Cleopatra at the Fair.

A citizen of Alexandria, Egypt, named Alexander Tagliaferro, has written to the World's fair management inclosing a photograph of a sarcophagus, which he believes and claims to be, that of Cleopatra. He says it was recently discovered in Caesar's camp, near Alexandria. After paying the Egyptian government its dues the writer says he sold it to a friend for speculation. When the sarcophagus was opened the contents fell in ashes with the exception of the skeleton, which is still preserved. Mr. Tagliaferro says he is prompted to negotiate with the exposition authorities from notices which he has seen in newspapers of the United States announcing that the khedive of Egypt has been asked by the directors of the exposition for the mummy of Rameses. He begs to offer for sale this sarcophagus and skeleton for the sum of £12,000 sterling on the spot, the inference being that the purchaser will be required to pay freight. In explaining the features of this tomb he states that the five faces on three sides are positively the images of Cleopatra. —Chicago Mail.

A Progressive Clergyman.

Dr. Meredith, of Brooklyn, has very progressive ideas about church furnishing entertainment for young people. He has lately established on Fulton street a second reading room for working men (and idlers, too, for that matter), where there is no restriction placed upon smoking pipes and cigars. He would not object to the church furnishing billiard tables and bowling alleys —Epoch.

Spain Will Celebrate.

Chicago, it seems, is not to have the world's fair business all to herself in 1892. The government of Spain has concluded to do some celebrating of the fourth century of the discovery of America on its own account, and a royal decree has been issued proclaiming the fact and appointing commissioners to take it in hand. The celebration is to be held at Madrid, in the place of the National Museum and park. Special inducements are held out to exhibitors in the way of free transportation and free importation. The exhibition is to last from September 11 to December 31, and everything that Spain can do to insure the success of the project will be done. Already steps have been taken to advertise it extensively in South and Central America.

Gentile Democrats have secured a controlling interest in the Salt Lake (Utah) Herald.

Wide Awake is responsible for the following: A family in Salem, Mass., owned a dog that had become quite old and troublesome. He was cross, and would take the best place in the room and no one could make him leave it willingly. At last grandma, much troubled, said: "Sir, this dog is so troublesome we must send him away." The dog got up and looked at her in sorrow and went out of the room. In a few days they heard that this dog, whom everybody knew, had gone to the poorhouse, where the town's poor people were taken care of, and stranger still, on Saturdays, when many of the inmates went to see friends, this dog also went home to see "sir" and "ma'am," stayed awhile and then went back again and lived there ever after.

Geo. H. Miles Under Arrest.

A dispatch from Los Angeles announces the arrest there of George H. Miles, charged with the murder of George W. Miller, his partner in the saloon business. Both men were formerly residents of Santa Fe, and no little local interest has been aroused in the case.

It appears that Miles and Miller were partners in a saloon known as the "Carleton," and that they had had some dispute over business affairs and had not been on good terms for some weeks. On Saturday night, May 16th, Miller was found in the cardroom dead, having been killed by blows on the head with a heavy blunt instrument, presumably a hammer. The authorities at once set to work to investigate the mystery of Miller's death and, it is said, secured information which led to the arrest of George Miles on Wednesday last on the charge of having committed the crime. The evidence against him is purely circumstantial in its nature. Miles is at present confined in the Los Angeles jail. He will be remembered as formerly running a roulette wheel here at the Broad Guage saloon; later as manager of the Plaza hotel, Las Vegas, and still later as connected with a placer mining enterprise in the Jicarilla mountains near White Oaks.

George W. Miller, the murdered man, was an elder brother of James Miller, who used to run the plaza meat market, and was also himself engaged in the market business here several years ago in partnership with John T. Forsha and the late Dick Williams.

Twenty-five immigrants, passengers by the Anchor line steamship Belgrave, have been returned to the care of that vessel, to be taken back to the place whence they came.

Restaurant Dialect.

The chief hash-slinger in a Salt Lake short-order house fairly knocked out a patron, says the Tribune. A young dry goods clerk sat down opposite him and ordered a chicken pate and a glass of milk. "Nary singer left," said the waiter. "Make it bacon then," said the clerk. "Hollercoost rooster and drive cow," yelled the man to the cook. "What's your country?" turning to a green-looking lad who had just sat down. "I want a dish of tripe and some onions," was the response. "Yard of towellin' and frangipannys." "Comin' up," yelled the cook. "What do you want?" he enquired of the Heard on the Side man. "Corn beef hash and a cup of coffee," was the reply. "Railroad smashup and kill an Arab," he roared, and taking an order for liver and eggs he howled out "Set a guinea on a pin cushion." Then a man ordered cakes and a glass of hot water, and the youth shouted for "a Turkish bath and a stack of whites." The Heard on the Side man then went away just in time to hear him howl, "Slide the steer with some glue in the bowl, chop 'em fine with some hot stuff on the side."

Ancient Irrigation.

In the agricultural department's press report on irrigation, recently issued, Prof. J. R. Hinton says:

"Unmistakably the oldest irrigation is that produced by the Indian dwellers of the eighteen pueblos found in New Mexico and by the Moquis, Supori, Pimas, Maricopas and Papagos, residents in the territory of Arizona. Evidence exists in our southwest region of large works and wider fields, made by a people long since extinct. The value of irrigation as a fertilizer of the soil may be seen in the fact that the Pima Indians of Arizona have cultivated the same land—a portion of which they now occupy—for at least 500 years. Their cultivation, though rude, has been extensive and well conducted. Nothing has ever been applied to the land but the water, which quickens and fructifies it. As large crops are now raised as any of the traditions of the Indians bear record.

The Swedes who were imported into Vermont to take the place of native farmers starved out by high tariff are getting out as fast as they can. This convinces the St. Paul Pioneer Press that the only way to live in Vermont is to lend money to Western farmers and live on the interest.

It takes six days for mail to reach the county seat of San Juan county, from Santa Fe. The distance in all is less than 200 miles.

Tony Neis came in from Cerrillos to-day and brought the skin of a South American flamingo, a bird eight feet in height which he proposes to have mounted.

The assessor of Chaves county informs the Record that so far the rolls for 1891 had footed up $1,221,000, and that the final total would no doubt reach the sum of one million and a quarter.

During the past week large quantities of wool have been brought to this place and stored in the Pratt Bros. warehouse, where it may be inspected by buyers on next Thursday, the 28th the first "wool" day in Eddy.

Between Raton and Springer something like 100 miles of irrigation canals have been built by the Maxwell company and 75,000 acres of the choicest fruit and alfalfa lands in New Mexico have been brought under these several irrigation systems.

The government report on irrigation in the United States, says that even ten acres of land, capable of irrigation, in New Mexico, Arizona or southern California may form a more valuable homestead than 160 acres of open prairie in the humid sections. The government's statement is correct.

The Albuquerque Democrat calls attention to the fact that although New Mexico stands fourth among the states and territories as a wool producer, there is not a woolen mill in the Territory. Last year the merchants of Albuquerque bought and shipped over nine and one half million pounds of wool.

Page Otero writes to the Black Range: "The Indians that are troubling you are a part of the tribe of Apaches who live in the White mountains not forty miles from Eagle, and they are a band of about fifteen or twenty who have never left the White mountains and no one will ever be able to get them out of their stronghold."

Raton Reporter: A party of gentlemen from Lexington, Neb., consisting of J. C. Barnes, W. W. Leek, F. P. Kreitz, J. W. Smith, C. L. Ervin, S. B. Carr, W. O. Stewart and W. T. Huey, were in the city Saturday with a view to purchasing land from the Maxwell grant. They left for Maxwell City on Sunday morning to look over the field, and if favorably impressed will return to Nebraska and make preparations to locate here. They will return next month when the party will be increased to twenty-five.

Angus Campbell brought to the Enterprise office yesterday a bunch of alfalfa, the native grass of California, which was grown this year on the Pipe Line Ranch, without irrigation. The grass resembles alfalfa. The stalks brought to this office were eighteen inches in length. Mr. Campbell thinks the grass will grow anywhere on these plains and mountains without irrigation, and will produce two crops per year. It makes splendid feed.—Silver City Enterprise.

For small fruits the county of Chavez cannot be surpassed anywhere. The growth is rapid and hardy, and their yield is surprising. In one garden in the town of Roswell, gooseberries two years old are in full bearing, and strawberries planted last year are loaded with the finest fruit we ever saw. We measured one berry in the garden, and found it to be four and a half inches in circumference.—Roswell Record.

A hail storm did great damage at Silver City last week. Some of the larger buildings have as many as forty panes of glass shattered. D. C. Hobart's beautiful residence suffered most. The thick glass in railroad coaches was broken. The schoolhouse lost thirty-two glasses. The storm continued for six minutes. The numerous fine shade trees adorning the city had millions of leaves stripped off.

Conductor Crittenden and Engineer Cole have been dismissed from the Atchison company for carelessness which resulted in the freight wreck at the Purgatoire bridge, immediately this side of Trinidad. Sixteen cars were derailed and 235 cattle killed in the accident. The cattle were shipped by Mr. Wilson for Black, Hurst Kehnie & Wiley, of Socorro county.

San Juan county note: People under the Model ditch, south of the San Juan, are wreathed with smiles at the success of their undertaking. It is indeed a "model," everything about it being first-class in all particulars. It is nine miles long, crosses three arroyos on substantial, well built flumes, and carries more than 2,000 inches of water, under's measurement.

From Denver Mining Industry and Tradesman.

Trans-Mississippi Congress.

The following are the resolutions adopted by the Congress in relation to subjects of most direct interest to mining men:

MINING LANDS GRANTED TORAILROADS.

Whereas, The interest of mining creates and adds to the wealth of this country nearly $100,000,000 annually of gold and silver alone, a product, whose scarcity means the depreciation of the values of the homes and all the real property of the country, as well as the wheat, the cotton and the corn produced by the toiling millions, and whose abundance means increased comfort and prosperity to the great mass of our people; and

Whereas, There are millions of acres of the best gold and silver-bearing mineral lands of the West in which are thousands of mining properties, both patented and unpatented, within the limits of the grant to the Pacific railroads, and which are in imminent danger of becoming the property of these railroad companies; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this body earnestly ask of Congress such legislation as will protect and foster our mining interests and forever prevent our mines and mineral lands, bearing gold, silver, copper or lead, from becoming the property of these corporations under their grants; and that this body ask of the delegations in this convention, from the territories of Arizona, Utah and New Mexico, and the states of California, Nevada, Colorado, Wyoming, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, which have a common interest in this subject, they each select three of their citizens, who shall form a committee for the purpose of securing such united and efficient action as will save these mines and mineral lands to the people.

THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

Whereas, The purpose for which the United States Geological Survey was established was to assist in the development of the mining regions of the West; and

Whereas, It has been subverted from the purpose so much that the offices of the Rocky Mountain and Pacific divisions have been closed, and work in the mining regions of the West has been practically abandoned; therefore, be it

Resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed by the chair to memorialize the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States expressing the sense of this body and asking that the survey shall be devoted to the purpose for which it was established, viz.: Economical geological work; this memorial to be presented to the two houses of Congress at their next session, through said committee.

SILVER COINAGE.

Whereas, The business and civilization of nations advance and recede as the money in general circulation among the people increases or decreases; and,

Whereas, The experience of the world has established that gold and silver are the only substances that possess the requisite qualities of perfect money; and,

Whereas, The framers of our government, contemplating no other money, established the two to work side by side, making the unit of value the silver dollar, and giving to both metals alike the first essential of money, the full recognition of the government; and,

Whereas, The breaking of that faith with the people which the fathers had established was a violation of every then-existing contract, inasmuch as it increased the burden of the world's indebtedness 30 per cent. by taking from the debtor that much of his ability to pay; and

Whereas, Values rise and fall in exact proportion to the volume of money in general circulation, and

Whereas, By the demonetization of silver the burden laid upon the people by the advancing of gold values, measured by the fall in values of every other product, has become insupportable, now, therefore, the Trans-Mississippi Congress does solemnly

Resolve, That the Congress of the United States are hereby petitioned to repeal all laws which in their effect work dishonor upon, or in the least challenge the sovereignty of the silver dollar as an absolute measure of values, and to restore to the silver dollar the place given it as perfect money given it by the framers of our government.

Resolved, That the only modification of the above which we will accept, is the limiting of the operation of the law to the silver product of the United States, and this we will accept, believing it will be but a change of methods which will reach at once the same desired result.

Resolved, That we petition the president and Congress of the United States to once more attempt to bring around an international recognition and adjustment of silver as money, and, should this effort fail, that a limited agreement be sought with the nations of the Latin Union, for the coinage of silver.

Resolved, That we petition the president and Congress to continue and, if possible, complete negotiations with the Spanish-American nations for a common currency for this continent south of the Doninion.

In justification of the foregoing we urge a few facts, as follows:

The fall of silver, as compared with gold, has not been through the operation of a natural law, but has been due solely to the withdrawal of the confidence of our government, as expressed by the act of demonetization. The fall in silver exactly measures the fall in all other products of labor; that is, the act which demonetized silver inflated gold to an extent which took away all the profits of producers. The result is seen in increasing mortgages, increasing foreclosures of mortgages, in the stoppage of the increase of people in the farming regions and the increasing rush to the cities, in an unparalleled increase of crime, of insanity and poverty, in the concentration of money in the cities and the anxiety to loan it at low rates, because the owners dare not invest money in business; in the discontent among the people; in the closing of avenues to labor; in strikes and lockouts and in the money panic, which, beginning in England a year ago, swept around the world and still continues, because there is not enough gold in the world to make a basis for the world's business. When an article falls in value 33 1/2 per cent. the capacity of the debtor to pay debts in that article is reduced 50 per cent., and when that fact is applied to the world's indebtedness at the time of the demonetization of silver, the extent of the confiscation, without "due process of law," which followed that demonetization, may be estimated.

We repudiate the belief that demonetization would result in the dumping of untold sums in silver upon us, because all the silver in the world, except a few million ounces, is now in actual circulation as money and cannot be obtained except by purchase at a rate equal to a parity with gold.

The real manhood and power of this nation began to assert itself when the gold of California became the lubricating fluid in the journals of the cars of commerce. Because of it values double over all the Eastern states—the values of labor, of the products of the soil and factory, of the soil itself.

When that supply of gold failed it was supplemented by the silver of Nevada. Because of it the stress of the mighty war was borne and the credit of the nation preserved, and the progress of the nation continued in glorious flow. Railroads stretched across the country, and the frontier melted away. The labor which has been perpetuated in gold and silver money bent and touched and electrified the wrecked South land, awakening there the hum of new industries and kindling in the sorrowing hearts of that people hopes sweeter than they had nursed even in the old prosperous days, and there was no check in the onward, superb career of the republic until the fatal day when the government of the United States, through a sinister statute, withdrew its confidence from the treasure which the great God had placed in our hills and within the blasted breast of the desert as a means to work out the perfect prosperity and full civilization of our people. In conclusion, we of the south and west, salute our brothers in the East and tell them that, however, selfish we may be, we at least have the intelligence to believe that what would be of evil for one portion of this country would be of evil for all; that we believe the measure proposed above would, as a law, be as much more to their benefit than to ours, as what they produce exceed in value what we produce, and that while we appreciate their abilities and accomplishments, we still believe that on this theme, from our mountain tops we look out upon a broader national horizon than do they.

M. Mammoth, bookkeeper at Mandel Bros & Co., and Pedro and Juan Sandoval, who quietly left the city a few weeks ago ostensibly to recreate in the James mountains, but in reality to look up an old abandoned Spanish mine in the Gallinas mountains, about 100 miles south of the city, returned last night. Among the papers of the father of the Sandoval boys, now deceased, was recently found a deed to a mine in the Gallinas mountains, giving a description of it and its exact location. The old mine was readily discovered and the gentlemen did assessment work on it for the present year. They believe that they have struck a rich mine, and as soon as certain arrangements are perfected, they intend to start active developments. Mr. Mammoth brought back with him a complete skull of some person—he believes of an Aztec—which they dug up from under a wall adjoining the old church of the Gran Quivera ruins, which they visited.—Alb. Citizen.

A goblet of hot water taken just after rising, before breakfast, has cured thousands of indigestion, and no simple remedy is more widely recommended by physicians to dyspeptics.

It is now stated that fully four thousand people have been damaged by the flood between El Paso and Albuquerque. Many of them have lost all they possessed. The Rio Grande valley is in a pitiable condition, and it is feared the end is not yet.

The summer double number of the Youth's Companion has just reached us. With its more than a score of illustrations on its sixteen pages, it presents a marked contrast to the little four pages, published by Nathaniel Willis, which we were glad to receive in days of yore. Though the number of juvenile publications now is legion, this old favorite still leads them all.

DIED.--Monday, June 1st, at 7.30 a. m. Thomas W. Corey, aged 46 years and 9 months.

The deceased was born in Woodstock, Conn. He served with credit in the late war, and afterwards lived for some years at Centre Point, Iowa, and went from there to Fredonia, Kansas. He came to White Oaks, three years ago, where he was soon joined by his widowed mother, who shared his home until it was made desolate by his death. He was a devoted son, a good citizen, and had many warm friends here. The funeral, Tuesday, which was largely attended, was conducted by the Masons, Mr. Corey having belonged to that Order. The body was followed to its last resting place by the members of the G. A. R. to which the deceased also had belonged.

By private letters to H. M. Belomy came the news of the death by suicide at Malero of Mr. Malore, an old resident of New Mexico, whose home was on a ranch about 10 miles from Tularosa. His left eye had been removed in a vain attempt to obtain relief from a cancer, and on the disease reappearing, his physicians informed him that his case was hopeless. Unable, it is supposed, to endure the protracted agony, he shot himself in the head with a revolver, and thus found a relief from his suffering.

A new lot of drugs and fancy goods has just been received at Dr. Paden's Drug Store. He keeps a larger and more complete stock of goods in his line than is to be found in any other store in town.

We still have a full assorted stock of Lawns and white goods, also, a full line of French and domestic Sateens, which we will sell at very low prices. G. Z. & Co.

Dr. Bearup is still in town plugging and extracting old molars and incisors, or replacing the old masticators with others as good as new and twice as natural.

E. R. Bonnell has rented the house above Pearman's to Emil Ozanne, for a workshop.

California Extracted Honey, in bulk. Stewart of White Oaks.

Mr. Slack is making blackboards for the Park schoolhouse.

A novelty in White Oaks, is a white peony in Mrs. J. A. Brown's garden.

Silk Umbrellas and Parasols we are selling at greatly reduced prices this season. Come and see them. G. Z. & Co's.

Freight wagons from Carthage have been numerous on our streets this week. Another lot of dry goods has been received at Goodman Zeigler's; hardware at Pearmans; and groceries at Brown & Uebriek's; Young & Taliaferro's; Stewart's Weeds and Ridgeway's.

Memorial services, Saturday evening, at the Congregational church, were well attended, the house being crowded. The exercises which were planned and conducted by Mrs. Lee Rudisille, assisted by other ladies of the W. R. C., began with a march of small children wearing the national colors, each representing a State or Territory of the Union and carrying flags and flowers. After reciting a few appropriate lines, each one placed a wreath or bouquet on a monument on the platform. Several recitations by the older children followed, and while all were well performed, that of "Barbara Fretchie," by Elwood Heman, was especially well rendered.

The music, which proved to be all that was promised, was furnished by Mrs. E. W. Parker, at the organ, and the Moore brothers with violins. "Marching through Georgia," "America," "The Red, White and Blue," and other patriotic pieces were sung, and the evening was over.

Whereas, on the first day of June, A. Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered that an election be held in the various precincts in Lincoln County, on the 22d day of July, A. HEED THE WARNING

It is not infrequently the case that itching pimples and irritating "cat boils" are the forerunners of larger boils, or the more serious carbuncles. Invariably Nature puts out her danger signals, and they should be heeded at once. The pimples and little boils show that the blood is not in a good condition and nature is trying to relieve the system. A few doses of Swift's Specific at this juncture will accomplish wonders. The eruption will be healed and the system cleansed of its impurities. The modern paraphrase of the old saying, "A stitch in time," etc, is that "Timely stitches will save nine pair of breeches." The modern form has a touch of humor that does modify the truth of it. In that vein, we may say that a course of Swift's Specific prevents illis terrific.

Mr. Lee: "Why, Addie, you needn't cry about it! I only said Mrs. Allen was a very well-informed woman, and I wished you would follow her example."
 Mrs. Lee: "Yes, and last week you said you wished I could manage to look as stylish as Mrs. Allen,—and she makes all her own clothes. But she has what I haven't."
 Mr. Lee: "What is that?"
 Mrs. Lee: "What she gets all of her information from the Magazine they take. I admit that she knows all that is going on, and is bright and entertaining in conversation, but I could do as well as she does if I had the same source of information. She lent me the last number of her Magazine lately, and I learned more in one hour's reading, about various social matters and the topics of the day, than I would pick up in a month by my occasional chats with friends. It certainly covers every topic of interest, from the news of the day down to the details of housekeeping; and everything is so beautifully illustrated, too. Every time Annie goes over to the Allens' she comes back and tells me to get you to take Demorest's Family Magazine, as the stories are so good. Even the boys watch for it every month, as a place is found for them also in its pages; and Mr. Allen swears by it. It is really wonderful how it suits every member of the family!"
 Mr. Lee: "Well, perhaps I had better send for a Specimen Copy; for, if it is anything like what you say it is, it will amuse and instruct the whole of us."
 Mrs. Lee: "I see that W. Jennings Demorest, the publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York, is offering to send a Specimen Copy for 1 cent, so we can't lose anything, as each number contains a 'Pattern Or' or' entitling the holder to any Pattern she may choose, and in any size—which alone makes each copy worth 20 cents; and I just want a jacket pattern like Mrs. Allen's. The subscription price is only $2.00 a year; and I must say I can't see how they can publish so elegant a Magazine for so little money."

$300 REWARD FOR ORE THIEVES!

The common experience of this camp shows that much is lost by the mine operators by the stealing of gold specimens, if not in a small amount but in a large one. Therefore the "Old Abe" Co. offers a standing reward of Three Hundred Dollars for the arrest and conviction, or for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of stealing any of the property of the Old Abe Co.; even the smallest specimen of ore. The rule of this company is to mill all specimens. Therefore none of the ore from this mine can be honestly held as specimens. And as the receiver, with guilty knowledge, is as guilty in law as the thief, this offer applies to the holders of Old Abe specimens.

CAM LIFE.

HERE'S THE "SLICKER."

The one thing you'll always find in every cowboy's outfit when he goes on the spring round-up is a "Fish Brand" Pommel Slicker. They make the only perfect saddle coat, and come either black or yellow. They protect the whole front of the rider's body, being made to fit round the outside of the saddle entire. When used as a walking coat, the extension pieces neatly overlap each other, making a regular overcoat with a double storm-proof front. When riding, the saddle is dry as a bone, from pommel to cantle, and the rider is entirely protected in every part of his body. These "Slickers," being of extra width, make fine blankets for camp. Beware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Particulars and illustrated catalogue free.

SAVE MONEY AND SUFFERING.

One feature of the thousands of testimonials that have been given in behalf of S. S. S. is remarkable. In numbers of instances it is related that a great deal of time and money have been spent in a vain effort to secure relief from disease in the usual way. A knowledge of the virtues of Swift's Specific would have saved the time and the money, to say nothing of the prevention of the suffering. There need be no such mistakes made now. The great blood purifier is for sale by druggists everywhere, and the S. S. S. company in Atlanta will send to any address their Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases free, and a pamphlet containing a few of the thousands of testimonials they have received from those who have experienced the benefits of this wonderful medicine.
