A TERRIBLE CYCLONE.

A Large Number of Lives Lost at Louisville.

The Mississippi Valley was visited by a cyclone on the night of the 27th which did great damage and killed many people. Its track is 200 miles wide, and extends from the Canadian line southeast.

CINCINNATI, March 27.—Reports and private advices have reached the city of a terrible loss of life and great damage to property throughout the State of Kentucky caused by one of the most disastrous and devastating cyclones that has ever visited that region. The details of the loss cannot possibly be given at the present time, owing to the uncertain telegraphic communication, and the extremely bad condition of the rivers. The most alarming and distressing accounts come from Louisville, where the loss of life is estimated to be several hundreds, and millions of dollars to buildings of the city, hundreds of which were totally wrecked by the furious tornado, which seemed to vent its fury on the town, carrying death and destruction in its course and causing a panic in the town.

It was early in the evening when the cyclone reached the city. The force of the furious winds shook massive buildings to their foundations, and people became apprehensive of impending danger. In a few moments the city was filled with heavy dust swept in from the surrounding country, and for twenty minutes or more it was almost impossible to see anything, and it was dangerous to venture out on the streets.

Plate glass windows were breaking before the force of the winds, and the noise and din that was prevailing was fearful to the ear. Telegraphic reports from the adjacent country began to tell of the loss of life, and in a few moments reports from the local police force showed that many were injured in the city by the blowing down of signs, and it was impossible to get conveyances to carry the dead and wounded to a place of safety.

The roofs of houses were torn off and were blown over the town like so much paper, and by ten o'clock the storm had reached its height and the damage that resulted was something terrible. Men, women and children were killed outright by the falling buildings, and the calamity that prevailed for the hour following was frightful.

At this point the wires went down, and at the present hour it is impossible to open communication with the place.

At three o'clock in the morning a telegraph operator crossed the river to Jeffersonville, and gives the following report: "I only saw the course of it from Fourteenth and Walnut, and Eleventh and Market streets. From the latter point it followed its course to Seventh and the river where it left the city and striking across the river reached Jeffersonville at the foot of Spring Street. A little damage was done in Jeffersonville, however. In Louisville the devastation was terrific and the loss of life will certainly reach hundreds, if not thousands. In one building at Twelfth and Market streets two lodges and a dancing school were in session, there being in the building 100 people, not one of whom is thought to have escaped. I saw six or eight corpses taken out in fifteen minutes. There was scarcely anything to indicate that this heap of rubbish had ever been a building. If any of its inmates escaped it was by a miracle."

Crushed and blackened ruins mark the spot where last evening stood the splendid large Union depot at Seventh and the river. When the crash came the Louisville Southern train had just come in and the F. & M. were ready to pull out, but both were caught by the falling mass and crushed like shells. About a dozen people were injured, but none fatally.

A great many thrilling experiences are related, among them that of George H. Capito, who was present at a meeting of the Knights of Honor in the lodge room on the top floor. He says: "The first intimation of danger was two distinct rockings of the building, about which time a window was blown from the casing, and immediately after the plastering began to drop from the ceiling. A wild rush was made for the ante-room, which carried me with it, and I just reached the door when the entire floor gave way and we were precipitated to the basement, blinded and almost suffocated by a cloud of dust and crushed and jammed by falling timbers. In some way a door fell with me and remained in an upright position when it stopped and I was enabled to extricate myself from the debris and make an exit to the street through the adjoining house, whose doors were kicked in. I at once returned over the ruins with several men and extinguished the fire which had begun.

"By this time the rain was falling in torrents, and the lightning flashes only gave momentary views of the position of the ruins, and blinded everybody. The entire building collapsed in front and rear. Of the east and west side walls nothing is standing above the second story.

"There were nearly 100 members present at our lodge meeting. Full two-thirds of those were ladies.

Effects of the Cyclone.

The results of the terrible cyclone at Louisville, Kentucky, last Thursday, although not as bad as at first feared, are something fearful to contemplate.

The Board of Trade of Louisville at once appointed a general relief committee to relieve the poor people who are in a destitute condition. Twenty thousand dollars was subscribed in a short time and a special meeting of the City Council appropriated $20,000 more. The relief committee prepared the following statement to be sent out:

"The calamity that has overtaken the city of Louisville by a cyclone last night spread over a territory covering a space of ground some four hundred yards wide and three miles in length, through the business and residence portion of the city.

"The loss of life in the neighborhood, it is believed, of some seventy-five persons and the loss to the city in damage to houses and goods is believed to be $2,000,000.

"While the calamity is a great one, our citizens feel able to cope with it and are not cast down, but will at once proceed to repair and resume in the channels now interrupted. In all other portions of the city business is resumed."

An inspection of the water works this afternoon showed that the stand-pipe was completely wrecked. Until repairs are completed no pumping can be done, and there is only about enough water in the reservoir to last five days. At the end of that time the public will have to depend on wells. It cannot be told now how long it will take to repair the water works.

A Disabled Steamer.

QUEENSTOWN, March 30.—The Inman line steamer City of Paris, towed by the steamer Aldergate, arrived at Queenstown at 4 o'clock this morning. The accident which occurred on Tuesday was caused by the breaking of the low pressure cylinder of the port engine, the pieces of metal forcing the bulkhead and making a hole in the double bottom and disabling the starboard engine.

The passengers became panic-stricken when they found that the ship was making water and that there was a possibility of the vessel foundering. The water, which flooded the engine compartment, was forced through injection tubes which, it is alleged, the engineers during the excitement had neglected to shut. The starboard engine was shattered almost to pieces and the port engine rooms were filled with upwards of 2,000 tons of water, and the port engine was entirely useless. Terrible consequences would have occurred but for the bravery of the second engineer who, at the peril of his life, managed to shut off the steam, thus saving the machinery from total demolition.

The life boats were cleared and the pumps kept working. The weather was fine and there was no wind.

The steamer drifted helplessly until the twenty-sixth, when the captain sent the pilot officer and six men in a life boat to get into the track of other line steamers in the hope of intercepting the City of Dijester or the Adriatic.

The boat met the Adriatic, which declined to take the tow, but sent the steamer Aldergate instead. It is a very small steamer, unable to tow over four or five knots hourly, and the progress was slow until Saturday, when the Ohio was sighted. She stood by until three p. m., when the Fastnet was sighted. Two tugs were sent later. The water kept increasing in spite of the work of the pumps.

An examination is being made by divers. The conduct of the officers and crew was admirable.

The Mississippi Flood.

NEW ORLEANS, March 30.—Advices from various points regarding the Mississippi levees show no marked change today, except in the vicinity of Skipwith, where the water is steadily advancing. The towns of Mayersville, Filters and Hayes cannot escape inundation similar to Skipwith. The people are moving their goods as rapidly as possible. There is no danger to human life and most of the stock has been taken to safe ground. In Madison parish the levee bank is crumbling rapidly, but a new one is being built. It may be completed in time to save the country. Railroads in that vicinity and all along the riverside are the heaviest sufferers. Some divisions have been entirely abandoned and others will be soon unless the situation improves. The town of Rayville is in imminent danger. A four-inch rise will flood it. Greenville, Miss., is now on an island. The town is in great danger of being inundated. The situation is unimproved from last night, though the levees are not yet gone. A new break occurred at Huntington this morning and the water in the town is now raising at the rate of an inch and a half per hour. All railroads there are abandoned.

Farewell to Bismarck.

BERLIN, March 29.—Prince Bismarck left Berlin for Friedrichsruh, his country seat, to-day. Yesterday he visited the imperial mausoleum and placed a wreath on the coffin of William I.

Thousands of persons gathered in Wilhelmstrasse and along the route to the railway station and greeted Bismarck with stony enthusiasm. The windows of the houses in the vicinity were crowded with spectators. The entire route was a sea of waving handkerchiefs. A number of other carriages filled with friends and admirers closed the procession. When the party arrived at the station all the ministers of the diplomatic corps and court and state officials were waiting to bid farewell to the prince, and he was greeted by a great mass of people outside. Mountains of bouquets for the prince and princess were piled in the waiting rooms.

Prince Bismarck, in a hearty voice bid all a hearty farewell. Mr. Phelps, American Minister, and Caprivi being among the last to shake his hand. Many tears were shed, and it was altogether an affecting scene. At 5:40 the train started amid renewed cheering.

In connection with the regard evinced by Bismarck for the people it is worthy of note that on Thursday last he denied himself to all others and received Mr. Phelps at a private audience. The object of discussion has excited much curiosity. Rumor says the prince made a careful statement of recent events with a view to gathering the real history of the crisis, which is still wrapped in mystery.

In a Dangerous Position.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 28.—During a terrible storm early this morning the intermediate crib of the new water tunnel nearly three miles out in the lake was partly wrecked by wind and waves.

The men, to the number of twenty-five, working there, sought shelter on the roof of the house, where they remained several hours, the waves dashing over and freezing on them and in momentary expectation of being carried away.

Fortunately a tug went out early this forenoon with provisions and discovered their plight.

ARBOR DAY TREE PLANTING.

Suggestions from the State Forest Commissioner.

For the information of school authorities and others interested in tree planting, the State Forest Commissioner has issued a circular containing a number of valuable suggestions relating to the transplanting and culture of trees. From it we make the following extracts:

CHOICE OF TREES. It may be said at the outset that trees from well managed nurseries are preferable to those grown in the forest, because their root system is better prepared for transplanting.

As a rule, young and small trees when transplanted, make a more vigorous, thrifty growth than do trees of larger size and greater age. In school grounds it is usually better to plant hardy deciduous trees than conifers. To insure success with the latter, more skillful treatment is demanded than they would be likely to receive in the instance under consideration.

Among the hardier forest trees suitable for planting in this State, especially in the plains region, are the cottonwood, (broad leaved) Balm of Gilead, Russian mulberry, American white ash, black locust, honey locust, western gray willow, and wild black cherry. In localities south of the Arkansas-Platte divide the orange orange and catalpa speciosa might be tried.

The cottonwood, of which there are several varieties, is the pioneer tree of the plains. It is hardier, and has a more vigorous growth in this region than other species of which we have knowledge. The broad leaved variety is superior to the others. It is exceedingly useful for street and road-side planting, where speedy results are sought. Where irrigation is freely practiced, the hickory, butternut, black walnut, white elm, linden, box elder and other varieties of maple are likely to do well.

Several species of trees native to the State, if carefully transplanted, would be likely to thrive in altitudes as great as 9,000 to 11,000 feet. Among those worthy of trial in such situations may be named the cottonwood, aspen ("quaking asp") box elder, dwarf maple, alder and wild cherry.

Evergreens, when healthful and perfect, with drooping branches sweeping the ground, are beautiful objects. To successfully transplant and grow them is a work of skill, but the extra labor and difficulty in such cases often secures the most gratifying results. Though not recommended for Arbor Day planting by schools they might be freely used under other and more favorable circumstances.

METHOD OF TRANSPLANTING. Where schools or other organizations engage in the work, experienced tree planters should do the actual planting, heaps of earth being left for those who do the more mercenary parts.

Before bringing the trees on the ground, dig large holes, and procure plenty of rich, fine soil to fill in around the roots of the trees. If manure of any kind is used, do not place it in contact with the roots. In taking up the trees be careful to save with each all the roots possible, especially the fine or fibrous ones, and remove the trees at once to the place where they are to stand. Do not allow them to be long exposed to the sun or wind. If it seems necessary, shorten the side branches (never the leader) to correspond with loss of root which the trees may have sustained. Cut off smoothly the rough or broken ends of roots, spread them out at length in the hole—for good "anchorage" and further nutrition of the trees. Set the trees about the depth they naturally grew, wet the roots thoroughly and sift in around them good, fine soil. Press the earth down firmly, leave no spaces, water (though not too freely) while filling in, and avoid heaping the earth around the trunks. A close contact of the soil with the rootlets, is the success in planting. Mulch the surface around the trees with leaves, straw or litter of some kind.

AFTER CARE. After the trees are transplanted, secure them from harm in some effective way. Those along the street or roadside should be protected by strong posts or rails, placed at such a distance outside of the trees that the latter may be beyond the reach of horses. The barbarism of hitching horses to young and growing trees should be suppressed. School children should also be taught to respect the trees and the importance of letting them alone. Each tree planted in school grounds might be placed in charge of, and named for, some meritorious pupil; the child so honored to be held responsible for the care and growth of the tree. It is cruel and wasteful to remove a thrifty tree from its home and let it perish for want of care. Treat it as a friend, nourish and protect it, and in after years it will amply reward you with its shade and beauty.

A Conditional Pardon.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 1.—Governor Campbell to-day pardoned Samuel White, a life prisoner, from the Ohio State prison. There is a peculiar story connected with his imprisonment. His crime was murder; and he was intoxicated when he committed it. He was convicted in 1871. Governor Foster pardoned him in 1881 on the condition that he should never drink intoxicating liquors. He observed this condition until last summer, when he began a terrible jamboree and frightened all Portsmouth. For this he was brought back to prison. Governor Campbell now pardons him under the same conditions.

CONGRESSIONAL.

THURSDAY, MARCH 27.

SENATE.—A bill was passed authorizing the secretary of war to purchase 2,000 tents to shelter the people driven out by the floods in the Mississippi Valley.

The anti-trust bill was then taken up, when the amendment excepting from the prohibitions of the law combinations of workmen and farmers, came up and Mr. Edmunds spoke at some length in opposition to the bill.

A motion by Mr. Walthall to refer the bill and amendments to the judiciary committee to report back in twenty days was then agreed to.

The Senate bill granting pensions to ex-soldiers and sailors, incapacitated for manual labor and to dependent relatives of deceased soldiers and sailors, was taken up and discussed.

The House bill for the admission of Wyoming was ordered printed.

HOUSE.—The House met at 11 o'clock in continuation of Wednesday's session, when the House bill for the admission of Wyoming was taken up.

Mr. Outwater of Ohio opposed the bill upon the ground of the insufficiency of the population.

Mr. Springer of Illinois said the Life is worth living for Sam Jones. He was presented with a purse of $2,500 last Sunday, in recognition of the value of his work at Fort Worth.

Judge Hazledine is doing splendid work at Washington for this territory. He appears to have more influence at the national capital than Delegate Joseph.

O. D. Crowell, well and favorably known in Santa Fe and at Las Vegas, was brutally murdered at Trinidad, Colorado, on Tuesday night by a policeman named Jake Moseman.

The New York Chinese have issued an address to their fellow countryman calling on them to unite in an effort to lay their grievances in a proper manner before the American people.

Idaho has been admitted to statehood but New Mexico's delegate has thus far made no progress towards opening the door for her admission. The way to remedy the trouble is to send a republican delegate to congress.

The Santa Fe artesian well is to be sunk through bed-rock, with a hope that a flow of water may be reached. The people of the Rio Grande valley are vitally interested in this enterprise, and if it proves successful other wells will be sunk.

J. H. Overheels, H. E. Pierce and R. F. Hardy have formed the Land & Live Stock Commission company, of Las Vegas, and propose to handle land and stock on commission. They are good and active young men and will make a rustling firm.

It appears that Jay Gould's visit to El Paso had nothing to do with the White Oaks road. He was beginning on an extension of the Texas Pacific into Mexico. We are sorry the enthusiasm of the friends of the White Oak must be so suddenly cooled, but evidently Mr. Gould is looking for a bigger thing.

The philosophical editor of the Las Vegas Optic reasons as follows on the problem of advertising:

When a hen lays an egg she cackles. When a man gets in a new stock, it is human for him to crow over it. When a hen cackles people know that she has laid in a fresh stock and feels rather proud of it. When the merchant opens his new styles, and blows his trumpets in the newspapers, people know that he has something on hand that is worth advertising, and patronize him accordingly.

The house committee on the liquor tariff has authorized the favorable report of a bill creating a liquor traffic commission which will inquire into the social, political and general evils of the trade in alcoholic beverages. If the bill becomes a law and the commission does its work thoroughly, the country will be started when the report is made public, for it will show that the long train of crimes, social evils and political corruption is the result of rum. It will show that the annual expenditure for rum is over $900,000,000, while the meat bill is $800,000,000, bread bill $550,530,000, boots and shoes less than $385,000,000, sawed lumber $306,095,000, woollen goods $222,053,000, sugar and molasses $193,597,000 public education $85,000,000.

Sad Death.

Special Correspondent Lincoln Independent.

NOGAL, N. M., April 2, 1890. We are sorry to record the death of Mrs. J. E. Sligh, of Nogal, on March 29th last. She seemed to be in good enough spirits and apparently well and hearty. On Friday night she sat, in company with others, with Mrs. E. T. Gallatin, who is very sick. She went home Saturday morning, did some work during the day and talked with friends after dark at her door. When next seen, on Sunday morning, (near sun up), by Mr. Sligh, she was lying on her bed dead. She still had her handkerchief in her hand; it was saturated with chloroform. She had not taken off her corset or shoes, but had taken off her corset and laid down and died all alone. None of her folks was in town but Mr. Sligh. Her children were sent for at their ranch 30 miles away, and arrived Monday at 10:15 a. m. Funeral by Rev. Thomas of M. E. Church 2 p. m., and buried at Nogal immediately after; Justice C. B. Ayers hastily summoned a jury which rendered a verdict of "death from an overdose of chloroform administered by herself." Everybody that could go, went to the grave with the remains of the good woman who had no enemies and who was a friend and favorite with all who knew her well. Nogal has had no sadder experience in her short history than this.

It is a great pity that some good people in this world should be harassed and distressed beyond their powers of endurance, as we are told is the case in the sad death of Mrs. Sligh.

A Safe Land.

From the Silver City Enterprise.

While other sections of the Union are being devastated by flood and tornado and robbed of life and wealth by wind and water, New Mexico remains in placid security blessed with plenty and happiness. It is doubtful whether a tornado could arise in our favored land and climate, and if arising more doubtful yet could it dispossulate and destroy; while the mere mention of the possible overflow of the rivers within the domain and the occurrence of a flood anywhere in its productive valleys and lowlands is the pinnacle of fancy itself.

New Mexico is a dry and sunlit land, and listening to the roar of the wind of the tornado and the wild splash of the engulfing flood that comes to us from other places, accompanied as those are by the groan of the dying and the wail of the ruined, we say it is good to be here.

This is no argument for or against statehood perhaps, but it is something that should set the wheels of the golden chariot of immigration to moving. Tornadoes arising and securing volume among the great lakes, New Mexico is far away from those. Flood and deluge come from the slow-running and sluggish low banked rivers and streams. The water of New Mexico are swift and blue, hedged in by towering, rock ribbed walls. Try New Mexico for a year.

New Mexico's Land Disputes.

The new Surveyor General of New Mexico proposes a new way of settling the numerous land grant disputes which are constantly arising in that Territory. He claims that the duty regarding the land grants imposed on the government by the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo is legislative or ministerial and not judicial. Therefore, he suggests that the government proceed to survey into townships all the lands claimed under old Spanish and Mexican grants and also the lands contiguous to them. Then as disputes arise as to their ownership, they are to be determined by the land department in the ordinary way. First they will be heard by the register and receiver of the local land office in the ordinary way. The beaten party may appeal to the Commissioner of the General Land Office and from him to the Secretary of the Interior, whose decision is to be final. This is a simple and expeditious method, and if put into practice would soon settle the disputes over land titles, that have been so great a damage to New Mexico, and it would be as apt to work justice as any other.

It is essential to New Mexico's prosperity that the controversies growing out of the old land grants should be speedily settled in some way. It would be better that hardships should come to some individuals than that the general public should continue to suffer.

The Flood.

The greatest flood ever known is now raging in the Mississippi and its tributaries. In the flooded Laconia circle in that section of country between Helena and Arkansas City, lying between the Mississippi and White River the people have been in the tops of their houses and clinging to trees for a week. Many of them are nearly starved to death and many of their cattle which were placed on platforms were washed away and drowned. The citizens of Helena sent the steamer Houston Cooms down Thursday to aid the people. Friday men went over the whole circle in skiffs and transferred people from the trees and roofs to gin houses which are generally large substantial houses. They are packed with people, two hundred in some of them. The Cooms brought out 130 people and 110 head of stock arriving at Helena yesterday. When then Cooms came out the steamer Titon with barges is going. It is thought they can bring out all the remaining stock and as many people as desired to go away. Many planters are utterly ruined.

J. P. C. Langston, deputy sheriff arrested Juan Duran on Wednesday last. Duran is wanted at Las Vegas in default as a bondsman. He is in custody of the officer awaiting the arrival of the officer from San Miguel county.—Interpreter.

FORT STANTON ITEMS.

Mrs. W. E. DeLany left for her home in Las Cruces, on the 4th. Mrs. A. W. Brewster leaves for Detroit, on the 15th, to visit her parents.

If you don't know what a "great mogul" is, ask Tommy Eubanks. Our new target range is fast approaching completion. It will be a "Jim Dandy" when finished. Lt. Porshing is chief engineer and does the heavy sitting around.

Dr. Taylor is seriously ill at Hot Springs, Ark. In his profession he has few equals and no superiors, and we do not believe God has ever succeeded in making a better man.

Register Cobean has received his papers, and will leave for Roswell on the 9th. His family will remain here for a few weeks, and then join him. He has lots of friends already in Roswell, and will have many more if the people know a sterling man when they meet him. Judge Andy Richardson of Captain, and Charley Wingfield of Ruidoso, visited the post during the week. We can stand off a good deal of legal talent but don't like to be "double shot" in this manner, come again, but one at a time please.

Lts. Paddock and Brewster will leave for duty on Heligoph Stations about the 25th. We hope they will be more fortunate than we were on our last trip. Owing to the carelessness of our assistant we lost the cork out of our field-glass and had to return for another.

Lt. Kirby, 10th infantry, has drawn the prize and is appointed canteen officer. It is surprising that some enthusiastic advocates of canteen has not suggested some insignia of rank or distinguishing badge for canteen officers and employers—we beg to submit the following: For canteen officers, a bottle with cork-screw attachment to be worn on inside coat pocket; side arms, a club, to be worn when on duty. For non-commissioned officers, acting steward, hop vine Arc, joining upper corner of chevrons, enclosed field azure; emblems, gules, to consist of corisworf, rampant, pigs foot and sandwich cowplant, for cow ornament, and buttons; the American Eagle in flight carrying in his talons the body of the dead post trader with streamers in beak, emblazoned with motto, "Intemperance for revenue only."

The southwest will soon have a regular deep water boom. New Mexico has a vital interest in this business, for direct rail communication with both Galveston and the Brazos harbor is not far off, and then what a fall there'll be in freight rates. Even now New Mexicans begin to hear quoted water rates from New York and Boston as against the "all rail" rates.

Root Crops.

The Field and Farm an agricultural paper of high standard says: Cereals do not usually do well on strongly alkali soil and we cannot advise you to sow wheat under such conditions. Root crops are best to plant for absorption of alkali, using sugar beets, rutabagas or mangled wurzels, the latter being the best of all. The best fertilizer to use is gypsum and plaster which is claimed will contract the alkali in the soil when liberally used.

This kind of fertilizer can be had in abundance and cheaply in this valley and the Field and Farm suggestion may be of value to our farmers.

TARIFF LITERATURE FOR ALL.

The AMERICAN PROTECTIVE TARIFF LEAGUE is publishing a most valuable series of 17 pamphlets. These are prepared with a view to state the facts and arguments for Protection, whether in the interest of farmers, laborers, mechanics or professional men. Each issue of the series appeals to those engaged in separate industries, and presents indisputable facts, comparisons of wages, cost of living, and other arguments showing the benefits of Protection. Any single one will be sent on receipt of 2 cents, and the whole series on receipt of 32 cents. The whole list will be sent for 30 cents or any two for 22 cents, or any five for 10 cents, postage paid. Order by number.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The editor of the Lincoln Independent says the following flattering things about our city and people:

Work on the court house foundation has begun.

Ten thousand acres of land have been filed on within a few miles of Roswell during the past few weeks. The reservoir boom does it, and those who have filed will never regret it.

Roswell has plenty of other good, live people, who would be a credit to any place, and who are all working night and day for the advancement of the town and surrounding country.

G. A. Richardson is taking an active part in tree planting, and every Roswell street will, in the years to come, be kept green and shady—a lasting monument to his energy and foresight.

Roswell is all right. There are no flies on her but what can and will be brushed off by Messrs. Enterprise & Investment. She is the Unconquered Queen of the Pecos Valley, and her crown is being forged.

Pat Garrett is the kind of a man any community should be proud of. There are absolutely no insects of any kind on Pat. He is always chuck full of business and is not afraid to tackle any enterprise which can possibly tend to advance the interest of Roswell and the Pecos Valley.

W. A. Jenkins & Co., are about to commence the erection of a warehouse on Main street to be used as an agricultural machinery depot. It will prove an immense success, as the reservoir system will bring hundreds of new farmers into the Valley, and they will have to have tools to work with.

One of the best additions Roswell has recently made to her population is Mr. C. H. Sparks, the wide awake representative of the Pauley Jail Co. He will prove one of the main factors in bringing the Pecos Valley to the front. He will at once invest $10,000 in a fine business block and $3,000 in a nice cottage home for himself.

The Stanton House, kept by Mrs. A. O'Neil, at Roswell, is one of the best hotels in New Mexico, and every person who once stops at Mrs. O'Neil is always thereafter a guest at her house, and always speaks a good word for her. It is to be hoped that Mrs. O'Neil will secure the new hotel building at Roswell when it is completed, as she can then have more rooms, as well as a first class table. Nothing speaks better for a new and growing town than a good hotel, and no one is more competent of running one than Mrs. O'Neil, and no one is more deserving of patronage than she.

A New Departure.

The young ladies of Kearney, Nebraska, so it is learned from the Enterprise, have hit up a scheme that might be made to avail much were it put to a test in Las Vegas. The young ladies there have formed what they please to call a "protective union." When a young man pays attention to one of the members, a committee of three is appointed to find out his standing, morally and financially. If the lover is all right, his good qualities are reported to the young lady in the presence of the club. If not, she is informed of it in private. If the young man is found to be a black sheep, and she continues to receive his attentions, she is dropped from the club. It is now proposed that all girls be expelled who allow the boys to escort them home from church, and such places, when they do not accompany them there. They don't want any timorous son of Adam hanging around them, unless he is all wool and a yard wide and means business.—Optic.

We would suggest the organization of such a club in Roswell, but that our young ladies do not remain young ladies long enough to accumulate in number sufficient to organize. This is the greatest place for matrimony we ever saw, and the only thing that prevents it being better is a scarcity of young ladies young widows or old maids.

CLOTHING

TO ORDER!

We carry a line of about 500 styles of samples for clothing, and you can find any color, weight, or style just the same as in a large city.

We take your measure, guarantee a fit, and make you a suit or a pair of pants, as good as any merchant tailor.

Our goods will be made up by Mills & Averile, of St. Louis, and their reputation as Merchant Tailors is too well established to require special mention.

Your measure will be taken by our Mr. Jaffa, who has about 10 years experience in that line, and is as much at home in measuring you for a full dress or wedding suit as a plain business suit. Give him a trial and let him convince you.

Our prices are the same as if you order direct from St. Louis.
