NEW MEXICO'S GOVERNOR.

Imposing Ceremonies Connected With His Inauguration.

Special to Denver Republican.

SANTA FE, N. M., April 17 .- The reception accorded Governor L. Bradford Prince to-day was imposing and cordial in the extreme. When he alighted from the train that brought him home from Wash ington at noon, he was greeted by a salute from the guns at Fort Marcy, and 5,000 citizens, representing every section of the Territory, cheered him.

An executive committee, composed of Colonel Matt Frost, W. M. Berger, Hon. R. E. Twitchell and C. H. Gregg, had made ample arrangements for the reception, which were carried out amid great enthusiasm.

From the depot the Governor was escorted to the handsome new Capitol, and there the inauguration ceremonies were held, at the conclusion of which the procession escorted the Governor through the principle streets to his home.

The occasion was generally observed as a holiday. The street decorations were elaborate.

The procession was led by the Tenth United States Infantry band followed by a battalion of the Tenth Infantry, distinguished citizens in carriages, the G. A. R., the fire department and a number of local societies. A band of Pueblo Indians, gaily bedecked marched in the throng, carrying a huge American flag. Apached boys and girls from the two Indian industrial schools and a long division made up of children from the public schools, the university and the kindergarten also helped swell the Ex-Governor S. B. Axtell delivered the address of welcome.

In his response and inauguration address Governor Prince said.

"For over 290 years the Governors of this "For over 290 years the Governors of this Territory, Spanish, Mexican and American, have lived in this beautiful city of Santa Fe, but during less than ten years of that long period has the office been held by an actual resident of the Territory. To-day 'home rule' is the established policy of the National administration and this is but the National administration and this is but the forerunner of the happier era of self-rule as a State. Our resources are the greatest in the whole land. We have the cattle upon a thousand hills, the sheep whiten the vast plains, wheat fields abound which would amaze the farmers of Minnesota or Dakota and our orchards and vineyards are unsurpassed. We have the gold and silver, the copper and the lead and the iron and the copper and the lead, and the iron and the inexhaustible fields of coal, which alone would insure our prosperity. Truly it is a land flowing with milk and honey. It is for us to develop these resources. Onward is the watchword. We must have universal education and intelligence. We must en-courage enterprises and invite new capital. In short we must have progress in all di-rections. A new era dawns upon us. The day of territorial infancy is about over and the fruition of full-grown manhood is at hand. Let us see that we are worthy of the high destiny before us."

To-night a social reception in honor of Governor Prince is in progress at the Pal-His appointment gives almost universal satisfaction.

THE SOUTHERN QUESTION.

Opinions of Prominent Men in the South on the Subject.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 18.—The Inquirer will publish to-morrow interviews which it has collected with prominent politicians of southern States in answer to the questions: ."What is the Southern question, and "How should it be met to produce the greatest good to the South?" The responses nearly all voice the same sentiment that the race question is the great one to be solved, and that the South should be allowed to manage her own affairs without interference.

Among the most prominent gentlemen from whom replies were received are Governor Richardson of South Carolina, Governor Lee of Virginia, Governor Buckner of Kentucky, the Attorney General of Mississippi and Lieutenant Governor Mauldin of South Carolina.

The tenor of their replies is contained mainly in that of Governor Richardson, who says:

"The Southern question is the race problem-Shall the African or the Caucasian predominate? The solution is in a strict avoidance by the government of any distinctively Southern policy and leaving to those States themselves the management of their own domestic affairs."

Governor Buckner of Kentucky protests that there is no Southern question. Such unpatriotic sectional agitation, whether originating in the North or the South, should not be encouraged, and the injury resulting from such agitation would be reduced to a minimum if the people of each State would continue to attend to their own affairs and unite in supporting the General Government in its just exercise of all its legitimate powers. Attorney General Miller of Mississippi says the contrast between negro and whitegovernments has been so decidedly in favor of the latter that white people are determined there shall be no return to the for mer. Indeed, a military despotism would be preferred. When interest and judgment, instead of passion and prejudice, shall control the Southern negro, then the whole question will be solved Lieutenant Governor Mauldin of South Carolina says that the Federal Covern-ment can help the South by appointing to the offices men of character and capacity, by dealing generously in the matter of in ternal improvements and by refunding cotton tax. In other words, says he, let the South alone.

THE IRRIGATION PROBLEM.

Some Facts Brought Out by the Recent Visit of Congressman

Hon. Roswell P. Flower, of New York, is now visiting the West for the purpose of acquainting himself with its needs and especially with the subject of irrigation reservoirs. He was given a reception by the Denver Chamber of Commerce the other day and from the Denver News we take the following interesting extracts:

Congressman Flower was greeted with loud applause upon rising. He said that he thanked the Real Estate Exchange and Chamber of Commerce for the courtesies which they had so kindly extended to him, which they had so kindly extended to him, and said that he much enjoyed his visit. He continued: "I am much struck with your growth. Here, away up among the angels, I am losing my voice. I will soon be in danger of putting on wings, like your real estate men.

"The most wonderful thing I have seen is that great peak of Pike's. It is mighty hard to get past it, but I find that it can be seen better from Denver. It is to Colorado as Mecca to Moslem and Jerusalem to the Jew. Your scenery is suberb beyond belief. Mexico nor Switzerland can cqual the Marshal Pass. Denver is over 600 miles away from any competition and must grow. Denver must go to 500,000 to 700,000 people. It has room to grow. Hel-700,000 people. It has room to grow. Helena, Montana, will be another entrepot. I say to you and to the young men growing up, do not take too big a hold, but when you do hang on. Real estate cannot go down here. The future will bring more than 500,000 and none need fear. This is a wonderful State of a wonderful country. In 1870 there was not a mile of railway in the State, and to-day there is not a State in all the broad land which has resources approaching Colorado. The agricultural resources are just beginning to be known. In California the rush was all for gold, nothing else was thought of, but soon

In California the rush was all for gold, nothing else was thought of, but soon other matters came to the front, and today her wheat crop is worth $40,000.000. The time will come when your grain products must equal your gold and silver products. Other things will help to fill your State. The best medical authorities are agreed that Colorado is the one spot in all the wide world where consumption can be cured and to it. where consumption can be cured and to it and other places they will come in thousands. We like to see the whole West blossom as the rose. When I was here before sliver was the burning question. It has been said that an unlimited production of silver and its government coinage would work ruin upon the country. Judging from the past we in the East would like to have a little more ruin. You and I may differ as to the policy of making the silver dollar large, but common sense says that a double form will pull more than a single borse. team will pull more than a single horse. Subterfuges cannot deceive the business men of this country.

"If there is a way to save the water which there is a way to save the water which is the same of the same o comes down in winter in torrents and is lost, the energetic and go-ahead business men of Colorado will find the way and the best way to do it. I want to hear your idea about this, and that is why I am here. In Mexico they have done it for 300 years. There are on file consular maps showing the enormous irrigating works which have been constructed in France, Spain, Egypt and in fact in most of the countries of the world. This great chain of mountains from Mexico to the Canadian border will some day be the fountain of other wealth than that of their vast mines. this your duty to get up plans showing what you want. I don't say that the general government will give you what you want or that it will not.

"I want to get from you bright business men of Colorado a statement of your views —something for me to think over and di-gest when I get back home—something upon which I will be able to work, knowing wants of the people of this region."

H. B. Chamberlin said that Judge Symes

had kindly consented to act as spokesman of the two bodies in conveying to Mr. Flower that which they thought was most desirable to be done for the benefit of the Rocky Mountain region.

JUDGE SYMES' REPLY.

Judge Symes said that he had much pleasure in being present this afternoon, especially as much that he intended to do in Congress had been prevented by ill-health. He complimented Mr. Flower, and grid that Danyon may congruid to itself said that Denver may congratulate itself upon such a man having thought proper to so far interest himself in the question as to take the trouble to come out here for the purpose of making a personal investigation. He continued:

"The great difficulty which meets those "The great difficulty which meets those who are working to secure action upon this matter is that Eastern statesmen are largely ignorant of its importance, of the tremendous interests which are involved. When the $250,000 appropriation passed the Senate last July it was to some extent scoffed at by gentlemen who, if they were better informed or even partly informed of its vast bearing upon the future of the country, would be willing to vote millions where it took continued pushing to obtain a few hundreds of thousands. Therefore we few hundreds of thousands. Therefore we should be pleased that Mr. Flower is among us to-day. Others will follow and the movement will grow until Congress will be made thoroughly conversant with the pressing necessity. In the United States of America, outside of Alaska, four-tenths of the whole country is an arid region. Over 500,000,000 of acres are contained in this so-called arid portion. Major Powell reported over ten years ago that 100,000,000 cres of the land can be brought under cultivation by a proper system of storage reservoirs. That land in its arid condition is worth almost nothing. Most of it belongs to the government, and by a system of irrigation they can increase the value of the land'so that settlers will gladly buy it at $2 or $3 an acre or more. On such a vast body even that small sum will amount in he aggregate to quite enough to be a prof-

the aggregate to dute though to a profitable speculation for the government.

"Irrigation would add to the national wealth over $5,000,000,000. We are staggered by the magnitude of the idea. In Colorado there are 10,000,000 acres of land —and in stating that figure I am careful to be exact—which can be added to the cultivatable portion of the State. Mr. Flower has seen that the water of the streams is has seen that the water of the streams is nearly all appropriated by those along their banks, shutting out large areas. In Colorado the law is very different from in the East, and right of previous appropriation of water exists. All through the history of the world the value of irrigation is shown to be enormous. Millious of dolars spent by different counties of the world have proved to be far the most profitable investment which was ever made by them. When the question was before the House it was objected that was before the House it was objected that it was sought to draw the government into a great and endless scheme of expenditure, absorbing immense sums and which could never be brought to a close like other in-ternal improvements. That is not the case. The proposition was that the government marked that fact.

would appropriate the sums asked to enable the government surveyors to select sites suitable for reservoirs which would add hundreds of millions to the value of that portion of the land which is still in their hands. We only asked the government to help itself—that it should improve its pro-perty for the benefit of itself and the teem-ing millions who will, in years to come, populate the large extent of country proposed to be benefitted.

"Something like $500,000,000 has been ap propriated during the past fifty years for river and narbor and other improvements of public importance, and when we ask a few hundred thousands for the water purpose, it is said to us that we are trying to draw the country into wild and unending chemes. "By a natural site for a reservoir I mean where a small expenditure will do a great amount of good. There are many sink holes provided by nature which may be utilized. The work of the topographical survey has been carried on in most parts of the country and shows upon correct maps the vast number of resources, mineral and other, of the old North and of the new South. Major Powell says that the small portion of the topographical work which has been done in the Rockies shows large bodies of mineral wealth.

"We squeezed out a small appropriation after a long struggle. Powell made a survey down in New Mexico on the Jemez river out of that money which showed that 150,000 acres of land there could be brought under water, and the cost of that survey was not more than $25,000. The Indians on the Jemez river were using irrigation 300 years ago and the practice has been continued ever since, but at no time has more than 3,000 acres been cultivated. Now it is shown that by spending a small sum 150,000 acres of splendid land will be brought into use.

"Now, Mr. Flower, snow melts on our mountains in the spring and rushes away in a thousand streams without doing that which it might do. Colorado has to-day a system of irrigation laws which are excel-lent so far as they go, and are studied and copied in many of the countries of Europe.

"That little example about the Jemez river shows what can be done to-day to hundreds and hundreds of rivers. "In 1878, crossing the range I saw a bank of snow 50 feet high melting away and running to waste at the head of the Rio Grande. That is the way it is all through the mountains and it is to save this precious water and stop this waste that we are now striving. No money will do so much for the good of the many as this which for the good of the many as this which Congress is asked to give to establish a great system of irrigation. When it is shown where and how 10,000,000 acres can be brought under irrigation in Colorado, I may safely say that I can guarantee on behalf of the citizens of Colorado that they will take off the hands of the Government. will take off the hands of the Governmen the further prosecution of the work, and will carry it on themselves. When the sites are selected Colorado will willingly take over the whole work, run it and pay all expenses, and return to the govern-ment what little money it will cost for the surveys." Long applause followed the conclusion of Judge Symes' address.

TELEGRAPH POLES CUT.

All Wires in New York Must Be Put Under Ground.

NEW YORK, April 16. The department of public works to-day proceeded to remove the overhead telegraph, telephone and electric light wires, to force compliance with the law requiring them to be laid underground.

About 10 o'clock Mayor Grant's secretary received a certified copy of Judge Wallace's order dissolving the injunction procured by the Western Union Telegraph Company against the Mayor and board of electrical control. The order was sent to the department of public works. Before 11 o'clock the Poles at Fourteenth Street and Union Square were being cut down. Hundreds of people gathered to witness the novel sight. Two gangs, one on each side of the street, attacked the poles. Another company of strong armed woodchoppers made an attack on the poles on Sixth Avenue near Twenty-third Street.

The mayor has sent to the commissioner of public works a letter notifying him of the poles and wires that were to come down. They were as follows: On Sixth Avenue from Twenty-third Street to Fiftyeighth Street, except the Western Union wire of the elevated railroad structure; on Broadway from Fourteenth Street to Fortyfifth Street, except the fire department line; on Twenty-third Street, from Sixth Avenue to Broadway; on Twenty-fifth Street from Sixth Avenue to Broadway. and on Twenty-second Avenue from Sixth Avenue to Madison Avenue. The work of cutting down the telegraph poles was continued until nightfall and will be resumed again early to-mororw morning. The only poles left standing by the workmen were those which hold the department wires. These will all be removed by that department this week. The electric light, telegraph and telephone people are helpless and say that they can only grin and bear it.

Madison and Union squares, usually after nightfall the brightest and gayest lo cality in the city, were to-night in gloom. Within the squares there was no flicker of light and the tramps upon the park benches were less frequently disturbed in their slumber. Young people filled the settees and there were excursions by citizens from different parts of the city, curious to behold the results of the first day's work of axes among the wire poles. The only illumination to these great plazzas was from lamps in the side streets, where the circuits had not been cut off. Gas jets flickered along the trail of the road in Broadway, but in the cross streets, where the poles had been cut, there was absolute darkness early in the night, so that in Fourteenth, Twenty-third and Forty-second Streets, pedestrians picked their way, lighted only by the diffused glare in the sky against which the housetops broke dark and jagged lines. Fifth Avenue was as dark as a country street, and few people were astir upon it late at night. When the moon rose the dark streets were lighted and many, who in the electric light seldom know if the moon is shining, to-night re-

TREE CULTURE ON THE PLAINS.

By B. E. Fernow, Chief of Foresty Division.

There is no better proof of the pudding than the eating. While people are debating what could and what could not be done some curious men will answer the question by trying.

While some people contend that we cannot plant trees in the so-called arid regions without irrigation, others have done it. I am not familiar with the locality from which I have the following report, but believe that the section from which it comes has the reputation of belonging to the district where irrigation for tree growth is considered a necessity.

Says Mr. Charles Green of LeRoy, Colo. "I am located thirty-five miles north of the north line of Kansas and about fifty miles west of the east line of Colorado on the table lands, fifteen miles south of the South Platte.

"I have planted in the spring of 1887, catalpa speciosa, Russian mulberry, white ash, soft maple and white willow cuttings, all without irrigation; in new, unrotted sod. The losses during the first two seasons up to September 1, 1888, were as fol-

Out of 144 catalpas, 18 were dead; of 60 maples, one-half succumbed the first sea. son, but of the 30 left not more than 2 died the second summer; of the 12 mulberries only one was killed.

The growth was very small except of the willow cuttings, one of which making only a few inches the first season, but two feet the second season. Box elder seed planted last February, very thick, did well, making a growth of one to two feet, many nearly two feet. Ash has not done so well. Some of my neighbors have tried black locust, which, in dry, gravelly soil, made a fine growth. Black walnut seems to stand the climate well, but grows slowly.

What may be learned from this report is this: The kinds of timber tried, with the exception of ash (which is not fit for uplands), can be started in the region referred The Cimarron River is on a boom to without irrigation. The losses occurred and the Oklahoma boomers on the north not from an inherent incapacity of the species to live under the local conditions, but from an oversight or carelessness in handling the material.

It is not safe to generalize from this success in the first two seasons upon the further progress of the plantation, unless re gard has been had for the future in the first plan of planting. Such regard conspecies, namely one of the kinds, which retains a dense foliage underneath a less densely foliaged one; such a combination would be the locust mixed with the shadier mulberry or box elder; the soft maple with Fe, New Mexico, to A. Only by such combination can we expect that our plantations will progress satisfactorily through many seasons, the one kind supporting and aiding the othor in maintaining favorable conditions -a shaded ground, which prevents evapora-

"In union there is strength!"

I should propose the following method of planting for the region in question, which I know is not orthodox, but yet having been advocated by me three or four years ago has been tried with success in Western Nebraska.

Break the sod and harrow it fine with a disk harrow in spring as soon as the soil is workable. Plant trees at once in trenches four feet apart, leaving the rest of the soil undisturbed. In this manner you avoid drying out the soil, into which the plants are set, providing a mulch by the harrowed sod, avoiding the growth of weeds during the first season at least, and catching the falling rains in the trenches where it is most needed. Do not cultivate between the rows unless absolutely necessary.

I should add to the desirable kinds to be tried in the region, and one that is a good shader and rapid grower, the wild black cherry (Prunus serotina). B. E. FERNOW,

This morning shortly after the bank was opened, a medium sized man with light, sandy hair and moustache and wearing a cowboy suit, sombrero, chaps and canvas coat. nresented a check for payment to Mr. Smith, who was alone. The check was written with pale ink and Mr. Smith bent his head down to examine it closely. When he looked up to tell the man the check was not good he looked into the muzzle of a six shooter held within a few inches of his

The cowboy said very calmly: "Mr Smith, I'll trouble you for the funds of this bank." Although a Winchester rifle was almost at Mr. Smith's elbow, there was nothing for him to do but hand out the cash. He mounted and rode away.

THOUSANDS OF SEALS.

The Gulf of St. Lawrence the Scene o a Remarkable Occurrence.

MONTREAL, April 15.-Dispatches from the Lower St. Lawrence and the gulf tell of the most remarkable event that has ever occurred in these localities. From the upper end of the Anticosti Island to the Magdalen Island, a driving, blinding snow storm began on Tuesday and on the night of the same day great floes of ice began to come down from the St. Lawrence and the Saguenay. The few people along the north and south shores and on Anticosti, who were astir Wednesday morning witnessed a sight that startled them. As far us tho eye could see up, down and across the gulf the floes, still moving, were packed with harp or Greenland seals. The ice was fairly black with them. It was impossible to hunt them in the moving ice, but during the afternoon the snow storm ceased and the ice packed. Then everybody, old women, boys, girls, old men, priests and farmers from miles around armed themselves with clubs, hatch ets or any other weapon they could get hold of and went on the ice after the seals. It was a fearful slaughter and the poor animals seemed so dazed by the sudden attack that they were absolutely incapable of making their escape. A knock on the head was "Ricient to settle them and before night every person that could walk had his or her pile of dead seal awaiting transfer to the shore, from Cape Derosiers and Lauseau

Griffin to Fourillon. In Gaspe there were over 4,000 killed, and one priest had 300 to his credit. Along the north shore, from Cape Tiennot to the Mingan Isles, there were 3,000 taken and in the Esquimaux Isles the slaughter was fearful. On Anticosti the greatest number were taken at Point Aniepinetti, where the shores are still heaped with the carcasses awaiting skinning and boiling down. The son of the lighthouse keeper at Point Cormorant killed 450 seals, and lost 100 of them because he could not get them ashore before night set in, when it became dangerous to go on the ice. In the Magdalen Islands and on the bird rocks the killing amounted to 7,000 up to Friday morning, and it was still going on.

At Havre au Basque the inhabitants continued their work at night, the floes covered with seals drifting in the horseshoe like harbor and remaining there. At Grinshue the wonderful incursion of seals was a God-send to people who have carned enough within a few days to keep them a year. In the Bird rocks the carcases are oiled up like so many bags of potatoes, and the people are opulent in their richness. There must have been at least 500,000 seen altogether and the total number killed during three days will reach over 150,000. They are not the fur scal of Alaska, but are valuable for their oil and their hides are used for boots, trunk covers, etc. They are worth here $3 each and the fat is worth S5 per 100 weight. Fishermen have been sent from Quebec to the gulf and an enormous number of seals are expected to be killed. Never in the history of the gulf have so many been seen at one time and the more ignorant are offering up masses as thanks for the God-send.

Arizona Dissatisfied. ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 15 .-

The call by the new Governor of Arizona for a special session of the Legislature has created dissatisfaction among the people of that Territory. Governor Wolfley's first veto of a bill passed in extra session, providing for the creating of a new county, has been the main cause of much unfavorable comment, citizens of Flagstaff going so far as to burn the executive in effigy. Much interest is felt in W. H. Whiteman and the people are decidedly in favor of his receiving a recess appointment, claiming that the men about the capital in this Ter ritory who are against him are of such character their opposition should be their highest recommendation for Mr. White man. A strong opposition to the appoint. ment of J. A. Spradling to be receiver of public moneys exists mainly from the fact that Mr. Spradling is a partner of Max Frost, and that in the event of Spradling being favored Frost will have much to say as to how the office should be run. Sour Grapes.

The editor of the Las Vegas Optic appears to have a bean of bitter bile burning beneath his bosom button. He does country. It seems to gall the gentleman that the Pecos valley is becoming popular throughout the country as a rich and productive district, while the starvation peaks surrounding the hill and hollow town of Las Vegas, is left quietly alone

In one thing you are correct. You say: "What with the opening up of the in the world, and now we publish the Pecos valley to a first class system of ir. figures that repeat the assertion in the rigation and the consequent early settlement of that country * * there can be no question of the permanent prosperity and growth of Las Vegas." We the United States to-day. demur as to the question of growth, but agree with you that the Pecos valley will materially aid your town. We cite one instance where you have already been benefited by us, that is by the employment of 100 of your idle men to work on your idlers to earn an honest dollar in antone. The sea was calm and beauti town. When we get a railroad through the south, freight from Las Vegas will space. drop entirely, and the channel of our commerce will be through another direction. We will wager you will see in present systems of irrigation, the biggest bonanza, the most rapid and permanent development of any country in the west. There is a large ditching outfit from Pecos gone up to work on the great irrigating ditches in New Mexico as well as from various parts of Texas. This gigantic enterprise is now under full headway and no one can comprehend the great wealth it will develop for this country.--El Paso Tribune.

New Mexico led all the territories last year in the amount of public lands sold to settlers. This territory is making a rapid growth.—New Mexican.

THE FIRST NEW MEXICO RESER-

VOIR SURVEY COMPLETE.

Figures Showing the Capacity of the System.

Mr. L. M. Long, chief engineer of the Reservoir company, has completed the survey of the three reservoirs and canal leading from the distributing reservoir through the land they propose to irrigate. The work is laid out in detail on an elegant map, drawn by Mr. Scott Truxton, which is a marvel of neatness and exactness in map drawing. Until now we have not been able to give any figures for the assertions we have made in regard to this enterprise, but by the kindness of Mr. Long we are now enabled to

There are three reservoirs, two storage and one distributing. The area of the storage reservoirs is 51/2 square miles or 3,520 acres, and its capacity is 4,371,463,-218 cubic feet of water. The area of the distributing, 3.24 square miles or 2,074 acres, with a water capacity of 1,670,990,-904 cubic feet, making a grand total capacity of 6,042,454,122 cubic feet. Now when we come to figure in billions the average person has little or no conception of the quantity, we can by comparison have a much better idea of it.

The main average daily consumption for the city of Chicago for all purposes between the years 1872-1874 inclusive was 28,750,000 gallons, that would be 10. 493,750,000 gallons each year for the period. The reservoir would supply Chicago at that rate for 4 years, 3 months and 22 days. It would also supply the cities of Chicago, Cincinnati and Brooklyn for 1 year, 10 months and 22 days, this estimate includes the water used for all purposes in these cities, domestic, street, manufacturing, etc. Another comparison may be more comprehensive. If the contents of the reservoirs was distributed over 100,000 acres or 156 square miles of land, it would cover it to the depth of 161/2 inches. That will be water supply enough to irrigate 100,000 acres for two years. This gives us a practical idea of the amount of water to be stored for irrigation purposes not know exactly how to "size up" this within 20 miles of our city, and the land which is to be irrigated almost joins the town site.

What a glorious prospect. It is an absolute certainty for the farmer who locates under it, there can be no danger from drouth or temporary stopping of with her own resources-wind. He says: the river. Every snow upon the mountain side is finally deposited at the pleasstructed in Lincoln county may not ure of the farmer on the rich land in our and parties concerned, if the companies supply for the same purpose, and before fix their water rates at five dollars an another snow falls on the White Moun-

We do not know where you get your It is in regard to the sediment from the and if it did it would last long enough and generation have any interest in the concern. We said some time ago it would be the largest Reservoir System most emphatic way. The Pecos valley with its irrigation enterprises has the brightest prospects of any country in

We arrived in in Bremen about 10 o'clock Tuesday, and stayed until 4 p. m. There we visited the Rathskeller, a the Pecos valley on the completion of the place or rather a wine cellar built in 1500. and noted for its old wines. There you can see wine stored since 1638, and from there on for every year. The oldest wine is quite expensive and valued very highly, as the following figures will show: For one bottle the modest figure of 18 million marks, for one glass, 31/2 million. for one drop 2360 marks. I wanted two for one drop 2360 marks. I wanted two dozen bottles to send to Roswell friends, but the price was a little to steep. After leaving the Rathskeller I went to a bank to get a draft cashed, but found that institution closed, and after inquiring learned that banks were all closed from 12 to 4 p. m., that being the dinner hours. We left Bremen at 4 p. m. for Hanover where we remained over night. This is a beautiful city, and an American feels considerably encouraged seeing this city after leaving the dull town of Bremen. Being anxious to reach home I did not stop long, nor stay over in any other city, but came through from Hanover, and now am comfortably settled among relatives and friends in this little village called Zwesten. After a few weeks I shall visit all that is worth seeing, and then will let you hear more from me. Until then believe me yours etc.

Communicated.

A fly young man of hereabouts one day last week took two ladies (one of them's belle of our city) to the round-up above town, on the Hondo. They passed the day pleasantly and profitably, materially aiding the boys in their work. They were so interested that they failed to notice the approach of night and clouds. The Diamond A ranch, eight miles distant, was their objective point, and they drove rapidly, having a good and plain road for that place. But somehow they didn't get there. At 10 o'clock they came to the Missouri Plaza on the Hondo, only two miles above their starting point. It seems they had been making the rounds of the hills, presumably looking out for sites for lime kilns. The f. y. m. went down to the water, carefully noted that it was running up stream, and, of course, started off in the wrong direction. After two hours more of aimless wandering they brought up at a Mexican camp, being attracted thereto by hearing cayotes, whom they mistook for dogs. The Mexicans told them they were on the Lincoln and Roswell road and nine miles from the latter place. But our lost party had been fooled too often that night and only laughed at their situation, feeling confident they were fully ten miles further west. The ladies found a pleasant couch of two sheep skins in a covered wagon, with a saddle blanket to shield them from the piercing night aid. Their skillful escort found solace in his Fucson blanket, which he always carries with him. The whole party had frequently traveled the road, but told the Mexicans after daybreak that they would have proof of their statements of the previous night. So one of the campers attended them two miles back on the way, pointing out several prominent land marks. Afterwards their horses took them back to the ranch. Our advice to this party is this: When you go driving again, take a guide.

Immigration Movement.

The board of immigration met the 22d ult. and arranged to send an agent to Oklahoma to represent New Mexico, with the view of inducing disappointed home seekers to locate in our fair country.

Geo. W. Hartman of Las Vegas, was selected as the man to go, and we do not hesitate to say a better choice could not have been made. Roswell and the Pecos valley will not be neglected by Mr. H. who by the way, built the first house ever in this town, and says in a recent letter to the editor of the REGISTER "he has always determined to have a piece of land in the valley." Mr. Hartman is an energetic man and thoroughly understands the value of this valley as an agricultural country. Bring along your Oklahomaites, we will provide them with better land than Oklahoma can boast of.

A revivalist at Tama, Iowa, recently asked all of the congregation who paid their debts to rise. All arose but an editor, who explained that he didn't pay his debts because the rest of the congregation owed him on subscriptions.

The amount of private capital invested in irrigating ditches and reservoirs in New Mexico, not to say anything about government aid in this direction, argues well for the agricultural and horticultural future of the territory.—Optic.

-As an evidence of the building work now going on at Roswell, Capt. Overton has not received—though it is a long time since he advertised for them-a single bid for the construction of the large building he proposes erecting on Main street. We have many contractors and mechanics here, but as they are too busy to take additional contracts we know of no better field for good and skilled mechanics and artisans.

—Capt. Garrett has returned from his trip and is about ready to start part of his force on the upper canal. He is making arrangements to put a large number of teams and men on his work, he will also use the two big graders. We have no doubt but that the Captain will be equal to the task of building the upper canal by the time the contract says it shall be completed. He goes to Kansas City in a few days on business in connection with this work.

-Mr. Fred V. Piontkowsky, chief clerk of the Las Cruces land office, paid our valley a visit last month, spending the latter part of it in the "Pride of the Pecos." He is a very pleasant gentleman and a most efficient office man. We are pleased to note the interest taken in our country, he purchased two lots in the Ovard addition to Roswell. He returned to Las Cruces on Monday last.

-P. F. Garrett, the well-known Lincoln county ranchman, and W.H. Bradbury, a large railway contractor of Colorado, are down from the Pecos valley. Mr. Bradbury has contracted to complete the two large irrigating canals in the above named valley, and which are to be finished on or before January 1, 1890. AN HONEST DOCTOR, finding his patient suffering from that most common of American maladies-Bilious Dyspepsia, or, in other words, from Torpid Liver, associated with indigestion, advised him to go to the drug store and get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery the world-famed remedy for such ailments.

Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing and strengthening them and healing their diseases. As an appetizing restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. It is the only medicine of its class, guaranteed to benefit or cure, in all diseases for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded.

THOSE RICH SOUTHERN LANDS. The Time Has Come for Us to Reap

of Their Great Wealth.

The empire of the future will be a commercial one. The merchant is in this age the pioneer of advancing civilization. Great armies march for him, and the navies of the world train their guns to defend his interests. To be a nation of shopkeepers is no longer a term of reproach. It is, on the contrary, a synonym of honor, an assurance of internal strength. The world recognizes these facts to-day and in no other country on the earth is this sense of commercial energy so prevalent as in our own. New fields of trade are sought for and cultivated with an energy and success that are but the fore-runners of greater and more profitable ventures in the future.

Below us stretch the wide and trade inviting nations of the South American continent and to the rich possibilities of enlarged commercial intercourse with these, our neighbors, this country is fast awakening. The Nicaragua canal, the Panama canal, the establishment of the American Export and Trading Company, the projection of railways and the proposed new lines of stermships to Brazil-all indicate the direction in which many of our most intelligent business men are now turning their attention.

Our English cousins are quick to mark the drift of this business sentiment in this country. Only lately the London Times, referring to projected enterprises like the American Export and Trading Company, said: "No little significance attaches to these beginnings of a movement on the part of the United States for establishng an understanding with the Central and even the South American states, which cannot but give something in the nature of a directive influence to a nature so far surpassing in wealth and power all the others put together. l'hose who love to speculate on manifest destiny and kindred topics may find a good deal that is interesting in the probable relations of the United States to their southern neighbors. Any great expansion or diversion of commerce would immensely accelerate the establishment in some form of American influence and control over regions which at present lie theoretically outside of the sphere of the United States. Such a development must be looked for in any case as the American union approaches more closely by age and consolidation to the condition of the nations of the old world."

The Times is right, and this country recognizes fully the importance of securing to itself the bulk of the great doors. That the national administra- given?" tion soon to come into power will give its aid and steady countenance to a project calculated to bind us and our South American neighbors closer in the bonds of commercial intercourse is, of course, unquestioned, and one of the most encouraging achievements of the new men who are to take charge of the government next month would be the successful opening up of the South American countries to the merchants and manufacturers of our own land. If the new American Export and Trading company, started and sustained by our great merchants, can solve this important problem of commerce, its projectors will deserve well of the people of this country, and the thanks of the nations of South America.—New York

A QUERY.

What "Subscriber" Would Like to Know.

We have recently received a letter from ene of our well-known subscribers upon a subject which we prefer to publish for the perusal of our readers, anticipating that in so doing some one will relieve us of the responsibility of answering "Subscriber's" questions. Here is the letter: "My Dear Editor-For several years past I have been the recipient of several pamphlets issued from time to time by Messrs. H. H. Warner & Co., of Rochester, N.Y., which, in addition to containing an extensive treatise upon kidney disease, its origin, usual symptoms and growth. also includes numerous testimonials from parties whose fac-simile signatures arc attached thereto, attesting the statement that they have been individually relieved by the use of Warner's Safe Cure, which is prepared by the above firm, for the use of persons so afflicted. Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to know if the statements made by those parties who testify to the great good which Warner's Safe Cure has done them, can be relied upon. They seem honest enough from the way they read. 'Warner's Safe Cure saved my life after the doctors had given me up, says John Doherty, 133 N. Main street, Concord, N. H. I was given up to die with Bright's Disease of the kidneys. The doctors said they could do nothing for me. A friend advised me to take Warner's Safe Cure, and my family consider me as given back from the grave,' says Mrs. Carrie A. Fry, of Wathena, Kas. Dr. L. B. Rice, of Hanover C. H., Va., says that Warner's Safe Cure cured him of Bright's Disease.

Each pamphlet which I have received contains a hundred or more testimonials, and the same one does not appear in more than one pamphlet so it seems that there are a good mauy who are being helped by that remedy.

It strikes me that there is a good deal of sense in the claim which those parties make that the doctors are treating too many persons for wrong causes, and that oftentimes, people are treated for consumption, brain, heart and nervous disorders, when they are suffering from kidney, disease which should be treated, as they say, by the use of Warner's Safe Cure and as a result, when disease is first removed therefrom, that which is supposed to be disease in the lungs or other organs will disappear. Many of my neighbors tell me that this remedy has done much good for them-more good than their doctors. If kidney disease is the real cause of so many other diseases why, Mr. Editor, don't the people who are afflicted with sickness, insist upon a more careful inquiry being made in order that the true cause may be astrade that stands thus invitingly at its | certained, and the proper treatment "SUBSCRIBER."

Providence, (R. I.) Telegram. March 26. Mr. Fred. A. Young, treasurer of the Union Eyelet Company of this city purchased for $1 the twentieth part of the ticket No. 2,887 to the Louisiana State Lottery. That ticket at the recent drawing took the $300,000 prize and entitled Mr. Young to one-twentieth of the sum viz., $15,000. The gentleman was credited by the Telc gram with having this stroke of luck about two weeks ago, but a denial appeared in one of the papers. This morning the Telegram learned that the money had been collected for Mr. Young through the Bank of America of this city. At the bank no informa-tion could be obtained, the tellers having apparently been instructed to furnish no facts for publication. At the office of the Eyelet Company a Telegram reporter found Mr. Young and learned that the ticket bought by him through the Boston agency had indeed won the money and that the $15,000 had been collected through the bank named. His object for keeping the news of this great luck from the masses he said, was because he thought that it would stimulate so many others less able than himself to indulge in lottery tickets to invest their dollars. Just why those with less means than himself should not desire $15,000 Mr. Young did not state, but he did sav that he objected to the general public being made aware of his good fortune.
