

County Approves CDBG Agreement

by Patrice Brazie

The Lincoln County Board of Commissioners has issued a request for proposals from consulting firms wishing to assist the county in the designing of a comprehensive plan. In a report to the county commissioners on June 20th, county manager Tom Stewart said that copies of the request have been sent to 20 interested firms and one individual, with a response deadline of July 20th. Stewart has proposed that an evaluation committee comprised of assistant county manager Martha Guevera, county planning director Curt Temple, county purchasing agent Orlando Samora and county commissioner Tom Battin review the proposals. Stewart said that the board of commissioners will likely be asked to approve a candidate at the commission's regular meeting of July 18th.

In a memorandum to the county commissioners dated June 14th, Stewart made reference to an unauthorized correspondence sent by the Lincoln County Public Land Use and Rural Affairs Advisory Committee (PLURAAC) to Mr. Ken Hughes of the New Mexico Department of Finance Administration (DFA). The New Mexico DFA administers the Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) issued to New Mexico communities, including the $50,000 award for the development of a comprehensive plan for Lincoln County.

The letter, signed by the PLURAAC chair Duane Frost and secretary Pam Lewis, requested that Hughes explain why he allegedly told Lincoln County Planning Commission member Jerry Carroll that a specific person, Dr. Alexander Thal, would not qualify as a consultant to the county in its development of a comprehensive plan. According to Carroll, participation by Thal was paramount in the creation of the Lincoln

Youth From Other Places Refurbish Area Homes

by Patrice Brazie

For six days last week, Ruidoso High School was home to a convergence of teenagers from junior high schools and high schools from as far away as Pennsylvania. The teens and accompanying adult volunteers spent most of last week refurbishing 48 homes in Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan, Glencoe and San Patricio.

The organization behind the home repair program is the Group Workcamps Foundation (GWF), based in Loveland, Colorado. The foundation was formed after the Big Thompson Canyon flood killed more than 100 people and devastated homes and property near Loveland 30 years ago.

GWF now organizes group work camps across the country and in parts of Latin America. The work camp participants are referred to as campers; the work camps are promoted as mission experiences designed to directly involve youth and young adults in the betterment of the lives of others.

The Southeast NM Community Action Corporation (SNMCAC), based in Carlsbad, has partnered with the GWF in the support of Camp Ruidoso, as well as others in the state.

According to Alisa Davis, the SNMCAC executive director, a great deal of time goes into pre-camp preparations. "It takes about a year-and-a-half of planning to do six days of work," Davis said last week. The need must be identified; there is an application process that is advertised through newspapers, church bulletins and social service agencies. The necessary home repairs must be assessed, funds must be raised and campers recruited. Davis said that, while the incomes of applicants are

Nogal Mesa Ranchman's Camp Meeting Next Week

by Carol Wilson

The evening sky fills with colors as the sun slips toward the horizon. The world is quiet, and hushed, as dusk develops. Then the breeze drifting through the trees begins to carry a melody, and soon the distinctive sounds of a piano drift across the evening sky. As the western horizon darkens to blues and purples, more and more voices are raised in song until the air pulses with the music and words of "Amazing Grace."

Thus, with a song and a prayer, evening services begin at Nogal Mesa Ranchman's Camp meeting. It has been this way for 66 years, as rural folk and their urban friends and neighbors meet together on Nogal Mesa to worship and sing and meet with their Lord.

The first meal will be served on Wednesday evening, July 19th, followed by the first worship service.

Thursday through Sunday the schedule is filled with four worship services a day, children and youth activities, and prayer meetings. The evening worship service on July 23rd will conclude the 66th annual camp meeting.

The concept of bringing the church to the cowboy was birthed over a century ago in the Big Bend area of Texas.

The Bloys Camp Meeting was held each summer in the Davis Mountains since 1890. Joe Evan's family was one of the early organizers of the Camp Meeting.

Evans became friends with Presbyterian missionary Ralph Hall, a circuit riding preacher. With his saddle and pack horse, Hall traveled the Southwest to spread the good news of Jesus. When Hall arrived at an isolated ranch, he joined in the work of the day, whether it was rounding up cattle, branding, fence building, or bronc busting. When the work was done, Hall would preach.

Evans persuaded Hall that New Mexico needed the same type of summer family camp, where far-flung neighbors could congregate for fellowship and worship of their creator.

When the cowboys and the missionary met on the rim of Nogal Mesa and gazed on the panoramic view of the Tularosa Basin and the distant purple mountains, they felt they had found the perfect site for their new Camp Meeting.

The Mesa has become a holy spot for many people in the ensuing years. First, ranch families came in wagons and horseback to hear the preaching and teaching. Today, cars and pickups pulling motor homes, wend their way over the dusty road on the way to Nogal Mesa. Others who can't come to camp make it a point to come for the evening meal and services.

Today, more than 50 families make up a local committee which carries on the work begun in the middle part of the last century. They aren't all cowboys any more, but all are dedicated to God's service and the preaching of His word.

Over the years, this committee has built a wooden tabernacle perched on the rim of the Mesa, overlooking Tularosa Basin. There is also a wooden cook shack, where three meals a day are cooked over open fires in huge, cast-iron kettles. A large dinner bell rings seven times daily to summon campers for services or meals, signaling either food for the body or the spirit, depending on the time. No camping fees or meal fees are collected, as the Camp Meeting is run entirely on free-will donations.

Tabernacle services will be led by ministers Rick Steele and David Burk. Reverend Steele, ministers in Alamogordo and is fondly remembered by many as the general manager of the Camp Meetings of the Southwest for many years. David Burk has also preached at several Camp Meetings. The music will be led by Rick Hutcheson of Alto.

Butch and Elaine Schneider of Dora, will lead the children's ministry. Children four to six years of age will meet in the pink trailer and grades one through six meet at the striped tent at 11:00 and 5:00 each day.

The youth will have their own services at 9:00 and 2:00 each day. A hayride and watermelon bust is planned for Friday and Saturday, as well as volleyball games and a special youth service on Saturday night. All area youth and youth groups are encouraged to attend and participate.

The first bell of Camp Meeting will be rung at 6:00

All Fire Restrictions Lifted

Wildland fire officials in southeastern New Mexico lifted fire restrictions on Forest Service lands, Bureau of Land Management (BLM) lands, and National Park lands throughout the inter-agency Lincoln Fire Zone effective July 7. Continued rainfall has eased fire dangers from extreme to moderate or low in southeastern New Mexico.

All BLM public lands within the Pecos District, the entire Lincoln National Forest, Carlsbad Caverns National Park and Guadalupe Mountains National Park have cancelled Stage I and II restrictions and all remaining land closures because of the increased moisture levels.

Fire restrictions that applied to all National Forest and BLM lands around Lincoln County, Otero County, Chaves County, Lea County and Eddy County, as well as smoking restrictions on Park Service land, will be rescinded completely.

Coboja National Forest will terminate Fire Restrictions for the Sandia, Mountainair, Magdalena and Mt. Taylor Ranger Districts as well as the Kiowa and Rita Blanca National Grasslands effective today, Thursday, July 13, at 8 a.m.

However, visitors to public lands are being asked to continue to be fire safe and not

County Land Use Plan adopted in 1996 and currently under revision by the PLURAAC. Carroll has publicly alleged that, in a private conversation, Hughes threatened to withdraw funding for the comprehensive plan if Thal was chosen to design the plan.

The county manager objected to the PLURAAC's correspondence with Hughes, stating in his memo that the PLURAAC did not issue the request for proposals and should not communicate with outside entities without prior authorization or coordination. Stewart suggested that the members of the PLURAAC confused the request for proposals for a consulting firm with the hiring of an individual consultant.

Tony Davis, a relatively new member of the PLURAAC, was the only member of that committee present at the county commissioners meeting of June 20. Davis told the county commissioners that, as he understood it, the PLURAAC's goal was to see its efforts and input be considered and included in the preparation of the comprehensive plan. Regarding the county's 1996 land use plan, Davis told the commissioners that the document was pretty good, but was still in need of revision. "It does have some sections where we could use some professional help," Davis said, "an outside contractor comes to mind." Davis acknowledged that the PLURAAC members do not have expertise in all of the disciplines that would be used to develop a comprehensive plan, but said the committee would insist on inclusion in the development of that plan.

County commissioner Eileen Lovelace defended the PLURAAC's right to correspond with other agencies. "I believe PLURAAC has the right to correspond with any public entity that serves the public, in Santa Fe or anywhere else," Lovelace said.

Stewart said that he would appreciate knowing when anyone in the county communicates officially, as an organization of the county, with agencies of the state. "The state calls me and says what's with this," Stewart said, "and I need to know what's going on."

County commission chair Rick Simpson and county commissioner Maury St. John agreed that the PLURAAC should coordinate their actions with the county manager, but Lovelace again defended the committee's right to correspond with other agencies.

Stewart reminded the commissioners that, in a previous meeting, the PLURAAC was told to communicate through the county manager or with approval of the board of county commissioners. "If you want me to change that," Stewart said, "then direct me to disregard what they send out."

County commissioner Earl Hobbs suggested that the PLURAAC could "draft their own letters and do their own thing," but should also ensure that the manager is aware of those actions.

Davis agreed to convey that suggestion to the PLURAAC, and to make sure that the committee works with the manager on any future actions.

The Lincoln County Board of Commissioners agreed unanimously to approve the CDBG agreement with the New Mexico DFA, and to support the county manager's recommendations regarding the actions of the PLURAAC.

County Assessor Rick Silva Is NMAC President Elect

The New Mexico Association of Counties (NMAC) announced the election of officers to lead the 2006-2007 board of directors. The new leadership assumed their responsibilities at the conclusion of the NMAC annual conference, June 23 in Taos.

New NMAC board president and Dona Ana County Commissioner Oscar Vasquez Butler said that he is confident that he can parlay his state role into increased exposure for New Mexico's issues and challenges, particularly those which face the state's 33 counties. In addition to serving as president on the NMAC board of directors, he also serves as a New Mexico representative to the National Association of Counties on watershed and public land issues. Butler succeeded Benito J. Martinez Jr., Santa Fe County Assessor, who now serves as immediate past president.

Lincoln County Assessor Rick Silva will serve as NMAC's President-Elect and will automatically advance to the presidential seat at the 2007 NMAC annual conference. Santa Fe County Commissioner Michael D. Anaya was elected as the vice president of the board of directors. These two individuals were chosen by their peer elected officials as ideal candidates to represent all 33 counties in New Mexico. This honor is truly a significant milestone for any elected official and is based upon their hard work, local government involvement, and ability to address the critical issues.

Three executive committee district representatives were also selected during the annual conference board meeting. Los Alamos County Councilor Jim West was re-appointed to represent District I serving Los Alamos, McKinley, Rio Arriba, Sandoval, San Juan and Santa Fe Counties. Bernalillo County Commissioner Alan Armijo was appointed to represent District III serving Bernalillo, Catron, Cibola, Socorro and Valencia Counties and Hidalgo County Commissioner Harold Kuenstler was appointed to represent District V serving Dona Ana, Grant, Hidalgo, Luna and Sierra Counties.

service to a community can bring, he was hooked. "It turned my heart around," Anderson said. "Now I spend all of my vacations doing this." He is planning to come back to New Mexico to be a part of a work camp scheduled in Hobbs.

Susan Bell came to Lincoln County with a group from Pennsylvania. "I had never been to New Mexico before because travel groups are not set up for the camp projects," she was assigned to a group made up of students from three parts of Texas and one city in Alabama. Campers are encouraged to make new friends during the camp, sharing geological and cultural differences, according to Anderson. Campers concentrate on their own projects. The campers have in-depth educational camps that are Christian-based and offer daily programs to involve the campers in learning practical applications of the teachings of Jesus.

Tyler Geise, a young adult participant from Tuscaloosa, Alabama, and other members of his crew spent the week working on the deck, outside doors and exterior walls at home in Ruidoso. The homeowner is a 50-year-old cancer patient who came from radiation treatments and dozens of assisted trips to Alamogordo.

Geise said the type of work campers do across the country is another crew reworking an elevated deck at the home of an elderly woman who is recovering from a heart surgery. The woman's husband insisted that she not have done the work herself someday, but his wife is currently dedicated to his wife's recovery. She is in the process of relearning almost everything, her husband said, and can't be left alone.

Geise, who is 22 years old and working on his master's degree in micro-biology at the University of Alabama, said that the trip to Ruidoso was a new experience for him. He, along with the other campers, had a few hours on one afternoon to explore the Ruidoso area. "It's a pretty town," Geise said. "At first I thought it was just one main street."

The SNMCAC was required to raise $19,000 in additional funding for the work camp projects, and much of that funding was achieved through local corporate and private donations. The Hubbard Foundation donated $9,000. Other donors included Valor Telecommunications, J. Bar, J. Country

Church, the Ruidoso Downs Auxiliary and Wal-Mart. Davis said that Paul Wetzel, of Sierra Contracting, provided for the disposal of construction waste, which saved the camp a great deal of money and effort. Joe Mendez, of Madera Construction, volunteered to serve as the camp's designated contractor to meet the permitting requirements. Foxworth-Galbreth Lumber yard offered the camp a discount on materials and delivered them without charge, Anderson said.

Don't Be Discouraged

Those who are unduly discouraged by the war news might well cast their memories back a year. There is no question of the grave threat involved in the British being forced back to Egypt, instead, as the optimists hoped, of the Nazi's being stopped in Libya and the belief that the African campaign was going in favor of the allied powers.

However, things look blacker when the Germans were moving on Russia and the fall of Moscow, Leningrad and Savastapol was the melancholy prospect. France had surrendered and the British army had barely escaped from continental Europe after terrible sacrifices at Dunkerque. It seemed then that the Hitler juggernaut was irresistible. But Russia surprised the world with her suddenly revealed power, and there succeeded an era of confidence throughout the menaced world.

The war pendulum is likely to swing back and forth many times before we reach the inevitable end. Our side cannot expect that the allied military and naval chiefs will be better than the enemies' trained generals and admirals in every engagement, for military genius is not a monopoly of any nation or group of nations.

The war is young yet for our country but already there have emerged splendid commanders and demonstrations of the heroic boldness and skill of our junior fighters who have barely gotten the crease out of their uniforms.

Our resources are untouched, our production of war machines has surpassed all expectations and are going higher and higher. When it comes to the finals our might will prevail.

Now what of our chief enemy -- Naziland. She has sacrificed millions of her soldiers; her cities are being constantly bombed and her output of supplies cannot but be terribly lessened by the repeated bombing of her war plants. Hitler's dream of a swift and complete conquest has been dissipated and he faces a long grim struggle, in which attrition must play a major part. In such an endurance combat what are Naziland's chance?

True she has a potent ally in Japan, but that treacherous nation has likewise suffered losses, naval and transport losses, she is unable to replace. The destruction of our side is replaceable. service to a community can bring, he was hooked. "It turned my heart around," Anderson said. "Now I spend all my vacations doing this." He is planning to come back to New Mexico to be a part of a work camp scheduled in Hobbs.

Susan Bell came to Lincoln County with a group from Treasville, Pennsylvania, but because travel groups are split up for the camp project, she was assigned to a group made up of students from three parts of Texas and two cities in Alabama. Campers are encouraged to make new friends during the camp, sharing geological and cultural differences. Anderson said the campers concentrate on the teachings of Jesus. The interdenominational camps are Christian-based and offer daily programs to involve the campers in learning practical applications of the teachings of Jesus.

Usher Geise, a young adult participant from Tuscaloosa, Alabama, and other members of his crew spent the week helping up the deck, outside entrance and exterior walls of a home in Ruidoso Downs. The homeowner is an 80-year-old cancer patient recovering from radiation treatments and dozens of assisted trips to Alamogor-

ge. "The type of work we do across the country is another crew repaired an elevated deck at the home of an elderly woman who is recovering from brain surgery. The woman's husband insisted that she should have done the work herself someday, but his wife is currently dedicated to his wife's recovery. She is in the process of relearning almost everything her husband said, and can't be left alone."

Geise, who is 22 years old and working on his master's degree in microbiology at the University of Alabama, said that the trip to Ruidoso was a new experience for him. He, along with the other campers, had a few hours on one afternoon to explore the Ruidoso area. "It's a pretty town," Geise said. "At first I thought it was just one main street."

The SNM/CAC was required to raise $19,000 in additional funding for the work camp projects, and much of that funding was achieved through local corporate and private donations.

The Hubbard Foundation donated $9,000. Other donors included Valor Tele-

Church, the Ruidoso Downs Auxiliary and Wal-Mart. Davis said that Paul Wetzel, of Sierra Contracting, provided for the disposal of construction waste, which saved the camp a great deal of money and effort. Joe Mendez, of Madera Construction, volunteered to serve as the camp's designated contractor to meet the permitting requirements. Foxworth-Galbreth lumber yard offered the camp a discount on materials and delivered them without charge, Anderson said.

Capitan Public Library Sponsors A Free Watercolor Workshop

Capitan Public Library is sponsoring an adult art class - FREE - Saturday, July 22 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The artist, Patsy Blasdel, is an expressionist painter with many years experience teaching students how to explore watercolor techniques to find their own style.

Learn the nine basic letter shapes to incorporate into painting for a sound base to build on. She encourages people to explore their own ideas of what they want their art to reflect about themselves and how to achieve that goal.

Bring what supplies you have. For beginners, Patsy has everything you should need. If having trouble with a painting, bring that too. Her studio is behind Farley's off White Mountain Drive. Supplies provided. Bring lunch and enthusiasm!

Space is limited so for more information and registration please contact Pearl at 354-7021.

THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Community Service Is A Good Deal

By Ruth Hammond

Remember years ago when a musical program would come to the area and local people would provide sleeping quarters and meals for the performers while they were here? It was a learning experience for the people involved and they had to pay their own transportation costs, etc. That was a year-long experience and everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy the travel and putting on the program.

Even if you don't remember, you've probably heard about similar programs where the participants pay their own way to travel somewhere else to do something good. Recently a group of youth came to Lincoln County from far away states to do good deeds for area people, mostly elderly. These young people and their chaperons and sponsors are to be commended for the work they did.

Frequently people don't realize that there is a need for this type of community service. Some may wonder why an elderly person doesn't paint the trim on their house or refurbish a handicap ramp or some other necessary repair when the elderly person may not be physically able to do the work or may not be able to afford the cost involved.

Using a hammer might be easy for a younger person, but could be difficult for an elderly person. The youth that came to Lincoln County recently used many hammers.

Rather than ask for help, many elderly people prefer to exist with things the way they are. What people should do is take the initiative and help some of these elderly. This would be a good way to do a community service locally.

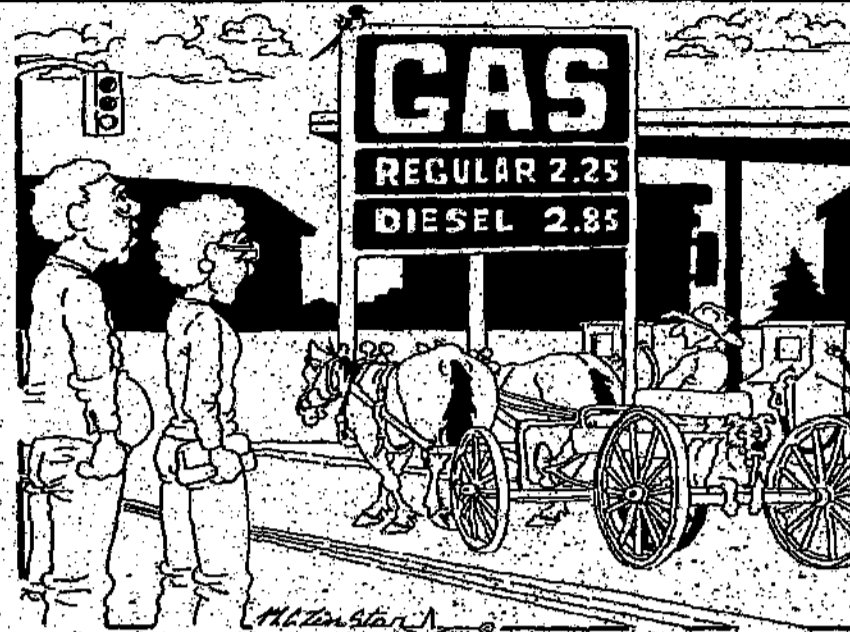

Being a good neighbor could include helping take the trash out. Doesn't take much time but could do wonders for the person who has trouble walking. Offering to rake leaves or remove tumbleweeds from a yard would help. There are numerous things that you probably do regularly that would be greatly appreciated if done for a neighbor.

It wouldn't have to be anything drastic. All it would take is a few minutes of your time. Helping someone else would be good for them and you would know that you were paying back in advance for good deeds that will be done for you when you are no longer able to do things.

Several years ago a teenage girl stopped from what she was doing to help us with a weed cutting venture. She worked diligently and cheerfully and refused to accept any pay. Needless to say, she will always remain a special person to us because of her unselfish way of helping. And even though she lives far away, we keep track of her.

Helping others should become a way of life, not just a thing to do during a few off minutes of your day or week. Helping others will give you the satisfaction of knowing that you helped do something that needed to be done, without any pay other than a heartfelt "Thank You!"

EARL.

SANTA FE

SANTA FE -- Attention all Billy the Kid fans. Fort Sumner is hosting a 125th anniversary commemoration of Billy's death at the hands of Sheriff Pat Garrett the night of July 14, 1881.

The observance will be held on the afternoon and evening of Friday, July 14, 2006 in the same locales where the action took place 125 years ago. Festivities will begin at 4:00 p.m. with speeches by dignitaries, followed by a Chautauqua presentation by Ron Grimes from the New Mexico Endowment of Humanities, playing Pat Garrett. That will be followed by a Shootout and Burial Reenactment by the New Mexico Gunfighters. The following evening, from 8:00 until midnight, there will be a dance at the fairgrounds.

Call 505-355-2573 for more information.

The events are being presented by the Fort Sumner State Monument and the Fort Sumner Community Development Corporation, under a grant from the state Department of Tourism. Fort Sumner has motels and cafes you will thoroughly enjoy, so plan to spend a night or two.

After more than three years of controversy about whether Garrett shot the Kid, or shot someone else and let the Kid escape, come see and hear the evidence. Decide whether Billy lay on a carpenter's bench all night on public display, bleeding profusely from a massive chest wound and then got up and high-tailed it for Arizona.

The funding for this observance and many more to come is a result of Gov. Bill Richardson reading "Billy the Kid Rides Again," telling of the intriguing story to dig up Billy and his mother to help determine whether it's really Billy there beneath his tombstone.

In writing the book, I took a strong position that the historians who painstakingly researched the life and death of Billy got it right and that modern police methods can't add enough evidence. 125 years later to prove anything else -- despite forensic TV shows to the contrary.

My opinion came not just from the preeminent Billy historians of the day, but also from talking with some of the nation's top forensic scientists. They all supported the historians and say no one can do better.

But since my viewpoint was characterized as negative by the lawman who wished to investigate further, I devoted a chapter of my book to positive actions that could be taken to promote Billy's story in New Mexico. And another chapter covered additional ideas submitted by it was those two chapters of ideas that interested the governor. He requested a big appropriation from the Legislature to fund a year of 125th anniversary events throughout Billy the Kid Country. The Legislature, as it must do with its many special funding requests, cut the allotment to $200,000.

But that will help the state Tourism Department immeasurably in working with local communities that already are trying to promote Billy. Very helpful in the early stages of this effort were historian Dave Clary of Roswell, who submitted a comprehensive plan for promoting Billy, and filmmaker Joe Scializzi of Hollywood, who spent as much time in New Mexico as he did in California trying to create excitement about promoting Billy.

Coordinating the Billy promotional activities for the state Tourism Department is former tourism staffer and longtime Billy authority Mike Pitel, who is traveling Billy the Kid Country, working with local communities, while producing brochures for the public interpreting Old Fort Sumner, Lincoln County and the roads in-between.

Ranchman's Camp

Wednesday night for supper. At 7:00 choir practice starts, followed by evening worship at 7:30.

Thursday through Saturday, the breakfast bell will ring at 6:00 a.m. Bible study starts at 9:00. This is also the first youth event of the day. At 11:00, children will meet and adults meet in the tabernacle for worship. Lunch is served at 12:30. Youth gather under their tent at 2:00, while their elders wait until 3:00 p.m. for the next service under the tabernacle. Children meet again at 5:00 while the women meet in the tabernacle and the men meet at the prayer tree for prayer time. Supper is served at 6:00, and the evening service is scheduled for 7:30. Sunday's schedule is different only because Sunday School takes the place of the morning Bible study.

After the evening service on Wednesday evening, everyone gathers at the dining hall for cake and ice cream. Ice cream is provided, but the cakes and cookies are made and brought by locals and campers. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, weather permitting, a bonfire will follow evening services. Stories are told, songs sung, and memories made as the flames throw the sparks skyward into the star spangled night.

The Nogal Mesa Ranchman's Camp Grounds may be reached by turning off of highway 380 at a sign 15 miles east of Carrizozo and five miles west of Capitan, or by turning at the sign on Highway 37 on Nogal Mesa.

Ranchman's Camp Meeting is inter-denominational, meaning that people of all Christian faiths come together to worship. All are invited to join in this year's encampment on the mesa. For further information, contact Opal or LaMoine Peters at 354-2302 or Rex or Carol Wilson at 648-2428.

Hearing on New Area Code Set for July 19 in Roswell

"575" is Coming to State

The New Mexico Public Regulation Commission (NMPRC) invites the public to attend a public hearing on the alternatives for adding another area code. The hearings will be held at 1:30 to 4 p.m. and again at 6:30-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 19 in the Chaves County Commission chambers in the Chaves County administration center at 1 St. Mary's Place in Roswell.

The public will have opportunity to make comments about the alternatives for adding another area code.

In 1947, the 505 area code was established for all of New Mexico's telephone numbers. Now, as the state's population approaches two million, and with more cell phones and other telecommunication devices needing phone numbers, New Mexico is expected to be in need of an additional area code by early 2009.

The NMPRC was petitioned by NeuStar, Inc. designated by the Federal Communication Commission as the administrator for the area code relief, to approve a plan by October 3, 2006 for implementing another area code. Once the PRC approves a plan, NeuStar estimates implementation could take between 19 to 27 months. The FCC has reserved "575" for the new area code.

The area code relief options are:

*An overlay of the entire state with all new numbers to have the 575 area code; or,

*A geographic split into (SEE PAGE 7)

 Some of us are critical at the seeming indifference of some others of us, but America is awake to its danger, and though we may grumble at the limiting of our pleasure riding or the rationing of certain other luxuries, the will to win, and the willingness to accept whatever it requires in sacrifice, is there.
 Perhaps the best indication of the spirit of America, and its unity comes from New York where the Republican banner bearer of two years ago is insisting that this party nominate no man for the Governorship who has not expressed wholehearted support of the Commander-in-Chief. Disregarding any political implication it tells the story of the end of isolationism, not only for the duration of the war, but for the framing of the peace.

Salvage

Memorandum No. 50
 July 6, 1942

The public has been advised of the time extension on the President's Scrap Rubber Campaign, which will give us sufficient time to "ferret out" every ounce of Scrap Rubber in this State.
 BUT, scrap Rubber is of little value to the war effort unless it is directed into trade channels immediately.
 THEREFORE, you are requested to see that all collectors County Conservation Boards, Red Cross, F.F.A. Clubs, 4-H Clubs, etc., immediately sell the supply of scrap rubber they now have on hand to the filling stations or scrap dealers. The government has assured us that the price will not be raised. Let's get all of our scrap rubber into the regular trade channels!

Lest We Forget

From the Desk of
 Mrs. Era B. Smith, Editor/Publisher
 On May 23, 1940, Republican Rep. Lewis D. Thill of Wisconsin said: "There is no reason for war jitters or for feeling that the United States is vulnerable to attack or invasion. The American people are protected by a competent, efficient and strong Navy. Let us prepare with reason, not emotional abandon."

On May 25, 1940, Republican Rep. John M. Vorys of Ohio said: "We are in no immediate danger of invasion, no matter what happens in Europe. We couldn't give effective military aid to the Allies in the present crisis if we wanted to. It will take us, not months, but years, to build the national defense."

On May 27, 1940, Republican Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York said: "Fostered by the White House and the interventionists, a war hysteria is sweeping the United States which is as insane as the Salem witchcraft. How mad is it to instill fear in the hearts

Dedication is Postponed

Silver City, NM, July 8, 1942 -- A memorial has been erected at the grave of Frank Worden in the Hillsboro cemetery. Paul A. Roach, Las Cruces, who collected the fund for the monument which was oversubscribed in a week by Mr. Worden's friends, notified J.C. O'Leary, secretary of the Grant County Chamber of Commerce that he had planned to dedicate this memorial in May.

Due to tire shortage the dedication is postponed indefinitely.

Surmounting the large base of the memorial is a riderless horse with the inscription below "Marcho Adelante, and beneath is the inscription, "Erected in the memory of Frank Worden by his many friends of the Old Range." Mrs. Worden is now buried in the same plot. She never saw the monument but Mr. Roach showed her a picture of it in the hospital before she died.

Mr. Worden was born in Socorro County in 1880. He attended school in Hillsboro, his parents having moved to Sierra County in 1884. He rode his father's range as a young man and later engaged in the cattle business on his own.

He had extensive farm holdings on the Rio Grande. He was married to Margarite Martin of Sierra County in 1909. Their son Robert F. Worden is an officer in the U.S. Air Corps.

Mr. Worden once rode for Russel A. Aiger, Detroit, Michigan, Secretary of War during the Spanish American War, who owned the Bar Cross Ranch.

Summer Refreshments

When the thermometer's perched on the highest rung of the temperature ladder, do you feel your spirits sagging, your energy running low? Yes, the warm weather begins to take its toll just about the time you feel you need push and drive most. But, make a comeback, quickly and easily with a healthful, fruit-juicy drink served in a tall, colorful frosty glass.

There's a lot more to be said for cool drinks other than their general nice appearance. Besides providing your system with the vitamin C, in excellent quantity, and A and B in good quantity, the citrus fruits, oranges and lemons, act as alkalizers for the system. This acts as insurance against fatigue, which is a big thing in warmer weather.

Milk and ice cream are perfect ingredients with fruit juices for cooling drinks. Not only do they contain most of the requisites for a well balanced diet, but they are easy to take and lend themselves in pleasant combination with other foods.

Orange Cooler

(Makes 1 1/2 quarts)

- * 2 cups orange juice
- * 1/4 cup lemon juice
- * 1/4 cup maraschino cherry juice
- * 1 cup ginger ale
- * 2 tablespoons honey
- * 1 pint vanilla ice cream
- * 2 tablespoons sliced maraschino cherries

Mix fruit juices and ginger ale; add honey; mix well. Chill thoroughly. Add ice cream and stir until blended. Serve in chilled glasses topped with cherry slices. Enjoy!
