Fire in a Mine.

Pecos

Four hundred men work in the mine of whom all escaped except five miners and two visitors who were cut off by the flames and perished. These were cut off from any shaft by the timber that lined the drift burning so fiercely that they could not get through it alive, and their death by the advancing flames was only the question of a tew hours.

The Thomases, father and son, tried to run the gauntlet of flame and fell dead side by side, literally cooked at the bottom of the shaft.

The others remained penned up and though there was hope they might possibly escape up to 6 o'clock to-night, at tha hour they were given up as lost and the mine sealed to smother the flames.

Hugh Waller performed an act of heroism worthy of a place in history. When the alarm was first sounded he, by hard work, managed to get to the surface badly burned. Then, thinking of his men, he cried out:

"My God, my boys must be warned and saved," and straightway went back to his death.

The bodies will never be recovered, as the fire, now past control, is burning all the timber lining throughout the mine.

At three o'clock the main shaft, which opens in the heart of the city of Hurley caved in. Other shafts are following in the same way. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to be accidental. It is the prop erty of the Hays Brothers, now in California.

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 20 .- Captain Lemuel P. Horton, of the schooner Cecilia, which has just arrived from Parrsboro, N. S., tells a tale of novel experience in the Bay of Fundy. When off Quaco at six o'clock Sunday morning, an enormous, hump-backed whale hove in sight. It soon over-hauled the coasting vessel and came up alongside. For a time the sailors were frightened, but the feeling changed into one of astonishment when it was found that the monster showed no inclination to swallow the vessel with all on board, a siter and finally a determination to exerfeat which the men thought from his size

GERMAN POLITICS.

Emperor William Wants to Have His Own Way. BERLIN, March 22.-The North German Gazette to-night supplies some light on the cause leading to Bismarck's resignation. It says the chancellor did not wish to depart from the cabinet order of 1852, relating to the intercourse between Prussian ministers and the sovereign, but desired to retain his control and right of co-operation. The opposition he encountered in the matter finally brought clearly to bim the necessity for his resignation. Negotiations between Bismarck and Windthorst with reference to the Guelph fund and the attitude of the clerical party was only connected with the crisis so far as that the chancellor refused to subject his intercourse with the deputies to any control.

The tone of the Gazette only feebly indicates the anger which exists in the Bismarchian circle. The papers have hitherto avoided touching the dangerous and delicate question of the Emperor's interference in ministerial responsibility. The Gazette's frankness will lead to a discus sion which may awaken the Emperor to the fact that a personal, direct system of government has not yet obtained supreme iold upon the German people. The complacency with which Bismarck's retirement is now generally regarded may soon be replaced with regret that the country is left at the mercy of a self-willed autocrat. The cabinet order of 1852 has always been held by Bismarckias interpreting the Prussian constitution to mean that the presi dent of the ministry ought to appoint his wn cabinet, choosing men having political pinions and principles in harmony with his own.

The emperor refused, and maintained the right of the monstreh to appoint ministers having direct responsibility-not to the president, but to the crown. The appointment of Baron von Berlepsch as minister of commerco was a thin edge of a wedge. The direct instructions the emperor gave Berlepsch affecting the economic policy of the empire evoked warm remonstrance from the chancellor. The emperor in a written communication sent by him to Bismarck early last week explained his views of monarchical prorogatives. His convictions, the chancellor claims, were an encroachment on the rights of the minelse general and absolute control, and direct overtures to Windthorst and other conclusions: That the policy of building or acquiring branch lines was wise, and, through the period covered by their inquiry, honestly and economically carried out. That the main line has derived an immense advantage from the branches. That the building of the Oregon Short Line and the subsequent acquire-ment of the Oregon railway and Navigation company's lines, instead of being a menace to the interest of the government, have proved to be a decided advantage. That the recent consolidation of several branches under the name of the Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern Railway company simplifies the system of the Union Pacific, makes possible a more effective and economical management.

That the branches, instead of being maintained at the expense of the main line, contribute at least $3,000,000 a year to the treasury of the company.

That the improvements have been, for several years past, greater on the main line than on the branches.

That there is no evidence of any purpose on the part of the company to surrender that portion of their road over which the government has a statutory lien.

That this is a capable, well-managed road, abundantly able to pay its debts. requiring only time in which to pay. That the present management is honestly trying to effect a fair adjustmont with the government,

The report on the Central Pacific finds that the United States has for security a statutory lien on a road commencing at a point five miles west of Ogden and extending to San Jose, without terminal facilities at either end, made subject to a mortgage to secure bonds equal in amount to the original indebtedness of the company to the United States; that that portion of the road from Ogden to the western slope of the Sierra Nevada is practically only a bridge, without any local business of any amount; that the roads reaching from the main line into Nevada do not now pay their actual expenses; that the present security of the United States upon this property is entirely inadequate; that a foreclosure of the first mortgage would substantially exhaust in satisfaction thereof, the entire property, and that it would be inexpedient for the United States to redeem it from said first mortgage, or to become the owner of

The agitation among Russian students has extended to the universities at Moscow, Kieff and Charkoff. Altogether seven hundred students have been arrested. It is probable that the St. Petersburg University will be closed.

The conscience fund was enlarged by $1,500 received from New York the other day, the sender stating that it is the last payment, with twenty-five per cent. over and above the amount he defrauded the government years ago.

A thief snatched a pocket book from the hands of an old man who was riding on a train near Kansas City the other day, but before he could get out of the car the victim's wife caught him and choked him while her husband regained his property.

During a severe electrical storm that swept over the mining pueblo of Huanuco, in Puru. recently, lightning struck a magazine, exploding 200 cases of dynamite and giant powder. The entire works were wrecked, five persons killed outright and forty more or less seriously injured.

A bill has been reported in Congress to tax adulterations of lard. The bill is similar to the olemargarine lavy, which the committee says has given general satisfaction. The report concludes with the state. mont that the compound lard trade, as carried on, is a stupendous commercial fraud, which it is the duty of Congress to suppress.

A leading Austr'"n paper says that "Bismarck falls on to his interior policy, which was as much disliked and hated by his fellow-country men as his foreign policy was approved and applauded, and the determination of the people not to be conquered at home by the man who so ofton led them to victory abroad was forcibly announced at the last elections, and these elections brought about his retirement."

In the House of Commons, Labouchere moved the abolition of hereditary representatives in Parliament. The people would not long tolerate the idea that several hundred men could be born with a privilege to interfere with the government and to legislate as a class. The House had the spectacle before it of men excluded from the Jockey club and warned off race courses, and yet able to interfere with the releated, mit to ally > and one of them struck it with a boat hook while another thrust a hook into its side. This little attention the whale received with indifference. Captain Horton had a revolver and fired at the whale. He thought he might hit a vulnerable point of the whale. The result was a vigorous agitation of the water that threatened at one ime to swamp the vessel. Several times the whale in moving bunted the schooner hard enough to shake it.from stem to stern Every time the schooner came about the whale would follow her. It was almost

The Eight Hour Movement.

PITTSBURG, March 20.—The result of the conference of the executive council of the federation of labor in New York, Saturday, is just made public. Vice-president Martin says no trade will be ordered to demand the eight hour law, nor a strike to enforce the demand. It is left entirely optional with each trade. What they will do is shown by replies sent to the federa tion from most all the trades, saying they desired and were able to win eight hours. In the Pittsburg and Wheeling districts the mill carpenters were first to ask the conference with buildors and if refused will demand it. The New York and Boston stone masons will probably make the first break in those cities, to be followed by other strong or ganizations.

LONDON, March 23.-Most of the tailies in London print only an abridgment of the speeches in the House of Lords last evening on the Parnell report. and give still less space to Labouchere's remarks in support of his annual motion to abolish the Lordstaltogether.

In the former debate one additional point was made by Lord Hirschell, who was ridiculing the idea that any weight was to be attached to the commission finding the Parnellites guilty of criminal conspiracy. The ex-lord chancellor told how he was once at an American watering place where prohibition was in force in the hotel and the landlord was unable to sell him drinks, but presented them to him instead, and later charged them to him as "sundries," which he himself regarded as a most ingenious and admirable proceeding. But it unquestionably made him barty to a criminal conspiracy against the law and his offense was quite as grave as those for which the commission condemned luced the climax of the cuisis. On Saturday the emperor got, what he probably desired and expected, information of Bismarck's resignation, and on Tuesday, in a closely viritien document of twenty folios, which he has kept from the papers, the emperor re coived the chancellor's reasons for resigning. Bismarok has not parted from the emperor in the sulks or apparent anger, f.or the emperor folfowed his recommendation in appointing General Von Caprivi. Since the crisis Princess Bismarck has held daily receptions, which have been crowded. Bismarck appeared and seemed more alert, cheerful, chatty and bright than for many years.

It is stated that the Reichstag has such perfect confidence in General Von Caprivi that any extra supplies for military or naval purposes, which he might choose to ash for, would be read. ly granted, without any of the opposition which has hitherto been displayed toward all demanded credits for the army and navy.

His appointment to the imperial chan cellorship is heartily welcomed in Austria, where he is known to be a strong upholder of the triple alliance. This makes it pretty certain that so long as he remains in office the present status will be maintained, whereas his retirement might well signify an intention on the part, of the kaiser to begin hostilities against the ancient foes of the Hohenzollerns, which he burns to do, notwithstanding his pacific prostestations and his recognition of the value and desirability of peace.

Reports are in circulation that Bismarck has declined the dukedom of Laurenburg and the appointments of colonel general of the cavalry and field marshal general offered him by the Emperor. The report causes a great sensation. It is also reported that Herbert Bismarck is pressing the Emperor to accept his resignation of the office of imperial foreign minister.

Lee White Captured.

SANTA FE, N. M., March 21.-Lee White, who has been terrorizing the country between Santa Fe and Albuquerque for the past six weeks, was captured at Paso del Norte yesterday, while about to escape to Mexico, and brought here today and placed in jail. Billy Owens, a stage driver between San Pedro and Cerrillos was encountered by Sheriff Chavez in the Pass City, and through him the sheriff managed to induce White to come over on the American side.

Owens told White that a woman named Marie Tallmanti, who is now in Santa Fe and with whom White has long been intimate, was in El Paso and desired to see him. White agreed to come over but was so tardy in filling his appointment that the sheriff started across the bridge.

About half way over White was met coming across with Owens. Sheriff Chavez was disguised and passed the mon, and immediately he turned, revolver in hand, and ordered White to throw up his hands. SENATE .- Senator Hoar from the committee on elections reported in favor of scating Sanders and Powers as Senators from Montana.

The Senate bill ceding public lands to California and other States in aid of irrigation to dry and arid lands, was reported back from the committee on public lands adversely, and indefinitely postponed. Several petitions against the ratification of the extradition treaty with Russia were presented.

Mr. Sherman's anti-trust bill was taken up, and Mr. Turpie discussed the constitutional points. Mr. Teller said that he was inclined to vote for the bill, although he was not san-guine of its accomplishing its purpose. Unless the States took hold of the question and suppressed those trusts by limiting the amount of capital that can be aggre-gated in any corporation, the trouble would continue.

"There's Pa."

There were eight or ten passengers in a Grand River avenue car the other day when a woman and her little boy entered, says the Detroit Free Press, and they had scarcely taken seats when the boy fastened his eves on a man at the other end of the car and called ont:

"Ma! ma! There's pa."

"Hush!" she said as she gave him pinch.

"But there's pa!"

"Yes-hush."

He hushed for a moment, but suddenly continued:

"Pa's got sand, hasn't he! He said he wouldn't come home for three months, and he's keeping right away, ain't he? Let me go up and see if he remembers me."

But "pa" slipped out of the front door and dropped to the street from the front platform, while the woman gave the boy a pinch that kept him howling for two blocks.

Married Couples Resemble .:

Do married people come to look alike? The New York Commercial Advertiser says: It has long been accepted as a fact that married couples who are not only exposed to the same conditions of life, but the influence of whose minds must necessarily react upon each other, assume a more or less facial resemblance to each other. The Photographic society of Géneva, Switzerland, with a view to determine this question, has made photographs of seventy-eight young couples. The result is that in twenty-four cases the resemblance in the personal appearday of July, 1890, and for the payment ance of the husband and wife was greater than that of brother and sister; in thirty cases it was equally great, and in only twenty-four was there a total absence of resemblance.

The resignation of Col. E. W. Wynkoop, adjutant-general of the Territory of New Mexico, has been accepted by Gov. Prince, to take effect April 1, 1890. Col. Winfield S. Fletcher, of Las Vegas, was appointed his successor. Col. Wynkoop resigns to take the wardenship of the penitentiary.

A reception was tendered Hon. John R. McFie at his residence in Las Cruces by neighbors and friends in commemoration of the anniversary of his confirmation, as Judge of the Supreme bench of New Mexico. The reception was a surprise to the Judge and Mrs. McFie. The band serenaded and the evening was enjoyed by all. Judge and Mrs. McFie are deservedly popular both at home and abroad, and as an official he is giving the very best of satisfaction.

The matter of preparing an enabling act for New Mexico under the constitution framed in September last has been referred to a special committee of five representatives; now, with a united pull. the matter is in shape to go through. Let all and patriotic and good citizens of New Mexico having the welfare, progress and prosperity of New Mexico at heart work for statehood for New Mexico. All possible aid and com-fort in that direction is welcome.-New Mexican.

Engineer-in-Chief H. H. Cloud, of the Pecos Valley railroad, returned from the lower country Tuesday, and reports, the final connection of the survey from Eddy to the Texas and Pacific railroad. The connection was made at a point about five miles east of Pecos City, and at a distance from Eddy of about 92 miles. He reports the line, both as regards survature and grades, a very easy one, and that there will be no trouble in making the very best of time over the entire line,--Argus,

The production of timber and grazing lands will be dealt with separately from the irrigation bill, by the committee on public lands. Mineral lands are not interferred with by the bill.

Education in New Mexico.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 22.-The annual report of the auditor and super intendent of public schools of the Territory, published to-day, shows that the number of children of school age is 43,-864, an increase of 3,000 over last year. The public school attendance number 12,000, and the amount expended for schools amount to $23,000

In addition to this the children in private schools number 2,107, and these schools own property valued at $300,000.

The auditor says the year has been marked by substantial progress. Attendance has increased; new buildings with valuable improvements have been opened; teachers have shown more-zeal in carrying foward the work of instruction. Not less gratifying than these evidences of improvement has been the interest in the schools.

It is understood by those near the presidential throne at Washington, that Judge W. H. Whiteman will not be confirmed by the senate, but that his name will be withdrawn by the president within a short time, and that of another applicant for the judgeship in the first judicial district be substituted. All on account of the disposition of those funds belonging to Swiss heirs.

A strange story is now being circulated in India about a gold plate, with inscriptions upon it in the Tamil and Telegu languages, which is said to have fallen from heaven. The Hindoo Patriot gives the following version of .it: A plate made of the finest gold, containing the following inscriptions, fell from heaven and was found in the temple grounds at Benares by the person who saw it fall. The inscription is as follows: "From the month of June, 1890, God himself will rule as emperor of Hindoostan, incarnating himself in human form. From that time foward there will 'be justice all over the world, and the munis (sages) will be worshipped by the people. All the diseases of men will be cured, dogs will walk and talk as men do, and man, whose life is now established at 70 years, will in the future have it extend ed to 125 years."

THREE ABRAHAM LINCOLNS

All Cut Down Suddenly by Indian. Assassin and Surgeon,

Ohicago News The sad fate of the great "Emancipator" hallowed the name of Lincoln. The recent death of little "Abe" in London has called renewed attention to the great president, his ancestors and descendants, Popular knowledge of the family covers about two centuries. During that time alternate gen. erations have produced three Abraham Lincolns. all of whom have died under circumstances that have riveted upon them the attention of Americans.

The years 1786, 1865 and 1890 are memorable in Lincoln chronology, for in those years the grandfather of the president, President Lincoln himself and his grandson fell-two by the hands of assassing and the third by the hand of the surgeon, no less fell, though better intentioned.

The facts of the death of the president's grandfather are meager. Descended from the good old Quaker stock of Pennsylvania, and possessed of moderate means, he was one of the first to leave his home in Rockingham county, Virginia, in 1780, to follow the lead of Daniel Boone into the wilds of Kentucky, taking with him his wife and five children. Prepared to brave dangers and hardships for a home, Abraham Lincoln bought 400 acres of land from the Government for £60. A spot in the forest was cleared, a log cabin was crected, and soon Lincoln found himself on the way to prosperity. The three sons-Mordecai, Josiah and Thomas-who partook of the father's ambition, helped him with a will. The little farm in the wilderness broadened, and two additional tracts of land, one of 300 and the other of 500 acres, were taken. But fortune soon changed. One morning in 1786 Lincoln and his three sons went out to the edge of the clearing, and scarcely had work begun when a shot from the bush killed the father. Mordecai immediately ran to the cabin for a gun, and Josiah to Hughes' station for assistance, while Thomas was left with his tather's body. Mordecai got the gun, and was just in time to save his brother's life by shooting the Indian, who was about to kill him. The murdered man was buried near where he fell, and soon after the family, for better protection, moved to a thicker settled portion of the wilderness, where Mordecai, with the settled hate that is born of unforgiven wrongs, became an Indian stalker, who slew the redskins on no other provocation than mere sight.

Two generations later the second Abraham Lincoln was exalted from the position of an obscure lawyer to that of President of the United States-an honor which he bore with courage and fortitude and paid for with his life. All are familiar with the story of his assasination.

Another break of a generation in the transmission of names, and the third Abraham appeared in the family as the son of Robert T. Lincoln, the American minister to England. Young "Jack," as he was usually called, was born in Chicago in 1873, and the story of his seventeen years is that of many another bright boy

A Queer Character,

Billie Mustard is an eccentric old man, well known among the farming community of Hanover and St. Clair cownships, in Butler county, Ohio, During the summer and fall months he worked as a day laborer among the armers, being a good man wherever he was put. He was saving, and when winter approached he resorted to Four Mile Creek, where he dug a hole in the pank and constructed a cot of straw and such other materials as he could rather and spent his nights there. During the continued rainy spell his lomicile caved in, burying the old man to the waist, and in this position he was compelled to dig himself out, which occupied two days. Billie has ed a queer life, but has through all his vicissitudes borne a name for honesty and sobriety. A few days ago some of the neighbors had him removed to the county infirmary, where he will probably end his days, as he is far advanced in years.

A New Disease.

"Not long ago," continued the docor, "a handsome young woman of evldent birth and breeding came into my consultation-room.

"'Oh, doctor,' she said, 'I want you to cure me. I am suffering from a horrible attack of aurora borealis, and If I don't get relief soon I know I shall lie.' "

"And what was it ?" asked the lis tener.

"Nothing, unless it was that," answered the physician. "I was glad she had christened her affliction, for I couldn't find anything the matter with her except willfulness and a little hysteria. The combination is not an uncommon one among a certain class of idle women, and I am glad to have found a title by which to designate it." -Evening Sun.

An Unfortunate Burglar.

A wan, haggard and ragged gentleman appeared at the kitchen door of a New York residence.

"Will you please give me something coeat?" inquired the poor man of the cook.

"With pleasure," replied the obliging cook. "But first tell me what unortuitous combination of circumstances brought you to this lamentable condition."

"Alas!" replied the suffering applicant, "I am simply a plain, commonplace bank burglar, and the superior skill of the presidents and cashiers in this thriving mart has thrown me out of employment." "Poor man," ejaculated the cook.

A Landslide.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., March 24.-The first section of Denver & Rio Grande freight train No. 236 left here about 11 o'clock this morning, and when at a point about a mile and a guarter above the city, and just through the first tunnel. the engine ran into a landslide and left the track tilting over at an angle of forty-five degrees, the tender derailing but staying on the ties.

The enginemen and head brakemen saw the obstruction and all jumped, thus escaping injury.

The track is close to the river at this point, and had it not been for 'the soft earth of the embankment, thus embedding the engine, the entire machine would have gone into the river.

The second section was close behind and was flagged. The freight cars were pulled back into this city and word sent to Leadville to the wrecking train. Passengers were transferred and came into town at two o'clock. It will take but eight hours to clear the wreck.

A Southern Tornado.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 24 .- The particulars of Saturday's storm say that the fury of the cyclone was principally felt in Sumter, where much damage was done. Ida Richardson was killed by a falling house, and two men whose names are unknown were fatally injured, while many others were badly bruised and cut. The railroad bridge over Broad River at Shelton was blown off the piers, and an unknown man who was standing on the bridge was carried away.

In Chester County the tornado did great damage. At Blackstock one women and several children were fatally injured. In the city a score of convicts at the State penitentiary narrowly escaped death, the immense ventilating roof being blown off.

It is reported that the town of Prosperity was swept away, but as the wires are down nothing can be learned. It is feared that immense damage was done. At Camden the cyclone struck a house, killing Mrs. Easterling.

. Deafness Can't be Cured by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitu-tional remedies. Deafness is caused by an in-flamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deaf-ness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed concatarra, which is nothing but an innamea con-dition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
