AMERICA EXCELSIOR.

BY REV. SIDNEY DYER.

Firm as the granite rock,
Breasting the battle's shock'
Purpling the sod,
Our fathers' work was done,
A mighty nation won;
They laid its corner-stone,
Trusting in God.

Now, we from sea to sea,
March to our destiny,
Ceaseless the stride;
Staid by Pacific's shore,
Still with a rush and roar
Northward and South we roar
The living tide.

Shouting our anthem free,
Music of liberty,
Soul-stirring strain:
Shouting as on we trace
Up to the highest place,
Song of the victor race,
Freedom's refrain!

Wave! starry banner, wave!
Pride of the free and brave,
Herald of might!
Down through the march of time,
Flash thou, with rays sublime,
Freedom to every clime,
Banner of light!

O, thou who rulest all,
Let thy rich blessings fall
Free o'er the land;
O'n thee our hope relies;
Bind fast our destinies,
Love, Truth and Liberties,
Almighty Hand!

The Origin of Yankee Doodle.

"Yankee Doodle" has stood the test of one hundred and thirty-five years. In 1755 great exertions were made by the British Ministry, at the head of which was the Earl of Chatham, for the reduction of the French power in the provinces of the Canadas. To carry this object into effect, General Amherst was placed in command of the British army in Northwestern America, as it was then considered, and the British colonies in America were called on for assistance. They immediately responded to the call, contributing with alacrity their several quotas of men. In the summer of 1755 the British troops, under General Abercrombia, were encamped on the east bank of the Hudson River, a little south of Albany, on the old Van Rensselaer place, known in the early history of Rensselaerwyck as Fort Carilo, awaiting re-enforcements of militia previous to marching to Ticonderoga. Early in June, the Eastern troops began to pour in, company after company;
and so motley an assemblage of men never before thronged together on such an occasion, unless an exception be found in the ragged regiments of Sir John Falstaff. It would have relaxed the gravity of an anchorite, to have seen the descendants of the Puritans marching through the ancient streets of Albany to take their station on the left of the British army—some with long coats, some with short coats, and some with no coats at all, in colors as varied as those of the rainbow; some with their hair cropped like that of Cromwell's soldiers, and others with wigs, powdered and unpowered, whose curls floated around their shoulders. Their march, their accoutrements, and the whole arrangements of the troops furnished great source of amusement to the wits of the British army. The musicians played to the airs of two centuries ago, and the tout ensemble exhibited a sight to the wondering stranger that could not fail to excite their merriment.

Among the wits belonging to the British Army was a surgeon of some distinction, a Dr. Richard Shackburg, who combined the talents of a musician with the science of his profession, and with his wit.
One evening, late in June, sitting beside the old well just at the rear of the Van Rensselaer house, still to be seen at Greenbush, with the air of "Kitty Fisher's Jig" ringing in his ears, Dr. Shackburg wrote the words of "Yankee Doodle," and presented words and music to the officers of the militia with great solemnity, commending the air as one of the most celebrated in martial music. The joke took well, to the wreat amusement of the British officers, and "Yankee Doodle" was at once known as the march and song of the militia. The tune was known in the times of Charles the First, and has even been said to be of classic origin, having been chanted in the days of Miletus, certainly in the days of Herodotus, and possibly in those of Homer! The words
"Yankee Doodle" have been variously defined, and to enter into a full discussion of the subject would involve too much space. The general acceptance is that "Yankee" is from "Yankin," meaning, in the vocabulary of early New York Dutch to grumble, snarl, or yelp; and its derivative noun, "Yanker," meant a howling cur. It was not in use save among the lower classes, for reasons which to-day forbid slang
being introduced into our homes;
but it was a well-known word. In the collision between the New Englanders, the New York Dutch, and the British, much ill feeling was aroused. The New Englanders despised the Dutch, and the Dutch despised the New Englanders, while the British ridiculed both. Hence the use of the term to indicate the contempt which existed. Every circumstance points to its birth in this prevailing contemptuous feeling. To this day Yankees are looked upon with some distrust by the descendants of the real Dutchman now outside of New England. The hit of Dr. Shackburg became known throughout the army, and the song was sung in a sort of contempt for the colonials. This contemptuous use of the song continued until after Lexington. In 1775, the British troops tarred and feathered one Thomas Diston, in Boston, marching to the tune as the best means of heaping contempt on the Yankees. But this was changed at Lexington, and it was said that when the British commander was once asked after that how he liked the tune, he answered, "How they did make us dance to it!" "Doodle" was a Lancashire word for trifle, and is thus referred to as early as 1622. There is an early version of the words in English, which runs:

Yankee Doodle came to tawn
Upon a Kentish pony;
He stuck a feather in his hat,
And called it macaroni.

In other versions the second line runs, "Riding on a pony," and "Upon a little pony." The small plume worn by the militia in front of their caps was called in derision "macaroni." There is a tradition in England that the original song was directed at Oliver Cromwell himself under the name of "Yankee Doodle." While no one, of course, will claim a high standard of excellence for either the tune or the words of "Yankee Doodle," all this is forgotten when we recall that it was the march that inspired the heroes of Bunker Hill, and that humbled Lord Cornwallis.—Mary L. D. Ferris, in The New England Magazine for July.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Earth's Sister Planets.

Five of the earth's sister planets, Venus, Saturn, Uranus, Mars and Jupiter, are now visible in the evening says an exchange. They are strung through the sky from west to east, Venus setting just as Jupiter is rising, and the others being scattered along the arch of the Zodiac between the two which terminate the line. Saturn is about 15 degrees distant from Venus, near Regulus in Leo; Uranus is near Virgo; Mars is in the constellation of Scorpio, and Jupiter is away east, in the constellation of Capricornus. An atlas of the heavens will, with careful study, help determine the location of the planets and prove very fascinating amusement for little prospectors.

Washington, July 26.—The New Mexico private land claims bill will probably be heard from in a day or two. It will be called up in the morning hour at the earliest opportunity by Senator Edmunds. The sundry civil and Indian appropriation bill have monopolized both the morning hour and nearly all other hours in the senate for the past ten days. This has prevented the further consideration of the private land claims bill.

Fatal Wreck.

Special to the Alb. Democrat.

East Las Vegas, July 26.—This afternoon at about 4 o'clock there was a head end collision on the Santa Fe at Canoncito, six miles from Glorieta, between passenger train No. 2, north bound, and freight No. 37, south bound. Frank Dennis, the engineer on the freight locomotive, was killed outright, and Fireman Westfield suffered a broken leg. P. K. Hanna, express messenger, had his ankle broken. Five freight cars and the two locomotives were ditched, but no passengers were injured. Division Trammaster Frank M. Rain was on the passenger train at the time returning from the coal wreck at Los Cerillos, and he at once made arrangements for the transferring of passengers both ways, so that travel will only be delayed a few hours. Authentic information lays the blame on the conductor of the freight train, Ed. Crissman, and the unfortunate engineer, who lost his life, both of whom were clearly running against the orders of the train dispatcher's office. The engines are a total loss.

Grass was never better in Texas and the Indian Territory, and cattle will soon be very fat if only given a chance. The market can't get worse, therefore cattlemen should by all means hold their shipments until cattle are thick, fat, and ready to go.

A wiseacre asks, when is a cow not a cow? and answers, "When she is turned into a pasture." But a cow is never turned into a pasture. The pasture is turned into the cow. That does not make the cow a pasture; the pasture simply makes milk, fat calves and beef.

Some newspaper dude suggests that if the farmers would live like they used to live, they would not be financially embarrassed. Who let us ask, has a better right to live well than the farmer?

Mad Irishman—"Dom those opery glasses! Take em back: I don't want 'em at all. I be after lookin' at a mad bull cavortin', and begorra he tossed me over the fence while he was half a moile away." Optician—"My dear sir, you were looking in the wrong end of the glasses."

White Oaks, N. M.Danger of the Federal Election Law.

What makes the outlook all the more alarming is the fact that the United States supreme court, the interpreter or the constitution, has recently taken significant strides in the same direction. In the Neagle case for example, it extended the criminal jurisdiction of the nation over a large area hitherto supposed to be within state domain. In the Mormon case it conceded to congress power to confiscate public or private property in the territories. In the Minnesota railroad cases it crippled the power of the states to regulate traffic charges. But more sweeping than all these curtailments of states sovereignty was the original package decision, which virtually gives to congress a sway over local government that would have amazed the founders of the nation.

With this vastly enlarged centralized power conceded by the supreme court of the United States it is time for the people to look well to a party which does not scruple to use that power even to the extent of abuse. The passage of the federal election bill is more than an outrage. It is a sign of danger. It is a forerunner of national evil unless a halt is called upon its champions. —New York Herald.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.

To-morrow, Saturday, August 2, 1890, the Democratic electors of the various precincts of Lincoln County, are called upon to meet in convention at 2 o'clock p. m., to elect delegates to the county convention, to be held at Lincoln Aug. 14th, which convention will nominate a county ticket, and also elect delegates to the Legislative convention, to be held at Roswell the 21st of August 1890.

Precinct No. 8, will elect nine delegates to represent it at the county convention at Lincoln.

It behooves all good democrats throughout the county to turn out in force, in order to make the best selection of delegates possible, as the election the coming fall will be one of the greatest importance. Roll up, Democrats, don't forget 2 o'clock, to-morrow, Aug 2.

The National Democrat says: "Seven years ago a Republican member of the Illinois Legislature refused to vote and broke the quorum. Speaker Collins telegraphed to Mr. Blaine to know if he could not count the member who would not vote. He got the following reply:

Washington, April 13, 1883.

L. C. Collins, Speaker House of Representatives, Springfield, Ill.:

Members in their seats not voting cannot be counted in any way whatever. They may be censured by the Speaker for failing to perform their duty, but the Speaker cannot take cognizance of their presence except as they respond to the roll call.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

—How does the above tally with Speaker Reed's rulings?

The Philadelphia Ledger calls Reed's Congress "The Reckless Congress." "The Speaker's Rules," it declares, "were adopted upon the plea that they would facilitate business. how have they facilitated business in any other sense than that they have facilitated bad business? They were adopted in order to place the business of the House under the control of the majority of the House—this is, the majority as counted by the Speaker. Well, now that that consummation has been brought about, and the business is under that control, has the House achieved anything to which the Republican party will point with pride in 1892, or in 4891."

The Philadelphia Press (Republican) says: "Beginning with Cuba by making the repeal of duty on its sugar dependent on free entrance for our provisions and breadstuffs, we can annex the trade of the island. American capital will flow there for its development, and a decade will see its enterprises as fully under American control as those of the Hawaiian Islands.—American vessels will ply between the island and our ports. American products will be consumed there, and long years of blight, due to Spanish trade laws, will disappear. Reciprocity, once begun, will spread over the hemisphere. At a stroke the United States will step into a great trade, equal to that of India."

Why, bless you! this is pure and unadulterated free trade, republicans can't recognize it under the name of reciprocity!

Billy Mahone, the old time Republican boss of the U. S. Senate, is certainly consistent in his opposition to the Force bill passed by the House. He is afraid it is not strong enough. He wants Congress to go further and pass a bill that will supervise State elections, at which Legislatures are chosen, which have to elect United States Senators.

TOM REED A TYRANT.*His Own Words Convict Him.

He said in 1862, "Unreasonable suppression of discussion is tyranny, whether done by a King or a majority."

From St. Louis Republic.

Col. O. O. Stealy, the Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier Journal, is addicted to browsing over old magazines from time to time. To-day he discovered a copy of the "Chautauqua" of June, 1886, containing an article by the Hon. Thomas B. Reed, now Speaker of the House of Representatives, on parliamentary discussion. It is a remarkable article, and it shows how seriously the Speaker has changed his mind during the past few years. Here are a few extracts from Mr. Reed's article that speaks for themselves:

"The aim of some statesmen has been not to do things good, but to prevent the doing of things evil. It cannot be denied that this aim is quite often a righteous one. But the prevention of evil legislation should never be by refusing propositions a hearing, but by hearing and refuting. This brings me to remark that some legislation consist not more in what is done than in what is refused to be done. Whoever thinks that the function of a legislative body in a free country is fully performed by the mere passage of bills, good or bad, has little comprehension of the scope and real usefulness of such a body * * * The reformation of the rules will remove a great many obstacles to legislation. A great many remain to intelligent legislation, using the word in the broad sense in which it has been employed in this article. Among these obstacles is the tendency which now exists to deny discussion in many cases, and the tendency to employ an unsuitable form of discussion in others. A full, free, frank discussion is the very life of intelligent action. Nobody knows everything; most people know something. Men are circumscribed in their knowledge by their various experiences. If all those who know something of the subject assemble their knowledge a sensible judgment can be formed by those who listen. But there has been in this country for the past half century so many subjects of bitter feeling involving bitter words that the tendency to suppress discussion in Congress by those who have the power has reached a point where there ought to be a reaction in favor of freer debate. In no other countries in the world is such power of shutting-off debates lodged in the majority. The previous question has been employed without mercy. It is in the memory of all that until the last few years the House of Commons never had such a thing as the "previous question" in our sense of the term. There was no power in the House to close debate. The Irish members, simply by talking, were able to prevent the passage of bills which had the approval of a vast majority of the House. Ever since the strong provocation has caused the introduction of the cloture, debate cannot be closed, except by the presiding officer, under such circumstances and under such requirements of support from the House as in that body secures a right of debate which is much greater than in our House of Representatives. The hesitancy with which so slight a measure of suppression was adopted in England, strikes with a shade of surprise an American legislator, accustomed in Congress to see discussion drowned with as little remorse as if it were a sightless kitten. But the English are right. Unreasonable and capricious suppression of discussion is tyranny, whether done by a king or a majority."

The Lieutenant governor A. J. Felt, on the original package decision, said in a speech in Nemaha county, recently: "While I respect the mandates of the supreme court of the United States, I consider that I owe my first allegiance to the constitution and laws of my state.

That sounds familiar; we have heard such declarations before. During the years 1860-61, while the different states were seceding from the union such utterances were very common by natives of the seceding states. Such declarations were then called treasonable utterances. They are none the less so now than they were in 1860-61. The question then involved was freedom and slavery, and now it is only a matter of whisky and beef. —Ark. Valley (Ks.) Dem.

Senator Morgan has introduced a free coinage silver bill similar to the one recently passed by the senate by a majority of 17. It establishes a standard value for the white metal and any person can take the bullion to the mint and have it coined into dollars without charge. Democrats are showing how they stand by their actions.—Industrial Advertiser.

The second annual convention of the New Mexico Republican League met at Santa Fe, July 25th. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—A. L. Morrison, of Santa Fe.

1st Vice President—Justo R. Armijo, of Bernalillo.

2d Vice President—Wm. Caffrey, of Lincoln.

3d Vice President—Jayno A. Whitmore, of Socorro.

Secretary—Wm. M. Berger, of Santa Fe.

Ed. R. Bonnell, and Harry Comery, spent several pleasant days, at Ruidoso and returned Monday evening last. We did not learn the number of fish they caught and devoured, but understand they left the fishing ground in good condition for future sport.

All our republican exchanges, as well as the telegraph, tell us that "the president has appointed E. P. Seeds to be an associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico." Well, what of it? It isn't the first time we have had "seeds" sent out here to fill our offices. We are used to it.—Alb. Democrat

Mrs. S. A. Sickles arrived on Saturday last, from North Bristol, Ohio, on a visit to her brother, John Y. Hewitt.

It is a strange anomaly in politics, but nevertheless it is a fact from all appearances, that White Oaks, the most populous town in Lincoln county has not a Democratic aspirant for county office, (save 1), although a full ticket is to be put in the field, and to-morrow is the day set apart for the election of delegates to the county convention, and yet our people are as unruffled as a cloudless summer's day.

Remember that Representative Perkins is working for our interests and should be encouraged. New Mexico needs a good school law before all other things.—Socorro Adv.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes

C. M. Pearman, father of C. L. Pearman, the popular hardware merchant, arrived this week. Mr. Pearman will visit his son and friends here, and enjoy our climate during the heated season.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, has been used by mothers for children teething for over fifty years with perfect success. It relieves the little sufferer at once, produces natural, quiet sleep by freeing the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste, soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

BARGAINING FOR A SLICKER
have learned by experience that the only waterproof coat they can sell to a cowboy or hunter is the Fommel Slicker with the "Fish Brand" Trade Mark on it. They are the best waterproof saddle coats ever made. They keep the saddle, the horse's back, and the rider thoroughly dry and warm. No saddle sores from the galling of a wet saddle. When used as a walking coat, the extension front buttons back, and the Slicker is changed at once to an ordinary coat. Just try one, they cost but little and will prevent colds, fevers, rheumatism, and other results to exposure to the weather. Beware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Mrs. LEE. "Why, Addie, you needn't cry about it! I only said Mrs. Allen was a very well-informed woman, and I wished you would follow her example."

Mrs. LEE. "Yes, and last week you said you wished I could manage to look as stylish as Mrs. Allen,—and she makes all her own clothes. But she has what I haven't."

Mrs. LEE. "What is that?"

Mrs. LEE. "Well, she gets all her information from the Magazine she takes. I admit that she knows all that is going on, and is bright and entertaining in conversation; but I could do as well as she does if I had the same source of information. She lent me the last number of her Magazine lately, and I learned more in one hour's reading, about various social matters and the topics of the day, than I would pick up in a month by my occasional chats with friends. It certainly covers every topic of interest, from the news of the day down to the details of housekeeping; and everything is so beautifully illustrated, too. Every time Manie goes over to the Allens' she comes back and teases me to get you to take Demorest's Family Magazine, as the stories are so good. Even the boys watch for it every month, as a piece is found for them also in its pages; and Mr. Allen swears by it. It is really wonderful how it suits every member of the family!"

Mrs. LEE. "Well, perhaps I had better send for a Specimen Copy; for, if it is anything like what you say it is, it will amuse and instruct the whole of us."

Mrs. LEE. "I see that W. Jennings Demorest, the publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York, is offering to send a Specimen Copy for 10 cents, so we can't lose anything, as each number contains a 'Pattern Order' consisting the holder to any Pattern she may choose, and in any size—which alone makes each copy worth 30 cents; and I just want a jacket pattern like Mrs. Allen's. The subscription price is only $2.00 a year; and I must say I can't see how they can publish so elegant a Magazine for so little money."

Then he clasped her with emotion,
Drew the maiden to his breast,
Whispered vows of true devotion,
The old, old tale,—you know the rest.
From his circled arms upspringing,
With a tear she turned away,
And her voice with sorrow ringing,
"I shall not see my bridal day."

This dramatic speech broke him up badly. But when she explained that her apprehensions were founded on the fact of an inherited predisposition to consumption in her family, he calmed her fears, bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for her, and she is now the incarnation of health. Consumption fastens its hold upon its victims while they are unconscious of its approach. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. But it must be taken before the disease is too far advanced in order to be effective. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or money paid for it will be refunded.

The fact that there are so many old bachelors now is explained. Men marry in order to secure a wife who will be of some assistance to them instead of a burden. There are girls in Las Vegas poor as Job's turkey who boast that they would not cook for a man or mend his clothes to save his life. As the average man does not desire to marry a white elephant, and there so many young women who subscribe to the above sentiment, the big crop of bachelors is accounted for.—Optic.

Colorado's Population.

Denver, July 26.—The two census supervisors for Colorado have so far completed their work as to be able to announce that the population of the state will be very close to 400,000. The three largest cities in the state outside of Denver are as follows: Pueblo, 27,000; Leadville, 18,365; Colorado Springs, 11,200. Pueblo lays claim to the honor of being the only city in America which has doubled her population in two years, the returns in 1888 giving that city 13,500.

What a Leading Physician says.

Dr. R. S. Gordon, a leading physician of Mt. Carmel, Ill., writes the following under date March 10, 1890.

"I cheerfully recommend Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) as a tonic and general health restorer, also in case of Blood Poison it always gives satisfaction."

Years of Suffering.

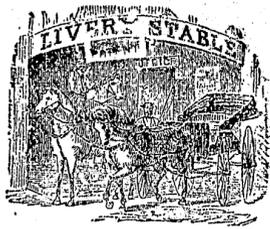

"For years I have been troubled with a blood taint that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of Ohio and Indiana, the disease finally effected my eyes to such an extent that I was almost blind. I was then induced to take a course of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) and am thankful to say that after taking a few bottles I was entirely cured. My eyesight is entirely restored, and my general health is better than it has been for years, and there is no trace of the disease left. I consider S. S. S. the best blood purifier and general health tonic to-day on the market."
