County Considering An Alarm Ordinance

by Doris Cherry

Currently, Lincoln County Sheriff's officers respond when a call comes in about an when a call comes in about an alarm sounding. But often these are false alarms or are at larms in Lincoln County houses where the owners live owned by several companies, most of which are located the county and the

don't know where these lots are most times," Virden said. We need to know where these alarms are with companies responsible enough to send a key holder to take care of the alarm."

Virden said when his officers do find the address where an alarm is sounding often they will arrive and are not able to turn it off because they cannot get into the house.

Agreeing with the county attorney that the draft ordinance presented that day was not at a point to adopt, Virden said it was a start.

County commissioner Eileen Lovelace said she thought the proposed ordinance was good and covered all issues. Virden said his office mostly needs to know where the a-larms are. "It will take a combined effort of the alarm companies, sheriffs office and county attorney to make an ordinance that is beneficial to the citizens," Virden added.

County commissioner Maury St. John was concerned the proposed ordinance tells people they have to use a local alarm company in order to meet the ordinance. County attorney Alan Morel said that is not the intent of the proposed ordinance, rather the intent is the alarm owner must have a local contact keyholder because there is no other way to shut off the alarm.

"It could be a neighbor," Morel added.

Virden said some audible alarms are so loud they upset the neighbors.

Carrizozo To Consider Sewer Rate Increase

by Doris Cherry

Carrizozo's new million dollar waste water facility is nearing completion.

Long in need of such a new facility, the town obtained a grant and loan from the Rural Utilities Services to pay for the new sewer facility construction. But now the town must begin to pay back the loan and develop some way to pay for the future operation and maintenance of the new facility.

At their August 9 regular Bohannan Huston engineering cent, general offices 1.4 per-firm that designed the new sewer facility. The study was based on information about current residential and commercial customers and showed how 16 different categories of sewer customers contributed to the waste water flow and organic load.

Residences make up 48.3 percent of the total sewer contribution with the Lincoln County Detention Center the next highest at 16.7 percent. Convenience stores contribute percent; motels contribute 5.2 percent; apartments conmeeting, Carrizozo town tribute 4.7 percent; schools trustees received copies of the Carrizozo Waste Water Improvements/sewer rate study compiled and presented by restaurants and bars 2.7 percent;

cent, retail businesses 1 perclinic 1.7 percent;

churches 1.9 percent.
The study states that since the wastewater treatment facility is new, the past ex-penses of the town for its wastewater collection and treatment could not be solely used in determining the revenue requirements. An analysis was completed that indicated the total expenditures related to the operation and maintenance of the wastewater facilities will be about $152,000 for the year 2005.

In order to cover the expenses anticipated for the sewer system, new sewer rates were developed based on the percent contribution of each category of residential or commercial use. The proposed new rate structure is estimated to bring in about $144,000 for 2005, which is about 95 percent of the projected expenses for start up operations. The town'should re-evaluate the proposed rate structure and make the necessary adiustments based on actual plant data after two years of operations," the study reads.

Proposed monthly sewer rates are $19 per dwelling for residences and apartments; $19 minimum plus $4 per space for RV parks; $109 for convenience stores; $15 for auto stations; $57 for restaurants and bars; $17 for general business offices; $17 for general retail businesses: $45 for the Lincoln County Courthouse; $19 minimum plus $7 per machine for commercial laundries; $19 minimum plus $2.50 per room for motels; $182 for the school; $55 for the clinic; $22 for churches; $821 for the detention center and $158 for the brewery.

Current sewer rates are $14.50 a month for residences; $25 a month for all others listed except the courthouse and detention center which pay nothing to the town for sewer rates.

"When developing the proposed rate schedule," the study reads. "The main factors considered were covering operation and maintenance expenses of the new treatment facility and establishing a fair rate structure for the customers. It is essential that the rates be set at a level that covers the full cost of collecting and treating wastewater from all the customers. Reserves are needed to cover future expansion needs and unexpected emergency mainte-nance. In addition, the rates for sewer service should be distributed to the customers

Proposed rates were determined by sewer flows and (SEE PAGE 10)

LCSWA Fall Clean Up Begins

by Doris Cherry

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) will begin its fall clean up schedule of providing free 30-yard roll off containers at no charge to LCSWA customers

As a way to ward off illegal dumping, and to provide its customers with ability to dispose of non-household trash, LCSWA has provided the free roll-off services in the spring

At the August 16 county commission meeting in Carrizozo, LCSWA supervisor Debra Ingle made a report on the LCSWA 2005 fall clean up schedule and other activities and presented a resolution listing all current trash

At each location during the fall clean up the roll-off containers will be available beginning at 8 a.m. until filled.

Fall clean up roll-off schedule is on Saturdays beginning on September 10 at Butch's Service Center on Dean Road off Highway 380 west of Capitan; September 17 at the Nogal Fire Dept.; September 24 at Biscuit Hill off Highway 70 east of Ruidoso Downs; October 1 at Lincoln; October 8 at Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates; October 15 at the intersection of Highways 380 and 70 in Hondo; October 22 in San Patricio; October 29 in Glencoe; November 5 in White Oaks. Customers need to bring a copy of their cur-rent trash bill in order to dump at no cost.

Carrizozo and Capitan have convenience stations where customers can dispose of nonhousehold waste for a fee. Carrizozo roll off site is open from 3-4:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Friday. Capitan roll off is open only on Wednesdays. Contact village hall for more informa-

County commissioners commended LCSWA for improvements made to its forest debris removal program. County commissioner Maury St. John, who had long criti-cized LCSWA for its handling of forestry waste in the Cedar Creek area, com-mended the "good job" done by LCSWA in removing debris from Cedar Creek.

At the LCSWA meeting on August 23, Ingle said she recently hired Brad Luter as field coordinator to work with local contractors, customers and home owners associations on dealing with green waste and how to remedy illegal dumping, Ingle said Luter is the person responsible for collecting and cleaning the illegal dumping beside many of LCSWA's 333 dumpsters.

At the August 16 county commission meeting, Ingle told county commissioners that new New Mexico Environment Dept. rules require one dumpster per every four residences. However, because of so many new manufactured and mobile homes coming into the county, LCSWA is behind in locating these new customers. Ingle said LCSWA recently did an audit of residences in Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates and found that 52 of the homes were not in the LCSWA billing system. Now Rancho Ruidoso wants door to door service, Ingle added.

Ingle said she works with the county assessor's office in trying to locate new residences, but mobile housing is not listed with the assessor.

zenry," Carroll said.

In the proposed ordinance property owners with alarms will have to obtain a permit from the county that basically informs the sheriff's office where these alarms are located and who to call if there has been a break-in or other real emergency.

County commissioner Earl Hobbs said he was okay with imposing a permit on new alarms, but was troubled about requiring permits for existing alarms. Morel said, "On the flip side, you can have 200 or 300 alarms going off and not know where they

Hobbs agreed but said he has problems with regulating something already in place.

County resident Stirling Spencer said if the ordinance is adopted, the county should advertise that only alarms with the E-911 reference will be responded to by the sheriff's office.

Morel said part of the prob-lem is alarms give a false sense of security because some alarm companies advise house owners that the sheriff's office will respond to an alarm sounding when the sheriff's office does not know where it is located. "This will at least let the sheriff's office know where the alarms are, Morel added.

Hobbs said he lives in an area where three out of four houses are empty the vast ma-jority of time. "This ordinance needs a lot of work," he add-

County commissioner Maury St. John supported the concept of the ordinance be-cause she said the sheriffs office needs a list with records of where alarms are located regardless how long the alarms have been installed. She said her emphasis is to register these alarms. "I do not see how house owners can object because they want the security of the sheriff's office responding but the sheriff's office does not know the addresses and they don't want to tear down doors," St. John said.

Morel said he planned to meet with the local alarm companies, the sheriff and local citizens for their input on the proposed ordinance to come back with a second

St. John said she would like to sign up as having an alarm first, but did not want to pay the fee or renewal fee as pro-posed in the draft ordinance. Morel said he did not think the fee would survive.

St. John also questioned a section in the proposed ordinance, that would prohibit "auto-dialed" alarm systems. Morel said that section needs more work because there are many out of state companies that contract with local com-panies, and when their alarms go off the sheriff's office gets a computer generated call from Florida or where ever the company is located. Morel said the section will be redrafted to require such autodialed systems to have a local keyholder or contact.

An owner of a local alarm company was present during the public hearing but offered no comments or suggestions.

Copies of the proposed or-dinance are available from the office of the county manager in the courthouse in Carrizozo, or by contacting Morel's legal office in Ruidoso.

County commissioners will hold a second public hearing on the proposed ordinance at their September 20 regular meeting.

Thier need lies close to the quick of life as the earth lies close to the stone:

It is as meat to the slender rib, as marrow to the bone. They ask but leave to labor for the taste of watertight. They ask but the right to labor to live by the strength of their hands,

They who have bodies like knotted oaks and patience like the sea sands. And the right of a man to labor, and his right

True Origin of Labor Day

Claims that Labor day was originated by the Knights of Labor, the American Federation of Labor or the Central Labor union of New York city are open to argument, as proved by the history.

At a meeting of the Central Labor union of New York city on March 8, 1882, Mr. McGuire proposed that one day be set aside and designated as Labor day for a general holiday for the working classes. Other holidays represented the religious, political, civil and military spirit of the people, but there was none to represent the industrial spirit, he argued.

The first Monday in September was selected to fill the wide gap between the Fourth of July and Thanksgiving day, and the first Labor day parade was held on September 5, 1882, in New York by the Central Labor union, with 10,000 persons taking part in the parade, and 20,000 in the picnic which followed.

Two years later the project was taken up by the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada, and later by state legislatures. The day is a legal holiday in every state by Wyoming, where the governor each year declares it a holiday by proclamation.

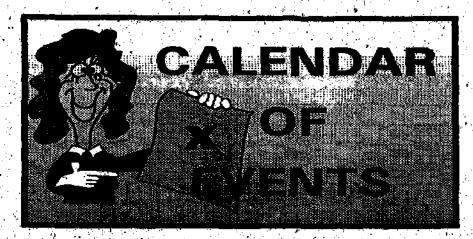

The day was originally dedidated to peace, civilization and the triumph of industry. It was celebrated by street parades and a picnic or festival held in some grove or park, and the proceeds were divided among the organizations participating.
--Frank Duffy, Veteran labor Union Executive

Labor Facing Solemn Duty

Again Labor day comes to us -- and all too many of us will go out to have a good time and let it go at that. The good time should be had; that is one of the purposes of a holiday. But in addition we must think of serious problems. Over and above all things, we have the duty to see that trade unionism is made the instrument by which a fuller measure of democracy is brought into our industrial life. Without freedom in industry there is no complete treedom. Without democratic measures there is no guarantedd of freedom, no means for making it effective. And, viewing the abuses of great corporate power, we know that unless we have democratic cures for the evils, we shall have to submit to the attempted cures of politicians, working more or less in ingnorance and creating likewise a bureaucracy which we fear, but may have to tolerate.

Another Sewer Rate Increase?

By Ruth Hammond

Did you ever stop to think about how much it costs to operate a sewer plant? That is sewer as in all the gunk that goes down the drain as opposed to using a sewing machine. Anyway, most people assume that what is flushed or goes down the sink drain is whisked off into somewhere else, not realizing that it costs to operate a sewer disposal plant.

It seems that the cost to operate a sewer disposal plant is quite expensive. According to a recent rate study, it will cost about $152,000 this year to operate the new Carrizozo waste water facility. That is a lot of money for waste water.

Suggestions as to alternative ways to dispose of waste water are not viable. Outhouses are no longer allowed. One person asked about installing an outhouse a couple of years ago and was told absolutely not. Using discharge water from washing machines was not allowed to be used for watering outdoors until recently. It is not known if anyone in Carrizozo is using washing machine discharge this way. The only thing suggested so far is to increase sewer rates.

Proposed sewer rates could increase $4.50 a month for residences with increased rates proposed for businesses. It may not seem to be much for the engineers who prepared the rate study, but that $4.50 a month could cause serious problems for senior citizens and people on fixed incomes, especially with the increased heating fuel costs this year..

One might assume that if they use less water then their sewer bill should be less, but that is not necessarily true. If you have suggestions concerning the proposed sewer rate increases, please attend the public hearing and voice your opinion to the governing body. Never can tell, the officials might consider your opinions as worthwhile. And you might have ideas the officials have not considered yet.

Sanitation issues are becoming more prevalent and the New Mexico Environment Department is proposing new rules for septic tanks, especially near shallow water tables. Some of these changes might be considered radical, and some people believe increasing sewer rates is very radical.

According to one person, the reason for the proposed sewer rate increase is to pay for maintenance and operation of the waste water treatment plant. According to another person, sewer rates were increased not very long ago. If you have questions, attend the public hearing or one of the regular town council meetings, and present your questions.

Listen to the answers, and if you are not satisfied with what is said, ask more guestions. And to help get an idea as to what questions to ask, go to the municipal building and find out if the draft proposed ordinance that will establish the new sewer rates is available for viewing. The public hearing will be held probably in October. That will give you plenty of time to decide what you want to ask, and to make a list of suggestions you might have. Happy flushing.

On August 23, 2005, my office released the public review draft of the district-specific rules and regulations. These draft rules and regulations provide for implementation of the Pecos Settlement Agreement and the more efficient administration of the surface and groundwater of the Lower Pecos River Stream System through the elimination of illegal and over-diversions within the water master district.

We will use the comments we receive on this draft to prepare an improved version that will be used as the proposed draft in the formal promulgation process. We also hope to answer questions the public may have regarding the AWRM initiative.

The objective of AWRM is to protect and preserve existing senior water rights to the use of water, in the amount and priority of use of each water rights owner. Through AWRM, I will require meters for measuring water use, create special water master districts, hire water masters, and promulgate rules and regulations specific to a number of districts in the Development of district-specific rules and regulations are in progress for the Lower Pecos River, the Lower Rio Grande, and the San Juan River basins.

The process for drafting district-specific rules and regulations for the Lower Pecos River Basin includes four phases. First, we worked extensively with representatives of basin water users who are members of the Lower Pecos River Basin Committee. Second, we are releasing a draft to the public for review and comment at public meetings, and we encourage the public to provide comment on the draft. Third, we will revise the draft to reflect public input and begin the legally required formal process of promulgation of the regulations. The proposed regulations will be placed on file at district offices for public review and will be advertised

After due consideration, I, hereby, am creating the Jay Miller Reading List. It's not required reading, but it would be nice if you could get through them this summer.

In the first installment, we covered "Marc Simmons' New Mexico: Interpretive History," Calvin's "New Mexico's Troubled Years" and Bruce King's "Cowboy in the Roundhouse." In this edition, we continued with New Mexico history, written mostly by New Mexico auth-

Paul Horgan, of Roswell, won the Pulitzer Prize for "Great River: The Rio Grande in North American History." The two-volume set is a maserpiece of American historical writing and is still available over 50 years after its original printing. "The Centuries of Santa Fe" also is a magnificent work, tracing the city from its beginning to the mid 1900s. Horgan also wrote novels and short stories, capuring the flavor and spirit of New Mexico.

Santafean Ruth Laughlin's "The Wind Leaves, No Shadow" gives us a taste of the 25-year Mexican period of our history; with the tremendous changes brought by the Santa Fe Trail. The story of the gambling hall queen Dona Tules Barcelo has been so popular, it has been through nine printings since 1951.

Comes "Death Archbishop" is Willa Carther's great novel of New Mexico, set in the middle of the 19th century. It is based on the lives of Bishop Jean Baptiste L'Amy and his vicar Father Joseph Machebeut. its 43 printings are an indication of its importance in chronicling New Mexico's past. Horgan also wrote an historical account calle "Lamy of Santa Fe.

Taoseno John Nichols' "Milagro Beanfield War" is a New Mexico classic that has been made into a movie. With great humor and sensitive human. awareness. Nichols describes life in northern New Mexico that should be required reading for any newcomer to the area.

"The Magic Journey" and "The Nirvana Blues" make up the remainder of his New Mexico trilogy and also are well worth reading.

Santafean Richard Bradford's coming-of-age novel "Red Sky at Morning" also made it into the movies and should be required reading for anyone moving to Santa Fe. Set in the 1940s, it is largely biographical and hilariously captures the essence of

New Mexico legand Tony Hilelrman keeps turning them out. And every one is just as good as the last. Besides getting to enjoy classic murder mysteries, that go light on gore and chase scenes, we also are treated to lessons in Indian history.

I like Hilerman's books because they involve issues important to Indians, about which the general public should be much more aware. Sometimes they don't have anything to do sneaks in his message anyway.

Another prolific New Mexico mystery writer is Michael McGarrity. Like Hillerman, he waited until retirement to get started and has been making up for it ever since. McGarrity's books cover all of his beloved state and demonstrate a keen knowledge of law enforcement, where he spent much of his career.

You don't want to miss Albuquerquean Max Evans' book "Madam" Millie," about the most successful madam in the business. She had bordellos throughout southwest New Mexico and as far north as Alaska, but called Silver City home. She rubbed elbows with the state's most prominent New Mexicans and survived in the business from the '20s until the '70s. Evans spent 20 years with Millie and a tape recorder getting the story.

And finally, Justice Sandra Day
O'Connor's book "Lazy B," which I mentioned upon her retirement, tells of ranch life in southwest New Mexico. During her college days as a law clerk in Lordsburg, her path even crossed Silver City Millie's.

Consider Little Children

The little children, chide them not, Though noisy at their play, Although in yonder vacant lot They make a holiday. He does not know a father's cares, The boy with ball and bat, The girl the burden mother bears--Thank heaven for that.

The little children fill the room With many a merry shout, They have not learned how great the gloom

That shunts the earth about. The world's a fairyland, and elves The dancing lass and lad, But, if we cannot laugh ourselves, Let them be glad.

The little children find it fair. This world we find so drear. But time shall bring the graying

The grief, the losing year. So greet them not with frowing

Reprove the shouts of glee; For, if they are not happy now, When shall they be?

Lee (July 23-Aug 22) This isn't just another birthday, or getting another year older, it's much more than that and you know it because you just don't feel the same. You are wiser and will not make the same mistakes you have before. Shine on.

Virgo (Aug 23-Sept 22) Have you misplaced something or someone? You might find that what you don't think you want is just what you need most. Search your faith and find out the truth once and for all. It's time you to love again.

Libra (Sept 22-Oct 22) Once you know that it isn't you that needs to change you'll relax and let others do what they need to do without bothering you in the process. Smile give them hugs and send them on their way. New lessons to learn.

Scorpio (Oct 23-Nov 21) Turn around and see what is behind you. Yes you need to look in your past to see what you don't want to take with you in the future. Love is the only thing we take with us when we leave. Love with all your heart.

Sagittarius (Nov 22-Dec 21) You may feel that you're way behind. Not really, you're just trying to do too many things at once. Stop, look, listen and find out what really makes you happy. Mind, Body, and Spirit have to work together. Relax.

Capricorn (Dec 22-Jan 19) Something or someone is slowing you down. Get off the train and make your own way. Money? Love? Career? You. should be your own boss even if you work for someone else. Don't lose your temper.

Aquarius (Jan 20-Feb 18) Making your own way doesn't mean you have to be alone to do it. You can have someone else in your life and still be the, top dog. Keep you business separate from your love life and you do great in both fields.

Pisces (Feb 19-March 20) Great time to change where you're going or where you're coming from. Job? Moving? Get ready, get set and jump on board to your new life. Don't think about it, just do it. Plan ahead by being prepared.

Aries (March 21-April 19) Money is coming once you allow it to. Don't think about what you don't have, think about what you can do with what you have. Be happy and watch the world come your way without you doing anything. Pray.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) The stars say one thing and you're feeling like you need to just run away. Do you really want to do that? Come on now, don't you want to see the fireworks? Look high, look low, but keep on trucking down the road. Gemini (May 21-June 20)

You may feel like your hands are tied. It's only in your mind. Clean your surroundings and see your spirit feel free once more so you can soar with the eagles. You will see a new and happier person soon.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Your temper will get the best of you if you let it. Others are not worth the bother. Find a place where you can be yourself. New places will show you that you have new friends too. You can make more money now.

America is great because of its freedom, its justice, the democratic institutions. Trade unionism can create an even greater America. It has been said that we stand on the verge of the abolition of proverty. That is true only if we properly use our national natural and manufactured wealth. But it can be made true. Let us also add that we stand on the verge of a greater, fuller and nobler freedom -- and then let us make both of these visions come true.

Let us have done with little things. It is the age of great things!

--Matthew Woll, The President American Federation of Labor

Collective Action Imperative

Working people regard labor and service as a most valuable and sacred thing. It cannot be classed as a commodity compared with tangible. perishable products manufactured and created by industry. Labor is life because workers give their lives and their minds when they work with their hands. Because of the deep appreciation of the importance and value of labor and service the trade unions are constantly endeavoring to elevate the standards of life and living. They seek to make life worth while; to create opportunities for development of the body and mind; to regulate the hours of labor so that all may enjoy leisure and surcease from exacting toli. The ultimate objective of labor is the realization and enjoyment of a higher and better life.

This high, and noble purpose canoot be realized except through the power and influence of collective action. 'the aims of labor are so noble and its motives are so lofty as to invite and secure the support of all those who believe that it is the inalienable right of men and women to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

-Daniel J. Tobin, President International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America

Success Based on Co-operation

We have much to give to industry through organization. We have much to give in the way of advice, co-operation, skill and training. Not only are we willing to give our individual service, but we are willing to meet management around the conference table, in the conference room and there, free from acrimoious discussion, decide the questions regarding wages, hours and conditions of employment, giving to management the best of our brain, advice and suggestions in the solution of purely managerial problems.

We believe that the conference room is a better place than the strike field. We believe that peace and good will will make more money for the mill owner than passion and hate. We belive that the co-operation of the workers, satisfied workers, contented workers, workers who are not smarting under the consciousness that they are denied the exercise of a right will make more money for a mill management than a group of workers who hate the management because they will not let them organize.

We believe the very fundamental principle of industrial success rests in good will, in cooperation, in understanding, in nutrality, in the development of the highest degree of cooperation, in the mills and in the factories of the

The motion picture, showing the famous Lincoln county outlaw, or rather some of his activities will appear on the screen in a talking produc-tion, at the Crystal Theatre along about the month of November.

Billy the Kid, whose career was ended by a bullet, at Fort Sumner, almost fifty years ago, has been resurected in the movies, and the vivid acenes of the celebrated outlaw's life will soon be given to the public.

The demand for this All Talking production has been so great that only a portion of the theatres are getting this long looked for picture. Carrizozo is in fact, one of two towns in this section to secure it, and when shown here it will be the center of a large territory from which no doubt, large crowds will come to witness this stirring feature that will be shown here three days

Manager's Report

Lincoln County Manager Tom Stewart gave the follow-ing report to the Lincoln County Commissioners at their meeting Aug. 16 in Carrizozo: Modesto Chavez Fire Station Grand Opening Stewart has been asked to erve as master of ceremonies for a ribbon cutting at the new Modesto Chavez Fire Station at 10 a.m. Saturday, August 27. The station is located at mile marker 292.5 on Highway 70. The public is invited to attend. Highway 70 Clean Up New Mexico Department of Transportation is hold a "Litter Event" on August 29 and 30. Registration to participate in the clean-up will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Aug. 29 at the All American Park in Ruidoso Downs. Volunteers will receive vests, tshirts, gloves and trash bags. Litter clean up will be done on August 30 from 7:30 to 11 a.m. followed by a press con-ference at 12-12:30 p.m.and lunch at 12:30 p.m. also at the All American Park in Ruidoso Downs. A ribbon cutting for the new Highway 70 will be held on September 9. Highway 380 Closures At the May regular county commission meeting, an issue was brought up regarding the lack of warning of Highway 380 closures for missile firings west of Carrizozo. Stewart said he checked with EMS director Jim Stover who advised that White Sands Missile Range (WSMR) pormally sile Range (WSMR) normally permits ambulances to pass through road blocks. Stewart said he also wrote the com-manding general at WSMR and received a response.

"I understand your concern and would like to minimize the impact to the community."

wrote Gen. Robert Reese, WSMR in a letter to Stewart received in mid-July. "Our Range Operations will contact the public broadcast station serving the general area and advise them of any closures to Highway 380. These closures are infrequent and would likely not warrant any state fund-ing for a warning light. How-ever, if the radio broadcasts do not improve the situation, the option for a flashing sign may merit further investigation. I appreciate your con-cern and the recognition of our critical work conducted at White Sands Missile Range."

person for more information. Stewart said he has commu-nicated with the contact person and will be receiving three-day advanced notifica-tion by e-mail of such closures. Stewart said he would forward these notifications to those on his agenda distribu-

The letter included a contact

"According to the point of contact, the closure of Highway 380 occurs on average 10 times per year and they do not see this frequency increasing," he added.

When asked if there is any change for a sign. Stangart chance for a sign, Stewart said he and Jerry Carroll, who requested the notification, have talked about approaching the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce to pay for a sign that the state highway department would install.

Glencoe Palo Verde Fire

Department Station Efforts The county manager examined aerial photos and plats associated with the stretch of Highway 70 between the Ruidoso Downs City limits and the existing Glencoe station for a location to place an additional fire station. Stewart's letter to the state highway department district engineer resulted in a phone call which indicates the property Stewart had in mind may be offered to the original owner first. "This action is under review by the Dept. of Transportation headquarters legal staff with our request. Expect a decision within a month or two."

Greater Ruidoso Wildfire

Protection Zone The Greater Ruidoso Area has been designated as "Community Protection Zone #18" by the New Mexico State Forestry Division. The other 17 locations are 1. Northern Rio Arriba, 2. Colfax/Taos, 3. Raton area, 4. Espanola Bosque, 5. Mora County, 6. Greater Jemez, 7. Los Alamos, 8. Santa Fe county, 9. Western San Miguel, 10. Zuni Mountains, 11. Middle Rio Grande Bosque, 12. Sandia/ Grande Bosque, 12. Sandia/
Manzanos Mountains, 13.
Catron County, 14. Magdalena Mountains, 15. Grant County, 16. Black Range, 17.
Otero County. The designation recognizes that the area has a wildfire protection plan and therefore is eligible for and therefore is eligible for state grants/ appropriations through the Wildland Urban Interface organization.

Rascals Response to Budget During the final budget approval process, county com-missioner Maury St. John expressed and the board concurred with offering assistance to the Rascals After School Club in Ruidoso. As a result, Stewart wrote a letter to the group and received a response that showed their financial situation was not as dire as first indicated. In the letter, Rascals coordinator Deanna Wright wrote that they are grateful for any assis-tance to the program. Ruidoso school district provides the facility and operational costs for the facility and the district assumes and deficit created when tuition does not cover the cost of personnel, snacks and materials.

Glencoe Rural Events

Furnishing
Stewart received a letter from the City of Ruidoso Downs manager requesting the county give the city some of the furnishings from the Glencoe Rural Events Center. Stewart said he forwarded the request to the Lincoln County Fair Association board since the last guidance he received from county commissioners in September 2004 was the fairgrounds was to have priority on the furnishings. "I await a response from the fair board and once received I will have to coordinate any removal of furnishings with the US De-partment of Agriculture," Stewart said. He also added that fair board members had been busy with the fair.

Incorrect Decimal Point! During the June 2005 meet-ing Stewart had raised a concern about a very high bill from the New Mexico General Services Dept. for Unemployment Compensation and consequently wrote a letter in protest. "The state now admits that a decimal point was out of place and the billing should have actually been for around, $3,965, not the $39,656 indi-cated," Stewart said. "Correction of this error will save us about $108,000 in our budget since I had planned on losing this battle, not total victory."

New Budget Format Finance staff has been working with the state to conform the county budget submission to the revised forms that the state requires. For the past year we have created two budget submissions - one in our format and the other in the state's required format. Stewart said. "We believe that we can now create a single document under the state's guidance and the formats that the Board of County Com-missioners receive will be according to the new format required by the state, thus eliminating the tedious task of creating two budget submis-

> Gender Assessment Grant Application

The county submitted a grant application by the dead-line of Aug. 12 for a $6,000 to $8,000 grant for gender assessment under our Lincoln County Juvenile program. Stewart said the grant will provide funds to look at why more young females are get-ting into trouble with the law.

popular efforts of the past.

A faithful effort was made to reconstruct the town of Lincoln, as it was in the days of Billy the Kid, and no detail that it was possible to reproduce was omitted.

Go Fishing

Last Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Clouse and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Haley boarded the Clouse truck for a weekend fishing trip on Three Rivers. The truck was loaded with tents, cots, bedding and a generous supply of grub.

Before reacing the camp ground, Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Barber and Mrs. Mary L. Barber, who had been delayed in starting, overhauld the truck, and camp was made at the highest point a wheel could turn. A big camp fire was soon ging, on the spit some T-bones about the size of a saddle blanket were broiling; in a big dutch overn biscuits were quietly pushing off the lid; the table was spread and the big feed took place by the light of the fire, reinforced by lanterns swinging from grees. Soon after the supper, drowsiness overcame the party and soon all were sleeping, the soughing of the wind in the trees and the purling of the nearby stream aiding Morpheus in his invitation.

Up again next moring for an early breakfast, so the fishermen of the party could whip the stream to its source; the belated and bedraggled return of the fishermen just as the sun was sinking to his rest; the day's catch not as generous as had been hoped but sufficient for the crowd, and then again to bed for a good night's rest and an early start home next morning.

In passing, allow us to say that we believe the upper stretches of the Three Rivers Canyon to be the roughest and most precipitius of any in our entire mountain country, and anyone with an excessive store of energy would enjoy a vist to this box-like canyon on the west side. The outing was a most pleasant one.

School in a New Light

"What is the matter with Mary jane? sings Mr. Milne. What is the matter with Frederick, we hasten to echo. He has been urged repeatedly and most persuasivly, too, to depart for school in the morning without raising his voice to a piercing whine and distoring his fgace in protest. He has been given gold start as rewards of merit which might eventually profit him something; he has been told that pennies are put in his bank every time he is a good boy; he has been promised a new baseball glove and other coveted treasures, but although he expresses a desire to attain these, he emits daily sounds of torturing penetration as he is helped into his coat and nears the front door.

"I don't want to go to school, " he shrieks. Helpless adults stand by and thrust upon him the usual threats, promises and futile questions.

"Why, Frederck," they exclaim, "Don't you ean tot go to school? Don't you like school? Don't you like all the children, and the games, and nice teacher?"

"Noooooooo!" returns Frederick, in a note that implies that he thinks the children pests, the games a bore and the teacher an ogre. "Noooooo, I don't want to go to school. I won't I

Adults stand helpless while Frederick grows purple. The only way he gets to school is by being forcibly dragged there, and then he is so nervously unstrung (so is every one else) that he is completely hostile and nonreceptive. Lessons are in vain.

Well, Frederick is not alone in his hour of struggle. There are many like him. Some are timid; some have been tied to the proverbial apron strings so long that they can't stand on their own feet; some receive a subconscious stimulus to their dramatic instincts by securing so much 'attention; some suffer from genuine shyness, but whatever the cause and whoever the Frederick that dreadful hour recurs again and again and must be done away with. Generalizations are of no use.

Assuming that the situation has been carefully investigated and that there are no visible "ghosts inthe closet," an experience of complete revelation might be profitable for Frederick. Does he know what a bore his life would be without school? Has he been given a chance to twiddle his thumbs as an alternative to the pleasant association with his schoolmates? Take him at his work sometime, keep him home from school, let him sit in idleness all by himself for a good long time, and there's not much doubt that if his boredom were complete enough, departure for school would soon become a vast and delightful relief, and occupy its proper place in Frederick's mind.

Op-Ed: Public Review and Comment Encouraged

in newspapers of general circulation in the state. Thereafter, a public hearing will take place on the regulations in Santa Fe. In the fourth phase, I will adopt the regulations and place them into effect. The pre-promulgation process is above and beyond the legal requirements for promulgating rules and regulations by any state agency.

I anticipate that the AWRM initiative will take several years to fully implement statewide, but we have made tremendous strides so far in a very short period of time.

Because New Mexico will continue to experience drought conditions from time to time, we must be prepared. I would encourage all water users to become actively involved in the problem-solving process to help identify alternative forms of administration for times of shortages.

There has been speculation that the Office of the State Engineer may be avoiding a meeting with the Lincoln County Commission to discuss questions about the Lower Pecos River Basin District-Specific Rules and Regulations and the Active Water Resource Management (AWRM) initiative. This perception is inaccurate, as we have intended to make this process accessible and open to the public.

In July 2005, a special Lincoln County Commission public meeting was scheduled with County Manager Tom Stewart. In coordination with Mr. Stewart, this meeting was scheduled for September 6. This coincides with the release of the public review draft of the district-specific rules and regulations prior to beginning the statutory promulgation process. We felt a meeting at this point in time would be of the greatest benefit to the Commission.

The special Lincoln County Commission Meeting on September 6 will be held at the Hondo Public Schools' Multi-Purpose Room (located near US Highway 70 and US Highway 380) at 5:30 p.m. Other public meetings are planned in the Lower Pecos Basin on August 30 in Carlsbad, on August 31 in Ft. Sumner, and on September 12 in

I ask everyone to be part of the process by attending the public meetings we have scheduled in your area. We need your help to develop district-specific rules and regulations that benefit all water users.

A copy of the draft rules and regulations can be obtained from the Office of the State Engineer website at: www.ose.state.nm.us under "Active Water Resource Managen.ent", then "Lower Pecos." Copies for review will be placed in the Office of the State Engineer District II office in Roswell and public libraries in Carlsbad, Roswell, Fort Sumner, and Ruidoso.

The deadline for public comments is Friday, September 23, 2005. All comments should be e-mailed to christina.malesa@state.nm.uschristina.malessa@state.nm.us or be mailed to:

Interstate Stream Commission Attn: Christina Malessa P.O. Box 25102 Santa Fe, NM 87504

The Office of the State Engineer is charged with administering the state's water resources. The State Engineer has power over the supervision, measurement, appropriation, and distribution of all surface and groundwater in New Mexico, including streams and rivers that cross state boundaries. The State Engineer is also Secretary of the Interstate Stream Commission and oversees its staff. The Interstate Stream Commission is charged with separate duties including protecting New Mexico's right to water under eight interstate stream compacts, ensuring the state complies with each of those compacts, as well as water planning.

At the same trustees meeting, it was reported that the detention center was having sewer problems because of trash and other items put into the sewer system by inmates. Town maintenance requested the town require the detention center to install a screen to filter out such debris before it enters the town's sewer lines, which are older and inadequate in size to handle the debris from the detention cen-

when county commissioners were considering construction of a new detention center, the Town of Carrizozo offered sewer and water at no cost as an incentive to the county to build the center in Carrizozo. Since then the detention center has contributed greatly to the sewer load and has been the source of many problems with the sewer lines, while paying nothing.

The public will have opportunity to comment on the pro-posed ordinance that will establish the new sewer rates during public hearing. Copies of the proposed ordinance will be available for viewing at the Carrizozo Municipal Building once the proposed ordinance has been drafted.

No specific date has been set for the public hearing on the proposed ordinance, but according to the town clerk, the public hearing will most likely be at the October regular meeting, unless trustees call a special meeting.

The town must post notice two weeks in advance of any public hearing on proposed ing, Ingle said there have been no convictions of illegal dumpers. She asked for help with the courts to impress upon judges the need to convict those who are caught.

Ingle said LCSWA is trying to use cameras to help catch illegal dumpers. She said there were once 60 sites where illegal dumping was severe which is now down to 52 sites because of the periodic free roll off service. Also in some areas people are adopting dumpsters to keep illegal dumping cleaned up.

When county commissioners considered the "Charges for Service" rates provided by Ingle, Hobbs said it was hard to read. The rate sheet showed current rates charged by Ingle said the intent is for LCSWA to present proposed rate increases for public hearing at the September county commission meeting. hope people will tell us what services they want," Ingle said about subdivisions which are considering different services than the dumpsters.

County manager Tom Stewart, who is working with Ingle on the county rates and services, said providing specialized services such as the poly cart door to door service will depend on how far the area is from the LCSWA main yard. "That is why we are setting a parameter on distance for cerain services," Stewart said.

Today we are just providing you information on what services LCSWA provides and the current rates," Ingle said to county commissioners.

In justifying the need for increased residential trash rates for county customers, Ingle said the county residential service does not raise enough revenue currently to cover the cost for collection and disposal. When asked if LCSWA services provided to Mescalero and other locations in Otero County affect the cost of operation for LCWSA, Ingle said these entities help pay for the cost of collecting and disposing the county residential trash.

Hobbs said he wanted to see recommendations on what trasn rates snould be. Stewart said the county commission can only address residential county trash rates, not the entire LCSWA rate schedule for commercial and municipal services. Stewart said he and Ingle will work on proposed rate increases to be presented to county commissioners at the public hearing in Septem-

At the August 23 LCSWA meeting, county commissioner Eileen Lovelace, sitting on the board on behalf of county representative Tom Battin, spoke about the illegal dumping. "It is the responsi-bility of the public if they see illegal dumping to write down the vehicle to a number and the vehicle tag number and report it to the sheriff's office," Lovelace said.

Ingle said the adopt a dump-ster program should help with illegal dumping. She also asked Ruidoso councilor Ray Nunley (the village's represen-tative on the LCSWA board) to help LCSWA reinstate the Ruidoso-Lincoln County Crimestoppers program for illegal dumping. Nunley, who serves on the village's task for the Extraterritorial Zoning Ordinance, said he would also look into having the illegal dumping issue addressed in the new ETZ ordinance.

Ingle said illegal dumping is an issue all over the state. She said Ruidoso has four people dedicated to picking up illegal dumping in the village. In the county, some problem areas are in Arabela which has a huge illegal dumping prob-lem, as well as west of Capitan and now at Hale Lake in a remote area south of Ruidoso
