

Planning Commission Members Removed

by Patrice Brazie

During the May 19th meeting of the Board of Lincoln County Commissioners and with very little discussion, the county commissioners elected to remove two members from the Lincoln County Planning Commission.

County commissioner Eileen Sedillo appointed Alto resident Vic Courier to the Planning Commission in April, but made a motion on May 19th to remove Courier from that commission.

He did not disclose certain things that might be in contradiction with the position," Sedillo said.

County commissioner Dave Parks said that he had asked Courier to talk to Sedillo and to write a letter to county commission chairman Tom Battin stating that he had disclosed in his resume' his involvement in the development industry. County manager Tom Stewart and Battin both reported having received no further correspondence from Courier regarding that issue.

The county commissioners unanimously elected to remove Courier from the Planning Commission.

Battin then vaguely referred to some issues that arose from the Planning Commission's consideration of a proposed mining ordinance that Battin said were considered by the Board of Lincoln County Commissioners to be inappropriate.

"Should we consider some action in that regard concerning what might have turned out to be an unauthorized obligation for the county?" Battin asked.

County commissioner Jackie Powell then made a motion to remove Robert Moeller from the Planning Commission.

Moeller was reprimanded by the county commissioners in April for requesting an estimate for services from a mining lawyer without getting authorization from the county commissioners. The mining lawyer sent an invoice requesting a payment from the county of $1,200 for services rendered, which the county commissioners elected not to pay.

County attorney Alan Morel assured the county commissioners that voluntary service on any of the county's advisory committees is not an employment position and therefore not subject to the same processes required in firing employed personnel. He said that committee members serve at the will of the county commissioners and can be removed from that service at the will of the county commissioners as well.

The Board of Lincoln County Commissioners elected to remove Moeller from the Planning Commission in a vote of 4-to-1, with county commissioner Don Williams casting the only vote in opposition to the motion.

In another action, Sedillo was unanimously appointed to serve on the Lincoln County Health Council.

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO 88301

A PAIR OF MONSTERS -- Devon Artech got a jump on summer vacation week last by spending the afternoon at Carrizozo Lake and landed these two huge catfish. The young angler, a frequent visitor at the local lake, said he baited his hook with a little bit of liver and was actually trying to land some rainbows, but instead hooked these 26" and 28" beauties. Carrizozo Mayor Lists Town Grants

by Patrice Brazie

Carrizozo Mayor Bob Hemphill touched on several topics during his regular monthly statement offered during the May 12th meeting of the Carrizozo Town Council. The mayor said that he had been asked to clarify the reason for the inclusion of a recent annual report on water quality with the town's water bills.

"Everybody that has a water meter got one of these in the mail," Hemphill explained. "It's an annual requirement that we have to send these out so that you know what our water system is doing and, in this case, it says that our water is fine," he said. "We have a very good water system."

Hemphill encouraged anyone with questions about a water bill or the annual water report to bring the document to the town hall where it will be explained in more detail.

Saturday Is Clean Up Day
Carrizozo Clean-Up Day is this coming Saturday, May 30th, and Hemphill again called for more volunteer assistance from the citizenry.

"If you have a pickup, or you know somebody that has a pickup, load it up and take it either to the turn-off at the McBride well, we'll have some roll-offs there, or we'll have the standard roll-off and metal at the transfer site next to the detention center," he said.

Some Carrizozo residents who said they would be unable to help with the clean-up have donated money to help cover the cost of the additional roll-off containers, Hemphill said.

Town foreman Joey Thornton asked that those who plan to put trash on the curb for pickup on Saturday separate the trash into three piles:

metals, regular trash and clean organic yard waste like leaves, grass and sticks.

Work Release Program

Carrizozo residents can expect to see crews from the Lincoln County Detention Center participating in the work release program and doing some clean up in the parks and along the roadways. Tommy Guevara is supervising the inmates and town trustee Dennis Dunnum is the town's liaison with the detention center in regards to the program.

Fuel Truck At Airport

As it turns out, the fuel delivery truck that was being used for fuel storage at the airport must be replaced. Hemphill said that there had been some misunderstanding regarding the use of the truck, and he has learned that it could only be used for a period of one year.

"Now we have to come up with a storage tank of some kind," Hemphill said.

The engineering firm hired by the town to prepare a

Manager's Contract Renewed

The Lincoln County Board of Commissioners approved the renewal of county manager Tom Stewart's employment contract on May 19th. Stewart made no request for a salary increase this year, asking only that he be permitted to carry over an additional 10 days of vacation time.

"He's not going to request an increase because then he would have to offer it to his employees," county attorney Alan Morel told the Board of Lincoln County Commissioners.

"The contract is as it was last year; it will just provide for the ability to carry forward an additional 10 days of vacation," Morel said.

Stewart's contract had allowed him to carry-over 15 days of vacation time; the new contract will allow him to carry over 25 days.

"I'd like to carry-over seven days of sick leave and 25 days of vacation, which I won't take," Stewart said.

County commissioner Eileen Sedillo asked Stewart

why he wanted to carry over vacation days that he probably won't take advantage of, and the manager said that he would try to take the time off this year at the rate of a half-day at a time.

Even though Stewart requested no increase in pay, county commissioner Dave Parks said that the board of county commissioners should consider a salary increase for Stewart when it reviews the salaries of all county employees later this year.

Stewart received a pay increase in 2008 that brought his salary to $100,000 annually. The manager also recommended a pay raise for county employees in 2008 of no more than eight percent, but the county commissioners approved a 10 percent across the board increase for all county employees despite the manager's recommendation. The discussion at that time was that county employees would not be likely to see pay raises this year because of last year's generous increases.

County Lodger's Tax Funds Awarded

by Patrice Brazie

The Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee heard four requests for funding during its meeting of April 29th and recommended the funding awards to the Board of Lincoln County Commissioners for approval on May 19th.

Walter Pittman submitted a request for $6,000 for Fort Stanton Inc., to advertise and promote the August 7th, 8th and 9th event Fort Stanton Live through regional newspapers and magazines as well as a website and brochures. The lodger's tax committee recommended approval of a $4,000 award and suggested that organizers consolidate efforts and work in coordination with the organizers of Old Lincoln Days, an event held in conjunction with Fort Stanton Live.

Dan Hood presented a request for $2,000 to promote the Ruidoso Chamber Music Festival with announcements on National Public Radio stations and notices sent to people and organizations on its mailing list. The two-day event is scheduled for August 7th and 8th. The committee recommended approval of the award of $2,000.

Also recommended for approval was a request for $2,250 to promote the Ski Run Road Challenge, a 12-mile race that takes place in October. The race reportedly at-

New County Fire Trucks on Order

by Patrice Brazie

During the regular meetings of the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners, county manager Tom Stewart generally offers a report on recent activities and events that might affect the county and its operations. On May 19th, Stewart reported that American LaFrance, the company that has built many of the county's fire fighting apparatus, filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in 2008.

Earlier this year, LaFrance reported that it will close two of its manufacturing plants and move all operations to the east coast. As a result, fire trucks ordered for the Arabela and Lincoln fire departments and expected to be delivered by now have not

Suzanne Carden Joins Internal Medicine Clinic

Lincoln County Medical Center, LCMC, is pleased to announce that Suzanne Carden, Certified Nurse Specialist, has joined the LCMC Internal Medicine Associates Clinic on May 4.

Carden will join the practice as a physician extender, assisting Dr. Chris Robinson. This position allows patients to be re-seen and re-evaluated in a more timely manner. In addition, Dr. Robinson can continue to care for patients in the hospital. The pairing of a specialty physician and a mid-level provider has been a positive care model in many practices.

"We're happy to have Suzanne join the LCMC Internal Medicine team and feel she'll be a great fit for our hospital and for Lincoln County," said Dr. Gary Jackson, LCMC Medical Director. "With Suzanne on board to see patients requiring routine, follow-up care, Dr. Robinson can see additional patients seeking primary care or treatment for lifelong diseases."

Carden received her Bachelor of Science nursing degree from Montana State University in Bozeman and her Master's of Science nursing degree and a nurse practitioner certificate from Texas Women's University in Denton, Texas in 1980. Carden has also taken classes in environmental health from the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque and in advanced pharmacology from the University of Texas Health Science Center in Austin. Dr. Jackson said that Carden will be in the Internal Medicine Clinic Mondays-Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. She brings some medical Spanish in order to better assist Spanish speaking patients.

Dr. Jackson added that LCMC works diligently to recruit top-notch professionals that believe in high quality care and patient satisfaction

Therapy Center Dedicated

Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) dedicated the latest facility for expanded healthcare services in Lincoln County on Wednesday, May 13 in Ruidoso.

The Therapy Center houses two of the hospital's departments: Rehabilitation Services and the Heritage Program for Senior Adults. The center also houses an outpatient geriatric psychiatry program.

The Rehabilitation Services department includes three modalities: physical, occupational and speech therapies. The 10,000 square-foot facility offers an 1,800 square-foot gym with a dozen pieces of state-of-the-art rehabilitation equipment, six private treatment rooms with additional private occupational and speech therapy rooms and a private wound care therapy/treatment room and a therapy pool with a capacity of eight, two conference/meeting room and individual/family therapy rooms.

The Therapy Center was a mill-levy funded project directed by the Lincoln County Commission and represented phase 3 of the county-owned hospital's strategic plan.

Phase one was the expansion of the outpatient and emergency room areas and phase two expanded the operating room and warehouse storage areas. The construction project cost was approximately $3 million.

"LCMC has been committed to providing the best healthcare value in Lincoln County," said Jim Gibson, LCMC administrator. "The Therapy Center is the next step in our journey to doing that," he added.

The Therapy Center is located at 213 Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso. The Rehabilitation Services and the Heritage Program for Senior Adults departments can be contacted at (575) 257-8239 and (575) 257-6283 respectively.

Lincoln County Medical Center is a county-owned facility leased by Presbyterian Healthcare Services. This partnership has existed since 1972 and is dedicated to improving the health of individuals, families and communities. Lincoln County Medical Center and Presbyterian Healthcare Services operates a hospital, six clinics and a countywide ambulance service. Lincoln County Medical Center employs more than 250 people, including more than 15 providers throughout Lincoln County.

and feels that Carden will make an immediate, positive impact in these areas.

Carden has worked for LCMC in various capacities as needed during the past two years and has worked for Presbyterian Medical Services for the Tularosa and Cloudercroft clinics for the past eight years as a primary provider.

Presbyterian Medical Services is not affiliated with Presbyterian Healthcare Services or Lincoln County Medical Center.

She is quite familiar with Lincoln County and New Mexico. Carden and her husband, David Waechter, have lived in Ruidoso the past six years and had lived in Santa Fe for 17 years before Waechter retired from Los Alamos National Laboratories. They moved to Ruidoso for the scenic area and the outdoor activities.

Carrizozo Mayor Lists Grants

comprehensive plan will research the town's options in meeting the state's fuel storage requirements.

Cemetery Records Update
The mayor said that he has asked deputy clerk Margaret LaBelle to update the records for the Evergreen Cemetery.

"Our records have a lot of last names and very few first names," Hemphill said. "We're finding some plots that people have already purchased and are in there that are not in the records."

Hemphill said that he authorized overtime pay for LaBelle, who would be working on the cemetery records on weekends, and said there is enough money left in the current budget to cover the cost of the overtime.

Town Grants Listed
Carrizozo has been awarded a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) in the amount of $327,246 to cover the costs of paving Airport Road from U.S. Highway 54 to E Avenue, from B Avenue to the detention center and from E Avenue to B Avenue or until the funds run out. The town will provide $19,471 in matching funds and $58,415 obtained through a cooperative agreement with the highway department, Hemphill said.

The mayor reported that efforts continue to reduce water loss within the municipal water system by looping some water lines and replacing others. He said that water losses were down to 20 percent partly due to the replacement of practically every water meter in town, including meters to keep track of the water used in maintaining the town's public parks. Hemphill said that the funding for improvements to the water system came from a water-loss reduction grant from the state. The town still has about $400,000 from that grant that must be spent before the end of the year.

Hemphill said that he had been asked about the town's participation in state and federal grant programs, and offered a rundown of the town's grant-funded projects over the past three years. A $25,000 grant for the comprehensive plan is in the closing process. A $200,000 grant for improvements to the town's water storage capabilities is completed and closed. A CDBG water system improvement grant for $400,000 was used to build a new 500,000 gallon water storage tank.

Hemphill explained that the town could not apply for additional funding from the CDBG program until this year, because the $400,000 grant for water system improvements awarded in 2006 had to be spent first.

"They won't let you apply if you haven't spent their old money," Hemphill explained. "We got busy and closed that storage grant, which allowed us to apply for the (Airport Road) grant," Hemphill said.

A grant for $90,000 for the installation of new playground equipment in Spencer Park has also been completed and closed, as has a $50,000 grant to upgrade the municipal swimming pool bath house. Three funding grants for the Carrizozo Heritage Museum totaling about $20,000 are still open, the mayor said. A grant for $1.3 million was used to rebuild the runway at the municipal airport about a year ago; the funding currently being used for looping and replacing water lines amounts to about $660,000, and a grant for $150,000 will go for new trucks for the town's maintenance crews.

Curfew To Be Enforced

Carrizozo children are required to be off the streets by 10:00 p.m. as the town will be enforcing its curfew once again. When the public alert siren is repaired, a blast will sound at 9:30 to remind minors that they have 30 minutes to get home.

Burro Was Donated

Hemphill also reported that the painted burro outside of the town hall building was donated to the town and didn't cost the taxpayers anything.

THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Life May be Different In The Future By Ruth Hammond

A few decades ago children in school were told that their lives would be drastically different in the future. The picture created by the people who should know was more of the type of lifestyle that has been depicted in what is now referred to as science fiction. A few examples are:

Driving to do shopping was pictured as being almost non-existent because most items would be purchased by looking at a screen and pushing buttons for selections. This is similar to computer shopping today but not quite what was described as what future life would be like.

Using this push button screen to have food delivered by way of a sort of vacuum tube was also predicted. The main thing children objected to was that home made food would no longer exist. The blue plum pudding prepared by a favorite aunt would not be on the menu for choice.

Many other predictions, some complete with photos, were that houses would have glass walls and the only way to keep outsiders from watching was to pull curtains. The glass walls were probably to help preserve heat, sort of a solar something or other, not fully explained to people.

But these were all new houses, supposedly the older homes would be demolished and new homes would be built, in a semi circle type cul de sac. Underground wires would go from the homes to the central cooking area which would be where food for everyone was prepared.

Rationale at that time was that these predictions were highly unlikely. However, youngsters believed what they were told by their elders and teachers. That was what young people were supposed to do back then. It was also said that most people would travel by helicopter instead of by motor vehicle. Didn't do much for those afraid of heights, but did cause much speculation about flying.

Another thing told was that war would become extinct and everyone would be happy. That prediction was one that most young people were hoping would come true.

The end of all conflicts and wars remains as one of the most sought after goals in life. But it won't happen. If there are at least two people on the planet there will be friction and conflict. Regardless of how it is explained, one person will want what another person has and then the conflict will lead to war. If there are only two people the conflict could be short, but it will happen anyway.

It would be nice if some of the predictions were to be more than a dream. If life could be simple and happy that would be great. Doing away with kitchens in people's homes might have been a dream but was not plausible.

One thing that would be plausible would be for more people to take time to think about what they are doing and realize that not everyone thinks alike. More thought should be given before action is taken. That would help. Now, what do you think future life should be like?

EARL

WELL, YOU'RE THE ONE THAT SAID, "LET'S JUST ROPE HIM AND DRAG HIM INTO THE TRAILER."

Big Dry Syndicate

Inside the Capitol

by JAY MILLER, Syndicated Columnist

SANTA FE -- The time has come for serious candidates to begin making public announcements about their intentions to run for office.

For incumbents, that's relatively easy. Put out the word you plan to run again and make sure your previous supporters are still with you.

But for non-incumbents, there is much to be done. Supporters must be lined up before another candidate grabs them. Fundraising must start before donors get tapped out.

Most importantly, candidates must get their name out before potential voters. Some candidates already have started doing that. In this and some future columns, we'll begin reviewing the races for you.

There will be no U.S. Senate contest this year so the governors' race will be at the top of the statewide ballot.

First among likely Democratic gubernatorial candidates is Lt. Gov. Diane Denish, who has let her intentions about that office be known for years. She has been raising money for some time and reports to the public more often than is required by state law.

It's not a bad way to let voters know you're serious and it might make some potential opponents check their hole cards. At this point, Denish has raised almost $2 million.

Denish has served as lieutenant governor for almost seven years, during which she has skillfully presided over an independent minded Senate. During her first four-year term, Gov. Bill Richardson involved her in his decisions and operation as much as any governor ever has.

During the first two years of his second term, he was out of state campaigning much of the time. Even though that made Denish acting governor, the shots were still being called by Richardson in phone conversations with top aides.

Last December, when it appeared Denish would be governor by late January, everything changed. Richardson mentally checked out while future Gov. Denish made preparations to hit the ground running. She appointed a transition team and asked for resignations from the hundreds of Richardson appointed job-holders.

A massive switching of loyalties ensued and then suddenly everything was off. But it didn't go back to normal. Too much had happened during that month.

Denish didn't disband her transition team. Would Richardson be indicted? Would he be cleared and off to another job in Washington? Would the grand jury drag on and Richardson accept a lucrative job outside of government?

So far, the answer is none of the above. It could remain that way for 19 more months or it could change tomorrow. People at the top of government are still on edge and relations between Richardson and Denish are understandably strained.

Gov. Richardson did make an appearance recently at a Denish fundraiser. It was a sign of a possible thaw in their relationship. But Richardson also has made encouraging comments about the possibility of actor Val Kilmer running against Denish.

Kilmer doesn't appear to be tremendously serious although he has made moves that lead one to think he could be a potential candidate. He has made public appearances in the state. He has talked with a high-powered Washington public relations firm. His entire ranch on the Pecos River up for sale. And now a push poll has been conducted by someone citing Kilmer's political negatives.

And there is now a Val Kilmer blog. He doesn't write it but it is done by someone close to him who has used Kilmer writings and interviews that speak poetically about love, spirituality and the beauty of New Mexico. It's a perfect counterpoint to the interview excerpts that have brought him so much grief around the state.

The blog sounds vaguely like the Kilmer I experienced recently when I ran across a 1987 inaugural issue of Southwest Opinion and Review, which contained a poem by Kilmer, written while on location in New Zealand.

A celebrity like Kilmer can get in the game late. Others can't. Albuquerque Mayor Martin Chavez and Attorney General Gary King toyed with a gubernatorial run and decided instead to seek reelection to their old offices.

Senate majority floor leader Michael Sanchez is keeping the door open a crack but precious time is passing.

New County Textbook Recycling Event June 1, 5

The first-ever textbook recycling week in Lincoln County kicks off June 1 - 5 at the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) in Ruidoso Downs.

All Region IX public schools, private schools, home schools, Tribal Schools and ENMU-Ruidoso can transport unusable and discarded textbooks to the LCSWA yard between 8:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. at 222 2nd street in Ruidoso Downs for free disposal.

Lincoln County and Mesalero residents may also discard unusable textbooks during the textbook recycling week at the LCSWA yard.

LCSWA will recycle the discarded textbooks through its paper recycler Durango McKinley Corporation of Thoreau. Every year, schools must find a way to store or dispose of thousands of used textbooks and other materials that are no longer in use. State law prevents donation of such materials by public schools until the adoption date for the subject series has expired.

Publishers also flood schools with demonstration copies many of which are never chosen for use. Schools of all kinds can save on the space-related costs of warehousing used textbooks that are no longer up to date by disposing of them each year by disposing of them at no charge during the first week of June. A variety of things are typically done with old textbooks. Some are taken to schools in Mexico. Others are reused or resold by organizations like GreenTextbooks.org.

Many however continue to sit on shelves taking up valuable space that could be used otherwise.

Many textbooks and other types of learning materials are quickly out-of-date due to changes in subject matter, changes in teaching approaches or public policies.

For more information on textbook recycling, contact the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority office at 378-4697, toll free at 1-877-548-8772 or via e-mail at lcswa@valonnet.com.

been completed.

Stewart told the county commissioners that he gave county emergency services director Travis Atwell the authorization to cancel the order for the two trucks.

County Lodger's Tax Fund

tracted 95 participant runners last year, and $2,500 of the proceeds from the event were donated to the Disabled Ski Program at Ski Apache.

Organizers of the annual New Mexico State Open Chili Cook-Off submitted a request for $3,000 in lodger's tax funds to promote the October 3rd event. The cook-off reportedly earned $7,000 last year, enabling a donation of $3,000 to the local Lions Club. The lodger's tax committee recommended an award of $2,000.

The Board of Lincoln County Commissioners approved all requests as recommended by the lodger's tax committee.

"The emergency services director and I have reviewed all of our prospective fire apparatus purchases and, with the approval of the State Fire Marshal, are proceeding to gain approval of the specifications and purchase under Houston Galveston Area Council purchase agreements," Stewart said.

The county is awaiting the delivery of some fire fighting apparatus and has plans to acquire some trucks not yet ordered. Stewart indicated that he expects delivery of a pumper-tanker for the Arabela fire department in about 30 days, but the pumper-tanker for the Lincoln department is yet to be built and will probably be delivered in about 10 months.

A new pumper-tanker for the Nogal fire department is expected to arrive sometime in June, and an interface pumper for the Glencoe fire department should be delivered by the end of July. The White Oaks and Fort Stanton fire departments are also expected to receive new fire trucks within 60 days.
