

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED.

A Passenger Train Runs Into an Open Draw.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 30.—One of the most horrible railway accidents ever known in California occurred at 1:40 o'clock this afternoon, when a local train connecting at Oakland with the ferry boats from San Francisco went through an open drawbridge over the San Antonio creek at Webster Street, Oakland.

A yacht had just passed through the draw when the train appeared going in the direction of Alameda. The drawbridge keeper endeavored to close the bridge, but too late, and the engine with the tender and first car, which was filled with passengers, plunged into the estuary. Engineer Sam Dunn and Fireman O'Brien went down with the engine. The former, when he saw that the bridge did not close, reversed the lever, but the momentum of the engine was too great to be stopped in time. The weight of the engine and first car broke the couplings and left the other two cars of the train standing on the track.

The second car ran about a third of the way across the bridge and stopped, but the jar was sufficient to break open the front of the car and many of the passengers were thrown into the water. The first car, which had fallen with the engine to the bottom of the muddy estuary, soon rose, and such of the passengers as had escaped therefrom were picked up by the yachts and small boats which gathered at the scene. The trainmen and the rest of the passengers went to aid in the work of rescue, and when a wrecking train from Oakland came the car was drawn into shallow water and small boats began dragging the creek for bodies.

The top of the passenger coach was cut open as soon as it was raised above the water and the work of removing the bodies commenced, thirteen being taken out in quick succession.

F. F. Finley of San Francisco said: "It was on the front seat facing the engine. Just as we approached the draw-bridge it seemed to me that the draw was open and that a fearful accident was inevitable. Just then a man jumped from the engine into the water, and then came a crash. A horrible crushing of timber and snapping of heavy iron work followed and at once consternation prevailed in the car. The next thing I saw the car was in the water and I found myself grasping for the door which I finally reached when that end of the car rose out of the water, and quite a number of people escaped in this manner, principally women and children. The car was about two-thirds full when we left the wharf, and I should judge there were at least from twenty-five to thirty people in it. There was a fearful outcry when the car began to fill but this was almost immediately hushed in one final wail of despair."

George T. Hawley of Oakland said there were about forty people, including children in the car.

A Des Moines Robbery.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 28.—Prof. Lawrence A. Southwick, the most prominent artist in Des Moines, was stabbed in his bed last night and robbed of from $500 to $1,000, which was in his trunk in his sleeping room.

The wounded man was discovered by one of his pupils, Miss Kate Frederick, about 10:30 o'clock this morning. She summoned two physicians who found the wounded man lying unconscious in a pool of blood upon the floor. Blood was upon his face, hands and legs, and his night dress was dyed all over with deep red. One inch above the left nipple she found a gash in the flesh where he had been stabbed. The wound was almost concealed by clotted blood, which also covered other parts of his chest. The flow of blood, which must have been very great, had ceased. The mammary artery had been severed by the assassin's knife, which had made a cut two inches in depth and had struck a rib.

The wounded man revived this evening sufficiently to briefly recount his experience.

He was awakened by a man in his room in the act of striking a match and raised up in bed. This caused the burglar to assault him and he was knocked unconscious with what he believed was a sand-bag. Afterwards he recovered sufficiently to get up and wander into the hall, down the first flight of stairs and back to his room where he fell unconscious upon the floor. The wounded man did not recognize his assailant and the police have no clue. The doctors think the wound may not prove fatal, the great loss of blood being the dangerous feature of the case.

A Sad Suicide.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 28.—A special from Mexico, Missouri, says: News has just reached here of the suicide of Miss Susie Richardson, which took place at her home near Ladonia last Tuesday. Miss Richardson was to be married to William Dandern, and at 4 o'clock the same day was arrayed in her bridal robes, when her mother went to her room and pleaded with her not to marry Dandern, as she was addicted to drinking. Miss Richardson acceded to her request, but was so overcome that she took a large dose of strychnine and died before medical aid could be obtained. At 4 o'clock today, just twenty-four hours after she was to have been a bride, she was buried, the Rev. Mr. Hill officiating here instead of at a wedding. The lover is so crazed with grief that he is constantly watched to prevent him killing himself.

Severe Storms in the Middle States.

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—Dispatches from West from Iowa say that that part of the State was visited by a terrific storm last night. Rain fell in torrents and in some places the wind reached the force of a tornado.

At Glasgow, Mills County, the chimney of the institute for feeble minded children was blown down and crashed through the roof, killing two and seriously injuring six inmates.

At Council Bluffs cellars were flooded, culverts washed out and contiguous country inundated, and crops were generally badly damaged and in some cases destroyed.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 8.—Merrill reports from Warsaw, a hamlet of 400 or 500 inhabitants, about five miles west of Lincoln, state that the town was swept away about 9 o'clock to night by a cyclone. Six persons are reported killed and twenty-five or more are injured. Telegraph wires are down and no particulars can be obtained.

The village of Loveland, Iowa, seems doomed. Last Saturday night a cloud burst carried away a number of houses and buildings. One family was rescued from tree tops the following morning, while one of them was swept away. The storm which prevailed over this section last night completed the demolition of the village. Boyer River, which, swollen by previous storms, overflowed from last night's rain and carried everything with it. Nothing was left of the hamlet save houses which stood on high ground. No loss of life is reported thus far.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A cyclone struck the little town of Bradstreet about ten o'clock this morning. The place has about 300 inhabitants, and nearly every house in the town is said to have been blown down. Five persons were killed outright, and several others were badly injured. The wires are down and particulars are not obtainable.

A Powder House Explodes.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, June 3.—This afternoon during a heavy storm, the lightning struck Tracy & Avery's powder house, located a mile east of the city. The house contained over 5,000 pounds of powder, which exploded, causing a tremendous report. Hundreds of windows in the city were broken, chimneys and glassware knocked from the shelves and people thrown from their feet. Many buildings in the vicinity were badly wrecked. Two frame dwelling houses on the opposite side of the street from the magazine were leveled to the ground. One of the houses was vacant and the other was occupied by Henry Roost, his wife and two children. The husband was absent at the time of the explosion. A six-month-old baby was instantly killed, and the mother and other child are thought to be fatally injured. Nothing remains of the powder house. The bricks were scattered in all directions, some being found a quarter of a mile distant.

If They Finish It.

PARIS, June 3.—The special Panama canal commission has prepared a report on the prospective earnings of the canal in case it is completed. In this annual cost of maintenance is placed at 5,000,000 francs. The expenses of administration are placed at 1,800,000 francs annually, and the cost of transit is estimated at 10,000,000 francs annually. The income for the first four years is estimated at 51,200,000 francs. This is calculated on an average annual tonnage for that period of 4,100,000 tons and the proposed rate of charge per ton is 12 1/2 francs. The commission estimates that after the first four years there would be an annual increase in the tonnage of 250,000 tons until a maximum tonnage of 6,000,000 tons should be reached. After the canal has been in operation twelve years the annual receipts all expenses being deducted, are estimated at 67,000,000 francs. This amount would be distributed between the present and future shareholders in accordance with the terms of a contract to be concluded between the old company and the new.

The Arid Lands.

In answer to inquiries regarding the application of the law withdrawing from entry lands which may be benefited by the government's irrigation schemes, the Attorney General says:

"The object of the act is manifest. It was to prevent entry upon, settlement and sale of all that part and region of the public lands of the United States which could be improved by a general system of irrigation, and all lands which might thereafter be designated or selected by United States surveys as sites for reservoirs, ditches, or canals in such system. It was the purpose of Congress by this act to suspend all rights of entry upon any lands which would come within the improving operation of the plans of irrigation to be reported by the director of the geological survey under this act. The language could hardly be stronger than are the words of the act in expressing this intention. Entries should not be permitted, therefore, upon any part of the arid regions which might possibly come within the operation of this act."

The general effect of this opinion, if the law is modified, will be to reserve from settlement and entry practically the whole of the great arid region.

COUNTING THE PEOPLE.

Some of the Inquiries to be Made by the Census Enumerator in June.

The eleventh census of the United States will be taken during the month of June. The census enumerators will begin their work on Monday June 2, and will visit every house and ask questions concerning every person and every family in the United States. The questions that will be asked call for the name of every person residing in the United States on the first day of June, with their sex and age, and whether white, black, mulatto, quadroon, octoroon, Chinese, Japanese, or Indian. Inquiry will be made also of every person as to whether they are single, married, widowed, or divorced, and, if married during the census year. The place of birth of each person, and the place of birth of the father and mother of each person, will also be called for, as well as a statement as to the profession, trade, or occupation followed and the number months unemployed during the census year. For all persons ten years of age or over a return must be made by the enumerator as to the number able to read and write, and also the number who can speak English. For those who cannot speak English the particular language or dialect spoken by them will be ascertained. For children of school age, also, the number of months they attended school will be recorded by the census enumerators. In the case of mothers an inquiry will be made as to the number of children they have had, and number of those children living at the present time. This inquiry is to be made of all women who are or have been married, including all who are widows or have been divorced. Foreign-born males of adult age, that is, twenty-one years of age or over, will be asked as to the number of years they have been in the United States, and whether they are naturalized or have taken out naturalization papers. Of the head of each family visited the question will be asked as to the number of persons in the family, and whether his home is owned or hired; also, if owned, whether the home is free from mortgage incumbrance. If the head of the family is a farmer, similar inquiries will be made concerning the ownership of the farm. In addition to these inquiries, all of which are made on the population schedule, the law under which the census is taken makes provision for special inquiries concerning such of the population as may be mentally or physically defective in any respect, that is, insane, feeble minded, deaf, blind or crippled, or who may be temporarily disabled by sickness, disease or accident at the time of the enumerator's visit. Certain special inquiries will also be made concerning inmates of prisons and reformatories and of charitable and benevolent institutions. Besides this, a statement will be called for concerning all persons who have died during the census year, giving their name, age, sex, occupation and cause of death.

This official count of the people comes but once in ten years, and every family and every person should consider it to be their duty to answer the questions of the census enumerators willingly and promptly so that definite and accurate information may be gained concerning the 65,000,000 people living within the bounds of this great country.

A Statue of General R. E. Lee.

The Confederate veterans of the South unveiled a statue in memory of General Lee at Richmond, May 29th.

The Lee monument is situated at the intersection of two broad streets in the fashionable residence section. It consists of a white granite pedestal forty feet high, with six pedestals for statues of Lee's generals, to be placed hereafter. Upon the pedestal stands a bronze equestrian statue of Lee twenty feet high. It represents Lee upon the battlefield of Gettysburg. While the figures of both horse and man are in repose, all theatrical effect being avoided, it is full of life and spirit. It is the work of Mercie, the French sculptor.

When the statue was unveiled the crowd in the vicinity was estimated at 140,000. Those who participated in the procession numbered 20,000. There were 70,000 strangers in the city during the day.

A brilliant display of fireworks took place at night, the most striking features being representations of the equestrian statue of Lee and pictures of Jefferson Davis and Stonewall Jackson.

He reported the matter to the main office and was told to write out his story which would be forwarded to Washington.

The Original Package Act.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Senator Blair, in a letter to the New York Mail and Express, goes into ecstasies over the passage of the Wilson bill to nullify the "original package" decision.

He says the first gun at Sumpter was hardly more startling to the American people than the decision of the Supreme Court. That decision put the bottle to the mouth of every person in Iowa and in the United States by the strong hand of Federal power. That decision revealed the true nature of the national constitution as the citadel of the liquor trade. Even the liquor trade itself had not realized its strength before. In most of the States dealers were unobstructed in the full freedom of their trade.

The States and the Nation were in accord for free trade in rum, but they had not realized that by the "original package" power they were really supreme in the prohibition States. The friends of temperance now seem to fully comprehend that unless the power to carry the "original package" to the pocket of every consumer is destroyed, there is not only an end to all State regulation by license or option or by any other means, hence the very active and successful effort under the Wilson bill in the Senate to give legislative power to the State to exercise their police power over the "original package" as soon as it arrives at the place of destination within the State, without waiting for the importer to sell it or to further mingle it with the mass of property in the State.

If this measure becomes law, and I can see no reasonable cause for failure, it will be a landmark in the history of the temperance cause. By its provisions the State will possess full power over all liquors as soon as they arrive within its boundary, and nothing but an adverse decision of the court upon its constitutionality can defeat its beneficent results. Such an adverse decision is not probable, for the people will not brook a construction of their fundamental law which will subject any State to the crimes and miseries let loose upon us by the late decision. This is a long step toward the good time coming, when every State shall become a prohibition State and the whole Nation shall engraft into its fundamental law the death warrant of this nefarious traffic. "The world is moving."

Dedication of the Garfield Memorial.

CLEVELAND, O., May 30. The Garfield Memorial in Lakeview Cemetery was dedicated to-day with imposing ceremonies in the presence of the President and cabinet, members of Congress and other distinguished people from all over the country.

The memorial is a colossal structure 166 feet high and cost $150,000. The exercises began with a parade of military and civic societies. Thousands lined the streets through which the procession passed. The decorations along the line of march and all over the city were the finest ever seen here.

The procession was two hours in passing a given point and was five miles in length. There were at least 25,000 men in line. President Harrison in the course of his brief remarks said: "This monument, so grand and tasteful, fittingly typifies the broad and symmetrical character of him in whose honor it has been built. His was 'The arduous greatness of things done.' No friendly hands constructed and placed for his ambition the ladder upon which he rose to the heights of public usefulness and fame. He never ceased to be a student and instructor."

General Sherman said: "I have come here to your beautiful city to pay my tribute of love to James Abram Garfield, I see no statue of Garfield from where I stand, but I see a temple, a monument erected to his memory—not for you and me, boys, for your careers are run, but for our children who are to come after us. There it will stand, pointing to heaven, seen from the beautiful lake and to those who come after us by land and by sea. It points to a man who was the finest type of manhood, of soldier and citizen that my memory recalls."

Fort Worth Spring Palace Burned.

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 30.—Fort Worth's pride and glory, the Spring Palace, is to-night a heap of blackened ruins, it having been swept out of existence by fire, which broke out on the second floor at 10:30 o'clock, just as the evening concert was over, and preparations were being made to begin the annual Spring Palace ball.

At the time the first note of alarm was sounded, there were several thousand people in the building, and in an instant, what had been a scene of play, pleasure and happiness, was transformed into a perfect pandemonium. Up stairs and down stairs, could be heard the shrieks of women and children, and the rush of thousands of people to the many entrances of the building, sounded like the roar of a mighty wind.

In less than a moment after the first flames were discovered the entire upper part of the structure was one sea of roaring fire and it spread with rapidity to the lower floors. The fire department contingent, which was stationed in the building, was powerless to stay for an instant the onward rush of the flames, but notwithstanding this, strange as it may appear, not one person was burned to death. Several were badly scorched and one dangerously, and several were badly injured by falling and being trampled on by the rushing thousands.

A Canadian family was poisoned the other day by eating wild parsnip which the father had dug up in the woods while searching for medicine for a sick horse. Four surveyors belonging to a Burlington & Missouri River outfit have been lost for three days in the bad lands in Eastern Johnson County, Wyo. A force of men are out hunting for them.

CONGRESSIONAL.

THURSDAY, May 29

SENATE.—Mr. Stewart made an attack upon Major Powell in reply to his statement published in the papers. The Bureau of Geology and Mineralogy was nothing, Mr. Stewart said, but a mass of humbug and foolishness.

Mr. Gorman defended Major Powell as valuable public officer, who discharged his duty faithfully. The bill regarding "original packages" of liquor was taken up and passed, 84 to 10. It provides that liquors transported into any State or Territory for use, consumption or sale (or storage) shall, on their arrival, be subject to the operation and effect of the laws of such State or Territory enacted in the exercise of its police power and should not be exempt therefrom by reason of their being inclosed in the original packages.

House.—The House then went into committee of the whole on public building bills. The following public building bills were laid aside favorably: Stockton, California, $75,000; Pueblo, Colorado, $150,000; Portland, Oregon, $100,000. There was a lively tilt on the question of public building bills, and Mr. Mills asked what the direction of the committee was, and Mr. Miliken replied that two Republican bills would be called up and then one Democratic bill. Mr. Allen declared that the whole system was vicious and that politics should have nothing to do with the question. The committee finally rose, the agriculture bill was reported and the House adjourned until Monday.

MONDAY, JUNE 2.

SENATE.—A Senate conference committee was ordered on the naval appropriation bill.

Petitions were presented from Kansas City for reciprocity in trade with Mexico; from New Hampshire and Vermont against further concessions to Pacific railroads and in favor of the government taking possession of them.

The Senate bill to grant the right of way through public lands for irrigation purposes was reported and placed on the calendar.

The conference report on the military academy appropriation bill was agreed to.

The conference report on the military appropriation bill was again taken up and agreed to.

The silver bill was taken up and discussed by Senators Morrill and Harris.

House.—Upon motion of Delegate Smith of Arizona, the rules were suspended and the House passed the bill transferring the expense of the trials of Indians for crimes committed on other Indians in the territories from the territories to the United States.

The following bills were passed: A bill granting an American register to the steamer Australia of California; a bill providing for an additional associate justice for the Supreme Court of New Mexico.

On motion of Mr. Morrow the Senate bill was passed relieving the Union Iron Works of San Francisco from certain penalties (amounting to $33,000), incurred in the construction of the man-of-war Charleston.

TUESDAY, JUNE 3.

SENATE.—Among the memorials presented and referred were resolutions from the Louisiana Legislature extending thanks to Congress and the President for relief afforded the sufferers from the recent floods.

The committee on education and labor reported to the Senate a bill to provide for obligatory attendance at school of children in Alaska, and a Senate bill, without recommendation, to organize bureaus of information relating to employment, occupation and means of livelihood. Placed on the calendar. The silver bill was then taken up and Mr. Pugh addressed the Senate. The speech was largely devoted to a criticism of the tariff bill. He concluded with the statement that he would join his vote to the votes of those who were in favor of free, unlimited and compulsory coinage of gold and silver bullion. He was followed by Senator Farwell.

House.—The Senate bill was passed changing the boundaries of the reservation of the Uncompahgre Utes, and the House then proceeded to the consideration of the Alabama contested election case of McDuffie vs. Turpin.

Mr. Comstock, of Minnesota, opened the discussion with an argument in favor of the contestant. Mr. Crisp presented the claims of the contestee, and pending further debate the House adjourned.

RESERVOIR ALL RIGHT.

Word has been received from Mr. Sparks at St. Louis, that the reservoir is a sure go. We have not a full report of the meeting of the stockholders, but we don't care so long as one fact being true. We may expect work to begin in 30 days. Three cheers and a Tiger.

The Governor's Sickness.

Gov. Prince is lying prostrated by a severe and dangerous attack of heart failure and nervous prostration. Those familiar with his tireless activity and incessant work during the last year will not be surprised that nature has at last called a halt. Every morning has found him in his office at an early hour and the light in the palace window has been one of the latest at night. It was a rare thing for more than five hours to be devoted to sleep. Every public matter was carefully attended to. No letter from at home or abroad but received a polite and considerate answer and the multitude of visitors to the executive office were always courteously received.

He had hoped that it would not be necessary to accompany the delegation to Washington, but when the duty became imperative, he entered upon it with his accustomed energy. The chairmanship of the delegation entailed special responsibility and labor, but his earnest desire for the success of the effort overcame all consideration of health. He returned to Santa Fe ten days ago thoroughly exhausted from the trip, but immediately went to work to clear away the great mass of business which had accumulated during his absence.

Last Monday night he was at work till a late hour on voluminous papers connected with pardons, and complained of feeling very tired. On Tuesday morning he was early at the office, but returned home to breakfast at 8 o'clock, it was then that the sudden attack of heart failure, which seemed to threaten immediate death, occurred. Powerful remedies were at once used and it was hoped that with quiet and cessation of work there would be no further danger. When feeling partially restored, however, he had his private secretary bring his typewriter to the house, and on Wednesday and Thursday attended to all necessary business. This brought on a second attack on Thursday evening, followed by another on Friday morning, and his physician now demands absolute rest and quiet, with not even a mention of business for a number of days. All New Mexicans will join with this journal in a hope for a speedy recovery.

Let Us Crow.

The Eddy Argus had its rooster out last week crowing over the railroad news. We join in your rejoicings. Hurrah for the Pecos valley. This is what the Argus says:

"The railroad is now an assured fact. The contract has been let to Bradbury & Co., and the work must be finished by the first of November. Hurrah! The town was all excitement for hours, everybody yelled. At night a big bonfire was built and was surrounded by hundreds of joyful citizens. Anvils were fired until nearly twelve o'clock.

As night of the Argus readers know, the railroad starts from Pecos City, or near there, on the Texas and Pacific, and will be built direct to Eddy. From here it will be continued up the river to Roswell, and probably later on will connect with the Santa Fe. The steel and rolling stock has been purchased and delivered at the ground, work will commence immediately. Hurrah!

One of the greatest mistakes made by the city of El Paso was its failure to secure the building of the White Oaks railroad. As it now stands the Pecos Valley road, which will be built to Eddy within the next year, will cut off a large trade that might have been directed in channels that would have brought in to El Paso for all time to come.—Rio Grande Republican.

WATER AND WEALTH

Roswell, the Queen City of the Southern Plains, and Something of Her Institutions.

Many Irrigation Enterprises—Magnificent Farms—An Inviting Country and a Hospitable People.

The Santa Fe New Mexican in its issue of the 7th inst. has a six column write-up of Roswell and Chaves county. We copy a portion of the article, and regret that our limited space forbids the publication of the entire article: "It is surprising that right here in New Mexico, which furnishes every variety of climate and atmospheric condition, from a sard storm to a Neapolitan moonlight night, there are large numbers of persons unaware of the possibilities of a large portion of the territory, and more particularly speaking of

THE PECOS VALLEY, which contains an area of tens of thousands of square miles, and which, for several years past, has been controlled principally by range cattlemen. Twenty years ago, where the town of Roswell now stands, may have been seen one small adobe building, in which was kept a scanty stock of goods and a postoffice. At a somewhat later date the situation was not much changed. Southeastern New Mexico, in what is now known as

CHAVES COUNTY was nothing but a vast bleak plain as far as the eye could reach, inhabited principally by Indians and a few adventurous men, who had begun the somewhat arduous but profitable business of cattle raising.

Until about six years ago the entire section traversed by the Pecos was the bovine paradise of the southwest. To say that this is a grand country would be but a modest expression. It is a country that has the past two years had the human fide poured over its surface from almost every nation. Only a few short years ago a vast cattle range, the home of the Indian and the grazing ground for the buffalo and antelope! To-day, dotted for hundreds of miles, with windmills, barns, houses, orchards, stock-yards and corrals, which tell the story of the transition. No more favorable spot has yet been found in the great west for the carrying on of every agricultural industry known since the days of Abraham. From the northern boundary of Chaves county to the Texas line on the south, and from the mountains on the west to the eastern boundary of the territory, the prairie rolls off in green, billowy waves, clothed with the long, succulent grasses, which have made it for years the ideal range for the cattle of dozens of large companies. In fact its late development in the shape of

LARGE AND SMALL FARMS

For the raising of cereals, vegetables and fruit, has been by the affection the latter felt for the country which supplied such unlimited feed for their herds. The cattle companies were on the ground first. Their herds roamed over vast areas without let or hindrance, and the grasses which grew in rich and rank profusion, promised wealth to every one who cared to turn two-year old loose.

THE FARMER

came into Texas, peeped over the line and saw the cattlemen were monopolizing a rich and fertile country which could be made to pay a thousand times more by cultivation than by the ranging of cattle in the grass. The farmer's heart, always eager to realize the most, longed for this vineyard, and in such a practical, business-like manner, that the day is not far distant when the domain will be his. The struggle over this fertile corner of New Mexico between the agriculturist and stockmen is now on. It is the exact repetition of what has been done in Iowa, Kansas and elsewhere. The stockman generally knows a good thing when he sees it and says but little about it to his friends or strangers. Inevitably there comes a time when he is found out—that he is monopolizing a piece of ground that could be made to pay better by cultivation. The plow comes and the Texas steer moves back, not without a mild whoop of the cowboy, but he goes just the same. It so happens in this favored portion of the territory a

has been effected in a very short time, and a still greater change is to be brought about within the next few months. The farmer is getting the upper hand and will continue to hold it, and the cattlemen are not discouraged. They realize that quite as much money can be made out of their business by feeding as by ranging, and the profit is disbursed by two pairs of hands were formerly it went into one.

WHY SUCH A CHANGE, in so short a time is the question which naturally confronts every man who sees or hears of the Pecos valley. One word suffices to answer—water. Like nearly the whole of the western country, this section has to depend upon artificial means of watering the lands to insure crops, and although the valley has a magnificent water supply, it has been the problem of the people how to distribute this water over the surface. The question has at last been solved, and by so doing hundreds of thousands of acres of fine land will be brought under successful cultivation and the vast prairie turned into one big field of grain, grass, orchards, vineyards, etc."

In Favor of the Defendant.

The ditch case between Miloy and Jerold, of Lower Pecosco, which has kept about fifty men here for a week, was decided to-day by Judge McFie in favor of Jerold, the defendant.—Mesilla Valley Democrat.

This was a case against a large settlement of farmers on the Lower Pecosco river, brought by Mr. Miloy, but in the interest of the Reservoir company recently organized there. This new company are through Miloy claiming all the water in the Pecosco river, and attempted by injunction to restrain about 25 or 30 farmers, who located one and two years ago and have ditches and are improving farms, from using any of the water of the river. It would have been a severe blow on these settlers if their suit had prevailed. The case will probably come up at the next term of court to determine the prior rights of the parties.

D. M. OSBURN MOWERS AND MOLINE PLOWS.

To those who use Machinery, and especially to the farmers of this country, we take this method of bringing to your notice that we are handling machinery, and the kind that you need, and guarantee any machine that we propose to sell, to give entire satisfaction, or no sale.

We have on hand the best Mower that was ever introduced in this country, and for many reasons: 1st.—It is the lightest draft machine made, no side draft, no weight on your horses necks, the draft comes direct from the main bar underneath the tongue. 2d.—It has the loose and flexible cutting bar, the outer end will drop 2 1/2 ft. into a ditch; the very thing you farmers need in this country to cut over your ditches. Other mowers can't do this, as they are stiff in the heel. 3d.—The pittman runs in a straight line from a direct powerful stroke. In fact we are willing to give the D. M. Osburn a field test, and put up $50.00 fifty dollars that with two 800 lb. ponies we can cut as much grass as any other machine with any size horses or mules, and we can cut over ground they can't, and do good work. All we want is to sell our machine, if you want one, is to give us a trial and we will willingly go and let you see it work and satisfy you it is all we represent it to be and that is the best mower made. The Stevens arched all spring tooth harrows needs no recommendation from us, for some of your best farmers have it and don't hesitate to say it is the best they ever saw, and the very thing the country needs. Will have on hand binding twine and extras for all machines we handle. Will have in a few days the Moline Plow of ever description and Rakes, the flying Dufferman J. R., the best three wheel plow that is made, as some of your farmers can testify to. The Moline cultivators with their 1 1/2 plows (bull tongue) the very thing to go down in the ground and cultivate your corn, corn planters, and in fact everything that is needed in farming will be here in a few days. We handle the K. C. Hay press, full circle all steel, and a No. 1 press; there is one now being used by Mr. P. F. Garrett, and gives satisfaction. Bailing wire we carry for any one wishing it, and it we should not have on hand what you want will take pleasure in ordering it for you, and will sell as low as goods can be sold by any one to be of first-class quality, for we handle no other goods. Come and see for yourselves and let me tell you what Osburn Mowers can do. Will take grain for machinery.

—The census for precinct No. 7 has been completed, and the census enumerator, George Sena went to work in precinct No. 19 Monday morning.

—In giving the number of pounds of wool clipped and sold by A. B. Liles a couple of weeks ago, we said it amounted to 1,500, when it should have been 25,000 pounds. Quite a difference.
—Lee L. Wells, captain R. B. B. C., returned Monday from Bonney's ranch, where he has been for the past week hunting his horse. He failed to find him, so returned home to get ready for the trip to Eddy.

—F. G. Hodson, our young and handsome photographer, returned from the mountains Friday, where he has been for several weeks taking pictures and views. He reports having a nice trip. Mr. Hodson is one of our best ball players and will now get a practice for the coming great struggle.
—Mr. Pollock, one of the old residents of Roswell, sold his farm on the north side of Spring river to Mr. Chas. Wilson, of the Pecos Valley Mercantile Co., and with his family immigrated to the Lone Star state last week, where he will make his future home. We understand that he received $1,000 for his place.

—Rev. P. W. Rhoads, former pastor of the Baptist church of this city, rusticating in the southern part of the Territory for the past two years, arrived in the city Friday and left on this morning's train for Pueblo, Colorado.—Optic.
—We learn from good authority that Mr. Rhoads will not return to Roswell for several months.
—The range country between Roswell and Carthage is in a very bad condition on account of the long continued drouth, there is very little grass to be seen and cattle are very poor in most places. In the mountain country along by Nogal the cattle are said to be dying from eating oak leaves, which on account of the absence of any grass they live upon. These oak leaves are dry and indigestible.
—At the Fourth of July meeting Thursday evening, the committee appointed to interview our citizens, made a report to the effect that owing to the non-completion of the hotel and our inability to provide accommodations for visitors, no celebration be had this year. They recommend that if the Eddy ball club comes here on the 4th that a ball be given on the evening of that day, to which they pledge their hearty support.
—Three soldiers were sent out from Fort Stanton a few days ago with a four mule team and buckboard as a relay for a party coming from the railroad. Instead of meeting the party they dodged around and kept on to the railroad for the purpose of deserting. They cut the telegraph wire twice between Stanton and Carthage, and barely escaped on a train just as the order came for their arrest. The mules and buckboard were recovered.—Independent.
—William Prager, manager of the Roswell baseball club, recently offered to bet $500 that his club could beat the Albuquerque nine, and the manager of the latter was afraid to take the bet! A great bluffer is Mr. Prager.—Eddy Argus.
—Argus's "oil right." Call them bluffs if you want to, but Mr. Prager is always prepared to make his bluffs stick. We expect however that he will demonstrate that fact later on. Sabo?
—Dr. M. E. Taylor, former post surgeon at Ft. Stanton, well known and beloved by Lincoln county people, is at Hot Springs, Arkansas, from which place he writes us that his health is much improved, he says he fears he may never entirely shake off the result of his trip to Seven Rivers shortly before he left for Boise City. We hope his recovery will be complete that his life may be prolonged to great usefulness in his profession and pleasure to himself.
—J. A. Erwin, of the Roswell Register, and the ablest blonde editor in New Mexico, paid us a very pleasant visit on Thursday last. He is not simply a fait as a pencil shaver but has taken all the degrees becoming an accomplished gentleman. We hope to meet him many times again in our holy-of-holys.—Lincoln Co. Leader.
—Thanks awfully, Major; we assure you our visit to the "moral center" was very enjoyable and we trust not without an elevating tendency.
—The Trinidad Advertiser says the following: "The Maxwell branch will some day be extended to Las Vegas and then on south to Fort Sumner and through the Pecos valley to Roswell where it will join the Pecos Valley railroad. From Pecos station the line would in all probability be extended on through the valley as far as the Rio Grande river and then in a southeasterly direction to Aransas Pass and Corpus Christi. Such a road as this would pass through one of the most productive portions of the United States. Leaving Trinidad it would strike the timber lands of New Mexico, next the Cerillos mining districts, then the Fort Sumner cattle ranges and close upon that the fertile lands of the Pecos valley and the White Oaks mining districts. Between the Rio Grande and Corpus Christi, it is said to be one of the best cotton, sheep and cattle countries in the great southwest. Such a railroad of which we speak would pass through the midst of it. A railroad of this kind is undoubtedly one of the probabilities of the near future."
—The Rock Island Still in the Ring.
—We clip the following from an exchange: "The extension of the southwestern division of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific has been completed from Ft. Reno, I. T., the present terminus, south a distance of 15 miles to the north line of the Chickasaw nation country. The bridge over the Canadian river will be over a half mile long. That road is evidently heading for El Paso by the way of the Pecos, if the Santa Fe does not throw out a line and head it off."
—The Santa Fe can't head it off. The Rock Island is bound to be built to El Paso and via Roswell and the Pecos valley, see if it don't.
—Another Benedicte.
—John Donaldson surprised his friends by getting married the other day. He has been an old bachelor for so long that people began to think him invincible to the charms of the fair sex, but a fair flower from the far away north captured, what after all proved to be his susceptible heart. The fair charmer was a Miss McCallum, lately from Canada, she is a sister of our friend Ezra McCallum, and is a very estimable young lady. Everybody knows John to be one of our best young (?) men, and we tender to the happy pair our best wishes for a prosperous journey through life. The wedding ceremony took place at the residence of Ezra McCallum on Wednesday, Rev. Caleb Maule officiating.

Let the Boom Come.

The railroad will be in operation as far as the town of Eddy, by the first of November, according to the terms of the contract between the Pecos Valley R. R. Co., and Mr. Bradbury, the Colorado railroad and ditch builder. By that time also the P. I. & I. Company will be ready for business along the line of their canals, or at least the lower one. These things being done, the lower Pecos Valley and Eddy, the Pearl thereof, will be on what has lately been termed a boom, that is, it will be a lively place, many people will be there to establish homes, and business will be good in every branch of trade. In short that country will be crowded with the rush of progress and advancement peculiar to the development of the favored sections of the west. People have begun to look upon booms as not being the best thing for a new country, the result of a too rapid growth, as many of the Kansas and other western towns, has been undesirable as a rule in the end, and some people argue that that will be the case with the Pecos valley. We think not, the conditions are materially different. This country under our existing conditions is not subject to any uncertainty in its development, we know just what can and will be done, investors can safely calculate upon certain results. There is just so much land and so much water, the limit of these two combined is the extent of the development and the country is certain to develop to that extent; under these conditions the ultimate intrinsic value of property may be closely determined. In other portions of the new west, and without the irrigating districts, on account of the uncertainty of the climate, as well as the vast area of country subject to the same uncertain conditions, the development was uncertain; property had a uncertain and often a fictitious value, acquired during the rush to secure homes. These elements of uncertainty do not belong to the Pecos valley, and consequently it does not make any difference how rapidly it settles up. The Pecos valley together with its property, its values, its people, its institutions, rise to its own certain level and stay there. What that level is, so far as the value of property is concerned depends upon its resources and they are certain. We do not fear a boom, let it come if it wants to.

Las Cruces and the Mesilla Valley.

We went to Las Cruces last week on business before the court, and while there had opportunity to look at the far famed and beautiful Mesilla valley. We were enabled to see considerable of the country through the courtesy of Mr. J. S. Williamson, court stenographer, who took us behind his spirited black spinning over the country, round about and through the farms and vineyards that have made that country so famous. Las Cruces is an old town, laid out sometime in the forties we understand, and is very odd and ancient in its appearance. There are however a number of very handsome modern houses, notably among which is the elegant home of Hon. John R. McPhee, but the charm of this section is not its town. While adobe houses are very cool and comfortable, they do not make an imposing street or in any way a good appearance, that is when built with a flat dirt roof and low walls, in fact the old town of Mesilla would make a very good miniature Palestine, so ancient and out of date is its appearance; but the Mesilla valley has a charm for all that. The entire valley is divided into small fruit and alfalfa farms, almost all of which are in a high state of cultivation; vineyards appear on every side, and at this time of the year are very beautiful, being laden, as they are, with the blossom of the grape. We visited one alfalfa farm owned by Mr. Spatzeier, (we are not certain about the name) about one mile west from the depot that is a large and very beautiful place, with long and evenly graded avenues running through it, bordered on either side by green fields of alfalfa, large vineyards and fruit orchards. No one can see these beautiful places without being charmed. We could not but compare the Mesilla with our own and beloved Pecos valley. We do not have so many vineyards nor so many little tastefully arranged farms, but we have a grander country and when it has the age it certainly will surpass any place; we have better roads, better water, more of it, and a prettier country to look at and not so hot, because we have less sand. We can only say the Mesilla valley is great and beautiful while the Pecos is grand and glorious.

No Postponement for Us.

Owing to the delay of the furniture the hotel cannot be opened as soon as was intended, and the Roswell baseball club will accordingly be requested to postpone their excursion to Eddy until a later date.—Eddy Argus.

We clip the above from the last Argus. A letter was received Friday night from W. G. Campbell, manager of the ball club at Eddy, suggesting that the game to be played there on the 20th of this month be postponed till the 10th of July. His suggestion for making the suggestion was the non-arrival of their hotel furniture, making it impossible to entertain the boys as well now as at a later date. The letter was submitted to the club, and after due consideration it was decided that as all arrangements were made it would be better to play the games as first agreed upon, (June 20th). If the game was postponed it would necessarily prevent the Eddy boys from playing here on the 4th of July, and it is expected and arrangements are being made to have them here on that day. A letter was accordingly written informing them that the Roswell club would be in Eddy on the 20th for the playing of the three games of ball. Two games on the 20th and one on the 21st for $200 a side.

A Horse Wanted.

We have a good 2 3/4 inch, old Hickory farm wagon in good repair to trade for a horse or mare broke to drive single, must be a gentle driver and safe for ladies. The wagon will be put in at a fair price and will pay what a horse is worth. Inquire at the Register's office for further particulars.

—At the conference meeting of the Roswell Baptist church held in this city last week it was decided, as Rev. Rhoads would not return for some time, to make arrangements towards having the pulpit filled. Rev. Caleb Maule was chosen as minister for the ensuing year.

W. C. Bradbury has given a heavy bond to have the grading, binding and tracklaying completed on the Pecos Valley road to Eddy by Christmas day, 1890.—Albuquerque Democrat.
