In the Bemalillo area is a race between Dr. Steve Komadina and lawyer Brad Hays that is bringing in big outside money. Democrat Janice Paster's effort to recapture the seat she lost to Republican Ramsay Gorham has reached vitriolic proportions, with allegations of lying, immorality, smear tactics, nastiness and racism being thrown back and forth. Gorham even had to defend herself against charges she has been a beauty queen, heaven forbid.

In other races, not mentioned previously, Democrat Mimi Stewart as a tough face-off against Greg Mortensen to keep her Albuquerque Northeast Heights seat that can swing either way. Likewise for Albuquerque Republican Arthur Hawkins against Democrat Al Park. Hawkins has won, lost, and won his seat in the last three elections.

Up in Northwest New Mexico, Democrat Jerry Sandoz of Farmington is facing his usual battle to hold onto a heavily Republican district. His opponent this time is James Nicholas Tinnen. If Sandoz were to win and Speaker Raymond Sanchez lose, Sandoz could be a compromise speaker.

This campaign season can't end without one more mention of the Albuquerque District attorney race in which Democrat Kari Brandenburg revealed that Republican Skip Vernon sent her an e-mail that looked suspiciously like a love note. Various parties have weighed as to whether it was meant for Brandenburg, Vernon's wife or another woman.

Brandenburg says she thinks it was for her, but says she doesn't think Vernon, a self described poet philosopher, has a thing for her. "I'm too old, too tired and not Skip's type," she says. Albuquerqueans must decide whether they want a poet philosopher named Skip or an old, tired Karl to be their chief crime fighter.

Constitutional Amendments

amended three times trying to find satisfactory combinations.

Arguments against the Constitutional Amendment 2 include the term limits have been imposed on elected county officials since New Mexico became a state; the constitution should not be subject to constant change and the provision has been changed twice in the past eight years; the current term limits only produce an enforced retirement for two years; term limits prevent the "flexibility" resulting from continued office-holding; term limits are good for democracy because they lower the barriers to political office that discourage challengers and term limits by preventing the accumulation of seniority by certain officials, reduce inequalities in the distribution of legislative powers of county commissioners.

Bond question A asks voters to approve the issuance of $5,812,567 to make capital expenditures for certain senior citizens centers with the bonds to be paid with property taxes. Among the 124 proposed expenditures for vehicles and equipment for senior citizens centers and program statewide, $45,000 will be dedicated to purchase vehicles for senior centers in Lincoln County and $9,100 will be used to purchase meals equipment for the senior centers in Lincoln County.

Bond question B asks voters to authorize issuance and sale of $58,282,000 in bonds for Public Educational Capital Improvements, to be paid with property taxes. Of that $7,200,000 will go for educational television digital equipment at higher education institutions statewide and $5 million for information technology statewide.

The remaining funds would be distributed as the following:

—$900,000 for Eastern New Mexico University for the Portales and Roswell campuses.

—$5.4 million to New Mexico Highlands for a science and technology building and to construct a women's softball field, renovate an athletic field house and weight room and upgrade the swimming pool on the Las Vegas campus.

—$2.8 million to New Mexico Tech in Socorro for renovations of Cramer and Weir Hall and $1.6 million for a student services building.

—To New Mexico State University, $5 million for a health and social services building at the main Las Cruces campus; $200,000 for roof repairs at the Carlsbad branch; $500,000 for the engineering building at the main campus; $500,000 for an arena at the equestrian complex on the main campus.

—To University of New Mexico, $8 million for a planning and architecture building; $1 million to purchase patient care equipment for the health services center at UNM in Albuquerque; $1 million for phase 2 of the education center in Taos.

—For Western New Mexico University, $325,000 to complete the center for information technology at the campus in Silver City; $1.4 million to renovate Sechlar Hall on the Silver City campus; $1 million for lockers, weight room and meeting rooms at the stadium and athletic facilities on the Silver City campus.

—To the Northern New Mexico State School, $300,000 for improvements at the El Rito campus in Rio Arriba County; $150,000 for site improvements at the Espanola campus.

—To the New Mexico Junior College, $500,000 for improvements at the Hobbs campus; $1 million to construct and furnish the western heritage museum at the college.

—For the San Juan college, $1.5 million to expand the library and student center on the campus in Farmington; $500,000 for phase 3 of the San Juan County college community family center in Aztec.

—Luna Vocational Tech will get $400,000 for a health care training facility in Las Vegas.

—$1.5 million to New Mexico Military Institute to renovate Lea Hall on the campus in Roswell.

—$850,000 to New Mexico School for the deaf in Alamogordo to renovate campus facilities to comply with safety codes and improve accessibility.

—To the New Mexico office of Indian Affairs $1 million to continue construction of the Shiprock campus of Dine College; $1 million for a multipurpose building for the Institute of American Indian Arts in Santa Fe.

Bond question C asks voters to authorize issuance and sale of $26,212,500 in bonds for state facilities, to be paid with property taxes. If approved funds are to be distributed as the following:

—$10 million to continue converting the state's microwave system from analog to digital technology.

—To the office of cultural affairs $8.5 million to design, construct and furnish a new palace of governors annex in Santa Fe; $2.3 million to acquire land for a parking facility for the national Hispanic Cultural Center in Albuquerque; $300,000 to construct the national atomic museum in Albuquerque; $350,000 for a facility at Bosque Redondo Memorial and Museum in Fort Sumner.

—To the state parks division, $1,047 million for field and infrastructure improvements at the Balloon Fiesta state park in Albuquerque.

—To the state game and fish department, $350,000 for land and construction of a warm water fish hatchery in Santa Rosa.

A GLIMPSE OF THE MINING HISTORY OF THE SOUTHWEST

The following information is taken from the 'International Industrial Record', a mining publication (Devoted to the General MINING and Industrial Interests of the Great Southwest), which is printed on the front page of the 80 page booklet, and was published in El Paso, TX on July of 1901. The Lincoln County News will publish the entire booklet in the following weeks depending on space available. The publication is filled with in-depth history of the mining industry in and around Lincoln County and New Mexico. We hope you enjoy it.

The Detroit Copper Co., the principal stockholders in which are the same as those who control the Copper Queen at Bisbee, operate a large smelter, with converters, and a 500-ton concentrator at Morenci. This concern has just completed a 36 inch gauge railroad from Morenci to Guthrie, 18 miles distant, where it connects with the Arizona & New Mexico road. The new line follows down Morenci canyon, making four complete loops over high trestles. The Detroit concentrator, in charge of G.E. Hunt, has crushers, trommels, thirty-two jigs, two Bryan grinders, two sets high-speed rolls, twenty-eight concentrators, five Bartlett tables, numerous hydraulic classifiers and settlers -- all operated by three gas engines. From 450 to 500 tons of ore are milled daily. It is delivered to the crushing floor by belt conveyors. The jig product is divided into seven grades, which include over 70 per cent of the mill savings. The table products grade all the way from very coarse and heavy to the lightest siltines. The water used in the mill is economized, and a small saving of values made by a system of classifiers and settlers devised by Superintendent Hunt. The system consists of eight redwood tanks, 10 feet diameter and 18 feet deep, each having a tube about one foot in diameter that stands in the center of the tank, the lower end being a foot or two above the bottom of the tank. The upper end of this tube, which is even with the top of the tank, receives the tailings from the jigs and tables, discharging same at the bottom of the tank. As the tank is thus kept full of water, the sand and slime settle to the bottom, the tolerably clear water constantly overflowing at the top is carried to the mill for use again. The slimes from these tanks are concentrated a second time. The mill concentrates for February produced 288 tons of copper, the ores having run about 4.20 per cent copper. The ores concentrated are largely sulphides, very siliceous and carry some aluminum. Considerable amount of copper is also saved by precipitating that in solution by scrap iron.

The Shannon group of about forty claims belongs to the Shannon Copper Co., composed largely of New York, Connecticut, Montana and Arizona people, P. Wiseman being manager. This group covers the principal portion of Black Mountains, near Metcalf. This mountain stands between Chase and King gulches and is covered by a capping of iron hematite, with shoots of copper carbonates, below which appear to be three parallel ledges, trending north and south, and separated by parallel bodies of porphyry. These three ledges -- described as the east, west and center -- range from 50 to 100 feet wide, carrying copper sulphides and carbonates, with considerable black oxides. The carbonates here are not much decomposed, as in many places, but are firm and hard. At various depths there are found masses of cuprite and occasionally copper glance. Much of the ore here appears to be unusually high grade. The property has a large amount of development consisting of a number of tunnels which cut through the mountains; some of them are crosscuts and others follow the trend of the ore bodies. The lowest tunnel cuts through the mountains 350 feet below the surface, all the tunnels being connected by winzes and upraises. At the surface there is much open-cut work. In many places the ore quarried out runs 45 per cent iron and 6 to 10 per cent copper. A shipment of 1000 tons from an open cut ran 10 to 15 per cent copper. The porphyry horses, which separate the main ledges, carry some copper. This company recently bonded an adjoining group of eleven claims, for which it is said they will pay $650,000 to the A.C. Co. The Shannon people have commenced the erection of a 300-ton smelter at a point one mile south of Clifton and are building a railroad spur to it.

The purchase of about 80 copper claims near Clifton by the General Electric company was noted in this paper in a recent issue. It may be further stated that the territory purchased lies in the vicinity of Metcalf, along through the northern section of the known copper district. It is reasonably assumed that this important purchase will be followed by development, equipment and production.

A considerable amount of other development is in progress in the district, much of it of an important character. Among the interests included may be mentioned the Copper King, Sterling, Homestake, Medler and Standard. In the Greenlee district 6 to 8 miles north of Clifton, is a different formation, bearing gold quartz. Parties headed by Colonel Dunham have bonded a group in that section and are preparing for development.

Such men as Prof. Wm. Church, W. A. Farish, John Langton, Prof. Walsh, and G.S. Pitcairn were recently in the district reporting on various properties, and this affords some idea of the quiet but systematic attention the district is receiving.

ARIZONA'S COPPER.

Arizona's copper production has grown in the eighteen years from less than 25,000,000 pounds to 171,000,000 an increase of nearly 700 per cent. But if its increase were even double that it would still be not producing enough to make up the deficiency between supplies and requirements.

In the attached table showing production from 1883 to 1900, inclusive, the production for the latter year being estimated, it is interesting to note the remarkably steady increase in production from the year 1886 to the close of 1900. The first big jump was in the year 1888, and which was due to the remarkably high prices for copper during the year. During 1888 copper sold as high as 17.79 cents per pound on the New York market, and the lowest price of it during the year was 15.85 cents.

For the seven years following 1888 production went on steadily increasing until it reached 48,329,403 pounds in 1895. The next year (1896) shows another big jump of over 15,000,000 pounds in production, although during the year the highest price of copper was 11.75 cents a pound.

In 1898 there was another considerable increase in Arizona's production, being over 37,000,000 pounds more than were produced in 1896. But the greatest increase in any one year of the eighteen years shown in the table was in 1899, when production reached 152,267,403 pounds, an increase of nearly 42,000,000 pounds over that of the preceding year.

Yet this large increase can not properly be attributed to high prices, for the highest price of copper during the year immediately preceding was 13.12 1/2 cents a pound. The great advance in the price of the metal did not set in until February, 1899, when it reached 18 cents a pound, advancing to 19.25 cents in May of that year, closing in December at 16.50 cents per pound, at which it has remained pretty steady ever since.

COPPER MINES.

The incorporated mining companies of the United States, as reported by the Engineering and Mining Journal of New York, have paid to stockholders since January 1 up to July 1, 1900, $40,052,424. Of this over $17,000,000 was paid by copper mines. These companies not only from their output of ore paid these dividends, but placed millions of dollars in the reserve fund besides paying millions more for labor, salaries, supplies, machinery, etc., and in many instances they have invested in more mineral land. What a magnificent record for the legitimate, intelligent mining industry! Taking the crude ore from "Mother Earth," reducing it into shape for commercial and industrial uses without robbing anyone of a dollar.

There is not lottery scheme or gambling on this grand result, and every one of these producing mines was only an uncertain and undeveloped prospect when some few men incorporated the companies. It is very true that not all prospects located in a mineral district make paying mines, but it is also very true that no prospect is ever made into a producing and profit paying mine without men uniting in a company and putting in money to develop it. In a company managed for the interests of the stockholders the risk is distributed among them so that in the event that the prospect does not prove to become a mine no one stockholder is bankrupted, but the possibilities when starting in ore in a good prospect of opening up immense deposits are so great that often an outlay in devel-

Corona News

The clean up from the ice storm continues. There was frost a couple of days ago and the rain from this last storm measured from .6 to one inch. Others reported from three to four inches. Would you believe — lots of weeds, a little grass, even some hollyhocks?

Tuesday, the P.T.O. sponsored a trip to the Pumpkin Patch for pre-schoolers through 6th grade. Accompanied by several members of the P.T.O., students enjoyed a lecture on the agricultural aspects of raising the pumpkins, beans and other products available in the shop. Then they were treated to a hayride out to the pumpkin patch where each student was allowed to pick his/her own pumpkin. The weather cooperated beautifully.

Thursday, Halloween hall decorations were judged in the high school. Prizes were awarded to the juniors - 1st; seniors - 2nd; 7th and 8th grade - 3rd; sophomores - 4th; and freshmen - 5th.

High school students attended the Stacey Keenan Lecture at the Spencer Theater, Oct. 26 as part of a school to work project. Students were treated to a tour of backstage after the lecture and enjoyed informal discussion with Stacey before the lecture started.

The student council of Corona High School, sponsored by Mary Smith, invited parents, students and members of the community to a soup supper following parent-teacher conferences. A wide variety of soup was enjoyed by all. Elementary students entertained with a variety of Halloween songs and jingles from the Shurley Instructional Materials of Language Arts. Many commented they would never have graduated if they had had to memorize 49 prepositions in alphabetical order, to say nothing of linking and action verbs or subject and possessive pronouns and so forth.

A very successful Halloween Carnival was sponsored by the Corona P.T.O., Saturday, Oct. 28, in the school auditorium. Bessie Luera's Gage, wearing her wonderful clown costume conducted the costume competition. Winners in the tiny tots category were Connor Cox, Luke Luera's (six weeks of age) and Peyton Dunsworth, Pre-K -- 1st place winners were Troy Dial, Taylor Huey and Ryan Davidson. Dulce Sultemeier, Josh Gage and J.R. Shafer won in the 3rd - 6th age range, and Dusty Burroughs, Deminica Fernandez, and Ana Ramos were winners in the older youth category. Adult winners were Danny Luera's, Randy Luera's and Mitzl Smid. Recognized were all the classes and clubs who sponsored booths and worked to make the carnival a success.

Monday, Nov. 6 members of the NM State Dept. of Education will be visiting Corona Public Schools. A meeting will be held at the Senior Citizen's Center at 6:00 p.m. for all parents concerned with the special education department. Parents are encouraged to attend this special meeting to enjoy coffee and discussion.

Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 6:30 p.m. a covered dish dinner will be held in the Recreation Room at school to welcome members of the state department to our school and community. Anyone interested in Corona Public Schools is invited and encouraged to join us for dinner and the open forum to follow.

Brandon Biebel, son of Randy and Nina Biebel of Corona recently competed in a college rodeo in Lubbock, TX and was 2nd in the short go in bareback riding, and split 3rd and 4th in the average. Brandon also competed in the calf roping. His parents plan to go see him compete in Portales at the ENMR college rodeo in a few weeks. Brandon is currently attending college in Tucumcari.

Crown CowBelles will meet at 5:00 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 18 at the ranch home of Lee and Clint Sultemeier. There will be a covered dish supper for members and families followed by the business meeting while fathers supervise the offspring.

Friends have received cards from the McPheters from East Port, MA writing that after visits to Cape Cod and Tennessee they will soon be home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steele have returned home to Albuquerque after a month of travel. They went north to Canada and west to Painter's Ledge on the Campbell River BC where Walter went salmon fishing without catching any, and then down the west coast and home. They report that son Gary is recovering from the recent heart episode which resulted in the addition of three stints. He is on a diet and has quit smoking.

Lee Mulkey drove to the Albuquerque airport Friday evening to pick up a niece, Adis Robinson, daughter of Elene Means who has been working in Jordan for about four years under the auspices of the Baptist Church. She expects to study and give seminars in the U.S. for the next 18 months, and

When in pay ore every ton blocked out in tunnels and drifts adds many dollars to the value of the mine, thus increasing the value of the stock as shown in every producing mine in the world.

Stock purchased in a company at less than par value while they are developing their mine to a self-sustainable basis on output of ore, secures the increasing values made in opening up the property.

This increase is always a very large per cent of a few hundred thousand dollars will prove a mine worth several millions a few years after the beginning of systematic development.

interest on the first investment as it necessarily must be in all dividend paying mines. If a company fails to make a mine and exhausts all of its treasury stock and fails entirely, it is no worse off than thousands of other human enterprises that fail monthly in the United States. If a mining company succeeds in putting a "prospect" onto a dividend paying basis ore does it, and no man, woman or child is robbed, while returns as a rule are very satisfactory.

LINCOLN COUNTY
MEDICAL CENTER

"Paid For By Presbyterian Healthcare Services"

Old Lincoln Town

by Rosalie Dunlap
Phyllis Zumwalt's mother, Jessie Longley Minter passed away in Las Cruces Thursday, October 26th. She was a lovely lady and always had a smile and a greeting for everyone. She will be missed by her extended family.

Memorial services will be held in Nogal, Sunday, Nov. 5th at 2:00 p.m.

Halloween has come and gone once again. No goblins in Lincoln as the youngsters attended the activities in Capitan. How many forgot to change your clocks back one hour? I certainly don't like changing the time twice a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman McArthur attended the homecoming activities of NMMI-Roswell recently.

Bob Graham attended a water seminar and certified operator classes in Angel Fire last week.

It is fall time and two businesses have closed until next spring. The Wortley Hotel served its last meal Sunday and the La Paloma Art Gallery had its last show this past week. Both had a successful summer and look forward to re-opening next spring.

Betty Shrecengost is in Albuquerque to see the specialists. We wish her "God Speed" and she comes home with good news.

Lincoln is getting very popular for weddings at various sites this fall. We have had weddings at the Ellis Store, San Juan Church and the Courthouse.

We enjoyed a couple of days of sunshine but it looks like we may have some more moisture later this week. It seems to be very general. So much of the county has not had any precipitation so this moisture is very welcome.

Virginia Burd of Carrizozo was a visitor of Rosalie Dunlap on Friday.

Date to remember: The Lincoln County Redditt will hold their monthly meeting at the REA Building, Carrizozo, November 13.

I guess it is the weather but we seem to be having problems getting on the internet and browser the past couple days. Wonder if they are still installing the fiber optics line to Hondo. We also will have a new tower in the Arabella area. I understand there will be three new communication towers in Lincoln County - Arabella, Ruidoso, and Carrizozo areas. With so many dead areas within the county, hopefully this will help with the reception.

We have certainly had the monsoon weather this past week. The rain has been welcome, even though it has made it difficult for the annual fall livestock roundups and shipping for the ranchers.

It has been another week of saying goodbye to Lincoln friends. Frances Baca was laid to rest Tuesday. We didn't know her or her husband, Joe, well but they were descendants of the early settlers of Lincoln County.

"Mama Z" Zamora, as she was affectionately known, was laid to rest Friday. Mama Z was a great mother, friend and neighbor. She always watched out for everyone. When we were restoring the Huff and Carabajal houses she was always there with beans, cornbread or her delicious tortillas. She was always afraid we would get too busy and not eat.

We loved to go to her house where she would fix fresh homemade tortillas or empanadas. When we needed special costumes for the pageant she used her sewing talent to make them. Her other great love was her flowers.

She and her husband Gristobal moved to Roswell several years ago due to health problems. We would run into her and her daughter Mary in stores over the years.

The Lincoln State

WHY ARE YOU INTERESTED IN POLITICS? asks Carrizozo high school senior Stella Brewer to the four panel members at the Carrizozo high school political panel discussion on Friday, Oct. 27. Panel members were Lincoln County Democratic Party chair Charles Rénick, State Representative Republican Dub Williams, Sheriff candidates Libertarian Tony Sano and Independent Ray Merritt. The panel discussion was organized by high school teachers Anne Serna and Sarah Ball (also standing).

Monuments personnel finished the plastering of the Torreon last week. It really does look nice.

My brother, who was thinking about setting up part-time veterinarian's clinic in Texas, decided that wasn't his cup of tea. His two dogs went "berserk" and told him they didn't like it. One of his dogs had never stayed in the house, or barked. She decided she liked our house and spent her time in our house, barked when we came home from Portales and then decided she didn't want to leave. Animals do have their way of letting you know how they feel.

school chum, Billy Pippin in Ruidoso. The Pippin's were next door neighbors of our family.

While he was here we visited our mother, Christina McKinley at Portales. He returned home to Booneville, CA Saturday.

Due to the inclement weather, the Spinning Bees did not participate in the Nogal Fest.

The Lincoln County Historical Society meeting was well attended in Carrizozo Saturday. Greg Haulsner gave a very interesting program on the ranchers of the county. We also missed this program.

Judge Orders Zia Gas To Increase Pressure

by Doris Cherry

Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas will be in court again Friday, November 3 seeking an injunction against its bulk gas supplier Zia Natural Gas to force Zia to increase the natural gas pressure to Carrizozo.

According to Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas (CCNG) attorney Robert Beauvais, District Judge Karen Parsons will resume a hearing on the gas issue at 9 a.m. Friday, November 3. Beauvais filed a law suit against Zia Natural Gas on behalf of CCNG in October. The suit alleged that Zia had breached its contract with CCNG by arbitrarily reducing the natural gas pressure to Carrizozo.

About two weeks ago, Judge Parsons issued a temporary 10-day restraining order to Zia Natural Gas, ordering the company to increase its gas pressure to CCNG, a contractual customer of Zia Natural Gas. Wednesday, Beauvais told THE NEWS that Zia Gas had not increased its pressure to the CCNG lines even with the court order.

On Monday, October 30, Judge Parsons presided over a hearing between the two gas suppliers and their attorneys. Beauvais said the hearing was held with David Hamilton, owner of Zia Natural Gas via a tele-conference call. He said that Hamilton and his attorneys argued that the district court was not the correct forum for issues that should be heard by the New Mexico Public Regulatory Commission. Beauvais said that Zia Gas has stated CCNG must pay $150,000, to Zia Gas, for the costs to increase the pressure. Zia also contends that the four inch CCNG service line to Carrizozo runs too close to a public school and is a potential hazard.

Beauvais said CCNG has a contract with Zia Gas to receive up to 150,000 metered cubic feet (mcf) of gas from Zia. However, CCNG is now only receiving 80,000 mcf. CCNG contends this lowered pressure has created a Health, Safety and Welfare issue for Carrizozo residential and commercial customers who will not get enough gas pressure to meet winter demands.

Because of the contract, Beauvais said CCNG should not have to bear the additional $150,000 cost for the increased pressure. "It is CCNG's position they will not ask for any additional pressures beyond the 150,000 mcf," Beauvais added.

CCNG engineers have stated the CCNG four inch pipeline that serves Carrizozo is in conformance to Department of Transportation regulations. Also, Beauvais said Zia Gas used the four inch line next to the school from 1992 until 1994 with no problems. Zia Gas completed and began using its new eight inch gas line in 1994.

Beauvais said he expects Judge Parsons to make a ruling at the hearing Friday.

Anonymous Donor Gives High Tech Bed To LCMC

A brand new, high tech hospital bed was delivered recently to Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) in Ruidoso.

The bed, an anonymous donation from a grateful family member of a patient who had been cared for at LCMC, is no ordinary hospital bed.

Along with having the same features as a regular hospital bed, the "Vale" bed is an enclosed bed which is used to protect patients from injuring themselves. As an enclosed bed, it features a surrounding padded frame and a removable mesh covering.

The bed may be used for children with special needs, adults with cognitive dysfunctions, and other patients who are at risk of falling out of bed. According to a release from LCMC, the enclosure makes patients feel more secure, enhances self control and preserves dignity while providing a safe, therapeutic environment.

LCMC, owned by Lincoln County and managed by Presbyterian Healthcare Services, receives financial help with equipment purchases and building maintenance costs from the hospital mill levy imposed on all county properties. In the upcoming general election, voters are being asked to decide whether they want to impose a 3.0 hospital mill levy on property taxes for the next seven years. The previous mill levy was 4.25 mills.

A portion of the mill levy funds are used to purchase equipment and do building maintenance at the PHS health clinics in Carrizozo and Corona, and for the health clinic (independent of PHS) in Hondo.

A Record of Real Results

U.S. Senator Jeff Bingaman isn't known as a grandstander. But when New Mexico needs real results, few work harder or accomplish more.

Results for education. Jeff is working to raise academic standards and strengthen accountability in our public education system. Jeff has helped our schools obtain millions in federal funds to reduce class size, hire and train teachers, and put new computers and technology in their classrooms.

Results for children. With Jeff's help, over 7,000 New Mexico preschoolers enrolled in Head Start last year, and thousands of kids now get good health care through the affordable health and dental plans for children which Jeff helped create.

Results for patients and consumers. For the future, Jeff is working hard to pass a real Patients' Bill of Rights to ensure access to quality health care and to expand Medicare to make prescription drugs more affordable for all seniors. Jeff also is working to keep family physicians and specialists here in New Mexico where their services are needed.

Results for rural New Mexico. To give ranchers some economic relief from the continuing drought, Jeff secured over $1.7 million more in emergency funds through the Livestock Assistance Program. Jeff also helped New Mexico dairy families fend off unfair changes to federal milk price rules that would have hurt this thriving new industry, and he wrote a measure that will soon become law to promote responsible forest thinning initiatives to protect New Mexico communities near our national forests.

Back in Washington, almost everyone talks big. This election, let's remember who gets things done.

Sierra Blanca Regional Airport Gets Federal $$$

Sierra Blanca Regional Airport in Ruidoso will receive $350,000 from the federal transportation appropriations bills signed by President Bill Clinton on October 23, announced Senator Jeff Bingaman.

The $350,000 will be used to purchase an improved instrument landing system called a "glide slope indicator" for use in inclement weather. A glide slope guides a pilot into the center of the runway.

Sierra Blanca Regional Airport currently does not have an adequate system for use in inclement weather. This forces planes to rely on the Albuquerque Federal Aviation Administration controllers for part of their landing approach, and then must make a steep approach from 7,000 feet altitude into the airport.

Bingaman also helped secure funding last year for a similar system at Clovis Airport. That system was dedicated in January.
