

Grand Jury Petition Hearing January 18

by Doris Cherry

At 9 a.m. Thursday, January 18, in the 12th Judicial District courtroom in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, District Judge Frank Wilson will preside over a hearing on the merits of a petition calling for a grand jury investigation into the lease of Lincoln County Medical Center to Presbyterian Healthcare Services.

The petition calls for a grand jury to "investigate any illegal conduct and, if appropriate, to indict, any county officials, or any other individual, involved in any acts of official misconduct regarding county resources, facilities and equipment, including, but not limited to, misappropriation, illegal solicitation and acceptance of contracts for services from Presbyterian Healthcare Services for the management and operation of public facilities, namely the Lincoln County Medical Center."

"The actions of the Lincoln County Commissioners and the Lincoln County

Hospital Board violate specific language in numerous New Mexico statutes," the petition continues to read. "Specifying the requirement and procedures for the solicitation of competitive bids for the award of county contracts. In addition, on information and belief, other equipment and resources purchased and/or acquired by the government of Lincoln County has been surrendered to, or misappropriated by, Presbyterian Healthcare Services without competitive bid or compensation in violation of numerous other New Mexico statutes. The Grand Jury should be empaneled to being hearings into the legality of these and other actions involved in the continuing lease and operation of the County facilities and equipment at Lincoln County Medical Center."

The hearing will be open to the public.

A petition calling for a grand jury with a special prosecutor was submitted to Lincoln County Clerk Martha Proctor on Decem-

County Public Offices Score Well on Open Records Access

by Doris Cherry

Public offices in Lincoln County scored fairly well in the New Mexico Press Association audit of public records access.

The audit was conducted from July to November as a cooperative effort of the NM Press Association, Associate Press and New Mexico Foundation for Open Government (FOG). The objective was to test compliance with the Inspection of Public Records Act by county and municipal administrators, police and sheriff's departments, public utilities, magistrate courts and school districts.

Statewide survey results found that county and municipal law enforcement agencies were on average the worst in making records available to the public. Of the requests to 31 sheriff's departments statewide, 13 departments failed to make records available. Of the 32 municipal police departments, 11 failed to make records available.

In Lincoln County, Lincoln County Sheriff's Office provided records as requested. Capitan police failed to provide records and Ruidoso police provided partial information. Carrizozo police department provided all records as requested as did Ruidoso Downs police department.

Some 35 percent of magistrate courts statewide failed to provide records. Yet in Lincoln County the magistrate court located in Carrizozo (Judge Gerald Dean's court) provided all information requested, and the magistrate court in Ruidoso (Judge Bill Butts' court) provided only partial information requested.

County administrative offices statewide did better at providing information with only 19 percent not providing the requested information. Lincoln County's administrative offices provided all information requested.

Municipal administrative offices in Capitan, Carrizozo, Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs also provided all information requested. Statewide seven of the 32 municipal administrative

Forest Service, County To Fix Bonito Lake Road

A section of road from Kraut Canyon to below Bonito Lake Dam will get fixed this spring, thanks to an appropriation to the U.S. Forest Service and help from the County of Lincoln.

During the regular Lincoln County Commission meeting December 21, in their chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, county commissioners approved a request from the forest service to help with the costs of surveying along the section of road to be upgraded. U.S. Forest Service civil engineer Tom Torres said Lincoln National Forest will get $285,000 for the next phase of improvements to the Bonito Lake Road and the forest is asking for another $150,000. "The forest service realizes this road has serious deficiencies," Torres

County Intends To Lower Gavilan Canyon Speeds

by Doris Cherry

After hearing stories of traffic speeding on Gavilan Canyon Lincoln County Commissioners put the state highway department on notice of the county's intent to lower speed limits on parts of the road to 25 miles per hour.

During their meeting December 21 in their chambers in the Lincoln County courthouse in Carrizozo, county commissioners heard from Gavilan Canyon Road resident Aubrey Dobbs who said the current speed limit of 30 miles per hour is too fast. Dobbs who has lived along the road since 1970 said when he first moved there Gavilan Canyon road was dirt and maybe three or four cars came by in a week's time. Now at his last count, 300 cars an hour speed by his home. "The traffic is so bad I can't get across the road (to his livestock pens)," Dobbs said. He said 35 miles per hour was too fast for the southern portion of the road that has many tight curves. "Put the speed limit back to 25 miles per hour and give me a chance to survive a little longer," Dobbs said.

County commissioner Leo Martinez said even though speed limits are 35 miles per hour, people drive 50. "We need better police enforcement," he said.

But county planning officer Patsy Sanchez said state police have advised the highway department they will not stop people on Gavilan Canyon Road from Warrior Drive south because there are no shoulders or anywhere to stop speeders.

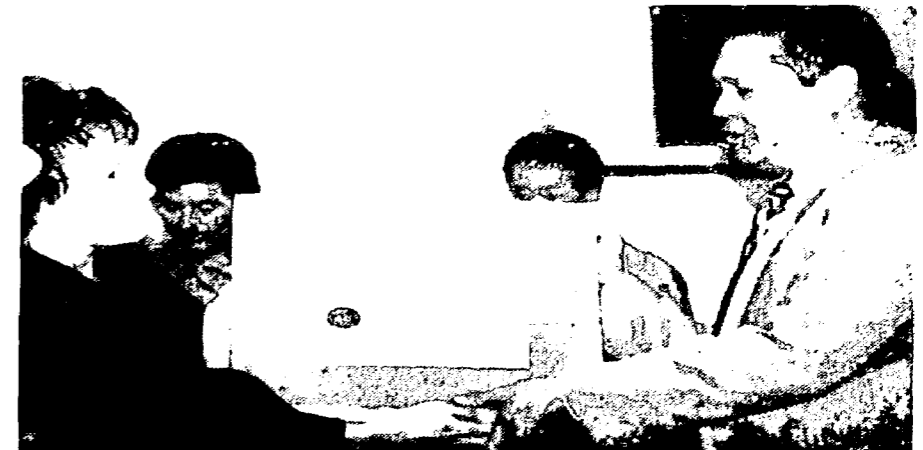

According to state statutes the county has a certain process it must follow in establishing speed limits. The first step was to get a traffic study from the state highway department which has been done. That study showed that most traffic averaged from 35 to 45 miles per hour on most of the road. By statute the speed limits must reflect speeds driven by 85 percent of the traffic. "If we set the limits much slower it could lead to accidents," said county attorney Alan Morel.

County commission chairman Rex Wilson said the speed study did not account for congestion on the road

County road supervisor Albert Hernandez said he had posted the 30 miles per hour signs because there were too many different speeds that went from 35 to 30 to 25. "There were some 25 mile per hour signs that were not legal that were nailed to power poles," Hernandez said. "I didn't put those there."

Grand Jury Petition

ber 18. After review of the signatures and verification of those who are registered voters in the county, Proctor filed an affidavit of examination and the petition with the 12th Judicial District Court clerk in Carrizozo on December 20.

While District Judge Karen Parsons normally would have presided over the hearing and potentially over the grand jury, she recused herself because her father-in-law, State Rep. Dub Williams, was a member of the Lincoln County Medical Center Board (LCMC) of Directors and because she had previously been a partner in a law firm with Lincoln County attorney Alan Morel. Because of her recusal the petition was referred to the chief judge in the judicial district—Judge Frank Wilson whose office is in Alamogordo.

Wilson, in a telephone interview initiated by THE NEWS, said notice of the hearing has been given to the New Mexico Attorney General's office, District Attorney Scot Key and Ray Sharbutt, attorney for the Lincoln County Citizens Committee to Save Our Hospital, who filed the petition.

Wilson said a motion to have the petition dismissed was filed with the district court in Carrizozo on Tuesday by a law firm claiming to represent Presbyterian Healthcare Services (PHS). "Probably the first decision I make at the hearing will be to determine whether Presbyterian Healthcare Services is entitled to make comment," Wilson said.

Hoping to make a ruling on January 18, Wilson said he tries to make a ruling on the day of a hearing because that is why people come to court. "But I know better," he cautioned.

If the petition is found to have valid basis to continue, Wilson said he will impanel a grand jury which must follow a process. Potential jurors will be taken from a computer data base maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts.

"We are looking at a lead time of weeks before we even get to the members of the grand jury," Wilson added.

Chairman of the Citizens Committee to Save Our Hospital, Reynaldo Valcarcel, told THE NEWS in a telephone interview, the intent of the petition is not to hurt anyone, regardless of how it is being interpreted. "We had to get the attention of the Lincoln County Commission to show our real concern for the county's relationship with Presbyterian and its lease of Lincoln County Medical Center," he told THE NEWS.

Valcarcel said he and others have repeatedly asked the county commission to reconsider the PHS lease of LCMC, which goes for $1 a year. The state attorney general has also questioned the county's reluctance to seek a request for proposals (rfp) for the lease of the county-owned hospital and has advised that the current lease arrangement is not legal.

"Our next step is to present oral arguments and briefs to the judge in the hearing," Valcarcel. "We have evidence to warrant a call for a grand jury. Allegations we have made in the petition can be substantiated and do have substance."

"We are using the instrument—the grand jury—provided by the New Mexico Constitution for citizens to get an investigation of problems," Valcarcel said. "We are not filing suit as individuals."

As for the 450 people who signed the petition, Valcarcel said when his group circulated the petition, they did not ask people if they were registered voters. And they were not just looking for names to fill their petition. Rather they wanted to expose the citizens to the problems with the hospital lease and give them opportunity to protest.

Some people did not sign the petition because they were afraid of personal reprisals, Valcarcel added. He said it would be "reprehensible" if the names of the people who signed the petition are published or made public in order to humiliate them. "If anyone gets hurt by signing this petition I think someone should be held personally responsible."

Lincoln County Commissioners, at a special meeting held on Tuesday, January 2 in their chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, approved of county attorney Morel hiring outside legal counsel, and authorized setting aside $50,000 for legal fees.

The special meeting was primarily a closed to the public session for county commissioners to discuss pending or threatened litigation with Morel. After county commissioners (Ray Nunley was present at the meeting over a speaker phone, all other members were physically present) returned to open meeting, Morel recommended the county commission seek outside legal counsel.

"Based on the wording on the grand jury petition, I am one of the officials who could be included in the investigation," Morel said. Because of this, Morel said he could not represent the county.

He said the hearing, set for January 18, will be extremely important because it will establish whether or not there is a criminal basis for a grand jury. "The broad language on the grand jury petition could include all former county commissioners and other county officials and individuals," Morel said. "The language is so broad."

Morel's legal services contract with the county allows him to hire outside counsel when needed. With that county commissioner Rick Simpson made the motion to allow the hiring of outside counsel. But when the vote was taken, county commissioner Leo Martinez voted no. Martinez then asked county manager Tom Stewart about the county's finances and its ability to cover legal costs.

Stewart said the county, after the mid-year budget adjustment approved at the December 21 meeting, would have more than $150,000 above its required reserves. Of that county commissioners authorized about $30,000 for a new four wheel drive vehicle for the sheriff's office.

Morel said if the petition is not rejected by the judge in the first crucial hearing (on January 18), the county can expect to spend at least $50,000 in legal fees for the grand jury. Morel said anyone can submit evidence to and be a witness in the grand jury. "It would not be

Lincoln County Rancher Celebrates 100th Birthday

Christmas Eve was the scene for a special birthday party honoring Kelley Stephenson at the Aristocrat Assisted Living Center in Alamogordo. This was a very memorable event, as this was Kelley's 100th birthday.

Kelley was born on Christmas Eve in 1900 in Alvarado, TX to Armetta and John Stephenson.

The family soon moved to Ft. Worth, TX where Kelley's father had the Feed and Grain Company in the Ft. Worth Livestock Exchange Building.

One of Kelley's early businesses was a garage where he was a mechanic, something he truly enjoyed. He was later employed by the Insurance Firm of Roberts and Rey as a claim adjuster.

In 1928 he married Anne King of Pauls Valley, OK. They were blessed with two children, Patricia Ann and Billy King.

In the early 40's Kelley began managing different ranches for the Harrold Brothers of Ft. Worth. In 1945 the Harrold Brothers purchased the I-X Ranch south of Carrizozo, NM. Kelley managed this ranch until 1960 at which time the Stephenson family purchased the ranch.

Kelley is a member of the Trinity Methodist church and a member of the Carrizozo Masonic Lodge. He has been a Mason since 1922.

In 1991 he lost his dear wife Anne, they were married 63 years. Kelley feels he has been very lucky and blessed to have had a very good life and most importantly the time he was allowed to spend under his big cottonwood trees and all of the splendor of the I-X ranch.

There were four generations on the Stephenson Ranch until which time Kelley moved to the retirement center. His main concern is that the ranch can remain in the family for generations to come.

Several family members were on hand to enjoy the century of wisdom, stories and letters shared -- many dear friends were able to help share in the occasion.

appropriate for me to represent the county," Morel added.
Martinez was concerned about the $50,000 figure which he thought Morel meant for the first hearing. "After the first hearing the grand jury has three months to look at the evidence and determine if there is a need for indictments," Martinez said. When commissioners voted to set aside the $50,000 Martinez voted no. THE NEWS

New Years Day was clear but cold. A freezing fog moved into the eastern half of Lincoln County on January 2, closing Highway 70 east to Roswell because of ice on the pavement. County Okays First Phase Subdivision In Arabella Area

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Commissioners approved the first phase of a Type 5 subdivision in the Arabella area during their meeting December 21, in their chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.

County commissioners did not accept the entire subdivision as initially presented by the developers because they proposed to utilize an old "prescriptive rights" county road as one of the main thoroughfares. All lots in the first phase front state road 368 to Arabella. County attorney Alan Morel cautioned county commissioners about accepting the portion of the subdivision that proposed to use county roads E038 and E039 because these are old prescriptive rights said. With access to road funds in the federal highway trust fund, the forest service is making the Bonito Lake Road a number one priority, Torres added. He said federal funds will be used to eventually redo the road at a cost of about $2.5 million. Once it is upgraded, Torres said the forest service will ask the county to take over maintenance for the first two miles from the intersection with State Road 37.

Torres said the forest service would like for the county to meet with landowners along the Bonito Lake Road and do the right of way surveys. Also the forest service would pay for any right of way purchases needed and would not resort to taking property by eminent domain processes. If property owners do not want to sell additional rights of way, the forest service will improve the road with the existing rights of way, Torres added.

An agreement between the forest service and the county will be prepared and submitted for county commission approval at a future meeting.

roads, and the county has no absolute rights to these. "We maintain it, but don't own it," Morel said. He said he did not want to get into future fights over whether the road is truly public.

Surveyor and planner Tim Collins, who represented the developers James and Rhonda Grace, said the roads are public and the developers could dedicate to the county 50-foot easement to the roads. County commissioners also asked about the condition of the roads, which are not good, but are maintained because E038 provides access to the John Cooper property.

After considerable discussion about whether the developer should upgrade the county roads, the developers requested the county to approve a first "phase" of the Devil's Canyon subdivision consisting of 17 lots along State Road 368 until the other issues could be resolved. County commissioners unanimously approved this first phase.

Morel said this was the first time since he has been county attorney that such a development has come for approval which utilized an existing, substandard county road for its subdivision access. "We've never had to address this before," Morel said.

County commission chairman Rex Wilson said this will be on Morel's list of things to research.

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Petition for the grand jury

By Ruth Hammond

Getting answers is the reply given when asked why the petition was circulated for a grand jury investigation into the lease contract for the Lincoln County Medical Center. Seems some people want to know more about the lease contract and why it was approved. The petition also calls for a grand jury to investigate any illegal conduct of any county officials ... regarding county resources, facilities and equipment ... Sounds as if someone wants more than just a grand jury investigation into the lease of the hospital.

Requesting a grand jury to investigate wrongdoing is a right of the public, but it seems as if this petition is asking for more than an investigation into the lease of Lincoln County Medical Center. Wouldn't it have been better to limit the petition to the hospital and the situation centered around the lease and medical equipment purchased, etc.?

Approving lease contracts is one duty of the county commissioners, as well as approving budgets, negotiating contracts, maintaining roads, building a new jail and being fiscally responsible. County business is conducted at the county commission meetings, which are open to the public. The hearing on the merits of the petition calling for a grand jury investigation will also be open to the public. It will be held Thursday, January 18 at 9 a.m. in the Lincoln County Courthouse in the 12th Judicial District Courtroom. District Judge Frank Wilson will preside at the hearing that day.

Notice of the hearing has been sent to the New Mexico Attorney General's office, District Attorney Scot Key and the attorney for the Lincoln County Citizens Committee to Save Our Hospital, who filed the petition calling for a grand jury investigation into the lease of the hospital. Hopefully their questions will be answered during the hearing. If the petition is found to have valid basis to continue a grand jury will be impaneled which must follow a process. Apparently information will be presented at the hearing January 18th.

District Judge Frank Wilson will make the ruling, which he hopes to do January 18th. If the petition is found to have a valid basis and a grand jury is impaneled, it could be several weeks or even months before an actual grand jury begins an investigation. It will take time to notify the prospective jurors. And it will take time to impanel the jury.

Just because the petition was submitted does not mean that there will be a grand jury investigation. There must be sufficient evidence presented before the decision is made to impanel a grand jury. And if a grand jury is impaneled all investigating will be conducted in private, public excluded.

Usually court proceedings are open to the public but the grand jury meets privately with only those persons before the grand jury who are necessary for the jury to do its duty.

Rules for grand juries are strict. After the grand jury has received the evidence presented, the grand jury must carry out deliberations completely in private. Grand jurors are also required to take an oath to keep secret all evidence.

You might want to attend the hearing on January 18th. If a grand jury is impaneled you might never know what did or did not happen while the grand jury deliberated the facts.

offices, or 22 percent, requested failed to provide the information.

Some 27 percent of the school districts surveyed statewide failed to provide information. In Lincoln County, Capitan, Carrizozo and Ruidoso schools provided information as requested.

According to information on the survey provided by NMPA, some agencies that failed to provide requested records said information was confidential. In other instances, supervisors were unavailable to give permission to employees to provide documents. Some workers said they were too busy.

Public records serve as a tool for the public to find out more about their communities and monitor the performance of government.

"When requests for public records are denied, it's obvious that some public officials are either ignorant of the public's rights and their own duties, or arrogant about doing their jobs," said Bob Johnson, executive director for the Foundation for Open Government.

New Mexico Inspection of Public Records Act casts a wide net in defining public records. The law covers written documents and letters, tapes, photographs and records stored in computers or transmitted by e-mail. "All persons are entitled to the greatest possible information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of public officers and employees," Johnson added.

The survey covered basic public records. Sheriff's offices and police departments were asked for a daily log of crimes and an incident of a crimes. Counties, municipalities and schools were asked for financial information, such as agency budgeted and salaries and expenses of administrators. Magistrate courts were asked for a one-month listing of complaints filed by law enforcement and the disposition of the cases.

Certain records remain confidential under state law, including letters of reference for jobs or certain medical treatment records and police records revealing confidential sources or people accused but not charged with a crime. Despite those exceptions, state law makes it clear that anyone has a right to review a basic police incident report about a burglary and arrest of a suspect, or a police blotter of recent crimes.

Anyone denied access to records can call the state attorney general, or a local district attorney, who are the officials responsible for enforcing state law. The Foundation for Open Government also maintains a toll free hotline at 1-800-284-6634, for people who encounter problems getting public records.

SANTA FE - The time has come for lawmakers to turn the tables on us. Every two years, voters get to decide who their legislators will be. Every 10 years legislators get to decide who their voters will be.

Yes, redistricting battles are about to begin. They will start slowly. Little will be heard about redistricting during the coming regular session of the 2001 Legislature because census tabulations aren't finalized until March 31.

This time, states will be sent two sets of figures - one is the official tally, the other is a tally adjusted for projected undercount. If you will recall, Congress had a major fight a few years ago, with Republicans wanting actual counts and Democrats preferring statistically massaged figures.

Republicans argue that our founders wanted an actual headcount of every person in the nation because the Constitution says so. Democrats counter that every polling firm in the nation statistically adjusts its surveys for the business world and political candidates to account for known deficiencies in survey techniques and to more accurately reflect the true picture.

I can't fathom how statisticians manage to do that. It sounds so subjective. And Republicans agree, saying it allows for too much monkey business. They seem to have reason to believe the Census Bureau is a den teaming with Democrat statisticians.

Or it may appear that Republican members of Congress are just antiquated old fuddy-duddies who don't believe in modern technology. But the answer is, it is pure politics. Evidently the sordid truth is that the census is just like elections - it is mostly Democrats who get undercounted. Statistical census adjustments are just like counting hanging chads. They both find more Democrats.

The congressional compromise was to give states two sets of numbers and let them decide. The New Mexico Legislature is free to make that choice during its regular session that ends March 17, but the adjusted figures won't arrive until the end of the month. That means a likely special session in April to look at both sets of numbers - and to reconsider all the appropriations vetoed by the governor.

If everything goes as predicted, the adjusted numbers will include more Democrats than the head-count numbers. So Republican legislatures will pick headcount numbers and Democrat legislatures will pick adjusted numbers - which means there is no need waiting.

Once the set of numbers is chosen, Brian Sanderoff, head of Research and Polling, Inc. in Albuquerque, will prepare numbers, charts and maps showing changes in population throughout the state in the past 10 years.

Legislative leaders then plan a series of public hearings around New Mexico to find out what people have to say about proposed redistricting maps. The sad truth is sure to be that population centers have grown more than rural areas and that counties along the Rio Grande corridor will gain legislative districts at the expense of the East Side.

Probably in mid-September lawmakers will go back into session to set districts, not just for themselves, but also for Congress, the Public Regulation Commission, the state Board of Education and magistrate courts. On Oct. 1, candidates for these and all other primary election races can pick up their campaign petitions.

Ideally, that ends the process, but then there's that messy matter of court challenges. In 1991, Senate districts, especially in Southeast New Mexico were challenged. An early January special session, before the regular session, was necessary.

But that controversy was nothing compared to 1981, when a federal district judge decided that not only were New Mexico House districts not substantially equal but that there was an intent to discriminate against minorities.

It was the summer of 1992 before acceptable boundaries for some House districts were drawn and a special primary election was held for those districts.

As a result of that finding, the U.S. Justice Department required that it pre-approve New Mexico's 1991 redistricting plan before final legislative action could be taken.

County Intends To Lower

Hernandez said when the county repaved the lower portion of the road (from Warrior Drive south to the Ruidoso trash transfer station) he wanted to have one uniform speed, 35 miles per hour, but he went down to 30 miles per hour in the curves. "I've already lowered the speed limit one time without a traffic survey," Hernandez said. "And I thought the county needs to certify the next change."

Martinez and county commissioner Rick Simpson who had encouraged Dobbs to attend the meeting, told Hernandez to lower the speed. But county commissioner Ray Nunley said he would not knowingly violate state laws about setting the speed limits.

With that county commissioner Bill Schwettmann made a motion to notify the state highway department of the county's intent to change speed limits on Gavilan Canyon Road to 25 miles per hour in areas where a slower speed is appropriate. All county commissioners voted for Schwettmann's motion.

A GLIMPSE OF THE MINING HISTORY OF THE SOUTHWEST

The following information is taken from the "International Industrial Record", a mining publication (Devoted to the General MINING and Industrial Interests of the Great Southwest), which is printed on the front page of the 80 page booklet, and was published in El Paso, TX on July of 1901. The Lincoln County News will publish the entire booklet in the following weeks depending on space available. The publication is filled with in-depth history of the mining industry in and around Lincoln County and New Mexico. We hope you enjoy it.

The Great Southwest.

The Mining Resources of the Vast Mining Region Surrounding El Paso.

Northern Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas.

PART 46

THE SOUTHWEST INTERNATIONAL MINERS' ASSOCIATION

This association, with headquarters at El Paso, Texas, was organized January 16, 1901, by a convention of mining men from the Southwestern United States and Northern Mexico. The territory embraced by the membership of this association extends for 300 to 600 miles in all directions from El Paso, and includes especially western Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Sonora. In a general way, the purpose of the organization is to promote the mining, smelting, milling and allied interests of the Southwestern United States and Northern Mexico. Among the special means adopted to this end are the following:

By promoting the acquaintance and intercourse of Americans and Mexicans in the mining field.

By maintaining a bureau of information, including a directory of mining men and companies.

By seeking the enactment of equitable mining laws favorable to the development of the mineral resources.

By listing properties, bringing capitalists and mine owners together, and thus, in a wholly disinterested way, promoting sales and investments.

By promoting good feeling and fair dealing between mining men on the one hand and the smelters, mill men, and railway companies on the other hand.

By encouraging and assisting the establishment of smelters and mills and the building of railways where necessary to the development of profitable working of mineral deposits.

By promoting the enactment of laws to secure the health and safety of men in mills, mines and smelters.

By assembling and maintaining at the headquarters of the association a collection of mineral specimens and products representing the mineral resources of the surrounding country, and providing for the placing of such collections at all the great expositions.

By assisting, in an advisory capacity, toward the establishment and maintenance of a mining stock exchange.

The association has already taken steps toward the collection of a mineral exhibit for the St. Louis Exposition.

The association has also adopted a uniform style of cabinet, costing $21 each, for the collection to be maintained at its headquarters in El Paso. Members of the association wishing to make individual exhibits can purchase a half or whole case for their separate use. Further description of the cases and particulars in regard thereto may be had by writing the secretary of the association. Small promiscuous exhibits by contributors not owning cases will be provided space free of charge.

The articles of association provide for active membership, to include men, firms and corporations directly interested in mining, and associate membership, to include those not directly interested in mining but wishing to aid the association. Copies of the prospectus and other printed matter, with blank applications for membership, and any other information desired, can be had by addressing the secretary.

Any person, whether a member of this association or not, who may desire information or assistance which it is within the power and scope of the association to furnish, is cordially invited to avail himself of the service of the association.

The officers and members of the executive committee of the association for the current year are as follows:

Officers: J.A. Eddy, president, El Paso, Texas; C.T. Brown, first vice president, Socorro, N.M.; B.F. Hammett, second vice president, El Paso, Texas; C.E. Mills, third vice president, Morenci, Arizona; David Gough, fourth vice president, Conejos, Durango, Mexico; C.R. Morehead, treasurer, El Paso, Texas; Ernest E. Russell, secretary, El Paso, Texas.

Honorary President - Hon. Miguel Ahumada, governor of Chihuahua, Mexico.

Executive Committee - The president; Felix Martinez, Juan S. Hart, for Texas; R. Y. Anderson, A.W. Gifford, for New Mexico; R.C. Roos, R.J. Williams, for Arizona; Charles F. Jones, Donaciano Mapula, J.S. Eldridge, L.D. Ricketts, for Mexico.

THE EL PASO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The El Paso Chamber of Commerce organized in November, 1899, and incorporated under the laws of Texas, has proved itself a powerful factor in promoting the growth and development of the city and furthering its best interests. It has a membership of nearly 200, comprising not only the pushing and progressive merchants of the city but also a large proportion of the men engaged in other business pursuits and in professional life. The El Paso Chamber of Commerce has come to be recognized as one of the strongest and most energetic and enterprising organizations of its kind in the southwest. The scope and character of its work are similar to those of like organizations generally, with such modifications as are made necessary by local conditions. The officers and directors of the association for the current year are as follows:

Officers - S.J. Freudenthal, president; W.G. Walz, first vice president; Felix Martinez, second vice president; Horace B. Stevens, treasurer; Ernest E. Russell, secretary.

Directors - S. J. Freudenthal, Felix Martinez, C.R. Morehead, A. Courchesne, W.G. Walz, Horace B. Stevens, U.S. Stewart, B.F. Hammett, E. Kohlberg.

ANOTHER GOOD THING FOR THIS SECTION.

The New York Life Insurance company has just recently established temporary quarters at the Hotel Orndorff, where they will remain until about the first of June, when they expect to go into their large and very handsome permanent offices in the new Masonic building, now nearing completion.

The establishment of this regular branch office in El Paso on the part of this great institution means a great deal for this section of the country, as the company's business, hereafter, for the southern half of New Mexico, state of Chihuahua, Old Mexico and western Texas, will be handled direct from this office.

The New York Life paid out last year nearly $23,000,000 to its policy holders in the way of death claims, matured policies, dividends, etc. It wrote more insurance than any other company in the world, and its gain of insurance in force was about equal to that of its next two largest competitors combined. This must be particularly gratifying to its policy holders, who now numbers over 500,000, as the New York Life is a purely mutual company, run in the interest of these policy holders.

The company is supervised by 82 separate and distinct governments, and is truly the only strictly international life insurance company.

Mr. Gus D. Thomas, who has charge of the offices as agency director, considers El Paso an ideal location for an office of the kind established, and fully expects the El Paso branch to soon be one of the largest offices in the United States. Although just opened on March first, an enormous volume of business has already been received through the El Paso office.

The wonderful gains this company has been making in writing insurance since putting their new policy on the market is simply wonderful. The first of this year the company offered to write 30,000 policies of a "Twentieth Century Edition," which were exhausted in about three months, and at the special request of the company's policy holders 30,000 more of this edition will be written.

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY

A reliable and trustworthy mining man of many years experience wishes to make equitable contract with man of means to pay his expenses while prospecting in Southwest Chihuahua and northeast corner of Sinolco, Mexico, near line of Stillwell railway. Will give two-thirds interest in all claims found and located. The party is thoroughly familiar with the country and speaks Spanish. Address "Miner," care Record office, El Paso Texas.

NOTE - BY THE EDITOR - The editor of the Record has known the above gentleman for a number of years, and has no hesitancy in unqualifiedly recommending him as trustworthy and experienced.

Gold, silver, copper, zinc and lead mines. Partner wanted who would invest $20,000 in developing a large mining property located in the territory of Tepic, Mexico, on the Pacific coast. Gold mines ore averaging from 3 to 30 ounces per ton of 2000 pounds; silver from 1 to 38 kilo; lead from 15 to 30 per cent; zinc from 20 to 25 per cent; copper from 5 to 25 per cent. Reports, maps and samples sent on application. Waterfalls 500 H.P., and sufficient timber close to the mines. Call on or address Elias Galino, 94 Iturbide St., Tepic, Mexico.

206 Mesa Ave., for mining books and Spanish books, and all kinds of books. See or write to Deliquet & Co.'s "New and Old Book Store," 206 Mesa Ave., El Paso, Tex.

THE END

This concludes our publishing of the Second Annual Edition of the "International Industrial Record", Vol. 3 No. 25, printed in El Paso, TX on July 20, 1901. We hope you, our readers, have enjoyed a trip into the past of the mining history in and around Lincoln County and surrounding areas. The Lincoln County News will in the near future be reprinting this edition of the International Industrial Record, with as many pictures that can be reproduced and including pages of original advertisers who sponsored this edition.

Roads In Palo Verde Slopes To Be Upgraded

Roads in the Palo Verde Slopes subdivision east of Ruidoso Downs are scheduled to be upgraded with chip seal in the spring.

During the Lincoln County Commission meeting on December 21 in their chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, county commissioners got a report on the planned improvements to the roads in the subdivision. Road manager Albert Hernandez said the county road department will begin work on the roads which will be partially paid from a cooperative agreement with the State Highway Department. Some $90,000 will be available for the chip seal of .8 miles of 22 foot wide roadway on Valley View, Reynolds Drive, Cedar Lane, Mesa Loop and Canyon Road.

Until the roads are upgraded this spring, Hernandez said his department will try to remove the snow as soon as possible because the roads become impassable due to the mud. He also said that despite what citizens said during a special meeting in November about the roads, there is no problem with a gas line being installed along the right of way because it is not within the driving surface of the roads.

Residents in the subdivision came to the special commission meeting on November 30 to ask for help with the roads that become impassible in muddy weather.

Alzheimer's Disease: What You Should Know

(NAPS)—An estimated four million American adults suffer from Alzheimer's disease, a neurodegenerative disease involving deterioration of the brain. It is the fourth leading cause of death in the U.S., behind cardiovascular disease, cancer and stroke.

Alzheimer's disease primarily afflicts people over 65; nearly half of all people over 85 are affected by it. However, a small percentage of people as young as their 30s and 40s get Alzheimer's disease.

The ten warning signs of Alzheimer's disease include:

1. Forgetting things more often—such as job skills
2. Putting things in strange places—such as leaving keys in the sink or an iron in the freezer
3. Problems with complicated tasks—such as balancing a checkbook
4. Disorientation of time and place, or forgetting dates and how to get to familiar destinations like one's own home
5. Sudden changes in mood or behavior—such as going from being calm, to anger to tears for no apparent reason
6. Problems doing familiar things—such as being continually challenged by the task of buttoning a shirt or other simple tasks of daily living
7. Forgetting common words or using the wrong words
8. Having a major change in personality—such as becoming confused, suspicious or afraid
9. Losing interest in doing things—losing interest quickly if not encouraged
10. Doing things that don't seem to make sense

If you recognize these symptoms in a loved one, it's important to see a physician who can properly diagnose the condition. The earlier a diagnosis is made, the better, because there are treatment options available that have been proven effective in delaying the progression of Alzheimer's disease symptoms.

Alzheimer's disease: the importance of early detection, diagnosis and treatment.

Treatments that slow symptom progression have been shown to benefit cognition, behavior and daily functioning. Scientists are looking at the possible benefits approaches to early diagnosis and treatment of Alzheimer's disease. Early diagnosis and treatment also allow time for planning and for spending quality time with loved ones.

"When an Alzheimer's patient declines in any one of the three domains of the disease (activities of daily living, behavior, cognition), it has a major impact on the lives of patients and their caregivers," said George T. Grossberg, MD, Director, Division of Geriatric Psychiatry, St. Louis University School of Medicine. "Early diagnosis and treatment are important. New therapies can affect symptoms early in the disease and are proven effective in critical domains of the illness, provide new hope for Alzheimer's patients and their caregivers."

Grand Jury Petition

was unable to contact Martinez for comments about his vote.

THE NEWS contacted Morel by telephone on Wednesday. He said he has employed attorney David A. Freedman a civil/criminal lawyer with the firm Freedman, Boyd, Daniels, Holander, Goldberg and Cline, PA in Albuquerque.

"People are seeking a criminal indictment," Morel said. "This puts the entire situation with the (hospital) lease into a new realm."

"It is no longer a statutory issue," Morel added. "It is hard to tell who the grand jury could target. This has gotten personal."

THE NEWS asked Morel if the county will have to go out for rfp for the outside legal services, since the costs could exceed $25,000. (Any service costing $25,000 or more by state law is required to be selected by an rfp process.) Morel said he does not expect the legal costs to exceed $25,000 an attorney. And his contract allows him to seek outside legal counsel in an emergency situation.

"I am not a criminal attorney," Morel said. "But I was not willing to hire an outside attorney without the commission's approval."

"I have represented the county for eight years and I am sure I will be looked at by the grand jury," he added.

ed.

Stewart told THE NEWS on Wednesday that because the situation is deemed an "emergency" and because there could be more than one attorney on the case (with up to $25,000 allowed per attorney), the county will not have to go out for rfp. Also the rfp process takes weeks to complete during which time the hearing would have come and gone. "The $50,000 will go into an attorney line item," Stewart said.

As for insurance covering the cost of legal fees for the county officials, Stewart said he contacted the county's risk management insurance through Association of Counties and found that because the situation could become a criminal case, the insurance will not pay for the legal fees.

With more than 450 names, the petition was filed with Lincoln County Clerk Martha Proctor on December 19. Proctor and elections bureau clerk Sam Chavez reviewed the names to verify they were Lincoln County residents and/or registered voters. Chavez told THE NEWS that of the more than 450 signatures only 266 were verified as registered voters in Lincoln County. Only 280 signatures were needed to call for a grand jury.

leaning toward the fact that the county commission may have to go to two meetings a month and for as long each time as needed, rather than the four hour limit proposed by Junge. "It is our elected duty to stay here for as long as is needed, like a town hall meeting," Schwettmann said. He said that county commissioners get paid well enough to meet twice a month. "If we just meet 12 meetings a year that means we make $1,500 to $2,000 a meeting," Schwettmann said. "If we met once a week we'd still be overpaid." He concluded his comments by saying he was worried that in the future people would try to get elected to the commission just for the money.

County commissioner Leo Martinez made a motion to accept Junge's meeting proposal, but the motion died for the lack of a second.

Expressed their appreciation to county clerk Martha Proctor for talking the county commission into buying electronic voting machines. Proctor said she appreciated that 11 years ago the county commission approved her request to purchase the 41 electronic machines that are relatively problem free when it comes to tallying election votes.

Heard from Rod Adair, demographer from Roswell, and state senator. Adair suggested the county have a request for proposals ready to issue by September in order to begin its redistricting process as required after every 10-year census. He said by the end of March the new census data should be available which will be used to determine the new districts. He cautioned against dividing districts randomly, rather looking at similar interests, culture and political ties of each district.

A resident of Capitan said he appreciates that historical factors will be considered because he sees the political power shifting to the more urban area of Ruidoso while the more rural areas are being left out.

Martinez commented that Ruidoso has more than 65 percent of the population in Lincoln County yet it still does not control the county.

On a state level, redistricting will be done for state senate and representative districts based on population and other factors.

"Lincoln County has little in common with Las Vegas," Adair said about the current state senate district that ranges from Las Vegas to the north in a narrow strip to the south end of Lincoln County and is represented by State Senator Pete Campos. "There was a lot of gerrymandering on that one."

Again heard county commissioner Martinez ask about the status of the lease of Lincoln County Medical Center in light of another letter from the state attorney general's office about the Presbyterian Healthcare Services (PHS) lease. The AG maintains that the 1994 amended lease agreement between PHS and the county for the hospital was in fact a new lease and since the terms of the lease were for more than five years the lease was subject to the approval by the New Mexico Board of Finance and since it was a professional services contract the lease was subject to the New Mexico Procurement Code which requires an rfp. Morel advised the commission to do nothing about the lease now, because the state legislature is expected to reconsider the rules about leasing county owned hospital facilities during the upcoming session that convenes on January 16.

Postponed action on issuing an rfp for operation of the county health clinics until an issue between the state Department of Finance and Administration (DFA) and the Hondo Valley Schools over the operation of the Hondo Health Clinic is resolved. Hondo Schools may join the county in the rfp for operation of the clinics if the issue is not resolved. DFA originally

County 911 Committee Meets January 10 To Consider Road Names

by Doris Cherry

The Lincoln County Enhanced 911 Committee will hold a regular meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, January 10, in the Lincoln County Commission chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.

Purpose of the meeting is to continue with the naming of county roads that have no name or to re-name those with duplicate names. The road naming is for E-911 Rural Addressing purposes.

During the Lincoln County Commission meeting on December 21, commissioners approved several new road names recommended by the E-911 Committee during its meetings from August until December. One of the recommendations was to change the name of former Cedar Creek Road, back to Cedar-Creek Road. County commissioners during the summer had, in what they agreed was an emotional reaction, renamed Cedar Creek Road to Sam Tobias Road in honor of the forest service employee who died while on duty at the forest fires in May. Because of complaints from Cedar Creek residents in October, county commissioners sent the name of the road back to the E-911 committee for further recommendation. The committee sent its recommendation to go with Cedar Creek and made no reference to the Sam Tobias Memorial Road as suggested by county commissioner Bill Schwettmann.

At the December 21 meeting Schwettmann said it was important to do the memorial and so he made the motion to rename Cedar Creek Road, with a sign attached on the road sign post facing traffic that will read "Sam Tobias Memorial Drive." County commissioners all voted for his motion.

County commissioners accepted almost all the other names recommended by the E-911 Committee but delayed action on renaming county roads in the Enchanted Forest subdivision, at the request of a property owner. The property owner said the proposed names of Ixex Court and Oryx Court were unacceptable because those animals were not found in the area. She proposed something with Elk or Deer, but county planning officer Patsy Sanchez said the county has too many roads with those names already.

Because of the concerns about the names, commissioners voted to send the recommended names for Enchanted Forest roads back to the E-911 committee. They also asked the property owner to attend the E-911 committee meeting. Sanchez said all property owners are notified of when the E-911 committee plans to discuss renaming roads in subdivisions, and property owners have opportunity to comment on names during the meeting. County commissioners told the property owner she would be notified of when the E-911 Committee will discuss the Enchanted Forest Roads.

The roads in Enchanted Forest Subdivision will be part of the continuing discussing at the E-911 meeting on January 10.

The public is invited to attend the E-911 Committee meeting which will be held in the commissioners chambers in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.
