

County Bans All Open Burning

by Doris Cherry

High winds, warm temperatures and lack of recent rainfall have added up to Very High fire dangers within Lincoln County.

In response, Lincoln County Commissioners at an emergency meeting held Tuesday afternoon in Ruidoso unanimously approved a resolution declaring fire danger emergency. In accordance to Lincoln County Ordinances 2004-01 and 2003-06, the county commission had determined resolution bans all burning of open flames, fires, campfires (except in designated areas), trash, rubbish, shrubbery or other material of any kind, except by permit available from the office of the county manager.

Also the resolution bans the sale or use of display fireworks, missile-type rockets, helicopters, aerial spinners, stick-type rockets and ground audible devices within the unincorporated drought areas. Fireworks not listed above mined that due to conditions of continuing drought and ongoing critical fire weather, the present fire danger in exceedingly high within the County of Lincoln.

The resolution remains in effect for 30 days or until rescinded or extended by the county commission.

The Fire Danger Emergency shall be limited to areas that are paved or barren or have readily accessible source of water.

Fireplaces and in particular unquenched ashes from these fireplaces, may present a significant hazard and should not be used during period of drought and high winds.

The ban does not include backyard BBQ grills or other cooking fires in designated areas.

For more information about the ban, or burning permits, call the office of the county manager at 648-2385 ext. 4.

Capitan Chamber Set For July 4 Smokey Bear Parade

by Doris Cherry

Capitan Chamber of Commerce is in the final stages of preparing for the 50th annual Smokey Bear Parade and 25th annual Smokey Bear Fun Run on July 4.

This year's parade, with grand master Fletcher Hall, will have the theme Back to the Fifties in honor of the 50th anniversary of the parade.

Deadline to enter the parade in order to be judged or announced is Friday, June 24. All late parade entries will be placed at the end of the parade line and will not be judged.

Parade entry applications are available from the Capitan Chamber of Commerce Visitor Center at 354-2273.

Parade categories for judging are emergency vehicles; kid's bikes; equestrian individual; best dressed cowboy age 12 and under; motorcycles; wagon/buggy; decorated pickup/car; nonprofit float; band or marching unit; kids pet parade; equestrian group; best dressed cowgirl age 12 and under; antique/classic car; political floats/cars; commercial float; musical float.

All entrants should call the chamber after June 29 to get their line up numbers.

Floats should not exceed 13 feet wide, 40 feet long including the tow vehicle and 13 feet high. All floats and pick-up entries with children must have an accompanying adult on the float or in the bed of the pick-up. Kids bike or walking entries must also have an accompanying adult. Kids bike entries are limited to children grades K-6.

On Monday, July 4, parade line up begins at 9 a.m. with the parade to start at 10 a.m. Entrants must report to parade organizers at the corner of Forrest Street and Highway 380 (by the school gym) for directions. All entries will line up on Forrest and intersecting streets. The parade will end on 2nd Street off Lincoln (behind village hall).

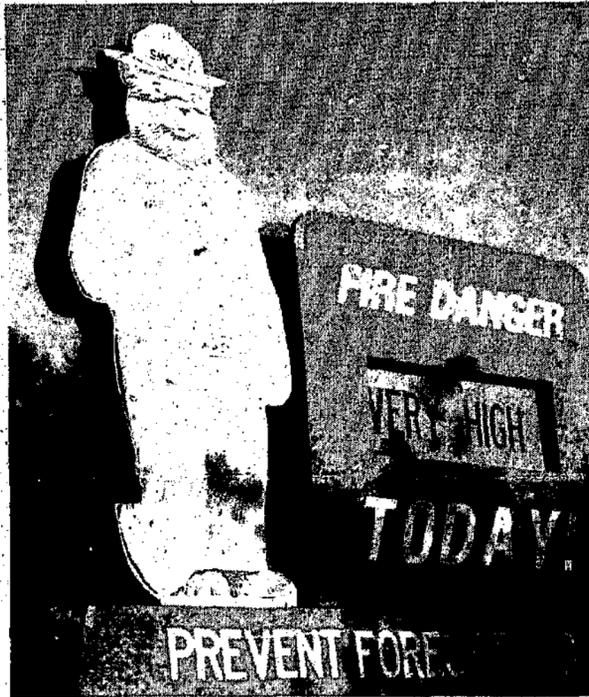

Trophies/plaques will be awarded to the first, second and third places in each category. Judging will be done from the chamber visitor center and prizes will be available at the center after 12 noon.

Entries must have their own numbers for judging on a regular sized piece of white paper with black numbers a minimum of seven inches tall, placed on the passenger side of vehicles and floats and the back of pedestrians and riders. If numbers are not on entries they will not be judged.

The most outstanding entry will receive the Chamber of Commerce award.

Independence Day festivities in Capitan begin on Friday, July 1 with the opening of the 50th annual Smokey Bear Stampede rodeo at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds at 7 p.m. Just prior to the opening of the rodeo will be the crowning of the 2006 Lincoln County Rodeo

VERY HIGH fire danger adviser Smokey at the Smokey Bear Ranger District work station in Capitan. Very High danger exists throughout the entire Smokey Bear Ranger District in the Lincoln National Forest, which prompted the Lincoln County Commission to impose the ban an all open burning in the county. While no fire restrictions have been imposed within the forest, officials advise that if current dry and windy conditions continue restrictions of no campfires, no charcoal and no smoking outdoors will be imposed. Before making plans for camping or picnicing in the forest, call the Smokey Bear District station in Ruidoso at 257-4095.

County Fair Books Are Now Available

by Doris Cherry

The 2005 Lincoln County Fair Books are now available at various locations.

Locations include the Lincoln County manager's office and the Lincoln County Extension office, both in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo. Call the extension office at 648-2311 for more locations.

The 2005 fair will be held August 8-13 at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds in Capitan. Fair books list the schedule of events for each day of the fair, and all the various entry divisions.

Fair entry categories include 4-H projects; junior livestock; junior horse show.

Any county resident can enter the Open Division categories for adults and juniors. These include art/photography, scrapbooking, horticulture, flower shows, home economics, canned goods, clothing and household entries. A special Junior Art Show is open to all youth in grades K-12 in two categories. Another special award is by the Carrizozo Woman's Club for the best junior open division recycled item.

All members of the public regardless of club membership or age may also enter the Pet Show set for 5:30 p.m. Friday, August 12. Children 9 or under may enter the Lead Class costume contest, involving leading a sheep, goat or exotic (llama, alpaca, miniature horse or donkey).

Again this year the Poppa Pig and Momma Lamb Shows will be held featuring 4-H and FFA leaders and parents. The shows challenge the adults to show either a lamb or pig with the young exhibitors as judges. The Poppa Pig Show is set for 5 p.m. Wednesday, August 10. The Momma Lamb

C'zozo Chamber Donates To Fireworks Display

by Doris Cherry

Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce is donating $750 towards the July 4 Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department fireworks display.

Meeting June 14, chamber members agreed to increase the amount of the donation because the fire department puts on an excellent display that attracts locals and many out of town visitors.

Final plans were made for the annual chamber deep-pit BBQ dinner from 5-8 p.m. on July 4 at the ProShop on the golf course. Advance tickets at a discount will be sold until July 2. Tickets are available at Carrizozo police department, chamber caboose visitor center, local motels or by calling Gail Major at 648-1400.

Volunteers are needed to help prepare the meat and coleslaw. Anyone wishing to see the deep pit cooking process is invited to be at the corner of 5th and C. Ave. at about 2 or 3 p.m. on Sunday, July 3. Volunteers are needed on July 4 to decorate and serve. Decorating will begin about 2 p.m. and serving volunteers needed by 4:30 p.m. Call Suzi Wolfe at 648-2351.

Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department will begin their fireworks display at dusk. The ignition area of the fireworks display has been relocated this year to the first tee on the east side of the lake, for the safety of viewers.

The public will be allowed to shoot off approved fireworks in a designated area west from the lake to the dirt road. This is the only area allowed for the private fireworks. All children must be accompanied by an adult.

Chamber members suggested that people who buy a BBQ ticket, buy an extra and donate the ticket to a fire department or sheriff's posse member.

Members also discussed the chamber/town website. Web master Dirk Norris said all chamber business members can be on the website paid by the chamber and Carrizozo Town Lodgers Tax funds.

Norris explained that chamber members have an opportunity to have their business featured on a webpage that will be attached to the town website. If members already have a website and address these can be linked to the town website.

A basic business webpage should include the name of the business, physical location, phone number and a description on what business or services provided, and photos if desired.

As a way to determine the success of a webpage, Norris suggested businesses ask customers if they have seen the business webpage.

The town webpage includes a calendar of events, to which chamber members, or members of the public or organizations, can place information about upcoming events and/or meetings.

Norris said chamber members who would like to put information on the website/webpage should contact him with that information at 648-4007 or email at webmaster@townofcarrizozo.org.

As for the chamber website, Norris said the chamber needs to decide what it wants to accomplish with the website-information, attractions/events. When it was mentioned that the website

Forest Service to Celebrate 100 Years

The Smokey Bear Ranger District centennial celebration will be held July 15-16.

The Forest Service is celebrating 100 years of caring for the land and serving people. The centennial is an opportunity to reflect on the rich 100-year history of the Forest Service accomplishments and honor the local communities, partners, and others whose contributions have made it possible to sustain the natural resources for future generations. Join in the celebration of your national forests.

The Smokey Bear Ranger District in Ruidoso is holding their Centennial Celebration on July 15-16. The two-day event will include an Open House on both Friday and Saturday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Special events will be held throughout the day on Saturday. Planned activities include: a day in the woods scavenger hunt 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., centennial historical displays, Smokey Bear balloon on site on Saturday, Smokey Bear/Woodsy Owl appearances throughout the day, fashion show, special guest speakers, street barbecue at noon, Smokey Bear coloring contest winners announced, wildlife costume contest for Korene Walker, chamber secretary, said she will include the webpage information in the monthly chamber newsletter.

Deadline is June 22 for organizations/groups or churches to include a 2006 Carrizozo event for listing in the 2006 New Mexico Visitor's Guide under "Carrizozo." The guide is distributed at 1,400 rest stops, and nearly all motels and hotels in the state. Contact Gay Speirbain at the chamber visitor center at 648-2732.

Member Dorothy Forsythe invited anyone interested to join the "unorganized, non-dues paying" garden club at 8 a.m. every other Wednesday to work on the grounds at the Caboose Visitor Center. Volunteers just need to show up with garden tools, gloves with names printed on them. The other Wednesday mornings the group works at Sargent Park across from Carrizozo Joe's.

Van Shamblyn reported on plans for the 2nd Annual Governor McDonald Day on Saturday, July 30. The event will feature two Chautauqua performances—Pat Garrett and Gov. Lew Wallace—with Gov. Wallace at the Otero County Electric Cooperative office community room on 12th St. Los Coyotes from Espanola will entertain with their traditional northern New Mexican music.

Other events will be announced as they are finalized, Shamblyn said, with a full report at the July 12 chamber meeting.

Crazy Horse, Fighting Chief of the Sioux

By Elmo Scott Watson

When American Indian day, which is observed annually on the fourth Friday in September, is celebrated this year, it will find a recently dedicated memorial to one of the outstanding individuals of the Indian race. Out at Fort Robinson, Neb., there has been erected a monument, cut from the granite of the Black Hills of South Dakota, on which are engraved the symbols of a pipe of peace and a broken bow, arrow and tomahawk. On it also is a bronze tablet which tells the passer-by that near this spot on September 5, 1877, Crazy Horse of the Oglala Sioux was killed - dying as he had lived, a fighting man.

Chief Crazy Horse (Tashunka Witko) was only thirty-three years old when his warrior career ended, but he had already written his name high in the annals of the Old West. Although he was the principal leader in the two greatest victories ever won by his people over the white men, it was the irony of fate that in each case credit for the achievement should be given to another Sioux chief whose name and fame happened to be more familiar to the white men than was Crazy Horse's. One of them was Red Cloud, whom most historians record as being the leader in the so-called "Fetterman Massacre" near Fort Phil Kearney, Wyo., in 1866, despite the testimony of Indian survivors that he was neither in command that day nor did he have any hand in planning or carrying out the ambush of Fetterman's ill-fated command. The other was Sitting Bull, who is popularly (and erroneously) believed to have been mainly responsible for the maneuvers of the Indians which resulted in the disaster to Custer's command on the Little Big Horn in Montana ten years later.

Crazy Horse was born in 1844, the son of an Oglala Sioux chief of the same name. His mother died when he was two years old, but his step-mother, who was also his aunt, raised him as her own. Trained by her and his father in the rigorous physical regime required of young boys of the Sioux, he early learned the lessons of courage, self-denial, generosity, modesty, truthfulness and fair dealing which so strongly characterized his later life. A fine horseman and a skillful hunter, he joined his first war party when he was only sixteen years old and by the time of the first serious war between the Sioux and the whites (1866) Crazy Horse's tribesmen looked to him as a principal war leader, and even the Cheyenne, chiefs, allies of the Sioux, practically acknowledged his leadership.

Although Crazy Horse had distinguished himself in the Fetterman battle and at the famous Wagon Box fight a year later, he rose to his greatest heights as a general in 1876 and 1877. One June 17, 1876, he attacked the army of Gen. George Crook on the Rosebud river in Montana and fought the experienced Indian-fighter to a standstill, this breaking up the army's plan of campaign and making certain the annihilation of Custer's command a week later. The only army officer who defeated him fairly and squarely was Gen. Nelson A. Miles ("Bear Coat") who did that at Battle butte in the Wolf mountains in Montana on January 8, 1877, an engagement which led directly to Crazy Horse's surrender a few months later.

By this time the hostile Sioux had begun to realize that the white man was too powerful for them. Through the influence of Chief Spotted Tail of the Brule Sioux, an uncle of Crazy Horse, the Oglala chieftain was persuaded to come in to Fort Robinson, Neb., and surrender, which he did on May 6, 1877.

At the time of Crazy Horse's surrender, his

Corriente CowBelles Award Scholarships

Each year Corriente CowBelles awards scholarships to deserving Lincoln County students who are graduating seniors, college students, or graduate students who are studying agriculture or a related field.

Corriente CowBelles raises money for these scholarships with their annual team roping, as well as contributions from businesses and individuals.

This year Corriente CowBelles awarded four scholarships, each in the amount of $250, to be used toward college expenses, with two special scholarships in memory of Ruth Davis Shannon and Judy Arrowsmith, both deceased Corriente members.

This year's recipient of the Ruth Davis Shannon Memorial Scholarship, named in memory of charter member Ruth Davis Shannon, is Ashley Lamb. Ashley is the daughter of Betsy and Isidro Peralta, and is currently teaching science at Lake Arthur High School and is working on her master's degree in curriculum and instruction with an emphasis on distance education and technology. Next year she will be working to re-establish an Vo-Ag program at Lake Arthur High School and will be FFA advisor as well as teaching one Ag class. She hopes to complete her master's degree in summer of 2006, and then continue pursuing a doctorate degree in community college administration or distance education.

The Judy Arrowsmith Memorial Scholarship, named in memory of Judy, goes to Cheyenne Evans, daughter of Sherry and Walt Evans. Cheyenne is a student at Patrick Henry College through distance learning. Cheyenne plans to become a journalist to report factually on all issues, including her western and ranch life heritage.

The next Corriente CowBelle scholarship recipient is Lucera Montes, daughter of Ralph and Lindy Montes. Lucera, a 2003 Capitan graduate, is currently a junior at ENMU, Portales. She is working toward a bachelor's degree in agricultural education with a minor in history. Lucera looks forward to being an Ag teacher so she can share the rural lifestyle of her heritage with her students.

Codi Montes, daughter of Thomas and Renee Montes, is the recipient of the final Corriente CowBelles scholarship. Codi is currently a senior at ENMU, Portales, and working toward a bachelor's degree in agricultural education. She looks forward to teaching and being a positive role model to her students, as well as sharing her rural lifestyle background. Codi is also considering pursuing a master's degree in agricultural education or education administration.

Pat Aguilar Earns ChFC Designation

El Paso, TX -- Patrick D. Aguilar, State Farm Insurance Co., agent, has earned the Chartered Financial Consultant (ChFC) professional designation from The American College, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Candidates for the ChFC designation must complete a minimum of eight courses and 16 hours of supervised examinations. They must also fulfill stringent experience and ethics requirements. The ChFC program focuses on the complete financial planning process as an organized way to collect and analyze information on a client's total financial situation.

ChFCs can identify and establish specific financial goals and then formulate, implement and monitor a comprehensive plan to achieve those goals. Individuals who earn a ChFC can provide expert advice on a broad range of financial topics including financial planning, wealth accumulation and estate planning, income taxation, life and health insurance, business taxation and planning investments and retirement planning.

Aguilar is a 21-year agent with State Farm and is a member of the National Assn., of Insurance and Financial Advisors as well as the local chapter -- El Paso Assn. of Insurance and Financial Advisors. He is a graduate of Carrizozo High School, NM Highlands University (B.A.); and Abilene Christian University (M.Ed.).

He and his wife, Carmen, will be taking a company sponsored trip to participate in The American College's 77th Annual Commencement and Educational Symposium in Cancun, Mexico in November.

Pat Garrett Returns To Lincoln County June 25th

Sheriff Pat Garrett will make a special appearance in Lincoln County on Saturday, June 25 at the Hubbard Museum of the American West in Ruidoso Downs.

Garrett, portrayed by Ron Grimes a Carlsbad Chautauqua performer, will give his program entitled From Buffalo Hunter to Man Hunter at 2 p.m. on June 25.

The free program is sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society, under the auspices of the New Mexico Humanities Council.

Although best remembered as the sheriff who shot Billy the Kid shortly after the Lincoln County War, Pat Garrett left an enduring legacy in the pages of New Mexico and west Texas history. From that fateful night of July 14, 1881 in Fort Sumner when Garrett ended the career of the Kid, to his vision a few years later of bringing irrigation to the fertile fields of the Pecos Valley, his dogged pursuit of the killers of Albert J. Fountain and his young son, followed by a tumultuous stint as US Customs Collector in El Paso, and ending in his own mysterious death near Las Cruces Garrett remains a colorful yet enigmatic character of New Mexico's equally colorful past.

Grimes, dressed in authentic 1880s old west attire, has

THOUGHTS

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Be Careful With Fire

By Ruth Hammond

Did you notice that it has been extra hot lately? Most people have had to start their coolers much earlier than in previous years. And the main topic of conversation is how hot it is. The best advice is to try to keep cool. And that could be difficult if you allow governmental dealings to bother you. The situation between Capitan and Carrizozo regarding the gas company is one area of contention. The possible sale of water to a proposed subdivision three or four miles north of Capitan is another concern, as is water and other maintenance for a proposed subdivision adjacent to Carrizozo. Main conversations are about selling water.

Additional concern is that the blowing wind is drying out everything and increasing the danger of fire in forests and grasslands. You know how hot it is to be outside for just a short time, but when there is a fire the firefighters are out in the heat many hours at a time. Hotshot crews are on standby and waiting. Let's hope they are not needed soon.

Not all concerns are quite as evident as the possible sale of water, the situation with the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) has people wondering. The county plans to request proposals for trash pick-up service and that could be a problem. LCSWA charges are public record and with this information proposers could adjust their prices accordingly and offer lower rates. The one thing that has been mentioned is that prices be definitely set before the county accepts a proposal, not leave pricing open-ended.

Governmental dealings are supposed to be conducted in open session. The Capitan possible water sale was a topic discussed during the Capitan Trustee meeting Tuesday and it was stated that the sale of Capitan water was not a done deal. Several people living adjacent to Capitan have asked for village water for years and been told no. Capitan had a moratorium on water taps outside the village for years. The situation may be settled to the benefit of all concerned, but it will take time, and it take continued involvement by the people wanting any water deals made to be fair to all.

Expecting fairness in governmental dealings should be the way it is, but too often under-handed deals are made and the people who should have the most say have none. If you believe otherwise, consider the list of military bases that may be closed. New Mexico was fortunate that only one base was on the list, but battle lines are being drawn to try to keep that important base open. Years ago the base was closed abruptly in Roswell and it has taken much too long for that area to rebound from what happened there.

Rationale is that you can do something; you can write letters about the possible base closing, you can attend the meetings where important issues will be discussed and you must be extra careful with fire. The raging fires at meetings are more than we need. Forest fires are not necessary.

SANTA FE

by JAY MILLER

SANTA FE — Gov. Bill Richardson is handling most aspects of his job like a real pro. In fact, few governmental chief executives have done better.

He's a master at accomplishing his agenda. That's great, as long as you like it. And most people do because Richardson has a good handle on what people want. And if he doesn't give them exactly what they want, he's also a master at convincing the public and the press that he's doing it.

No New Mexico governor in this half-century I've watched them, has ever been the force with the state Legislature that Richardson is.

Lawmakers are very protective of the powers granted them by the state constitution and further enhanced by their own legislative maneuvers over the years. But Richardson has been a lawmaker at the federal level and knows a few executive tricks that haven't been tried here.

Richardson also is a master at convincing special interest groups to fund his causes while at the same time convincing them they should support some of his initiatives that may be contrary to their best interests. And he handles the media and the public deftly enough to ensure that they treat him well.

Some of the tactics used by the governor may not serve him well in the long haul. He is guilty of intimidation and bullying. He surrounds himself with a staff chosen for its loyalty and willingness to work as long and hard as he demands. That requires a young and energetic staff, willing to follow orders and not provide other points of view.

It also means his closest advisers are not likely to have the institutional memory necessary to prevent their boss from making some embarrassing mistakes on tasks such as appointments to the many positions in state government.

Unwise appointments dogged the governor early on when he was fleshing out his administration. But the recent appointment of a magistrate judge in Espanola who has had frequent run-ins with the law indicates he hasn't learned that lesson.

Richardson has that institutional memory scattered among his staff and cabinet secretaries, but he obviously isn't using it. The main reason likely is that he doesn't want advisers telling him how it's always been done.

The governor came into office promising a new beginning. He has a wealth of new ideas he wants to implement. Having a new and unquestioning staff is the quickest way to get that done. But some tempering from the old and wise wouldn't be a bad idea.

Richardson doesn't remind me of any past governors I have known. But he does remind me of some presidents, past and present. And since that's always been his ultimate goal, it is likely that was his intent.

It is an easy guess that Richardson looked to Bill Clinton, under whom he served in various capacities, both official and unofficial. Some of Clinton's easygoing style with the public and press can be seen in Richardson's demeanor.

But most of that he had before. Richardson has a way of getting an audience or press corps on his side with humorous and self-effacing comments.

The president from whom Richardson seems to have taken the most is Lyndon Johnson, who used his knowledge of how Congress operates to push through many pieces of landmark legislation.

Some of that legislation the charming Jack Kennedy had tried and failed to get through Congress. Johnson wasn't charming, except when he put on his farm boy act to cajole his prey. LBJ was the master of stong-arm tactics to accomplish his ends.

And from the present White House, Richardson has seen the process of managing the news. He already was good as the art of the spin, as any politician must be. But he now has the knack of creating an image even if it doesn't fit.

State Republicans are furious that he has convinced conservative commentators back East that he's a tax-cutting governor.

Gemini (May 21-June 20)
This isn't a good time to fight with anyone. Send as much loving energy to person, place, or thing that isn't working for you. Good energy is the only thing that will help you fight negative energy. Pray.

Cancer (June 21-July 22)
When you think this is all said and done, think again. You need to do the best you can, and leave the rest up to the others. Don't do their job. This is their lesson to learn. They need to touch the fire to know what burn is.

Leo (July 23-Aug 22) Now is the time for all good people, like you, to come to the aid of yourself. You're trying to help when someone doesn't understand your good intentions. They might think you're just getting into their business.

Virgo (Aug 23-Sept 22) Need to buy something you can't afford? Save your money first, and you'll save time worrying about money you don't have. You'll be able to make more money when you're not worrying about making more.

Libra (Sept 22-Oct 22) Someone is crying out to you. Your inner child that says you're acting OLD. Turn up the volume of life, go out and play like a child. Water? Air? Earth? Mud? Good, get out there and play in the mud and have fun.

Scorpio (Oct 23-Nov 21) Don't get in a snit. Just do it and get it over with. You have a good idea of what you need to do, and you have been here before so just roll up your sleeves and "Get'r Done". Reward yourself later. Got fun.

Sagittarius (Nov 22-Dec) You're feeling that someone might have betrayed you. You are allowing your feelings rule, instead of the facts. Feelings are not facts. Allow them to explain, or just let it go. Let your heart heal your pain.

Capricorn (Dec 22-Jan 19) Your love life has changed. Get ready to rock and roll. Love is in the air, so enjoy it. Money? What are you waiting for? Reach out and grab all the gusto you can. It's there, all you have to do is go after it.

Aquarius (Jan 20-Feb 18) It isn't fair when it comes to the one that has done a good job but no one notices it. Don't worry, they'll notice you when you're gone. Don't look back. Turn the page and keep on trucking down the road of life.

Pisces (Feb 19-March 20) You might feel that what you have been doing is not good enough. You can't think for other people anymore than you can feel for other people. Pat yourself on the back, and know that you're doing a good job.

Aries (March 21-April 19) You can feel it can't you? Waiting for the phone to ring, watching for some new change. You're right. Pray for the windfall to come through, and the love of your life too. Chance knocking? Open the door.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Strange and wonderful things are coming your way. Not what you're used to though. You'll open the door, and see nothing there, but it's what you don't see is what is about to happen. Got faith?

wife was suffering from tuberculosis, and the medical care given her by Dr. V.T. McGillycuddy, a surgeon with the Third cavalry, not only won for him the friendship of the Oglala chief but also the name of Wasieu Wakan, the "White Miracle Man" and Tasunka Witko Kola, "the Friend of Crazy Horse". The events leading up to Crazy Horse's death are told in this first-hand account by Doctor McGillycuddy, who is still living in California.

"In September, 1877, General Crook held an important council at Fort Robinson with Crazy Horse. I was in the Indian camp that day and the council was a heated one. It finally broke up with no results except to create the belief in Crook's mind that Crazy Horse was meditating desertion and an attempt to join Sitting Bull, who was still in Canada where he had found refuge under the British flag after the Custer battle in 1876.

"This impression regarding the desertion of Crazy Horse was the result of a purposeful misinterpretation by the government interpreter who was an enemy and feared Crazy Horse. Of this I was informed by Louis Boudreau, a reliable man who checked the interpreting. The feeling was added to by Red Cloud's jealousy of Crazy Horse's increasing power and importance.

"Three days later a courier arrived from General Crook who had gone to Fort Laramie, Wyo., with orders to General Bradley, commandant at Fort Robinson, to arrest Crazy Horse. The next morning a force of three troops of cavalry and a field piece and myself as medical officer left the post an hour before daylight for a march of five miles to the camp to make the arrest. We arrived at daylight and found but a deserted camp ground. Crazy Horse and his people, lodges and everything had scattered and gone. That evening a courier arrived from Major Burke, commanding at the Spotted Tail agency 40 miles east, saying that Crazy Horse had arrived alone and was in Spotted Tail's camp.

"An order was sent to Major Burke to arrest Crazy Horse and return him to Fort Robinson. Burke informed Chief Spotted Tail of his orders. Spotted Tail's reply was: "Crazy Horse is a chief. He is my guest. He cannot be arrested, but if the soldier chief will set the time we will council with him."

"At 9:00 a.m. next day Spotted Tail and Crazy Horse appeared at Burke's office. Crazy Horse was not informed that he was a prisoner but that General Bradley at Fort Robinson wanted him there for a council. His reply was: "It is well, I will go". Entering the waiting ambulance, and surrounded by Indian scouts and a cavalry escort, he started for Fort Robinson.

"At 5:00 p.m. they arrived at the adjutant's office. In the meantime Bradley had issued orders to Captain Kennington, officer of the day, that immediately upon his arrival Crazy Horse was to be confined in the guard house. Anticipating the arrival, I was standing in front of the adjutant's office and shook hands with Crazy Horse on his arrival. He entered and said he was there to council. But instead of meeting Bradley, he was taken charge of by Kennington and was led to the guard house which they entered quietly.

"When Crazy Horse observed the steel bars between the guard room and the cells he gave an outcry: "This is a prison!" and, seizing a knife in each hand from his belt, fought his way to the parade ground where I was standing. Kennington was hanging on one wrist and Little Big Man, an Indian scout, on the other. Then, the chief suddenly fell to the ground, writing and groaning. I worked my way to between the guard and examined him. He was frothing at the mouth, pulse weak and intermittent, blood trickling from the upper edge of his hip. A private of the Ninth infantry had transfixed him with his bayonet and his case was hopeless.

"I then worked my way to American Horse, the friendly chief, who was sitting on his horse and informed him that Crazy Horse was badly hurt and that we would place him in the guard house, and I would care for him. His answer was: "No, Wasieu Wakan, he is a chief and can not be put in prison." The officers were at their quarters, orderlies had vanished and no one to carry orders. So I tried to arrange matters and advised Kennington to hold the ground while I crossed the parade ground to the general's quarters to explain matters. That resulted as follows: "Please give my compliments to the officer of the day. He is to carry out his original orders and put the Indian in the guard house."

"I returned to Kennington and we proceeded to put the Indian in the guard house. As we started to lift him, a tall Sioux grasped my hand and in the sign language said that they did not want to see me hurt and for me to desist. The Indians had begun cocking their rifles. So, another trip to the general to explain matters and I remarked to him: "General, I know the temper

Theatre Auditions Set

All area children, residents and visitors alike, are invited to audition for individual and group parts in an original musical adaptation of The Jungle Book which will be staged at the Spencer at 7 p.m. June 24. No experience is necessary! Children just need to be committed to having fun and participating in all the show rehearsals, supervised and directed by a traveling team with the internationally renowned Missoula Children's Theatre of Montana. The auditions will be held at 9 a.m. Monday, June 20th at the Ruidoso Middle School gymnasium on Reese Drive. That site is selected because of its centralized location; it's in the vicinity of the Ruidoso

Bus Station and behind the Sonic fast food restaurant on Sudderth Dr. Auditions are free and are open to children ages 6 to 17. As many as 60 children are needed for the various parts in the production and will be selected for participation in the show immediately at the end of auditions. Parents or guardians of minors must fill out some basic information, address, contact numbers, etc. in order for your child to participate. The forms will be distributed on site, before the audition. The rehearsals will be held at the Spencer Theater three hours each day starting the afternoon of Monday, June 20 through June 24. The daily rehearsal schedules will be issued at the close of auditions.

This is the eighth summer in a row that the Spencer Theater has hosted the Missoula directors and children's theatre workshops, a fun and educational program that has enhanced the lives of countless children in the Ruidoso area. Spencer Theater is a world-class performance hall located in the Sacramento Mountain settlement of Alto, about 12 miles north of downtown Ruidoso. Unique architecture, outstanding acoustics, intimate seating, and excellent artistry are the Spencer's celebrated features. The elegant hall seats 514. Free public tours are offered at 10 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays throughout the year.

For more information regarding the June 20th audition and the June 24th performance of The Jungle Book, please call the Spencer Theater at 505-336-4800.

and feelings of these Indians. You may be able to imprison Crazy Horse, but it will mean the death of a good many soldiers and Indians. If you will pardon me for suggesting it, we may be able to compromise on the adjutant's office where I can care for him, for he will die before morning.

"After much reluctance he acquiesced and I returned to the scene. On being informed of what I had done, American Horse dismounted and spread his blanket on the ground. The Indians placed the chief on it and carried him into the adjutant's office. By administration of hypodermics of morphia, etc., I eased his sufferings. I remained with him until his death at 11:00 p.m. and there were present then Kennington, officer for the day; Lemley, officer of the guard; old man Crazy Horse; and Chief Touch the Cloud (Mahpia Yutan), six foot four in height. When Crazy Horse died this chief drew the blanket over the face of the dead man and standing up, pointed to the body and said: 'There lies his lodge,' then pointing up, 'The chief has gone above'.

"I then returned to my quarters across the parade ground, accompanied by Touch the Cloud, who slept on his blanket outside my door through the night, as there was still danger of trouble. After I retired, word of the death of the chief got out and all we could hear were the wails and death songs from all quarters, as we were surrounded for miles by the Indian camps. The whole garrison of 1,600 men was kept on guard for the night, but matters finally adjusted themselves.

"Next day the body was removed to the Spotted Tail agency and placed on the usual platform. Later in the fall when we moved the Indians 360 miles on the Missouri river, it accompanied us. In the fall of 1878 when the Indians were moved back to the present Pine Ridge agency, the body was brought back and concealed there."

To this day the last resting place of the chief remains a secret among the Sioux and, since it has never been marked, it is altogether fitting that there should be some memorial to him, such as the monument recently dedicated at Fort Robinson. In the land he loved and for which he fought so valiantly. For, as Bourke, writing of the chief's first sepulcher at the Spotted Tail agency -- a simple one of plain pine slabs -- has said: "Just as the grave of Custer marked the high-water mark of Sioux supremacy in the trans-Missouri region, so does the grave of Crazy Horse mark the ebb from which no tide has ever risen".

"Ancient Liberty" Waited for the Tide in 1932

"Those who arise in this day to crate upon our 'ancient liberties,' said Donald R. Richberg, secretary of the National Executive Council in a radio address, "are using either the tactics of the demagogue by defending that which no one is attacking or they are making a low appeal to class interests and blind selfishness.

"It is not the 'ancient liberty' to starve which needs defending, it is the new liberty, which includes the right of every man to earn a living, the freedom of industrial workers from sweatshop hours and wages, the freedom of farmers from being compelled to sell their products below cost.

"The most dangerous theorists today are those prosperous individuals who do not understand that the political economic system under which they or their fathers made money broke down in the major calamity of the World War and has been cracking to pieces ever since the war.

"Those muddle-headed persons are so mentally warped that when their ship was drifting through a fog toward the rocks they went around begging every one to sit still, do nothing and wait 'for the turn of the tide' to save them."

Defending NRA against the charge of "industrial regimentation," without referring by name to Mrs. Hoover's assault upon the New Deal, Mr. Richberg said:

"Long before 1929 it was evident that the rules of industrial competition must be so rewritten and so established in the law of the land as to protect honest, humane business practices and to restrain reckless greed. The crash proved the very urgent need for ending the dominance of racketeers, gamblers and gold-plated anarchists in our industrial life.

"Yet for nearly forty years we waited in vain for a leadership of industry and finance to arise and take command, to establish a constitution for the self-government of industry and to organize a national recovery program. I attended many a gathering of notable representatives of ownership and management and labor during that period and always they arrived at one conclusion, without a single exception -- THAT THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT, THE PRESIDENT HIMSELF, must take command or such a national movement could not be successful."

Around Corona

Terry Aiello will be commissioned as a lay pastor at the Presbyterian Church of Corona, Sunday, June 19, at 3:30 p.m. Shannon Webster, Executive Director of the Pecos Presbytery will lead the service. Terry and his wife, Linda, will be moving to Corona as soon as the new manse arrives. He will serve both the Ancho and Corona churches.

Corona Community Vacation Bible School starts Monday, June 20. It will be held at the Presbyterian Church this year.

Corrine Coble, Deming, Grand Chief, Pythian Sisters of New Mexico, made her official visit to Cedar Temple, June 8. At the lunch in her honor, she spoke of her plans for Grand Temple to be held in Albuquerque in late September. Erma Ann McGee and Ethel Floyd, Estancia, attended the meeting. It was noted that Mrs. Floyd was to be honored with a reception hosted by the Estancia school board, June 14, for her contributions to music education of Estancia Valley youth. At present, she has twenty piano students. She will celebrate here ninetieth birthday in September. Corrine was accompanied by Pat Watson, Grand Secretary. They plan official visits to temples in Albuquerque and Belen before returning to Deming. Arrangements here were made by Gayle May, M.C.C.

The American Legion Auxiliary held their regular meeting Tuesday, June 7. Initiation was held for Mrs. Jean Duke. President, Johnnie Faye Harelson, announced proceeds from the Poppy Donations totaled $141.46. $127 came from "Pennies for Poppies" organized by Linda and Opal Greer. Helen Porter is Poppy chairman. All proceeds go directly to benefit veterans. The meeting closed with discussion of the June 25th yard sale to benefit the Corona Lending Library and the parade for the Corona Festival to be held at 10:00 a.m., Saturday, July 30.

Wesley and Charlene Scrimshire, Okmeah, OK, and Mrs. and Mrs. Don Young, Artesia, were here to help Luther Porter work on his house.

The Corona Community Blood Drive will be Monday, June 20 from 10:00 to 2:00 at the school gymnasium. Call Karen Seely, 849-1911, to set up an appointment.

Plans for the Corona Festival, July 30, are well underway. Vendors and parade enteries may contact the Corona Village Hall, 849-5511.

Erdine Behunin has returned from a three week vacation visiting two of her sons and five of her grandchildren.

Her first stop was in Tatum where she attended the stage play 'Little Women' starring her granddaughter, Diana Brazil who played Jo. The next day she joureyed to Dallas to visit her grandson Rick Bagley. She attended church with him at the First Baptist Church. It was a great experience to hear the 100 voice choir and the 40 piece orchestra. They sat in the balcony and could see the service on two 12'x4' Power Points. The church has 3000 members and several Sunday morning services.

After church they walked through the Dallas Arboretum Botanical Gardens. It took about three hours to walk over the 65 acres of beautiful flowers, streams, ponds, fountains, waterfalls, sunken gardens, a mansion on the grounds to tour, and a stroll down a path lined with blooming Magnolias. There were brides in their wedding gowns running across the lawns to have pictures taken. It reminded us of Scarlet O'Hara.

On Monday Erdine left for Little Rock, Ark to spend the night with her son, Steve Kiefer. She left the next day to go on to Poplar Bluff, Missouri to attend the graduation ceremony for her grandson, Justin Kiefer. 417 seniors graduated that night in the coliseum. The ceremony was broadcast on TV and many movies and photos were taken. Kevin, Emma, and sister Megan hosted a party for the graduate that evening. On Sunday the Church hosted another party where Justin was presented with a beautiful, leather bound Bible.

For the rest of the week Erdine enjoyed river rafting, riding four wheelers, visiting 'Tiques and Fleas' and other antique shops which included a giant flea market. The Kiefers invited members of their church, Shiloh Baptist, to their home for a singing and dinner. The piano player has played with some gospel quartets and in some Nashville shows. He made Kevin's 100 year old piano sound like a concert piano. It was wonderful just to sit and listen to that music.

Erdine returned to Little Rock to finish her visit with Steve, joining him at his office in the afternoons to visit. Over the Memorial Day weekend they all went to Steve's cabin on Lake Conway for rides in the bass boat. If you have never been down in the sell in a boat, it is when the throttle is pushed forward and the boat takes off putting the back end down about a foot below the water level and the front end almost straight up. When you get up to speed the front comes down and you are scooting across the water with the wind in your hair and nothing on your mind. It is an exhilarating ride. During all that time, they ate catfish and more catfish.

When Erdine left Little Rock for home, it took 14.5 hours to drive 901.1 miles from Steve's front door to the Corona Post Office.

Steve and Kevin said 'hello' to everyone who knows them.

been told he bears a striking likeness to the famous New Mexico lawman. "Through my longtime study of Garrett I have come to feel a certain understanding," Grimes said in a press release. "A kinship if you will, of the man."

Coincidentally, Garrett was killed on February 29, 1908, a leap year, and Grimes was born on February 29, 1940.

Grimes was born and raised in New Mexico. He comes from a family of cowboys, saddle makers, ranchers and musicians. He grew up with the stories and songs of the old west, especially southeastern New Mexico and west Texas.

Always fascinated by characters of the old west, Grimes has portrayed Texas gunman John Wesley Hardin; Jim White, discoverer of Carlsbad Caverns; and Doc Harkey, pioneer lawman and author of Mean as Hell, a colorful account of lawlessness and violence in early Eddy County.

As a Chautauqua performer with the New Mexico Humanities Council, Grimes has portrayed Lincoln County artist Peter Hurd and now Pat Garrett.

Grimes performs at conventions, schools, dude ranches and cowboy campfires throughout the southwest and was an entertainer for the Flying X Chuckwagon dinner theater in Carlsbad.

NOTICE OF SALE

Notice is hereby given that on June 23, 2005, at the hour of 12:10 p.m. the undersigned Special Master, or his designee, will, at the front entrance of the Lincoln County Courthouse, at 300 Central, Carrizozo, New Mexico, sell all of the rights, title and interest of the above-named Defendants, in and to the herein-after described real estate to the highest bidder for cash. The property to be sold is located at 129 Cedar Street, Capitan Area, New Mexico 88316 (if there is a conflict between the legal description and the street address, the legal description shall control), and is more particularly described as follows:

A tract of land situate within Tract 107 of MESA VERDE ACRES SUBDIVISION, UNIT 3, Lincoln County, New Mexico, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the NE corner of said Tract 107 of Mesa Verde Acres, Unit 3, for a point of beginning of this tract (NE corner): thence South 88° 38' West, 298.3 feet to a point for the NW corner; thence South 03° 50' West 202 feet to a point for the SW corner; thence North 87° 52' East 272 feet to a point for the SE corner; thence North 11° 20' East 202 feet to the point of beginning, which has been called 1.32 acres, more or less, in previous instruments.

including a 1985 16x60 Mobile Home, VIN No. 485660S52685CR, and any improvements, fixtures, and attachments, subject to all taxes, utility liens and other restrictions and easements of record, and subject to a one (1) month right of redemption by the Defendants, the foregoing sale will be made to satisfy a foreclosure judgment rendered by this Court in the above-entitled and numbered cause, being an action to foreclose a mortgage on the above-described property. The Plaintiff's judgment is $34,148.59, and the same bears interest at 13.1250% per annum, which accrues at the rate of $12.28 per diem, commencing on August 12, 2003, with the Court reserving entry of final judgment against said Defendants Sherill Zamora, a/k/a Sherril Zamora, a/k/a Sherril A. Zamora, a/k/a Cheryl Zamora for the amount due after foreclosure sale, for costs and attorney's fees, plus interest as may be assessed by the Court. The Plaintiff has the right to bid at such sale all of its judgment amount and submit its bid verbally or in writing. The Plaintiff may apply all or an part of its judgment to the purchase price in lieu of cash. The sale may be postponed and rescheduled at the discretion of the Special Master.

The Court's decree, having duly appointed Peter Baca, as its Special Master to advertise and immediately offer for sale the subject real estate and to apply the proceeds of sale, first to the costs of sale and the Special Master's fees, then to pay the above-described judgment, interest, and costs of sale, and to pay unto the registry of the Court any balance remaining to satisfy future adjudication of priority mortgage holders;

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that in the event that said property is not sooner redeemed, the undersigned will as set forth above, offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash or equivalent, the lands and improvements described above for the purpose of satisfying, in the adjudged order of priorities, the judgment described herein and decree of foreclosure together with any additional costs and attorney's fees, costs of advertisement and publication, a reasonably receiver and Special Master's fee to be fixed by the Court. The total amount of the judgment due is $34,148.59, plus interest to and including date of sale of $8,374.96 for a total judgment plus interest of $42,523.55. Sale is subject to the entry of an order of the Court approving the terms and conditions of this sale.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that on June 2, 2005, Dunagan Farms, LLC, 5098 Emerald Street, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88201-3156, filed application No. H-967 into H-272 (T) with the STATE ENGINEER for permit to temporarily change location of well, place and purpose of use 41.6 acre-feet per annum shallow groundwater by temporarily ceasing the diversion of said waters from well H-967 located in the SE 1/4 SW 1/4 of Section 35, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, N.M.P.M., by ceasing the irrigation of 13.0 acres of land described as Pt. S 1/4 SE 1/4 of Section 35, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, N.M.P.M.

The applicant proposes to temporarily commence the diversion of said 41.6 acre-feet per annum of the shallow groundwater from well No. H-272 located in the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 SW 1/4 of Section 36, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, N.M.P.M. for municipal purposes within the Village of Ruidoso.

This is a temporary application to transfer-leased rights to the Village of Ruidoso for a ten (10) year period starting upon the approval of this application and extending 10 years into the future. This application may be withdrawn at any time during the 10 year period by written request of the applicant.

Emergency authorization is requested.

The move-from points of diversion and places of use are located slightly north of the Mescalero Indian Reservation along US Highway 70, Lincoln County, New Mexico. The proposed move-to points of diversion and place of use are located within the Village of Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico.

Any person or other entity shall have standing to file an objection or protest if they object that the granting of the application will:

- (1) Be detrimental to the objector's water right, or
- (2) Be contrary to the conservation of water within the state or detrimental to the public welfare of the state, provided that the objector shows how they will be substantially and specifically affected by the granting of the application.

A valid objection or protest shall set forth the grounds for asserting standing and shall be legible, signed, and include the complete mailing address of the objector. An objection or protest must be filed with the state engineer not later than 10 calendar days after the date of the last publication of this notice. An objection or protest may be mailed to the Office of the State Engineer, 1900 West Second, Roswell, New Mexico 88201, or faxed to 505-623-8559 provided the original is hand-delivered or postmarked within 24 hours after transmission of the fax. The State Engineer will take the application up for consideration in the most appropriate and timely manner practical.

Capitan Water Sale To Tinsley Not A Done Deal, Says Trustee

by Doris Cherry

"The assumption that Capitan has acted upon the request from the Tinsley development to provide water is based on rumors," said Capitan Village Trustee Bill Martin at the Capitan trustee meeting Tuesday, June 14.

"I do not do done deals," Martin said sternly. "You heard wrong that this is a done deal."

"We have not negotiated anything, the concept was just brought to us," he added.

Martin made the comments in response to questions and accusations made by village subdivision residents and county subdivision residents living adjacent to the village who have asked for village water for years.

Martin said he was appointed to look at the Tinsley development request and talk with Tinsley staff. "No commitments have been made," Martin said. "Other than everyone agreeing to look at the offer."

Many legal and technical parameters have to be considered and resolved, such as using a state right of way for water lines, before any decision can be made by the village, Martin added.

Tinsley development representative Kimberly Stowe said the proposed development will have 36 home sites. The property has about three acres, or nine acre feet, of established water rights which will be offered to the village to lease for nominal annual fees. Stowe said the developer wants input from the village about the proposal.

Trustee and mayor pro tem Bobbi Shearer said she has advocated extraterritorial water sales since 1998. "Our water fund is so far in the red, that is why we are looking at such a project (as Tinsley's)," Shearer added. "But this is not final."

Martin commented about misinformation. "If you have questions for me write them out and either mail them or bring them to village hall and I will get back with you," Martin said.

"The misinformation is killing us and is a real problem in this village," he added. "I do not participate in done deals and I do not appreciate rumors that I do. I do not operate that way."

Martin added. "I won't deal with rumors. And if you go with rumors then you need to sign on with National Inquirer."

Village subdivision resident Dusty Voss and county subdivision residents Butch Nolen and Andy Willingham who also owns a business next to the village, were at the Tuesday meeting with concerns about the village selling water to the proposed Tinsley development about four miles north of Capitan.

Voss said in his opinion before the village expands its water system to properties that far, it should provide water to the subdivisions. "Some people in the subdivisions have been asking for water for 20 years," Voss said.

Nolen and Willingham said they have been asking the village to sell them water for 20 years but were always turned away. (Capitan had a moratorium on extra-territorial water taps until last year.) Both of their properties, homes and businesses, are located just across the highway from the village and the nearest village water line.

Voss said it will cost money for the village to extend water lines within the village, while Tinsley is offering to pay for installing lines to his development. "Whose money talks loudest?" he asked.

Voss said the amount of money the village gets from the development, even at the extraterritorial rate of 1.5 times the regular residential rate, would be minimal. Voss said he and many others would be willing to pay a higher cost for water. "We are not against growth," he added.

Martin said his first priority is how to get water to the existing residents. "To me, I'll look at the proposal, but I'm not sure we will ever adopt it," Martin added. "We will look at it carefully because I will not propose selling water to an extraterritorial project without taking care of our subdivisions first."

An audience member said if the village sells water that far out of town, all the properties between there and the village will want water taps.

When Nolen said it seemed to him the village had already negotiated a deal prior to the meeting, Martin said he will not make any further comment on the ET water connections.

(Assistant clerk Shirley Pavlovic told THE NEWS the water restriction in Capitan is that outdoor watering is allowed only between 4:30 p.m. through the night until 9 a.m. Recent information about water restrictions listed on village water bills was incorrect. Pavlovic added.)

Voss suggested information about the Tinsley proposal and other issues involving water be put into the village newsletter.

Martin closed the discussion about water by saying there are openings on the Village Water Advisory Board and invited anyone interested in water to volunteer.
