

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

Five Lives Lost in an Ohio Railroad Collision. CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 17.—At 7:10 this evening, as the Glendale accommodation, bound for Cincinnati, was leaving the station at College Hill junction, the Chicago vestibuled train ran into the rear of the accommodation.

SIERRA SNOWS.

The Greatest Railroad Blockade Ever Known. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 21.—The prospects are that the great snow blockade on the Central Pacific will be cleared to-night or to-morrow. There is now three feet of snow on the ground at Colfax, while at Cisco the country is covered to a depth of fifteen feet on the level, and in drifts the snow is three or four times as deep.

BY TELEGRAPH.

The woods of Maine are full of gray wolves this winter. A Cincinnati man died last week in a fit of sneezing. The Prince and Princess of Wales intend visiting this country next spring. Minneapolis preachers have commenced a crusade on Sunday newspapers.

CONGRESSIONAL.

THURSDAY, JAN. 16. SENATE.—Mr. Hale, from the Census Committee, reported back adversely the bill to regulate the superintendent of the census to ascertain what percentage of the people own their farms, the number of farms under mortgage and the amount thereof.

STRANGE IDEAS.

What a Great Many People Believe About the Moon. Supposed Effects on the Mind and on Many of the Ordinary Affairs of Every-Day Life.—Superstitions as Old as the Human Race. Speculations concerning the nature of the moon, or the extent to which it influences terrestrial phenomena, are not confined to astronomers and other men of science who tell us that it is a dead planet devoid of atmosphere and water, for many unscientific people think it consists entirely of the latter, not to mention others who are inclined to the supposition that chalk or green cheese may enter largely into its composition, says the London Graphic.

THE AFRO-AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Resolutions Setting Forth its Objects.—Officers Elected. CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—At the convention of the Afro-American League to-day the committee on resolutions reported the following resolutions, which were adopted: The objects of the league are to protest against taxation without representation. To secure a more equitable distribution of the school funds in those States where separate schools exist.

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—The House committee on reform in the civil service met to-day to hear arguments on the resolution introduced recently by Representative Ewart to investigate charges against the Civil Service Commission, and the bill introduced by Representative Houk, of Tennessee, to repeal the civil service law and regulate and improve, classify and properly apportion the offices and employes of the public service of the States and Territories.

MONDAY, JAN. 20.

SENATE.—Among the petitions presented and referred were the following: From the American Federation of Labor in favor of a service pension to all surviving soldiers of the late war; for the repeal of the limitation on arrears of pensions; for free coinage of silver; for a law to prohibit speculations in grain and other farm products.

TUESDAY, JAN. 21.

SENATE.—The bill adversely reported on January 16, from the Census Committee, to ascertain what percentage of the people own their farms, the number of farms under mortgage and the amount thereof, was taken up in order to give Mr. Berry, who introduced the bill, an opportunity to state the grounds of his opposition to the report and why the bill should be passed.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 22.

SENATE.—The bill adversely reported on January 16, from the Census Committee, to ascertain what percentage of the people own their farms, the number of farms under mortgage and the amount thereof, was taken up in order to give Mr. Berry, who introduced the bill, an opportunity to state the grounds of his opposition to the report and why the bill should be passed.

New York Evening Sun. They were legislating for one of South Norwalk's most prosperous churches. Two of the members had late business engagements in the city, and Deacon Smith's shop on the main street, near the station, had been chosen for the meeting this month for the sake of convenience. The deacon was well under way when the outer door was seen to open slightly, and he paused to note the cause of the interruption.

Spent Two Fortunes.

In the Hoffman house last night, says a New York Star man, I met James Johnson, who has been out in Denver superintending a mine. While we were talking a sooty-looking man of stalwart frame came up to him and begged the loan of a dollar. He got it and turned away, when Johnson said to me: "There goes the wreck of two fortunes. That man was at work for us five years ago as a miner, when he got word that a relative had died and left him a fortune of about $100,000. He quit the mine and came east. He spent his money in less than eighteen months and drifted back to Denver, broken down in health and the most most sorry, sallow-looking specimen of humanity you ever saw. He had sown the seeds of consumption, but insisted on going into the mine again and we gave him a piece. Instead of dying, as we expected, he recuperated, became strong again, and in the course of a year was quite a new man. Just about a year ago I was standing by the mine office when he came out to meet a lawyer, whom I knew and who had sent for him. The lawyer's mission was to tell him that he was for a second time an heir—this time to $35,000. 'For heaven's sake,' he exclaimed, 'have I got to go through that again?' It was a queer speech but prophetic. He's broke again, as you see, and wants me to take him back to the mine. I guess I'll have to do it, but was there ever before such a foolish spendthrift?"

His Time Has Come.

The most remarkable specimen of the fatalist which ever came beneath the writer's knowledge, says the Washington Post, was old Uncle Davey Trent, an aged house servant in South Carolina, who had fallen by the vicissitudes of war from the proud position of majah domer to Kunnel Robert Trent, sa'b, to the humble lot of owning himself and choring around the house of Maj. T. Uncle Davey could break crockery. The fragile ware would somehow slip through his trembling black fingers and dash into a hundred fragments on the hard pine floor. "There, Uncle Davey, that makes the fourth plate this month," his mistress complained. "How can you be so careless?" "Uncle Davey an't keerrless, Miss Carrie, Bress yo' hear, Uncle Davey never bruk nuffin' in he life. Dis yer plate time come, dass all. Hit time war come, Plate mus' die; yo' mus' die; Uncle Davey die sometime, 'spos' heaben know when; eberything has ter die. Plant die, chicken die, cow die. Dis yer earf die. Eberything die 'cep' God. Don yo tek on 'bout wan lil' sasser. Uncle Davey nebbur dun bruk it tall. Hit jes' die nat'ral, lak'er Chrischen. Hit gone stret to heaben. Plat got soul, fer sho."

Misplaced Zeal.

"I was once sent to attend a man who had taken laudanum," said a doctor. "I hurried to the place and found the would-be suicide being walked up and down the room as fast as they could walk by two friends of his. As they put him down in a chair for me to treat him one of them remarked: 'lawful glad to see you, doctor; we've been walking Jim up and down for an hour and a half. It's been terrible hard work to keep him alive all this time.' I made a slight examination, took my hat, and started to go, when one of the pedestrians said: 'What's the matter, Doc; an't you going to give him anything?' 'He's been dead for an hour,' I replied, and left."

The French Way.

They executed a murderer in France, the other day and a Paris paper records the fact that "he went to his death without a word." Later on it observes that "certain people had their sympathies aroused because he was deaf and dumb."

Walker Blaine Dead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Walker Blaine, Examiner of Claims of the State Department and older son of Hon. James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, died at the family residence at 8:20 o'clock this evening of acute pneumonia, superinduced by an attack of grippé. He has been ill only a few days, and his death is a sudden and severe shock to the unusually large circle of friends, who were not aware that he was dangerously ill until this morning. He was not feeling well all of last week and on Friday he became much worse and was compelled to take to his bed. The Secretary gave a dinner party on Monday night to a number of people prominent in official society and Walker Blaine was feeling so much better that he sat up for some time chatting with the guests and contracted an additional cold which settled on his lungs and developed into acute pneumonia last night. This morning his condition was so alarming that immediate relatives of the family were hastily summoned home by telegraph. He was delirious most of the day, with an exceedingly high temperature and painfully labored respiration.

Walker Blaine Graduated from Yale College in 1876, and studying law received his diploma from Columbia College, New York, in 1878. In 1881, while Garfield was on his death-bed, he sent for Walker Blaine and appointed him third assistant Secretary of State, saying he appreciated his ability and desired to show it. After serving in this capacity very acceptably for nearly a year he was appointed on the Alabama claims commission, where he served with great credit from 1882 to 1885. On the advent of the present administration he was appointed solicitor of the State department, a position which he has always filled with great credit and capability.

Jumping Onto England.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The western nations of Europe have at last one object upon which they can agree, and their newspapers are unanimous in abusing England for bullying Portugal. Whether this is due to a surviving sympathy among the Latin nations, or because it is a perfectly safe subject to dilate upon now that England has gained her point in Africa, is not apparent. It was to be expected that most of the Portuguese cities would make some demonstrations, but Spanish and even French papers have echoed the cry of "bully" and "uprate" in a most surprising manner, and the majority of the Italian journals only refrained from joining them by the request of the government.

Aiding Wyoming.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17.—The Senate Committee on Territories has decided to recommend the passage of bills to create the State of Wyoming and to organize a Territorial form of government for Oklahoma. The committee decided that inasmuch as a case is now pending before the Supreme Court involving the constitutionality of such a test oath as is required by the constitution adopted by the people of Idaho, affecting the Mormons, the bill for the admission of Idaho as a State should not be acted upon definitely until the Supreme Court rules upon that question.

Death in an Awning Post.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Jan. 20.—This morning a man stopped his horse in front of Parson's shoe store on Water Street and tied the animal to an awning post and went away. A few minutes later the horse touched his nose to the iron post and fell into the gutter like a log. Thomas Dawson ran to help the horse, but no sooner did he place his hand on the animal than he (Dawson) fell dead. Thomas Saltz, who saw Dawson fall, hastened to his assistance and took hold of him to lift him up, but received a terrible shock, and he, too, dropped to the ground as if dead. He subsequently recovered, as did the horse.

Delegate Joseph, of New Mexico, has introduced a bill to aid the Hudson Springs Irrigation company in New Mexico.

We do not know what company this or where it proposes to operate, but we oppose any national aid to individual concerns. If the government is to appropriate money to reclaim any of the arid region let it be to the territory and not to corporations.

Speaker Reed has announced himself as heartily in favor of doing everything possible to redeem for agricultural purposes the arid lands of the west. It is pleasant to know that so influential a man in congress is on our side in the matter, and it would also be pleasant to know that some practical steps were being taken to utilize all this abundant sympathy we are receiving in the shape of legislation. Water storage and irrigation will pull New Mexico out of the hole.

Las Vegas Optic: Col. J. W. Dwyer, of this territory, is evidently convinced that the cattle interest can never again take the commanding place as a source of wealth that it occupied throughout the west prior to the disastrous decline in prices. He is himself one of our largest cattle owners and the following from him in the Denver Field and Farm has a significance worth thinking about: New Mexico must now become an agricultural country. The great cattle ranges are being broken up and in a few years irrigating ditches will run where cow paths were in the years when I first went to the territory.

An adjourned meeting of the Bar Association was held at Santa Fe Monday the 20th inst., at which Mr. Hewitt of White Oaks introduced a resolution praying congress to create one or more judicial districts in the Territory. The resolution was referred to Messrs Elliott, Catron and Field, a committee appointed to report on the same at the adjourned meeting Monday 27. We are anxious to see the committee report favorably, for we need a new district in this part of the territory very much.

The people of Lincoln, Chaves and Eddy counties want a new judicial district carved out of their section, and a fifth judge appointed. If not, why not? The section referred to is a rapidly growing one; legal business is on the increase there; the judges of our district and supreme courts are overworked and can not dispose of the rapidly accumulating business as quickly as public policy and the interests of litigants deserve. Why should there not be a fifth judicial district created in New Mexico?—New Mexican.

It is probable that the irrigation enterprises on the Pecos and Rio Grande, and the climate of those sections will give four products in which New Mexico will be distinguished, alfalfa, grapes, fruits and olives. Alfalfa seed has a great value in commerce for the product of a purple dye made in France, which adds to the market value of this grass for feed. It is the opinion of the agricultural bureau officials, from experiment already made, that the olive will flourish abundantly in the Pecos and Rio Grande valleys. It will be a very profitable crop.—Stock Grower.

Communicated. We very willingly publish the following letter from Ozanne & Co. In regard to the matter therein, we do not think any person can find fault. Let our business men arrange with Ozanne & Co, and relieve them of a responsibility they have no right to carry, and they will get their express without delay. In this connection we wish to say we hope next year to have this enterprising stage company to operate in this town, the business of Roswell demands a responsible and rapid transportation company to and from the railroad and this is without doubt the best of the kind in south east New Mexico.

We desire you to correct an impression which seems to prevail among the business men of your prosperous town in regard to express matter, and to have said correction made through your paper.

All express for Roswell is held at Lincoln, until consignee has been duly notified and instructions sent to our agent at Lincoln how to forward said express, because we received information that any express matter delivered to the buck board outfit which should fail to reach the consignee we were to be held responsible for the same, and to look to the buck board outfit for recourse, which means, after having performed our duties in delivering all express for Roswell promptly to the Roswell mail line at Lincoln we were to be held responsible for their action and in case said express should be lost or destroyed we would not only lose our charges but the advance charges and also be held responsible for the value of said express instead of the buck board outfit. When we heard what was expected of us we promptly advised our agent at Lincoln to hold all Roswell express at Lincoln and notify consignee promptly, and I think if we are not mistaken we also notified Mr. Smith Lea, the reason why such instructions had been given. It has been our great desire to extend to the business men of Roswell every favor within our reach, but they cannot expect that we should assume any risk beyond our limits, we have said and repeat it here that if any of Roswell business men desire to have their express go forward without delay they must assume all risk between Lincoln and Roswell, and in case any express package should be destroyed or lost we are to receive our pay for all charges owing between Carthage and Lincoln, and when we can show by the receipt of the mail contractors between Lincoln and Roswell that said express has been delivered in good order on these terms, the express can go forward promptly and settlement made on the first of each month, and any person not personally known to us should send their request through a well known responsible firm of Roswell, such as Jaffa, Prager & Co., or Poe, Lea & Cosgrove, and their matter will be promptly attended to also, we feel we have many friends in Roswell and we are anxious to extend to them any thing in our power, that can be of any benefit to them personally or to your section of country.

Truly Yours OZANNE & Co. The Balance Against Brown. From the Las Cruces Republican. W. D. Harlan, inspector of land offices, has just completed an investigation into the accounts of James Browne, ex-receiver of the U. S. land office at this place which has occupied several weeks. The officials of the land office are not prepared to state whether Browne is a defaulter to the government, but advices have been received from parties who have paid Browne money and have not been given receipts, showing that he is behind about $3,000. Receiver Dolan has been directed to prepare a statement of the amounts so far as known, and submit it to Mr. Browne advising him that if it is not paid within a reasonable time suit will be brought against his bondman. Even if the money is recovered a great deal of annoyance and delay will be caused to those who in good faith, have remitted monies through their proper channel to be applied on land entries and now find that they must wait the slow course of the law, even if their money is eventually applied as originally intended.

Inter State Water Rights. WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The senate select committee on irrigation and reclamation of arid lands held a session last evening. Major Powell, director of the United States geological survey, explained by aid of maps the drainage areas, arid region, artesian well districts and localities, and at some length elucidated his views on local irrigation districts in connection with drainage areas of the region. The major read to the committee a bill drafted by him which provides for the topographic and hydrographic survey of the arid region, and for the segregation of the same into irrigable, pastoral and timber lands, the two latter to remain the property of the United States for the use of the people of the irrigation districts. The bill provides for federal control over inter state waters and the formation of waters districts under control of the states and territories.

It, as Professor Blount, of the Colorado agricultural college, says, alfalfa pasture non-irrigated will not cause bloat in cattle or sheep, the circumstance is worth knowing. It will be better to grow less feed on the acre and have it less dangerous to stock. This is the one great dread of green alfalfa.

The Fastest Girl in New Mexico.

From the Las Vegas Optic. It can be said with perfect truth and propriety, and without any impeachment whatever of her modesty and moral worth, that, during her brief stay in New Mexico, Miss Nellie Bly, the fair globe trotter of the New York World, was the fastest girl in the territory. She crossed its western border yesterday afternoon, and passed over its northern line into Colorado hours before daylight this morning, thus traveling about 500 miles in less time than any other lady ever did before in New Mexico. For this reason she was the fastest girl in the territory while she was with us. Her special train, consisting of an ordinary coach and a Pullman, left Albuquerque last night at 9:30 o'clock and reached Wallace, thirty-seven miles distant, at 10:30, left Wallace at 10:34 and reached Las Vegas at 1:20, distance ninety-six miles, a large part of the way being over the steep grades of Gloria mountain, stopped just two minutes in Las Vegas to change engines and left here at 1:22, arriving at Raton, 111 miles distant, at 3:58, stopping four minutes at Springer to take water, four minutes at Dorsey to put a new lamp in the headlight and delayed two minutes at Otero by having to pull through a side track. Stopped two minutes at Raton to change engines, leaving there at 4 o'clock a. m. and arrived at La Junta, distance 105 miles, at 6:43. This speed is something wonderful, when it is considered that it was made over the mountain division of the Santa Fe, necessitating the crossing of two great ranges of mountains, and it is doubtful if better time was ever made on a transcontinental road all things considered. The distance from here to Watrous, twenty miles, was made in twenty minutes; from here to Springer, seventy miles, in eighty-eight minutes, but the crowning triumph of speed was made between La Junta and Dodge City, a distance of 202 miles, made in three hours, or a little more than sixty-seven miles an hour. What road east or west can beat it? George Johnson, in charge of engine 553, hauled the train from here to Raton, with Charley Trussell as conductor, and Trainmaster Rain also aboard, the two latter going through to La Junta. Accompanying Miss Bly was Mr. Jennings, of the staff of the New York World, a remarkably bright journalist, who joined her at Lathrop after tremendous hardships in crossing the Sierra Nevada on snow shoes, the Central Pacific trains being hopelessly stuck in the snow. Miss Nellie was wrapped in maiden slumbers when she passed through Las Vegas, but the Optic has learned the following concerning her: She is a sparely made young lady, of much vivacity; not exactly handsome, but with so much intelligence in her features that it more than compensates for the absence of mere beauty. She is about twenty-five years old, and is enjoying the trip hugely. In fact, she took the trip as recreation, after months of arduous work in New York journalism, which had almost fagged her out. She passed her rival, Miss Bland, somewhere on the ocean, near the straits of Malacca, is intensely anxious to beat her to New York, and feels sure that she will do it. Miss Nellie has preserved no notes of her tremendous trip, except about two pages of figures and foreign names, jotted down in a note book. All the innumerable facts and incidents of her tour around the globe, she preserves in her nimble little head, and at this moment, while her train is speeding through Kansas, she is writing a four column letter to the New York World, which will be telegraphed to that paper to-night. The train is averaging about fifty miles an hour all through Kansas, and will reach Kansas City early to-night. The Santa Fe road has responded superbly to the extraordinary demand made upon it for fast running in this case, and amid the crowding memories of her great trip, doubtless the fair traveler will retain a vivid recollection of the seemingly magical swiftness with which she was whirled through the vast solitudes of the far west, over the great Santa Fe system.

Mr. C. B. Eddy, the energetic manager of the great irrigating company operating in the Pecos valley, New Mexico, was in Las Vegas last week. He reports that the immense ditches of the company are about completed and the water will soon be turned on the thousands of acres of fertile land lying under them. There is no more favorably located or attractive body of land in America than is to be found in the Pecos valley. The climate is incomparable and water abundant, and the intelligent efforts now being exerted for its development will result in its transformation in a few years from a barren plain into the garden spot of the southwest. Already the company is receiving thousands of inquiries from prospective settlers, and many are now on the way to that favored land. There is ever indication that when the canals are in full operation there will be witnessed in that section a more rapid growth than has ever marked any section of the southwest. The Santa Fe, Rook Island and Denver & Fort Worth railroads have surveyed routes through the valley to El Paso and Albuquerque.—Stock Grower.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

J. J. Cockrell is down from Lincoln attending to legal business here.

W. T. Booth went to Nogal Tuesday, on business in the interest of the firm of Booth & McDonald.

Mrs. Frank Lesnet came down from Lincoln, Monday, to visit with her husband, the Hon. Receiver.

L. Hale, the fruit tree man from Ruidoso, is again among our farmers and others selling trees for spring planting.

Wm. Gray seems to be kept quite busy in his new business, orders for harness and saddles are coming in very satisfactory.

Justice of the Peace Fred Joyce went to Lincoln to take the oath of office and file his bond, when he returns he will be a full fledged esquire.

Lieut. Scott, wife and daughter, came down to Roswell Monday evening from Fort Stanton. They will spend a week or more in our little city.

Mr. James Ferril, of the Diamond A ranch, is in town again. He says he and Sutherland have concluded to build their brick block in a short time.

Fred Higgins of Lincoln, spent several days in town the latter part of last week. We learn that he is figuring on buying Mr. Fountain's saloon business here.

Fountain and Boon have moved their meat market to the new building of Barnett and Fountain, where they have things arranged neat and convenient.

McPherson & Biggs, the mill men, have combined with A. M. Robertson & Co. and pooled the lumber business. The result is the price is advanced to $40 per thousand.

Mr. Rathburn, a Las Vegas man, and traveling salesman for a Chicago shoe house, visited Roswell on a business trip last week. Mr. Rathburn makes regular trips to this place.

W. M. Needham one of Lincoln's business men was in Roswell last week, looking after his interests near town. He has an interest in land under the Lincoln ditch up the Honda.

The dedication of the Masonic hall and the installation of the new officers of the lodge, will take place at the hall on February 8th. All visiting brethren in good standing are invited to be present.

Gross, Blackwell & Co's. salesman, Mr. O. Erickson, was in town looking after the interests of his firm last week. We are told he bought for the house Fred Roth's flock of sheep, consisting of from seven to nine thousand.

The hotel foundation is nearly completed and is a good job. There can be no question about it holding the building. The stone are being cut for the range work and sills out of lime stone and they will make an everlasting job.

Browne & Manzanera Co's. salesman, W. A. Robinson, visited the Roswell merchants this week. He was accompanied by S. Rubel, who represents O. L. Houghton's wholesale and retail hardware house of Las Vegas.

W. H. Cosgrove, our postmaster, has rearranged his postoffice so that it is now roomy and neat. New metal lock boxes have been put in and the open boxes enlarged and the number increased. It is now a very convenient arrangement, certainly a great improvement over the old.

—William Watson, Esq., ex-editor of the White Oaks Interpreter, and a wholesome, genuine gentleman, has our gratitude for kindness shown us while in that city a few days ago. We was sick and in distress and he took us up to his house where we was attended by as tender care as any woman could give.

—Carter & Martin started five trail wagons loaded with goods to their branch house at Roswell on Thursday morning. We see by the Roswell paper that they are going to have an elegant store in all of its appointment if we judge by the puff given the carpenters doing the work.—Amarillo Champion.

—G. M. Davidson & Co. have discovered a ledge of gypsum rock west of town, from which they have burnt a kiln and produced a beautiful white cement that may be made into floor or decorating tiling, trimming for brick buildings, material for sidewalks as smooth and hard as marble; it also makes good roofing material.

—McPherson & Biggs are dickering with Mr. Daniel, our leading contractor, to join them in putting up a planing, door and sash mill in Roswell. We are told that their negotiations are nearly closed and the mill will be built this spring. We hope so, for it will save much to the country if all the mill work for building can be done at home.

—Hon. J. H. Mills still is in poor health he was confined to his bed a few days recently, stomach and liver trouble is the cause. On Sunday his friends became alarmed and concluded to call Dr. Maus, post surgeon at Fort Stanton, who arrived in Roswell Tuesday evening to consult with Dr. Skipwith in the case. It is thought the Captain at this time is a little better but still in a very critical condition.

—Mr. McClelland returned to his home in California last Monday morning, after a thorough looking over this valley. He says he will be back here in a very short time to secure a place; he thinks, although greatly in love with his home, Santa Clara valley, that the Pecos is the finest country anywhere in the irrigable west. So it is, and the day is not far distant when the world will be singing her praises.

—Nathan Jaffa and G. A. Richardson returned from Eddy and Seven Rivers Sunday night. They spent several days looking over that country and are of course greatly pleased by the appearance of it, and especially by the push and energy there is displayed by Hon. C. B. Eddy in the management of affairs down there. Mr. Richardson says "If they can make a Colorado Springs of Eddy they could" by the same management make a Denver of Roswell."

The Court House Grounds.

Considerable talk has been indulged in by a good many people lately in regard to the ground where on the new court house is to be built. Many people are of the opinion that it is not solid enough to make a safe foundation for the building.

A few days ago Mr. Hunt began to haul in the rock for the wall, when it was discovered that the ground was so soft that the wagon would sink down to the axle, and the hauling had to be stopped; this renewed the talk about the insecurity of the foundation and we understand there is some feeling more or less ill in regard to the matter. We wish to say this, and we believe every sensible man in the county will indorse it: Now that this present site has been accepted by the commissioners for the court house, we think, unless for some very good reason, it should be built thereon. We believe everybody feels grateful to Captain Lea for the gift of the ground and would be disappointed if it was concluded to be not practicable to build the court house and jail there. So far as any jealousy is concerned it exists only in imagination. The question of a secure foundation for a large building is always a serious one, and there should be no doubt in this case about that. The thing now for the commissioners to do, since the question has arisen, is to thoroughly and scientifically investigate the matter, and if after such investigation a doubt still remains do not allow the buildings erected there. We have still such confidence in our commissioners as to believe they will do that which is best in the manner of appropriating the people's money.

As we go to press we learn that the sub-contractors are instructed to go to work on the court house, and that as the center of the block is not solid enough to build on the house is to be set on one corner of the court house square. We protest against the building being done until the question of foundation is settled. If the walls of the building crack after they are up, the people $30,000 will have gone a glimmering.

SOUTH PARK.

The City of the Dead Established and Laid Off.

The action of the Board of Trade in the matter of establishing and laying out a new cemetery for Roswell, was an excellent move, and has resulted in our having a beautiful piece of ground two miles south of town set apart for that purpose. The selection is on school section 16; the ground is under the Lea-Cockrell ditch, from which the cemetery association receive water to beautify the site, which is in every way a very beautiful one. It is inclosed by a strong fence with posts eight feet apart, with a six inch board at top and bottom and four strands of wire between, it will turn stock effectually and preserve the enclosure from desecration. L. M. Long was employed to lay off twenty acres of the ground into lots and streets and make a plat and directory of the same. He has done so, and we think it the handsomest arrangement we ever saw. The ground is laid out in the shape of a Maltese cross with a large circle near the center; this circle has been purchased by the masons of Roswell and vicinity and they will at once begin improving it. The balance of the grounds will be sold to families and individuals. A neat and attractive cemetery takes away some of the terrors of the grave, and we hope to see this one improved and beautified until its beauty will become enchanting.

Communicated.

I noticed your little item concerning my future welfare, in your valuable paper, and cannot help but tender you my sincerest thanks.

Eddy is on a steady boom now, real estate has increased from 400 to 600 per cent in value, and everything points to a bright future. Eddy has a considerable amount of houses, brick as well as frame, considering the short time of its existence. It seems to me though, that the Roswell brick is far superior to the brick they are burning here. I met Mr. Garrett this morning, his and Mr. Brent's livery and feedstable, (brick) will soon be finished and will be one of the finest buildings of this kind in the territory. As no whiskey is sold in town, there are any amount of tents in a certain distance from Eddy, where one can get drunk at his pleasure. As to me, I've received a situation as commissary clerk from Mr. H. V. Clarke who is head clerk and book keeper of Messrs W. C. Bradbury & Co.

Please send me your paper to Eddy, care H. V. Clarke. I shall pay you the two dollars subscription at the earliest opportunity. With best regards to you and all the boys I remain

Respectfully Yours,
WM. KATZENSTEIN.

Olive Culture.

The business of olive growing is only in its infancy in California, but gives promise of a prosperous future. Some idea of the possibilities of the olive may be gathered from the statement that Spain has 3,000,000 acres in olives; Italy, 2,250,000, and France 330,000. There are in Tunis over 4,000,000 trees, and Algeria has 3,000,000. In a very few years this country will make an equally good showing, for their is money in the business of growing them, the demand for the berry and its oil being almost illimitable.

It is thought olives will grow as well in the Pecos valley as in California and will some day be a source of great income to us here. We recommend that some of our farmers who are planting trees should plant a few olives to try them and demonstrate whether or not they will do well.

The New Mexican Plant.

The New Mexican Printing Company has an extensive and valuable business plant at Santa Fe. Their book bindery department is as complete as any place of the kind in the west; they do all kinds of blank book work, and we are bound to say their work will compare favorably to any eastern or western work we have ever seen. The job department of the New Mexican is large and complete; they are prepared to do the finest book or ornamental work; in fact, the New Mexican establishment is much larger and better than we expected to see, and is certainly the most extensive and complete establishment of the kind in the territory.

Quarantine in New Mexico.

Gov. L. Bradford Prince, of New Mexico has issued a proclamation of quarantine on account of pleuro-pneumonia against the state of New Jersey, the counties of Kings and Queens, New York, and the foreign countries of Great Britain, Ireland, France, Germany and Belgium. All cattle, before entering New Mexico, must be inspected at Trinidad, Colorado, El Paso, Texas, or Clayton, New Mexico, in order to ascertain where they have been the last six months past.

Alfalfa Seed.

Anderson & Sutherland, the famous alfalfa seed growers of Colorado, have five car loads of alfalfa seed ready now for the market all of their own raising. Address at Rocky Ford, Colorado. 7-30d.

VANDERBILT'S FIRST BOAT.

Some Good Stories of the Founder of the Family of Millionaires.

The reading given last week by Mrs. Coventry Waddell at her Stuyvesant Square home served to bring out many interesting new anecdotes of Commodore Vanderbilt. Mrs. Waddell's friendship with the founder of the Vanderbilt family was life-long, and her recollections of the great money-getter are of a nature to cast a strong light upon his personality. The following story illustrative of his energy and push in early youth was told.

It is a well-known fact that for years Commodore Vanderbilt sailed a "perianter," and it took daily a cargo of green groceries to the New York market. The shrewd way in which he became skipper of his first craft is thoroughly characteristic. It seems that at the age of sixteen "Neilly" had developed a strong affection for rowing, sailing and other water sports. An old Staten Island fisherman had a sail-boat which he offered to sell for $100, and "Neilly" thought that if he could only become the owner of this particular boat he would indeed be happy. He hadn't the money, however, and as a last resource, applied to his mother.

"Neilly," she said, "you see that eight-acre lot out there," pointing to an unpromising-looking stony field.

"Neilly" said he did. "Well, if you will plough, harrow and seed that lot you shall have the $100."

"Neilly" induced several boys of the neighborhood, by promises of jolly excursions, to turn in and help him. In a week they had the job done, and the $100 was paid over. "Neilly" then beat the owner of the boat down to $95, and purchased the craft at that price. The Commodore to the end of his days never ceased to regret that on his first sail he broke a hole in the boat's bottom that it cost $5 to repair.

Mrs. Waddell once remarked to the Commodore, "I dare say, many wealthy New-Yorkers would be happier if they had pockets in their shrouds, in which they could carry to the next world the wealth they accumulated in this."

"Ah, no," replied Mr. Vanderbilt. "If shrouds had pockets the strife and turmoil on Wall street would be increased fourfold."

At one time while living on Staten Island, the Commodore had an exasperatingly balky horse. He never could be sure that the brute wouldn't stop in the middle of the road, and he often walked in preference to taking chances with the animal. One day he started out and had driven only about half a mile when the beast came to a dead halt. An energetic belaboring, backing and saving had no effect and the Commodore turned around and went home. He got a bag of lump sugar and again started out, leading the horse and feeding him a lump at every few steps. This he continued until the place where the horse balked was passed, after which he got in and had no difficulty in driving to his journey's end. In telling the story to Mrs. Waddell, he said: "I have tried the same course of proceeding with women and it has always proved effective."

A Desirable Qualification.
Commanding Officer—So you want to marry Private Malone's widow? She is old enough to be your mother! Surely a smart young fellow like you could find a nice young girl who would take you?

Private T. Atkins—Young girls is well enough, sor; but I likes my dinner 'ot, and I noticed Private Malone always had 'is dinner 'ot, so I 'opes as you'll give me lave, sor.—Judy.

A Tramp Steamer.
The tramp steamship Mariborough, from the Philippine Islands, a vessel of many misfortunes, was seized by United States Deputy Marshal Myers, at Philadelphia, on a claim for $48,000, preferred by Ira Bursley, of New York. It is claimed that the master of the Mariborough was negligent in not having sufficient fuel on board, necessitating the burning of a part of the cargo of sugar.

A Midnight Baking.
The batch of dough set on the hearth to raise by an Erie County, Pennsylvania, housewife, raised so effectually that it aroused the family, as the dish which had been placed over it rolled on the floor. The lady, in order to save the "batch," got up in the middle of the night and baked her bread.

If you would gaze on an example of superb disgust, find the Maine hunter who thought he fired at the shining orbs of a ferocious wildcat and afterward discovered that he had filled a tomato cap with shot-holes.

A NEW SCHEME.

The Latest Journalistic Device to Get Rid of Dead Beats.

A big, red nose, followed by a little red man drifted into this office yesterday and proclaimed—the man, not the nose, proclaimed—that he was a journalist prepared to accept a position. It is one of the peculiarities of this class of journalists that they never seek a position; they always coax around for an opportunity to accept one. Since our office is heated by steam so that we don't have to fetch up coal, and since we do not etch our engraving plates with human breath, and since we do not happen to have any editorial department that requires an expert knowledge of preserving bottles in alcohol, we could think of only one position at present requiring the services of this trained and experienced journalist. At just that moment we did not happen to have anybody going around the world in eighty days for us, so we advanced a dime to this professional moulder of public opinion and instructed him to set out in a due northerly course and see how much time he could consume before getting around the globe to this office again. We mean to keep abreast of the times in journalistic enterprise if it robs us of the intoxicating pleasure of this great man's society for the rest of our natural existence.—Washington Post.

In the Black Maria: Tags—"Wot makes you sit up so kinder stiff an' unsofable?" Rags (loftily)—"Why, I ain't no common block, I ain't. Mr. Vangouderbilt had me arrested for beagin'!"

Druggists report this fact with reference to La Grippe, that wherever the epidemic prevails, the sales of Allen's Lung Balsam increase. (Of course they do.) Every one knows that this excellent remedy will quiet the irritation, causing easy expectoration and cure the cough attending this most distressing disease. Be sure to ask the druggist for Allen's Lung Balsam. Sold at 50c, 10c, and $1.00 a bottle.

THEY HAVE THEIR MONEY.

The Names of the Fortunate Fifteen in the Lottery Partnership.

Oswego, (N. Y.) Palladium, Jan. 2.
Mr. B. D. Houghton has been engaged during the past few days in presenting $1,000 to each of fifteen Oswegoians who were so fortunate as to be implicated in a partnership on Louisiana State Lottery tickets. The following are the lucky investors: J. McChesney, Chas. McDowell, W. J. Kasmussen, Chas. R. Lewis, Jules Wendell, J. A. Southwick, Geo. W. Harman, Albert Fitzgerald, Obediah Wiley, Alonzo Adams, H. Churchill, Dan Wright, Theo. Warden, Aaron Colon, Colbert Cooper.

The lucky ticket was No. 35,961. It drew the fourth capital prize of $100,000 in the December drawing, of which $20,000 fell to the Oswego gentlemen, they holding one-fourth of the ticket. Mr. Houghton sent the lucky ticket for collection on Thursday 10th, and received the money the following Friday week. This is the second similar draw. The occurrence greatly stimulated the local trade in lottery tickets.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

The devil would persist in bothering Martin Luther until the baldhead monk dispatched him with a bottle of ink; so we learn that a bottle of ink might rid you of any devil, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will always rid you of any cold.

Don't be frightened. The house isn't haunted. It's only the hired man getting the furnace ready for the fall campaign.

It is simply wonderful how a good thing gets known and appreciated. In the public school examinations now they ask the small boys: "Who was the first man?" "Adam." "The first woman?" "Eve." "Who was the 22nd president of the United States?" "Grover Cleveland." "What is the specific cure for pain?" "Salvation Oil."

The moral coward is a man who cannot do anything original without begging the world's pardon for running off the track.

Any person sending his address to Robert J. Wallace, principal of BUSINESS COLLEGE, University of Denver, 14th and Arapahoe Sts., Denver, Colorado, will receive a very useful article, bearing our advertisement.

A Denver paper tells of "a woman who whipped a dude." She should have "taken one of her size."

Children always Enjoy It.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda is almost as palatable as milk.

Children enjoy it rather than otherwise. A MARVELLOUS FISH PRODUCE! It is indeed, and the little lads and lassies who take cold easily, may be fortified against a cough that might prove serious, by taking Scott's Emulsion after their meals during the winter season.

Beware of substitutions and imitations.
